CLASSES FOR DEAF CHILDREN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS PROPOSED

North and Konzen to Introduce Bill in the House.

Drastic Revision of the Dunn Road Law Is Planned.

Bill Repealing Elwell Law to Be Voted on Wednesday.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bill permitting any school district or independent or public school to establish classes for deaf children will be introduced in the house of representatives today by Representative W. J. North of Duluth and P. H. Konzen of Hallock, who are members of the special committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the state school for mutes at Faribault.

The object of the bill, which will be presented at the solicitation of Dr. E. A. Meyerding, city school physician of St. Paul, is to give to children who are threatened with deafness closer medical attention before they reach the age when they can be sent to the state institution.

"In many cases," Dr. Meyerding said, "a child's speech and hearing can be saved if given the proper medical attention before the age of 10."

Under the provisions of the bill a child would not be sent to the state school until reaching the age of 14. One hundred dollars would be appropriated to attend to each individual case if the bill becomes a law.

The committee of which P. H. Konzen is chairman, will return to Faribault some time this week, to complete its investigation of conditions there. It is reported that the committee's findings, when complete, may include sensational matter.

Revision of Dunn Road Law.

A drastic revision of the Dunn road law is proposed in a bill that will be introduced in the house this afternoon by Representatives Lee, Teigen, Lattin, Frye, Putnam and Southwick. While it retains the state highway commission, it divests it of much of its power, and would put highway work largely under the county authorities instead of under state direction. It also returns in part to the old plan of allowing the working out of road taxes, by providing

FAIL TO GET EITHER BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Lenroot Balks Miller and Miller Balks Lenroot on Bridge Bills.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 15.—An attempt by Representative Miller to secure consideration of the Fond du Lac bridge bill in the house today was balked by an objection by Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin. Thereupon Mr. Miller objected in turn to the consideration of the Lenroot bill requiring the Interstate Railway company to construct approaches to its bridge.

TO LOOK INTO ALL CHARGES

Senate to Investigate Influences for and Against Ship Bill.

Talk of Extra Session Uppermost at the National Capital.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Investigation of all charges of influences at work for and against the administration ship bill was ordered today by the senate.

Vice President Marshall at once appointed Senators Walsh, Simmons, Reed, Burton and Weeks, three Democrats and two Republicans, to make the inquiry.

Talk of an extra session of congress was uppermost at the capitol today, even overshadowing the administration ship bill. It seemed to be agreed on all sides that the developments of this week will decide the question of the session.

While the house Democrats worked earnestly to clear the way for caucus approval of the compromise ship bill tonight, the senate was waiting and discussed processes for limiting debate. It seemed probable that a senate rule for speedy consideration of the compromise as it comes from the house might result. The Republicans, however continued to promise plenty of opposition.

Secretary McAdoo notified Senator Fletcher that all information in his office regarding any negotiations for belligerent ships laid up in American ports was available whether the senate passed Senator Burton's resolution calling for it or not.

To Break Filibuster.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The fight to break up the Republican filibuster in the senate against the administration ship purchase bill was continued today. The Democratic leaders were determined when the senate met to vigorously press for an amendment to the rules which would limit debate. This is in accordance with the party caucus agreement. Despite this fact, however, passage of such a rule appeared doubtful, inasmuch as Democratic senators are far from being unanimous on the proposal.

ARGUMENTS ON INCREASE

Commission Has Rail and Lake Rate Case Under Consideration.

Francis W. Sullivan Appears for the Duluth Board of Trade.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Arguments for and against the proposed increase in the rail, lake and rail rate from New York to the Twin Cities from 83 to 90 cents per 100 pounds were submitted to the interstate commerce commission today.

Frank B. Kellogg, on behalf of the Twin Cities, contended that the proposed increase would permit Duluth to invade the territory through the Twin Cities and into Northern Iowa, shutting the Twin Cities out of that territory because of the increased differential in favor of Duluth. He also asserted that it would discriminate in favor of cities along the Upper Mississippi river, and against the Twin Cities in territory that should be common to both. Duluth also would be enabled to get into intermountain territory because of the increased differential.

Mr. Kellogg also declared, that reading between the lines the eastern carriers hoped to secure a reopening and revision of the decision in the Duluth case through the proposal to increase the Twin City rate.

Francis W. Sullivan, appearing for the Duluth board of trade, argued that the recent decision in the Duluth case should not be disturbed because the rates prescribed in that decision had been arrived at by the commission after careful consideration and fixed on a reasonable basis.

Stiles W. Burry W. P. Trickett and F. J. Morley also appeared in behalf of the Twin Cities and F. L. Ballard, E. S. Ballard and Stewart C. Pratt appeared in behalf of the railroads and lake carriers.

DOBIE PROPOSES NEW CIGARETTE ACT

Superior Legislator Would Make Present Laws More Stringent.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—A modification of the anti-cigarette law, repealing many of the present features but strengthening the prohibitive features as applied to minors, will be proposed in the assembly tonight in the form of a bill by Assemblyman D. L. Dobie of Superior. The measure provides for the licensing of cigarette dealers and the revocation of their license for violation of the provisions of the law.

The Dobie bill provides that any person "who shall sell or give to any minor a cigar, cigarette or other tobacco in any form shall be punished by a fine or not more than $100, nor less than $25, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than sixty days or by both fine and imprisonment." All of that provision of the present law regarding a written request from the parent or guardian to obtain tobacco is repealed, but a new provision is added, making the law more stringent than the present one as applied to minors alone. This provision says that every minor who shall smoke or use cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 or thirty days in jail.

To secure a better enforcement of the law the bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, clerk, employe or agent, upon any pretense, or by any device, to manufacture sell or exchange, barter, dispose or give away, or keep for sale cigarettes, cigarette papers or wrappings without first obtaining a license.

Czar Back From Front.

Petrograd, Feb. 15.—Emperor Nicholas today returned to Tsarskoe-Selo from a visit to the Russian army headquarters at the front.

HICKEN WILL AGAIN BE A CANDIDATE

Commissioner Announces He Will Enter the Race for Re-Election.

Says He Will Make Fight Solely on His Record.

Petitions Asking Him to Run Signed By 3,000 Voters.

Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the public safety division, will make the race at the coming spring election to succeed himself for a term of four years.

Shortly before noon today Commissioner Hicken formally announced his candidacy and declared that he is in the fight, using that popular expression, "My hat is in the ring."

Within the last three weeks Commissioner Hicken has been presented with about fifty petitions from voters throughout the city, asking him to make the race to succeed himself. These petitions are signed by approximately 3,000 voters and indicate the confidence and esteem in which the present head of the safety division is held by the voters of Duluth.

"I want to express my heartfelt appreciation through The Herald for the confidence in which I am held as expressed by these voters on the petitions," said Commissioner Hicken, after announcing his candidacy this morning. "I am glad to find that my work has pleased so many and I only hope that the results on April 6 will not displace this confidence and esteem.

Running on Record.

"I am going to make this fight purely on my record during the last two years. I am coming before the people with the work I have already accom-

EVIDENCE AGAINST FEDERAL JUDGE

Dayton Said to Have Called United Mine Workers Conspirators.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 19.—Direct testimony that Federal Judge A. G. Dayton of the Northern district of West Virginia had spoken derogatorily of the United Mine Workers of America, was presented to the sub-committee of the house of representatives investigating the charges against Judge Dayton, when the hearing opened here today. Testimony was taken last week at Parkersburg, W. Va.

James Oates of Charleroi, Pa., an organizer of the United Mine Workers of America declared he had heard Judge Dayton make the statement that the United Mine Workers as an association was a criminal conspiracy and the officers were criminal conspirators and ought to be in jail.

Oates cited the case of Joe Hoblott, a foreign miner who was unable to speak English. Oates said Hoblott had been arrested during the strike at Colliers, W. Va., and "railroaded to jail" on a charge of contempt of Judge Dayton's court, being sentenced to six months in jail the day after his arrest.

Oates testified that the prisoner had been denied an attorney and was not allowed to have an interpreter and that while serving his sentence he became insane.

GERMANY WILLING TO RECEDE UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS

AUSTRIANS AND MONTENEGRINS ARE AGAIN IN DEADLY COMBAT

INACTIVE FOR LONG PERIOD

Austrians Bombard Antivari and Airmen Shoot at King.

Little Information of Great Struggle Going on in Poland.

Decisive Battle Looked for When Russians Attain Position.

After a long period of inactivity, fighting between Austria and Montenegro has been resumed. An Austrian fleet has bombarded the Montenegrin port of Antivari and two Austrian aeroplanes attacked with machine guns the palace in which were King Nicholas and the other members of the Montenegrin royal family.

Of the great struggle in Poland, Galicia and Bukowina there is little new information. A decisive battle in Northern Poland is looked for when the retreating Russians reach positions on which they decide to make their stand. In Bukowina another important contest is in progress. The long-drawn struggle in the Carpathians shows no sign of approaching an end. Both the Austrian and Russian war offices claim victories along that front.

German newspapers continue to comment on the American notes, some of them taking the stand that this country's representations to Great Britain are less forceful than those to Germany. It is asserted that the fault is England's on account of her use of the American flag.

A Rome dispatch states that Prince von Buelow, German ambassador to Italy, shortly will make proposals for the intervention of Italy in the war on the side of Germany, in return for territorial concessions.

French Statement.

Paris, Feb. 15, 2:43 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of the war which reads as follows: "In Belgium yesterday the German bombardment of our trenches was uninterrupted. From the great dune our heavy artillery inflicted damage on the mortars of the enemy. We occupied for a distance of about 250 yards a German trench along the roadway from Bethune to La Bassee.

"Yesterday saw very spirited artillery exchanges in the vicinity of Lens, around Albert, between the Avre and

TO RESUME DEFENSIVE

Russians, Driven Out of Prussia, to Revert to Original Plan.

Will Deprive Germans of Their Effective Transportation Facilities.

Petrograd, Feb. 15, via London—The forced retirement of the Russian army from East Prussia is expected to result in a reversion by the Russians to their original plan of conducting a defensive campaign on their own territory. It is pointed out here that this should result in advantage to the Russians, in that Germany will be deprived of the transportation facilities which she was able to use with great effectiveness during the fighting within her own borders.

When an offensive campaign was undertaken and the Russians invaded East Prussia and Galicia early in the war, the Germans were forced to withdraw a large number of troops from the west. This was considered here to have contributed largely to the German reverse in the battle of the Marne.

Object Achieved.

Russian officers say the object of their offensive campaign has been achieved and that the disposition now is to fall back to their original plan of defensive operations on Russian soil, along a line from the Niemen river in the north through Ostrolenka, Ralgrod and on to Craevo.

With this program in operation, Russian observers say, it probably will be possible to retard the German advance and at the same time defensive operations will be easier because the Russians will be harrassed no longer by the lightning changes along the German front.

Holding Passes.

In the southwest the Russians are holding the Carpathian passes of Wiskow and Nadworna against the German assaults and according to reports reaching here, are daily capturing German and Austrian prisoners and guns.

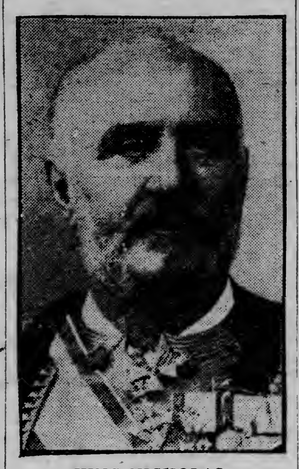

Another battle, in which bayonet attacks were made by the Russians, is reported from Smolnika. During the night the Russians surrounded an Austrian position and took prisoners, ten officers and 409 men. Battles have occurred also at Kurimka, near Dukla, and at Baligrod.

JAPANESE EXPEL FIVE DISTURBERS.

Yokohama, Japan, Feb. 15.—The Japanese authorities have ordered the expulsion from Japan of four Germans and one Englishman, who have been found guilty of actions disturbing peace and order.

The authorities have decided upon a stricter surveillance of Germans and Austrians in the country.

WATCHES AIRMEN FIRE BULLETS AT HIS PALACE

KING NICHOLAS.

Cettinje, Montenegro, via London, Feb. 15.—The members of the royal family of Montenegro were subjected yesterday in their residence at Rieka to machine gun fire from two Austrian aeroplanes.

Rieka is a village near Lake Scutari, where the royal family passes the winter. King Nicholas, the queen and the princesses watched the aerial raiders from their palace windows. Several of the bullets fired from the aeroplanes fell near them.

BOYS SENT UP FIRE BALLOONS

Believed to Have Been Cause of Aeroplane Scare in Canada.

Some Insist They Saw Airships; To Notify Washington.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Young men living in Morristown, on the American side of the international line opposite Brockville, said today that shortly after 9 o'clock last night they sent up three fireworks balloons, each of which exploded high in the air above Brockville.

Reports today from Morristown were to the effect that it was believed there these balloons were mistaken for aeroplanes by persons living across the line in Canada.

Refuse to Believe It.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—Residents of Brockville refused to accept the statements made by young men of Morristown, N. Y., that balloons sent up by them last night were responsible for the report that aeroplanes had crossed the border at that point and were headed toward Ottawa. The Canadian Press today received dispatches to the effect that responsible residents claimed they saw the aeroplanes cross the St. Lawrence from the United States last night and that they also saw them homeward bound at 1:30 a. m. today. The incident, it was said by the dominion police, would be reported to the state department at Washington.

Various persons told the police that the first of the machines approached Brockville at 8:10 o'clock last night and that the second followed in the same path about twenty minutes later. Both were said to have disap-

GUILTY AND WILLING TO PAY THE PENALTY.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 15.—Wesley Robinson, negro, was hanged today for the murder of his wife and stepdaughter by choking.

"I'm guilty and I'm willing to pay the penalty," were Robinson's last words.

Robinson served a prison term for killing his first wife in the same manner in St. Louis in 1896. He had a good chance until last Thursday to have his sentence commuted. Then information came to light concerning his St. Louis crime.

SENDS REPLY TO PROTEST BY WASHINGTON

Britain Must Withdraw Efforts to Prevent Food Going to Civilians.

War Zone Decree Applying to Merchant Vessels Will Then Be Void.

Note Is Presented to State Department By Ambassador Bernstorff.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, today presented to the state department a note from his government announcing that Germany stands ready to consider receding from its announced intention of attacking British merchantmen if Great Britain will withdraw its efforts to prevent foodstuffs from going to Germany for the civilian population.

The note declares that Germany's plan to attack British merchantmen was a retaliatory measure adopted because of the alleged violation of international law by Great Britain in attempting to starve the noncombatant population of Germany and that the latter government is ready to withdraw from its purpose as expressed in the naval war zone decree as far as it applies to merchant vessels, as soon as Great Britain, either of its own volition or as a result of representations from the neutrals expresses her willingness to return to the usual practices of international law on the question of foodstuffs.

Menaant Vessels Being Armed.

The German note adds that the Berlin government has information that English merchant vessels are being armed and have orders to sail in groups

FLOODS FORM NEW PERIL FOR ITALY

People Driven From Homes By Streams Out of Their Banks.

Rome, Feb. 15.—Italy having just passed through a period of grave anxiety as a result of destructive earthquakes, is now facing a new peril in the form of floods. Everywhere streams are out of their banks, due to heavy rainstorms which have continued for several days.

In the low-lying quarters the people have been driven from their homes or are prisoners in the upper stories of their houses.

The floods have turned the low-lying quarters of the city into a second Venice as the streets are now all waterways and boats are the only means of progression.

REWARD FOR ITALY'S AID

Forecast of Germany's Proposal for Assistance Made Public.

Offers to Be Made to Secure Italian Aid for the Teutons.

Rome, Sunday, Feb. 14. — The Idea Nazionale, a newspaper published in the interests of the Nationalist party, in its issue of today, publishes a forecast of German proposals to Italy, which reads as follows: "Before the end of February, Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador to Italy, will present to the Italian government a concrete proposal for Italian participation in the war on the side of Germany. This consists of the cession by Austria of the province of Trent and the rectification of the Eastern Italian frontier by the addition of a strip of land going as far as the Isonzo river. In addition Germany will pledge herself to conclude a new treaty with Italy which will afford protection to Italy's Mediterranean interests.

"In exchange, Italy is to take part at once in the war. She will occupy Tunis, and help Turkey drive the English from Egypt, which will return under the dominion of the sultan of Turkey. In addition the Italian fleet will attack the Anglo-French naval forces in the Mediterranean."

Continuing the Idea Nazionale says that Prince von Buelow, referring to Triest, made this statement:

"It is impossible to give Triest to Italy because this seaport is the lung not of Austria, but of Germany."

At the conclusion of one of his conversations with the Italian statesmen, Prince von Buelow, according to this newspaper, made use of this phrase:

"Either Italy will be friendly toward us, or we will treat her worse than we are treating England."

"DADDY" TOO FOND OF OTHER WOMEN

Former Duluth Couple Principles in Divorce Action in Chicago.

A Chicago paper gives the news that John W. Young, formerly of Duluth, it is said, is suing his wife, Mrs. Margaret J. Young, for divorce there on the grounds of cruelty. In the court room, the defendant told a very distressing story of her husband's neglect while in Duluth, and of her attempt to commit suicide here. This was all in 1907, according to the story given out. The name of John W. Young cannot be found in the Duluth city directory as far back as 1906. However, here is the story as printed in the Chicago paper:

"'Because 'Daddy' showered his attention upon other women, Mrs. Margaret J. Young attempted to commit suicide in Lake Superior shortly after her marriage in 1907, according to her testimony before Judge Walker in circuit court today. 'Daddy,' she explained, is her husband, John W. Young, who is suing her for divorce on charges of cruelty.

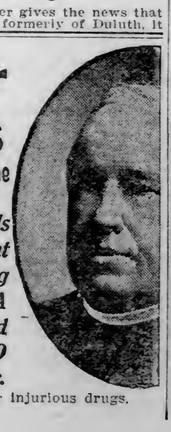

"'I came to Duluth,' she said, 'and found that my husband knew a Miss Coleman. He wanted me to go out for dinner with her. Later I was playing pinochle about an hour before we were to lunch with her and he complained because I was not dressing. I told Daddy I did not wish to lunch with her. That night I told him I could not stand it, and whenever I came to him he was always with some woman or other. I told him I was going to commit suicide. I ran down the hill and jumped into the lake and Daddy pulled me out by my hair.

"She said she learned Miss Coleman had purchased ties, gloves and other haberdashery for Young. She told of a quarrel she had with her husband over certain papers which she refused to give to him.

"'What kind of papers were they?'" asked the court.

"'They were alimony papers,' Mrs. Young replied. 'Eighty-six thousand dollars, which I had received from my former husband.'"

POLICEMEN BLUSH AT KRAWCYZK'S FIND

Visions of a scantily-clad young woman appeared to policemen at headquarters last night when Patrolman Stanley Krawcyzk appeared with a bundle, which he promptly unfolded and spread before the startled gaze of Lieut. E. H. Barber.

Lieut. Barber saw the light and blushed. It was not an ordinary blush, but a deep red splash of color that raced across his cheek and spread back into his hair, where it disappeared.

Thus warned, Patrolman Krawcyzk hurriedly wrapped up the garment, laid it on the sergeant's desk, and went in search of a married man, who told him that the handkerchief-sized piece of lace and linen was commonly known as a corset cover. The patrolman had picked it up on the street.

Police have not yet been instructed to search for a young woman without said cover.

DULUTH IS THIRD IN SALE OF SEALS

Duluth was third in the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals in the state, according to the report of Dr. H. W. Hill, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association, at the annual meeting of the board of directors held at St. Paul last Saturday.

For the entire state the sales were 1,929,745, of which Duluth sold 124,225, Minneapolis, 810,000 and St. Paul, 252,600. The total receipts from the state amounted to $19,297, of which amount the state will net about $7,000, most of which, it has been announced, will be spent this year for a proposed disease census of the schools. This work is to be done by the women's clubs of the state.

ICE AS EFFECTIVE AS GOLDEN APPLES

Unlike Atlanta, who lost her famous race because she stopped to pick up the golden apples, Alex McDonald, lumberjack, lost a race down Michigan street last night because he slipped on some ice and fell.

His offense was doubly dire because Patrolman James Woods, who was pursuing him, tripped over McDonald's burly form and also fell, spraining his ankle severely in the process.

When the police emergency arrived, the injured patrolman was taken to his home at 618 Lake avenue north, and the woodsman was taken to the city bastille, where he spent the night brooding over the evils of slippery sidewalks.

It being Feb. 15, McDonald was given the option of a $15 fine or fifteen days at the work farm when he appeared before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting this morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

UNBALANCED YOUTH MUTILATES SELF

Believed to be mentally unbalanced, Bernard Langdahl, 709 East Sixth street, early yesterday armed himself with a razor and succeeded in mutilating himself seriously before he was discovered by his parents.

The boy had not been downstairs for breakfast, and when other members of the family went to call him they found him on the bed, unconscious from the self-inflicted wounds. Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was called, and Langdahl was taken to St. Luke's hospital in the police emergency ambulance. He was reported to be improving this afternoon.

Some time ago Langdahl was under a physician's care, as he was believed to be mentally deficient. He had improved so much since that time that vigilance had been removed.

MURCHISON WILL MAKE HIS DECISION SOON.

Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, said this morning that he will make an announcement within a few days regarding his candidacy.

It is understood that Commissioner Murchison will make the race to succeed himself for a term of four years. As Commissioner Hicken announced this morning that he will run, four candidates have already presented themselves to the voters of the city. They are: W. A. Hicken, to succeed himself; Bernard Silberstein, candidate for mayor at the last election; J. A. (Bert) Farrell, candidate for commissioner two years ago, and R. E. MacFarlane.

CIVIL CALENDAR CALLED.

In Judge Windom's division of the municipal court this morning the civil calendar was called for the fortnightly period beginning today. The jury cases include H. F. Skarp vs. William T. Johns, Sam Smith, vs. Excelsior Laundry, Leo Chose vs. L. Goldish, Ed Fredericks vs. J. A. Johnson, and S. Goldfine vs. M. Levine.

The court cases to come up for trial are: Fred Jones vs. H. Spirnitz, Philip Thibideau vs. Ed Fredericks, A. E. Anderson vs. John M. Welhaven, and Ebert-Walker company vs. C. J. Anderson.

BUSINESS COLLEGE TEAM IS WINNER.

In a well played game at the Y. M. C. A. "gym" the Central Business college quint defeated the First M. E. team by the score of 31 to 26, Saturday night.

Vincent and Olsen did the better part of the scoring for the Central team while Burnside was the star for the losers. The lineup:

Olsen	f	Burnside
Middlecoff	f	Bailey, Capt.
Patton	c	Taylor
Vincent, Capt.	g	Mapp, Williams
Whitney	g	Wahlgren, Laske

Goals from field: Patton 2, Olsen 7, Middlecoff 1, Whitney 1, Vincent 4, Bailey 4, Burnside 7, Taylor 2.

we are very sorry

but who could possibly have predicted such an enormous crowd of eager buyers. We knew there would be a liberal response to our combined february clearance sale and annual 9-cent sale

but never imagined that we would have the largest crowd in our store that has ever attended a sale opening day.

We are sorry that most of the big 9-cent bargains were sold out by noon Saturday. When we ordered thirty-eight (38) cases (weighing 2,040 pounds) of these special leaders, we thought we would surely have enough for the first week, but there were so many buyers that many of the big bargains were soon exhausted.

GEORGE SPENCER, DULUTH PIONEER CITIZEN, DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Prominent in Duluth Business Circles Nearly Half a Century.

Was One of Organizers of Duluth Board of Trade.

President of Consolidated Company; Prominent in Civic Affairs.

GEORGE SPENCER.

George Spencer, president of the Consolidated Elevator company, and one of the leading grain men of the Northwest, died at 10 o'clock last night at his home, 2230 East Third street after a protracted illness. The funeral is announced for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence. Interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery.

Mr. Spencer was born in Vermont in 1843, 72 years ago, and lived in Boston for several years, coming to Duluth in 1870 with Charles B. Newcomb of Philadelphia, a well known grain dealer, who built elevator "A" at the foot of what is now Fourth avenue east. Mr. Spencer assumed charge of the elevator when it was completed, holding the position for several years.

Ten years after coming to the Head of the Lakes Mr. Spencer launched the firm of George Spencer & Co., being associated with the late M. J. Forbes, and operated in the grain trade under the name for about eight years.

After this firm was changed, Mr. Spencer entered a partnership with Watson S. Moore, a prominent grain man, under the name of Spencer, Moore & Co. After acting as the president of this firm Mr. Spencer retired from it to devote his time to the Consolidated Elevator company, of which he had been the head for several years. The old firm is still being operated, although now under the name of the W. S. Moore Grain company.

Mr. Spencer's activities in elevator concerns on the local waterfront were particularly noteworthy. He was a large stockholder in the Lake Superior Elevator company and the Union Improvement & Elevator company, which went into the receivers' hands in 1893, during the panic of that year.

As receiver Mr. Spencer was active in the re-organization of the two companies, which later became the Consolidated Elevator company. His former partner, Mr. Forbes, was the president of the new company, Mr. Spencer being chairman of the board of directors until Mr. Forbs' death in 1907, when he became president. This position he held at the time of his death.

Charter Member.

Holding membership No. 8 in Duluth's board of trade, Mr. Spencer was one of the charter members of the organization. He was made vice president of the board when it was organized in 1881 and was the second president. He also was elected president later, in 1904 and in 1906. He was head of the board when work was started on the present board of trade building and was largely responsible for the success of the venture.

For a number of years he was a director of the American Exchange National bank. He also was the first president of the Duluth library board, being elected in 1890 and holding the post for two years. He served as a director of the board of education from 1881 to 1882 and was a member of the old water and light board for six years, from 1906 to 1912. He was president of this board during the year 1911.

He was prominently identified with the club life of the city, being a member of the Kitchi Gammi, Northland Country, Commercial and Boat clubs. He was for many years an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

Served in Civil War.

George Spencer was born in Westminster, Vt., in 1843, and was educated in the Boston public and high schools. He served two years in the Civil war, enlisting in the Thirteenth Massachusetts infantry. On Feb. 26, 1874, he married Miss Helen Mattocks of St. Paul.

About five months ago Mr. Spencer was taken ill and since that time has been failing gradually, despite an operation in Chicago last fall, which failed to benefit him materially. He was brought back to his home Oct. 20. Dr. E. L. Tuohy, family physician, diagnosed his ailment as pancreatitis.

At the time of his death the entire family was present. In addition to his wife, Mr. Spencer is survived by a son, G. Herbert Spencer, who was associated with him in business as the vice president and secretary of the Consolidated, and two daughters, Mrs. Heber L. Hartley and Mrs. A. M. Miller, Jr., all of Duluth.

for protection and further that they would try to sink submarines. It declared that there was now no question of searching them but the result would be that German ships would fight them because they are now held to be warships.

The note declares further that Great Britain, according to the information of Germany, intended to use neutral flags and that, therefore, neutral shipping would be in danger in the war zone.

It was stated that the note received by the ambassador today from his foreign office and promptly carried by him personally to the state department was not a reply to the recent American note to Germany in regard to the war zone decree. A more comprehensive and detailed reply to that communication is expected soon, although it was not known officially here when it might be looked for.

Today's note from Germany, it was pointed out, constitutes a sort of intermediary reply, possibly presented to this government because of the fact that the date when the war zone decree goes into effect, Feb. 18, is so close at hand.

Talk of Blockade.

London, Feb. 15.—The threatened submarine blockade of the ports of the British isles is still an absorbing topic for English newspapers and the English people, and judging from dispatches reaching here from the continent, Germany is equally interested.

The report that James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, has been requested to meet Emperor William at once on the eastern battle front, is taken in London to mean that Berlin probably will make a prompt reply to the American note to Germany.

German comment on the situation, which has arisen since Germany declared a war zone around the British isles, insists that prevention by Washington of the use of the American flag by Great Britain and a strict observation of the Declaration of London are the best guarantees for the safety of American shipping. At the same time the Germans argue that submarines cannot be expected to make a search of hostile merchantmen before destroying them.

Regarded as Ultimatum.

The English press insists upon regarding the note to Germany as a virtual ultimatum. It does not attempt to forecast Great Britain's reply to the Washington communication regarding the use of the American flag, but it does declare that Great Britain cannot forego her claim to the right to use a neutral flag in case of necessity. An indication that England is regarding the German threat as something more than a bluff, is found in the fact that liners are today coming into British ports with their life boats slung out and watered and provisioned.

No disposition yet has been made of the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmina. This ship now seems to be under the voluntary joint guardianship of the British foreign office and the American ambassador.

Artillery Duels.

Unusually heavy artillery duels, according to reports from both sides, are proceeding at the present time in Belgium, but definite news as to results is lacking.

In East Prussia the Germans are still advancing except at Lyck, where the Russians are making a stand. Both sides claim successes in the Carpathians while Vienna reports that the Austrians are still advancing in the Bukowina crown land. In the center of the long eastern battle front quiet prevails, according to the information of London, with no change in the relative positions.

plished and I promise nothing further than to go on in the future, enforcing the law and serving the will of the people.

"During the last month I have been going over the situation carefully and the reason why I delayed in announcing my final decision is because I wanted to find out how the public is feeling. Of course, those petitions are convincing to a degree, while with other information I have obtained, I am positive that the people of Duluth want a clean civic government."

COMMISSIONER W. A. HICKEN.

Commissioner Hicken has made a national fame for himself while in office during the last two years, because of his stand on law enforcement. Since April, 1913, when the present commissioners took office, Commissioner Hicken has closed sixteen saloons for violating the liquor laws of the city and state.

The Hicken Code.

In September, 1913, the people of Duluth voted to adopt the liquor code, now known as the Hicken liquor ordinance, one of the most drastic of its kind, regulating the construction of saloons, their operation, the closing of cigar stores connected with barrooms and many other features.

Commissioner Hicken was first elected to the old council in February, 1912, for two years, but because of the adoption of commission form of government that fall, he served only one year. In the spring of 1913 he ran for commissioner along with forty other candidates, winning out with Commissioner Murchison for the two short terms.

At the organization of the commission shortly after the election, Mr. Hicken was named the head of the public safety and in addition was chosen vice president of the council.

AUSTRIANS AND MONTENEGRINS ARE AGAIN IN COMBAT

the Oise, in the suburbs of Soissons and at Verneuil, to the northeast of Vailly.

"In the Argonne, in the direction of Bagatelle and Marie Therese, the fighting still continues with energy from trench to trench, but there have been no movements of infantry.

"Between the Argonne and the Meuse an attempt at attack by the German forces at a point between the village of Malancourt and the forest of the same name was promptly repulsed.

"In Lorraine, the enemy, after having driven back our advance guard, succeeded in occupying Signal Hill and the village of Norroy. A counter-attack on our part drove the Germans back as far as the northern declivity of Signal Hill, where they are still holding their positions in some trenches.

"In the Vosges the German offensive movement which began along the two banks of the River Lauch was not pursued yesterday on the south bank. The enemy only bombarded our positions on the north bank of this stream. The Germans are being held in check by us in front of our advanced line at Langenfeldkopf, in the forest of Rempach. French troops on skis have executed a very brilliant counter-attack against the German positions on the sides of the mountain at this point. Yesterday afternoon a very heavy snow storm blew over this locality."

German Statement.

Berlin, Feb. 15, by wireless to Sayville.—The war office issued the following statement today:

"South of Ypres, near St. Eloy, the Germans took about 900 meters of the enemy's positions. Counter-attacks were without success.

"Equally unsuccessful was the enemy's attack in the district southwest of La Bassee. Several dozens of prisoners were taken by the Germans.

"An advanced trench which the Germans lost on Feb. 2 near Sudelkopf was taken back.

"The Germans drove the enemy out of Senzern, in the Lauch valley (Alsace). Reimpach was evacuated by the enemy.

"North of Tilsit (East Prussia) the enemy was driven out of Pliktupoenen and pushed in the direction of Tauroggen. On both sides of the frontier in the eastern lake district, engagements are in progress with the retreating enemy. German troops are advancing rapidly everywhere.

"German detachments marched in the Kolno district against the enemy, advancing beyond Lomza.

"In the Vistula district the Germans gained further ground and occupied Raciouz.

"In previous engagements, besides a number of prisoners, six guns were taken.

"In Poland, on the left of the Vistula, there were no important changes."

Should Keep Away.

Berlin, Feb. 15, via London.—The newspapers of Berlin continue commenting today upon the recent diplomatic exchanges by the United States and Great Britain and Germany concerning the protection of American shipping on the coast of the British isles.

Generally, they characterize the American note to Great Britain as too mild when compared with the note to Germany, but they make use of this note to support their contention that Great Britain is to blame for the situation. The Kreuse Zeitung says:

"The American note properly takes the British government to task for the contemptuous misuse of the American flag, a course which menaces the safety of neutral shipping. Therefore it is more difficult to understand what the American government wants of us. The German people will not be able to forget, either, the questions addressed to us or the form of their asking. Our position has not changed in the slightest degree since Feb. 4. The United States has two ways to protect hergelf from harm. The first is to stop Great Britain's misuse of the American flag, and the second is to keep her ships and people and contraband of war out of the war zone. If she adopts this method she will not only avoid harm, but bring a quick end to the war."

peared in the direction of Ottawa. The report was telegraphed here and lights in and around the public buildings and government house were extinguished.

Carried Searchlights.

Both machines were described as carrying searchlights which were directed upon the ground over which they were flying. A daughter of Edward Billings, a farmer living near Brockville, said one of the aeroplanes flew only fifty feet above her. Both machines went over Brockville, the police assert, on their way back to the United States.

Persons living in Bellamy, a village on the Canadian Pacific railway north of Brockville, saw flashes in the sky they thought were lightning, the police say. The report that a fireball was dropped on Brockville was denied there today.

Believe Scare Unfounded.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—After an all-night watch for the air visitors, in three or four aeroplanes, who were reported to have crossed the St. Lawrence river at Morristown, N. Y., and to have dropped a fire ball as they passed over Brockville, the Dominion police and officials of the government were of the opinion today that the report was unfounded.

The chief of police of Ogdensburg, N. Y., twelve miles down the St. Lawrence river, from Brockville, had heard nothing of the passage of the aeroplanes over Brockville, or of excitement incident thereto. He said, however, that on Friday last a farmer, living five miles from Ogdensburg had reported the passage of an aeroplane over his farm traveling in the direction of the Canadian border.

After receiving the report last night Premier Borden notified Col. A. P. Sherwood, commissioner of Dominion police. The lights around the parliament building, the royal mint and the residence of the governor general were immediately ordered extinguished. This was the first time in its history that the saint has been darkened. Sharp shooters from the Dominion police were stationed on Parliament Hill and guards were held in readiness to repel an aerial attack should one be attempted.

The duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada, is on an inspection trip to Winnipeg, but the duchess and the Princess Patricia are in the capital and were informed of the precautions taken to guard the city.

POPULATION IS REDUCED 600,000

Situation in Belgium Since War Began Unparalleled in History.

New York, Feb. 15.—Belgium's population has been reduced by about 600,000 as a result of the war and her condition presents a situation without parallel in history, says a report issued by the Rockefeller foundation from its war relief commission, sent to investigate the effects of the war upon noncombatants. It is the first report from this commission which went to Belgium last November.

The report details how means of transportation, communication, and banking have been destroyed, commerce and industry paralyzed, homes and other buildings laid low, the agricultural districts devastated and the food supply virtually cut off.

After stating that there are 320,000 Belgian refugees in Holland and 100,000 in England, the report says that the number of people who still are in Belgium, but who have been driven out of their homes, has not yet been estimated. The army, it says, has drawn off 250,000 men.

Of the destruction of homes and property, the report says:

"We found people living in cellars under the ruins of their homes, in lofts over the cow stalls and saw children that had been born in hen coops and pig stys.

PRESENT ARGUMENT FOR RATE INCREASE.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Officials of railroads operating west of the Missouri river presented arguments for higher freight rates at a hearing which opened here today before W. M. Daniels of the interstate commerce commission. The hearing will close on March 18.

The railroads desire a sliding increase, based on the volume of business in certain commodities. The first four days of the hearing are to be devoted to the general presentation of claims by the roads.

COULD DESTROY CITY OF REIMS

German Guns Are Located Within Three Kilometers of Municipality.

New York, Feb. 15.—German guns are less than three kilometers distant from Reims and could level the city within thirty minutes, according to Joseph G. Ringwalt of this city, who returned aboard the Rochambeau today from a visit to the wine growing sections of France, which embraces the Reims district.

Mr. Ringwalt was in Reims Feb. 2 and 3. He is said to have been the only American civilian permitted to visit the city since the beginning of the bombardment.

"I visited the great cathedral at Reims," Mr. Ringwalt said, "and talked with the priests in charge. By their courtesy I was permitted to inspect the edifice closely. It has not been damaged greatly, in my opinion; not so much as the first reports indicated. Many of the stained glass windows have been shattered and the floor of the building is littered with debris.

"There has been no bombardment of the cathedral, however, since the first attack.

"French officials of the city told me that the German guns and trenches were less than three kilometers distant and that the city could be effaced within half an hour if the Germans should bombard it. The guns, I was told, are so placed that the city is entirely at their mercy. Shells fell at intervals in the city's streets while I was there, although there was no attempt at steady shelling."

BRITISH SHIP BADLY INJURED BY A MINE.

London, Feb. 15.—The British steamer Wavelet, 1,918 tons, Capt. Cole, from Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 15, via Newport News, Jan. 23, for Leith, Scotland, was badly damaged by a mine in the English channel. The skipper succeeded in beaching his steamer near Deal.

A small boat from Wavelet carrying the first officer and a number of the crew left the ship when it appeared she would founder. The boat capsized and all in it were drowned.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Laundry Wagon Driver on Trial In District Court.

Trial of John Fox, formerly in the employment of the Yale Laundry company of this city as a driver, who is charged with having embezzled money which he collected for the company, will probably be started in district court this afternoon before Judge Fesler and a jury.

Fox was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. The specific accusation is that on Oct. 17, 1914, he had $33.27 in his possession which he had collected for his employers and which he wrongfully withheld from them.

Fox's shortages amount to about $260, it is claimed. He was in the employ of the company about two years.

ORPHEUM WILL CLOSE

Union Employes Are Given Their Two Weeks' "Notice."

Many Rumors as to the Future of the Theater.

After several weeks of lower prices, with five acts instead of seven, Duluth's Orpheum theater probably will be dark for an indefinite period after Feb. 27, according to present indications.

Manager Ross Garver, following telegraphic instructions, gave union employes two weeks' notice Saturday, in conformity with union rules demanding such notification before a theater may be closed. Further instructions have not been received by the manager, he says, and he has not been informed as to whether or not the house will remain open beyond Feb. 27.

In the meantime, employes are preparing to "darken" the big amusement place and turn to other pursuits Manager Garver expects to be informed more fully of the status of affairs within a day or two, he said.

Nearly five years ago the present theater was opened by the Orpheum circuit, under the local management of H. E. Pierong. Since then it has been operated successfully as a first-class Orpheum house. About two months ago two of the seven acts were taken off the bill, and prices were reduced to the 10, 20, 30 and 50-cent basis.

This departure evidently has not been a success, as the owners have decreed that the showhouse shall be "dark." Ross Garver, the present manager, came here about two months ago from Terre Haute, Ind., succeeding H. E. Billings, who had been here three years.

Many Rumors Current.

There have been many rumors about the future of the Orpheum theater.

One report has it that the Orpheum circuit will give a lump sum to be released from its lease, which has five years to run, and that the theater will be remodeled into a studio building, with offices and studios for artists, architects and musicians, with the Little Theater located in the building. This rumor is not believed to have any foundation in fact as the Drama league has one Little Theater on its hands, and while it is making rapid progress on meeting the indebtedness on it, it would not assume any more liabilities at present.

Another report is that the theater will be closed until next September, when the Orpheum circuit will make one more effort to establish vaudeville, giving the full seven-act Orpheum shows at the old scale of prices.

There are also rumors of motion pictures, stock companies and other enterprises, but nothing definite has been decided.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE BILL IS PASSED

North Dakota Senate Also Revives Bill Against Capital Punishment.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 15.—The Bronson constitutional amendment providing for equal suffrage for women was passed by the senate Saturday afternoon by a vote of 31 to 14.

The Hendrickson bill, after being amended so that four-fifths only of the supreme court can declare a legislative enactment unconstitutional, was passed by the senate by a vote of 26 to 13.

In the house Burnett's bill relating to the assessment of common carriers for state purposes was made a special order of business for Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time it is expected to have the opinion of the attorney general as to the constitutionality of the proposed change.

Wiley's bill, which provides that cooperative associations may divide their profits on a basis of the amount of business a stockholder brings in, was passed after it was explained what purpose the bill had.

In committee of the whole, Jacobson's bill, providing for encouragement to purchase and breeding of high grade livestock, was recommended for passage.

Bratton's bill providing for means of putting publicity pamphlets on a self-supporting basis aroused no opposition. The pamphlet will be made to pay by changing the schedule of prices.

Hendrickson's bill, providing a penalty where state and other public institutions do not use lignite coal where it is the cheapest fuel, was recommended for passage.

Lathrop's mothers' pension bill was recommended for passage without opposition.

The house bill providing that village and city boards may purchase, lease or build electric lighting and power plants passed the senate without opposition.

Jacobson's bill, providing for fire drills and fire guards in public schools, passed without opposition on third reading in the senate.

The senate decided to give the Torson house bill, providing for the abolishment of capital punishment, another lease of life. The bill was recalled from the house, where it had been returned after being killed in the senate on third reading, and was put into committee, where it is believed it will be amended in such manner as to make it acceptable to a majority of the senate.

DR. POWELL TO SPEAK AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH

On Wednesday evening Dr. John Walker Powell of Minneapolis, former pastor of the Endion M. E. church of this city, will speak at Grace M. E. church on "America and the World's Peace." The lecture will touch on the present war in Europe.

Revival meetings will be continued this week at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. Rev. George Silloway announced this morning that the meetings would be held every evening except Wednesday and Saturday. The revival meetings have now been going on nightly for the last two weeks and have had continued large attendance.

REV. JOHN WALKER POWELL.

LINCOLN A CHRISTIAN.

Central Baptist Church Pastor Defends Life of Great Emancipator.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, spoke on "Abraham Lincoln's Religious Faith" in his sermon last night.

"Liberal religionists," he said, "have made much out of the fact that Abraham Lincoln was neither a church member nor an avowed Christian. With all his splendid qualities he did not openly confess Christ."

Rev. Mr. Fish said that Lincoln was the product of a Christian home and that he followed throughout his life the principles of a Christian. His life at the White House, he said, showed that Lincoln did appreciate much of the Christian faith.

ST. PETER'S MEN'S CLUB BANQUET

The program for the annual banquet to be given tomorrow evening by the Men's club of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and Third street, was announced this morning by Rev. W. E. Harmann, pastor of the church. The supper will be served in the guild rooms of the church at 7 o'clock.

In addition to the speaking program several musical numbers will be given by local talent. The quartet of Christ Episcopal church of Proctor will appear on the program for several selections, vocal solos will be given by Prof. Heistand of the Duluth Central high school and Herbert Miska will render violin solos.

Carl E. Lonegren will be toastmaster. The principal speakers will be mayor W. I. Prince, James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, former candidate for United States senator, Bishop Morrison of the Duluth Episcopal diocese, Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal; Dr. Thomas W. MacLean, vicar of Trinity Pro-cathedral, and Rev. James G. Ward of Cloquet.

ARRANGING PROGRAM.

Borean Club of Central Baptist Church Will Entertain.

The Borean club of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will entertain at a musical and literary program at the church on March 5. Complete plans for the affair will be made at a meeting of the club to be held at the home of Mrs. W. B. Patton, 1101 East Fourth street, on Feb. 26.

The club held its annual meeting Friday evening at the home of Miss Etta Wilson, 2615 Huron street. The officers elected are: Miss Etta Wilson, president; Miss Dot Swan, vice president; Miss Mildren Gorton, corresponding secretary; Miss Therese Jacobson, recording secretary, and Mrs. Byron Hanson, treasurer.

Swedish Mission Notes.

A number of services have been planned for members of the Swedish Mission congregation this week. Two of these meetings will be held tomorrow evening, one at the home of F. T. Jacobson, 2317 West Tenth street, and another at a hall at 816 Forty-seventh avenue east.

On Wednesday evening services will be conducted in the church and on Thursday evening at the East end mission. On Friday evening services will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Olson, 1010 Garfield avenue.

The Parthenoe society will be entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Eric Ostlund, 618 North Twenty-first avenue west.

The choir will rehearse in the church on Friday evening.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silk hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. —Advertisement.

Wulf-Parker Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Louise Wulf of Duluth and Herbert Parker of Hazel, N. D., took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hittler, 902 Garfield avenue. Only immediate friends were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Parker will make their home at Hazel following a short wedding trip.

Lenten Tea Series.

A series of Lenten teas will be given by St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and Third street, on Thursday afternoons of each week during Lent. The first of these affairs will be held on next Thursday. Those in charge of the affair are Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. Ed Thompson and Mrs. John McCormick.

Swedish M. E. Notes.

The Epworth League of the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church Wednesday evening for the purpose of making repairs to its clubrooms in the church basement. On Friday evening Miss Agnes Olson will be hostess for the society at a social to be given at the church.

The choir will hold rehearsal on Wednesday evening in the church.

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine will conduct midweek services in the church Thursday evening.

A cottage meeting will be held by the Oneota branch of the church at the home of John Norgaard, 3815 West Fourth street.

Zion Notes.

The Sunday school teachers of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will hold a meeting in the church this evening.

The choir will hold rehearsal tomorrow night in the church.

Mrs. Skylaud and Mrs. Gilbertson will be hostesses for the meeting of the ladies' aid society at its meeting in the church Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. J. M. Nervig will conduct services in the church Thursday evening.

The young people's society will entertain at a social in the church Friday evening.

The confirmation class will meet with the pastor Saturday morning.

The small girls' society will be entertained in the church Saturday afternoon.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. M. L. Rappold and Miss Margaret Rappold of Proctor were weekend guests at the home of Mrs. J. J. Smith, 1817 Piedmond avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Gottschald, 6 South Thirteenth avenue west, left today for a week's visit to relatives in the Twin Cities.

W. W. d'Aoust of Carlton has returned home after spending a few days at the home of his mother, Mrs. Gilbert d'Aoust, 117 North Twenty-fourth avenue west.

A social will follow the meeting of Beta council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, this evening at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the B. or R. T., will entertain at cards at Woodman hall on Thursday evening. Mrs. W. Streeter, Mrs. J. Weldon and Mrs. James will be in charge.

UNDERTAKERS COMING HERE

Next Annual State Convention Will Be Held in Duluth.

School of Embalming Becomes Part of the University.

For the first time in the history of the Minnesota Funeral Directors' association, they will come to Duluth for an annual convention in 1916. As a further concession to the Zenith City's balmy weather, delegates to the convention Saturday in Minneapolis changed the date of the convention from February to midsummer.

Two Duluth men were honored by the convention, V. M. Grady being reelected state secretary and M. J. Filiatrault being chosen to fill a vacancy in the directorate.

"This convention was probably the largest and most successful ever held by the state association," said Mr. Grady today, "and we were very glad to get the convention for Duluth in 1916. Heretofore Minneapolis or St. Paul always has been named as the meeting place, as the school of embalming, held at the state university, is always visited by delegates."

The school of embalming, which has been conducted for men wishing to qualify for an embalmers' license, has been financed by the association, and was on "probation" as a part of the university curriculum. The convention closed with the assurance on the part of regents of the university that hereafter they would support the school.

W. R. Earl of Austin was elected president of the organization. Other officers, excepting the secretary, are: L. W. Andrist of West Concord, first vice president; A. M. Way of Park Rapids, second vice president; Mrs. J. M. Gill of Minneapolis, third vice president; and S. H. Pfaff of Waseca, treasurer.

San Francisco was named as the national convention city for 1915. Four Minnesota delegates to this convention were chosen. They are: E. T. Barnard of Fergus Falls, George J. Hillyer of Winona, J. F. Gross of St. Paul and Martin Klein of St. Peter.

MAY "HOP A FREIGHT."

Great Northern No Longer Requires Permit From Station Agent.

Travelers who wait weary hours at wayside freight stations and arise at unearthly hours in the morning or sit up to late hours of the night to catch freight trains have been granted a concession by the traffic department of the Great Northern railway lines.

In the past it has been necessary for all passengers desiring to ride on freight trains, to secure written permission from the station agent, even if the passenger possessed mileage or a railroad ticket. In the future it will not be necessary to secure the permission of the station agent, as a new order, going into effect today, gives all passenger ticket holders the privilege of riding on freight trains.

Thus much trouble for the commercial traveler is avoided.

"ONE SPOONFUL ENOUGH" SAYS DRUGGIST

W. A. Abbett, druggist, 205 West Superior street, states that the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, is causing great surprise because just ONE SPOONFUL relieves constipation, sour or gassy stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. It is so thorough a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel and the INSTANT effect is astonishing. It never gripes and is perfectly safe to use.

"STAG" DINNER IS SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

There is going to be a stag dinner at the Northland Country club on Saturday evening. There is also going to be something else "pulled" after the dinner. The something else is the infinite mystery that is puzzling members of the club and many others who do not happen to be members of the club.

A special committee has been appointed to work up an entertainment that will prove altogether out of the ordinary. If the members of this committee accomplish nothing else, credit can be given them for working up a large amount of interest in what is going to transpire after the stag dinner.

Some say that a cabaret entertainment of unusual design has been arranged. Others bruit it about that one of the most prominent Duluth business men is going to attempt to walk a tightrope as part of the show. Another version is Frank Williamson is going to give an illustrated lecture on golf.

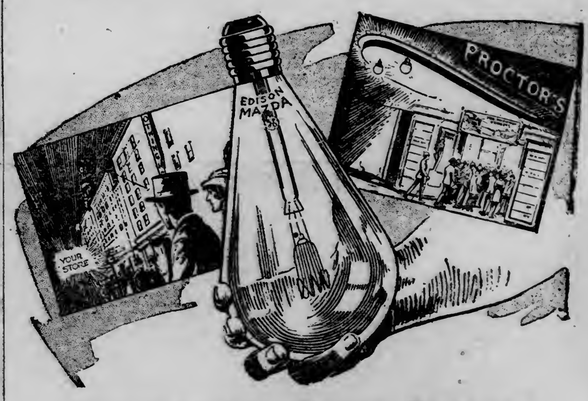

Some real entertainment is going to be given. Efforts today to have "Cash" Bagley, chairman of the committee on arrangements, divulge the nature of the show failed dismally.

Mr. Bagley absolutely refused even to discuss the matter. When pressed he admitted that something was brewing, told of the stag dinner, but refused with sullen mien to give any additional news.

Hot After Russian Bills.

London, Feb. 15.—The issue of 10,000,000 pounds sterling ($50,000,000) of Russian treasury bills has so attracted bankers and insurance houses and the applications have been so large that the lists were closed at noon today instead of being kept open until next Thursday, as had been the original intention.

WHY DO MEN DRINK?

Men drink because they have acquired the habit by drinking an occasional glass for sociability or stimulant; gradually impregnating their systems with small doses of alcoholic poison until a resistless craving for liquor is created. When the habit is well established it assumes the nature of a malignant malady requiring specific and effectual treatment.

The Neal Liquor Treatment effectually stops all desire for alcoholic liquor by neutralizing and eliminating the accumulation of old alcohol poison and in just a few days changes desire to dislike for everything alcoholic. It is a harmless, vegetable remedy, taken internally. There are no hypodermic injections. Write for our new booklet.

SCOTCH MUSIC FEATURES THE CONCERT AT MASONIC TEMPLE

One of the most enjoyable concerts of the year's series was given at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

While the program was not exclusively Scotch, the fact that Philip Gordon Brown was the vocalist together with the organ selection, "A Nicht Wi' Burns," attracted an audience containing many who hail from the "Land o' Cakes." Nor were they disappointed. After a spirited rendition of Schumann's "Two Genadiers," Mr. Brown, who was in splendid form, sang as an encore the beautiful "Banks of Loch Lomond." His second selection, "Thou'rt Passing Hence, My Brother," by Sir A. Sullivan, is a song rarely heard in this country. The singer did full justice to its pathos and beauty. His last number, "A Chip of the Old Block" (Squires), a typical English ballad, full of vim and with a touch of whimsical humor, fairly took the audience by storm. The two encores given were the pathetic "Land o' the Leal" and the spirited Scotch battle song, "Scots Wha Hae." Mr. Custance pointed out to the audience the fact that these two songs, so different in character, have the same melody, note for note.

The organ numbers were well received and well executed, the best being Beethoven's splendid overture, "Prometheus."

Infant Welfare.

The speaker was Miss Elizabeth Heikkila, consistory nurse for the last three years. She gave a brief but interesting account of the annual meeting of the Infant Welfare association, with which the local Scotch Rite bodies are affiliated, which was held in Boston last fall. Miss Heikkila was in attendance at the convention as delegate from the Duluth consistory. The main points discussed at that meeting were the necessity of prenatal care, the vital importance of breast feeding, the care of young children between birth and school age, and the general necessity of education, along hygienic and sanitary lines, of the great masses of the ignorant. The speaker then briefly described her own methods of work, touched upon the causes and prevention of infant blindness, and, in answer to those who object to the costliness of infant welfare work, she advanced the unanswerable argument that "the cure of disease is a public necessity, its prevention a public economy."

It i sa fact that the Scotch Rite Masons of Duluth are the pioneers of this kind of practical Masonic work, and that since its inception Masonic bodies in many other cities have copied the "Duluth idea" and are engaged in similar activities. The efficiency of the work is shown by the greatly decreased ratio of infant mortality, so that at present Duluth has the lowest infant death rate in the state of Minnesota.

SPEND BIG SUM FOR PIPE

City Water Department Will Purchase Supplies Costing $90,000.

Sign Ordinance Recently Passed Will Be Amended By Council.

An ordinance appropriating $90,000 from the public utility fund for supplies to be used in the water and light department during the coming year will be introduced by Commissioner Merritt at the regular council meeting this afternoon. In addition several other minor matters are to come up during the session, which will be presided over by Commissioner Hicken in the absence of Mayor Prince.

The ordinance, as prepared by Commissioner Merritt, makes the following provisions for the expenditure of the $90,000 appropriation:

Brass fittings	$ 2,000
Lead and iron fittings	3,000
Cast iron water and gas pipe	30,000
Pig lead	4,000
Tischer's creek bridge on First street	8,000
Reinforced concrete reservoir in Woodland	15,000
Gas and water extensions	20,000
Auto for engineer's office	1,000

It is probable that an ordinance will be introduced this afternoon amending the sign ordinance passed about a month ago, prohibiting the use of temporary cloth signs in Duluth. The original ordinance provides for a double line, as against the statutes.

The ordinance prepared by Mayor Prince appropriating $800 for the purchase of calcium chloride to be used on park roads and boulevards will be given its first reading this afternoon, while second reading will be given to ordinances appropriating $160.60 for the purchase of a typewriter in the city engineer's office, and the one amending the employment agency ordinance permitting agencies on Michigan street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west. The ordinance appropriating $125 for the printing of the park bonds will probably be passed this afternoon.

A sanitary sewer will be ordered constructed in the alley between Leicester and Kenilworth avenues, from Sussex and Livingston avenues.

The bids on the delivery of 3,790 cubic yards of gravel f. o. b. New Duluth will be rejected in a resolution to be introduced by Commissioner Murchison.

MELODRAMA AT LYCEUM.

"Volunteer Organist" Wins Laurels for the Baldwin Players.

"The Volunteer Organist," by William B. Gray, a good old-timer revived this week by the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum, was greeted at Sunday's first performance by the usual well-filled house despite the inclemency of the weather. The play is of the melodrama type, interspersed with much comedy that brought forth a lot of laughter. In this, Chester McLeod is the leading spirit—in fact, the local boy this week is the town cut-up, and he "gets away with it" in fine shape.

The plays deals with a girl, Grace Barrett, daughter of the village tavern keeper, and a young minister, Rev. Howard Sturgis, taken respectively by hMiss Shoemaker and Mr. Barton. Al Smith is the girl's father, Hop Barrett, and the character he portrays is that of a saloon keeper. Smith does very good work.

De Stephani is cast as Hubbard Griffin, storekeeper, cheat, revenue beater, gossip, all-round petty crook and sanctimonious hypocrite. He is a regular church-goer, a trustee of the church, and he sells liquor without a license in competition with the licensed tavern across the street from his grocery store. His parsimony is only exceeded by his malevolent tongue. He suffers the jibes of the community, especially of the village jokesmith, Ebb Utter. Near the end of the play, "Old Man" Griffin sees the light, sees that he is out of plumb with his fellow men and he repents. De Stephani could scarcely be cast better.

Louis Leon Hall plays the "volunteer organist," Tom Sturgis, long-lost brother of Rev. Howard Sturgis. While one of the Sturgis boys followed the straight and narrow path, the other became addicted to liquor and became a tramp. Meanwhile the father of the two boys saved the life of a wealthy mine and timber owner, Nathaniel Mansfield, who in gratitude, after the elder Sturgis died, aided the young minister and searches for the lost brother, but in vain. William A. Mortimer very acceptably plays the part of Mansfield.

The play is laid in Vermont, in a village called Cambridge. Here each mail found the postmaster, hat in hand, reciting his "declaration" that the post-office, in the name of the United States, then and there was open (or closed) for business. William Donovan as the postmaster, Hanford Scott, with his "declaration" is a "scream." His scandal-monging also causes serious trouble for Rev. Sturgis and his sweetheart, Grace Barrett, but Scott clears himself in a manly manner before the plot ends.

The curse of liquor, even as administered by the just Hop Barrett, is shown by the introduction of another family into the play, that of Sam Yokem, who, through too much whisky, is about to lose his farm, but is helped by the rich Mansfield at the behest of Rev. Sturgis. A new member of the company, Allan Longstreet, plays Sam Yokem, and he does an excellent piece of work, rising to the dramatic and subsiding to remorse with good effect. Miss Margaret Lotus plays his wife, and Jennie, his daughter, is taken by "Little Maud." The latter is a pretty child, with a good voice for her inches, and although she has not a great deal to do, does it well.

Helen Keers this week is the old maid—with a disliking for the word "old." She is immense. She is fickle, and she doesn't care who knows it—her huntress' heart seeks a husband, and she follows the dictates of her heart. Duluthians will like her this week, as they have in past weeks, for her excellent acting, and they have in store a surprise, because this week Mrs. de Stephani (Helen Keers) is given her first chance to sing, and she really can sing. In the church scene Helen Keers stands up in her pew and sings a hymn with such decided success that the Sunday audience stamped and applauded until the curtain again went up and she repeated the chorus. She received by far the best reception of any member of the company.

Well, the lost brother comes to the little town, a tramp, suffering from near-tremens; is befriended by his brother, and later by the rich Mansfield. He takes a brace, after learning the identity of his brother, the Rev. Sturgis, and goes to work.

Comes a night of a great storm, and also the "tin wedding" of the Yokems. Neighbors arrive, each with his or her piece of tinware—old man Griffin brings a lard pail. Suddenly it is discovered that Jennie Yokem, who has been visiting a neighbor, is lost in the storm. Hurriedly all of the men except Griffin and Scott, depart to search for the lost child. Helen Keers "sticks around" to make love to either Griffin or Scott—she finally lands Scott.

Amid the howl of the wind, a big man carrying a child in his arms, staggers through the door. It is the tramp, regenerated, now a workman, and he explains that he heard the child's cries, found her with great difficulty and brought her to her home.

The bell in the yard is tolled and the searching party returns. It is then that the ex-tramp makes his real personality known; brothers are reunited. Dinner is served.

All have left the room except the old skinflint, Griffin, who feels that he is out of place at the happy table. It is then that the little girl, Jennie, comes into the room in her nighty, to say her prayers. Griffin slowly draws up a chair, and the child kneels before the old sinner and says her prayers.

Enter Barton and Miss Shoemaker, arm in arm. And "a little child shall lead them," quotes the leading man.

It is a good play to see. It will continue throughout the week with the usual matinees.

Next week Cohan & Harris' success, "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," will take the boards at the Lyceum.

ORPHEUM BILL UNIFORM.

Every Act Is Good; Xylophonist Carries Off Honors.

Uniform merit without a sensational feature characterizes the new show at the Orpheum, which opened a week's engagement there yesterday. Music, dancing, and a touch of the dramatic in addition to some good pictures comprise the bill. The absence of acrobats was one of the negative virtues of the bill.

Although Sibonetti, the xylophonist was not billed as the headliner, he was accorded that honor by popular expression. He was forced to give three encores and several curtain calls and almost "compelled" to give a speech. When it is considered that xylophonists are not usually taken as leaders on a vaudeville bill, Sibonetti's reception yesterday may be considered remarkable. He appears to be a master of his instrument when playing with either two or four hammers.

McConnell and Simpson in their comedy sketch "At Home," are billed as headliners, and their act was a "scream" from beginning to end. Lulu McConnell has a contagious laugh, and this more than anything else, made the act a big success. Whenever she laughs, the audience bursts into an uproar of merriment.

The plot of the playlet is original and presents some strong comedy situations. The wife (Miss McConnell) and the husband (Grant Simpson), and the husband's brother (Laurence Simpson) are a wrangling trio, with the brother, a star boarder, as the bone of contention. Everything ends in a jangle and their poverty (all being players out of work) helps to keep their tempers warm. Finally they get a contract and they decide, after considerable quarreling, to rehearse then and there. Their rehearsal is one of the funniest parts of their act, which ends with a touch of tragedy.

The Sharrocks offer something new, at least partly new, in their act entitled "Behind the Grandstand." They might be called fakers with a "light touch" although they are represented to be fortune tellers. Their work at the "county fair" is full of humorous incidents, and Emma Sharrock does some interesting work as a mind reader.

Stone and Hughes are dancers of merit, who present several of the latest dances. Their work was warmly received. The Cromwells have a novel juggling act, offering several "stunts" not seen here before.

The motion pictures are instructive and entertaining, the "Jaunts and Journeys" taking in a new field of travel. Russia with its snows and varied inhabitants, and the famous city of Moscow are interesting features.

EMPRESS DRAWS CROWDS.

Manhattan Opera Company Makes Its First Bow Here.

"The Man Who Owns Broadway," at the New Empress theater, is a hit and judging from the standard set at the opening performances yesterday, the Manhattan Opera company is here for a long stay.

Two large houses greeted the players yesterday afternoon and evening.

The company, the show and the playhouse, which has been entirely remodeled, pleased those present. Judging from the large crowds yesterday, musical comedy has been missed from Duluth's amusement bill of fare.

"The Man Who Owns Broadway" is clean throughout, with a number of new specialties that made a hit. The principals are well cast, while the chorus—well costumed and trained—is almost as good as one could expect in a traveling organization.

Much praise is due Miss Mabel Day, the prima donna, who possesses a good voice, with an exceptional range. Miss Day is said to have played the leading feminine role with the original company, in which Frank Hitchcock starred for two years on Broadway. She is perfectly at home in the part and there is no doubt that she will become popular here. She appears in several stunning gowns, as do the other principals.

Two numbers sung by Miss Day this week, "I'm in Love With One of the Stars" and "A Provincial Song" by Miss Eva Dell'Aqua were distinct hits.

Hudson Freeborn has prepared the production in an effective manner. He is not only the director, but also plays a leading role and presents a dancing specialty entitled, "The Evolution of Dancing," showing the changes from the time when the minuet was the favorite, through the days of the waltz and buck dance and finally down to the tango and trot. It is a pleasing number. Mr. Freeborn possesses a strong voice, which he uses to advantage in the rendering of "A Little Love, a Little Kiss."

James McElhearn, the comedian, made friends with his audiences yesterday as soon as he appeared. Mr. McElhearn as Sydney Lyons, the actor, portrayed originally by Mr. Hitchcock, is happily cast and he makes the most of the part. He scores especially in the number introduced by the principals burlesquing the old-fashioned blood-and-thunder melodrama.

The other principals, also, are well cast and they possess pleasing voices. Miss Clara Thropp, who has been seen in Duluth with several opera companies during recent years, is good as the "vill'uness" and her acting in the melodrama-burlesque adds merit to the scene. Lee Daly as Tom Bridwell looks his part and he makes the most of it, especially in the song numbers. Miss Hazel Kingdon is an able dancer and should become popular during the week to come, as the latest dances are to be introduced from week to week. Fred Waelder as Anthony Bridwell completes the cast of principals.

The plot of "The Man Who Owns Broadway" deals with George Burnham and Miss Curtis, who attempt to "fleece" Anthony Bridwell, a multi-millionaire. In their efforts to get the money, the couple run into Sydney Lyons, the popular Broadway star, and of course, their plans are thwarted. One of the features of the show is the staging of a scene for Mr. Lyons in full view of the audience.

The show is typical of George Cohan, full of snap, vim and fast and funny dialogue. The music is of the whistling kind, the more popular numbers being "When a Servant Learns a Secret," "Love Will Make or Break a Man" and "A Nice Little Plot for a Play."

"The Man Who Owns Broadway" will continue throughout this week, with one performance each evening and matinees Tuesday and Saturday. Beginning next Sunday afternoon the Manhattan players will present "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."

At the Grand.

Variety in the vaudeville line is contained in the new bill opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon.

Headlining the bill are the Four Society girls. They are said to be handsomely gowned and stunning girls with beautiful voices which they use to advantage.

A happy dancing combination is Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Snyder. Mrs. Snyder with her pretty costumes and winning personality, and Mr. Snyder, graceful and clever, offer the latest in society dances as well as a few original numbers of their own in which they excell.

Gardner and Revere sing and dance, tell some new jokes and carry along a line of patter that is both witty and entertaining.

Heras and Preston appear in ground tumbling and novelty and comedy acrobatics.

Among the photoplays are the three-reel feature, "The Shanghaied Baby," one of the Olive stories, "Olive's Greatest Opportunity," the last of the Olive series; a comedy and a colored scenic film.

Wedding Almost "Real."

The "marriage" of David Brandon and Hannah Jacobs, the old Rabbi's beautiful daughter, very nearly turned out to be the "real thing," resulting in the legal wedding of Ruby Hoffman, the Russian actress, and Clifford Bruce, who portray these parts in the William Fox production of Zangwill's drama of world-wide appeal "The Children of the Ghetto," the current offering at the Rex. To "take" the wedding scene the entire company engaged in the production, under the direction of Frank Powell, embarked fifteen automobiles for the Madison street synagogue, New York, where the "ceremony" was to take place. Rabbi Herman Moses of the synagogue was, by dint of much persuasion, induced to read the Hebraic wedding ritual clad in his robes. Mr. Bruce produced the ring and was about to place it on Miss Hoffman's finger when Wilton Lackaye, who plays Rabbi Jacobs, Hannah's father, a part which he created, stopped the ceremony abruptly. In his long study of the part Mr. Lackaye has learned considerable Hebraic lore and he knew that once the ring was placed on Miss Hoffman's finger and the closing words of the marriage rite read, Mr. Bruce and Miss Hoffman would, according to orthodox Jewish views, be irrevocably married.

LENTEN FOOD PRICES DOWN

Some Kinds of Fish Purchasable at Bargain Figures.

Lent will begin day after tomorrow, and those whose denomination demands an observance of the forty days of fasting are interested to a considerable extent in the prices of what they will permit themselves to eat. It will likely be comforting news to learn that the prices of fish and eggs have fallen off and as these are permissible, the exchequer of the family will feel easier.

News comes from the Twin Cities that fish for the Lenten season will be lower in price than for seven years. That statement is rather exaggerating the condition, say local dealers. As this point and Chicago are the headquarters for the fish industry of the Northwest and the Twin Cities are merely substations, as it were, the price-making must come from here or the Windy City. And the dealers here say that there is no change in Lake Superior white fish or salmon trout.

The only reductions in prices come where there are over-stocks of frozen fish and in the matter of wall-eyed pike, croppies and pickerel. The reason for the three mentioned species is that the season runs out on March 1, and there will be closed season for two months. That means that the stocks on hand must be gotten rid of by that time or thrown away; hence the bargains.

Other heavily over-stocked kinds of fish will be reduced, for with the chances being for an early spring and fresh fish coming into the market, the dealers do not want to be caught with much frozen stock on hand, and will offer them at low prices to get rid of them.

Fresh eggs, which had been holding up to good prices—as high, in some cases, as 40 cents a dozen—slumped with the coming of the balmy weather. Eggs were purchased in the city—the pure, fresh kind too, nothing of the storage variety—last Saturday and today for as low as 29 cents a dozen.

Meats are also at a lower level than for some time. Pork and all cuts of beef, it is announced, are from 8 to 15 per cent cheaper. Choice cuts come under this reduction as well as the others. The quarantine publicity has scared out many purchasers, and with liberal offerings at most markets, the slump came, dealers say. They look for the drop in meat prices to be only temporary, however.

SECOND ANNUAL DANCE!
Given by the Dramatic Club Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, at the Armory Hall. 50c per couple.

WIDOW WILL GET $3,750

Mrs. Olivia Erickson Wins Action Against Auto Truck Driver.

Mrs. Oliva Erickson, who sued John Ekstrom, an auto truck driver, for $7,500 for the alleged wrongful death of her husband, John Erickson, recovered a verdict for half of the amount, when a jury in Judge Ensign's division of the district court reported an award of $3,750 this morning in her favor and against Ekstrom. The verdict was arrived at 10:15 o'clock Thursday evening. It was sealed and kept secret until court convened this morning.

The accident which caused Erickson's death occurred Sept. 17, 1914, at the junction of Mesaba avenue and the Boulevard. Ekstrom, who was driving an auto truck loaded with sand for D. H. Clough & Co., contractors, collided with Erickson, who was riding a motorcycle. The latter was instantly killed. Evidence was introduced tending to show that Ekstrom was negligent in the matter and the jury fixed the responsibility upon him.

Mrs. Erickson, through her attorney, A. E. Parker, brought suit against the contractors and the truck drivers, but the court dismissed the case as to the contractors, holding that no liability attached to them. Attorney Parker was assisted at the trial of the case by Edward L. Fogarty and T. J. Joyce. Theodore Hollister appeared in court as counsel for the defendants.

The widow brought suit in her capacity as administratrix of her husband's estate for the benefit of herself and her three young children.

SAYS SMALL WAGES BRING DEPRESSION

Neither the Democratic administration nor the war in Europe is to be blamed for the present industrial depression. The economic conditions result from the employed being underpaid and therefore unable to purchase the products, according to Sigmund M. Slonim, who spoke last night at a meeting for the unemployed at Duluth held under the auspices of the West End Scandinavian Socialist party at Sloan's hall.

The meeting was attended by about 200 men most of whom were members of the club. Following the address resolutions were adopted which will be forwarded to Washington, asking congress to take measures to extend government work to a larger scale so as to provide employment for men out of work during such times as the present. The resolution also asks congress to grant loans to state or municipalities so that these might also carry on public improvements.

UNEMPLOYED ARE FEWER

Not So Many Men Seeking Aid From Bethel and Mission.

City Work on Point of Rocks Reduces Number of Dependents.

Soup is less in demand now than it was during the recent cold snap, when the mercury flirted with the 30-deg. below zero mark for several days.

Progressiveness on the part of the city commissioners, together with the presence of Duluth's "rock pile" at the Point of Rocks, Twelfth avenue east and Superior street, which the city is removing, is responsible for this decline in the market.

When men who had been seeking shelter and food at the various homes and missions were offered a chance to break rock at the rate of 75 cents per yard, many who really wanted work took it, but many of them "beat it" and there was more than enough soup to go around. This condition of affairs still exists, and is expected to continue.

About sixty men are being fed daily at the Gospel mission on Lake avenue, according to Rev. F. E. Plumb, instead of 100 or 110, as was the case before the "rock pile" threatened. At the Bethel, Eighth avenue west and First street, prospects of work cut the "boarders'" list almost in two.

The number of men looking for work dropped from 185 one day to 120 and on down to about 100, according to the superintendent at the Bethel. At the police headquarters about fifty men are being cared for nightly. On Feb. 14 there were ninety who slept on the floor, but this was attributed to the dampness of the weather by police officials. This is a big reduction from the mark set during colder weather.

Fewer unemployed are in the city now than earlier in the winter, and, in fact, than at any time since last fall, according to the police. Conditions are improving steadily, and the problem of the unemployed is lessening daily.

MAYOR A SUCCESS IN ROLE OF CUPID

Effort to Secure Husband for Correspondent Brings Out Applicant.

Mayor Prince may yet prove a success as Cupid, the wily god of love.

This morning he received a letter from William Walker of International Falls, Minn., asking about Mrs. Jennie Worley of Aitkin, Minn., who recently wrote the mayor regarding her search for a husband.

As no replies were obtained at first to the letter received by Mayor Prince from Mrs. Worley, the chief executive thought at first that he was a failure as Cupid, but now that a candidate has appeared, the mayor's opinion has changed, at least Secretary Trux thinks so. The former is out of the city for several days.

At any rate, Mr. Walker is a candidate for the position of husband to Mrs. Worley and the mayor will endeavor to bring the two together.

Remodel Your Figure in the New Silhouette With the Proper Bon TonModels

Never has corseting been so important. The styles for spring show style changes which demand corsets that do certain things—for instance:

They must give to the waist the fashionable "nip"—a slightly rounded contour being created by an easy harmless distribution of flesh.

The bust line is somewhat higher. The hip must be free and lithesome, and with being free there must be a sinuousness which would almost imply the very lack of corsets. The new Bon Ton corsets for spring do these things.

The All Engaging Dance has created a large demand for corsets especially suited to grace and freedom of movement and there are special Bon Ton models exactly suited to the dancers' need.

The Stout Figure, Too, has special models which restrain with firm, glove-like smoothness the exuberant flesh, molding it to conform with new style lines.

Let our corset experts show the various Bon Ton models to you—let them fit on the one that seems best suited to your needs, accept their advice and you have laid the foundation for the fit and style of your spring wardrobe.

The cost is slight, but $3.00 to $5.00 for Bon Ton corsets possessing these "fin-de-siecle" features.

PIONEER DOCTOR DIES IN NEW YORK

Dr. L. C. Mitchell Succumbs to Pneumonia; Well-Known in Duluth.

Dr. L. C. Mitchell, first superintendent of the Minnesota college hospital at St. Paul, the earliest medical college in this state, and well known to many of the pioneer Duluthians, died last Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. M. Hunt, in Hamburg, N. Y. Dr. Mitchell, who was 76 years old, died of pneumonia.

Every summer for the last ten years Dr. Mitchell and members of his family would come to Duluth to visit with Leonidas Merritt, commissioner of public utilities, at the latter's summer home at Pike Lake.

Dr. Mitchell became superintendent of the Minnesota college hospital in 1882, when it was organized by the late Horace Lowry and Dr. F. A. Dunsmoor. He remained the head of the institution for about ten years, after which he entered into partnership with Charles F. Hatch as a railroad contractor. As a member of this firm he aided in the building of a large part of the Minnesota section of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad.

About eight years ago Dr. Mitchell retired, because of ill health, to make his home with his daughter in New York.

MEN ARE NEEDED AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

The civil service department of the United States is making an urgent appeal for young men and women to enter the Federal service, and many positions are announced to be vacant.

The commission has been unable to supply the demand for male stenographers and typewriters, especially at Washington, D. C. Young men, it is said, who are willing to accept entrance salaries of $850 to $900 a year, have excellent opportunities of appointment. Advancement is considered reasonably rapid.

The railway mail clerk examinations will not be included in the spring schedule of examinations. If it is necessary to hold such examinations, they will be specially announced.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

WIFE ACTED AS BREADWINNER

Secures Divorce on Ground of Husband's Failure to Provide.

Indolence and disinclination to work brought about a breach in the domestic relations between husband and wife in the household of B. Archer McCorison, 32, tinner by trade. So often was Lottie Mae, 31, his wife, obliged to stave off starvation for herself and children by seeking employment among strangers that she decided that as a husband B. Acher was more ornamental than he was useful.

In district court this morning Judge Ensign severed the tie that chafed and granted Mrs. McCorison a decree on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. She was given the custody of their two children, Audrey, 7, and Dorothy, 5.

The McCorisons were married Nov. 8, 1905. Until January, 1912, things ran fairly smooth. McCorison, about that time, became afflicted with laziness, she testified, and she soon found herself obliged to assume his role as breadwinner for the family.

In March, 1914, she said, she had him cited before Judge Ensign for failure to provide for the support of his children. The court at that time ordered him to pay $20 a month to his wife for the maintenance of the minor children. He promised to do so, but after he had paid $48 he fell behind in his payments and then disappeared. She claims that he is now liable for a breach of parole under a work farm sentence.

EXPERTS TESTIFY ON LAND VALUES

Taking of testimony in one of the appeal cases growing out of the city of Duluth's condemnation proceedings to acquire a right-of-way for the proposed north shore boulevard from Lester Park to the Lake county line was resumed this morning. The appeal is taken by Charles L. Hyde.

H. W. Cheadle, E. P. Alexander and C. H. Caulkin were witnesses who took the stand to give expert testimony on land values in the vicinity of the property in dispute.

The case involves a four-acre strip of land about one-quarter of a mile east from the Lakewood pumping station. It was inspected by the jury Thursday afternoon. Mr. Cheadle estimated the damage at $4,011.98; Mr. Alexander at $3,345, and Mr. Caulkin at $3,135.25.

The jury will probably take the case tomorrow, when it will be expected to pass upon the amount of damages which the owner is entitled to recover.

"BOB" IS FORCED TO "LAY OFF" AGAIN.

"Bob" Smollett, owner of police badge No. 1, and probably the best known patrolman on Duluth's force, was compelled to "lay off" again yesterday, acting under the commands of Police Surgeon I. J. Murphy. This is the second time since Dec. 8 that Smollett has reluctantly laid down his "billy." He was taken ill with pneumonia then, and was confined to his home, 1026 East Sixth street, until Jan. 16, when, against orders, he reported for duty and was returned to his Superior street beat. Mr. Smollett will not be out long this time, he says. Several days ago he sustained a frostbite on the foot, which resulted in his being incapacitated.

FIVE SONS ARE ALL WANDERERS

Errant sons are not uncommon, as police records will show, but it is seldom that one father and mother have five sons, all of whom are afflicted with the wanderlust at the same time.

George, Charlie, Willie, Joe and Ernest Currier of Fort Arthur, Ont., and elsewhere, are the "poorest correspondents in the world," according to their sister, Mrs. Thomas Darby, 334 Tupper street, Fort Arthur, who has written Lieut. N. U. G. Terry at headquarters, asking that he help find some of them, as their mother is very anxious about them.

One of the brothers was in Duluth about a month ago, according to the letter. Police believe that he has now gone to Milwaukee.

"DWIGHT IS A TRIFLE EXTREME," SAYS "HENRY"

Dwight Woodbridge, consulting engineer of this city, who is in the government service, has some strange ideas about bathing suits.

In a letter sent to Park Manager Cleveland, Mr. Woodbridge gives some suggestions about the bathing suits that would be proper for use at the new Fairmont park beach. He also includes several beautifully colored photographs of "modern mermaids" at beaches in the Southern winter resorts.

Manager Cleveland admires the photographs very much, but is of the opinion that the water nymphs from Duluth will have to forego Mr. Woodbridge's suggestions.

"Dwight's ideas are rather extreme," said Mr. Cleveland, who is inclined to think Mr. Woodbridge was in a facetious mood when he sent the photographs.

"They don't have to wear Mother Hubbards, but nothing like Dwight suggests will 'go' here."

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one or two applications of Danderine rubbed well into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store and save your hair. After a few applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any falling hair, and the scalp will never itch.

Grasston, Minn., Fire.

Grasston, Minn., Feb. 15.—Fire which originated in the drug store building here a few days ago destroyed that building and three others situated near. The fire started in some unknown manner and in spite of the heroic efforts of the townspeople, made a clean sweep. A concerted effort was made to save as much of the contents of the burning buildings as possible. The drug store and poolroom employes were able to save part of their belongings, and the barber shop and postoffice furnishings were all saved. The total loss was about $4,000, partially covered by insurance.

Woman's Realm

Home economics, good roads, food inspection, pageantry and motion pictures were among the subjects discussed at the Minnesota club women's meeting held in Minneapolis Thursday and Friday.

About 900 women from all parts of the state gathered at the midwinter breakfast held at the Hotel Leamington Friday to discuss questions of importance. Mrs. C. M. Ferguson greeted the visitors in the city, and Mrs. C. L. Atwood of St. Cloud, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, replied. At the breakfast Mrs. Rudolph Geiser of Minneapolis spoke of "Financial Equality in the Home," Miss Amy Lowey of Fairbault on "The Well-Balanced Club Woman," and Miss Mary Gray Peck on "The Dramatic Way."

Film Censoring.

Miss Peck, who formerly taught in the University of Minnesota and was for many years private secretary of Mrs. Frances Squires Potter, speaking of film censoring, said:

"Who would you have censor the motion pictures? If you were to have one man do it, who would it be—Anthony Comstock? Consider if Anthony Comstock lived in the days of Shakespeare. He would certainly have ruled out Falstaff, and put the stamp of his approval on Little Lord Fauntleroy.

"You have got to create a good healthy public opinion. We represent public opinion. We are an average body of citizens. Let's get at this motion picture matter in the uplift-from-below kind of way."

Miss Peck approves of the movies and she said so. "They are the poor man's theater, library and school. Motion pictures, instead of being the death of the regular drama, will save it. Motion pictures are cultivating in millions a demand and a taste for good drama they never had before. People who formerly sat in the galleries at plays will soon be sitting downstairs.

"Motion pictures are making good literature known as never before. Books by the best authors are being dramatized and people are reading 'Les Miserables,' the Odyssey and the Bible who were not interested in them before."

The Minneapolis center of the Drama League of America will take up the question of films and will try to stimulate better taste through education. In this work it will have the co-operation of the Duluth center.

Open Air Theater.

Friday evening Percy Mackaye traced the course of the open air theater from ancient Greece through the pageants and spectacles of the middle ages to the recent revival in this country. Mr. Mackaye spoke at the invitation of the Minneapolis center of the Drama league that wished his lecture to follow Miss Peck's talk on motion pictures. He said in part:

"If prophesy that after the game of football is long forgotten, popular drama will be enacted in the Yale bowl and the Harvard stadium.

"The classic works of the playwrights of early Greece came from the leaven of the out-of-door drama. The religious spirit behind the pageants of medieval ages now permeates American civic life, but it is expressed in political and sociological movements instead of dogma. Through the instrumentality of the open air theater our art, life and religion are symbolized. In the play 'Antigone' usually termed 'highbrow,' Margaret Anglin and her company in the amphitheater at the University of California at Berkeley found audiences as responsive as the topmost gallery at a 'howling' melodrama."

Will Give Pageant.

The outcome of the lecture, Mrs. S. R. Holden, president of the Duluth center of the Drama league said, will be a pageant and masque of the history of Minnesota to be presented in Minneapolis. The work was started by the Duluth center two years ago when Mr. Mackaye was brought here to look over the situation and if it had not been for the present financial condition Duluth would probably have led Minneapolis in pageantry.

In her plea for home economics Mrs. Geiser said:

"Lack of knowledge along scientific lines is most often the cause of failure to secure financial equality in the home.

"We are not ungrateful for the thousands of homes wherein are found every modern convenience, nor do we wish to lay blame for the thousands more than are without them. Yet, in many instances, much more might be done to remedy conditions which result from time-worn customs and want of attention rather than from the lack of facilities and the means to provide.

"It is because of these conditions that the daughter of the average well-to-do farmer has far more drudgery to perform in her daily tasks than the maid in a modest city home. It is for this reason that hundreds of farm girls seek employment in the cities. How to meet this deficiency and make rural life more attractive is one of the vital problems confronting our best educators today.

"It has been 'bred in the bone,' with the farmer's wife and the farmer's daughter that even the real necessities of home are secondary to the wants of the farm.

"She will wash in 'cleansed water' all the days of her life rather than insist on that long promised cistern, in order that the very latest in pigsty architecture, for instance, may be realized.

"Perhaps it is because of this inherent tendency that women are not calling for their rightful share of the Smith-Lever funds, rather than because of a lack of interest.

"May the day soon come when our public schools shall, in every little hamlet, village, or city, offer courses in domestic science to mature women, mistress and maid, as well as to girls of school age."

Recreation Laws.

Miss Josephine Brower, chairman of the recreation committee, reviewed the Minnesota laws that have given opportunities for recreation and gave a list of the towns in the state supporting playgrounds. She advocated safe, and simple apparatus for school yards and recommended that the club women study the playground system of South Park, Chicago.

Among the Duluth women who attended the mid-winter club meeting were Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, Mrs. P. L. De Voist, Mrs. S. R. Holden, Mrs. F. L. Barrows, Mrs. O. A. Oredson and Mrs. George S. Richards.

KENTUCKY GIRL TO BECOME A NURSE

GLADYS ADAMS.

Another pretty American is going to England to nurse the wounded soldiers. She is Gladys Adams, formerly of Louisville, Ky. She is now in New York with her aunt, Lady Ross, who was Patti Ellison of Kentucky before she married. Lady Ross has been at the duchess of Sutherland's hospital at Dunkirk nursing. She is now in New York. Miss Adams will return with her.

WILL LEAVE COMPANY.

Miss Shoemaker and Mr. Hall Resign From Baldwin Players.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leon Hall, the latter better known as Miss Dorothy Shoemaker, will finish their engagement with the Baldwin Players at the Saturday matinee performance of "The Volunteer Organist" at the Lyceum theater. Miss Shoemaker has been with the Baldwin Players since the early fall and Mr. Hall became a member of the company at the opening of the winter season, Jan. 3.

Miss Shoemaker's successor as leading lady will be announced in a few days.

Braman-Kohn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Braman of Minneapolis have announced the engagement of their daughter, Hattie, to J. Samuel Kohn of Duluth, formerly of Minneapolis.

Friend-Rich.

The following account of the wedding of Miss Henriette Friend of Chicago, who spent last summer in Duluth, to Clarence R. Rich is taken from yesterday's Chicago Tribune:

"Miss Henriette Friend, daughter of Mrs. H. H. Stadeker of 4815 Vincennes avenue, and Clarence R. Rich were married at the Hotel La Salle Tuesday night by Rabbi Joseph Stolz. The bride's veil was one worn by her great grandmother when she was married in 1850. The bride was attended by Miss Melba Sohn as maid of honor, Mrs. A. H. Schwartz of Duluth as matron of honor and Miss Bernice Rich as flower girl. Tony Rich was ring bearer. Irvin Rich served as best man and the ushers were Earl Friend, Joseph Slottow and Al Abraham.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Al Abraham and I. Abraham of Duluth, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Friend of New York and Miss Lillian Rosenstock of Greenville, Miss.

Sleighride.

Chester Heimbach of Clifton, Minn., entertained Saturday evening at a sleighride, followed by a dance at the Lakewood chateau.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Emil Soderberg of 327 Sixty-third avenue west entertained at dinner last evening in celebration of Mr. Soderberg's birthday. The living and dining rooms were decorated with cupids, hearts and red carnations. Covers were laid for twelve.

"Hard Times" Social.

At the "hard times" social to be given by the Guild of St. James tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Cathedral auditorium, fines of from 1 to 10 cents will be imposed upon all persons whose costumes do not give strong evidence that times are hard. A special fine of 25 cents will be levied upon those whose violations of the laws of poverty are so flagrant as to be almost unforgivable, but the committee in charge is not telling for what this unusually large fine will be imposed.

Counteracting the improperly and phonetically spelled invitations will be a spelling match in charge of Mrs. Vincent Rhinebarger. There will be a postoffice in charge of Mrs. C. P. O'Donnell and a singing school. Mrs. O. C. Hartman is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment.

MUSIC TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS WILL BE HELD MAY 19 AND 20

Examinations for membership in the Minnesota Music Teachers' association will be held May 19 and 20. The board of examiners has announced that the standard of membership will be raised and that these examinations will be more severe than the previous ones. Already applications have been received from thirty-six persons who desire to take them.

Mrs. Floid Fuller is chairman of the organ department of the examining board and Miss Josephine Carey of the piano department. The chairmen of the other departments are A. Lang of St. Paul, theory; Heinrich Hoevel of Minneapolis, violin, and Mr. Pease of Minneapolis, voice. The chairman of the examining board is George Fairclough of St. Paul.

At the meeting of the examining board held in Minneapolis Saturday evening William MacPhail, president of the Minnesota Music Teachers' association told of a meeting held in Chicago Feb. 3 at which there was a discussion relative to making a uniform system of requirements for membership in state associations of music teachers, in order that a certificate might be good in any state. The states represented at Chicago were Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Louisiana, California and Minnesota.

The stat convention of the Minnesota Music Teachers' association will be held in Albert Lee June 22, 23 and 24.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Children Have Their Worries.

You will often hear grown people tell children that they (the children) have no troubles. Childhood days viewed backward seem a veritable earthly paradise to which many believe they would fain return. Adults who have had their worldly worries and tribulations think that if they could once get back to the environments of childhood they would not fret and fume until they had attained the dignity of their first long skirt or the casting of their first ballot.

Those who say that children have no troubles, no griefs, no cruel disappointments and heart-breaking difficulties to surmount, have either left the memory of their own youth back somewhere along the way or have had so much more to endure in their mature years that there is no comparing the two seasons in life.

Children do have troubles as real and as hard to bear, many times, as those that come with years and experience and are more and more the bitter fruit of our own willfulness. Some of the bitterest trials of childhood are occasioned by the thoughtlessness of older people who are first to repudiate the existence of real sorrow or trouble in the realms of the young.

One of the greatest troubles that besets the pathway of youth is that caused by the spirit of impatience that pervades all young beings. They are so eager to grasp all, to attain all in a day. They have no sense of patience and hard prolonged work for success, and of beginning over again with a good grace when that which they have accomplished crumbles to death in their hands. Their first idea is that all the dolls in the world lie smashed in the shape of their loved dolly when she falls and becomes broken. But when they learn that there are other dolls and other ways of achieving our ends after failures, part of trouble's greatest power to move one and to make one supremely miserable is gone.

Older people know, although they will not always acknowledge it, that no matter what trouble besets them, it could be still greater, and that there are people in the world with greater troubles than ours. Children do not think thus. Their little-difficulty is the worst one in the world and it takes all the resources of their mind and body to bear it. Perhaps we older ones have greater troubles to bear, but we also have the greater experience to tell us that our hardships could be more serious, and each man learns to trust a part of his trouble to the All-Powerful One who adjusts things for the best.

AT AN ORCHESTRA REHEARSAL

Training the Musicians in Sections—"Brass" Players Are Applauded By "Violins"—Members of Orchestra Enthusiastic Over Work.

The scene is a rehearsal of the Duluth Concert orchestra. The time is 10 o'clock in the morning of one of the regular rehearsal days. The chairs and music stands are placed in proper position, the librarian has placed the "parts" on the stands in orderly fashion and those of the players who have arrived are tuning their instruments, the violins running scales, screeching in the higher register, sobbing in the lower. The sonorous voice-like tone of the 'cello is pleading for an opportunity to be heard while the majestic deep-toned basses seemingly are grumbling and scolding the smaller instruments.

Director Fred Bradbury is on the scene, noting the slightest off-tone in the tuning process and having it corrected before the rehearsal proper begins. As the players are assembled he mounts the leaders' stand, gives a few smart raps with his stick and sharply says, "All right, take your places, please." As the preliminary try-out is for the string section only, these players take their seats and Director Bradbury announces "Polly-yot," meaning the "Pagliacci" selections.

When a Hitch Occurs.

A few bars of the opening strains are tried over several times but something in the first violins, which are carrying the melody, is found to be wrong and the players are asked to try the strain in pairs in order to locate the difficulty. "Last stand of fiddles try it together, rest keep quiet," is the director's command, meaning that the last two players in the double row of first violins are to play the few bars together. After they have mastered it, then the next two players try it and so on until each player has the proper conception. Then it is tried all together again.

As only the string section is being rehearsed Director Bradbury essays the other parts of the orchestra by singing "tum-te-tum-tum" for the brasses and tympani or "teedle-de-eedle-de-eedle-de-ee" in imitation of the reeds. A vigorous stamping of the foot is also wonderfully effective in giving the correct time.

"Don't be stingy with that chord" is the director's admonition indicating a certain place in the score. "Give it the full length of the bow on the down stroke."

Drilling the Parts.

Thus the drilling goes on for an hour or more while two or three of the program numbers are tried out, then the whole procedure is gone over again, this time with the full orchestra. The "tum-te-tum-tums" and "teedle-de-eedle-de-ees" are omitted now unless it becomes necessary to illustrate some certain passage that requires extra coaching to get the effect desired, for the director must see to it that significant passages allotted to instruments not playing the principal melody are brought out. And so some certain passage is repeated over and over again.

In order to make a change in time effective from a slow movement to a waltz the director will say, "Go back five bars before the waltz," and the orchestra begins "back five bars" and gracefully swings into a light, airy waltz movement which apparently is progressing famously when several sharp raps are given to stop, for it is detected that one of the "fiddles" is playing "A" when it should be "G" sharp. The difficulty is remedied and the selection is tried over again from the beginning and this time goes right through without a stop.

"That will give us an idea of what it is," says the director, "but there are still a few sour notes."

These, however, are worked over, petted and coaxed until the many intricacies are conquered and the director and his players pass on to the next selection.

"Whispering Flowers" begins with a soft wavering in the strings depicting the murmuring of the flowers as they are stirred by the forest breeze and the rustling of the leaves which requires a delicate handling of the instrument to give it the lightness and tone color that a well-behaved zephyr exacts on so delicate a mission.

Not "Yelling" Flowers.

"Pianissimo," says the director as he leans appealingly over the players. "This is whispering flowers, not yelling flowers," and so the musical flowers are brought under control. The oboe is instructed on the playing of one solitary note to get a plaintive, pastoral effect in which the note is sounded and allowed to die away naturally while the other instruments are cautioned against being too loud here or not giving the proper effect in trilling there, while dozens of musical terms run riot in the many explanations of how certain effects are to be produced.

In Brass Section.

During a short intermission, Director Bradbury, who doesn't rest, is putting the trombones, baritone and tuba through their paces in an impressive part in "Packeltanz," more familiarly known as the "Torch Dance" and the way they plowed through the difficult fortissimo passages brought its reward by vociferous applause from the other players who were intently listening.

After the intermission the famous "Marche Hongroise" was taken up. This is also known as the "Rakoczy March" and has been the national air of Hungary for a hundred years. It has a wild, dashing melody with power to stir the blood and has been used by Keler-Bela as a foundation for his "Rakoczy Overture" and Berlioz in his treatment of the "Damnation of Faust." It is a thrilling number of wonderful conception and its proper interpretation requires that it be played fortissimo in fast tempo. This apparently had no obstacles to overcome, for the orchestra played it right through without a break although they were asked to play it over again "slower this time" to bring out any possible defects which might be unnoticed in faster tempo.

Such is the work of the new orchestra under Mr. Bradbury's able leadership in the preparation of the bi-weekly programs for the enjoyment of Duluth people. Both Mr. Bradbury and his players are enthusiastic over the work they have taken up and it goes without saying that their efforts in providing a most delightful concert series is thoroughly appreciated.

Mrs. C. H. Green will be at the head of the refreshments committee, and Mrs. F. E. Kelly will preside at the punch bowl.

Following the program the Esther Gomberg orchestra will play for dancing.

The affair will be given for the young men and women of the various Catholic parishes of the city. The officers of the Guild of St. James are Mrs. F. R. Kennedy, president; Mrs. R. C. Deddell, secretary, and Mrs. T. A. Wells, treasurer.

Parliamentary Drill.

At the drill in parliamentary law that will be held by the department of education and home of the Twentieth Century club tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the library clubroom, it will be decided how many drills will be held. The meeting will be open to all who are interested.

Burger-Jaffe.

The wedding of Miss Lena Burger, daughter of Mrs. Frieda Burger of 210½ East Fourth street, and Alex Jaffe of Calumet, Mich., took place yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the synagogue, Third street and Third avenue east. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Kissin.

The bride wore white satin trimmed with lace and pearls and carried a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Anna Markus, wore old rose messaline veiled with light blue marquisette and carried pink roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Sarah Kaner of Cloquet, was gowned in pink messaline and carried pink roses. The flower girl, little Stella Burger, sister of the bride, wore a white frock and veil. Master Cowan carried the ring in lilies of the valley. Samuel Jaffe, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man, and A. Karon was the groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Talmud Torah auditorium where 100 couples enjoyed dancing. La Brosse's orchestra furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Jaffe will make their home in Calumet.

Church Meetings.

The day of prayer for missions, that is being observed more and more all over the country, will be observed by all the women's missionary societies in Duluth Thursday, Feb. 25. The all-day meeting, beginning at 10:30 a. m., will be held in the First Presbyterian church. A basket luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock and coffee will be furnished by the women of the First Presbyterian church.

A program is being prepared by the Interdenominational union, of which Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst is the president. The program committee consists of Mrs. C. N. Thorp, chairman, Mrs. E. J. Bardwell, Mrs. S. A. Blair and Mrs. J. E. Goodman.

All women of the city are invited to attend the meeting.

WAR NURSE IS BURIED.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Tibbitts was held Saturday afternoon from the Methodist church, Rev. A. L. Richards officiating, assisted by the W. R. C., who attended in a body. Mrs. Tibbitts was born in Maine, but had been a resident of Minnesota sixty-six years and of Aitkin county more than forty years.

When her husband, the late Joshua Tibbitts, enlisted in Company A, Eighth Minnesota, she accompanied him as a nurse.

She was a charter member of the Aitkin W. R. C. Mrs. Tibbitts was the mother of nine children, six of whom are living, and are: Guy Tibbitts, Merrill, Wis.; Mrs. Vesta Perdew, Wyville, Wis.; Mrs. Laura Woods, Keyes, Man.; Sherman Tibbitts, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Rose Tyler, McKenzie, N. D.; and Mrs. John Simpson, Aitkin.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

VILLAGE OF CHISHOLM A MODEL LITTLE CITY

Wiped Out By Fire Six Years Ago, It Has Trebled in Population Since.

Assessed at Nearly $17,000,000 and Spent $400,000 Last Year.

School Plant Valued at $750,000—Trades and Business Taught.

BY GEORGE REID.

The village of Chisholm, they call it, but it is a city in reality, with fine police and fire departments and all else that goes to make a modern municipality. It is less than 15 years old. On Sept. 5, 1908, it was swept by forest fires and practically wiped off the map. The population then was a little more than 3,000. By the Federal census of 1910 it was 7,826. Today it is easily 10,000, having trebled in the little more than six years since the fire.

Chisholm lies on a gently rolling plateau, sloping off to lovely Longyear lake, which attracts pleasure seekers from all parts of the Mesaba range during the summer season, and is made easily accessible by the Mesaba range electric line. The Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway gives excellent train service to and from Duluth with three passenger trains each way daily. The Great Northern railway runs one train each way to and from Duluth.

The iron deposits surrounding Chisholm are only partially opened up. The city is headquarters of large logging interests. Surrounding Chisholm is a fine agricultural country which is being developed and in which good farm lands are to be had at low prices. Chisholm and the other range towns furnish high-priced markets for all the farmers can produce. On a farm tributary to Chisholm E. C. Chapman raised the potatoes that took the prize at the National Land show in New York, two years ago, over entries from all parts of the United States and Canada. Mr. Chapman has raised as high as 525 bushels of potatoes to the acre. He also raises hogs and almost every grain and vegetable that can be raised anywhere in the temperate zone.

City Burns Its Sewage.

Recently an incinerating plant was completed which consumes all the city's sewage, which no longer enters Longyear lake, but leaves that fine body of water sweet and clean. An abundance of pure water is obtained from the Monroe mine and is pumped through a filtration and purifying process to a tank high in the air, in the highest part of town, which gives a high water pressure for fire fighting. The city has a paid fire department of thirteen men, with model apparatus. The police department numbers twenty-eight men, including the chief. The entire city and surrounding locations are patrolled.

Chisholm has several miles of paved streets. Fire limits, inside which no wooden structures may be erected, are confined to Lake street, the main business thoroughfare, and to the alleys on either side. Solid brick blocks line Lake street on both sides, with many substantial brick buildings in the side streets. Residence streets are being boulevarded with grass plats and trees. A detention hospital is in charge of the health officer, with a trained nurse in attendance, where all indigent people are treated at the expense of the city.

A white way extends the entire length of Lake street, with five standards, each with five lights, on either side of every block. The white way also extends down every side street to the alleys. White ways have just been installed surrounding the new and old high schools and the Lincoln school. In the heart of town is a children's playground. The park, on Longyear lake, is destined to be a beauty spot. Much money has already been expended upon it. A boulevard runs around the greater part of the lake and enters the park, forming the prettiest driveway on the range.

Chisholm is the only city or town I have ever been in that owns its own cemetery, which is sub-divided to meet the needs of various religious bodies. It is unique also in owning its baseball park, with an amphitheater and grandstand costing $6,000. In winter this park is converted into a municipal skating rink. Chisholm has a salaried baseball team.

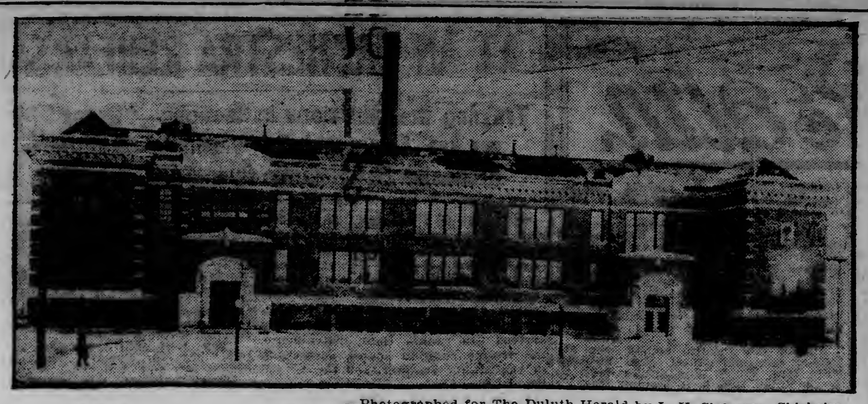

Splendid School Plant.

Chisholm has an unusually good school plant, even for a range town where the mining companies obligingly pay nine-tenths of the taxes. This school plant has cost approximately $750,000. The new high school alone cost, with equipment, about $275,000. In its manual training department it equals any school in Minnesota. In addition to a woodworking plant, it contains some of the latest ironworking machinery, forge shops and printing plant. In this school trades are taught and a thorough business training, including stenography, is given. Domestic science in all its branches is taught. A model suite of fully furnished rooms is maintained to teach housekeeping in all its details. The high school has a magnificent gymnasium and swimming pools and shower baths for both boys and girls.

Another feature is a large study room with a modern moving picture machine for demonstration purposes. The school board is seeking a large plat of ground preparatory to employing an agricultural instructor. Many of the pupils, especially the children of foreigners, are showing a decided bent toward farming, and the school board intends to do all in its power to foster this tendency.

Chisholm has its own public library in which Andrew Carnegie has no part. The building alone cost $30,000. The library is open day and evening and carries books in many languages to suit the needs of the city's polyglot population. It is, perhaps, the most spacious and best equipped library on the range.

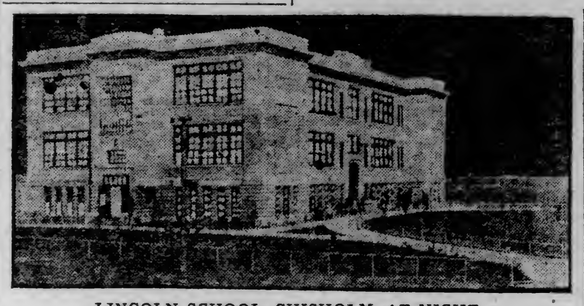

I have attempted only a brief summary of how Chisholm has forged ahead in the last six years. At its present rate of growth it ought to double in the six years that are to come. Chisholm is not a village, but a model little city, which spent $400,000 in public improvements last year and has an assessed valuation of $16,679,848.

WHITE WAYS AROUND SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Something New and Novel; Lights Operated By Clock Switches.

Chisholm is the first city or town in Minnesota to install white ways around its playgrounds and principal school buildings. These white ways have just been installed and excite the admiration of all visitors to the city by their brilliancy and beauty. They surround the old and new high school buildings, pictured on this page, the playgrounds and also the Lincoln school.

Lights on the white ways are operated automatically, with hydrogen filled lamps, giving nearly 200 per cent more efficiency than under ordinary systems. These lamps, which are most artistic, give a soft yellow glow, easy on the eyes, but a very brilliant illumination, nevertheless. Altogether there are forty-two highly ornamental standards, with one light to each standard. A novel feature is that the lights are regulated by automatic clock switches in the school buildings.

These white ways reflect much credit upon the contractor, the Chisholm Engineering company, composed of Messrs. C. A. Kimball and W. E. Fay. The company has been in business only six months, but has already done much important work on county roads and for settlers, having one or two crews in the field all the time. For fifteen years Mr. Kimball was with the engineering department of the Oliver Iron Mining company and last election was a candidate for county surveyor. Mr. Fay was in the engineering department of the Oliver company for five years, and is a practical mining man as well.

The Chisholm Engineering company looks after the interests of its owners in quite a large number of iron mining properties. The company is acting as consulting and construction engineer for the village of Gilbert in the construction of a water supply system and filtration plant. This plant, according to Prof. Childs, of the state department of health, will be the best in the state, exceeding in efficiency even that at Chisholm, which today ranks as the best.

The business of the Chisholm Engineering company has grown with such rapidity that it became necessary to add a third high class engineer, a specialist in concrete work, G. A. Arnold, formerly superintendent of construction of the Calumet & Arizona Mining company at Bisbee, Ariz. The Chisholm Engineering company specializes in surveying and engineering. Its offices are in the Sartori block, Chisholm.

CHISHOLM'S PIONEER BANK.

First National Has Deposits of Three-Quarters of a Million.

The First National bank, a picture of whose building appears upon this page, is the pioneer bank of Chisholm, having been established in 1905. Its capital is $25,000, surplus and profits $50,000, and deposits about three-quarters of a million. In addition to a general banking business, the company has the best of insurance in all lines. It also sells steamship tickets and foreign exchanges to all countries.

Gust Carlson is president; C. A. Munro, vice president; G. L. Train, cashier, and F. W. Hurt, assistant cashier. These men, except Mr. Hurt, and Edward Freeman, J. J. Hayes, Julius Grosso and J. H. McNiven are the directors.

MODERN HEATING METHODS.

Adam N. Schirmer Establishing New Efficiency Records.

The handsome public library in Chisholm, which is pictured on this page, is heated in a novel fashion. Adam N. Schirmer of Chisholm, who installed the plumbing and heating as well as the ventilating and vacuum cleaner systems in the building, tunneled across Lake street from the city hall, with its steam heating plant. Through this tunnel a steam system leads to the library, where it is distributed by radiators and the condensation returned to the city hall by the use of a vacuum pump.

Mr. Schirmer installed the heating system in the municipal greenhouse, where a large sectional hot water boiler heats the three-compartment greenhouse and the residence of the greenhouse keeper. Recently he completed the heating, plumbing and ventilation of the Webber hospital, pictured herewith, and did the same work for the new Lundahl block, which is noted for its economical coal consumption. In the last year Mr. Schirmer has installed twenty-six heating plants, including residence plants, besides doing much other important work.

Adam N. Schirmer gave his skill and brains to the service of others until three years ago, when he established himself in Chisholm, where today he does more business than any body else in his line. His business is increasing all the time, because he is a student of new methods which produce the best results and in the long run are the cheapest for property owners.

MINERS' STATE BANK.

Its Surplus and Profits Exceed Its Capital By Half.

The Miners' State bank of Chisholm has a capital of $10,000 and surplus and profits of $14,000. It has deposits of $160,000. The bank is ten years old and has grown rapidly with the fast growth of Chisholm. It occupies its own handsome brick building, which is pictured on this page. In addition to a general banking business, the Miners' State bank sells insurance in the best companies, as well as steamship tickets to all countries and foreign exchange.

S. R. Kirby of Duluth is president; J. A. Redfern of Hibbing, vice president; W. M. Pratt, cashier, and Frank Gouze, assistant cashier. The three first named are the directors.

FINE NEW HOSPITAL.

It Has Just Been Completed at a Cost of $25,000.

Dr. E. E. Webber is given much credit by citizens generally for giving Chisholm its first hospital, which has just been completed, at an expenditure of about $25,000. The hospital was badly needed, the sick—especially surgical cases—having to go to Hibbing and Duluth, and in some cases to Rochester.

From a sanitary standpoint, the Webber hospital is the last word. It has rounded corners which afford no lodging places for dust. In all its equipments the hospital is a model one. It can care for twenty-five patients. The hospital occupies a commanding location at First avenue and Chestnut street. It is a handsome structure of brick and tile, three stories in height, including finished basement.

Dr. Webber is a graduate of Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, and has been in practice thirteen years, specializing in surgery.

The plumbing, heating and ventilating of the new Chisholm high school, pictured herewith, was done by the A. C. Schirmer company of Chisholm and Hibbing at a cost of about $52,000. This company also did the plumbing and heating of the old Chisholm high school. The A. C. Schirmer company is the oldest and largest firm in its line on the Mesaba range and is doing a business of approximately $250,000 a year. This firm did the plumbing and heating and furnished the mechanical equipment of the new Hibbing high school at a cost of about $75,000. Others of its jobs were the plumbing and heating of the Keewatin high school, $18,000; heating, plumbing, ventilating and mechanical equipment of the Buhl high school, about $38,000, and the heating and plumbing of the Washington and Jefferson school, Hibbing—in fact of every school in the Hibbing district, having as many as eight school jobs under way at one time.

Other recent work by the company was the plumbing and heating of the Kinney school; the new Spina school, in the Buhl district; the St. Paul school, Nashwauk, and the Dupont surgical cases—having to go to Hibbing and Duluth, and in some cases to Rochester.

W. A. MASTERS.
Municipal Judge.

MUNICIPAL JUDGE MASTERS.

He Has Made Good and Is a Candidate for Re-Election.

W. A. Masters, municipal judge of Chisholm, is completing his first term of four years, and is a candidate for re-election at the village election in March. In the opinion of his friends, Judge Masters has filled the office in a manner acceptable to the majority of the voters, and they are confident that he will be continued in office.

Judge Masters is a native of Schuyler county, Mo., and is 31 years old. When he was 16 he met with a hunting accident, having his right arm shot off. Notwithstanding this handicap, he has been successful. He has been a resident of Chisholm for more than eleven years. For two and a half years he was bookkeeper for a general mercantile company and was recorder of Chisholm in 1905-1906, and was re-elected in 1907-1908.

Then Mr. Masters entered the newspaper field as publisher of the Chisholm Herald, which he sold a year later, engaging in the automobile business. In the spring of 1911 his many friends urged him to run for municipal judge, and he was elected for a four-year term, which will expire in March. Judge Masters is married and has three children, two boys and a girl.

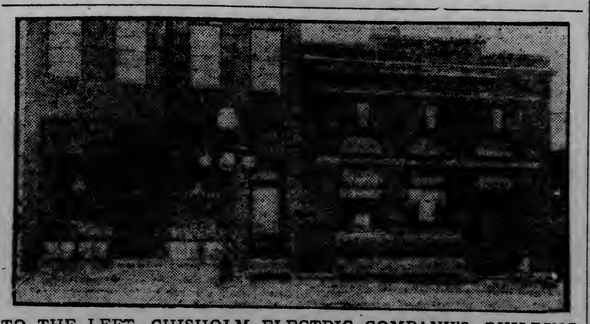

BEST AND CHEAPEST LIGHT AND POWER

Superior Service at Lowest Rates of Any Town on Mesaba Range.

Chisholm takes much pride in its light and power service, which its citizens believe is unexcelled in Minnesota. Current is generated by steam by the Chisholm Electric company, which supplies light and power to the city and surrounding locations, as well as current for pumping of the city's water supply and steam for the city's auxiliary steam pumps. The company owns water power on Little Fork river, thirty-five miles north of Chisholm, which will be developed later.

The average rates for light and power are lower than in any other city or town on the Mesaba range. During the last year the company has largely extended its lines and has completely rebuilt the interior of its power plant, installing the largest turbine on the range, devoted to lighting, and a new and elaborate switchboard. Plans are being made for a new building, all work being on a scale providing for the city's growth for several years to come.

Some indication of the growth of Chisholm may be had from the fact that the company is producing and selling triple the amount of current it did two years ago. Nell Brown of Wausau, Wis., is president of the Chisholm Electric company; Cyrus Yawkey, also of Wausau, vice president, and R. M. Heskett of Chisholm, treasurer and manager. These same interests own and operate the public utilities of Wausau and Grand Rapids, Wis., and of Oklahoma City, Okla.

TRAMONTIN IS A WINNER.

Has Made a Big Success of Business and Baseball.

C. M. Tramontin, whom everybody knows as "Monte," is manager of the Chisholm baseball club of salaried players and gave the city a winning team last year, tying with Hibbing for first honors. This year, he declares, his club will not divide the honors with any other range town.

Mr. Tramontin was recorder of Chisholm, 1913-1914, and is a candidate for that office at the coming election next month. He has been very successful for a young man of 27. Eight years ago he came to Chisholm and a year later engaged in business for himself. He is a member of the firm of Tramontin Bros., one of the largest dealers in groceries, provisions and tinware in Chisholm. "Monte" Tramontin has taken an active part in civic affairs and enjoys a wide measure of popularity.

CAMPAIGN TO ADVERTISE LAND

Meeting of Farm Owners and Railroad Officials Will Be Held.

Land men along the Soo line will meet with officials of the railroad at Moose Lake on Feb. 25 to discuss plans for a co-operative advertising campaign of the resources of Minnesota.

The meeting has been arranged by the officers of the Minnesota Farm Lands association, which was organized about a year ago. Recently a number of land men criticized the manner in which railroads advertised the resources of the state and in consequence of this a co-operative plan has been proposed.

W. R. McKenzie, secretary of the association, is sending circulars out to all land men along the Soo. He announces in the circular that this meeting will be the first in a series with railroad officials of the state.

The meeting is to be held in the Commercial club rooms at Moose Lake on the morning of Feb. 25 and is to be in charge of C. F. Mahnke of that city, who has been appointed chairman of the committee on hotels.

WAR ORDERS HELP TRADE.

Business Man Optimistic After Trip to the East.

Harry Bostwick, a Minneapolis business man, son of Col. and Mrs. C. E. Bostwick, arrived in Duluth Saturday direct from New York city where he had been buying goods and spent Sunday here with his parents. He reports a more optimistic feeling in the drygoods trade. Many large orders are being received from the European countries at war, which naturally stimulated trade. The contracts are based on a delivery indicating a belief that the war will last at least three years. He says the general opinion in the East is the war will last at least this year.

MAKES PLEA FOR SUNDAY

Nervous, Neurotic People Are Result of Undue Haste, Says Rector.

Return to Old Paths Is Urged By Dr. A. W. Ryan.

That Americans have put aside Sabbath observance as something of an outgrown Puritanical time, and are reaping the results in a nation of nervous, neurotic and worried people was the point emphasized by Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in his sermon yesterday morning. Dr. Ryan deplored the haste and materialism of the present age and advocated a return to the old paths of spiritual inspiration.

"There are certain old paths that ought to be considered in this day and age," said Dr. Ryan. "The old paths were simple in the olden days, but modern times have brought complex situations and new problems. In adjusting ourselves to new conditions we have placed our faith in material, in conditions that do not give support when the hour of trial comes—either to the individual or the nation."

Dr. Ryan declared that the three paths in which all mankind should tread and follow the footsteps of good men who have gone before them were the Bible, Sabbath observance and the church of divine establishment.

"We have put aside Sabbath observance," he declared, "as something of an outgrown Puritanical time, and are reaping the results in a nation of nervous, neurotic, worried people. The church is the high and the mighty force in humane lives. The men who have carried the great and important part of the world's work have been men who have drawn their help and inspiration from spiritual sources and who have realized that they must go back to the old paths to find real help in an hour of difficulty."

"WHO WAS MELCHIZEDEK?"

Pastor White Discusses the Question at Adventist Church.

"Who Was Melchizedek?" was the theme of the sermon by Pastor Stemple White last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Sixth street and Tenth avenue east. He said, in part:

Melchizedek, a Priest.

"On the return of Abraham from the battle of the kings after having rescued Lot and his people, Melchizedek, priest of the most high God, brought forth bread and wine and blessed Abraham, who in turn gave Melchizedek one-tenth of the spoils as tithe to the Lord. Concerning Jesus, this world's redeemer, who later instructed his followers to use 'bread and wine,' as emblems of Calvary's Lamb, God himself hath sworn and will not repeat, 'thou art a priest forever after the order of Melchizedek.'

Had No Father Nor Mother.

"Paul tells us that Melchizedek had no father nor mother, hence no pedigree; was not born, but was 'made' like unto son of God; did not die, but abideth as a priest; was king of righteousness and peace, and yet was a 'man.' There is but one class of persons in the universe who can answer to all this, and they are the created 'Adams' of all the worlds, who, if they did not sin, would become the eternal priest-king of their respective world. But our Adam sinned, and in the wonderful eternal purpose of God through Jesus Christ, the son of God clothed His divinity with humanity; was tempted in all points like as we, yet without sin; learned obedience by the things which he suffered; and as Emmanuel, has become the second Adam to redeem this revolted world, thus becoming our high priest after the order of Melchizedek.

Christ the Mediator.

"Until Jesus actually paid the price of this world's redemption on Calvary's cross, the book of Job informs us that Satan actually represented this fallen world in the heavenly councils, represented by the sons of God, or Adams of unfallen worlds. Our Adam had sinned, was dead, and thus Satan appeared as an 'accuser of the brethren.' Since the cross, Satan is confined to the earth where he is working with all power and signs and lying wonders, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time. Now in turn we have 'such' a high priest in the heavenly sanctuary, Jesus, the second Adam, our Melchizedek, who pleads the merits of His shed blood in behalf of the repentant sinner before the Father, saying, in the beautiful words of Paul to Philemon, 'If this man hath wronged thee, or oweth thee ought, put that on mine account.' Let us come boldly to the throne of grace, and find help in every time of need."

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 15.—John Swenson was brought here from Twin Valley, where he was badly cut by a circular saw which was being used to cut cordwood. Swenson was in charge of the engine and he was swung into the saw, his body being very badly cut before the saw was stopped.

LOVING ONE'S "NEIGHBORS"

It Means Service to Any One in Need, Says Gebauer.

Love Which Seeks to Give Alone Brings Happy Marriages.

"The Imperative of Love" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church, yesterday morning.

"There is within the soul of each one of us the higher 'thou ought,' the 'ought of love,' without which even duty would soon be barren," he said. For if we come to the point that we only want to do our duty, we shall soon find that we are giving short measure. And because there is in man that divine imperative of human love, therefore the Master would not merely 'commend' love, but 'command' it. Of course this larger love must not be identified with special affection. This is something that cannot be commanded, for such there is no such divine imperative. Such affection is a freewill offering, influenced by nothing but its own life.

"The imperative means that larger love, upon which all special affection must rest, and which without that special love yet issues forth as kindly action. We need not love a man or woman to be kind to him and considerate of his welfare, though of course such treatment of a fellow-being may finally bloom into affection, if conditions are favorable. No, commanded is only that love, which we ourselves demand from others. And what we demand, if we are reasonable is not a gushing affection from every one of our fellows whom we happen to meet, be it in church or in the street, but that larger love of humanity, which will take the form of kindly and considerate treatment, which will forbear saying things which are hurtful without being helpful, which will endeavor to do what is pleasing without being flattering and harmful.

"Indeed so strong is in us the feeling that we may demand love from the stranger even, that we feel outraged in case such consideration is withheld from us. And now that consideration or love is always beyond what is mere duty. Yes, we recognize the imperative of love best, when we do not love, if I may use that paradox; when our love is not a special affection.

"Indeed the command 'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself' means not especially the man or woman who is near you in relationship of space or society but near you through need. Often indeed the farther away such neighbor is from you, the more imperative may become that obligation.

Gallantry and Love.

"To give up your seat in the street car to a pretty young girl, is hardly a proof of that larger human love; it may be nothing but shallow gallantry. But when you lay aside your paper, and arise to give your seat to a poor old negro woman you will prove much better your human, or as you may call it, your Christian love. It is the love that the Samaritan in the parable had. He went across the way to help the poor Jew who had fallen among thieves in spite of the fact that he despised the Jews in general; he helped him because he was a man and saw a fellow creature in distress. His love for man was greater than his race hatred and prejudice. And so fundamental is that larger love for the good of humanity that no relationship will endure without the same. Friendship rests upon it; so does marriage. And the love which man and woman pledge each to the other, is not the passing passion they then call love, and which sometimes is all but holy, but it is that larger love, which is ever more ready to give than to receive. When two people live in that larger love, they will live in harmony, but if each lives so as to get the best out of this relationship without the love which beareth all things, endureth all things, it will soon go to the divorce court. And only where that larger love prevails, is true joy in life. Then our duties become privileges.

"We say to the stern daughter of the voice of God: 'Nor know we anything so fair, as is the smile upon thy face.' Highest joy comes to us, when we do our common duty in the spirit of a deep human love. That is the love of God, the love good, of doing good. It takes us out of the clouds of sentimentality and puts us in the way of service. And in service gladly done is the joy of the Lord. There is in my possession a book entitled 'The Man of Sorrows.' It is a poor title. If I were to write a biography of Jesus, I should call it 'The Man of Sacred Joys,' joys which had been made sacred by sorrows for others. Just because He was a man, who would lift the sorrows of others, therefore He must have been a man of deep happiness. The burdens of others, which He bore lifted Him up, the cross He carried for the world raised Him into eternal joy. And that same love will alone lift you and me. The fellow who 'merely' believes that Christ saved him by his precious blood, is a religious grafter, a sponger, a worthless soul. Not that I have any objection to any one believing in the saving blood of Jesus, if this give him comfort, but what we should demand of ourselves others is, that the saving blood of Christian love, human love, should enter into us, and make us lovers of men, fellow-lovers and fellow-saviors of the Christ."

TO BRING SCHMIDT BACK.

Will Be Tried for Murder in Los Angeles Times Case.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 15.—Officers will leave for New York today to bring Matthew A. Schmidt to Los Angeles for trial on charges of murder growing out of the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, Oct. 1, 1910, when twenty-one men lost their lives. Schmidt is an alleged confederate of James B. McNamara, convicted of having dynamited the Times building and of John McNamara, his brother, convicted of having dynamited the Llewellyn Iron works in Los Angeles, Dec. 25, 1910. Both the McNamaras are in prison.

Schmidt, who was arrested in New York, was indicted for murder at the same time as were the McNamaras and David Caplan. His arrest leaves only Caplan at liberty.

According to W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney at the time of the trial of the McNamaras, Schmidt was to have come to Los Angeles with J. B. McNamara just prior to the destruction of the Times building.

Carpio Wants Electricity.

Carpio, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carpio wants electric lights, and whether they will be from a privately or municipally-owned plant seems to be the issue. A petition is being circulated for a special election to vote on a bond issue. There are many advocates of the municipal plan, but it also has strong opposition because there are some taxpayers who believe other things are needed worse than the lighting system at present, if there is any possible show to get a plant under private ownership.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If Little Stomach Is Sour, Liver Torpid or Bowels Clogged.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

ARMAMENT NO AID TO PEACE

Dr. Hovis Cites Example of England and United States for Hundred Years.

Long Period of Peace Due to Self-Restraint and Sane Action.

The Endion M. E. church celebrated Peace Sunday yesterday and the pastor, Dr. William Forney Hovis, preached on "The Hundred Years of Peace," discussing the relations of Great Britain and the United States during that period. His sermon in part follows:

"In an hour when devastating war is mangling and destroying the flower of Europe's manhood, it is fitting that we should pause to point the potent lessons of a century of peace.

"The futility of arms and armament is evidenced by the fact that the nations which have insisted that peace could only be assured by being ready for a fight, find themselves plunged in the greatest conflict of the ages with nothing but broken boundaries, violated compacts and wholesale carnage to show for their confidence in weapons.

"The church should be the leader in setting forth the advantages of national restraint, diplomatic patience and international good will over the arbitrament of bullets. It is not strange that gratitude for long-continued concord should take the form of worship and find a warm expression in the pulpit and the pew.

The Defenseless Frontier.

"The fact that Great Britain and the United States, despite all jealousies, rivalries and antagonisms and the usual failure of rulers to apply between states the moral law which individuals recognize in private, social and business life, have lived in harmony and quiet and keep inviolate a defenseless frontier of 4,000 miles through three generations, is not only a novel and admirable thing, fit to inspire joy and deserve commemoration, but is an eloquent testimony to the temper and self-restraint of two great nations, and a noble tribute to the statesmen who, in turn, have guided their policies and conducted their international affairs.

"This condition of international tranquillity is not to be explained by saying that the two nations were highly intelligent, highly civilized and of kindred speech and blood. Fierce wars have often raged between communities of common nationality, and quarrels of kinsmen are often of a very bitter sort.

"The circumstances attending the birth of the American nation were such as to make both the bonds of friendship and the causes of jealousy more numerous between the United States and Great Britain than between the United States and any other people.

"The territorial ambitions of these two powers have often come in conflict. Their commercial interests have met in keenest rivalry. Besides the unpleasant memories of the Revolutionary war, controversies over important material interests involving boundary lines and legal rights arose from time to time.

"Among the other times of irritation when the risk of breach was greatest were the occasion of the question of the seal fisheries of the Pacific and the intricate and protracted difficulty with the fishermen on the coasts of New Foundland and Nova Scotia. The latter was adjusted by the sentence of The Hague tribunal, and accepted by both parties without a murmur. The 'Trent Affair,' the depredations of the 'Alabama,' and the Venezuelan incident also gave rise to some bellicose sentiment, but fortunately did not eventuate in war. Despite these dissensions and others that need not here be recounted, peace between America and Britain has remained unbroken for a century of time. History has no other example of so remarkable a fact.

The Reason.

"The question naturally arises as to what is the explanation of the fact that while during the century sources of trouble between the United States and Great Britain were numerous and sometimes formidable, they so passed away that for more than a generation there has been a growing sense of concord and reciprocal good-will between these powers. At this point it may not be amiss to remark that with the exception of a short conflict with Spain, the United States has been not only at peace, but usually in the friendliest possible relations with Germany, France, Russia, Italy and the other nations of continental Europe.

"Among the many factors which have contributed to the result of a century of peace, it should be noted first that the United States had no standing army, and for a considerable part of the period only a small navy and was therefore free from the pernicious influence of a professional military caste which has wrought such frightful havoc in Europe, being driven indeed to desire opportunities for practising the work for which the profession has existence.

Influence of Self-Control.

"Another reason for the continuance of peace between these powers is what might fairly be called the sober sense and self-control inherent in these peoples. Neither of them will suffer itself to be swept away by passion nor forgets that there are behind the exigencies of any moment, larger issues of permanent well-being to be taken into account.

"The advent of steam navigation has furnished an additional basis of goodwill by providing the facility for an increase of friendly intercourse between private citizens by which the interests of commerce have become more familiar and more closely interwoven.

The Prophecy.

"A survey of the blessings of a hundred years of peace quickens in the universal heart a longing for the day when justice and not force shall rule the nations of the world. If disputes such as are here traced in this century of peace can be adjusted without bloodshed; if difference of temperament, ambition and interest can be settled without arms; if points of honor and national pride can be met without the cost of carnage, then there is no limit to what we may hope for the century to come. A hundred years of unbroken peace is an earnest of God's kingdom.

"The moral of the unparalleled event we celebrate today is that peace can always be kept, whatever be the grounds of controversy, between people who wish to keep it.

"One hundred years ago at a banquet given in honor of the commissioners who had agreed upon the Treaty of Ghent, John Quincy Adams proposed as the culminating toast of the occasion: 'Ghent, the city of peace; may the gates of the temple of Janus, here closed, not to be opened for a hundred years.'

MOTHERS' CLUB GIVES PROGRAM AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mothers' club met Saturday evening at the high school and rendered the following program: Piano solo, Mrs. Nelson; song, Miss Coughlin's pupils; "Entertaining Children," Mrs. W. P. Campbell; "College Work Offered Here," Eunice Walker.

Supt. Olesen said a few words about the college course which is offered to Cloquet students, and a report was given of the teachers' convention at Duluth. Lunch was served.

Simple Living Economy

Isn't scrimping one's food, or subsisting on an unpalatable diet, but it's cutting out indigestibles, surplus quantitites, and planning meals to balance up essential food values.

The ordinary diet is generally deficient in some of these values, such as the mineral elements, the lack of which is often responsible for anemia, listlessness, nervous breakdown, and general inefficiency.

A daily ration of Grape-Nuts

has been a boon to thousands. Made of prime, hard wheat and malted barley, it contains all the nutriment—including the vital mineral elements, phosphate of potash, etc., which Nature has bountifully stored in these rich food grains.

Grape-Nuts is long-baked, very easy to digest, and comes ready to eat from the package. A crisp, appetizing food that combines good, simple living and true economy.

"THE PRESIDENT."

Under the caption "The President," the Indianapolis News gives out the following warning:

We suggest that those statesmen and newspapers who are sure that Mr. Wilson is a "back number" may be mistaken. It certainly is much too early to count him out. The joy with which certain New York papers are assailing him would seem to indicate that they feel that it is now safe for the first time to do so. They have been for two years waiting for their opportunity, with ill-disguised impatience, and now they think they have found it. Perhaps they have guessed right, and perhaps not. Certainly it would be a great mistake on their part to think that the people will ever vote for a restoration of the old conditions.

There has been a disposition in certain circles to attack Mr. Wilson ever since the Baltimore convention, in which he won the nomination after an exceptionally bitter struggle, and after the honor seemed as good as secured by a rival. Political expediency served to prevent serious outbreaks before the election, but there has never been complete satisfaction among those who fought hardest against Wilson and for some of the numerous other candidates.

Tammany has been suspected of only waiting an opportunity to punish the man who dared to take what Tammany had intended for another, but Tammany leaders as a rule are too shrewd to come out openly against a man who is a winner. It may or may not be Tammany's influence that is behind these New York attacks on the president. As the News points out, the present campaign is directed less against the president's policies than against Mr. Wilson himself. Which may be taken for what it is worth as an indication of the motive back of the campaign.

The News is timely with its warning. At least the people have not lost confidence in Wilson, and the people are developing more and more the habit of voting according to confidence in the individual rather than according to platforms built by professional politicians. President Wilson is a long ways from being a "back number," and those who stake their political fortunes on that theory are likely to "meet up with" some public opinion that will surprise them.

The small boy who has to learn all the state capitals will vigorously oppose the idea of making Texas into four states.

WOULDN'T IT MAKE YOU MAD?

Wouldn't it make you mad if, because you had done something contrary to the rules of society, you were to be shut up somewhere, away from home and friends, and not even allowed to communicate with them oftener than once in a couple of months? Wouldn't it? You bet it would! You might get a letter, for example, telling of the illness of your wife or mother or father or child. And you'd hear nothing more of the case for two months. Or there might be something else you were intensely interested in, but about which you could get word only six times a year.

It is likely that you would declare your punishment greater than was at all just, and that you would become indifferent to rules and regulations, and perhaps even try some time, when especially exasperated, to wreak revenge on some of those who enforced that rule of infrequent communication.

At least, that is the way it has worked out in other cases. The Herald is in receipt of a pamphlet compiled by J. J. Sanders, parole clerk of the Arizona state prison, in which it is pointed out that "the privilege of writing and receiving letters is greatly restricted in the great majority of American state prisons," though "a few of the states allow free and unrestricted mail privileges." Mr. Sanders makes this direct statement:

> No prison riots occur in the states that grant the inmates the privilege of writing as many letters as they desire to their friends and relatives. The reason is simple, for their minds are occupied with wholesome and elevating thoughts. Nothing will make a person more morose and sullen than to be denied the God-given liberty of communication with his loved ones and his own dearest friends.

Mr. Sanders has included in his pamphlet a summary of the mail restrictions in the several state prisons. From this summary it appears that there are sixteen states in which prisoners are denied access to daily newspapers, though in six of these they are allowed to receive and read current weekly newspapers. In others only magazines are allowed to reach the prisoners. The Minnesota restrictions are stated as follows:

> The inmates of the Minnesota state prison are allowed to receive letters sent them. The first grade prisoners are allowed to write four letters per month; the second grade two letters per month, but the third grade men have no mail privileges. The men are not allowed the daily papers, but are allowed the weekly papers and current magazines.

A unique restriction is made in California, where the men are allowed newspapers and magazines, "with the exception of those published within the bounds of California."

While it may be that a man can live comfortably and with reasonable contentedness, even in prison, without access to newspapers, it seems undeniable that unless some special reason for such action appears in the individual case, a prisoner would be far better off for being allowed to communicate frequently with the outside world, especially if he has family ties that can thus be kept up. The movement for unrestricted mail privileges for prisoners is growing, New York having been the latest state to adopt that plan.

The movement ought to grow. Put yourself in the place of one of these men, and imagine yourself limited to six or eight letters home a year. Would it help make you a better man when you got out? Not by a good deal! Wouldn't it just make you mad?

What is the Illinois legislature going to do without Lorimer?

ISN'T IT FUNNY?

For so many years that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, it has been the cry and grief of certain "big business" interests in this country that there was no merchant marine flying the American flag.

Recently the need for such a service has been multiplied, and President Wilson has been doing everything in his power to furnish the country with a merchant marine.

And now the very same men who raised the cry and showed the grief because we had no merchant marine are crying louder than ever at the prospect of our having one.

Isn't it funny?

There is brewing the same old question as to whether it is an honor or a threat to elect a man speaker in the Illinois legislature.

THE EUGENIC LAW.

Some of the newspapers in different parts of the country have been making slighting references to Wisconsin's eugenic marriage law, and at least one of them has flatly branded it "a failure," because there were some four thousand fewer marriages in the state last year than there were the year before.

This is criticism with a vengeance—that a law is a failure because it may be accomplishing the very thing it was intended to do! How are we to know at this stage of the game but what the four thousand marriages not celebrated last year were just that many cases in which marriage would have been disastrous both for the individual and for society?

There is no way of knowing, as yet. But the law was enacted because it was recognized that there were many marriages every year that never ought to have taken place. In spite of its restrictions there were several thousand weddings. We will have to wait two or three or five years, perhaps, for accurate data on the success or failure of the statute.

There has been a good deal of criticism of the law, of course. Even some clergymen, carried away by the idea of romance, have denounced it as a means of putting a barrier between those who might otherwise have "become one." The sooner that kind of talk is stopped the better it will be. The law as passed in Wisconsin does not prevent the marriage of any couple unless there is some sound physiological reason for its prevention. If marriage is permitted between those whose union is forbidden by this law, it means unutterable misery for one or both of them, as well as for others, both living and to be born.

Then why revile the Wisconsin effort before we have had an opportunity to see its results? If out of the 1914 list of weddings in Wisconsin there shall develop a much less number of divorces or separations, and a greater portion of healthful and happy homes, will it not appear that the reduction of four thousand in the number of weddings for the year was a good thing?

Of course there is the objection that it means that much of a reduction, possibly, in the birth rate in the state for the next few years. But it is an axiom among certain organizations of women that their aim for the betterment of the race is "fewer children and better ones," and on this score the eugenic law has all the argument in its favor. Certainly it would be a greater advantage to any state to have comparatively few births, but every child mentally and physically sound, than to have many births, with a constantly increasing proportion of mental or physical defectives.

Perhaps the eugenic law will not bring this, but it is too early yet to tell. At least the fact that there were four thousand fewer marriages in Wisconsin under that law in the first year is no sign that it is "a failure."

Did anybody ever try to make bread out of the pith from corn stalks?

Hoes

From the Country Gentleman: To the uninitiated a hoe is a hoe. But there are now numerous types, to say nothing about makes, on the market. At least three different kinds will be needed in the average-sized garden. The first is a sort of a hybrid between a rake and a hoe—the flat-tined hoe. This is useful in leveling off and making fine ground that is too rough for the iron rake; in clearing and raking off litter or rubbish; in working the soil between rows too narrow for the use of a plain hoe; in working over manure; in gathering up stones; in digging potatoes and in other ways.

The second kind is the ordinary garden hoe—but you should pick out one with a thin, sharp blade, a solid shank, not a ferrule and a hang that is just right, so that it makes you want to get out into the garden and use it as soon as you get your hands on it. There is always more or less heavy work to be done during the season which makes such a hoe necessary.

Then there is the warren or heart-shaped hoe, which is especially good for opening and covering furrows, digging holes for plants, etc. The scuffle hoe or push hoe is different from all the preceding. When a wheel hoe is used there is little use for the scuffle until late in the season, when the crops are so large that the wheel hoe cannot be used to advantage. While not absolutely essential, the scuffle hoe is extremely useful in preserving a dust much and in keeping small weeds from getting a too vigorous start late in the season.

Even the smallest of gardens should have a wheel hoe in its tool outfit. The simplest type with several different attachments cost only a few dollars. As it is a machine that you will probably use in the garden more than all your other tools put together, be sure to get one capable of doing all the work you may have to give it. The double wheel hoe has a distinct advantage over the single wheel in that the rows can be straddled, permitting very close work while the plants are small and accordingly cutting down the laborious task of hand weeding. If your garden is at all large the amount of time you will save in weeding it the first time with a double wheel hoe instead of with a single wheel hoe will make you satisfied with the slight additional investment. In addition to the attachments that come with the double wheel outfit, you should get either the disk attachment or a pair of hoes with extra high sides, which will keep any earth from being thrown over the smallest plants.

Worker and Loafer.

Breeder's Gazette: One day we happened along where there was a road working bee. Neighbors had turned out to improve the highway and to make safe some dangerous stretches of a much traveled road. Among the workers one was especially notable for his energy and enthusiasm. He worked as though he enjoyed it; his heart was in the endeavor and he shoveled earth, rolled rocks and laid on gravel with cheerful enthusiasm.

Another man was a laggard, who sat often watching the workers, offering them advice more in raillery than in a spirit of desire to aid. Here is what we were told:

"See that man who works so hard? He does not need to work. He started thirty years ago with his two hands, his head, an old gray mare and fifty acres of poor land. Today he owns numbers of farms, besides interest in all sorts of enterprises. He is a good citizen, always public-spirited and ready to help. That fellow sitting on the fence? Well, he has never yet been on the township as a public burden, but that is the best I can say of him. Work and he fell out many a long day ago."

It is not so very hard to guess which of these two men spent that day the happier hours, who spends year after year the happier hours. Work builds men as well as fortunes.

Bobsledding.

Toledo Blade: This year's marriage record in Ohio ought to show a substantial increase. The bobsledding has been better than for many winters. From various sections of the state come reports of many sleighing parties—singing, jingling, laughing, giggling, through the silent places of the night.

Whenever winter—the old-fashioned kind—comes, it is up to Cupid to put on his flannels and furs and earmuffs and climb into the bobsled. There is no better cuddling-down place. It matters not if noses are red and ears are a-tingle: hearts are always warm and susceptible during a season of good sleighing.

Nature does things about right from one epoch to the next, usually making an impartial distribution of her favors. No generation is overlooked. Maybe there are men and women who do not believe that young people of today have the fun they had. They are mistaken. Especially is this true of the sleigh-riders. The moon shines with the same soft glow, the stars twinkle as suggestively, and young hearts of today beat as fast as young hearts beat a generation ago. If there is change at all it is in improved highways, which mean better bobsledding and smoother love-making.

On a Flyleaf of Omar.

Poet-Astronomer, who night by night
God's star-page scanned, yet failed to read aright,
Where throughout space this alphabet of suns
Spells life, in inextinguishable light!

For not, if cycling time might blot the whole
Of that vast scheme from the illumined scroll,
The worlds, incalculable to rayless void,
Could cease of man the imperishable Soul.

O finite mind that would the infinite
To challenge seek, and measure! Piteous plight!
How happier the bird of lightest wing,
That soars and trusts the teacher of its flight.

An empty glass upon a broken shrine—
What matters it? The quaffed or unquaffed wine?
See the clear goblet with what nectar brimmed
From fountains inexhaustible, divine!

The Age of Adventure

Editorial in the Kansas City Times.

The Star has a letter from a young man who signs himself "High School Boy," in which he writes:

"I have just finished the most fascinating book I ever read. It is 'Captain Cook's Voyages.' I wish I had lived in his time instead of now, I would have sailed with him. But the age of adventure is past."

The age of adventure past, Boy, this is it. You have been born into the midst of the greatest age of adventure the world ever saw. The newspapers, the magazines are filled with chronicles of adventurous voyages just finished, just beginning or planning, adventures not surpassed in all history for thrills, for strange happenings in strange lands, for narrow escapes, heroism and noble sacrifices; adventures that have proven again to the world that men are yet capable of enduring and of daring without surrender.

Why, boy, in your age both the North and the South poles have been reached, after centuries of efforts and sacrifice. Surely you read the annals of Capt. Scott's brave march to the South Pole, and of the deaths of himself and his comrades in the little tent on the great white plain. Surely your imagination has often pictured the body of Scott, propped against his tent pole, frozen and imperishable, the fingers yet clutching the pencil with which they wrote the last heroic message to the outside world, stiffening as they wrote until the last word is almost unreadable. And there the body sits today, and may sit for ages, sifted over with the snows of the great Antarctic plain.

Surely you have read of Dr. Douglas Mawson's adventurous expedition to that same ice-capped continent of the South, of his wonderful march with two companions, Ninnis and Mertz, across the frozen snows; of how Ninnis and his dog sledge suddenly dropped from sight into a fathomless ice crevasse, and of how Mawson and Mertz lay for hours on the brink of that chasm, gazing down into the "dark blue light" calling the name of the lost companion, with no answer coming back. You have read of how they plodded on, of Mertz dying of starvation and cold, of Mawson crawling for thirty days back to camp, only to see the topsails of a ship that had come to rescue him disappearing over the horizon of the wind-tossed sea.

Mawson is in this country now, lecturing, raising money for another expedition to that land of mystery; and when he comes to Kansas City you may hear him tell of the great copper and coal mines he found there, of the queer fish he brought up from beneath two miles of Antarctic ice water, of the cold winds that blow so hard there that they whip a flag to shreds in a few minutes.

Haven't you read of the expedition the Aero Club of America is planning to try and rescue Vilhjalmur Stefansson, and ten members of his exploring party, who were lost in the Arctic regions and have not been heard from for a year?

The club is to send a ship up there with aeroplanes that will fly away out over the frozen seas to search for him.

There is adventure for you, of the sort that ought to thrill the soul of any red-blooded boy.

Another adventure that ought to appeal to you, because it is to follow the route of one of the voyages of your own beloved Capt. Cook, is a trip around the coasts of Hudson Bay in search of treasures of coal, iron and copper. Here are possibilities of adventure and romance in this hunt for treasure as fine as those in "Treasure Island."

An expedition of that kind, backed by the Canadian Northern railway, sailed last year in the schooner Laddie, and the men with it were the first white men to set foot upon the Belcher Islands, in Hudson bay, since Capt. Cook was there 150 years ago.

Adventure! Why, the world is thrilling with it.

"If We Only Had the Time"

Indianapolis News: What great things we would do if only we had the time! We would study music, or learn stenography, or write a book; we'd find out about this, look up that, answer that long past due letter, go to see that neglected cousin, aunt or grandmother—we would all of us do some of these and some of us all of them if we only "had the time." How many of our failures and shortcomings do we shroud in that excuse about not having the time! When we fail to post that letter, when we fail to call up somebody as promised, when we fail to do this errand or that favor "we didn't have the time" glides easily and speciously out of our mouths. How many heartaches has it caused and many failures!

Consider the poets in the embryo who have not "had the time" to develop their art to a proper expression; or the artists who "have not had the time" to study the technique necessary to the painting of a great picture; or the dramatist who falls a little short of being successful because he has not had time to learn the essentials of his craft. It is a long list that could be extended indefinitely to the business man, who makes a failure of his enterprise because he has not the time to give to it, or the brick mason who loses his job because he never had the time to learn his trade properly.

It is a convenient excuse which we all use for failures, large or small. And, oddly enough, the busiest man is the man who uses it least. The number of men of affairs who find time to study French, play golf, grow roses and read the newspapers is legion, while the whittler in the grocery store never has had the time to learn to read. One road to success seems to be to "take the time."

Music Saved a Town.

Youth's Companion: It was in the year 1868, after a battle in the Spanish Revolution of that year, and the streets of Madrid were filled with angry crowds that were bent on destroying everything and everyone. Suddenly an unknown man appeared at the city hall.

"Give me a band of musicians," he said, "and before nightfall I shall control all Madrid."

He must have been a man of rare personality to have been able to persuade the authorities in that dark hour to give him anything.

But he got the musicians and went out with them to wander through the city. While they played he sang—popular street songs, or some old national air. When these bored the listeners, he mounted old boxes and told funny tales.

By nightfall peace reigned in the city, and the mob broke up and went home to bed. The man's name was Felipe Ducazel, and he was only 22 years old when he cleverly achieved this result.

We are told a deal about heroic things in saving countries by long, terrible rides at night, or by the sacrifice of oneself by dying in somebody's stead, but few of us hear of anyone who saved a town by laughter.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Lane of the department of the interior went out to take dinner one evening at the home of Senator Newlands of Nevada. Shortly after the guests were seated, Lane or Newlands made a chance remark that started an argument. Newlands went on to state his side of the case and talked all through the soup course. Lane sat with his soup spoon poised half way up from his plate, on the alert to jimmy in with a word at the first opportunity, but Newlands continued his dissertation. Courteous attendants came and took away the soup and brought on fish. Still Newlands continued to elucidate his side of the question, whatever it was. He talked and talked and talked. Lane kept clearing his throat and backing off, as you might say, for a quick plunge into the conversation, but couldn't find an opening. Finally, when Newlands did pause to put a bite of something into his mouth, Lane, who has a sense of humor, arose from his chair in mock indignation and asked:

"Where's my hat and coat?"

"What's the trouble?" gasped the host.

"Well," said Lane, with gravity, "I find that I came here under a serious misapprehension. I thought you asked me out to give me a dinner, not a monologue."

At the close of a speech by a certain member of the United States senate the other day Senator Kern gave a couple of little grunts of annoyance and remarked:

"What is needed in this country is a literacy test for senators."

"The Wilson administration was saved from complete annihilation a few days ago," declared Representative Philip Pitt Campbell, standpat Republican of Kansas, "by a prayer and the hymn, 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'"

Campbell was asked to make a speech at Asbury Park, N. J., on the birthday anniversary of William McKinley. He assumed that it would be a Republican gathering and that they would desire to hear a great deal of criticism of the Wilson administration. So with great care and patience he sat down and prepared a fine long speech, in which he inserted all the venom and vitriol and downright meanness his system would supply, intending to deliver it in his most impassioned style, and simply wallop the administration until it would look as limp and helpless as an old, abandoned, 42-inch, second-hand corset.

When he got to the New Jersey town Campbell found that the meeting was to be held in a church, and when he took his seat on the platform he found that the lights were all lowered for a sort of Belasco effect. All was hushed and still at first, and then out of the stillness came the voice of a young girl singing McKinley's favorite hymn. It was all so beautiful that Campbell's heart sank. He realized then that the occasion would not be one in which a dum-dum-loaded, poison-darted political speech would be at all appropriate.

What was wanted, in fact, was not a speech, but an address. Campbell leaned over and whispered to a member of the committee, who assured him that they expected an eloquent tribute to the life and works of the martyred president.

The orator of the day simply had to do some mental rapid-change work. And he did it so successfully, dwelling especially on McKinley's kindly toleration for the shortcomings of others, that none suspected the great coil of U-21 invective which lay unused in the back of Campbell's head. The soft lights and the hymn had indeed saved the present administration.

"King Rupert of England"

Kansas City Times: An English Jacobite visiting Kansas City recently said that his queen was a present royal princess of Bavaria. Rightfully, he said, she was "Queen Mary of England."

That Englishman was holding to the Stuart tradition. It is of some curious interest that a story from Germany says that in the event of German victory over the allies the kaiser has offered the English throne to Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. He is the oldest son and oldest child of the Jacobite's "Queen Mary." She is the Princess Maria Theresa, wife of Prince Ludwig of Bavaria, who is the oldest son of the Prince Regent Luitpold.

By the theory of "the divine right of kings," and that a people cannot rightfully control the kingly succession, Prince Rupprecht, or "King Rupert," has a right to the English throne. This succession does not come through the Old Pretender (son of James Second) and the Young Pretender ("Bonnie Prince Charlie"). That line is extinct. Mary of Bavaria and her son Rupprecht are direct descendants of the daughter of Charles First, Henrietta Maria.

At the death of Queen Anne, daughter of James Second, and the last of the direct Stuart family to reign, the "Act of Succession" of the British parliament settled the crown on the "Princess Sophia of Hanover and the heirs of her body being Protestants." Sophia was herself a Stuart on the mother's side; the mother, Elizabeth of Bohemia, being the daughter of James First and the sister of Charles First. The "Four Georges" followed from that Act of Succession, and so does George V.

How the English Jacobites will like the reported sympathetic and active support they are receiving from the kaiser must be left to imagination. In any case it seems that as long as Great Britain has a ruling family, it will be a German family.

Beauty, Wit and Gold.

In a bower a widow dwelt;
At her feet three suitors knelt;
Each adored the widow much,
Each essayed her heart to touch;
One had wit, and one had gold,
And one was cast in beauty's mold.
Guess which it was that won the prize,
Purse, or tongue, or handsome eyes?

First appeared the handsome man,
Proudly peeping o'er her fan;
Red his lips, and white his skin,—
Could such beauty fail to win?
Then stepped forth the man of gold;
Cash he counted, coin he told,
Wealth the burden of his tale,—
Could such golden projects fail?

Then the man of wit and sense
Wooed her with his eloquence.
Now she blushed, she knew not why;
Now a tear was in her eye;
Then she smiled to hear him speak;
Then the tear was on her cheek;
Beauty, vanish! Gold, depart!
Wit has won the widow's heart.

Comprehensive Ignorance.

Evening Post Saturday Magazine: Two Irishmen were philosophizing. Said Pat to Mike:

"Did yez iver shtop to think that wan half of the world don't know how the other half gets along?"

"You're right," says Mike, "and neither does the other half."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Dictum Sounds Funny.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Republican league of Minnesota announces that it will accept only the true and tried Republicans in its membership; meaning, presumably, only such Republicans as can subscribe to the standpat doctrine. There are a few such left in the state, and the whole membership recently had a meeting at St. Paul, when it was announced that it was the high purpose of this fag-end of a once glorious structure to rehabilitate the grand old party of our forefathers, and give it a fresh start on toward the higher things of political life. That's what they intimated, and it is no wonder they do not want any tainted Republicans dangling around to grab off the new honors that are expected to result. We do not want to be taken as a kill-joy, but we are of the opinion that the little band of obstructionists will continue flocking by themselves until they tire of the fun—and it is funny, awfully funny.

Mr. Roosevelt's Position.

La Porte News: If Mr. Roosevelt wants to be the Republican nominee for president next year, he will at least have to let up a little on criticizing President Wilson for not interfering in European conditions. He is on record as having been in favor of protecting Belgium and supporting her, both diplomatically and with our army and navy if necessary. It is now pretty generally admitted that "war is hell." Mr. Roosevelt can go to—war if he wants to, but there are not many people who want to see him take the country along with him.

Congratulates the President.

Wadena Pioneer Journal (Rep.): President Wilson deserves commendation for his veto of the bill prescribing a literacy test for immigrants. The bill was supported on the theory that illiterate immigrants were likely to come into direct competition with American laborers, but its proponents evidently failed to take into consideration the fact that some of our best citizens and greatest men sprang from just such stock originally. Had such a law been in force one hundred years ago it is possible that many of us would not be here at this time.

Good Sign of the Times.

Tower News: The traveling men are coming thick these days and all seem optimistic over the future outlook. These men are, in a way, trade barometers. When they are pulled off the road, look out for a business depression not far away. When they come in numbers, it is a sign that there is something in a business way looming up ahead. It never fails, for they are employed by men who know futures, or think they do, which is the same thing. They must know futures to succeed in their business affairs. And so, the coming of the travelers in numbers can be taken as a favorable sign.

Evidence of Hard Times!

Bemidji Pioneer: Two thousand persons stood in line nearly all night to pay several dollars apiece for tickets to one of Caruso's farewell performances in the Metropolitan Opera house, New York. Just another evidence of hard times.

Right on Immigration Bill.

Fairmont Sentinel: The president is right on the immigration bill. When the United States closes its doors to the down-trodden of all nations, it will lower its standard of justice and humanity which has been its proudest distinction since the day of its birth. President Wilson did the right thing in following the example of his predecessor in office and overriding the will of truckling politicians in congress.

A Virtue Appreciated.

Cambridge North Star: It is a great relief to the people of Minnesota to have a governor who knows enough to keep still when there is nothing to say.

Hammond for Senator.

Albert Lea Standard: Already the state press of all shades of political belief is favorably speaking of Governor Hammond as United States senator to succeed Clapp. He is making good as governor and will have a record that will make him just as hard a candidate to defeat as senator as he was for congressman or governor.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinnie, the Sunshine Man.

For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings.—Hosea vi, 6.

This is a remarkable passage; the Son of God has twice quoted it. The Pharisees reproached Him for His intercourse with men of bad and abandoned life, and He said to them in the ninth chapter of Matthew, "Mercy I desire and not sacrifice." He shows by this defense that God is not worshiped by external ceremonies, but when men forgive and bear with one another and are not above measure rigid. Again, when the Pharisees blamed the disciples for gathering ears of corn, Christ shows that those who make holiness to consist in ceremonies are foolish worshipers of God; and that they also blamed their brethren without a cause, and made a crime of what was not in itself sinful, and what could be easily defended by any wise and calm expounder. These two clauses ought to be read conjointly—that kindness pleases God—and that faith pleases God. Faith by itself cannot please God, since it cannot even exist without love to our neighbor; and then human kindness is not sufficient; for were anyone to abstain from doing any injury, and from hurting his brethren in any thing, he might still be a profane man and a despiser of God, and certainly his kindness would then be of no avail to him. It is also worthy of being observed that he calls faith the knowledge of God.—C. E. Edwards.

"I come to do Thy will, O God."

That is what we are here for—to do God's will. That is the object of your life and mine—to do God's will. Any of us can tell in a moment whether our lives are right or not. Are we doing God's will? We do not mean, Are we doing God's work?—preaching, or teaching, or collecting money—but God's will. A man may think he is doing God's work when he is not even doing God's will. And a man may be doing God's work and God's will quite as much by hewing stones or sweeping streets as by preaching or praying. So the question means just this—Are we working out our common everyday life on the great lines of God's will?—Henry Drummond.

Then said I, lo, I come * * * to do Thy will, God.—Hed. x, 7.

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

President Cleveland has appointed Maj. Melville R. Baldwin of Duluth to be chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission in Minnesota. Bishop Henry B. Whipple of Minnesota has been appointed a member of the board of Indian commissioners.

Richard T. O'Connor of St. Paul has been appointed United States marshal for Minnesota. "Dick" O'Connor, otherwise known as "the cardinal," has been the Democratic boss of Ramsey county for a number of years. He held the office of clerk of the district court for a number of terms and declined a renomination last fall.

Judge E. C. Ingalls of North Branch, Minn., died this morning after a brief illness. He was a brother of Edmond Ingalls of Duluth.

Isaac Pusey Gray, United States minister to Mexico, died last evening from pneumonia at Mexico City. He was formerly governor of Indiana.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 4 deg. above zero; maximum yesterday, 25 deg. above zero; minimum yesterday, 7 deg. above zero.

H. A. Murrell, who has been in charge of the mail circulation of the St. Paul Globe for the past seven years, has severed his connection with that paper to accept a position as traveling salesman for J. S. Shinners & Co. of Duluth.

The case of Thomas H. Storey vs. Samuel F. Fullerton was heard in municipal court yesterday. It was an action by Mr. Storey brought to replevin six pairs of moose antlers and one moose scalp, seized Jan. 2 by Mr. Fullerton as deputy game warden. Mr. Storey testified that the horns and scalp were secured by him at Fargo five years ago, and Judge Powell decided in his favor.

Capt. J. W. Miller has been elected agent of the Associated Charities, to succeed C. E. Holt, resigned.

Duluth commission men were encouraged yesterday in their efforts to secure regulation of the sale of butterine in this county, by the receipt of a telegram from Representative Anderson of Chisago county, who notified C. E. Peaslee, the West Duluth commission man, that the dairy and food department had consented to station a dairy inspector at Duluth. An attempt will be made to have a Duluth man appointed to the position.

The chamber of commerce yesterday passed a resolution condemning the action of the county commissioners in awarding a contract for blank books and supplies to a St. Louis firm, when the bid of a Duluth firm was only a few dollars higher.

Had No Fear of the Kaiser.

Norman Draper in Collier's Weekly: It was in 1911 that Gen. von Hindenburg (now chief of the German forces in East Prussia) resigned on account, it was officially stated, of his advanced age. There is, however, another story of his retirement.

It seems that von Hindenburg was in charge of one force of men at the maneuvers, while the kaiser was in personal command of the other. The kaiser, at the head of a large body of cavalry, made a thrilling dash across an open plain. When it was over he rode up to Gen. von Hindenburg and asked him what he thought of the charge.

"It was very pretty, your majesty," replied von Hindenburg," but if this had been a real war, we would have gone in behind your men and those who were not slaughtered eventually would have been driven into the Baltic sea, had they run that far!"

The kaiser was reported among military men to have resented his general's remark. Whether that is true or not, I do not know. I do know, though, that von Hindenburg was retired soon after.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

Additional copies of the "Gambler's Prayer Book" have been received from J. Evan Carson of Virginia, Otto Peterson of Ironwood, Mich., and S. J. Segal of Duluth. The Editor wishes to thank the senders. One copy has already been published. Apparently there are many versions of it.

LIKES THE IDEA.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The plan of Mr. Cleveland, manager of the park department, as outlined in the daily papers recently, is a very commendable one and I think the amount of money necessary could not be expended in a more worthy manner. What gives greater pleasure during the warm summer days than a plunge into the cool waters of the river, with the opportunity of taking advantage of the bathing facilities to be installed at Fairmont park this spring, as planned by Manager Cleveland? This will do much to promote the health and longevity of the people of Duluth.

Many times during summers gone by I have heard people express the longing for closer acquaintance with "Father Neptune," and during the coming summer their desires are to be realized, thanks to the energy and foresightedness of Manager Cleveland.

Aside from the general public good resulting from this project, there is to be considered the fact that there are a great many people who cannot swim and this will afford them an opportunity to acquire this very useful art, enabling them to save either their own or some one else's life, should necessity arise. Frequent newspaper articles during the summer season attest the demise of many through inability to swim. Here's to the success of the Fairmont park bathing beach. Yours very truly, A DULUTHIAN.

AN OPINION FROM TEXAS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Reading with interest the "Few Pupils Play Hookey" article in Jan. 21 Herald, would like to say while it is a good plan, it has its faults. Why not allow for sickness? Few children are to blame for illness and should not be punished for it. May not the spread of disease be accounted for to some extent by this? Knowing this a parent will hesitate to keep an ailing child at home, where he ought to be.

COUNTY DIVISION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the matter of division of St. Louis county by act of the legislature as is proposed by "the best legal talent of the range," will you kindly explain to a large number of voters who earnestly desire county division, how this can be brought about in the method proposed without an amendment to our state Constitution. The Constitution of Minnesota in article 11, reads in part, as follows: "All laws changing county lines in counties already organized, or for removing county seats, shall before taking effect, be submitted to the electors of the county or counties affected thereby, at the next general election after the passage thereof, and be adopted by a majority of such electors." How will the signing of petitions by a part of our electors take the place of the "general election" and adoption by "a majority of such electors" required in the Constitution? We want county division, but we hesitate to march up a blind alley, if we can avoid it, in our quest.

When the republic of Texas entered the Union as a state, it reserved the privilege of dividing itself into states not to exceed five, and so congress has no voice in the matter. Has the Minnesota legislature any such power of making an exception of St. Louis county, so that the electors of the county have no voice in the matter? The Minnesota Constitution also says: "The legislature shall pass no local or special laws regulating the affairs of, or incorporating, erecting or changing the lines of any county, city, village, township, ward or school district." If the legislature should fail to read the English of the Constitution correctly and pass this bill, would not the supreme court be very likely to give the above words quoted from the Constitution their true meaning and value?

RANGE VOTERS BORN IN MISSOURI.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 12.

The only people who can answer the above questions are the members of the range committee, who framed the county division bill and claim the legislature has constitutional authority to divide the county by this method.—The Editor.

GLAD HIS HIDE WAS TAKEN OFF.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reply to the statement in the Feb. 5 Herald, by a man of Proctor, saying he thought Rev. E. F. Plumb hard on the down and outs: On Nov. 29 on a Sunday night, hearing about the Duluth Gospel Mission and I being down and out, God guided me in there. I was without hope, friends job or home. I sat down and Rev. Mr. Plumb began his sermon, the text being "A Backslider." He went on with his sermon explaining a backslider's life until finally he came out strong and said "You boozefighter and drunkard, you cigarette fiend, you robber, thief, forger, you wife deserter, who have left your wife and family to the mercy of the world, and you old jailbird." I sat under the storm of his sermon. God talking into my heart on the inside and Rev. Mr. Plumb driving at me from the outside. I was between two hot fires and the old devil that was in me trying to confuse the whole thing. But I knew that he had told me the truth, every word, because I was all he said and then some. Why I thought he preached that sermon to me alone. I have been to other churches many times, have sang in the choir, was what you would call a lukewarm Christian. I have heard many preachers but they never moved me, till Rev. Mr. Plumb took my hide off. I am no stranger here in Northern Minnesota. I have been a policeman in Cass Lake, and am a dairyman by trade, having worked for many farmers, but whisky, cigarettes and the hell bound crowd put me down and out. But I thank God when the altar call was given by Rev. Mr. Plumb that night, I went up and cried to God for mercy and he forgave me my sons. After that Rev. Mr. Plumb told me about getting sanctified or a pure heart, that means coming clear across, giving up everything. Well there was five years in jail looking me in the face and Mr. Devil clanging the old cell doors behind my feet, but I said I am going through with God, jail or no jail and I was sanctified by God and know when it was done. Well there I was after Rev. Mr. Plumb had talked to me and showed me what God could do for a fellow. I was down and out, a lot of old bills to settle up, my back record to fix up and five years in jail looking me in the face, but I thank God I had and knew the saving power of Jesus Christ. It was then I commenced to pray to God to help me through with these things, and for the benefit of the people who read this I tell you I prayed night and day and God has seen me through. I did not have to go to jail for forgery as I have been given a chance to fix it up. I am fixing up everything I ever did that was crooked in my life and leading a good straight honest life. I have been united with my wife and children, have got a happy home. My wife has been converted here at the Mission and I never miss a chance to tell other people, rich or poor, for we have all got to bow to the same God, the saving power of Jesus Christ. Now some people think Rev. Mr. Plumb is a little hard on the down and out class, in the way he talks to them, but the people who find fault have never been through the game and paid the price. I want to say it took every word that Rev. Mr. Plumb could use in order to bring me to the altar. He took my hide and hair off but I am thanking him today for preaching the old time religion that tells the plain truth, makes you fix up your back records, straightens a man out and heads him toward the kingdom of heaven.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR SAILORS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

At Friday morning's session of the "night school" section of the Northeastern Minnesota Educational association the statement was made by one of the teachers connected with the Y. M. C. A. night school that no woman should teach night school, and, he referred to the night school conducted by the Lake Carriers' association for the benefit of the sailors, saying that the sailors were the scum of earth and the toughest kind of men. I do not wish to enter into any controversy about the relative merits of men or women as night school teachers, but, I do, strenuously, object to the statement that sailors are the scum of the earth, and the toughest kind of men. I will grant we have tough sailors, and, if it will enlighten him, will say there are some real tough sailors. But, our night students will compare favorably, man to man, with any class conducted by the Y. M. C. A. in any part of the country.

Our present class is made up from a lot of men that are very anxious to improve their condition, and they are using this school as a means for advancement in their chosen work. I will be very glad to have anyone call, see our class and judge for themselves. This is the third season for our school, and we have not had one objectionable student. As a class the sailors on the Great Lakes cannot be surpassed for their deference and respect for women, no matter when, or under what conditions they may meet them.

The Lake Carriers' association welfare committee went into the school question thoroughly, and, like other big corporations, they did not spare expenses in trying to give the sailors every advantage to improve, and without cost to the sailors attending the school. This school was started in 1912 and with the aid of G. A. Tomlinson, the local member of the executive committee of the Lake Carriers' association, it has been a success in every way.

In conclusion, please let me say that I think the remarks about the sailors in general is a libel on a hardy, God-fearing class of young men that are striving by might and main to improve. The sailors' "night school" students as a class invite comparison with any night school class in the country.

Very respectfully,

WM. A. BOURKE,

Lake Carriers' Commissioner.

REV. PLUMB'S SERMON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is perhaps a little late to make some remarks in reference to Rev. F. E. Plumb's sermon held at the "Gospel Mission" a couple of weeks ago, according to a report in The Herald, but as I have been out of town ever since and extremely busy, I have not been able to find any time to attend to this matter before.

As the sermon was rather unique it caught my eye even when out on my travel. I have heard a good many sermons preached in my life, both by laymen as well as the most learned dignitaries of almost every creed and denomination, but I must confess that Rev. Mr. Plumb has them all beat in strong expressions. I intended to quote some of his remarks, but I feel almost ashamed to do so and furthermore do not consider such language fit to put in print, so have to refer to it in part.

His sermon, although unique, is not very logical, but he is certainly gifted as to abusive expressions. In his definition of "hell" he refers to the new doctrine of "hell," which evidently does not appeal to him. He says in one place that "I can tell you hell is a lake of fire—it is a great big lake of molten fire." Anybody with horse sense knows it. Later on he likens his hearers "as black as hell, and their hearts and faces as black as the depths of hell," there is not much logic in that or horse sense.

Whether the hell is a physical hell or not, I do not know and furthermore do not believe that anyone can positively describe hell in such positive language as he did without seeing it himself. He says, "I can tell you, hell is a great big molten fire." I believe both in heaven and hell because I believe in the Bible, but can only describe it in my own imaginary way as I see and understand it and I think every individual has to do the same. The time will come when we will both see and know, and be able to describe those places according to the way we live here. We all know more about hell than heaven because of the way we are living. As I'm out of town most of the time, I do not know anything about the way this Gospel Mission is run, but I understand that the unfortunate in life get a bowl of soup and lodging when in extreme want and I have been told that they have to listen to Rev. Mr. Plumb's sermon before they earn that. Whether that is so I can't say, but if true, I should think that their appetites would be very much impaired after listening to a "Gospel speaker" of this style, according to the report as I read in The Herald.

To me it sounded more like a summing up and pleading to the jury by criminal lawyers, who are full of bile and have an overflowing gall of venomous matter which they are trying to relieve themselves of through their vocabulary against the other fellow's client. Some lawyers are wonderfully gifted with abusive language which they have no right to, as it will certainly not improve the poor, unfortunate criminals to heap abuse on top of their troubles and in most cases do more harm than good.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"The Grave of Bonaparte," from J. H. Pinkerton of Grand Marais.

"Mary Across the Wild Moor," from R. Doyle of Bovey, Minn.

"Scots Wha Hae," from Florence Barril of Eveleth.

Requests have been received for the following:

"The Music Master" and "The Lion and the Mouse," from "A Reader." The Editor knows these only as plays and they would, of course, be too long to publish. "A Reader" might try the library.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," from Minnie Andress of Wrenshall.

"The Camp of Buckskin Joe" and "The Filipino Spy," from J. M. Hartman of Virginia.

"Though We Part I'll Not Forget You," from M. Davis of Marble, who also asks for two others that have been recently published.

The Grave of Bonaparte.

On a lone, barren isle, where the wild, roaring billows
Assail the stern rock and the loud tempests rave,
The hero lies still, while the low-drooping willows
Like fond weeping mourners lean over the grave.
The lightnings may flash and the loud thunders rattle;
He heeds not, he hears not, he's free from all pain;
He sleeps his last sleep, he has fought his last battle,
No sound can awake him to glory again,
No sound can awake him to glory again.

O shade of the mighty! where now are the legions
That rushed but to conquer when thou ledst them on?
Alas! they have perished in far hilly regions,
And all save the fame of their triumph is gone.
The trumpet may sound and the loud cannon rattle;
They heed not, they hear not, they're free from all pain;
They sleep their last sleep, they have fought their last battle,
No sound can awake them to glory again,
No sound can awake them to glory again.

Yet, spirit immortal, the tomb cannot bind thee,
For, like thine own eagle, that soared to the sun,
Thou springest from bondage and leavest behind thee
A name which before thee no mortal had won.
Though nations may combat and war's thunders rattle,
No more on the steed wilt thou sweep o'er the plain;
Thou sleepest thy last sleep, thou hast fought thy last battle,
No sound can awake thee to glory again,
No sound can awake thee to glory again.

"Bruce's Address to His Army at Bannockburn."

Scots, wha has wi' Wallace bled,
Scots, whom Bruce has often led;
Welcome to your gory bed,
Or to victory!

Now's the day, and now's the hour,
See the front o' battle lour;
See approach proud Edward's power—
Chains and slavery!

Wha will be a traitor knave?
Wha can fill a coward's grave?
Wha sae base as be a slave,
Let him turn and flee.

Wha, for Scotland's king and law,
Freedom's sword will strongly draw,
Freeman stand, or freeman fa'
Let him follow me?

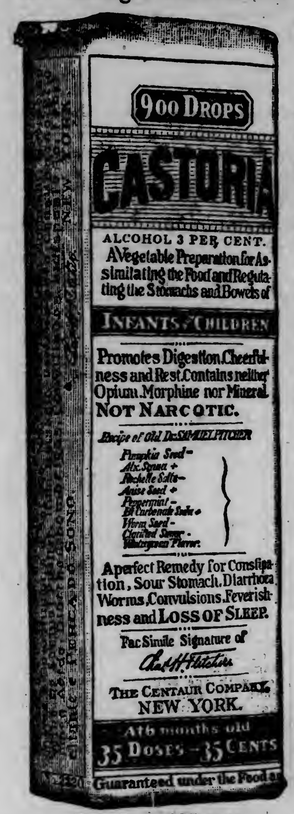

By oppression's woes and pains;
By your sons in servile chains;
We will drain our dearest veins,
But they shall be free!

Lay the proud usurpers low,
Tyrants fall in every foe—
Liberty's in every blow—
Let us do or die!

Dr. Albert W. Kahl, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have used Castoria in my practice for the past 26 years. I regard it as an excellent medicine for children."

Dr. Gustave A. Eisengraeber, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your Castoria in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to be an excellent remedy for children."

Dr. S. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."

Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. R. E. Eskildson, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."

Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. Is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

LENTEN RULES ANNOUNCED

Persons Observing Fast Restricted to One Meal and Collation.

Special Exemptions for Workingmen and Their Families.

Lenten regulations for the diocese of Duluth, as announced by Bishop James McGolrick, include the usual observances made by members of the Catholic church. Beginning Ash Wednesday, Feb. 17, the period of fasting, in accordance with the established custom, will last forty days.

Precepts covering the requirements of the fast, or abstinence, state that persons under 25 and over 60, and prescribed others, are exempt from fasting. All persons under 7 years of age, and the sick, are exempt from abstinence.

Those who observe the fast are restricted to one meal, toward the middle of the day, and a "collation in the evening, not exceeding the fourth part of a meal." Custom, however, "authorizes the taking in the morning of a cup of coffee, tea or chocolate, with a small piece of bread." For the collation one may take two ounces of solid food, and for the meal not to exceed eight ounces.

The abstinence, is, of course, less rigid in its provisions. Regarding this, Bishop McGolrick's announcement says:

"The use of flesh is allowed at all meals on Sundays, and at the principal meal on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, except the Saturday of Ember Week, Feb. 27, and the Saturday of Holy Week, April 3.

"The use of flesh meat, therefore, is forbidden at all meals on Wednesdays, Fridays, the Saturday of Ember Week and the Saturday of Holy Week, April 3.

"Theuse of flesh meat, therefore is forbidden at all meals on Wednesdays, Fridays, the Saturday of Ember Week and the Saturday of Holy Week; and on other days, outside of Sundays, it is forbidden at other repasts, outside the full meal. The use of lard is permitted at all times in the preparation of food."

Special exemptions have been secured for the working people in virtue of authority conceded to bishops of the United States by a recent pontifical indult. Permission thus has been granted to "working people" to "use meat on all days in Lent, with the exception of Friday, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy week. Where the wage earner uses meat all members of his household may use it. The usual prohibition against using flesh meat and fish at the same meal remains."

Suggestions from the pope counsel that instead of the abstinence from meat some other sacrifice of bodily comfort be practiced, such as abstinence from intoxicating drink.

SHERIFF BELIEVES MORS TOLD TRUTH.

West Plains, N. Y., Feb. 15.—After an examination of Frederick Mors, the former employe of the German Odd Fellows' home at Yonkers, who confessed to causing the deaths of eight aged inmates, Sheriff Weisendanger expressed the belief that Mors was telling the truth. The sheriff said that Mors repeated virtually every statement he made in his confession.

The examination took place in the Westchester county jail here, where Mors was brought last week after having been declared "mentally unwell" by New York alienists. Mors is charged with homicide.

Kaiser Invites Gerard to Conference at Eastern Headquarters.

London, Feb. 15.—The German emperor, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from The Hague, has invited the American ambassador to Germany, James W. Gerard, to a conference at eastern headquarters.

Interview With Gerard.

Berlin, via London, Feb. 15.—The National Zeitung published an interview with James C. Gerard, the United States ambassador to Germany, concerning the situation brought about by the presentation of the American note to the German government relative to neutral shipping in the war zone, recently created by Germany.

The ambassador is reported as saying that the note is couched in such friendly terms that he did not doubt it would have a favorable result. He expressed regret at the sharp tone of some of the American and German newspapers, but said he was sure this would not disturb the friendly relations between the two countries.

"Why should Germany and the United States wage war on each other," Mr. Gerard asked the interviewer. "There is not the slightest question of conflict between them, their interests oppose nowhere in the world."

He is reported as asking how such a war could be waged since neither belligerent could engage the other effectively because of their geographical positions, and as saying that it would have to be an economic war.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN AT CANADIAN PORTS

Vessels Warned to Watch for Danger Signals When Approaching.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—The Canadian government has given notice "that circumstances have arisen which may necessitate prohibition of an entrance to certain ports of the Dominion, and mariners are notified upon approach from the shores of Canada that a sharp lookout should be kept for signals. If signals are displayed, it may be taken as an indication that "the port or locality should be approached with caution as it may be apprehended that obstructions exist."

Three vertical red balls by day, or three vertical red lights by night, indicate that entrance to a port is prohibited. Three vertical white lights, flags or balls indicate that a port is open.

It is announced that ports may be provided withh "examination steamers" which will carry the same signals as ports to indicate closed or open harbors.

Merchant vessels when approaching ports are especially cautioned against making use of private signals of any description either by night or day, the use of them will "render a vessel liable to be fired upon, the notice stated.

The ports of Halifax, Quebec and Esquimiult, B. C., are indicated as ports where special precautions are to be taken by masters. It is also announced that at some points Canadian government vessels are "sometimes engaged in sweeping operations and masters should look out for hawsers connecting sweeping vessels."

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard.

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. You can now get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

MUSTEROLE does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Just massage MUSTEROLE in with the finger-tips gently. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

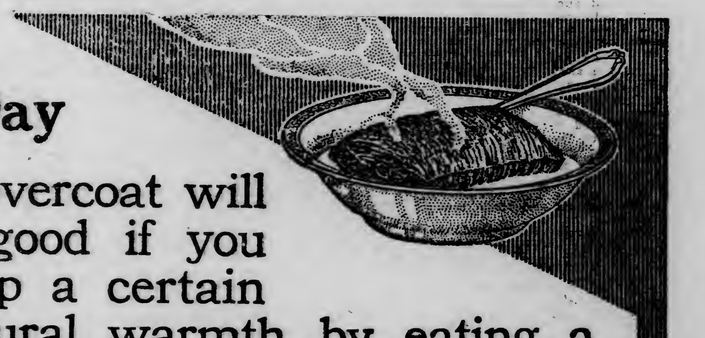

And there is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest (it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Be sure you get the genuine MUSTEROLE. Refuse imitations — get what you ask for. The Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

'76 SPIRIT STILL LIVES

Governor Hammond Tells Cloquet Revolutionary Spirit Is Not Dead.

State Executive Addresses Large Audience in Nearby City on Sunday.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond talked to a packed house at the Grand theater Sunday. He came under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and was to have talked to the "Y," but it was finally decided to obtain the Grand to afford more room. Every seat was occupied and standing room was scarce.

The governor talked of the relationship that exists between America and the rest of the world. He said that all people of all classes and all nationalities are blended together in America, and still we have the most peaceful and charitable nation in the world.

Revolutionary Incident.

Governor Hammond related the story of an old man who fought at the battle of Lexington; after having killed three "redcoats" the man was shot by the British regulars, badly beaten and left for dead. The old man, however, recovered and lived for eighteen years to the age of 98 years.

"No," said Governor Hammond, "the ships that sail through the air, the great 42-centimeter guns and all the original American spirit of the Revolmachinery of war cannot overcome that lution."

MOORHEAD LICENSE ELECTION TUESDAY

"Wets" and "Drys" Making Final Round-up of Voters of City.

Moorhead, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the "drys" claiming a victory by between 75 and 100 votes and the "wets" asserting they have scheduled every vote and know to a positive certainty they will win tomorrow, a great deal of interest is being taken in Tuesday's municipal election.

The present fight is largely due to the demand of the outsiders for better conditions here on account of the Concordia college and state normal students. It is asserted the influences are pernicious and that a larger student body would be sent here under other conditions.

Winding Up Campaign.

There was a series of "dry" meetings held Sunday and today is the final round-up by both sides and there is intense interest in the result. While the "drys" appeared to be in a hopeless minority two weeks ago their campaign has attracted so much attention that there seems a possibility of their winning in the contest tomorrow.

It is claimed the saloon men and the brewery concerns have raised a considerable fund which has been disbursed in a house to house campaign. In addition to bringing Rev. Mr. Windle of Chicago, the "wets" have also had other speakers here and both sides have conducted an unusually aggressive campaign.

BELIEVED KILLED IN EUROPEAN WAR

FOLKE E. BRANDT.

Folke E. Brandt, former valet of Mortimer Schiff, New York banker, who, through the intercession of Senator Nelson of Minnesota was pardoned from the New York penitentiary, where he was serving thirty years for assaulting Schiff, is believed to have fallen in the great European war.

Marabeau L. Towns, a New York lawyer who worked for Brandt's pardon, believes he has been killed. The last Mr. Towns heard from Brandt he was fighting in the Russian army, in the Mazurian lake country, where there have been big losses by the Russians.

After Brandt was released from the New York prison he came to Minnesota and was given employment at Bemidji. He claimed that detectives were constantly dogging his footsteps and, soon tiring of the Northwest, he left Minnesota, returning to New York, and took passage across the Atlantic, embittered against Americans and America.

FOUNDERS' DAY.

Anniversary Will Be Observed at North Dakota University.

Grand Fords, N. D., Feb. 15.—Plans are on foot for the observance of Founders' day at the university next Saturday. A convocation will be held, President McVey will preside. Dean Vernon P. Squires will read a poem on Funders' day and Miss Beatrice Johnston will give and address on "The University Women in North Dakota." George F. Schafer will give an address on "University Men in North Dakota" and the music will be furnished by the winners of the Carney song contest.

The annual Founders' day banquet will be held at noon at the University commons. President McVey will preside as toastmaster. The toasts will be as follows:

"For the Alumni," Miss Margaret Plank; "For the Faculty," Prof. G. St. John Perrott; "For the Students," Edgar Gustafson; "For the Trustees," Hon. Karl J. Farup; "For the State," William Langer.

NOTHING CRIMINAL IN FARGO TRAGEDY

Coroner's Jury So Finds After Investigating Building Collapse.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was no criminal negligence in connection with the accident in the new Ford building here which resulted in two deaths, according to the findings of the coroner's jury. A broken upright support eight inches square collapsed, throwing too much weight on other timbers and causing them to move out of position. This let the concrete for the entire second floor fall and the workmen were crushed to death underneath. There was only one broken piece of timber and it was from the heart of a fir log.

Of the men killed one was a widower with children and the other left a wife and children. It is understood the Ford company will care for the woman and the orphaned children and also for the workmen who were injured when the crash came.

ATTACKED BY STALLION; NORTH DAKOTAN HURT.

Maddock, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attacked by a vicious stallion, G. Elmquist was saved only after rescuers had driven the animal away with clubs. Elmquist had one finger chewed off and the rest of the hand badly lacerated, while the flesh on the other arm was nearly torn off from the elbow down. He was knocked down and trampled by the enraged animal.

LIQUOR INTRODUCER HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Van Hook, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Brodahl, a local restaurant man, was arrested on a charge of giving liquor to Indians. He and a companion went to the reservation some time ago and are reported to have given some Indians liquor with which the latter became intoxicated. As it is an offense against the Federal laws both to give liquor to Indians and to introduce it on the reservations, Brodahl was held to the next term of the Federal court.

DEVILS LAKE ELKS' NEW HOME ASSURED.

Devils Lake, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is practically certain that the Elks of Devils Lake will erect a temple this year. E. F. Flynn, the chairman of the committee named to investigate the proposition, reports a general indorsement of the plan and feels it will be an easy matter to finance it. Definite action will probably be taken in a short time.

YOUNG COUPLE ARE SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 15.—After confessing to District Attorney Davis to the committing of several burglaries in this city, John Loring, aged 21, pleaded guilty to burglary in municipal court and was sentenced to a term of ten years at Waupun. Loring admitted breaking into three houses, three saloons and a drug store.

Immediately after he had entered his plea, the man's wife, a girl aged 19, entered a plea of guilty to being an accomplice in the drug store job and was sentenced to Waupun for three years.

RIGHT-OF-WAY COIN NOW BEING SECURED.

Burkey, N. D., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The balance of the money for the Northern Pacific right-of-way from Beach through Ollie and Burkey to Montana will be raised between now and April. Ollie has raised its amount, but there is a considerable fund due from this locality and a committee has been named to secure the subscriptions either in cash or in interest-bearing notes by April 1. The money will then be held until the road completes the line.

EAST GRAND FORKS MAN GETS INJURY.

East Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 15.—James McIlraith, ex-city treasurer and one of the pioneer residents of East Grand Forks, was caught under a heavy cake of ice and sustained three fractured ribs and other injuries. He is at present at St. Joseph's hospital, St. Paul, and his son, Tim, and daughter, Mrs. George Buckley, are at his bedside.

Mr. McIlraith has been in charge of the ice harvest at White Bear for the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads, and it was while superintending the work that he received the injury.

OLD DOUGLAS COUNTY FARMER LAID TO REST.

Lake Nebagamon, Wis., Feb. 15.—The body of Joseph Marsik, aged 76, one of the pioneer farmers of Douglas county, who died last week at the home of his son, Antone, four miles from here, was buried last Sunday afternoon following services. Mr. Marsik came to this country in 1890 from Bohemia. He lived in South Omaha, Neb., until 1904, when he came to Douglas county with his son, living on the latter's farm. Besides the son, the only surviving relative in this country is a stepson, James Bouchmar, who also lives on a farm near here.

SAWYER COUNTY DIVISION IS OFF.

Couderay, Wis., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a mass meeting held at Radisson to discuss the division of Sawyer county, it was decided that the county was not far enough developed. Mass meetings were also held last week in each of the towns in the proposed county and the vote was evenly divided for and against a division. It is expected the matter will now be dropped for the present.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters tnat we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Money could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain such recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

CAMDEN, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a galvanic battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go to bed, but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping-chair, and soon became almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his health, and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I am like a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend your medicine to every one and so does my husband."—Mrs. TILLIE WATERS, 530 Mechanic Street, Camden, N.J.

From Hanover, Penn.

HANOVER, PA.—"I was a very weak woman and suffered from bearing down pains and backache. I had been married over four years and had no children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved an excellent remedy for it made me a well woman. After taking a few bottles my pains disappeared, and we now have one of the finest boy babies you ever saw."—Mrs. C. A. RICKRODE, R.F.D., No. 5, Hanover, Pa.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years-Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BUYCK CASES BEING TRIED

Men Charged With Keeping Unlicensed Drinking Places Facing Jury.

Town of White Man, Who Chased Wife Into Cold, to Work Farm.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of criminal cases began in district court here this morning.

It did not take long for a jury to convict William Matilla of the town of White of the charge of carrying concealed weapons after evidence was disclosed of how he drove his wife out of their home during a cold night at the point of a gun and the woman came near losing her legs as a result of exposure. The jury promptly said "guilty" and Judge Hughes sentenced Matilla to four months at the county work farm.

The trial of Camile De Coigney, Axel Westman, Benjamin Christensen, John King, James Mikus and Joseph Brokasky, charged with violating the liquor laws at Buyck, by running unlicensed places, was then taken up, a jury secured and the introduction of evidence commenced.

St. Louis Man Is Held.

Harry Miller, a St. Louis tobacco man, arrested at the European hotel, Feb. 4, with a girl who was committed last week to the Sauk Center training school, was arraigned on a statutory charge to which he said he would plead guilty on information. As the story told by Miller to Judge Hughes indicates doubt about his guilt, permission was granted him to withdraw the plea, and he was bound over to the next grand jury. He was brought over by deputy sheriffs from Virginia.

TWO HARBORS HOME DAMAGED BY FLAMES

Flames Discovered By Passerby, Woman Inside Unaware of Fire.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire, originating from an over-heated cook stove, caused considerable damage to the home of Martin Olson, Third avenue, and also caused considerable damage to furniture owned by Edward Ditzel, who rents the property.

The fire broke out last night about 9:30 o'clock and was first noticed by a passer-by who immediately turned in the alarm. Owing to some misunderstanding in locating the fire the department did not arrive until the kitchen of the building, a back bedroom and the attic were badly burned, but the firemen had little difficulty getting the blaze under control.

Unaware House Was Afire.

Mrs. Ditzel, who was home with her two children, had been preparing the children for bed and had not been in the kitchen for some time and was unaware that the house was on fire until told so by a neighbor. Mr. Ditzel, who was mate on the fire tug Torrent, was on watch.

The property is owned by Martin Olson, formerly of this city, but who now lives in the west. It is estimated that the damage amounted to about $500. The building was quite well insured. The water caused more damage to the household furnishings of Mr. Ditzel than did the fire.

TWO HARBORS WINS.

Debating Team Given Honors Over Virginia Aggregation.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—By a decision of 2 to 1 the Two Harbors high school debating team defeated the local high school team in a discussion of the public ownership of telephones and telegraph lines before a large audience in the Roosevelt high school. The judges were loud in their praise of the high tone of the debate.

Virginia was represented by Margaret Eaton, Lawrence Hagen and Daryl Harmon. The Two Harbors team consisted of Alice Daniels, Gertrude Hayes and Charles Irwin. The judges were Supts. J. P. Vaughn of Chisholm, P. A. Freedman of Grand Rapids and M. A. Morse of Buhl.

MANY ARE INITIATED.

Virginia Knights of Columbus Take in Large Class.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With many members present from other range points, from Duluth, Superior and even from the Twin Cities, the local council of Knights of Columbus initiated the largest class of candidates in its history yesterday, the candidates coming from Virginia, Eveleth, Biwabik, Mountain Iron, Chisholm, Hibbing and all parts of the range. Grand Knight T. A. Tuohy of Virginia was in charge of the work and conferred the degrees. The services commenced at 9 o'clock in the morning with high mass at the church of Our Lady of Lourdes. In the afternoon the degrees were conferred, and this work was completed before 8 o'clock in the evening. A banquet for the new members and visiting knights was given in Moose hall.

TO SAVE EYES

Is the Object of This Free Prescription—Try It if Your Eyes Give You Trouble.

Thousands of people suffer from eye troubles because they do not know what to do. They know some good home remedy for every other minor ailment, but none for their eye troubles. They neglect their eyes, because the trouble is not sufficient to drive them to an eye specialist, who would, anyway, charge them a heavy fee. As a last resort they go to an optician or to the five and ten-cent store and oftentimes get glasses that they do not need, or which, after being used two or three months, do their eyes more injury than good. Here is a simple prescription that every one should use: 5 grains Optona (1 tablet). 2 ounces water. Use three or four times a day to bathe the eyes. This prescription and the simple Optona system keeps the eyes clean, sharpens the vision and quickly overcomes inflammation and irritation; weak, watery, overworked, tired eyes and other similar troubles are greatly benefited and oftentimes cured by its use. Many reports show that wearers of glasses have discarded them after a few weeks' use. It is good for the eyes and contains no ingredient which would injure the most sensitive eyes of an infant or the aged. Any druggist can fill this prescription promptly. Try it and know for once what real eye comfort is.

MANY ATTEND ELY GIRL'S OBSEQUIES

Home and Church Crowded With Those Anxious to Pay Respects.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Miss La Veryn Quigley, who died on Friday evening, was held from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quigley, and from the Presbyterian church. The funeral was one of the largest and most impressive ever seen in Ely. The floral offerings completely filled the room in which the casket stood and at the church over 100 could not get even standing room, having to remain on the sidewalk. Rev. James Mapson read the funeral services after which interment was made in the Ely cemetery. Miss Quigley was a member of the freshman class at the high school.

HIBBING PARK BOARD EXPENDED LARGE SUM

During Last Year $55,863 Was Expended for Various Purposes.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of the $55,863.99 spent by the park board during 1914, $39,481.12 was expended for park buildings and improvements, according to a statement prepared by O. B. Warren, secretary of the board of park commissioners. This expenditure includes the new addition to the greenhouse and other improvements, which makes the local park system rank in beauty and expanse with that of any in the state for the territory and population.

Improvements costing $29,395.03 were made to Bennett park last year. Missabe park was improved to the extent of $828.85, while improvements to the boulevards cost $1,422.13. A building costing $3,080.18 was erected in Bennett park, while the new addition to the greenhouse and other improvements cost $4,745.02.

Some 1914 Expenditures.

The following expenditures were made for maintaining grass and flower plots, trees and other park improvements: At Missabe park, $1,812.18; at greenhouses, $3,321.84; at boulevards, $651.54; fair grounds, $654.81; village hall, $136.98; cemetery, $130.12; detention hospital, $113.88; Carnegie library, $70.75. The general expenses of the board were $9,585.68.

Supt. Wolf is busy growing slips for the parks and has many hundred small plants all ready to be planted when spring comes. Supt. Wolf has been asked to draw plans for a park system for Keewatine, council members saying that for the amount of money expended Hibbing has one of the finest systems in the state. This statement, they declared, is only made after a large number of systems in all parts of the state have been viewed.

BILL WILL DIVIDE STUNTZ TOWNSHIP

Senator Healy to Introduce Measure and Expects Its Passage.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Little opposition is expected to the bill to be introduced in the senate this week by Senator John A. Healy of Hibbing to have the Township of Stuntz divided into more election precincts. The bill would have the board of supervisors make the tax levy and would not require that this be done by the people at a general gathering. In order to safeguard from any opposition the bill will be made so as to be only applicable to the Township of Stuntz, which now has only one precinct. This works great hardships upon the voters living as far as twelve miles from Hibbing.

"We will put the bill up for action this week," Senator Healy said, while home over Sunday. "So that it will be possible to have more polls at the coming election."

VIRGINIA PAIR HELD.

Man and Woman Charged With Running Bawdy House.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—Late Saturday M. N. Nelson and Ethel McCarthy were bound over to the grand jury in a trial before Judge Carey on a charge of running a bawdy house on Chestnut street. City Attorney Montage prosecuted and Attorney Archer defended. Bail was placed at $300.

Bessie Fay, who made the complaint, Police Matron Anna Fish, Chief of Police Gately, M. Branovich, who rents the place, Mrs. Cooper of Eveleth, a sister of the complainant; Mr. Cooper of Eveleth and one Mrs. Spicen testified.

The reputation of the place was thoroughly discussed and ugly charges made and denied.

ART EXHIBIT BEING MADE IN VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—The Elson art exhibit will be shown all this week in the Roosevelt Auditorium. For a number of days past the children of the grades have been selling tickets for the exhibit and many have been disposed of.

The exhibit consists of 200 pictures, many of which are the work of celebrated artists and cost a considerable sum of money. The two grades disposing of the greatest number of tickets will be presented with two pictures from the exhibit, which will be placed on the walls of their respective grades.

WINTON MAN IS BURIED ON SUNDAY.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alex Sandstedt, who died on Friday morning of pneumonia, was buried Sunday from the Lang hardware rooms with services at the Finnish Lutheran church at Winton. The interment took place in the Ely cemetery, Rev. Jacob Himi officiated.

Hibbinglites Attend Concert.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Snow and unfavorable weather Sunday afternoon drew many to the Carnegie library, when a concert was given. More than 100 persons listened to the program.

VIRGINIA POLICE DESCEND ON GAME

Seven Men Arrested on Gambling Charges and Taken to Jail.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Getting a "tip" that there was a gambling game going on in a boarding house at 218 Balsam street Saturday night, the police raided the place and arrested seven men of various nationalities and took them to the city jail, where most of them subsequently were released on giving bail. The complaint was made by one of the men who had been playing, but got incensed at losing and "tipped" off the affair to the police. The men will be arraigned before Judge Carey in municipal court this afternoon at 4 o'clock and are expected to plead guilty.

The police confiscated a bank "roll," which consisted of 56 cents, but believe there was considerable more on the table which the players hid. The cards were also taken. When the police knocked on the door demanding admission into the room where the seven were toying with the fickle goddess the lights were out and all was still. The officers entered and turning on the lights saw a pair of feet sticking from underneath a bed. They belonged to Mike Lutich, a giant whose stature gave him away. He was ordered out then the others were found concealed under the bed and behind furniture and were all arrested and escorted to jail.

WILL PLAY OSWEGOES.

Two Harbors City Quint to Meet New York Aggregation.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A treat in the basket ball line is promised here this evening when the much heralded Oswego, N. Y., basket ball team play the local city team at 7:45 p. m.

Woodward, the local star center, who was hurt last Thursday evening in the Rotary game, is in good shape again and much is expected of him tonight. The locals will lineup as follows: John Woodward, center; Ted Sullivan, right forward; Harry Freeman, left forward; Bob McCurdy, left guard; Filiatrault, right guard; Johnson, sub.

MOUNTAIN IRON PLANS COMPLETED.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—Bray & Shand, local architects, have completed the plans for the new village hall of Mountain Iron. The building will be two stories with a basement, of brick and stone, and will follow the same general style of architecture of other public buildings in Mountain Iron. Completed it will cost $20,000. Bids for its construction will be called for as soon as the village council approves the plans. The plans will be submitted at a regular meeting of the council today.

HEALY IS SANGUINE OF BOXING MEASURE.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator John A. Healy, member of the committee which drew up the bill for creating a state athletic commission and regulating boxing and sparring in the state and repealing sections of revised laws for the year 1915 prohibiting boxing matches, said while here yesterday that indications are favorable that the bill will be passed.

"We expect little opposition to the bill and it looks as if it will pass," he said.

BUHL CANDIDATES GETTING INTO GAME.

Buhl, Minn., Feb. 15.—William J. Doyle, mayor, is the only candidate to announce himself in the race for village president this spring. Axel Killstrom has announced his candidacy for the recordership which at the present is held by Frank Demel. Henry Smith and Matt Keyes have filed for trustee. Swan D. Olson will campaign for reelection for the treasurership. James Moore is a candidate for supervisor. Peter Medure and Harry Miller are out for township clerk.

Virginia Five Unbeaten.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—As a result of its 28-to-10 victory over the Grand Rapids basket ball team at Grand Rapids Friday night, the Virginia high school is in undisputed possession of the championship of the range. The team has not lost a game this season. The Virginia boys will go to Northfield, Minn., in April to play against the crack teams from other sections of the state for the Minnesota high school championship.

See Chicago Cement Show.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Contractor W. B. Coons of this village and Fred Lang of Chisholm returned home Saturday from Chicago, where they attended the opening of the cement show. According to Mr. Coons, special interest is shown in house and building construction work.

Bury Virginia Woman.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—The funeral of Mrs. Maria Linjamaki was held Saturday afternoon from the Ala & Anderson undertaking parlors and interment was in Greenwood cemetery. She is survived by a husband and six children.

New Range Realty Company.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 15.—A new company to be called the Mesaba Real Estate company has been organized on the range and will have its headquarters at Hibbing. The capital stock of the company is $20,000, divided into shares of $25 each.

VIRGINIA SEWER IS AGAIN CAUSING HARM.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chestnut street sewer is again the cause of complaint. Certain merchants and other establishments on that thoroughfare today are complaining that the sewer is again choking up and that their establishments are being damaged by the overflow. It is expected the matter will again be laid before the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

BROTHER IS KILLED IN MONTANA RUNAWAY.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. L. Takaala received a telegram today that her brother living at Corvallis, Mont., in the famous Bitter Root valley, had been killed in a runaway. No particulars were given and Mrs. Takaala left this afternoon for Duluth to proceed to Montana at once.

Trolley Official Better.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. R. W. Reynolds of the Mesaba Electric railway, who has been dangerously ill at his home here for three weeks, is reported considerably improved today and the attending physician now predicts his speedy recovery.

Alleged Thief Held.

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 15.—John Olker, alleged to have stolen a traveling man's sample case of gloves was arrested near Nakoda by Deputy Sheriff Van Ettan Saturday. He appeared in police court and was bound over to the grand jury. The empty grip was found back of the Rex hotel.

JOHNSON WILL BE ARRESTED IF HE LANDS

If Jack Johnson, world's "champ" pugilist, comes to Duluth he will be "pinched" at sight. Such are the orders received by Brown McDonald, immigration officer here.

United States authorities are keeping their eyes peeled for Johnson, who is headed for Mexico.

There is little chance that he will enter the United States, but immigration officers have all been notified to watch for him.

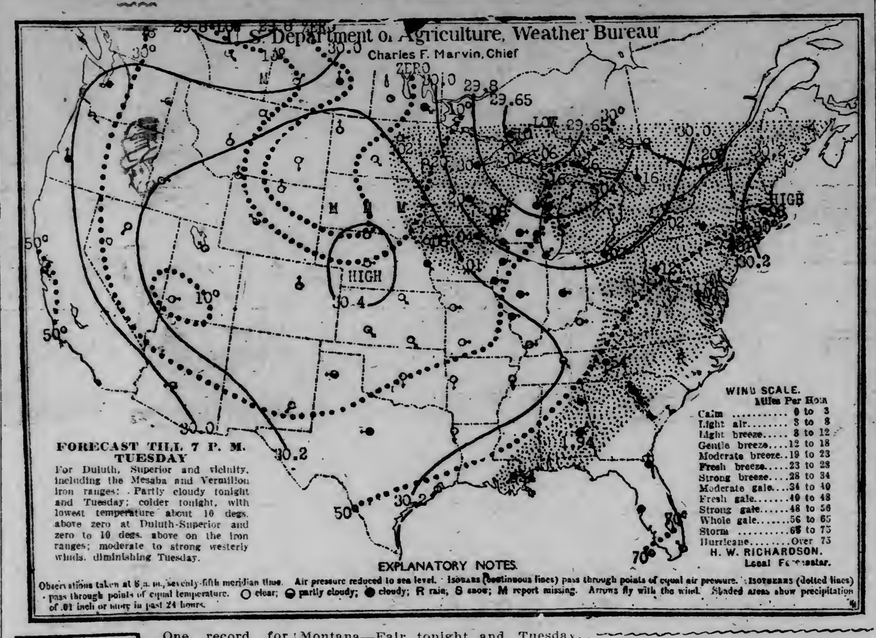

WILL CUT OUT FRILLS.

Aitkin Board of Education Plans for Modest Commencement.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local board of education established a precedent here at the last meeting when the members decided that the members of the graduating class in the high school should appear in caps and gowns at the commencement week exercises, and the junior-senior banquet which heretofore has been a most elaborate affair of eight courses was reduced to one course. The parents of pupils of the high school have protested against the extravagant expenditure of the students for unnecessary "frills."

R. L. Mason has been re-elected superintendent of the Aitkin schools for another year at an increase of salary.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

One record for the year to date: Sunday holds it for being the sloppiest. After a nasty driving downfall of sleet on Saturday night, succeeded by small pellets of ice which whipped the face, came a thaw, which increased in intensity until yesterday those who had failed to prepare themselves with the old-fashioned rubbers, winced along the walks in wet feet and bad tempers.

Today broke bitter, with snow flurries but the weather not so soft.

A year ago today was cold and windy. The sun rose this morning at 7:13 and will set this afternoon at 5:32, giving ten hours and nineteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Zero weather prevailed last night in Eastern Montana, Northeastern Wyoming, the Western Dakotas, North Nebraska, and Western Manitoba. The temperature has turned decidedly colder in northern districts to the eastward of the Rocky Mountains, but warmer weather has appeared over Western Montana and Alberta. During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light to heavy rain or snow fell over most districts east of the Rocky mountains. Heavy rain occurred at Montgomery, Ala."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday, probably snow flurries in north portion tonight; colder tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight with slightly colder in east portion; Tuesday fair and slightly warmer.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; slightly colder in east and central portions tonight; warmer in west portion Tuesday.

North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday, warmer tonight.

Lower Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday, except probably snow flurries near the lakes; colder in east portion tonight.

Upper Michigan — Probably snow flurries tonight and Tuesday; colder tonight.

LONG TERM FOR JEALOUS MAN

Mike Miselberg Admits He Shot Sweetheart, Sarah Berzon.

Because Mike Miselberg used a gun to give expresion to the insane jealousy which burned within him, he is doomed to spend from five to ten years of his life behind prison bars. In district court before Judge Fesler Saturday afternoon, Miselberg pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with assault in the first degree and was given an indeterminate penitentiary sentence.

Shortly before 1:30 o'clock in the morning of Nov. 10, 1914, Miselberg broke into the home of Morris J. Widdes, 916 East Fifth street, and creeping through the house entered the room occupied by his sweetheart, Sarah Berzon, whom he awakened. She screamed and he fired three shots, all taking effect, two in the left forearm and one below the left breast. The girl was employed at the Widdes home as a domestic.

The wounded girl fell in a faint and was found by the other members of the household after Miselberg had fled down stairs and out of the house. The police were immediately notified and he was arrested while attempting to cross the interstate bridge. The victim of his shooting was hurried to a hospital where she hovered for several days between life and death. She finally recovered.

"Yes, I shot her and I suppose I shot to kill," declared Miselberg in court Saturday. "I am sorry but am ready to take my punishment."

Miselberg told the court that he had deeply loved the girl and that she had spurned him. Attorney H. M. Goldberg appeared in court for Miselberg Saturday.

Most Old People Are Constipated

The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. With advancing age people are disposed to restricted activity and exercise, which is responsible for the constipated conditions of most old folks. The digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

A mild, effective remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of elderly people, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

BREAD PRICES MAY NOT GO UP

Ten-Cent Drop in Wheat Is Expected to Check Advance.

Bakers Hopeful That High Mark in Grain Has Been Reached.

Declines of more than 10 cents a bushel recorded in the wheat markets last Friday and Saturday will probably obviate the threatened advance in the price of bread in Duluth to 6 and 12 cents a loaf, such as has taken place in many cities throughout the country.

Duluth bakers now entertain strong hopes that the wheat market has struck its high points and that more normal conditions will prevail from now on. The last few months has been a trying period for the trade, and even with a slight reduction in the sizes of the standard loaves, breadmakers are reported to have been barely able to cover expenses. Had the recent break in wheat quotations not come about an advance in bread prices was considered to have been inevitable.

Flour Prices High.

"We are now paying $7.20 a barrel for our flour in bulk as compared with $3.80 a year ago, meaning an advance of $3.40," said H. W. Zinsmaster, president of the Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company. "From that consumers can easily appreciate the difficulties that we have been under. We figure that we have just been doing slightly better than the break even on the 10-cent loaf and that if our establishment had been turning out 5-cent loaves alone we would have been losing money. That would be on account of the increased cost of handling the smaller loaves. The small margin that we have been working under can therefore be appreciated. I am in hopes now of a slight reduction in the price of flour coming about and affording relief to the trade."

What Cent Advance Means.

George S. Ward, member of a great breadmaking concern, figures that Americans consume on the average a barrel of wheat flour a year. From each barrel 275 standard 5-cent loaves of bread can be baked. For each rise of 1 cent in the price of the loaf every American must pay $2.75 a year. The census department figures that the population of the United States passed the 100,000,000 mark some time in January. So each 1-cent rise in the price of the loaf means a tax on the country of $275,000,000! A rise from 5 to 10 cents will cost us $1,375,000,000!

But this will not be the total cost. With the rise in the price of wheat there is an increased demand for other cereals—barley, rye, oats and corn—and these rise in price, too. A further tax is laid on the consumers of rye bread, who are the very poor; and it will be more to eat "corn pone" also. Then hogs are fed mostly on corn, and if the farmers' corn is worth more they will get more for pork, and meat prices will rise in consequence. So many consider that the country is in for an era of high prices; what those who were of mature age in 1861-1865 will remember as the "war prices."

No Wheat Shortage.

Below is a table prepared by a Chicago grain expert, showing that there is no actual shortage of wheat in the United States and that on Feb. 1 we still had 108,000,000 bushels left for export:

	Bushels.
United States wheat crop for 1914	813,017,000
Carried over from 1913	77,000,000
Available supply	968,000,000

Per capita consumption of flour, one barrel annually, for 100,000,000 barrels needed by the country. Five bushels of wheat needed to produce each barrel.

	Bushels.
Total need for food	500,000,000
Need for seed wheat (government estimate)	84,000,000
Total requirements	584,000,000
Surplus for export	316,000,000
Exported July 1 to Feb. 1	208,000,000
Available for export	108,000,000

Present average rate of export is 8,000,000 bushels a week, which shipping experts say cannot be increased because vessels cannot be obtained. At this rate the export supply cannot be exhausted before some time in May, shortly before 1915 wheat begins to be harvested.

GETS LICENSE TO WED BY TELEPHONE.

Edwin O. Englin of Minneapolis put in a long distance application for a marriage license this morning and, although he did not personally appear before the clerk of the district court in Duluth today, a license was issued authorizing his marriage with Miss Matilda A. Popelka of Virginia, this county.

Englin appeared before the clerk of the Hennepin county district court Saturday for a license but was informed that he would be obliged to make application in the county where his intended bride lives. The application blank was made out in Minneapolis and, accompanied by the required fee, was mailed to J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court in St. Louis county.

THE HEADACHE OF NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

A feeling as of a tight band about the head is often felt in addition to the pain of a headache that is caused by nervous exhaustion. The ache is generally in the back of the head, rarely in the forehead, and is often accompanied by dizziness.

The way to stop this sort of headache is to stop the cause of it. Overwork, worry and failure of the blood to properly nourish the nerves are the most common causes. Rest and a tonic for the blood and nerves will cause the headache to disappear in most cases.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an effective tonic for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves. They furnish just the elements that the blood needs to build up the nerves shattered by overwork, worry, overstudy or excesses. You cannot always rest from school, office or housework when circumstances require but you can always take a tonic that will maintain the strength of blood and nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just the tonic required.

Mention this paper and we will send you a booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System free. Address: Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

CROOKSTON CROP SHOW NOW READY

Banner Attendance at Fourth Annual Gathering Is Expected.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Armory auditorium presents a wonderful spectacle with the exhibits for the fourth annual farm crops show that opens tomorrow nearly all placed in position and largely judged. The attendance at this year's show promises to eclipse anything of the kind before seen in Northern Minnesota. The various officers of the Red River Valley Development association, under whose auspices the affair will be held, are sanguine that this year's show will be a record-breaker.

Delegation From Duluth.

A letter was received from George G. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, stating that the question of representation from Duluth had been taken up by the club and acted upon favorably, a special committee, with Frank Gravell as chairman, having been appointed. The Duluth delegation will be here Thursday, Feb. 18.

Similar letters have been received from J. H. Beck, secretary of the St. Paul association of commerce, and Howard Strong, secretary of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association. The Twin City delegation will also be here on Thursday, Feb. 18.

Virginia Masons to Entertain.

The local blue lodge will entertain at an informal dancing and card party in Masonic hall this coming Friday evening, Feb. 19, 1915. Dancing will continue from 9 to 12, and there will be refreshments and punch. Postal cards will not be sent out for this party. Excellent music will be provided and a most enjoyable time is looked forward to.

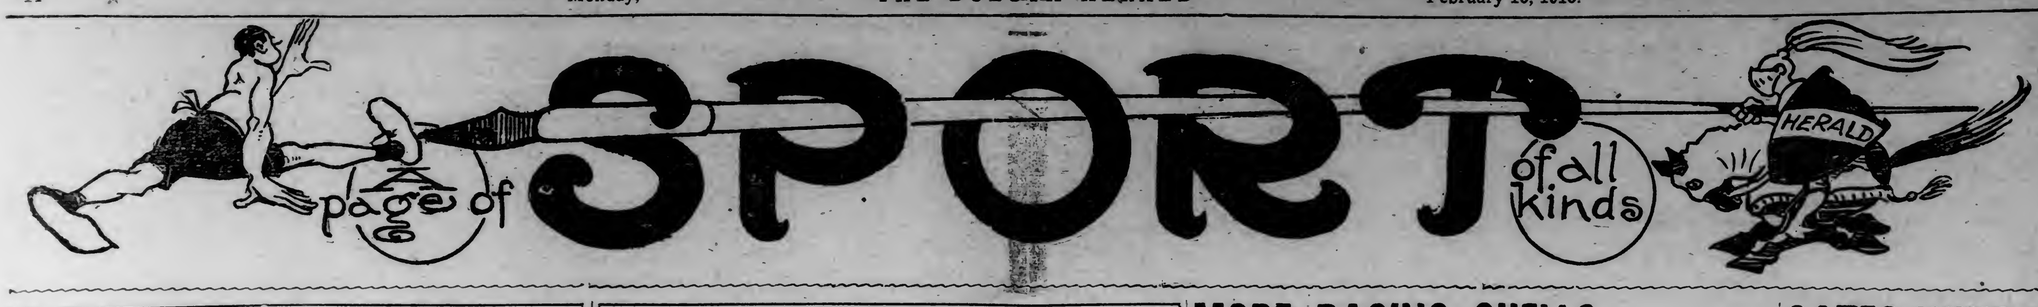

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapepsin" Is the Only Real Stomach Regulator Known.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach regulator in the world.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

RING critics are coverging to the opinion that Mike Gibbons has picked one large problem in this Eddie McGoorty person. The answer is that Sir Edward can hit—swat hard enough to stop the battle on the spot.

Jumping out in the open with an opinion, we get down here on the Gibbons end. Marty Forkins is for McGoorty. They do say that it was only by a miracle that Gibbons escaped annihilation in the Garden. Jimmy Clabby was on the floor twice in the opening round of his Butte, Mont., engagement with McGoorty. The Oshkosh Whale can pop them hard with that left hook—and the left is always a hard hand to keep shy of.

There is one object that Mike Gibbons desires deeply to accomplish—that is the trouncing of McGoorty. The Oshkosh boxer is the one man in the recent history of the game who has splotched the escutheon of Gibbons. Also it might be stated that McGoorty knows that a win over Gibbons will lift him into the highest middleweight estimation of the land. Besides the oodles of kale involved there is the question of prestige. Neither of the men can afford to stall or make a bad fight of it.

The Baseball Situation.

NEWS dispatches fluttered out a message upon the desks of sporting writers throughout the land but recently. One of the startling pieces of news laid out for contemplation, was the announced release of Tommy Leach.

Roger Bresnahan has cut the veteran from the pay roll of the Cubs at a parlous time when Feds are industriously and perhaps perniciously seeking to fill out the somewhat scattered ranks of their teams. The release of Leach means more than several other truths that economy is the byword of baseball this approaching season.

Tommy Leach is still a baseball bird of verdant plumage; his eyes turn not to the sun, nor does he seek yet the resting place of the infirm. But Thomas was hauling down one large sized corporation salary and the weird rattle of the simoleons drove the directors of the club to the precipitous verge of the cliff of distraction.

This Federal lure has been a heavy club held aloft over the onions of nervous magnates. It extracted kale in copious quantities and kept indifferent players in the rich fields of organized pasturage. It seems that patience has suddenly ceased to be one of the cardinal virtues; the time has come, it would appear, for summary action. There may be a lot of venerable baseball heads lopped off in the uncertain future.

Magnates are losing money. The situation is one crying with outstretched arms for stopping the financial exhaust. The dirge of money misery is being chanted upon all sides. The day of the player who can threaten his tortuous way to a $10,000 salary has passed the meridian of its height and is descending to the shades of drooping dusk.

Pete and the Sailor.

PETE PETKOFF and Sailor Jack are to meet some time in the near future and settle once for all the mooted question of supremacy. The principals in this international mixture of mat melee have agreed to meet early, thus making it impossible for the combat to reach a decisive result before the sun streaks the horizon in the East.

One of the most sterling drawing cards that we can think of at the present time, would be to provide the athletes with small sized gloves and let them stage one of these go-as-you-please contests, in which rude and uncouth arts of wrestling, fighting and face massaging are judiciously mingled.

Old Tom Jenkins, once upon a time offered to meet Jim Jeffries at this style of contest. It was the scheme of Tom to wrestle big Jeff to the point of exhaustion and then throttle and otherwise pummel the then champion pugilist of the world.

How interesting would a meeting between the sailor and the husky Bulgarian prove!

Big Basket Ball Doings.

IF Lawrence Duby returns from Minneapolis with a contract for a series of games between Oswego and Fond du Lac, Wis., in his pocket, the fans hereabouts will witness some real quality sport.

Fond du Lac has one of the best teams in the West and Oswego holds a high posish in the effete portion of this domain. The meeting would provide real sport and bring shouting forth lurking possibilities of the floor games that have never been exposed around here. Basket ball is a game of infinite possibilities—and these two teams have about all its science down pat.

OLDHAM STILL IN RUNNING

Remains in Tetey Tea Event—Dunbar Continues to Win.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 15.—Oldham is still in the running in the "Tetley Tea" open event, having defeated Howard of the Granites, Winnipeg, 9 to 7. MacLeod won his Purity Flour game from Kenny of the Granites, Winnipeg, but was knocked out of the McLaren by Wakefield of the Civics, Winnipeg, 13 to 7.

Dunbar of St. Paul is still going strong. He won twice Saturday and is in all the open events except the Dingwall grand challenge. He has now won seven games and lost one and is right in the running for the grand aggregate. Braden of the Granites is leading with eight wins and no losses.

In the City vs. All-Comers' competition both Duluth rinks were defeated. Gourley of the Strathconas had an easy victory over Oldham, 13 to 3, while Congalton of the Thistles disposed of MacLeod, 13 to 10.

The city rinks won the competition by 87 points. These games do not count in the grand aggregate.

SERPENT LAKE RACING.

Cuyuna Range Driving Association Members Have Sport on Ice.

Crosby, Minn., Feb. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The horse races given on Serpent lake on Lincoln's birthday by the Cuyuna Range Driving association proved interesting and exciting.

These horses were entered: Robbin owned by John Humphrey, Deerwood; May, Hartman, Aitkin; Irma, Wagner, Aitkin; Cherry Boy, Thomas Long, Brainerd; Queen L., McBride, Crosby; Duke, Peder Larson, Crosby, and Dula B., Frenette, Crosby.

The first prize, a fur robe, was won by Queen L; the second, a woolen horse blanket, by Robbin; third, an open bridle by Dula B. and fourth a brush and curry comb by Duke.

At the finish of the first heat, J. F. Guyette, driving Duke, Peder Larson's horse, was thrown to the ice as a result of a wheel breaking off his rig, and his was dragged several feet before he let loose of the reins. Louis Larson, son of Peder, was knocked down by the rig. He was taken to Smith's hospital, where it was found he was not hurt internally but badly cut and bruised about the face and head. The horse ran to the barn several blocks away and before he was caught the sulky was damaged beyond repair. Guyette hooked to another rig and was back in the rest of the heats.

OMTVEDT HURT.

Breaks Ski Record But Injures Ankle in Colorado Exhibition.

Steamboat Springs, Colo., Feb. 15.—Ragnar Omtvedt of Chicago in an exhibition ski meet here yesterday sustained an injury to his ankle which doctors say will prevent his participation in tournaments for the remainder of this winter.

Omtvedt jumped 170 feet, exceeding his world's record of 169 feet made last year at Ironwood, Mich.

A broken strap during this jump caused the injury.

ARRANGING FOR COAST INVASION BY LOCAL CREWS

JIM TEN EYCK.

CALUMET IS TROUNCED

Copper Country Hockey Team Beaten By 12 to 1 Score.

Duluth Plays Rings Around Visitors and Wins With Ease.

Calumet lost the second game of the hockey series Saturday evening to the crack Linder septet by the score of 12 to 1. After the utter rout of Friday evening members of the Calumet team made bold assertions that they would come back and clean the local crowd on Saturday evening. The score is given in mild refutation of this tale.

There was nothing to the game, as in the previous contest, but Duluth. At the end of the first half the score was 4 to 0. In the second half the Linderites went out and played a demon form of hockey, running up the score and increasing the lead.

As in the game of Friday evening Savinni tried nobly to stem the rising tide of victory and at least keep the score down to civilized proportions. In the initial frame the little goal tender made some great stops and did much to strengthen the wobbly defense of the visitors. In the final period of play the shots were peppered in from all angles and Savinni gave up the ghost and the local score generously mounted.

Some Rough Pastime.

There were times when the game was rough. Smith was one of the leaders in the strenuous brand of endeavor and was perched on the fence a major portion of the game. Several near individual fights were staged in addition to the tempermental display of this Smith, alias Rochon.

At one interesting stage Smith pretended to be laid low in frenzied agony. The referee evidently failed to see the prostrate player and Trainer Orth of the Calumet team rushed on the ice and attempted to wrest the bell from Crassweller's hands. Harmony was restored and the contest resumed when Smith, who evidently possesses a sense of humor, arose and skated down to the firing line.

Calumet was not outclassed exactly—the visitors were simply overwhelmed.

After the unfortunate affair between Duluth and Portage Lake the Copper Country papers arose in wrath and inveighed with trenchant pens against the refusal of Duluth to play any more games with the league teams.

"Duluth will now bring a lot of dub teams down there and attempt to gain a reputation by beating them," was the refrain of the prophetic utterance.

In the generous spirit of desiring to render unto Caesar the things that Caesar may imperiously claim, Duluth scheduled early in the season with Calumet and decided to play them, after leaving the Western division of the American Hockey association. After defeating Calumet upon two and distinct occasions by the close and hard-fought scores of 17 to 3 and 12 to 1, it is to be hoped that the Copper country papers will refer with chastened spirit and a new enlightenment to the crack teams of the yellow metal district. Yes, 17 to 3 and 12 to 1. Heigh ho, how the world does change.

The lineup and summary will be given below. By request, the lineup of the Calumet as well as the Duluth team is given:

First Half		Min.
1.	Mohan, Dul., scrimmage	9

CHANGES IN LIST OF THE BOWLERS

Peoria Furnished Leader in Doubles—Other Shifts of Position.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 15.—Two Peoria, Ill., teams lead the five-men and doubles events at the International Bowling association's annual tournament here, W. S. Laidlaw and E. Garrison of that city rolling into top place in the two-man list last night and the record of the five-men mark established by the Peorias Saturday night easily kept them in the lead in that event.

Laidlaw and Garrison went into first place with a total of 1,229. Saunders and B. Hull, Minneapolis, were forced out of second place in the doubles by H. Schoenig and A. Hanson of Winona, Minn., who toppled the pins for a count of 1,197.

The only change in standing of the first five leaders in the five-men class was the occupation of third place by the Park Brewery team, Winona, Minn., with a score of 2,751.

In the singles, J. Schroeder of Minneapolis still maintains the lead he established the first day of the tournament, with 629, while J. Sieberlich, St. Paul, moved into second place today with 617.

CRACKS OF EAST AND WEST TO MEET AT BASKET BALL

The Fond du Lac, Wis., basket ball team is on its way to the Pacific coast. A series of games will be played in San Francisco with the crack teams of the Golden Gate city. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the present week, the crack Wisconsin quint will line up against the Oswego quint. The easterners are generally classed as one of the very greatest teams in the United States.

Lawrence Duby has arranged a game for tomorrow evening at the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium between the strong Rotary basket ball quint and the Oswego outfit.

Since the initial contest between the Rotary and Oswego teams the Duluthians have had ample opportunity for practice and improvement in team work. It is expected that the contest of tomorrow evening will bring out some of the best article of basket ball that has ever been witnessed on a local floor.

Big Swede Is There.

Duby has been coaching his men to watch Grimsted, the tall Swede of the Oswego outfit. This chap is generally recognized as one of the greatest basket ball players in the world. His work against the Rotarians in the initial game was nothing less than sensational. Duby declares his men have learned some of the fine points of the game from contact and propinquity.

"Watch us Tuesday evening," said Duby today. "The Duluth team is going to give the fans a surprise."

The members of the Oswego quint have been here for the last few days. From now on practice will be indulged in daily in the local gymnasiums. One of the games between Oswego and Fond du Lac may be played on the armory floor. The Oswego boys have secured permission to practice at the armory several evenings this week.

Fond du Lac has one of the crack teams of the West. Last Friday evening the Ascensions of Minneapolis were defeated. During the last three years the little Wisconsin village quint has rolled up an imposing list of victories over some of the crack teams of the Northwest. On the face of the dope the meeting between Oswego and the crack Fond du Lac fives should be about the last thing in basket ball.

MORE RACING SHELLS FOR DULUTH OARSMEN

Julius Barnes Orders Three Boats of the Very Latest Model.

Ten Eyck Starts Negotiation for Series of Races at Panama Fair.

BY BRUCE.

The last word in boat making, three of the latest models from the skilled hands of Davy of Cambridge, an eight-oared shell, a four-oared boat and a quadruple have been ordered for the Duluth Boat club at the request of Julius H. Barnes and will be packed and entrained for Duluth within a few weeks.

Mr. Barnes, patron saint of rowing, is evidently of the opinion that the club with the greatest crews in the United States and Canada should be possessed of the best boats in North America. Last season the Duluth club officials disposed of some of the old boats; this season the local club oarsmen will sit in three of the finest boats that have ever come from the hand of maker, if Davy lives up to past dope on this job.

The boats will be of the very lightest construction and will be utilized for racing only. The men will be allowed to practice in them only a few times previous to a big contest. Every art of boat making has been seized upon and it stated that some ideas of Jimmy Ten Eyck have been incorporated in the construction line.

Big Coast Races Planned.

This is not all—a wire to The Herald from Jim Ten Eyck states that negotiations have been started for a series of rowing contests at the Panama exposition and that a meeting is being framed there between Duluth and the winner of the intercollegiate at Poughkeepsie.

Ten Eyck has been working on this proposition for some time, as has been stated in The Herald. The wire of today states that active negotiations are on with the Pacific coast people and that it looks as if the crews of the Duluth Boat club—the greatest oarsmen in the length and cumbrous breadth of all the Northern American continent, will go half way across this big country and contest with the greatest college and athletic club oarsmen of the nation.

Campaign for Material.

At Grant's log cabin yesterday the first real work of the season started. A letter from Ten Eyck was read to the boys and slips were passed out. The idea of the slips is for every oarsman to secure the name of at least one prospective crew man and turn it in to Capt. Wallace Quimby.

Light training is expected to start from this time on. Jimmy Ten Eyck will be on hand the first of the month. In the letter from the coach he particularly dwelt upon the urgent need for junior material. If junior material is secured, Jimmy wrote to his charges that he was confident of annexing more championships.

In the letter from the coach, he told his men that it was his intention of entering every event in both the Northwestern and National this season.

DRAW BOUT BETWEEN MANDOT AND DUNDEE.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 15.—Joe Mandot of New Orleans and Johnny Dundee of New York, lightweights, fought twenty fast rounds to a draw here yesterday. Dundee won a large margin on points in the first half of the bout by superior speed and aggression. In the eleventh round, however, Mandot started strong and until the end of the match repeatedly reached Dundee's jaw with right crosses and uppercuts. Dundee weighed about 127 and Mandot 131 pounds ringside.

DECISIONS AMONG RACQUET WIELDERS.

New York, Feb. 15.—Eric S. Winston of the Harvard Squash club won the championship title of the National Squash Tennis association here Saturday. In the final match of the tournament he defeated his clubmate, Louis Dupont Irving, in three straight games, 15-4, 15-2 and 15-8.

Tuxedo Park, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Clarence C. Pell yesterday duplicated his victory of last year by winning the final set in the "Gold Racquet," defeating his clubmate, Stanley G. Mortimer, by three games to one on the courts of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racquet club.

Last year Pell defeated H. F. McCormick in the final and this victory gives him his second leg on the trophy.

GATES WINS FROM HALL

Head of Lakes Curling Title Goes to Superior.

Minneapolis and St. Paul Rinks Coming for Merriam Play.

Walter Hall's Duluth rink was defeated by the score of 18 to 5 in the final game for the Head of the Lakes championship Saturday afternoon, Clough Gates administering a beating that removed all doubts as to superiority.

In the initial end Gates opened like a quarter horse and laid four. Hall caught the Superior crack in the next two ends and visions of a close contest and a possible Duluth victory arose in the optimistic minded gallery.

Gates lay six in the next three heads. Hall scored one in the seventh, and then Gates lay four in the next two and came up in the tenth end and put down four. The game was called right here. The slaughter was immense.

The result of the game is that the Head of the Lakes championship goes across the bay and reposes for one season at least in the able hands of Clough Gates, a curler, who for years has made a great showing in the Northwestern spiel and all events staged at the Head of the Lakes. No more worthy skip could have captured the coveted prize.

The score by ends:

Gates	4	0	0	2	1	3	0	1	3	—18
Hall	0	2	2	0	0	0	1	0	0	— 5

Minneapolis will send George Labatt, George Fleetham, John McLeod and C. Riheldaffer, four of the crack skips of the Minneapolis club, here to play for the Merriam medal, emblematic of the state curling championship, on Feb. 22.

The trophy is in the possession of the Brewer-Whyte rink. The Duluthians won it at Minneapolis last winter in one of the most exciting games imaginable. Whyte defeated Labatt, 14 to 13, the last shot deciding the game.

We're Hammering Away At This Fact

PEERLESS is the best tobacco in the world for big, strong, manly men. It was put on the market purposely to please this kind of man. We first marketed it fifty years ago; it has been the favorite of men of vim and vigor ever since.

It is pure Southern Kentucky tobacco, carefully and naturally aged for three to five years so as to bring out all its mellow, natural richness and honest sweetness. It is a juicy, full-bodied tobacco that thoroughly satisfies a powerful man's tobacco-hunger.

PEERLESS
Long Cut Tobacco

Take the case of the blacksmith. When he wants tobacco satisfaction, he cannot get it out of "flat," insipid mixtures. He has got to have a man's size real old natural he-tobacco.

We have the greatest tobacco organization in the world and are in business to stay in business—by giving the best values. PEERLESS is only one of our many brands, but like all it is the "highest quality—biggest quantity" of its kind sold.

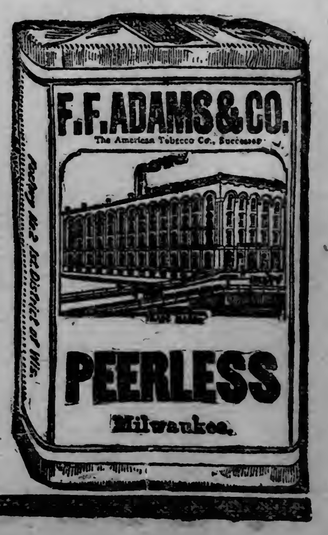

We tell the big, brawny men of this country that PEERLESS is the best tobacco for them on the market and they know they can bank on that statement.

A week's trial of PEERLESS will prove it. "Smoke it or chew it—but go straight to it."

Sold everywhere in 5-cent packages.

Other sizes, 10c, 20c and 40c Packages, and 45c Tin Pails

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

rinks named, Walter Poehler and George Hunter may come up.

Bob Dunbar May Come.

Bob Dunbar is at the Winnipeg spiel at the present time and word has been received that there is a bare possibility that the renowned Robert may stop over here and take a whirl at the Merriam medal.

Tom McDermott may also be on hand. It is expected several other rinks from St. Paul will be on hand. Hastings is living in the capitol city at the present time and he has intimated that he would like to come to the Head of the Lakes and play for the state championship.

DOOKS MAY LOSE CATCHER

Reports State That Edmunds Is to Play on Range.

Judge Brady Says Sox Star Is Going to Be With Him.

If information coming from Hibbing is authentic, Jerry Edmunds, crack catcher of the Duluth White Sox last season and one of the best receivers in the Northern league, is lost to the local club.

Over the long distance telephone today it was definitely announced that Edmunds had promised Judge Brady, manager of the Hibbing independent baseball team, that he would play with Hibbing the coming season.

Edmunds is at Hibbing now. A position has been secured for him, according to the statement of Judge Brady, and the promise of the former Duluth player given that he will play for the range team.

If it is true, as reported, that Edmunds is going to cast his lot with Hibbing, the White Sox will lose one of the steadiest and most consistent performers that have ever been with any local team. Edmunds is a grand little catcher and threw as many men out at second last season as any receiver in the Burmeister circuit. He was generally rated as a more useful catcher than several of the highly touted stars.

WATSON WILL HAVE A WEIGHT ADVANTAGE.

Articles of agreement were received today from Jack Kearns on behalf of Red Watson, the California lightweight, who is to meet Pal Brown in Superior on the evening of Feb. 26. The articles provide that the coast boy shall weigh in at 135 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Colle Munro telephoned from the range that the signed articles from Brown were on the way down. The permitting of Watson to weigh in at 135 in the afternoon means that he will scale 138 in the evening. Watson has about thirty-three knockouts to his credit. He has defeated Bud Anderson, Dick Hyland, Babe Picato and has a draw with Joe Rivers to his credit.

TIES WORLD'S RECORD.

Cleveland Inter-Club Rifle Team Misses One Bull's Eye.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Scoring 999 out of a possible 1,000, Cleveland last week, equaled the world's record held by Warren, Pa., in the inter-club rifle shooting competition championship matches. The five men of the Cleveland team put 99 out of 100 shots into a bull's eye the size of a 10-cent piece at a distance of 75 feet, .22 caliber rifles being used.

Cleveland leads Class A, having the largest grand aggregate score for the series, and Bangor, Me., leads Class B, while Buffalo and New Haven are tied for the leadership of Class C. Scores of the eighth match follow:

Class A—Cleveland, 99, vs. Bridgeport, 996; District of Columbia, 980, vs. Birmingham, 968; King's Mills, Ohio, 994, vs. Boston, 937; Warren, Pa., 985, vs. Manchester, N. H., 980; Bucyrus, Ohio, 987, vs. Stillwater, Minn., 958; Dickinson, N. D., 975, vs. Adrian, Mich., 930.

Class B—Des Moines, 968, vs. Indianapolis, 932; Tacoma, Wash., 952, vs. Louisville (Swiss), 939; Marion, Ohio, 983, vs. Milwauke, 959; Bangor, Me., 989, vs. Madison, Wis., 982; St. Louis, 980, vs. Hopkins, Minn., 959; Watertown, N. Y., 947, vs. Youngstown, Ohio, defaulted.

Class C—Buffalo, N. Y., 978, vs. Louisville (rifle), 945; Ogden, Utah, 969, vs. Payette, Idaho, 917; Kane, Pa., 970, vs Corrina, Me., 949; Detroit, Mich., 952, vs. Albion, Ind., 951; New Haven, 984, vs. Watertown, S. D., 973; Salt Lake, 966, vs. Tucson, Ariz., 959.

Got to Go Deep to Cure Rheumatism

Liniments Help Locally, But the Disease is Way Down Inside.

To get at the source of rheumatic pains it requires the deep, searching influence of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Rheumatism is primarily a blood disease that, since it is in this vital fluid that rheumatic tendencies are carried, lodges in the joints and muscles, there to irritate the nerves and produce pain. And in order to drive out these pain inflicting poisons it requires S. S. S. to sink deep into the tiny glands imbedded in the innermost tissues. S. S. S. travels wherever the blood goes and never loses its medicinal influence. This explains why it overcomes the most chronic forms of rheumatism, why it dislodges those hard deposits that thicken the joints, for it acts as a solvent and assists the blood to provide in the tissues those natural elements for which the body-building process continually craves and must have.

If you have never used S. S. S. for rheumatism, get a bottle today of any druggist. Use it as directed and with some simple home helps you will soon dethrone the worst and most painful forms of rheumatism. Write the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 63 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for additional advice. Yours may be a case where a slight help from a specialist whose advice is free, will solve the mystery that has been making life miserable for you. When you ask for S. S. S. insist upon it and refuse all substitutes.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

The Restless Night

MR. EDISON'S dictum that we sleep too much has just a grain of truth in it. The habit of sleeping is like the habit of eating: No man feels that he ever gets more than he needs. It is like pulling teeth with the sugar tongs to persuade the hearty, florid, stout person of 40 or 45 with early signs of arterial degeneration that he should cut down on his fodder—that he would really be healthier and stronger and feel more fit on a smaller ration. And so it is a task to make the average individual understand that a few sleepless nights will not necessarily bring calamity in their wake.

A remarkable thing about insomnia is that an hour of wakefulness when other folks are peacefully slumbering becomes a whole night in the telling next day. And a still more remarkable thing about it is that a four or five-hour nap after a struggle to obtain sleep becomes a mere wink or no sleep at all when the individual files his complaint with the doctor next day. There is a serious discrepancy between the nurse's reports and the patient's reports upon the hours of sleep, in every case.

To open the subject let us here smash a few of the old-time traditions regarding insomnia. The most tempting target is the maxim that a late lunch means a bad night. It depends entirely on what you mean by the word lunch. A load of pickles, salad, cheese and other formidable delicacies will certainly invite retribution if eaten late in the evening. But a simple lunch, like a bowl of bread and milk, or a sandwich, eaten before retiring, tends to make one sleep better. People whose weight is subnormal, and whose circulation is poor, and whose sleep is light and unrefreshing, will do well to acquire the midnight lunch habit as a permanent thing. Without—make no mistake about that—without beer.

Questions and Answers.

Treatment for Alcoholism: Is the Lambert treatment as effective as the advertised treatments for alcoholism? Can any reliable physician administer it? How long does it take?

REPLY.

1. If you mean those advertised treatments which you "administer secretly," yes, the Lambert treatment is a thousand times more effective. 2. Yes, there is no secret about the treatment; the patient must enter a hospital or other institution. 3. About two weeks.

* * *

St. Paul on Catarrh: A St. Paul doctor says catarrh is not a disease. What is it, then? Will wet feet cause colds?

REPLY.

1. St. Paul doctor is right. It is just a symptom which may signify any one of scores of different diseases. 2. Wet feet will be followed by illness not oftener than once in a dozen times; therefore it seems illogical to consider wet feet a cause of illness.

Perspiring Feet: Can you suggest anything for perspiring feet?

REPLY.

Woolen underclothing (knitted) and woolen stockings. Change stockings daily. Wash feet daily, dry, then powder with talcum powder mixed with salicylic acid, 16 to 1. Or apply salicylic acid in alcohol 16 parts and let dry on.

DULUTH WINS FROM EAU CLAIRE

Fast Volley Ball Contest Won By Local Y. M. C. A.

The members of the strong Duluth Y. M. C. A. volley ball team added another victory to their list Saturday evening by defeating the Eau Claire team. Duluth won the first game, 21 to 17, lost the second, 20 to 21, and won the third by the score of 21 to 6. Duluth has defeated Grand Forks and St. Paul and lost one game to Eau Claire last winter on the Eau Claire floor. The victory of Saturday gives the Y. M. C. A. players the Northwestern title.

Dr. F. A. Grawn captained the local team and C. F. Colman, S. P. Mortenrud, George H. Ebert, R. G. Mace, G. A. Anderson, and M. F. Jamar, Jr., played.

RAY TEMPLE WINS FROM JOHNNY TILLMAN

Ray Temple of St. Paul staked Johnny Tillman of Minneapolis to a beating the other evening in Minneapolis before a private club. The bout, scheduled for ten rounds, came to an abrupt termination in the seventh round when Tillman fell through the ropes.

Reports from the Twin Cities state that Temple made the Minneapolis boy miss repeatedly and had Tillman in a bad way in the sixth round. Temple displayed exceptional cleverness and Tilman experienced great difficulty in hitting him. Referee Jimmy Potts gave Temple the decision. Tillman was unable to continue after the fall out of the ring.

TANNEHILL AND LAKE GIVEN THEIR HATS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 15.—Lee Tannehill and Joe Lake will not be seen in Minneapolis American association baseball uniform this season, according to President M. E. Cantillon.

Tannehill has been sold to Los Angeles and Lake has been given his unconditional release.

Prendergast Signs Up.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Mike Prendergast, the pitcher who has been holding out for a greater salary increase than offered him, has agreed to terms and signed another contract with the Chicago Federals.

RURAL TEACHERS OF HIGH STANDARD

Hursh Shows Qualifications of St. Louis County Instructors.

Teachers employed in the rural schools of St. Louis county are far above the average of instructors now engaged in rural schools throughout the country and measure well up to the standard set by the pedagogue of the city schools, according to H. B. Hursh, assistant county superintendent of schools, who has compiled statistics to prove his point.

In St. Louis county there are 211 teachers in the rural schools, without including some of the rural communities in some of the independent districts. Of this number 164, or 77 per cent hold first grade certificates, 34 hold second grade certificates and 13 have limited certificates. Only 75 of the teachers now employed are teaching for the first time and by Aug. 1, only 30 will have less than eighteen months experience.

Of the first grade teachers, 45 are normal school graduates, 37 hold normal school certificates and 20 have been graduated from high school normal training departments.

DEPARTMENT KEPT BUSY

Three Calls in Thirty-Six Minutes for Duluth Fire-Fighters.

Three calls in thirty-six minues Saturday afternoon was the unusual record set by Duluth's fire fighters.

At 3:04 o'clock apparatus from Engine Companies No. 3 and No. 4 was called to the old Bethel home, 432 Sixth avenue east. It was a chimney fire. At 3:27 No. 1 hose company was ordered out and extinguished a small blaze at 508 West Third street, and at 3:40 Companies No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3 went to 422 West First street. In the last two cases damages were nominal.

OFFICERS OF TWO FLEETS ARE NAMED

Managers of M. A. Hanna & Co. and Kinsman Company Make Appointments.

Appointments of officers for two Cleveland fleets of bulk freighters have just been announced, and a number of changes were made in the lineup of captains. M. A. Hanna & Co. will operate twenty steamers and three barges next season. Capt. Edward Sullivan, master of the steamer E. Y. Townsend, who was sick last season, will be back on the job, and Capt. Matthew Anderson, who sailed the Townsend in 1914, will take command of the steamer E. A. Uhrig.

All the captains that were in the boats of the Scott Steamship company last season have been shifted. Capt. William Langell will be in charge of the J. J. Turner and Capt. Samuel Sexsmith will sail the E. N. Saunders. Capt. George McGarry, who was in the J. J. Turner last season, will take the steamer Leonard C. Hanna. Capt. O. J. Soleau will go from the Uhrig to the steamer W. H. Donner, and Capt. M. M. Stewart, who sailed the steamer Saunders, will take the steamer Quincy A. Shaw.

The resignation of Capt. L. B. Cummings as master of the steamer Philip Minch was the cause of several shifts in the captains of the Kinsman Transit company. Capt. H. W. Stewart, who was in the steamer Henry Steinbrenner last season, will take the Philip Minch, and Capt. D. M. Crooker will go from the Anna C. Minch to the Steinbrenner. Capt. J. W. Kelly, who sailed the steamer Onoko in 1914, is promoted to master of the Anna C. Minch. The appointments of captains for the vessels operated by M. A. Hanna & Co. follow:

STOOD TOO NEAR THE TRACK WHEN CAR WAS TURNING CURVE.

HE STOOD TOO NEAR THE TRACK

DON'T stand too close to a car when it is turning a corner or curve.

Remember that the ends of a car project some distance outside the track when it is making a turn. Give it all the room it needs and some to spare. Don't try to see how closely you can judge the distance the front or rear end will project. Think of SAFETY FIRST. The least that could happen if you misjudge the distance is a nasty fall; the worst, a fatal accident.

SAD PLIGHT OF POLAND

Celebrities Join to Get Relief for the Stricken Country.

American Polish Relief Committee Includes Many Famous People.

New York, Feb. 15.—The American Polish relief committee of New York is made up of scores of people famous in all walks of life. Joining hands with celebrated Poles and Polish-Americans are many others who, understanding the crying need in stricken Poland for prompt aid, have become active in the work, and already success is assured because of their co-operation. They are making every effort to appeal to the sympathetic and generous hearted in this country.

It is seldom that an organization of this sort is made up of so many widely celebrated people, and no other relief committee working in behalf of the war victims can boast of more distinguished officers and members.

Headed By Sembrich.

Mme. Marcella Sembrich, the famous opera star, is president. Dr. E. H. Lewinski-Corwin is secretary. The assistant treasurer is Miss Leonida Krajewski, the Guarantee Trust company being the actual treasurer. There are fifteen vice presidents, and their names are not for ornament, but for a purpose, as every one of them is not only deeply interested in Poland and the suffering, but active in the work of securing relief for the suffering Poles. The vice presidents are:

Curtis Guild, ex-ambassador to Russia; Cardinal Farley, Countess A. Leary, Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins, Mrs. Thomas F. Krajewski, Mrs. E. H. Lewinski-Corwin, Mrs. John Rade, Mrs. J. Every Pole in America is proud of the personnel of the American Polish Relief committee of New York and regards it as a splendid tribute to Poland. The committee has opened headquarters at 14 East Forty-seventh street, New York.

"BOB" M'KERCHER IS COMPLIMENTED

Duluth Humane Agent Subject of Special Article in National Journal.

R. D. McKercher, agent for the Duluth Humane society, is the subject of a special article which appears in the current issue of the National Humane Review, a monthly magazine issued as the organ of the American Humane association at Albany, N. Y. The article is accompanied by a photograph of the Duluth man. It has the following to say of him:

"For the past four years R. D. McKercher has been the efficient executive officer of the Duluth Humane society. He is of Scotch stock, and came from Canada to this country many years ago. He was elected agent of the society in 1910, and has carried a large portion of the responsibility for the development of its work in the city of Duluth and throughout St. Louis county.

"Conditions are rendered peculiar throughout his jurisdiction because of the large number of untrained foreigners who are employed in the mines and lumber camps and the various other enterprises of a new country. The cases are sometimes of a very startling and appalling nature, yet Mr. McKercher has always shown himself peculiarly well adapted for solving different social questions and maintaining the highest ideals of humane work. The animal work in his district is not allowed to suffer. He has proven himself to be a careful student of problems relating to the prevention of cruelty to animals and has exerted a wide influence in developing better treatment and care for them.

"Mr. McKercher has the complete confidence of the officials of the county, of the Duluth Humane society and of the Minnesota Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, of which he is a director and a member of the executive committee."

IN LINCOLN'S MEMORY.

Grand Army Veterans Have Program in Observance of Birthday.

Grand Army veterans celebrated Lincoln's birthday with a program Saturday evening at Memorial hall, courthouse. The entertainment was given under the auspices of J. B. Culver post, No. 128, G. A. R., and was in honor of the 106th anniversary of the birth of the great emancipator.

C. M. Wilson was chairman of the committee in charge. The following program was given: Invocation, Chaplain N. L. Upham; violin solo, Harrold Russell; welcome, Capt. W. H. Smallwood; vocal solo, Charles Young; address, Rev. George I. Holt; reading, W. S. McCormick; vocal solo, Mrs. Edna Kelley; address, Rev. U. S. Villers; "America," Mrs. Theodore J. Hyde.

THEOSOPHISTS WILL HEAR WESTERN CHIEF.

Duluth theosophists will be hosts to E. Y. Blum of Kansas City, Mo., president of the Western Federation of Theosophical societies, tomorrow, and will hear an address on "Signs of the Times," to be given by him at the public library in the evening at 8 o'clock. President Blum, a Kansas City attorney, is well known as a writer and lecturer on theosophy.

Although not an orator, Mr. Blum has acquired a reputation as a forceful, interesting speaker. A former newspaperman, he is said to have become interested in theosophy while investigating spiritualistic phenomena. President Blum also is president of the Missouri State Anti-Cruelty society and the Kansas City Theosophical society.

DETAILS OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S PLAN.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Details of the war department's plan for organizing the regular army and militia of the various states into field armies ready to respond without confusion to a call for emergency service are given in a circular issued by the military division of the department.

Creation of twelve militia divisions with headquarters in each district, is contemplated. Each state is assigned its definite quota of troops to be furnished. In the four proposed field armies, there will be in all 316,264 enlisted men, in addition to some thousands who would be employed in time of actual war at depots and in transportation operations.

U. C. T. INITIATES.

Takes in Seventeen New Members and Discuss Minstrel Show.

A class of seventeen candidates was initiated into the United Commercial Travelers' organization at a banquet and ceremonial held Saturday evening in Foresters hall.

About 100 members of the organization were present during the evening and following the regular program a general discussion was held on the minstrel show to be given at the Lyceum theater next Saturday evening.

A review of the show was given by those in charge.

AMERICAN MINING MEN ROBBED BY INDIANS.

On board U. S. San Diego, San Diego, Cal., Feb. 15.—E. A. Butler and J. E. Colser, American mining men, were stripped off all their clothing by fifteen Yaqui Indians, and robbed of a bar of gold worth about $25,000 and 300 pesos in the mountains of Sonora, Mexico, according to a report from the United States gunboat Annapolis at Guaymas.

The Indians have issued a decree ordering all Mexicans and foreigners from their land, the report said.

EXPORT CALL BULLS WHEAT

Market Bulges With Urgent Buying By Foreigners on Break.

Flaxseed Takes Upturn on Persistent Crushers' Demand and Light Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 15.—The market was strong at the close with a continuance of good buying.

May wheat closed 4¼c up, and July 4¼c up. May durum closed 2c up and July 2c up.

Oats closed ⅝c up at 37½c for on the track; rye, unchanged at $1.23@1.24; barley, unchanged to 1c off, at from 70@80c and corn ⅝c up at 73¼c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅞c up at 67¾c bid and July 1c up at 68¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.45, and calls at $1.53 bid.

A sharp reaction was shown in the wheat market today, quotations up to the noon hour showing an advance of 4c over Saturday's close. The bulge was brought about through a rush on the part of exporters to pick up grain on the recent break, taken in conjunction with an urgent covering demand from the shorts. The sale of a round lot of wheat by a Duluth exporter for direct export from Buffalo was reported on Saturday afternoon. Export sales of wheat at the seaboard on Saturday were estimated at $1,500,000 and some trade was advised to have been put through this morning.

A wire was received from Kansas City this morning to the effect that export bids on that market were the highest on the crop, and that the amount sold was limited on account of the difficulty in buying cash grain from the country. A similar condition was reported at St. Louis, where the market was up 4@6c a bushel. A decrease of 3,372,000 bu shown in the American visible supply was another bullish factor.

The cable news was bearish, both Liverpool and Paris being lower. Advices from Liverpool noted a reduction in Argentine freight rates, and reiterated the expectations of increased shipments from that country in the near future.

Corn was weak on an increase of 3,509,000 bu in the visible supply, and reported a reselling by exporters. Oats were strong, advancing substantially in line with news of good export business. Engagements at the seaboard during the last four days were estimated at 2,500,000 bu.

May wheat opened ½c up at $1.47 a'nd advanced 3½c more up to the noon hour. July opened ¼c up at $1.42½ and gained 3⅜c more.

Trading in durum was comparatively light, and the market in it was also strong. May durum opened 1c up at $1.55 and gained 1c more. The July future was neglected.

Good Upturn in Flax.

Flaxseed was strong with good inquiry from crushers, while offerings were limited. A sharp bulge at Winnipeg helped along the bullish sentiment in the seed market here.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.85½, and closed 2½c up at $1.88. July opened unchanged at $1.87½, and closed 2c up at $1.89½ bid, and September 2¼c up at $1.85¼ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 2¼c up at $1.67 bid, and July 2⅞c up at $1.68⅞ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Supplies of wheat in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators on Feb. 13 were 25,576,000 bu as compared with 34,252,000 bu last year. Stores at Duluth were 10,205,000 bu against 14,624,000 bu last year, and at Minneapolis 15,365,000 bu, compared with 19,528,000 bu a year ago.

Stores of flaxseed in Duluth and Minneapolis elevators on Feb. 13 were 778,000 bu against 1,912,000 bu last year. At Duluth there was 525,000 bu against 1,741,000 bu a year ago, and at Minneapolis 257,000 bu against 171,000 bu last year.

Watson S. Moore has returned from Washington, where he represented the Duluth board of trade at the National Chambers of Commerce convention.

A Kansas City wire received by the Paine Commission company said: "Bids to export houses this morning are highest on the crop. The amount sold was limited on account of difficulty in buying the cash from the country, probably two or three hundred thousand bu so far."

At Minneapolis: Demand for top grades was good in cash market. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 3½@4c over May mostly 4c over and velvet chaff at May price to ½c under. There was some improvement in flour on the break but the aggregate sales were moderate. Shipping directions were better and one large milling company started up two more mills this morning. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.49@1.53 and No. 2 northern at from $1.46@1.50½.

World's shipments: American, 9,987,000 bu; Indian, 48,000 bu; Argentine, 1,482,000 bu; others, 98,000; total 11,605,000 bu against 14,323,000 bu last week and 12,816,000 bu last year; corn, 3,307,000 bu against 6,039,000 bu last week and 1,863,000 bu last year.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: The weakness in America on Saturday had a sensational effect here but trading was dull and spots are only partially lower with arrivals lighter. American winters are 3d lower and Plate and Indian offers are more liberal and English farmers are selling freely. The freight situation in Argentina is easier with a possible relief forthcoming.

"Corn was neglected and the tendency lower with an easier spot situation and favorable weather reports from Argentina.

The position of winter seedings in Russia is generally very favorable with plenty of snow protection.

Very little wheat is changing hands in Italy as supplies are light and the amount arriving goes into consumption.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from New York: "Export sales wheat Friday and Saturday were reported at 1,500,000 bu of which about a million bu were worked on the break Saturday. Export sales of corn were reported of 500,000 bu and oats 450,000 bu. Chicago reported cash sales of oats in that market of 950,000 bu but did not specify whether they were all for export or not."

Clearances reported: Wheat and flour together equal to 1,632,000 bu; corn, 225,000 bu; oats, 436,000 bu.

Primary markets report the following receipts and shipments today:

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Shows Strength in Consequence of Large Sales to Exporters.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Wheat developed strength today in consequence of signs that large sales had been made to exporters. It was said also that country offerings were smaller than has recently been the case. Commision house buying of the July delivery formed the bulk of business in the speculative pit. The market after opening ¼c off to a rise of 2c, scored an all round advance ranging 3½c above Saturday night's level.

Subsequently prices continued to ascend. Announcements were made that European buying here since the close Saturday aggregated 1,000,000 bu and that 1,500,000 bu additional had been taken at New York. Furthermore, Kansas City said exporters were buyers there. The close was strong, 4¼@4⅜c to 5½c net higher.

Corn climbed with wheat. Shorts were covering, and found sellers scarce. The opening, which varied from ⅛c down to ½c advance, was followed by a sharp, general upturn.

Later the market eased off, the visible supply total proving to be the largest on record. The close, however, was steady, ¼@⅜c to ⅝c net higher.

Foreign demand for oats was on a liberal scale. Holders showed unwillingness to let go and decidedly higher prices were soon in force.

Provisions sagged owing to a decline in the value of hogs. Trade was very slow.

Cotton Exports.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Cotton exports were beyond normal proportions during January. The quantity was more than 300,000 bales greater than last year, according to the monthly report of the census bureau issued today. Cotton used was less than the usual January total, as 500,000 fewer spindles were operated during the month. Manufacturing establishments held less cotton Jan. 31 than they did a year ago, but in independent warehouses the quantity on hand was greater by 1,800,000 bales.

Exports included 585,534 bales to the United Kingdom 217,982 bales to Italy, 99,913 bales to Germany, 70,901 bales to France and 397,845 bales to all other countries. The total exports for the six months ending Jan. 31 were 2,500,000 bales less than during the period last year.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

After Early Rise, Prices Fall as Easily as They Advanced.

All Other Developments Are Overshadowed By European Situation.

New York, Feb. 15.—Less tension in the international situation was denoted by the early movement of today's stock market. Americans were higher in London and this imparted some strength to the local situation, Canadian Pacific, Reading and American Smelting rising a point each, with fractional gains in other active issues, including United States Steel. There were further substantial advances in the several issues of the Minneapolis & St. Louis and Iowa Central roads. Trading was of the usual professional character and of moderate volume.

An early rise was of brief duration on today's stock market, prices falling back almost as easily as they had advanced. Selling emanated largely from the short interest, which continued to make capital out of the diplomatic situation. Steel, Reading, Union Pacific, New York Central and others in the international list recorded losses of 1@1½ points from their best of the hour, and specialties showed similar declines. Another drop in exchange on London to the lowest quotation in many years revived rumors of further gold imports from Canada.

Bonds were heavy, with indications of foreign offerings.

The European situation, which caused a further sharp decline in foreign exchange, overshadowed all other developments in today's stock market.

Prices sagged again in the final hour, but held above their early low level, except for certain specialties which declined abruptly. The closing was irregular.

COPPERS WEAK ON REALIZING SALES

After a strong opening the market in mining stocks at Boston turned draggy today and the early moderate advances were lost at the close. Some realizing was reported by operators whose deals showed profits on the recent long upturn.

Butte & Superior closed unchanged at $46.50, Calumet & Arizona 50 cents off at $54.50, Copper Range 50 cents off at $34.50, Granby 25 cents up at $68.50, Greene-Cananea $1.50 off at $27, North Butte 25 cents up at $24, Shattuck $1 off at $22, and Alaska Gold a fraction up at $28.87.

At New York Amalgamated Copper closed 25 cents off at $54.25 and Anaconda 62 cents off at $26.87.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Jumbo Extension sold at 85 cents; Calaveras at $1; Goldfields Merger at 26 cents; Davis-Daly at $1.12; Alex Scott at $4.25; Calumet & Corbin at 14 cents; and Butte & London at 20 cents; Chief Consolidated at 70@73 cents. For Interstate-Callahan $8.25 was bid, and for Keating $8 was asked.

Reports of Butte & Superior for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1914, shows net earnings of $252,051 compared with $544,106 in the previous quarter. It is to be noted that the mine was closed down several weeks during the last quarter to admit of repairs to the shaft. Operations have been on a capacity basis for some time back.

It is said the Russian government is in the market for ten million pounds of copper.

At St. Louis, lead closed strong at 3.75c, and spelter strong at 8.12½@8.25c.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following from Boston:

"Spelter has sold for 8½c for March delivery and the market has been quoted at 8½@8¾c a pound. Producers admit the market at current quotations presents a dangerous position, although they claim it has advanced legitimately to these high levels entirely because of extraordinary conditions."

Copper exports for the week ended Jan. 15, were 7,227 tons; previously reported 4,453 tons; total, 11,680 tons.

WAS IT WILFUL OR ONLY MISTAKE?

Whether John Doherty, Mary Ellen Doherty and John Pasich were wilful trespassers on eighty acres of land belonging to Ellen R. Salter in section 5, 58-19 when they cut and removed standing timber from the property, or they merely took the timber by mistake, is a question which was submitted to a district court jury in Judge Fesler's division this morning.

The defendants, the evidence showed, removed a quantity of timber from the Salter land during the years 1910 and 1911 The disputed question in the case is whether the trespass was wilful or not, as the measure of damage is different in the two cases.

Judge Fesler charged the jury to return a verdit for the plaintiff. If the trespass is found to be a wilful one, the court charged, the proper measure of damages is the value of the timber after having been converted into the finished product to which it was adapted. If the jury finds that the trespass was not wilful, thtn it is required to return a verdict for the value of the timber as it stood upon the land before being cut.

Mrs. Salter claims that the trespass was wilful and demands $3,500 damages.

SCARE DISPELLED.

Searchers for Aeroplane Evidence Find Remnants of Toy Balloons.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 15.—A dispatch received today by the Canadian Press from Brockville said the aeroplane scare of last night had been dispelled.

In searching for persons to corroborate the story that aeroplanes flew across the border there from the United States to the dominion, according to the dispatch, found today the remnants of two toy fire balloons which were launched into the air at Morristown, N. Y., in connection with the celebration of 100 years of peace between the United States and Canada.

The dominion police are of the opinion that the lighted balloons were mistaken by persons who saw them, for searchlights on aeroplanes.

COMPLETE INSPECTION OF DULUTH POSTOFFICE

The Federal inspectors who have been making an investigation of the service at the Duluth postoffice completed their work today and sent in their report to the department at Washington. As a result at least one new office, that of bookkeeper, will doubtless be created and other departments may be curtailed. A reorganization of the different departments is also probable.

The inspectors came just before Christmas and have been inspecting the service and equipment almost continuously since that time. Their visit followed a request from Postmaster McEwen, who stated to the department that he thought a reorganization necessary. Mr. McEwen recommended a two-division system—one department of mails and the other of finance.

Mr. McEwen said that he had not seen the report and would not know its nature until advised from the department at Washington.

SAYS "KONG HEE FAT TOY" AND DIES

With "Kong Hee Fat Toy" on his lips, Lee Sing, age 55, of Superior, died at 715½ West Superior street early this morning, after drinking a cup of tea. "Kong Hee Fat Toy" is Chinese for "Happy New Year."

Late Saturday night Sing came to Duluth, together with several other compatriots, to celebrate his birthday and the birth of a new Chinese year. During Sunday he remained with friends in this city, apparently in the best of health.

This morning at about 8 o'clock he awoke after his celebration, and asked for a cup of tea. When he had swallowed the tea he lay back on his bed and a moment later was dead. The remains were ta

IRON RULE, NOT GOLDEN, IN POWER

Rev. Herbert Ford Declares Armament a Failure; Christianity Needed.

Armament does anything but insure peace, declared Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, in a sermon on "An Unarmed Peace" yesterday morning. He asserted that diplomatic agents generally observe the iron rule instead of the golden rule. The conclusion he drew is that the observance of Christianity is the only solution of the problem. In part he said:

"If there is anything the present war has taught us it is that armament does not insure peace. The collapse of the armament theory of peace is sudden and complete. Likewise there are dangers in the disarmament theory; that is, mere disarmament. If both the armament and the disarmament theories are untrustworthy, what then shall we do? Shall we continue as before? Must we resign ourselves to war as a perpetual condition in the human race?

"No. There is still one theory that has not been tried. It is the Christian theory. Christians though we claim to be, we never have made any serious attempt to apply our Christian principles to international affairs. Pure selfishness has been the rule in diplomacy.

"The diplomat who would suggest the application of Christian forbearance would be laughed down, and if he tried to practice it he would be indignantly recalled by his government. He was sent there to get all he could for his country by hook or crook, rather than to practice Jesus' principle of giving, hoping for nothing in return. He was commissioned to deceive, to defraud, to bully, to grasp; not to practice kindness, charity, brotherly love. He is expected to obey the iron rule, not the golden rule.

"And yet real, lasting peace will never come but by the application of the golden rule to international politics. It is a coincidence that the two nations most given to the practice of Christianity in their relations with one another (America ranks first and England second), are now celebrating the one hundredth year of peace, with prospects bright for perpetuating that peace. It is not an accident, it is causal, and Jesus Christ is the cause. The present war will hasten the triumph of Christian principles by showing the monumental failure of pagan principles to advance peace and civilization.

"Disarmament that accompanies Christ's love is safe; disarmament with hate is unsafe."

DELEGATES TO THE WORKMAN CONVENTION

Delegates for the annual state convention of the Ancient Order of United Workmen will leave this afternoon for St. Paul to attend the session which will be held on Wednesday and Thursday this week. The delegates are M. J. Filiatrault and Humphrey Jones, representing West Duluth Lodge No. 145.

Joseph A. Schumaker, 2715 West Fourth street, state grand master of the order, also left this afternoon to make preliminary arrangements for holding the meeting. Mr. Schumaker has been at the head of the society for the past two years.

Schulte-Mayer.

The wedding of Miss Josephine Schulte, daughter of C. J. Schulte of Sixty-third avenue west and Lexington street, and Alfred Mayer will take place at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the parsonage of the St. James' Catholic church. Rev. D. W. Lynch will conduct the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer will leave for a short trip to the Twin Cities, and on their return will make their home at 2812 Huron street.

Masons Will Dance.

Plans for a dancing party to be given by the Euclid Assembly of Euclid Lodge No. 198, A. F. & A. M., on March 5, were made Saturday night at a meeting of the lodge. The affair will be in honor of masters and past masters of the lodge and their ladies. The party will be held at the Masonic temple, 615 North Central avenue. Helmer's orchestra will furnish the music. The committee in charge is headed by George Deatherage.

K. O. T. M. Review.

West Duluth tent No. 2, K. O. T. M., will hold its regular review at the West Duluth Commercial clubrooms tomorrow night. A class of new members will be initiated. Following the work a smoker is planned at which an informal program will be given. Among the speakers at the meeting will be O. M. Jerue of St. Paul, deputy great commander of the order.

Birthday Surprise.

Mrs. E. Doane, 426 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, was pleasantly surprised Friday afternoon by a number of her friends in honor of her birthday. The guests were Mesdames A. Oettle, H. Huth, C. Johnson, W. Oettle, H. Langdon, L. Root, E. Mehling, A. Root, F. Boreen and H. Alger of Superior.

Will Confer Degree.

The degree staff of the West Duluth lodge No. 168, I. O. O. F., will confer the second degree on a class of candidates for Central Link lodge, No. 175, at the latter's hall this evening. The staff members will meet at the West Duluth lodge rooms at 7:30 o'clock and go uptown in a body.

Whitford Funeral.

The funeral for Harry J. Whitford, age 25, who died Saturday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitford, 11 South Sixty-third avenue west, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street. Rev. W. H. Farrell conducted the service. Interment was made in Oneota cemetery.

Will Give Dance.

Members of the Pocahontas council No. 319, Royal League, will entertain this evening at a dancing party at Dormedy's hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. Invitations have been extended to 150 couples. The members of the committee in charge are: Mrs. Henry L. Fedi, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. E. F. Breisch, Mrs. Elliott, J. Aman, Mrs. Cassius J. Yoho, Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Samuel Lavick, Mrs. E. W. F. Boerner, Mrs. Roy L. Davidson and Mrs. H. E. Downs.

West Duluth Briefs.

Herbert Cavanaugh returned Saturday evening from Minneapolis, where he has been studying at the university branch of the School of Embalming. He received graduation papers from the institution.

Miss Margaret O'Brien, 716 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, has returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives at Grand Rapids, Minn.

The West Duluth W. C. T. U. will entertain at a musical and literary program at the West Duluth public library tomorrow afternoon. It was postponed from last Friday afternoon on account of the institution being closed.

Miss Muriel Swinnerton of Hibbing, who has been a guest at the home of Miss Velma Moyer, 5719 Huntington street, has returned to her home.

The Plymouth Ladies' Aid society will be entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. F. Breisch, 1317 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Mrs. C. E. Hamilton, 407 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, will entertain Wednesday afternoon for the Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

PEDESTRIAN GETS BEST OF ICY WALKS

One of the most unusual schemes of treading in safety the icy sidewalks of the city was hit upon today by an aged pedestrian. His feet encased in burlap wrappings, the old man walked along the icy way, while around him others slipped and floundered and occasionally hit the sidewalk.

The new style overshoes of the old man attracted much attention and comment, but he made uninterrupted progress and slipped not, neither did he fall.

Skating upon the sidewalks is freely indulged in. Today some spectacular sliding was done on the sidewalks of the hillside, despite the large quantities of sand scattered by the city.

SUPERIOR

TEAMSTERS STRIKE; ASSAULT OCCURS

Men Objected to Requirements in Horses' Care—Three Arrested.

Twenty-two teamsters employed by the Superior & Duluth Transfer company of Superior struck this morning on account of certain conditions required of the men in the care of the horses. Four of the men went back to work shortly afterwards and one of these four, William Harris, was later intercepted by fellow employes and is said to have been badly beaten.

Three men were arrested for the assault and paid fines of $10 and costs each. The three men were Rudolph Simonson, William Quinn and Alfred Nelson. Each pleaded guilty to assault. The strikers were still out at 2 o'clock today.

ANNUAL PAYMENT OF BONDS BEGUN.

The first step toward the paying annually for the recent issue of $32,000 worth of sewer bonds was taken Saturday afternoon when the city commissioners authorized the annual payment of $4,800 on the principal and interest. The payments will extend to 1924. The bonds were purchased by a Chicago firm, which will receive interest on the bonds semi-annually.

Woman Charged With Theft.

Miss Wanda Bruce, aged 36, is locked in a cell at police headquarters charged with the theft of two dresses belonging to Irene Kelley. A charge of grand larceny was placed against her. She was unable to furnish $100 bail. Miss Bruce says she took the dresses for the purpose of trying to force the collection of a debt of $8.50 which she claims to have loaned Miss Kelley, but which she had been unable to collect. The two women were said to have been fast friends until the loaning of the money.

Baby Show Proposed.

A "baby show" will be one of the features of the Rotarian exposition, which is being planned for the Superior Rotary club for next week. The plan originated at a meeting of the married men of the club yesterday. It is hoped that all mothers in Superior will be induced to exhibit their babies during the exposition. The affair will be held in the Truax building.

Many Skiers to Enter.

The Superior Ski club is making preparation for a large number of entries in the ski meet to be held at Billings park on Feb. 21. It is expected that between forty and fifty riders will enter. Plans are being made to offer a big list of prizes to competitors.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, Jan. 25, 1915.

Notice is hereby given, That on March 17, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1916, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is 4 per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1 of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at 5 per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at the time of sale. Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the Count Auditor at above address.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

MILLION DOLLARS TO SET THE UNEMPLOYED CLEARING STATE LAND

Minneapolis Senator Introduces Bill to Provide Work for Unemployed.

Amendment of Elwell Law to Meet Chief Objection Sought.

Banning Saloon Bill Referred to the House Judiciary Committee.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A million-dollar appropriation to set the unemployed at clearing state land at $3 a day, "including board and lodging," is proposed in a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis. The work would be done under a reclamation board composed of the governor, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general, and the cost of land clearing would be added to the sale price of the land and be recovered, when the land is sold, into the fund from which it was appropriated.

Would Amend Elwell Law.

An amendment to the Elwell road law to meet the most serious objection urged against it by those now seeking its repeal is proposed in a new bill by Senator Leonard H. Nord, International Falls. Instead of the Elwell road proceedings being initiated by six petition signers, as now, the Nord bill would require a petition of 25 per cent of the property owners to be benefited, providing this number should not be required to exceed twenty-five.

Bootblacks and Newsboys.

Boys under 16 and girls under 18 would be prohibited from peddling of any kind, bootblacking and the like, and all but boys between 12 and 16 would be prohibited from selling newspapers and magazines in the streets, by a bill introduced in the senate today by Senators Jones, McGarry, Gardner, Fauly, Holmberg, Lende and Palmer. Boys between 12 and 16 could sell newspapers and magazines between 6 in the morning and 7 at night if they got permits from the school authorities.

Christian Science healers would virtually be put out of business by a bill introduced in the house by Representative Sawyer of Minneapolis, and in the senate by Senator Gjerset of Montevideo, which requires them to get licenses from the state medical board, and which provides that licenses shall be granted only to persons meeting

FRENCH PLEASED WITH REPLY OF U. S.

Chorus of Praise From Leading Writers on Paris Papers.

Paris, Feb. 16.—America's reply to Germany's blockade notification has brought forth a chorus of praise from the principal writers in the French press. Even Georges Clemenceau, who hitherto has been disposed to criticize President Wilson, says the president has spoken the words the American people expected in such a way that Germany has no alternative but to back down.

Gabriel Hanotaux says in the Figaro:

"The American note to Germany is an act of high historic initiative and the first step toward the inevitable participation of neutrals in the great events which are dividing the world. President Wilson was obliged to pass from discussion to action. What do the measures mentioned in the note mean but that American warships will fall upon German submarines attacking American ships in total disregard of America's sovereign rights? Either Germany can give in or she can disregard Washington's note and go on with her plan to force England to capitulate. Then President Wilson would not recede from his position."

The proposal made by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States that Germany would withdraw its blockade order if the import of food was permitted by England arrived too late for comment, but the newspapers caption the announcement "official German blackmail."

CENSUS OF BIRDS HAS BEEN FINISHED

Sixty Pairs of English Sparrows to Every Square Mile of Country.

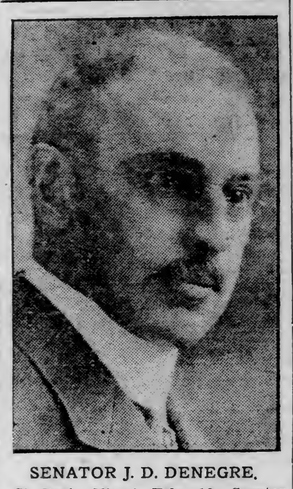

Washington, Feb. 16.—A census of birds of the United States, announced by the department of agriculture today shows an average of 60 pairs of English sparrows to the square mile or 7 to every 100 native birds throughout the country.

The robin is shown to be the most numerous bird with the English sparrow a close second. In the northeast robins average six pairs to each farm of 58 acres, while English sparrows averaged 5 pairs per farm. Taking 100 robins as a unit other birds were noted in the following proportions: Catbirds, 49; brown thrashers, 37; house wrens, 28; kingbirds, 27, and bluebirds, 26.

As for density of population on each acre of farm land there was an average of one pair of birds. Chevy Chase, Md., holds the record for density, where 161 pairs nested on 23 acres. Thirty-four species of birds were reported.

The bird population is much less than it ought to be, according to department experts, who claim birds should be given more protection.

FALLS ON SIDEWALK AND BREAKS A RIB

SENATOR J. D. DENEGRE.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—Senator James Denegre of St. Paul will not make any extended speeches in the upper branch for a few days at least. He is suffering from a broken rib. His senatorial dignity was upset Saturday night when a treacherous sidewalk failed to give him a footing.

PEOPLE NOW PAY THE BILL

Plan to Relieve Drain Caused By Discounting County Warrants.

Bill to Place the State in the Surety Bond Business.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Leonard H. Nord of International Falls is working on a plan, which will soon take the form of a bill, to relieve the drain upon the public caused by the occasional need of discounting county warrants issued to pay ditch contractors for work before bonds are floated.

When contracts are let before bonds are sold, as is often the case, the only way to pay contractors is by county warrants. These warrants are perfectly good, and draw 6 per cent interest, but they are not bankable paper, as Senator Nord has discovered after a thorough investigation in the Twin Cities, because there is no stated time for the payment of interest.

Therefore it is necessary to discount these warrants, and the discount has been as heavy as 20 per cent.

While apparently this loss falls upon the contractors, it is said that so customary has this process become that contractors, in bidding for ditch work, reckon upon it and increase their bids accordingly, so that in the end the people pay the bill.

Warrants as Security.

Senator Nord's plan is to propose a law which will authorize banks which receive public deposits to use these warrants as security. Thus the banks will be enabled to draw the 6 per cent interest provided on these warrants, and at the same time they will be provided with a convenient security for the public deposits they receive.

Senator Nord figures that this plan

FORMER OFFICIALS ACQUITTED BY JURY

East St. Louis Men Were Charged With Misappropriation of Funds.

East St. Louis, Ill., Feb. 16.—Six former officials of East St. Louis were acquitted by a jury today of charges involving the misappropriation of $100,000 in city funds.

The men acquitted were Charles S. Lambert, former mayor; John J. Faulkner, former comptroller; W. R. Rodenberger, former comptroller; E. Fred Gerold, former treasurer; Claus Tietje, former alderman; Lester Grigsby, former clerk health department, now chief of detectives.

The men were accused of having formed a conspiracy by which money was to be obtained from the city treasury by the payment, a second time, of bond coupons and by bills for labor and supplies paid in the names of relatives of employes of accused officials.

The acquittal of Lambert and Faulkner was asked by the prosecutor, who said there was no direct evidence against them.

BEGIN EXCHANGE OF WOUNDED PRISONERS.

Amsterdam, Feb. 16.—The actual exchange of wounded British and German prisoners of war who have been incapacitated for future service is under way. A train carrying seven British officers and ninety-three soldiers, blind or maimed, arrived today at Oldenzaal.

PRESS FIGHT ON SHIP BILL IS WORD SENT TO LEADERS BY WILSON

President Determined to Make Every Effort for Its Passage.

Measure Launched in House; Debate Limited to Six Hours.

Senate Awaits Action to Be Taken By the Lower Body.

Washington, Feb. 16.—President Wilson's fight for his ship bill was launched in the house today with a special rule limiting debate to six hours. Democratic leaders were sure that holding their large majority firm, they could have a new measure bearing the approval of the administration and probably attractive to some Republicans, ready for the senate before the end of today's session.

Meanwhile the senate marked time, committees showed great activity on the long-delayed appropriation bills and the special committee appointed to investigate any "lobby" in connection with the ship bill held a preliminary organization meeting.

President Wilson, after conferences with leaders, came to no determination on the question of an extra session and only sent out word to press the fight in the fourteen days which remain to the Sixty-fourth congress.

Waits on House.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The fight in the senate over the administration ship purchase bill today awaited the action of the house on the amended shipping measure, where the way for its passage during the day has been paved by a party caucus.

The president conferred with Senators Kern and Stone and afterwards Mr. Kern intimated the Democrats had definite plans for getting the bill through the senate, but ho refused to reveal details.

The president was told it will be possible to rush the appropriation bills through the senate in three or four days.

To Summon Two.

The senate committee decided as a

TAKES HUSBAND'S PLACE ON STUMP

Mrs. Carter Harrison Campaigns for Mayor Who Is Sick.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, wife of Mayor Harrison, today took her husband's place on the stump and addressed several meetings of workers, urging them to nominate him next Tuesday as the Democratic candidate for mayor.

Mayor Harrison, because of illness, was unable to fill a number of his engagements to speak, and Mrs. Harrison volunteered to take his place.

A series of speeches for afternoon and evenings through the last week of the primary campaign has been planned for Mrs. Harrison, who until now had addressed only women's organizations.

ARRESTED AS WHITE SLAVER

James Darnell, Former Pastor, Taken By U. S. Officers.

Had Secured License to Wed Mother of His Child.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—James M. Darnell, former pastor of a Kenosha, Wis., church, and man of many matrimonial adventures was taken in custody here today on a charge of having violated the Mann white slave act.

Darnell resigned his Kenosha pastorate after attention was called to his having a wife in Chicago, although his parishioners believed he was the husband of Miss Ruth Soper, who with her child, lived at the parsonage.

Mrs. Doris Vaughn Darnell, the Chicago wife, was recently divorced from Darnell and yesterday a marriage license was issued at Crown Point, Ind., to Darnell and Miss Soper.

The investigation which was made after Darnell left Kenosha revealed another woman, Miss Ethel Spurgeon of Avon, Ill., who had also been re-

GREAT BRITAIN WILL AT ONCE START RETALIATORY ACTION AGAINST GERMAN BLOCKADE

AUDACIOUS FIT AS NEW

Big Battleship Reported Sunk, Repaired and Rejoins English Fleet.

Dreadnaught Badly Injured in Collision With German Mine.

New York, Feb. 16.—The Audacious, one of Great Britain's finest and most powerful battleships of the dreadnaught class, is on her way to rejoin the grand fleet. She left the shipyards of Harlan & Wolf at Belfast yesterday without a flaw in her armament, according to advices received by the New York Herald.

The mighty first-line war vessel of the royal navy did not rise like Venus from the sea, as might be supposed from the reiterated reports of her destruction off the North Irish coast on Oct. 27 last.

In the light of the news received, the Audacious, although crippled either by a German torpedo or mine, was not sunk.

With her wounded hull bound in collision mats and the gaping hole below the water line adequately plugged, she remained afloat and was safely guided into drydock, several hours in the wake of the Olympic of the White Star line, which put about in response to the battleship's radio signal of distress.

In conformity with the policy pursued by the British authorities regarding the disaster, however, no information relating to recommissioning of the Audacious will be published in the United Kingdom. That official silence which has been rigorously observed by the admiralty since the news of the disaster first became noised abroad will be maintained, and

MUCH DAMAGE DONE IN BRITISH AIR RAID

Bombs Dropped By Airships Destroy Property in Several Cities.

Amsterdam, via London, Feb. 16.—The Handelsblad's Sluis correspondent in a dispatch regarding the raid last week of thirty-four aeroplanes over portions of Northern Belgium, says that in Ostend the shed of a railway station was badly damaged, and that the Hotel Terminus, near the station, was slightly damaged. The De Smet De Nayer bridge suffered heavily and all communication with the sea station was broken.

At Blankenberghe, the correspondent says, the station and the railway were totally destroyed. At Zeebrugge, he adds, the Central Electric works and a factory were destroyed and the bridges there could not be worked, owing to a lack of electricity. A Zeppelin shed with all its contents was destroyed, the correspondent says.

STEAMERS DUE IN WAR ZONE

Many Ships on Way to Europe Will Arrive After Feb. 18.

Quite a Number Have Passengers From the United States.

New York, Feb. 16.—Of the steamships clearing from New York within the past two weeks, maritime records show today that twenty-seven are due to be within the war zone declared by Germany around Great Britain on and after Feb. 18, the day set to establish the zone.

Four ships of this fleet are American-owned and fly the American flag and five of the steamers carry passengers.

The four American ships are the Surnga, which sailed for Gothenburg, Feb. 4; the Cushing, which sailed for Copenhagen, Feb. 6; the Kansan, which sailed for London on the 8th and the Philadelphia of the American line, a passenger carrying ship, which sailed last Saturday for Liverpool.

The four other vessels carrying passengers are the Adriatic (British), of the White Star line, which should reach Liverpool late on the 18th or on the morning of the 19th; the Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord, bound for Bergen; the Cunarder Orduna (British), due at Liverpool about Feb. 25 and the French liner Niagara, which sailed Sunday for Havre.

All the vessels were heavily laden

David Shanahan Chosen After a Six-Weeks' Deadlock.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 16.—David B. Shanahan, a Republican of Chicago, today was elected speaker of the lower house of the legislature on the sixty-eighth ballot, the second today. His election broke the six weeks' deadlock which has existed in the house since the legislature convened on Jan. 6.

TO PROCLAIM PROHIBITION OF SUPPLIES

Will Stop All Foodstuffs Intended for German Consumption.

Teuton Offensive Continues Along the Extensive Eastern Front.

Artillery Attacks Sole Activity in Western Theater of War.

London, Feb. 16, 4:46 p. m.—The prohibition against foodstuffs destined for Germany will be formally proclaimed by Great Britain either tonight or tomorrow, according to present expectations and the government's retaliatory measures against the threatened German submarine "blockade" will go into immediate effect.

Offensive Continues.

London, Feb. 16.—The general offensive of the Teutonic allies along the extended eastern front is continuing successfully on both flanks, judging from reports reaching London, but without any visible forward movement on the front toward Warsaw or in the Carpathians.

The Bucharest report that the Austrians have reoccupied Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina, has not been received from any other source, but Petrograd admits officially that the Austrians are still advancing in Bukowina in considerable force, and that desperate fighting marks the operations in the passes of the Carpathians, where the Russians are claiming minor successes resulting in the capture of men and munitions of war.

In East Prussia the Russians have not yet regained their fortified lines and the German advance, while not checked, seems to British observers to be proceeding with less speed.

Paris reports from the western front that the sole activity consists in artillery engagements in which the guns of the allies have been successful in silencing batteries northeast of Ypres and destroying German trenches at Beaurains.

In diplomatic circles, the replies of Germany to notes from neutral powers concerning Germany's proposed marine war zone are awaited with interest; Great Britain's reply concerning the

AWAIT EXECUTION OF MARINE THREAT

Germans Do Not Expect Any News for Several Days After Feb. 18.

Berlin, Feb. 16, by wireless to Sayville.—The commencement of operations in the waters designated by the German government as a war zone is awaited here with the greatest eagerness, as well as with much curiosity. It appears likely, however, that it will be some days after Feb. 18 before any news is received.

Indeed, the Germania, in an article which is reprinted by the Nord-Deutch Allgemeine Zeitung, says it may be ten or fifteen days before the public is informed on the subject. It warns its readers not to place credence in rumors, but rather to wait for official reports, which will be based on reports from commanders of submarines.

The Germania considers the possibility that neutral ships will be destroyed as "fairly certain," but declares they have had a proper warning.

There are no indications as to the tone of the German note to the American representations which may be delivered today.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A note from the German chancellor as transmitted to the Rotterdam chamber of commerce says that "in most cases" German submarines will be unable to distinguish between neutral and British vessels encountered in the war zone and that all merchantmen therefore run the risk of destruction. In Berlin an official statement was issued suggesting that British submarines might purposely sink neutral vessels, in order to precipitate a conflict between Germany and neutral nations. French newspapers commend the attitude of the United States, which is said to be the first step toward "the inevitable participation of neutrals in the great events which are dividing the world."

The departure of the Greek minister from Turkey is not regarded in Berlin as implying a rupture of diplomatic relations. It is thought there that the minister, for personal reasons, asked to be relieved.

The Albanian force which invaded Serbia has been driven back across the border, says a Nish dispatch. The raid is believed to have been incited by Mohammedans preaching a holy war.

It is reported from Milan that Italy has asked Vienna and Berlin for assurances that Austria will not make an attack on Roumania, whose military preparations have been interpreted as foreshadowing her entrance into the war.

German forces have captured the important Polish town of Plock, the Berlin war office announced today. Plock lies on the Vistula northwest of Warsaw and the Russians pushed their advance far beyond it in their movement against the west Prussian border, which apparently has now been ended. Not only Plock but the town of Bielsk is said to have been lost by the Russians. In east Prussia, the Berlin communication states, the advance of the German forces continues, the Russians having been pursued across the border.

It is expected in London that tonight or tomorrow England will proclaim the cutting off of all foodstuffs from Germany, in retaliation for Germany's declaration that the waters surrounding the British Isles constituted a war zone.

RUBBER REVEALED IN COTTON BALES

X-Ray Examination Shows Contraband in Cargo of Cretic.

New York, Feb. 16.—The X-ray examinations of cotton cargoes of outgoing British ships, which have been conducted by representatives of the British government for several months as a means of preventing shipment of contraband of war, revealed today that bales of cotton waste consigned aboard the White Star liner Cretic contained rubber. The Cretic is due to sail tomorrow for Mediterranean ports. The consignee was given by officials of the line as a firm in Genoa, Italy. The consignor, they said, was A. B. Newman of this city.

Each of the 178 bales in the consignment contained about four pounds of rubber. The entire consignment was refused shipment when the contraband was discovered, it was said at the Cretic's pier.

Officials of the White Star line said that the office of the United States district attorney had been furnished with the name of the consignor and consignee.

GERARD CONFIDENT.

Says All Questions With Germany Will Be Settled Satisfactorily.

Berlin, Feb. 16, via London—The Lokal Anzeiger today publishes an interview with James W. Gerard, the American ambassador to Germany, which reads as follows:

"I regard the relations today between our two countries calmly and with confidence and I believe pending questions will be solved in a manner mutually satisfactory. The men at the head of the governments in Berlin and Washington are not permitting themselves to be influenced by the press or by public criticism. The public in the United States as well as in Germany should await developments quietly."

Gopher Fire Losses.

A REAL KIDNEY MEDICINE---ALWAYS RELIABLE

I feel that I ought to tell what I know about Swamp-Root and what it has done for me. I was down and out and had to quit work in 1906; I only weighed 135 pounds. The doctor said I had Kidney trouble in the worst form, and my liver was out of order; and I had Rheumatism so badly I could not get around. One day I picked up an Almanac and saw your advertisement, and it fit my case exactly. I got a one-dollar bottle and took it and when it was gone I felt so much better that I bought five more bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and I was a well man; my weight increased until I weigh 219 pounds. I am 65 years old and I am feeling fine and work every day. I have three men who knew me when I had to quit work in the Mill in 1906, and who will make affidavit to my present health.

If you want to use the above statements as my testimonial, you have my consent.

Your very truly,
W. T. GRAVES,
Anderson, Indiana.

Personally appeared before me, this 4th day of February, 1914, W. T. Graves, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

PLAN OPPOSED BY PETITION

Lakeside Property Owners Object to Closing of Streets.

Employment Agency Ordinance Amended; Minor Matters Acted Upon.

Formal objection to the closing of thirteen street intersections at Lakeside in return for the donation of a 15-foot strip of land by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad in widening East Superior street was made in a petition presented to the city commissioners yesterday afternoon.

The petition is signed by about thirty property owners at Lakeside, asking the council to reconsider its plans proposing to close the thirteen street intersections at various points between Fortieth and Sixtieth avenues east.

"While we appreciate the fact that fifteen feet would be more beneficial to our main street," states the petition, "we feel a damage would result to our property and that the loss would be too great to justify our consent to such a contract with the Duluth & Iron Range road."

Gravel Contract.

The contract for the furnishing of 3,790 cubic yards of pit gravel, f. o. b. New Duluth, was awarded to the Sand & Gravel company, although Commissioner Murchison had at first planned to reject all bids. The change was made because the other bidders did not object to the granting of the contract to the Sand & Gravel company, which had failed to send a properly certified check with its bid.

First reading was given an ordinance by Commissioner Murchison appropriating $500 for workmen's insurance and another by Mayor Prince appropriating $800 for the purchase of calcium chloride to be used on park roads and boulevards during the summer.

Second reading was given the ordinance by Commissioner Murchison appropriating $160.60 for a typewriter and adding machine attachment to be used in the city engineer's office and the one introduced by Mayor Prince amending the employment agency ordinance, which opens Michigan street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, to employment offices.

The contract for a 5-ton tandem roller was awarded to the Barber Asphalt company on its bid of $1,581, while a sanitary sewer was ordered constructed in the alley between Leicester and Kenilworth avenues, from Sussex to Livingston avenues.

A saloon license was granted to Michael Olszewski, 625 West Superior street.

GERMANS ADVANCE PRICE OF POTATOES

Feared Former Low Price Would Result in Feeding to Stock.

Berlin, via London, Feb. 18.—The bundesrath has increased the maximum price of potatoes from 4 marks ($1) to 5¾ marks ($1.45) for fifty kilograms (110 pounds). It was feared the former low price, in view of the scarcity of fodder, would result in farmers feeding to their stock potatoes fit for food.

The bundesrath set a maximum price of 10 marks ($2.50) for early potatoes harvested between May 1 and Aug. 15. The purpose of this action was to encourage gardeners to devote a large acreage to early potatoes. Another decree of the bundesrath limited the amount of malt which may be used by brewers after April 1 to 60 per cent of the former quantity.

The military commander of the province of Brandenburg has prohibited the sale of distilled liquors by saloons to soldiers of any rank in uniform. The action was impelled by the fact that previous warnings "have not had the necessary success."

SPRING STYLES IN MEN'S CLOTHES

Tailors Decree That Coats Shall Be Close Fitting This Year.

The National Merchant Tailors' association has just reported, and that settles it. Those who wish to be nifty during the coming seasons had better give heed, take a "flash" at what is what in the way of styles, and act accordingly. For clothes for women, skirts are to be larger, but for men, the "boresome sack coat" should be used more sparingly. Here is the creed of clothes for the man for the coming season:

Business Suits.

Short waisted; shapely; close fitting. Tapering lines "as far as nature will admit of." Shoulders, natural width; seams pitched high to give the smart "set-up" look without the use of bulky wadding. Sleeves narrow, with extra curves.

Overcoats.

More shapely than last year. Short waisted; deep back cross vent. Sleeves narrow and with turned up cuffs. Lapels faced with silk. Collars, cloth or velvet. Length, 42½ inches. Slant pockets with flaps.

Cutaway Coats.

War is declared against the constant use of the "boresome sack coat." Tailors will urge patrons to select cutaways instead. High waisted, one or two buttons. Band edges, braid or mohair.

Full Dress.

"A symphony of curves." Short waisted; three buttons. Cloth or velvet collar. Satin lapels. White or black silk vest. Trousers narrower than last year's.

Full Dress Coat.

Inverness with regulation cape will be considered correct.

Auto Coats.

Same as last year.

CONSUL HAD TO BRIBE TURKS

Duluthian Gets Letter Telling of Terrible Conditions in Turkey After War Was Declared—Rumor of Massacre Frightens Christians.

How John W. Dye, the American consul in Damascus, Turkey, was compelled to bribe his way out of the country to get to Egypt shortly before the Christmas holidays, is told in a letter received here the other day by Hugh McKenzie. Mr. McKenzie is a close friend and a relative of Mr. Dye, who has frequently visited Duluth.

The letter dated Dec. 26, at Port Said, Egypt, arrived here last week, and it tells of the conditions in Turkey and Egypt when war was declared last fall, and how difficult it is for British and French subjects to get out of Turkey.

"The month of November in Damascus," states Mr. Dye, "was the busiest, most eventful and frightful that I have ever spent.

"When Turkey went to war with the allies, I was given charge of British, French, Belgian, Serbian and Greek interests, and with no help. For days I had more important work on hand than Berlin, with nine men, usually has. The people of Damascus were and still are in a terrible state. The military authorities seized food and goods everywhere. There were continual rumors of a massacre of the Christians.

"We sailed the fourth for Port Said but not until the Turkish officials had molested me and my baggage in Damascus and Bierut. And I only got my baggage safely through the custom house at Beirut by bribery. It was the first and last bribe to Turkish officials I will ever have to account for. I would have given any sum at the time to get my family and baggage out of Turkey. If I, the consular representative of a friendly nation, was thus treated by the Turks, imagine what sort of treatment the poor British and French subjects are getting. They are being held in the country as hostages of war.

JOHN W. DYE.

"We were in Cairo the other day when England's proclamation regarding the protectorate and the expulsion of Turkey was announced, and later when the new sultan of Egypt was announced. It was all very interesting."

WANT CAMPS INSPECTED

Seven Woodsmen and Cook Complain of Insanitary Conditions.

Appeal for Regular Visits From an Authorized State Inspector.

Telling a story of conditions in one lumber camp that were almost beyond belief, seven woodsmen, with a cook, arrived here from near Elmer, Minn., yesterday.

In making their plea for an inspector of lumber camps, so that woodsmen will not be compelled to live like beasts, these eight men, all of the better type of "lumberjacks," have declared themselves willing, if necessary, to stop work in order to testify, while they are wanted by the court or the legislature.

The story of this camp, as told by Sievert Peterson, the cook, was corroborated by the other seven in every detail, and described an attempt to live on food not fit for animals, under conditions as far removed from sanitary as conditions could be. The men all admitted that their complaints did not apply to all camps, and that many camps were clean and sanitary, but that there were others which are far from being fit for men to live in.

"It finally got so bad," said Peterson, "that I refused to serve men such 'grub.' I couldn't pick out a meal for myself from the supplies given me with which to feed sixty-five men, and I thought it was nearly time to quit.

"The potatoes I had to use were badly frozen and were so rotten they smelled and I couldn't pick out enough good beans from the entire supply to make a meal for a single man. The other main article of food, liver, had spoiled some time before and was so bad that it was useless to cook it, because there would be no one who could eat it."

Slept in One Shanty.

All of the sixty-five men, according to the eight who left, slept in one shanty. There was only one small window in the place, and a skylight. "Glass in the skylight had been broken and replaced by tin," said the cook, "and I happen to know that the place had not been scrubbed out for at least five weeks.

"Did you ever see a room used by sixty-five men, who spat tobacco juice on the floor for five weeks, without any pretense at a 'scrubbing?'" he asked.

"Worse than that," he continued; "the drain pipe from the cook's shanty ran below the main building, where the men slept. The pipe was open and the decayed waste sent up a stench that penetrated the floor of the cabin.

"We pulled up a board in the floor one day wondering what was causing all the smell, and it almost knocked us off our feet. We finally couldn't stand it any longer, and so we quit."

Upon the conclusion of their story, the eight men gave their names to The Herald, and said if they were called upon to testify they would be willing to do so. What they sought was a periodical inspection of camps, from a sanitary standpoint.

Some time ago an agitation was started by a woodsman, who wrote in to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, describing conditions in the camp in which he worked and asking if something could not be done to help the men. The letter was referred by Mr. Webster to the state board of health. State officials of the health board declared that their jurisdiction did not cover the lumber camps, and in turn referred the matter to the department of labor.

State Senator Richard Jones of Duluth has interested himself in the cause of the men and has introduced a bill for a supervision of sanitary conditions in the camp.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

WILL ASK NEW TRIAL FOR BECKER

Counsel to Base Application on Repudiation of Testimony.

New York, Feb. 16.—J. E. Johnston of counsel for Charles Becker, former police lieutenant under sentence of death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, announced today that within three days he would make formal motion for a new trial for Becker. Mr. Johnston said he would base his motion on the affidavit made in Philadelphia by James Marshall, state's witness, repudiating testimony given at Becker's second trial.

Mr. Johnston said he had obtained corroborative evidence substantiating Marshall's repudiation of his testimony and was confident that a new trial would be granted.

TO SELECT JURY TO TRY HARRY THAW

Supreme Court Justice Orders Special Panel of 200 Talesmen.

New York, Feb. 16.—A special panel of 200 talesmen, from which is to be selected a jury to try Harry K. Thaw for conspiracy in escaping from the Matteawan asylum, was ordered drawn today by Supreme Court Justice Weeks.

The trial has been set for next Tuesday, but indications are that it will be postponed to some time in March.

TRESPASS COSTS $3,075.

Mrs. Ellen Salter Wins Action to Recover for Timber Loss.

A verdict for $3,075 was returned late yesterday afternoon by a jury in Judge Fesler's division of the district court in favor of Mrs. Ellen Salter and against John Doherty, Mary Ellen Doherty and John Pusich. The verdict covered a claim for damages for wilful trespass upon the plaintiff's land during the years 1910 and 1911, when a quantity of standing timber was removed by the defendants. John Jenswold, Jr., appeared for the plaintiff and Thad. S. Bean and A. R. Folsom appeared for the defendants.

Learn Cause of Death.

Lee Sing, aged 55, a Chinese of Superior, who died yesterday morning while having breakfast in his bed at 715½ West Superior street, was a victim of cancer, according to the findings of an autopsy conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner C. F. McComb.

Sing had been celebrating the Chinese New Year, coming to Duluth Saturday for a two days' commemoration of the event. He awoke on the morning of the second day of the new year and called for a cup of tea, dropping over dead after swallowing the liquid. The body is at Crawford's undertaking rooms.

CHECKING UP MUCH NEEDED

Irregularities in Work of North Dakota State Departments.

Legislators Make Study of Reports of Expert Accountants.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 16.—The need of constant checks on the various state departments is emphasized in the report of the legislative committee that has just completed a study of the expert accountants' reports on the work done during the past two years. The legislative committee proposed a biennial appropriation of $15,000, advocating that the check-up be extended to all of the state institutions and to the counties, instead of being confined only to the state departments.

Conditions unearthed by the accountants, while not regarded as constituting glaring irregularities, are pointed to by the legislative examiners as sound reasons why the legislature should take definite steps to the end that a constant and accurate account be maintained.

Not Properly Credited.

The most interesting finding was in the state land department, where a total of $62,770 lies unattached to any specific fund. The land department conducts the business of all the United States land grants to the common schools, the institutions, the capital, etc. The check-up made during the past two years is the first since the state began this tremendous land business.

Somewhere, in the course of operations since 1889, moneys have been collected by the department that have not been properly credited, and they now lie in the department's treasury, unattached. The legislators propose that this cash should be credited to the common school fund, and that all other funds should be properly adjusted and a new start made.

Loss of Lands Found.

Another loss was discovered by the accountants in the right-of-way deals of the state, and in land occupied by the agricultural college at Fargo. A total of 2,262 acres has been lost in this manner, and the legislators propose that the matter be brought to the attention of the Federal government, with the prospect that such losses will be made good by further grants to the state. The legislators call attention to the fact that if the government takes this step, the cost of the accountants' work will be more than repaid.

In the attorney general's office, a right-of-way check for $252.75, received from the Soo railroad years ago, was found filed away with letters. It had been outlawed, but the Soo road issued a new check when its attention was called to the situation.

Illegal Deposits.

One feature that is especially pointed out has to do with the deposit of state funds by the treasurer. It is shown that in one instance a bank authorized to receive deposits up to $5,000, which was the amount of the surety bond filed, had actual deposits aggregating $44,710.54 for a short period, while for a period of thirty days the deposits averaged about $30,000 over the amount that the bank was supposed to have. In another instance, a bank authorized to receive as high as $10,000, had deposits of over $125,000, while in still another case a bank authorized to have a deposit of $5,000 had a deposit of $28,000.

In connection with the state auditor's office, the legislators find that the legislative assembly is itself responsible for many foolish wastes, burdening the office with restrictive legislative. "The average legislator doesn't realize the trouble he is making when he directs that a certain specific appropriation be handled in a certain manner."

Fees From Examinations.

The insurance department furnished an instance of fee collection that is looked upon by the committee as being undesirable. This fee is collected by the department for the examination of home mutual companies. The legislators propose that all such fees be paid to the state treasurer, and by that official checked out to the insurance commissioner. In this manner, the state always knows just what fees are collected by all of its officials.

Another feature brought out is that of the handling of individual accounts by the various state officials. These are banked in private banks in Bismarck, the total amount being $50,000 or $75,000 at some times. The committee wants the state treasurer made the banker for all departments, thus doing away with the loss of interest that occurs through the individual deposit system.

Several bills bearing upon the recommendations made by the committee have already been introduced into the legislature.

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR

Few realize how many society women now wash their own hair. This home shampooing is not a fad but is due to the fact that people who wish to be sure about the preparations they use and who wish to insure the greatest possible hair beauty have found they get far the best results by use of a simple canthrox mixture. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. —Advertisement.

NO COMMENT BY GERMANS

Ambassador Gerard Fails to Hear Views on American Note.

Says Feeling Is Generally Friendly Among the Officials.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Ambassador Gerard at Berlin today reported on his informal conference with the German chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, and other high German officials since the delivery of the American note warning Germany against submarine attacks on American vessels.

The ambassador made no mention of any conference with Emperor William and was unable to determine the trend of German official opinion. For the most part, those with whom he conferred were non-committal and reserved, which is not unusual in advance of the framing of a diplomatic communication.

Throughout the conferences, however, the ambassador reported, he observed a friendly feeling on the part of officials in contrast to the other antagonistic utterances of the German press. The ambassador transmitted some of the editorials.

Decline to Talk.

Officials here continue to decline to discuss the situation to any extent. No answer will be made to Count Bernstorff's note of yesterday until a reply has been received from Berlin to the American note sent through Ambassador Gerard. Both communications will be dealt with in another note from the United States, it was understood, taking up further the question of the war zones and especially the proposal of Germany to strew mines in the new war areas.

Hitherto the United States has declared its inability to make protests against the strewing of mines in the North sea in contravention of international law, because the American government was unable to learn which belligerent was responsible for the act. The announcement of Germany's intention to strew mines, especially if they are floating and not anchored, may reopen the entire question, it was said by some officials, though the administration opinion has not developed finally on that phase of this question.

The whole situation resulting from the diplomatic exchanges with Great Britain as well as Germany was taken up by President Wilson today with Secretary Bryan and later at a cabinet meeting.

BIDS FOR VEHICLE SERVICE ASKED

Bids for the vehicle service for the Duluth postoffice were advertised for today, and Postmaster W. E. McEwen received full instructions from the department at Washington.

The bids will be received under three separate heads: First—screen wagon service alone; second—city delivery and collection service; third—combination bid for screen wagon and city delivery and collection service.

The vehicle service will represent sixty-five trips daily between the postoffice and several stations and include the carrying of mails to and from the Booth docks from May 1 to Dec. 1.

In the parcel post contract the equipment will include one wagon without driver for ten hours a day except Sundays and additional equipment whenever the service requires it.

The screen wagon bid requires a bond of $6,000; parcel post and collections, $600; combination bid, $7,000.

Bids will be sent to the second assistant postmaster general at Washington, D. C., the receipt of which will be acceptable until 4:30 o'clock p. m. April 16. Awards will be made before May 3. The contracts will be for four years beginning July 1.

G. N. EARNINGS SHOW UP WELL

Maintenance and Transportation Costs "Cut to the Bone."

J. J. Hill Looks for Good Spring and Summer Traffic.

The Great Northern Railroad showed net earnings of $7,600,000 for the first six months of the present fiscal year, or within $1,000,000 of covering dividends and miscellaneous depreciation for the entire year. That was in the face, too, of a falling off of $5,630,605 in gross earnings in the half-year.

This result was effected through cutting maintenance and transportation costs to the bone after traffic decreases became the regular thing during the early summer, more than $4,000,000 being saved in the former, and $1,731,193 in the latter department.

James J. Hill says that the physical condition of the road is first-class, but that no "landscape gardening" is being done. It is intimated by the management that maintenance expenditures will be increased this spring, but that the amount of work can easily be cut down below the records of the last three years owing to the splendid condition of the roadbed.

In the opinion of Mr. Hill, business conditions are gradually mending and he looks forward to a fairly good spring and summer traffic. The amount of grain in farmers' hands through Great Northern territory is estimated at 28 or 30 per cent.

According to Chairman Clough, Northern Pacific's business began to improve in January, and further improvement is expected when farmers and others really begin spending the vast amount of new wealth; but he does not expect a boom.

"Our January gross shows much less decrease than December," said Mr. Clough, in the course of a Chicago interview. "Operating conditions are good for the period. We have had much snow but no bad storms. We are gradually reducing expenses and curtailing passenger train mileage consistently. The whole country has too many trains."

Burlington, like Northern Pacific, is said to be in the finest condition. If either buys equipment or rails, it will be in small amounts. The transportation problem is now considered to be how to realize upon enormous outlays. Expenses must bear smaller ratio to earnings.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

HOCKEY CONTEST IS POSTPONED

Bad Weather Spoils Double Bill of Amateur League.

The hockey game between Central high school and the Northerns, scheduled for the French rink last evening, was postponed because of the poor condition of the ice. The Bagley-Two Harbors contest was also called off. The Northerns appeared on the ice and practiced for some time.

Followers of amateur league hockey are waiting with special interest the game of tomorrow evening. The Big Duluths and Northerns will meet. The Roswald matter has made some feeling between the members of the two teams and a real contest is expected. Both of the teams are strong and both want to occupy the front position of the percentage column.

BOWLING

The Moose lodge team made a good showing in the Grand league last evening, winning three games from the Scott-Graffs. The Emeralds won two out of three from the Ormondes.

Y. M. C. A. WILL ENTER TEAMS IN HEXATHLON.

The Duluth Y. M. C. A. athletes are to be represented in the international Hexathlon event. The events will be held in the second and third weeks in March. Local athletes will be entered in the 60-yard potato race, 20-yard potato race, running high jump, fence vault and 12-pound shot put.

Traffic Improving.

Traffic is improving with the Duluth street railway, as shown by the steady gains in gross earnings since the first of the year. For January, the gross was reported at $98,482, or just 2.8 per cent behind the gross of the corresponding month last year. This is the smallest decrease since last October, comparing with decreases of 4.4 per cent in November and 3.3 per cent in December.

For the first week of February, earnings came to $22,473, or just $71 behind last year.

Marquette Baker Dies.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 16.—Alexander Cameron, a baker and well-known resident, who had lived here for the last thirty-one years, died Feb. 14. Mr. Cameron was born in Kirkcady, Scotland, 61 years ago. Besides his wife, a son and three daughters survive. They are: James of Marquette, Mrs. Carl Geisregen and Mrs. W. H. Palmer of Marquette and Mrs. W. G. Hoard of Hawthorne, Wis.

Free Vice Consul.

Rome, Feb. 16.—A telegram from Hodeida, Arabia, says Turkish authorities, acting on the request of the American ambassador at Constantinople, Henry Morgenthau, have freed the French vice consul who had been detained at Sana, 100 miles inland from Hodeida. The vice consul was permitted to return to the coast and was taken away by the French armored cruiser Dupleix.

SCANDINAVIANS WILL SEND NOTE

Will Claim Indemnity From Germany for Any Loss to Shipping.

Stockholm, Feb. 16, via London.—The governments of Sweden, Denmark and Norway, having exchanged views last week, are prepared now to present to Germany a note expressing opinions concerning the safety of neutral shipping in war zone waters identical with those set forth in the American note on this subject.

This communication will claim indemnity for any damage or loss of life resulting from torpedo attacks delivered by German warships, and it will be accompanied by a general declaration protesting against the blockading of British waters.

At the same time a note to Great Britain will express the disapproval of these three powers to the abuse of neutral flags.

HEADACHE, COLD OR SOUR STOMACH, REGULATE YOUR BOWELS--10 CENTS

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache. Cascarets will remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. One taken to-night straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too.

FISHERMEN IN DESPAIR

With County Option and Frog Bill, Bait Would Be Shut Off.

Followers of Ike Walton living in West Duluth are much perturbed.

The cause of their anxiety is the proposed bill to preserve the life of frogs. The frogs, contend the fishermen, are their main standby for bait in the fall and it is claimed that unless a counter bill which would protect other forms of bait during the summer is introduced, that they will have to resort exclusively to the artificial stuff. Between county option and the frog bill, the fishermen are almost in despair at the prospect of a famine in "bait."

RUNAWAY TEAM WRECKS BUILDING

Tears Store Front Out—Tenants and Horses Uninjured.

The entire front of the building at 5510-12 Raleigh street was torn out by a runaway team shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. The team belonging to Roach Bros., West Duluth liverymen, was unscratched in spite of the wreck they caused.

The front lower floor of the building is occupied by a tailor shop and a barber shop and the rear of the building as well as the second floor is used as living quarters. The front, including the casing and part of the foundation under the building, was torn out, the windows smashed, and the building now presents the appearance of having been dynamited.

The team had been standing in the alley in the rear of D. Pitulla's saloon where the driver had been sent to get some furniture that Pitulla intended giving to Mike O'Brien whose place was burned out a few days ago. A piece of flying paper frightened the horses and they dashed across Raleigh street.

After reaching the opposite sidewalk the horses in order to prevent running head first into the building shied off along the sidewalk. The heavy sled slewed sideways and tore the hole in the building. The greater damage was done to the interior of the barber shop, where some looking glasses and bottles were smashed. The barber and tailor both escaped injury.

ILL PASS ON PAYROLLS

New Duluth and Gary Workmen Will Be Paid Off.

The city commission will hold a special meeting this afternoon to pass on the Gary payrolls.

The men at work on the Gary and New Duluth sewer jobs are working for the city and the payroll is made up twice a month.

This morning Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division, motored to New Duluth to inspect the work and make out the payroll preparatory to the council meeting this afternoon.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR FLOODED BASEMENTS.

When a water main in Fifty-sixth avenue west froze and burst on Feb. 14, 1914, it flooded the basements of premises owned by Josephine Carlson Englund at 652 North Fifty-sixth avenue west and Chester W. Poole at 630 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. In district court today, each brought suit to recover $400 and $500, respectively. The city of Duluth is made defendant in the actions.

MURDER MAY BE SEQUEL

Dennis Ftobonis Shot By Companion in Drunken Brawl.

Dennis Ftobonis, age 35, is at St. Mary's hospital, believed to be dying, because of a bullet wound in the region of the right temple, and the police of Superior and Duluth are seeking Dennis Mafredas, 25, who is alleged to have done the shooting during a drunken brawl at the Fulton building, 524 Ogden avenue, this morning. Four companions who were in the room at the time the shooting occurred are being held by the police as witnesses.

No information as to what started the trouble could be obtained from the men, who are unable to speak English. The police were notified immediately following the shooting and Ftobonis was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition.

Duluth police were notified of the shooting and are aiding in the search for Mafredas.

Supervisor Petitions.

Candidates for the office of supervisor from the various districts in Superior must file their petitions before March 15, according to announcement made this morning by R. E. McKeague, city clerk. The primary election will be held on April 6. Each of the candidates must have petitions carrying at least 2 per cent of the voting population of the ward they wish to represent. It is expected that there will be a large list of candidates for the positions this year.

Saloon Keeper Fined.

A. C. Nordstrom, proprietor of a saloon at 317 Tower avenue, paid a fine of $13 for violation of the Sunday closing law. The police arrested Matt Brans, his bartender, Sunday evening as he was seen going into the place in company with several men. In police court Brans said he had gone into the place to look after the fire, but Nordstrom preferred to plead guilty to the charge and pay the fine instead of fighting the case.

Teamsters' Strike Settled.

The strike of twenty-three teamsters employed by the Superior-Duluth Transfer company ended following a conference between the management and the striking teamsters last night. Seventeen of the men returned to work this morning. The differences of the men were adjusted to their satisfaction, according to a statement issued this morning by W. H. McMullen, manager.

Ban on Baby Show.

The proposed baby show to be held in conjunction with the industrial exhibition to be conducted by the Superior Rotary club at the Truax building next week has been abandoned. The directors in charge of the affair decided at a conference held last night that it would be better not to attempt the baby show. The possibility of the babies contracting croup or other ailments from too much exposure was given as the principal reason for abandoning the project.

NOT AN EVIDENCE OF LACK OF CORDIALITY.

Rome, Monday, Feb. 15.—It is explained semi-officially in Vatican circles today that the resignation of Baron D'Erp, the Belgian minister accredited to the Holy See, should not be interpreted as evidence of a lack of cordiality between the church and the Belgian government. Monsignor Tacci the papal nuncio to Belgium, is remaining at his post, while Belgium is sending to Rome to take the place of Baron D'Erp, M. Vandebeuvel, a well known statesman, who is persona grata to the papacy.

Baron D'Erp is advanced in years and it is felt that more could be accomplished in this post by a younger statesman.

HOW TO GET RID OF DYSPEPSIA

Don't Rely on Medicine; Don't Go on Freak Diet; Common Sense and an Antacid Usually All That Are Needed.

"If you have dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching, distress after eating, heartburn or any other stomach trouble due to hyperacidity (the usual cause of stomach troubles), you should take no medicine to act upon the stomach itself. That is positively not the way to cure the trouble. Again, you should not half starve yourself by going without the nutritious food that you need to rebuild waste tissues. Some foods are not good for people even when in perfect health—very rich, sweet, highly seasoned dishes. Avoid these, but eat fairly substantial meals of plain foods. Eat slowly. Even if you drink nothing but water, you should not drink with meals. Drink before and after eating. Do not take pepsin or other artificial digestants. If you follow the foregoing simple instructions it is probable that you will not need any medicine at all except, if you want to call it medicine, a little antacid after meals. The best antacid is ordinary bisurated magnesia, which can be purchased at any drug store. This is not to act upon the stomach, but upon the contents of the stomach. The antacid, as you can learn by consulting your dictionary or encyclopedia, is merely to neutralize or counteract the excess acid so the stomach can digest the food normally. Take a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia in a little cold or hot water after each meal. You should get immediate relief, even if your case is severe. Careful, moderate eating and the use of bisurated magnesia should put your stomach in normal condition in a short time; if you have not allowed dyspepsia to advance to the extreme stage of developing stomach ulcers. —Advertisement.

DULUTH BEST OF THEM ALL

"Y" Secretary Confident of This After Visiting Twenty-Seven Cities.

Inspects Forty-Three "Y" Buildings; Enlargement to Take Place.

After visiting twenty-seven of the leading cities east of Duluth and inquiring into their business condition, Bert Wade, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, declares that the Zenith City is feeling the effects of the war as little or less than any city he has visited. The people of the East are under the impression that Duluth must be in the throes of a big slump because of the war, but Mr. Wade says that this city has less trouble on its hands than almost any of the large cities.

"People of the East think Duluth is dependent almost entirely upon the ore industry," said Mr. Wade, "and they can't realize that other lines of business have been developed to large proportions. The fact is, there are fewer unemployed men and conditions generally are better here than in almost any of the cities I visited."

Mr. Wade and Director McLeod of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. have been on a trip of almost four weeks making a general study of Y. M. C. A.'s. Two things in particular have occupied their time—getting ideas for a new boys' building and providing branch buildings for the general office in West Duluth, the West end and the steel plant district.

Must Have Buildings.

"It is only a question of time," said Mr. Wade, "when these outlying districts must have buildings and be cared for fully. We have studied equipment, construction and general management, in fact every branch of association work as conducted in the best associations of the East. While on our trip we visited twenty-seven cities and forty-three associations. These cities included Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Providence, Washington, Baltimore and others."

As a result of the trip, Mr. Wade may eventually recommend a reorganization of the local office, although the changes are not expected to be very extensive, at least for some time. As he has just returned, he has not had time to work over his material or come to any definite conclusions yet.

The lease on the building now occupied by the boys' department will expire May 1, and after that date the boys will be given temporary quarters at the main building. As soon as possible a new building will be provided.

Mr. Wade was in Chicago two days attending the conference which met to devise methods of preparing young men for association work. Y. M. C. A. work is developing so rapidly, said Mr. Wade, that $200,000 is being spent on an average of every twelve days for buildings, and the demand for high-class employes is growing greater and greater. One new helper daily on the average is required to meet the growing needs. At present the association gets most of its recruits from colleges.

OVERDRAFTS MUST NOT BE GRANTED

Federal Comptroller Gives Instructions to Banks Throughout Country.

The granting of accommodations in the form of overdrafts by banks will no longer be countenanced by the Federal treasury department at Washington, D. C., according to information received by Duluth banks. Local banks have been asked to adopt resolutions directing that no officer or employe of such banks shall pay or charge to the account of any depositor any check of such a depositor when there are not sufficient funds on deposit to the credit of the drawer of the check to meet the same.

The request was made through the Federal comptroller of the currency, who asked also that a copy of the resolutions passed by individual banks be sent to his office, bearing the names of the directors who were present.

The same instructions have been sent to the banking department of the various states, which have agreed to take the necessary action to secure effective co-operation of state banks in attaining the end desired.

GRAND MARAIS INDUSTRY

Box and Keg Factory to Be Started in North Shore Village.

Grand Marais, Minn., Feb. 16.—A. M. Anderson, former cashier of the Cook County State bank, has completed plans for the establishment here of a keg and box factory next spring. The factory will have a capacity of about 300 kegs a day and will give employment to ten or twelve men. Keg-making will be the principal part of the industry, it being the intention to utilize the material not suitable for kegs in the manufacture of boxes. Mr. Anderson is satisfied that prospects for such an industry at this point are good. It is estimated that at least 300,000 kegs are used annually in territory tributary to Duluth, for all of which territory Grand Marais will be a convenient distributing point. There being no such enterprise in all this territory, a condition that at times has caused a shortage in the necessary supply of kegs, it will occupy a field of its own, and in the ordinary course of events should prosper.

WOULD AMEND CONSTITUTION

Wisconsin Legislator Introduces Resolution in Assembly.

Various Measures Presented to the Legislative Bodies.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—A resolution for the calling of a constitutional convention was introduced in the senate today by Senator George B. Skogomo of River Falls. Under the terms of the state Constitution the legislature must approve of this resolution before it can be submitted to the people for approval. If approved at the polls a convention is called, the succeeding legislature prescribing the procedure. Senator Skogomo is prompted in this move by the fact that the state supreme court has recently declared illegal the franchise amendment to the Constitution and the amendment to permit the building of the state forestry reserve. Both of these amendments have been declared legally untenable because not properly recorded in the records of both houses.

The senate adopted the committee's recommendation for indefinite postponement of action relating to any proposed change affecting the teachers' retirement funds law. A bill providing for one central polling place in fourth-class cities was passed.

Bills Introduced.

Senate bills include: By Scott, woman suffrage for presidential electors; Culbertson, providing a method by which commission governed cities may return to the old form by a majority vote.

Assembly bills include: By Nelson, to repeal the law providing for a committee on uniform legislation; Engebretson, increasing the appropriation for hog cholera serum to $2,000 annually for two years; Hedding, to have the commissioner of insurance make an investigation of old age pensions.

The assembly resolution limiting legislative sessions to ninety days was killed, 48 to 39. The bill to repeal state aid to county fairs also was killed.

Bradley offered a bill repealing the entire state board of agriculture law and its appropriation. It is understood he will offer a bill creating a new department in its place.

DEATH DUE TO OLD AGE.

J. R. Allen Passes Away at the Home of His Son.

Following an illness of about two weeks, J. R. Allen, age 83, died at 8:30 a. m. today at the home of his son, Frank N. Allen, 522½ East Third street. Death was due to old age.

Mr. Allen has been a resident of Duluth for about four years, coming here from Milwaukee to make his home with his son. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella G. Minard of Springfield, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Rice of Chicago, Ill., in addition to his son.

Funeral services will be held from the Allen residence Wednesday at 2 p. m., with interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

DIES BEFORE HIS WILL CAN BE MADE

Benjamin Wark Succumbs as Attorney Enters the Room.

Defeated by the Grim Reaper, Benjamin Wark, 59, died at St. Mary's hospital last night just as his attorney entered the room to help him in making out his last will and testament. Property valued at upwards of $3,000 is included in the estate left by the deceased, who had been a resident of Duluth for nearly twenty years.

After a serious illness, followed by a difficult operation, Wark believed that he had recovered sufficiently to consult a lawyer, and sent for Attorney James Courtney last night. Just as the lawyer entered the room ..... fell back on his pillow, and died.

Wark had been employed as a hotel clerk in Duluth for several years, but recently had been doing clerical work in a lumber camp. Funeral services will be held from Crawford's undertaking rooms at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Lillian Shaw of Carlyle, N. B., and five brothers. The brothers are Douglas of Port Arthur, Ont., and Daniel, Isaac, Joshua and Thomas, all of Andover, N. B. Mrs. Douglas Wark of Port Arthur reached Duluth before the death of her brother-in-law.

SOUGHT WORK; IS ARRESTED

Healthy Young Austrian Giant Victim of Meanest Man.

Escaped From Canada and Informer Tells the Police.

Desire to avoid work often brings a man into police court, but it is seldom that a person, through his desire to get an honest "job" and keep it, comes in contact with the guardians of the law.

Frank Sakuski, aged 22, a clear-eyed, healthy, young Austrian giant, came here from Port Arthur, Ont., several days ago, in response to a letter from a friend in Duluth, which said that he could secure work in this city or in a lumber camp near here.

He was unfortunate in his acquaintances here, and as a result he faces a trip back to Canada, and perhaps imprisonment. Inspired by jealousy, or, police think, purely for "meanness," a lodger at the Bethel who had overheard Sakuski, in his boyish way, telling of his work in Canada, telephoned headquarters and informed the police that there was a man there who had escaped from Canada.

When the police investigated they found that Sakuski was the man thus designated, and there was nothing for them to do but to arrest him and hold him for the immigration officials on a charge of violating the immigration laws.

Because Austria is at war with Great Britain, this smiling, ambitious young man cannot pursue his work without being molested, but must go back to Canada. He does not understand why he is being held, and says he merely got on the train at Port Arthur and came to Duluth.

"No one said anything to me, or tried to stop me," he said. "I knew I could get work in Duluth, and so I came here."

Whether or not Sakuski must be deported will be decided by local immigration officials. Inspector Brown McDonald stated this morning that he would start an investigation of the case today.

In the meantime Sakuski has asked his friends to keep their eyes open and let him know as soon as they find a job for him, so that he can earn some money and live as other "Americans" do.

TURKS TO SATISFY GREEKS' DEMANDS

Cannot Afford to Add Greece to List of Enemies.

Rome, Monday, Feb. 15.—Private dispatches received here from Athens say the impression prevails there that Turkey will satisfy the demands made on her by Greece following the alleged insult to an attache of the Greek legation at Constantinople. It is argued that Turkey cannot afford at the present time to add Greece to the number of her enemies, particularly in view of the fact that she knows Greece is ready to enter at once upon a campaign to redeem the lands inhabited by Greece still under Turkish control.

A dispatch received in London yesterday from Athens said the Greek minister at Constantinople had left the Turkish capital, leaving his secretary of legation in charge, because of the insult offered a Greek attache. The porte had promised satisfaction but was slow in carrying out its agreement.

ANALYZES DEMANDS OF THE ENGINEMEN.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—A. W. Trenholm, the last of the witnesses for the Western railroads in the wage arbitration hearing, began an analysis of the demands of the enginemen today. Mr. Trenholm, who is general manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad and chairman of the committee of general managers which has been working on the wage question for more than a year, is the chief of witnesses for the employers. As he proposes to discuss in detail each of the sixteen demands made by the men he will be on the stand a week or more.

RELENTS AFTER LONG WALK THROUGH SNOW.

Schafer, N. D., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—After walking twelve miles through the snow to make a complaint against her husband who had threatened her life, the wife of a well known farmer in this county relented and decided to give him another chance. After she had made about half the trip her husband overtook the woman with his team and tried unsuccessfully to persuade her to return but she was obdurate and also refused to ride with him even when he finally agreed if she really had to make the complaint that he would take her to town.

On arrival her his pledges of better behavior in the future finally won her forgiveness and they returned to the farm.

CHANGING THE CITY CHARTER

Special Committee of Commission Begins Preparing Amendments.

Chairman Hudson Names Men Who Will Frame Questions.

Active work on the proposed charter amendments to be voted on at the coming spring election will be started this afternoon.

T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission, has announced the complete personel of the special committee to go over the amendments already proposed, pick out those more desirable at this time and prepare them in legal form for a vote by the general charter commission. H. H. Phelps, John G. Williams, City Attorney Harvey Clapp, J. H. Crowley and T. W. Hugo comprise this committee together with Mr. Hudson, who is chairman. Mr. Hudson announced this morning that this committee will meet o'clock this afternoon in his office in the Lonsdale building.

Five amendments have been proposed to the charter commission. These will be reviewed and, as far as is known at present, at least two will be prepared for submission to the voters at the election on April 6. They include the one to increase the unadvertised purchase limit by the city council from $100 to $500 and another which makes it more costly to take an appeal from improvement assessments.

Mr. Hudson announced that this special committee will have two or three meetings during the next few days and that as soon as the amendments are prepared, the general charter commission will be called together for a final meeting. At that time the amendments submitted by the committee will be acted on finally and they will then be presented to the city commissioners for approval.

The proposed amendments to the city charter follow:

The raising of the purchase limit to $500.

Changing the charter so that a property owner, who appeals from an assessment, would be compelled to pay interest on it while in the courts and also the 10-per-cent penalty, in case he loses.

Amending section 38 to extend assessments where the amount exceeds $25 for each 3,500 square feet of property benefited by an improvement, so that property owners will be able to pay in annual installments, with additional 7 per cent interest.

Changing the personnel of the board of review acting on tax matters, so that the city assessor would be included in the body instead of the city clerk.

Giving power to the city commission to appraise property damaged for proposed improvements.

JUDGE UNNEUTRAL.

Said to Have Referred to Dropping Bombs on Kaiser.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Charges by the German-American alliance and the German Historical society of Toledo that Federal Judge John M. Killits delivered an unneutral speech recently declaring he "did not care how soon someone dropped a thousand bombs on Emperor William's head," were referred today by President Wilson to the department of justice.

Officials pointed out, however, that neither the president nor the department has authority to censure a Federal judge; that power is reserved to congress.

URGES USE OF CORN BREAD

Would Check Advance in Bakers' Prices, Says Dr. Webster.

Bakers Declare Consumers Would Not Eat the Corn Product.

As a means of combating the high price of bread, Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department, yesterday, suggested that Duluthians use corn bread.

"The nutritive value of corn bread," said Dr. Webster, "is almost as great as that of the wheat, while in many instances it is even more digestive. I do not know about the practical baking questions involved, but the general use of this bread, I should imagine, would greatly reduce the high cost of living. Flour has gone up at a rapid rate, and consequently bakers are compelled either to raise the price of bread or reduce the size of loaves."

On the other hand, local bakers say that the public will not eat corn bread and that to make it would be of no use.

Duluth bakers are now paying $7.20 a barrel for flour as compared with $3.80 a year ago, making an advance of $3.40. On the 10-cent loaves the bakers say they make but little, while they declare they lose money by making the small 5-cent loaf.

A campaign to make bread with a corn meal mixture to reduce the cost is now being waged in Chicago and several other Eastern cities, Dr. Webster said.

GAVE MILLION TO CHILDREN

State May Levy Tax on Joseph Sellwood's Ante-Mortem Gifts.

Inventory of Estate Shows Additional Property Worth $830,000.

Whether the state of Minnesota will wage a fight in the courts to levy and collect an inheritance tax on ante-mortem gifts of the late Joseph Sellwood, Duluth banker and mining magnate to two of his children, amounting to nearly $1,000,000, will be decided upon by the attorney general's office within the next few weeks, according to William J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general in charge of inheritance tax matters. Mr. Stevenson was in Duluth yesterday to attend a preliminary hearing in the matter of determining the tax to be paid by the Sellwood heirs on their inheritances.

Capt. Sellwood died at his home in Duluth Feb. 25, 1914. An inventory of his estate disclosed real and personal property appraised at $830,229.68, which is admitted by the executors, Richard M. Sellwood, La Rue S. Mershon and R. J. McLeod, to be subject to an inheritance tax. In addition, stocks and securities claimed to be owned jointly by Richard M. Sellwood and his sister, Mrs. Mershon, are listed at $930,444.30. The last named amount was claimed by Mrs. Ophelia S. Leithhead, daughter of Capt. Sellwood, who contested the will a few months ago, to belong to the estate.

In view of the position taken by Mrs. Leithhead at the time of her contest against the will, the stocks and securities in dispute were placed in the hands of A. M. Chisholm, special administrator of the estate, as an evidence of good faith but under the claim of ownership therein by Richard M. Sellwood and Mrs. Mershon. When special administration of the estate was wound up, Mr. Chisholm turned all of the property over to the executors of the estate. At the time of Capt. Sellwood's death the stocks and securities were contained in a safety deposit box at the City National bank.

First Hearing Held.
It was understood several months ago, at the time Mrs. Leithhead was waging her contest, that the state would probably attempt to collect from the Sellwood heirs a much larger tax than the late Capt. Sellwood evidently intended should be paid. The attorney general's office has kept in close touch with affairs of the estate since the contest proceedings and yesterday afternoon before Judge Gilpin the first hearing on this particular phase of the case was held.

The fight on the inheritance tax will hinge on the question of whether the securities listed at $910,444.30, ante-mortem gifts of Capt. Sellwood to his son, Richard M. Sellwood, and daughter, Mrs. La Rue S. Mershon, are subject to an inheritance tax or not. Yesterday afternoon both heirs took the stand in probate court and gave testimony as to how they came by the property in dispute. Charles O. Baldwin of Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes, attorneys for the executors, appeared on behalf of Mr. Sellwood and his sister and Mr. Stevenson represented the state.

The assistant attorney general secured considerable data from the proceedings and within a short time it will be decided whether or not the claim will be asserted by the attorney general's office that either the gifts which Capt. Sellwood made to his children before he died were made in contemplation of death and are, therefore, subject to the same tax as an inheritance would be, or that the property in dispute had only been set aside for his children and that the absolute ownership of the securities did not pass to them until his death.

Box No. 350.
At the time of the contest it was developed that the securities in dispute were contained in a certain safety deposit box, No. 350, at the City National bank, and that he retained a key to the box in his possession.

At the contest hearing Mrs. Mershon testified that no other person except Capt. Sellwood and herself had access to the box. After her father died, she said, she turned the key formerly carried by her father over to her brother, Richard.

The box was also spoken of by her brother, Richard, at the contest hearing, but he did not state what its contents were. He testified that he claimed a joint ownership of its contents with his sister, Mrs. Mershon. Later Mrs. Mershon testified that the box was held in her name and that during the lifetime of her father, he was her deputy and that after his death she made her brother, Richard, her deputy. She testified that she could not tell what the contents of the box were, although she could name some of the stocks and securities. When asked to fix the date when she and her brother came into ownership of the contents, she testified that it was some time between Dec. 26 and Dec. 31, 1912.

Contents of Box.
Securities inventoried at more than $25,000, which were contained in the box, were:

60 bonds M. A. Hanna Dock company	$ 60,950.00

Stock Adriatic Mining company	50,000.00

Several notes given by L. W. Leithhead, son-in-law of the late Capt. Sellwood, are listed as of no value whatever. A number of other notes are listed as of no value.

Two contests were brought against the will of the late Capt. Sellwood a few months ago, one by his widow, Martha M. Sellwood, and the other by his daughter, Mrs. Leithhead. Both were finally adjusted out of court, the terms of the settlement in each case not being made public. Mrs. Sellwood contested on the grounds that an ante-nuptial agreement referred to in the last will was void inasmuch as it deprived her of her statutory one-third interest in the estate. No bequest was made for Mrs. Leithhead in the will and she contested on the grounds that her brother Richard and sister, Mrs. Mershon, had conspired and used undue influence to have her father cut her off from any part of the estate by his will.

BAIL IS FORFEITED.

Emery Salyards Will Lose $500 Posted With Court.

On motion of County Attorney Warren E. Greene this morning, Judge Fesler of the district court ordered forfeited to the state the $500 bail posted by Emery Salyards, known also as Charles L. Thomas and by other aliases, when he secured his liberty after having been held to the January grand jury on a charge of forgery. Judge Dancer fixed Salyards' bail at $500 which was readily furnished. Salyards handed over the cash and later disappeared. A few days after leaving Duluth he went south and cashed a check at Birmingham, Ala., for $850. Several years ago he escaped from the Walla Walla penitentiary in Washington. He was arrested in Alabama and will probably be returned to the Walla Walla prison officials.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment consisting of grain tablets can be obtained and taken without the knowledge of any one. If the reader has any of the symptoms, and decides to try it just go to any large well stocked drug store and ask for three-grain Cadomene Tablets, and then take according to the directions which accompany each sealed tube. The tonic-invigorating power is soon felt and the joy of a healthy body experienced. These tablets, originally dispensed by prominent physicians and pharmacists, now are packed with full directions for self administration, so that it is wholly unnecessary to pay a physician for prescribing them.—Advertisement.

SOCIAL WORKERS DISCUSS LAWS

Recommend Bill for One Day of Rest in Seven.

Miss Edna G. Meeker, secretary of the Duluth Associated Charities, returned this morning from Minneapolis, where yesterday she attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Minnesota committee on social legislation, which held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Minneapolis Athletic club. R. D. McKercher, agent for the Duluth Humane society, the only other Duluth member of the executive committee, could not be present.

Miss Meeker declared that various matters pertaining to pending legislation were discussed and that it was the sense of the gathering that the work of the legislature be closely watched to prevent any unwise legislation from being passed as well as to encourage needed legislation.

One bill was recommended to the legislature for passage. It is a bill to promote public health by providing for one day of rest in seven for employes in certain employments. The bill will be introduced in the legislature within a short time.

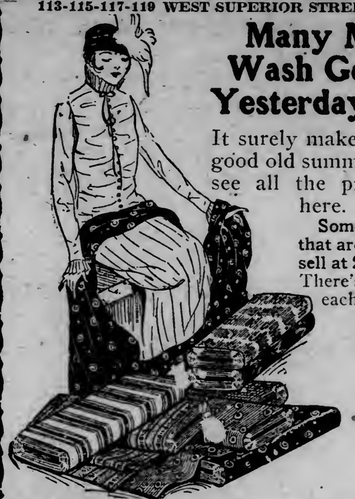

The committee will also recommend the passage of a bill for an act to promote child welfare by the appointment of a commission by the governor to revise, consolidate and suggest amendments to laws pertaining to children. The bill provides for the appointment of seven commissioners to unify and consolidate the present laws pertaining to illegitimate, defective, neglected, dependent and delinquent children, and to their treatment, care, maintenance, custody, control, protection and reformation.

It is also proposed that the commission shall draw bills for such amendments and for such additional laws as will bring the statute laws of the state into harmony with the best thought on this subject. It also carries $5,000 appropriation for the two years. The bill has been strongly indorsed by Judge E. F. Waite of Minneapolis, who is in charge of juvenile court work there.

Duluth's representatives on the committee consist of the following organizations: Associated Charities, department of public welfare, Humane society, juvenile court, St. Anthony's guild, St. Luke's hospital and the Vigilance society.

AWAIT INDICATION OF BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Administration officials today awaited with the keenest interest an indication of Great Britain's attitude toward Germany's proposal, made through the United States, to drop her plan to destroy enemy merchant ships by a submarine and sea mine campaign in British waters if Great Britain would permit food cargoes to pass unmolested to the German civilian population.

The situation, already complicated, developed a new phase with the announcement yesterday in the house of commons by Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, that Great Britain is considering even more stringent measures to prevent Germany from receiving food supplies from other countries.

One Mexican Arrested.
Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 16.—Juan Gonzales, the Mexican who is believed by the authorities to have shot and killed Thomas Ring, city detective, in Omaha a week ago, and Joe Contano, his companion, were found by railroad detectives at the home of a Mexican section hand at Norfolk Junction early today. Contano was arrested but Gonzales, after a running fight, made his escape.

PICKETS NOW SAY "PLEASE"

Union Men Use Polite Methods in Fighting Theaters.

Police Refuse to Interfere So Long as Unions Obey Laws.

Strikes and violence are so closely associated in the minds of the average American citizen, that people would be surprised to learn of strikers who say "Please" and tip their hats, when on picket duty. A "strike" has been going on in Duluth for more than a month, and tactics of this kind have featured the struggle since its inception, according to police.

"Movie" patrons, and particularly those who are in the habit of patronizing one of two prominent theaters in the center of the city, probably have been approached by the "strikers."

"Please do not patronize the Rex or Lyric theaters," say the men, as they approach every person who they believe to be headed for the showhouse. "They are unfair to union labor and we ask you to stay away."

"Many people do turn around and go away," said one of the strikers yesterday, "and it isn't always the working man, either. I have been surprised, on several occasions, to find well dressed business men, with their wives, listen to my plea and turn back. One time a man drove up in a limousine, and then drove away again, nodding to me, with a smile, as he did it."

But not all of those approached heed the request. Many pay no attention to the pickets.

Other pickets, acting as "sandwich" men, walk up and down in front of the two picture houses, carrying signs which ask people to stay away.

Police have been asked to stop this picketing by members of the Rotary club, and other delegations of business men, but Chief of Police C. H. Troyer has ruled that nothing can be done with the pickets, as long as they obey the law.

Thomas Furniss, proprietor of the theaters, claims that the union musicians and operators walked out because he insisted on retaining a trusted employe whom they would not take into their union, while the strikers have made a series of counter claims, alleging discrimination.

WEST END

WILL PLAN FOR MIDSUMMER'S DAY

Swedish-American League Will Hold Preliminary Meeting Soon.

The annual meeting of the Swedish-American National league will be held on Monday evening, March 1, at Bachelors' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, according to announcement made this morning, by O. W. Olson, president of the organization. The league will reorganize and make plans for holding its annual mid-summer's celebration to be held on June 24.

Eight Swedish societies will participate in the celebration. Each of these societies will have a committee of five of its members on the membership of the league. These forty members will comprise the league which will prepare the plans for the festival.

The societies to be represented are the Swedish Sons Lodge, No. 170, Vasa Order; Fridhem Lodge No. 43, Independent Order of Svithoid, North Star Lodge No. 11, I. O. G. T., Svea Glee club, S. H. & E. F., West Duluth Lodge No. 243, Vasa Order, Lodge No. 255, Vasa Order, and the Zenith City band.

The present officers of the league are O. W. Olson, president; Jacob Granlund, vice president; J. O. Larson, secretary, and Charles Boostrom, treasurer.

GIRLS! HAVE BEAUTIFUL, LUSTROUS, FLUFFY HAIR---25 CENT DANDERINE

No More Dandruff or Falling Hair—A Real Surprise Awaits You.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearness of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and luster and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

CHEAPER TO BUY BREAD THAN BAKE.

"It is cheaper for the housewife to buy bread than to bake it herself, with the present high flour prices, according to Harry W. Zinsmaster, general manager of the Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company.

"An increase in the price of bread," said Mr. Zinsmaster, "is not contemplated unless flour soars to a much greater price than now. The advance to 12 cents a loaf, which has occurred in some cities, is not probable in Duluth."

Mr. Zinsmaster attributes the high price of flour to speculation in wheat and to that entirely.

SAYS DEAF OPPOSE IT

President of National Association Attacks Day School Idea.

Says the State School Has 1,500 Self-Supporting Graduates.

Jay Cooke Howard, president of the National Association of the Deaf and chairman of the committee on legislation for the Minnesota Association of the Deaf, is bitterly opposed to the bill to establish classes for deaf children in the public schools.

Mr. Howard prepared the following statement for The Herald today:

"The Herald last evening contained a report that Representatives North of Duluth and Konzen of Hallock were to introduce a bill in the house that would provide for the establishment of classes for deaf children in public schools. This is the old "Day School for the Deaf" idea that has on three different occasions made its appearance before the legislature of this state. Each time it has been defeated.

"These gentlemen are members of a committee of three who were appointed to investigate certain charges of mismanagement at the school for the deaf at Faribault. They have spent something like a week investigating these charges. It is safe to say that these gentlemen knew absolutely nothing about the deaf or their education when they were appointed to this committee. They were not selected because they possessed any expert knowledge in educational matters, but to settle a matter of right or wrong. They were 'Noble Knights' sent forth to succor the afflicted. If the report that they have introduced such a bill is true, from investigating a question of right and wrong they have taken a header into the educational system of the state in so far as it pertains to the education of the deaf, and in one short week of 'off and on' investigation they have presumed to a knowledge of the education of the deaf that men who have devoted a lifetime to the subject would hardly claim. From 'Knights of Succor' they have felt their importance, astride their high committee charger, couched their lances and blindly charged, knowing they were going somewhere, but not knowing where. The result is that they are endeavoring to spit the poor devils they were sent forth to succor.

Will Do Wrong.

"They have introduced a bill that, if it becomes a law, will do the deaf children of the state a great and irreparable wrong and waste the substance of the state.

"Granting, for the sake of argument, that there have been some abuses at the school for the deaf, and that the management is not what it should be, the school nevertheless represents the gist of fifty years of earnest effort by the best and noblest men God ever sent to this mundane sphere. Properly managed the school has, for fifty years, been turning out citizens who have been a credit to the state. Of the 1,500 or so of graduates of this school, not one is in a custodial institution, not one is dependent upon others for support. The school has provided the best of moral, mental and physical training for the deaf children of the state. It represents an investment to the state of some hundreds of thousands of dollars. Our Noble Knights of Succor would virtually deprive the deaf children of the state of this priceless boon and would destroy the value of the property of the state. This is just what their pernicious day school bill would do. It would transfer the education of the deaf from a large, well-equipped central school that should be, if it is not now, under the management of experts, providing every facility for the education of the deaf, to small and ineffective classes scattered throughout the state in public schools. Proper grading would be impossible, good teachers impossible to procure, and the result would be the introduction of the prenicious oral method, a method narrow and limited, but adapted to 'make a show.'

"The argument in support of this bill is that with proper care, many deaf children may be cured before reaching the age of 10 years. This savors of quackery and is, on the face of it, absurd and foolish. Does anyone with any sense suppose that expert educators of the deaf at large state schools do not know better how and have better apparatus for developing any latent hearing in deaf children than even the most enlightened of parents, to say nothing of illiterate immigrants who use their bath tubs for coal bins?

"This committee was appointed to ascertain if abuses existed at the school and to offer recommendations for their remedy in the event they were found. If they confined themselves to their duty, well and good. They should not make bad matters worse by introducing the pernicious day school idea into the state of Minnesota. Verily, a little knowledge is a dangerous thing when a legislator gets hold of it. In one short week these estimable gentlemen feel themselves competent to pass upon matters pertaining to the education of the deaf. Fools tramp in with hobnails where angels fear to tread. Men who have devoted a life time to the education of the deaf denounce this idea. The educated deaf, the country over, than whom there should be no more competent judges, look upon this day school proposition as the invention of the devil."

EXPERT TESTIMONY CALLED SCANDAL

Physicians Say Evidence on Insanity Has Passed Joke Stage.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Expert testimony in insanity cases has passed beyond a joke to a scandal, according to physicians at the eleventh annual conference of the American Medical association in adopting a bill they will seek to have introduced in each state legislature. The purpose of the measure will be to discontinue the present tendency of experts to voice opinions favorable to whichever side of the case may be their employer. The bill would have from one to three experts summoned by the court and paid by the state.

"The results of expert witnesses have shown that the problems presented either go beyond the knowledge of the experts or these experts do not voice their own opinions," said Judge Albert C. Barnes of the appellate court here. "The alienist is usually brought in where the use of the insanity plea is really an appeal to the unwritten law. It would be better for both doctors and lawyers not to have such a defense, than your profession and mine should enter into a conspiracy against the truth."

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, anl all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequaled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

FINAL RITES FOR PIONEER

Board of Trade Closes in Honor of Late George Spencer.

Last respects were paid to George Spencer, pioneer Duluthian, who for forty years was closely identified with the civic and industrial advancement of the city, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The funeral services were held from the family home, 2230 East Third street, and interment was in Forest Hill cemetery.

As tribute to a man who was the second president of their organization, and responsible in many ways for its growth, members of the Board of Trade adjourned at 12 o'clock today. Mr. Spencer served three terms as president, being head of the organization when the present Board of Trade building was started. He was president of the Consolidated Elevator company at the time of his death.

He was prominently connected with various civic boards and directorates in Duluth, being at different times a member of the water and light board, the board of education and the library board.

In the list of pallbearers are names of several men who have helped make history in Minnesota's grain trade, as did Mr. Spencer. They are: Watson S. Moore, Howard A. Starkey, George Barnum, Ward Ames, Jr., Harvey P. Smith and H. L. Hartley.

Mr. Spencer is survived by a widow, one son, G. Herbert Spencer, and two daughters, Mrs. Heber L. Hartley and Mrs. A. M. Miller, Jr., all of whom live in Duluth. G. H. Spencer is vice president of the Consolidated Elevator company.

Woman's Realm

At the Matinee Musicale program given yesterday afternoon at Pilgrim Congregational church, Mrs. Catherine Morton Elliott at the first piano and Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Dworshak at the second piano, played Saint Saens variations of a theme of Beethoven. In addition to the pleasure derived from the perfectly played number was that due to Mrs. Elliott's activity in the club after an absence of several years from the city.

Miss Berta Schmied gave Oscar Wilde's legend, "The Selfish Giant," to a musical setting by Liza Lehman. This number was a new and unusual form on Matinee Musicale programs and was given with charm and expression.

Miss Florence Hyland's soprano solos were Raff's "Lorelei," La Forge's "May's Coming," Worden's "Till I Wake," a berceuse by Chaminade, and "Ecstasy" by Rummel. Mrs. Dworshak's accompaniments formed a pleasing background for Miss Hyland's enjoyable voice.

Before the program Mrs. George S. Richards announced that all members of the Matinee Musicale are welcome at meetings of the study class, and that at the next meeting of the class, Monday afternoon, Feb 22, Ernest Lachmund will speak on prominent composers.

Yesterday afternoon's program was arranged by Miss Carlotta Simonds.

"The Signs of the Times."

E. Y. Blum, an attorney of Kansas City, formerly with the United States department of justice and now a lecturer for the Theosophical society, will give a free lecture this evening at 8 o'clock on "The Signs of the Times," at the public library. The lecture will be under the auspices of the local Theosophical society.

Mr. Blum was formerly a newspaper reporter and has first-hand knowledge of the problems that confront the thinking man of today. He is president of the Western Federation of Theosophical Societies, president of the Kansas City Theosophical society and is widely known in Kansas City as a reform politician. He is a lecturer and writer of wide experience, and is thoroughly conversant with his subject. In his lecture, "The Signs of the Times," he traces the history of the different races and shows how and why it is that divine impulses, in the nature of religions, are given to the people. He thinks that a new race is forming in this country and shows the basis for this belief and why it is that he believes a new religious impulse is about to be given to the people in America.

Schulte-Mayer.

Miss Josephine Schulte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schulte, and Alfred Mayer were married last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the parsonage of St. James' Catholic church by Rev. D. W. Lynch.

After a short trip to the Twin Cities Mr. and Mrs. Mayer will make their home at 2812 Huron street.

HOLD BARTON BLAMELESS

Baldwins Refuse to Accept Resignation Following Marriage Annulment Suit—New Leading Woman Arrives.

The marriage annulment suit filed by Lola May (Mrs. Homer Barton) against her husband, will not result in the latter leaving Duluth and terminating his engagement with the Duluth Baldwin Players.

It was announced from the Lyceum stage last evening that Mr. Barton would remain with the company during the spring and summer. The announcement was greeted with applause.

"When the suit was first filed," said Mr. Baldwin this morning, "Mr. Barton turned in his resignation. He knew my father's ideas on notoriety of this kind, and while he felt he was innocent of any wrong-doing, he wanted us to be free to act as we felt best. Of course we do not presume to pass on who is in the right or who is in the wrong in the case—that is for the courts to decide—but we do feel that Mr. Barton is innocent of any wrongdoing, and that he has acted honorably throughout. We therefore refused to accept his resignation and engaged him for the spring and summer, indefinitely. In justice to Mr. Barton, who has keenly felt all the notoriety he has received, I feel I ought to make this statement. Whatever the legal points are, we feel that he has nothing to be ashamed of, and that there is no reason why he should leave the company or Duluth."

The new leading woman will be Miss Doris Olsson of Boston, who has been leading woman with the Castle Square company, the oldest stock company in America. She will make her first appearance Sunday afternoon, having arrived today. The engagement of Miss Dorothy Shoemaker and her husband, Louis Leon Hall, will terminate Saturday afternoon.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Gum Chewing Is Disgusting.

The gum chewing habit is one that has been ascribed to Americans, and especially the American woman. I had believed that the newspaper notoriety, together with the jocose paragraphs and illustrations that have appeared at intervals had in a measure succeeded in curtailing the practice. But much to my surprise two women who sat opposite me in a street car were industriously chewing gum. One of these women was apparently married and very neatly dressed and the other appeared to be a maiden lady of perhaps middle age. At first I thought that I had made a mistake, for the gum chewing had moderated considerably and was hardly distinguishable. This I learned afterwards was to give them a chance to exchange a few words with each other, for in a few minutes they were hard at work at it again. There was no mistaking that this was gum chewing at its worst.

Since that day I have kept my eyes open for just this thing and I do not know whether it was because I was on the alert for it that I found it, or because it is as commonly practised among all classes as it has ever been, but I do know that there has been much of it. I have observed among other things that among men, tobacco chewers are more leisurely in their mastication. Gum chewers work their jaws rapidly until exhausted, then relax until rested sufficiently to start over again.

Some have excused themselves on the ground that chewing gum aids digestion. They have even stated that doctors have recommended that they chew gum for that very purpose. If this is true, my advise to those who must chew to benefit their health is that they do it in the privacy of their homes and not on the streets and in public conveyances, or anywhere where they will be seen. It is not particularly pleasing to see a woman who is otherwise attractive making her mouth go as fast as she is able.

Aside from the spectacle one makes of herself chewing gum, the habit has a deteriorating effect upon the looks which women, who are endeavoring to preserve what they have, fail to take into consideration. Those who chew gum and are at the same time making a frantic attempt to massage away the lines that appear about the mouth might as well cease their endevors, unless they are willing to forego the gum. Ordinary eating at specified times produces those lines only too soon, and this gum habit, at a rate that is truly astonishing. Both for appearance sake and to prevent the lines that are supposed to tell of age, desist from this disgusting practice.

LADIES' HAND BAGS

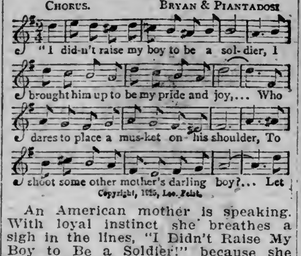

A SONG AIMED TO CHECK WARFARE

Expressions of an American Mother on Modern Conflicts.

A philanthropical New York man has just put out a song which is the mirror of a mother's heart. Eliminating the commercial element, he has primarily issued it to render a national service, and, if possible, to end the horrors of warfare. Two clever writers, Al Bryan and A. Piantadosi, were engaged to construct the song. Here is a part of the chorus:

I Didn't Raise My Boy To Be A Soldier

CHORUS. BRYAN & PIANTADOSI

Copyright, 1915, Lee-Feist.

An American mother is speaking. With loyal instinct she breathes a sigh in the lines, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier!" because she knoweth full well that a soldier's lot is to kill—or die. The beauty of the thought is so apparent and the music so skillfully woven that the song is achieving a popularity second to no other musical work written within a century.

Vaudeville Program.

"Winnie, the Winsome Waitress," was presented last evening at the vaudeville show given by Duluth council No. 3, Modern Samaritans at their lodgerooms in the Temple building. The farce was given by the Samaritan Glee club, composed of Charles Ashby, director; J. A. McLaughlin, Lloyd Mabrey, Leo Hubbard, William Culligan, E. H. Fray, John Howard, Merrill Merritt and S. E. Keillor.

Other numbers on the program were a recital by the Samaritan Glee club, musical specialty, John Howard; athletic specialty, Barry Brothers, tenor solo, M. H. Baker of Toronto.

This evening Duluth council No. 3 will be entertained by the Arnold council at their hall at Arnold.

Langstaff-Hanson.

Miss Mary Agnes Langstaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Langstaff, and Joseph Hanson were married last evening at their future home, 2013½ West Third street, by Rev. H. A. Ostlie of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Johnbrow, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the attendants.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding supper for twenty-five.

The out-of-town guests were Miss Effie Brotherton of Spokane, Wash., Otto Famaker of Minneapolis, Otto F. Bridge of Chicago and Fred C. Hanson of Chicago, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will make their home in Duluth after April 1.

Lodge Notes.

Central Link lodge of Odd Fellows entertained West Duluth lodge, No. 168, superior lodge and Duluth lodge, No. 28, last evening. The West Duluth lodge conferred the second degree.

PENNY LUNCHES TO BEGIN

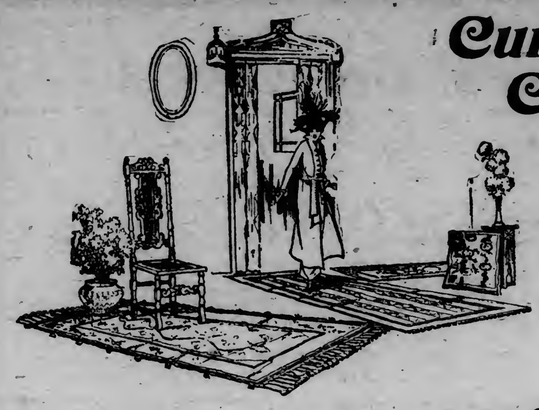

Woman's Council Committee Considering Plans for Initial Station at School in Western End of City.

A meeting is being held this afternoon at the public library by a committee from the Woman's council, at which time the matter of serving penny lunches to school children will be definitely settled upon. It has already been determined that a start will be made, but the meeting of this afternoon will take the matter up in detail.

Mrs. J. T. Watson of the committee having the matter in charge, said today that the district in which the work will be started has practically been decided upon, but she refused to announce it until the committee will have acted today. The district in mind is in the western end of the city and investigation has shown that there are twenty children there who will be greatly helped by the serving of penny lunches. As in the plan followed elsewhere in this movement, the fact that a child that is needy has not the necessary penny will not bar it from having a warm lunch.

The matter was brought before the committee on schools of the board of education at a meeting held last week. The committee favored the movement, but expressed the belief that the lunches should not be served in the school buildings. The committee of the Woman's council will, therefore, engage a building near the schools so served, at which the lunches will be given out.

The opening of the lunchroom in the district being considered is merely a beginning. As it is found feasible, and the various school districts are investigated and the needs determined, the penny lunch service will be extended.

AT THE GRAND.

New Bill Shows Marked Improvement Over Last Week's.

The new show that opened at the Grand yesterday was a marked improvement over that of last week, especially in the vaudeville numbers. The whole bill for the first half of this week is one of real merit, and a rare offering at popular prices.

The Four Society Girls, well gowned and attractive, top the bill with a repertoire of popular songs. The quartet is full of ginger and enthusiasm every minute, and they will undoubtedly become popular favorites during their engagement here.

The Snyders opened the show in a number of the late dances. They are both graceful and clever and presented well such dances as the foxtrot, tango, maxixe and others.

Gardner and Revere are the big comedy hit of the show. Mr. Gardner does the main part of the acting, and he is remarkably clever with his dancing and chatter. His one musical number was the best part of the act. Miss Revere is clever especially in her comedy dancing with Gardner.

Heras and Preston have a gymnastic and acrobatic turn that is somewhat out of the ordinary. They appear in street costumes and their comedy is more wholesome than that of the usual run of acrobats.

"The Shanghaied Baby," a three-reel film drama, is the star film attraction. The cast is excellent throughout, and the story is full of pathos and heart interest. The last of the series of pictures featuring Mabel Trunnelle is shown. This time in "Olive's Greatest Opportunity," in which the madcap gypsy and her millionaire lover are married after a long-drawn-out series of difficulties. A comedy and a travel picture round out the bill.

A Successful Debut.

"An Extraordinary Session," a playlet of which the versatile A. F. M. Custance is the author, was produced last night at the Lyceum as a curtain-raiser by the Lambs' club of the Central high school. The playlet was a hit from start to finish, and was one of the funniest things seen on the Lyceum stage in a long time. It was produced by the cast of high school pupils which put it on at the school some time ago. The goings-on in a darkey lodge in the South form the basis of the act. Irving Grover as a delegate from Duluth appears and tells of the delights of this city, and around this circumstance the playlet is built. Many local hits are featured.

Last night was benefit night for the Lambs' club, and the affair will be repeated next Tuesday night, because of the fact that several hundred were unable to gain admission.

A Clever Comedienne.

One of the cleverest comediennes of the vaudeville stage is Miss Lulu McConnell, who is at the Orpheum this week. Miss McConnell has been seen previously at the Orpheum, and she is an old favorite with the regular patrons.

The plot of her playlet is original and presents some strong comedy situations. The wife (Miss McConnell) and the husband (Grant Simpson), and the husband's brother (Laurence Simpson) are a wrangling trio, with the brother, a star boarder, as the bone of contention. Everything ends in a jangle and their poverty (all being players out of work) helps to keep their tempers warm. Finally they get a contract, and they decide, after considerable quarreling, to rehearse them and there. Their rehearsal is one of the funniest parts of their act, which ends with a touch of tragedy.

Latest Dance Steps.

New York's latest dances are a distinct feature in "The Man Who Owns Broadway," the opening show of the Manhattan Stock company players at the New Empress theater.

Hudson Freeborn, director of the company and one of the principals, with the assistance of Miss Hazel Kingdon, presents the latest dances as executed by the dancing notables at the New York Winter Garden. These include the trot, the Castle canter and hesitation waltzes.

In addition, these latest dances are part of a specialty number showing "The Evolution of Dancing." The number opens with a beautiful minuet by two young women dressed in the fashion of '76, then comes the waltz and two-step, later the buck and wing dances so popular on the American stage in recent years and finally the latest ballroom steps.

The present production will continue throughout the week, with one performance each evening and a matinee next Saturday afternoon. On Sunday afternoon the players will open in "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," another George Cohan success.

An Ancient Custom.

Frank Powell in producing "The Children of the Ghetto," the William Fox production of Israel Zangwill's masterpiece, which is at the Rex, after he himself got accustomed to seeing people walk through the scenes with their hats on had a difficult time teaching this Jewish custom to some of the supers—who although all Ghetto types insisted on paying him the deference of removing their hats in his presence. Mr. Powell was curious to learn why religious Jews kept their hats on at all. After due inquiry he was told of the origin of the custom.

It seems that in ancient Egypt water was scarce. People washed but seldom. The unsanitary prehistoric houses were infested with vermin. The Jews therefore regarded it as a sacrilege to pray to God and be in the presence of God in the temples with uncovered heads. The ancient custom has been adhered to like a good many other customs, although the original cause for the practice has long since been removed. This explanation is of course interesting "if true."

NEW JERSEY TO VOTE ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 16.—The senate today passed the woman suffrage amendment to the state constitution, 17 to 4.

The house passed the resolution two weeks ago and both houses having acted favorably on the resolution last year, the question will be submitted to the voters for acceptance or rejection in September next.

Only One Case Exists.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—As far as known only one case of foot and mouth disease exists in Wisconsin, and that was communicated from Illinois sources as a result of lax and dilatory official action in that state, according to Wisconsin officials.

Quick, Safe Way to Remove Hairs

(Toilet Talks)

Keep a little delatone powder on your dressing table when ugly, hairy growth appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.—Advertisement.

GEORGE SPENCER.

Few men have had more to do with the building up of Duluth's immense grain trade than did George Spencer, who was laid to rest today. It was his privilege to be among the first to be associated with the early efforts to bring this line of commerce to the Head of the Lakes, and his interest in that work and the effectiveness of his efforts never flagged. Nor was his a purely theoretical effort to encourage others. He devoted his personal efforts and his personal wealth to the tasks he found at hand, and never grudged either in the launching or development of new and greater enterprises.

Mr. Spencer's standing and ability were recognized by his associates when he became a charter member of the Duluth Board of Trade, and later was elected to the presidency of that body. His term as president covered a period when commercial affairs were under severe strain, but he measured up to the demands of the position, as indeed he has to those of every position he has held.

Mr. Spencer took an active interest in everything pertaining to the welfare of Duluth, and performed invaluable service on the public library and school boards and the water and light commission. The example and effort of such men does not stop with the death of the individual, and the work which George Spencer helped to put on a sound basis will feel the result of his efforts as long as the city stands at the Head of the Lakes.

It is asserted that "every tenth Briton has enlisted, every tenth Frenchman is at the front, and every tenth Belgian is dead." And judging from the activity of various submarines in the war, there must be still another submerged tenth.

VOTE IT DOWN.

Tomorrow the Vermilya bill repealing the Elwell road law will come up in the senate as a special order, for final action. The senate should vote it down.

One of the great difficulties in securing statutes governing road work in any state is to get something that will operate when the people want it to operate, but that will not serve to burden them with undesired and undesirable expense just to gratify a whim or the desire of somebody with an ax to grind. This difficulty is met by the Elwell law, and the counties that have invoked this statute have made no complaint regarding it. Furthermore, the counties that have not cared to invoke it have not been burdened or annoyed by it.

Meanwhile its operation has made possible many improvements in roads that would have been impossible had it not been for this law. So why repeal it, especially when there is nothing even equally valuable to take its place? The senate will do well to vote down the Vermilya bill. It may become advisable sometime to change a law, but it is not advisable to wipe out a statute that has proved as valuable as this has and leave us without such aid as it gives.

Alaska's mines last year produced nineteen million dollars and its fisheries produced twenty-three millions. Maybe we'll have to revise the original estimate about those who go down to the sea in ships.

THE COUNTRY TEACHERS.

According to a statement attributed to H. B. Hursch, assistant county superintendent, the teachers in the rural schools of St. Louis county are better equipped and more efficient than those in a majority of the counties throughout the state. To support this, Mr. Hursch gives statistics on the grades of certificates held and the number of normal school and high school graduates.

It is matter for congratulation that the country schools are so well supplied in the way of teachers. A good deal of fun is poked at the country school, in one way or another; but it is a fact that the teacher in that institution has more opportunities to exert a personal influence and to make her work count with individuals than is often the case in the city schools. And so St. Louis county has a right to find satisfaction in the statement that her rural teachers are of unusually high class.

Of course there is this to remember—that possession of a high school or normal school diploma does not make a good teacher out of a person with little or no adaptability to that work. It is nothing but prima facie evidence that the person holding it has done a certain amount of work under others who held similar evidence regarding their own accomplishments. There has been criticism at times of the preparation of teachers in normal schools, on the ground that they were taught to try to make all minds and all individuals conform to a certain standard—something that the "born" teacher never tries to do unless compelled by circumstances to submit to a system that requires that effort.

But given natural ability to teach, the preparatory work necessary to secure these diplomas means just that much training for the teacher, that much better fitting for the work. Mr. Hursch is in a position to judge the work of the rural teachers, and it is gratifying to know that he rates those of our own county so high.

The fact that with all that racket in Europe, Spain could find time to pay any attention to Mexico, is likely to swell the Mexican head a trifle more.

WILL THE WORLD REMEMBER?

It didn't need any report from the Rockefeller commission to show that war is terrible and that the present war is perhaps the most terrible of all. Authenticated reports from the scenes where the armies are face to face and from the places that have been swept by the cross-fire of the contending forces have made a deep impression on the minds of the present generation. Still, it is interesting to note the account of the situation in only one of the fields of the war as it is reported by the Rockefeller foundation commission. According to the Associated Press:

> The report details how means of transportation, communication and banking have been destroyed, commerce and industry paralyzed, homes and other buildings laid low, the agricultural districts devastated and the food supply virtually cut off.

The report includes the statement that the population of Belgium has been reduced more than eight per cent, and that five per cent of the remainder are in Holland and another hundred thousand in England. Of the condition of those still in Belgium it says:

> We found people living in cellars under the ruins of the homes, in lofts over the cow stalls, and saw children that had been born in hen coops and pig stys.

Such scenes as these men do not forget, when they have once seen them. But not many of all the inhabitants of the world will actually see this sufferig and want, however vividly they may be described. The world will hear and shudder. But will the world remember? Will the impression and the knowledge become so firmly imbedded in the minds of the people that they will remember these things the next time war-breeding conditions arise?

It has been proposed that history be recorded on moving picture films. It might be well to have a set of films made of such scenes as those described by these investigators, and labeled "what war means," and kept in every country for public display whenever attempts are made to arouse the people to the point of war.

Congressman Hobson soon is to retire. Japanese papers, please copy, with appropriate warnings.

SUGGESTION FOR THE DRAMA.

It is said that every man thinks he could write a successful play, so here goes for a sample:

Scene—Legislative hall in the Illinois capitol.

Time—Opening of any regular session of the lower house.

Chairman (rapping with gavel)—Gentlemen, you will please come to order. (The members become quiet and take their seats.) Gentlemen, we will proceed to elect a speaker. Are there any nominations ready?

Jones of Chicago—Mr. Chairman.

Chairman—Mr. Jones.

Jones—Mr. Chairman, I nominate Mr. Richard Roe of East St. Louis.

Chairman—Are there any other nominations?

(A moment of silence, during which some members look bored.)

Chairman—If not, I declare the nominations closed. All in favor of Richard Roe of East St. Louis for speaker respond by saying "Yea."

All together—Yea.

Chairman—Opposed, "Nay."

(Silence while the clerk can count ten.)

Chairman—I declare Mr. Roe unanimously elected speaker of this house. Mr. Roe will please take the chair.

This is respectfully submitted to whatever burlesque company is anxious to make the hit of the season.

People are starving in Poland, and now it is proposed to give them a king. If he's big enough to go around he may prove to be the most popular ruler in Europe.

As the French Sing "Tipperary."

Andre Fretin, a lively Gaul, has contributed to a London paper the following translation of a widely known song:

Longue est la route de Tipperary,
Longue pour y aller;
Longue est la route de Tipperary,
Ou demeura ma bien-aimee.
Au r'voir, Piccadilly,
Adieu, Leicester Square,
Longue, longue est la route de Tipperary,
Mais la-bas est mon coeur.

A Glance Backward

By Savoyard.

Washington, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is now thirty-five years ago since I first made acquaintance with this town. R. B. Hayes was then president, "Great Fraud" as we then called him, and it was the most tranquil and the most successful administration the country has known since Monroe. It is curious—that here was the only man whose title to the office was disputed, and yet his regime can point to more triumphs than that of Grant, of Garfield and Arthur, of McKinley, of Roosevelt, of Taft.

It was when Hayes was president that the bayonet was taken from the South; it was when Hayes was president that resumption of specie payments was had. Seemingly it had more difficulties to surmount than any other, for it was the only administration of our history that was confronted with an adverse majority in the house of representatives every moment of its existence, and in the Forty-sixth congress both houses were Democratic.

I lay it to John Sherman. He was not nearly so great a man as Abraham Lincoln, but when the slavery question had yielded the center of the stage to economics, John Sherman was the first Republican you can name—greater than Fessenden, or Blaine, or Conkling, or Allison, or any of the rest. It is true that Shermanism gave place to Aldrichism, and that fact twice elected Cleveland and once elected Wilson president of the United States.

Sherman would have succeeded to the presidency in 1880 if James G. Blaine had not known that in the White House John Sherman would not have a master as James A. Garfield had. And he would have got it anyhow if the devoted 306 who stood by Grant to the end for one moment had contemplated a second choice. To me it has always been a greater political wonder that John Sherman did not reach the presidency than that Clay, or Blaine, failed in that ambition. He was so admirably fitted for the office in every way—except his abominable politics!

As I stepped across the threshold of the capitol edifice today the reflection came that not one senator or member is here today whom I saw in the two houses just thirty-five years ago. Here are some of the men who sat in the Forty-sixth congress from Ohio—Ben Butterworth, John A. McMahon, Frank Hurd, James A. Garfield, Ezra B. Taylor, Thomas Ewing and William McKinley. Another Ohio member subsequently became speaker of the house. Yet another did Sam Randall's dirty work in the Forty-ninth congress. It was the ablest delegation that ever sat in any congress from any state.

Kentucky then had but ten seats. John G. Carlisle disputed with James A. Garfield for first mind of the body. J. Proctor Knott disputed with John Randolph Tucker for accomplishment in the erudition of the law, and James A. McKenzie disputed with Frank Hurd for first place among the orators of the house. Joe Blackburn had the most magnificent voice of any member.

Indiana had a very strong delegation—Bicknell, Browne, Cobb, De La Matyr, New and Calkins among them. From Illinois were Morrison, Stevenson, Springer and Cannon. James B. Weaver was from Iowa, and except Tom Ewing, about the handsomest chap—for looks—in the house. Jim Bedford, "the red-headed rooster of the Rockies," was from Colorado, the breeziest man then living. Old Joe Hawley was from Connecticut, and if I had space I could tell you the best joke in the world about him and "Sunset" Cox.

Georgia attracted much notice. There was Alexander H. Stephens, a wonderful man. Associate with him were Phil Cook, a wag in Proctor Knott's class, Hammond, Felton, Speer and Blount. There was recalcitrancy in Georgia then, Democratically speaking. And durned if I ever intend to compliment another Georgian, unless it be Father Adamson, after the miserable exploit of Tom Hardwick against Woodrow Wilson the other day. And to think—they allowed Jim Clarke to lead 'em! Jim Clarke, that Ed Carmack branded!

Texas then had but six seats in the house, but she had Mills, Reagan, Wilborn and old Dave Culberson to occupy them. Massachusetts had only one very superior representative, George D. Robinson, who later, to the joy of all decent men, beat old Ben Butler for re-election to the governorship of the old Bay state. If space allowed I might tell you a good story about Robinson and George Tillman of South Carolina that tickled the house one day.

In that congress Nelson W. Aldrich was a rather obscure member from Rhode Island. Few thought that in later day this man would become the law-giver of our republic for at least a quarter of a century.

Will take a glance at the senate—1879-81—in my next.

A Royal Romance Blighted.

William Armstrong in McCall's Magazine: By far the saddest wreck of a royal romance which the war has wrought is that of Prince Heinrich of Bavaria and the beautiful young grand duchess of Luxembourg.

In the boyhood of the prince, they played together at her father's summer castle in Bavaria. She was but 20 years old last June; all their brief lives the two have loved each other. Now, Luxembourg bears strong dislike to Germany, whom it mistrusts, clinging instead to its near neighbors, Belgium and France. Even before hostilities broke out, knowledge of national distaste to such a marriage for their sovereign grand duchess, the youngest ruler in the world, prevented any word of a projected engagement with Prince Heinrich from being mentioned officially.

Then came the oversetting of Luxembourg's neutrality, when the German armies crossed its territory on the way to Belgium and France. The land was completely spared, and a sum paid to compensate for food and provender exacted. But the sting remained with the people. To make matters worse, Prince Heinrich fought as officer in the German forces, fought so gallantly that he is regarded as a hero by Bavaria and throughout the empire. This does not recompense the lonely little grand duchess, reigning in solitary state, separated now, most likely for all the years to come, from the sweetheart of her childhood.

Why Frenchmen Are Small.

Dr. C. W. Saleeby in the Youth's Companion: If a conqueror wants tall men to fight for him he gets them, and they die for him. But whether he wins or loses, he cannot expect the next generation to be so tall; and they are not. Napoleon only three generations ago wanted and used the biggest and strongest men, and they fought and died for him. Later, Michelet, the great French historian, declared that by his wars Napoleon has taken almost five inches from the stature of the French people. Observers in France today are noting how small are the French soldiers compared with the Germans and the British.

The Foe That Robs Us of Our Eyesight

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

I met and dined the other evening with one corps of a grand army of engineers. This particular section of the army is fighting a foe that stealthily robs from us our eyesight.

This pernicious enemy doesn't march with bands of music nor flying flags, but it assails the human race from a thousand angles. It attacks the helpless baby in its crib, nudges the elbow of almost every school boy and girl, crouches over the desk of over half the workers, stands with poised weapon over a large portion of factory and mill hands, and even crowds in beside you as you lounge in your easiest chair before the evening fire.

"Three minutes with its face toward the bright sun may easily impair a baby's eyes for life," said Mr. Bond, who is a soldier in that army I have mentioned.

The foe this army is fighting is bad lighting and unnecessary glare—the glare of glazed paper, polished desks, smooth tabletops, unshaded lamps; in fact, it is fighting too much as well as too little light, but, most of all, poorly-placed light. This army that is doing the fighting is technically known as the Illuminating Engineering society.

Business men can measure exactly the value of good lights. The Westinghouse and General Electric company proved that the wages paid to a man for six minutes each day is sufficient to pay for efficient lighting for him to work by. Yet in these very plants—my information comes from one of their own engineers—under the old system of poor lights men would waste the equivalent of an hour's labor every day.

Hence the result: Bad lights cost the employer one hour's wages, while good lights cost the employer only six minutes in wages. In one big plant poor lighting cost $10,000 a month, until a young engineer showed how good lights would stop that leak.

"Properly placed lights and properly shaded lights," Mr. Horner of the New York Shipbuilding company in Camden told me, "are of immense service in this safety first campaign. A treacherous shadow and a dangerous corner make a fine combination for an accident."

The illuminating engineers in this town do not stop with their work in office and factory. School buildings, the home, the church, the club and the printing press are all fields for their activity.

"If a light is so bright," one of these experts explained, "that after looking at it and when you close your eyes the impression remains there, your eye has been injured to some extent. It has been proved that such an imprint of the sun may continue half a day, proving the terrible peril in exposing children's eyes to that direct glare."

Count the men and women wearing glasses and the number appalls you. Too highly glazed pages of books, unshaded lamps and unprotected electric lights in cars, homes and schools have aided enormously the business of the optician. But among the illuminating engineers who are fighting the glare foe I find some distinguished oculists and eye specialists.

If these men thought only of their own purse they would advise all of us to go ahead in the old and badly-lighted fashion.

It requires exactly 100 typewritten pages to transcribe the Pennsylvania laws dealing with the question of light. Not one word in those 100 pages about a standard of light.

We are told to have this and that and the other "properly" illuminated, but we are not told how good or bad "properly" may be. If an ignoramus school board wishes to ruin the eyes of forty pupils with misplaced windows there is no law to check it.

It is easy to get too much light. Mr. Markle, the Willow Grove electrician, says that 8-candle power were substituted for 16-candle power lamps for decorative purposes at that park. The bigger lamps made too much light. Better to have double the number of smaller ones.

And Mr. Markle must know, for he has to look after more than 40,000 lights at Willow Grove. Yes, these illuminating engineers are doing a fine, big job. I suggest for them the motto:

Save the Eye!

The Mule and the Ox

Current Opinion: David Gibson of Cleveland, says:

"If you have anybody working for you and they lie down on their job, don't fire them at once—just call them in and tell this story:

"'Down in Virginia a farmer had an ox and a mule that he hitched together to a plow. One night after several days of continuous plowing, and after the ox and mule had been stabled and provendered for the night, the ox said to the mule: "We've been workin' pretty hard, let's play off sick tomorrow and lie here in the stalls all day."

"'"You can if you want to," returned the mule, "but I believe I'll go to work."

"'So the next morning when the farmer came out the ox played off sick; the farmer bedded him down with clean straw, gave him fresh hay, a bucket of oats and bran mixed, left him for the day and went forth alone with the mule to plow. All that day the ox lay in his stall, chewed his cud and nodded, slowly blinked his eyes and gently swished his tail. That night, when the mule came in, the ox asked how they got along plowing alone all day. "Well," said the mule, "it was hard and we didn't get much done, and—"

"'"Did the old man have anything to say about me?" interrupted the ox. "No," said the mule.

"'"Well, then," went on the on, "I believe I'll play off again tomorrow; it was certainly fine lying here all day and resting." "That's up to you," said the mule, "but I'll go out and plow." So the next day the ox played off again, was bedded down with clean straw, provendered with hay, bran and oats, and lay all day nodding, blinking, chewing his cud and gently swishing his tail.

"'When the mule came in at night the ox asked again how they got along without him. "About the same as yesterday," replied the mule, coldly. "Did the old man have anything to say about me?" again inquired the ox. "No," replied the mule, "not to me, but he did have a long talk with the butcher on the way home."'"

"Cheer."

Being a bird with a broken wing
I can only keep close to the ground and sing.
My soul is sad, yet my song is gay,
For I would cheer others upon their way.

Not all can soar, full many must creep,
And often the road is jagged and steep;
Ears may be stopped from long-borne pain;
Lips closed too tightly to sing again;
Eyes become blind from blur of tears
But as long as the heart beats on, it hears.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Chilton of West Virginia was presiding, for the nonce, over the United States senate in the absence of Vice President Marshall, who had stepped out into the lobby to take a few quiet, thoughtful puffs at a 5-cent cigar.

Senators Thomas of Colorado and Vardaman of Mississippi, both Democrats, arose simultaneously, each earnestly desiring to say something and demanding recognition.

If one had stood up a second or two sooner than the other, the decision would have been easy. But as they had arisen very much at once, Chilton faced a problem in deciding which one to recognize. Finally he said:

"The gentleman from Mississippi," and Vardaman went ahead with the remarks he desired to get off his chest.

After Chilton had stepped down from the chair a friend suggested:

"That must have been a trying moment when two senators got up at the same time. How did you decide between Thomas and Vardaman?"

"Well," replied Chilton, "I found myself in practically the same position as the preacher who desired a second wife after his first one died. He had always preached against second marriages, but he was obliged to renege on this, and one day he asked from the pulpit how many women in the congregation would be willing to marry him. Two got up, one an exceptionally handsome woman, and the other not so handsome. They arose simultaneously just as the two senators did today. The preacher turned to the handsomer of the two and said, 'I believe you got up first.'

"I thought of that today," explained Chilton, after he had finished his little parable, "and so I recognized Vardaman because it seemed to me that he was, perhaps, the handsomest."

When the fight in the senate on the president's purchase bill first reached the acute stage, Senator James of Kentucky, so the story is, began to send S. O. S. telegrams to his colleague, Senator Camden, who had been called back to Kentucky. James urged Camden to forsake all and hasten to Washington to vote on the bill. When Camden didn't come rapidy enough James went to the sergeant-at-arms and insisted that he send a man, if need be, and fetch Camden here. Later on James learned what he had not known before, that his colleague was against the bill, and that Camden's arrival added one more vote to the other side. As it turned out, the bitterest remarks made in the debate on the measure were those that James directed against Camden.

Then there was the case of a certain senator who said that he could not be in Washington at the time of the most heated part of the fight on the ship bill because of illness. One of the leaders of his side telegraphed him to make his way back to Washington, but he wrote a letter telling about his symptoms and showing conclusively that it would be impossible for him to leave his bed under at least a fortnight. Then several other members wired the member, berating him for his absence, and he came back to Washington after all. He got there on the same train that bore his letter showing how utterly impossible it would be to leave his bed for a fortnight.

Tom Heflin, the Alabama congressman, who allows no man to excel him in zeal at opposing the cause of woman suffrage, sums up the situation thusly:

"I do not feel," says he, "that women should allow themselves to be dragged into politics, but I nevertheless concede this much: They comprise a great little sex."

The Anglo-Saxon Myth

Springfield Republican: The Anglo-Saxon myth appears to be vanishing with surprising suddenness in the shock of war. Englishmen are now well satisfied to call themselves Britons and make haste to renounce their cousinship with the Germans. Soon we may hear that the people of Britain are mainly Celtic—already stress is being put upon the Celtic foundation, and efforts are made to minimize the Teutonic element. All this is a curious reaction from the ideals fostered in England as in Germany by the philological and historical cult of the nineteenth century. For a time an almost sacred importance was attached to what was called the Anglo-Saxon heritage, and an absurd effort was made to purge the English language of the Romance element by which it had come in the most legitimate way and the possession of which gave it peculiar splendor. Now that the French are allies, the Latin element is in high favor, and pity is expressed for the barbarous Germans who were unlucky enough not to be conquered by the Romans and brought into the civilized world in good season. Even anthropology is pressed into service, and one writer is thankful that nowhere in Britain can be found the mighty domed head, the "professor head" of which Germans are proud. This is not quite true; there are localities in England, specially on the east coast, where scientists find examples of what they call the Saxon type. But in general the British are like the French, a mixed race, and the relation to Germans is less close than is sometimes fancied. In Germany the majority are of the broadheaded "Alpine" type; the Teutonic element in England is almost entirely of the long-headed sea-faring type, not very essentially different whether it came direct from Scandinavia, from Denmark, from Saxony, or from Scandinavia by way of Normandy. All these are more alike than the long-headed Teutons are like the broadheads, an inland race with very different physique and mentality, and the common element from the Baltic and the North sea does not suffice to make the German and British peoples much alike. Both have earnestness and stability, but physiologically as well as historically, the differences are considerable. In ability neither can claim superiority, but ability may take very different forms—the "professor head" is one of them.

Disappointment at Front.

Tit-Bits: The mails from home had just been received by a certain regiment. Not only were there letters, but many parcels from relatives and friends at home for lucky soldiers. One of the Tommies received a large box addressed to himself, and with a triumphant yell he rushed off to his company's lines and gathered them around him to share in the eagerly anticipated contents of his box.

"Smokes, lads!" he cried, as he undid the wrapping. "From the old man. I knows it. An' there's sure to be a bottle or two of Scotch."

He opened the box, gave one look at the contents, and collapsed in a heap.

"What is it?" cried his comrades, pressing around.

"It's from Ole Auntie Mary," groaned the disappointed warrior. "Bandages an' ointment an' embrocation an' splints, an' a book on 'Ow to be yer own surgin'!"

First Non-Partisan State Legislature

Suggestions and Comments From the State Press.

Has Right Idea.

Tower News: Representative Searls of Carlton has the right idea. We have always advocated that a land speculator who holds his lands until some farmer comes alongside him and digs out a home and then adds another five an acre to his holdings, is enttitled to help the farmer pay his taxes. The farmer by his industry is taxed according to it. The land speculator pulls his feet down off the top of his rolltop desk and makes a thousand or so clean dollars simply by the scratch of a pen. He creates a value he had no hand in producing. A twist of the wrist and the deed is done. Not so with the homesteader. The speculator should be taxed according to the price he puts on his land. He ought to be square with the man who makes the speculators' land more valuable.

Easy to Talk; Now Act.

Mankato Free Press: The tax-paying public is keeping a sharp eye on the Minnesota legislature to see if that body will carry out the promises of "economy in the expenditure of the people's money" that were so eloquently and forcefully made by candidates for the senate and house during the late campaign. It is one of the easy things to do—talk economy—but it is rather a difficult matter for everyone to practice the art of holding tight the purse strings when the public's money is so near at hand and the barrel can be tapped with one fell stroke of the extravagance hammer.

Hope Springs Eternal.

Le Sueur News: Apparently this non-partisan legislature is just like other bodies that came before it, and called themselves partisan. It is made up of politicians, business men, grandstand players, grafters and pinheads. There are not many of either of the two last mentioned classes in the present body, if we may judge from the work to date, but it crops out in leg-pulling and narrow-minded bills introduced from time to time. But a healthful sign is apparent. More real business men from the shops and farms are being elected year after year to the law-making element, and more friends of the people are thus found in the non-partisan legislature than usual.

Northern Minnesota Wants It.

Virginia Enterprise: Northern Minnesota does not want to see the Elwell road law repealed as is proposed by pending legislation at St. Paul. The Elwell road law was one of the most progressive development measures ever put in the statute books as it affected the northern section of this state. It permitted of highway construction and financing under a fair plan and afforded an opportunity for the state to financially assist in its own upbuilding through the construction of more and better highways. Itasca county and the considerable development that has been witnessed there during the last five years is a good example of what the Elwell law means to Northern Minnesota. It will be a mistake for the legislature to repeal this measure. It is closely related in its general plan to the program of state development which has been so much advocated here for the past few years and its repeal will be unfortunate if the opposition to it develops sufficient strength to accomplish it.

Dunn Law Good, Too.

Park Rapids Journal: Good roads is the greatest need of Northern Minnesota, and if the Dunn road law is left alone we will have a system of good roads in a few years.

Slap at Improvement.

Bemidji Pioneer: It has been brought out at public hearings on the measure that Southern Minnesota favors the repeal of the Elwell law, claiming that it is too arbitrary and grants too great latitude. On the other hand, Northern Minnesota, generally, is in favor of the Elwell law, and to repeal it would be a direct slap at the campaign which is being made for better roads and new settlers in this section.

Expected to Make Good.

Aurora News: Economy and efficiency made quite a hit during the last campaign, but if some of the present members of the legislature do not get some efficiency into their system soon it will have an empty ring next time. The people expect to see the state government reorganized along business lines and it makes no difference whose toes are stepped on in doing it.

A Suggestion.

Red Wing Eagle: A bill has been introduced providing that the legislature meet only once in four years. If it were amended so as to provide that the members were to draw pay only while in session most of us outsiders would heartily favor the measure.

Why Psalm Twenty-Three Is a Favorite.

This psalm is a favorite because old and young, the joyous and the sorrowing, find in it something that touches the heart. The human soul in its best moods feels that the utmost it can do is to follow God; it, therefore, appreciates the figure of God being a shepherd. A distinguished college president once said: "There is only one thing a sheep can do well, and that is to follow. You can teach a dog tricks; you can teach other animals to do clever things; but sheep can only follow. That is why Jesus calls us sheep. If we can do nothing else, and just have sense enough to follow him, we need fear no evil."

From Endeavorer's Daily Companion: John xiv is the favorite chapter of the New Testament, and perhaps of the Bible. It is the chapter of peace and plenty, like the Twenty-third psalm.

I. Cor. xiii is the favorite chapter of Paul's letters, because of its beautiful style, and because it gives the best picture of the ideal character.

Rev. xxi is a favorite chapter, because it gives the most delightful view of heaven, and of the glorified earth.

Isa. liii is one of the best loved of all Bible chapters, because it gives the most wonderful portrait of our Savior.

Heb. xi is a most inspiring chapter, filled as it is with marvelous little pictures of the world's greatest heroes.

Prov. viii is a wonderful portrayal of wisdom, the fundamental quality of life.

Jas. i is a favorite chapter because it is so full of sensible advice about the conduct of life.

Ps. xc is a glorious panorama of life and death, admired for its beauty and revered for its wisdom.

The Proper Tense.

Tit-Bits: Teacher—The sentence, "My father had money," is in the past tense. Now, Mary, what tense would you be speaking in if you said, "My father has money?"

Little Mary—Oh, that would be pretense.

Hint to the Swain.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A young lady who had accidentally cut the point of her index finger with a chopper was coming from church with her finger bandaged.

"What's the matter wi' yer haun', Miss Parrish?" queried an admirer who accompanied her home.

"Oh," replied the young lady, "I chopped a wee bit off my forefinger." The young man looked sentimental and blurted out: "Oh, how I wish I had that wee bit!"

To which the young lady naively responded, "Would ye no raither hae the bit that's left?"

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 500 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

LAND OPENINGS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly tell me through the Open Court when the land is to be opened for claims in North Dakota and where it is located, also where could I get full information for filing, etc?

Thanking you for any help you can give me, I remain yours sincerely,

SPOTS ON CARDS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Some few evenings ago there appeared in the Open Court the statement that there are 365 spots on a deck of cards, and, having heard this statement many times before, I wish some Open Courtites would show me how it is figured. My figures are as follows: From 1 to 10 spots totals 55; 3 court cards with two spots each makes the total 61 for one suit, for four suits, 244. Now if we count the index spots (52 cards with two index spots each) that brings the grand total up to 348. Where do the other 17 come from? JOKER.

INTEREST CHARGES.

To The Editor of The Herald:

Will the Editor or some of the readers of The Herald kindly inform me, through the columns of the Open Court, in regard to the following question?

According to law, what is the maximum per cent per month allowed pawnbrokers on diamonds, watches or other personal property?

Thanking you in advance for the information, I am, yours respectfully,

Duluth, Feb. 12. E. B. L.

On pledge loans pawnbrokers may charge 1 per cent a month.—The Editor.

HAD LINCOLN LIVED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

After reading your editorial in the issue of Feb. 12, entitled "If Lincoln Lived," in which you state "we wonder what he would think of it all if he could be amongst us," inspired me to send you the following statement: In 1863 Lincoln said: "I see in the near future a crisis approaching that unnerves me, and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war corporations have been enthroned, and an era of corruption in high places will follow, and the money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working up the prejudices of the people until all the wealth is aggregated in a few hands, and the republic is destroyed."

Labor is prior to and independent of capital. The effort to place capital upon an equal footing with labor means the return of despotism.

I also want to compliment the Rev. Armstrong of the Congregational church of Superior, Wis., who last Sunday gave a sermon on Lincoln in which he stated "If Lincoln should be amongst us he would be a Socialist." I think the Socialists are fighting the dangers which Lincoln mentioned of in 1863 and I trust that there will be more ministers who will agree with the Rev. Armstrong and that those who do will not be afraid to speak their convictions. It is hard to follow the narrow path. Thanking you for publishing this in your Open Court column, I am,

AMERICA'S DEBTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you be so kind as to inform me through the Open Court if the United States government owes Great Britain $5,000,000,000? O. J-g.

Duluth, Feb. 15.

The United States government does not owe Great Britain anything. You have probably become confused by the statement that many million dollars worth of American securities, such as stocks and bonds, are owned abroad by private investors and when these owners are forced by the war to sell, the securities must be bought in America if the market is to be supported.—The Editor.

OPPOSED TO PLAN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice a proposed plan to enlarge the city commission from five to eight members, three of them to be advisers without pay. As an ordinary citizen I believe it would be better if we increased the number of commissioners to cut the salary from $4,000 to $2,500 for each member. I am bitterly opposed to free boards or parts of the same. Money is a stimulus to all humans. If some of our enterprising rich men of the East end would help to put more money and less brains into city affairs and start manufacturing, in less than five years we would double our population and Duluth would boost itself. Today our people are struggling under heavy taxation. Our working people, some of them upon reduced time, others on a cut salary trying to keep the wolf from the door. Advice is a good thing but money well applied is better.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poem:

"The Yellow Rose of Texas," from Mrs. J. Cuskey of Spooner, Wis.

"The Yellow Rose of Texas."

There's a yellow rose in Texas
That I am going to see;
No other darkey knows her,
No darkey only me.
She cried so when I left her,
It like to broke my heart,
And if I ever find her,
We never more will part.

Chorus.

She's the sweetest rose of color
This darkey ever knew;
Her eyes are bright as diamonds,
They sparkle like the dew.
You may talk about your "Dearest May,"
And sing of "Rosa Lee,"
But the yellow rose of Texas
Beats the "Belles of Tennessee."

Where the Rio Grande is flowing,
And the starry skies are bright,
She walks along the river
In the quiet summer night;
She thinks if I remember
When we parted long ago,
I promised to come back again
And not to leave her so.

Oh, now I'm going to find her,
For my heart is full of woe,
And we'll sing the songs together
That we sung so long ago;
We'll play the banjo gaily,
And we'll sing the songs of yore;
And the yellow rose of Texas
Shall be mine forevermore.

A HOME MADE COUGH SYRUP CHEAP

Easily Made and Guaranteed

The difference in buying one of the most efficient, latest and up-to-date cough and cold remedies (which can be made at home), and buying the old, ordinary, ready-made kinds, is that with the new one you get all pure medicine, instead of buying a large proportion of sugar and water, besides paying for bottles, corks and labels; and it usually requires 2 to 3 bottles of the old-fashioned, ready-made remedies to break up a cough or cold, while 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's new Concentrated Expectorant, which is so strongly concentrated that 2 ounces, when mixed at home with simply one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water, makes a full pint (16 ounces) of excellent cough remedy, and will be sufficient to probably last the whole family the entire winter. It positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics, and is so pleasant that children like to take it. It is altogether different from all the other medicines. Arrangements have been made with the Lyceum Pharmacy to refund the money to any person who finds it does not give perfect satisfaction, or if it is not found the very best remedy ever used for coughs, colds, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and hoarseness. In fact, any druggist of this city will sell it under the same guarantee. You will be the sole judge, and under the positive guarantee by these druggists, absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. R. J. Schiffmann, Prop., St. Paul, Minn. (55)

Too Tired to Sleep

IT is a familiar expression, among women particularly, but it isn't quite accurate. What the "dog tired" person intends to say is, "I am finding rest, repose, so satisfying that I don't need to sleep just now." For it is a fact that after hard, muscular work simple relaxation and repose is more refreshing than sleep.

Fatigue is an expression of toxemia. The products of functional activity—oxidation, metabolism, chemical changes in the tissues—are as definitely poisonous as would be a narcotic drug taken into the stomach. Blood transfused from a tired animal into a normal animal will produce in the latter every sign of fatigue.

In many disturbances of the health there are toxic or poisonous substances circulating in the blood all the time. Rest or sleep will produce a temporary diminution in the proportion of toxins in the blood, but not sufficient to give the individual that sense of recreation or refreshment experienced by the normal person after a night's sleep. "My sleep doesn't refresh me," the sufferer complains. Or "I don't get enough sleep." He seeks for something to make him sleep better, whereas he really needs something to relieve his toxemia, he needs treatment for the disease which is poisoning his blood.

The treatment of insomnia has, or should have, little to do with the nerves. It should be directed rather toward the systemic abnormality which is invariably present. It is, of course, less injurious to resort to a suitable hypnotic drug, when necessary, than to get the habit of staying awake, for such a habit is more disastrous than a drug habit would be. But it is worse than foolhardy to experiment with sedatives or hypnotics unless you are under the solicitous care of a physician.

As a matter of fact, non-medicinal measures will bring sleep to the insomniac more certainly and more naturally than any drug.

Malaria from a Pond: Would a flow from the pond in ——— park prevent danger of malaria? There is always a flow into the pond, but no flow out of it during several months of the year.

REPLY.

Stagnant water favors mosquito breeding, be it in a pond, brook or old tomato can. If the condition is unavoidable the water should be regularly treated with kerosene oil to kill off the developing mosquitoes and this is a duty of the municipality. Of course, you can't get malaria unless you are bitten by the malaria-carrying breed of mosquito.

TO BAR PRODUCTS OF CHILD LABOR

Palmer Bill Passes House and Goes to the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The Palmer bill to bar products of child labor from interstate commerce, was passed by the house last night by a vote of 232 to 44, after a lively debate, and the issuance of a writ of arrest for absentees to suppress a filibuster. The bill now goes to the senate.

The measure declares it unlawful for producers, manufacturers or dealers to ship or deliver for transportation in interstate commerce, the products of mine or quarry made wholly or in part by children under 16 years of age, or products of manufacturing establishments made by children under 14 years old, or those between 14 and 16, who work more than eight hours a day or more than six days a week, or after 7 o'clock at night. Inspection by the department of labor would be authorized and fines of from $100 to $1,000 or imprisonment from one month to a year, or both, imposed for violations.

IS DENIED NEW TRIAL.

Hotel Man Is Held for Conducting Disorderly House.

Oscar W. Carlson, convicted at the November term of court on a charge of conducting the Velvidere hotel, 1023 West Michigan street, as a house of ill fame between July and August, 1914, was yesterday afternoon denied a new trial by Judge Fesler. The offense is punishable by a penitentiary sentence. Carlson may appeal the case to the supreme court. John H. Norton is his attorney. Harry F. White, third assistant county attorney, handled the prosecution.

FACES TRIAL FOR FRAUD.

C. F. Koch Said to Have Secured $1,000 on Fake Injury Claim.

Christian F. Koch, charged with having defrauded the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company out of $1,000 in a bona fide settlement for a faked personal injury, will be brought to trial tomorrow by County Attorney Greene in district court. Koch was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree. He was arrested in Nevada.

FACE COVERED WITH SMALL PIMPLES

Itched Badly. Disfigured for Time Being. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Made Complexion Clearer. Face Entirely Healed.

New Cambria, Mo.—"The first thing I began to notice some eruptions on my face. They were small pimples forming. They would itch so badly that I could hardly keep from picking at them. When I did it seemed as if they kept spreading. I was disfigured for the time being; my face was totally covered with the pimples. They were so bad I hated to have a person see my face. It was in this condition a year or over.

"I read in the paper of how good Cuticura Soap and Ointment were and I resolved to try them. After I used them several times they seemed to heal the places and make my complexion clearer. I spread the Ointment on my face and let it remain for about five minutes and then washed it off with very hot water and Cuticura Soap. My face was entirely healed." (Signed) Miss Flossie Hepworth, June 30, 1914.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them.

LIQUOR BLAMED BY CONVICTED MAN

John Fox Admits Larceny Charge By Laundry; Is Paroled.

On the eve of his trial in district court yesterday afternoon, John Fox changed his mind about his innocence and, appearing before Judge Fesler, entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with the crime of grand larceny in the second degree. Fox was paroled under a penitentiary sentence.

Fox was formerly employed as a driver for the Yale Laundry company and collected money, which he failed to turn in to the company. His shortages amounted to about $260. One of the conditions of the parole was that he should pay back his employer at the rate of $10 a month.

The prisoner told the court that liquor was responsible for his downfall. Judge Fesler warned him to keep away from saloons and to make regular reports to F. E. Resche, probation officer.

Laborer Kills Clerk.

Seattle, Feb. 16.—Richard Imento, a laborer, late today entered the office of A. M. Lee, assistant general claim agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, shot and killed Charles Dreyden, Mr. Lee's chief clerk, and probably fatally wounded R. E. Patton, another clerk in the office. Imento, who was also known as Nicholas Kolomenen was shot and probably fatally wounded by the police.

Find Soldiers in Good Health.

Paris, Feb. 16.—The military attaches of neutral countries,— among them Major Spencer Cosby and Major James A. Logan, Jr., U. S. Only 200 men in the Eleventh corps were on the sick list.

STILL NERVOUS.

Canadians Take Precautions Against Aerial Raid By Enemy.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 16.—Despite the report from Brockville that the dominion police there believed two toy balloons sent up at Morristown, N. Y., had been mistaken by persons on this side of the border for searchlights on aeroplanes flying into Canada, every precaution against an aerial raid was taken here last night.

The Canadian parliament met with windows darkened, with the town lights extinguished and with the parliament grounds, which are usually ablaze, in absolute darkness.

No lights were shown at the royal mint or at Rideau hall, where the duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia were awaiting the return of the duke of Connaught from Western Canada.

While parliament was in session last night a considerable force of troops which had been mobilized in Ottawa to train for service in Europe was held in readiness to fire upon any aircraft which might appear.

POLICEMEN'S BALL NETS SUM OF $1,200

New Record for Receipts Set; Money Goes to Relief Fund.

As a result of the policemen's annual ball, given at the Armory, Feb. 11, the widows and orphans fund of the Duluth Police Relief association will be swelled to the extent of more than $1,200.

Records of various kinds were broken at this dance, which was the largest and most successful ever given by guardians of the law in the city, but the officers are more pleased at the way in which the record for net proceeds was shattered than at any other feature of the "hop." In all, 1,422 tickets were sold.

Fred Johnson, assistant secretary to the chief of police, today estimated that more than 2,000 persons attended the dance. Door keepers received 821 tickets, not including 21 complimentaries. In addition to this, 166 women purchased tickets. These totals, with the 130 officers and friends, bring the aggregate up to the 2,000 mark.

Expenses for the dance were estimated at $175, which is a saving from last year. The largest item in the expense account was said to be for lemons used in making lemonade. Assistant Secretary Johnson, who is something of a mathematician, as well as a statistician, attempted to find out how many hundred gallons of lemonade were distributed by Sergeant John Weber, but lost himself in the maze of figures.

SEEK OWNER OF WATCH.

Stolen "Ticker" in Pawnshop Was "From Father."

If you are the son of a father who at one time gave you a gold watch with a hunting case, you may be the man Duluth police have been searching for for several days.

Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, while inspecting Duluth's pawnshops recently, found a stolen watch and later arrested a man who came to redeem it. The man, a lumberjack had in his possession an expensive gold watch, the inside case being engraved with the words "From Father," and certain dates.

For lack of evidence, the man was discharged, but the search for the "son" has continued.

WOULD HEAD PUBLIC WORKS

"Bert" Farrell Will Make Fight for Position Held By Murchison.

Fires Opening Gun at Central Hillside Club Meeting.

J. A. "Bert" Farrell is out for the department of public works now in charge of Commissioner Murchison, whose term will expire this coming spring. It is expected that the commissioner will make the race to succeed himself. While the distribution of departments will rest with the council, Mr. Farrell says the works' department is the one he is best fitted for and is the one he seeks.

At the first meeting of the campaign held last evening by the Central Hillside Farrell club in the Polish hall, Mr. Farrell announced that he will seek the office of commissioner of public works. The Farrell club was organized a week ago last night to hold meetings every Monday until the election on April 6.

The meeting last night was the opening gun in the campaign. A large crowd was present at the meeting, at which Walter Johnson presided.

Mr. Farrell announced to the members of the club that he will make a clean fight against the present incumbent, using no personalities whatever during the entire campaign. He also declared that he will announce his platform within a few days, declaring himself to be in favor of a "business basis" program and efficiency in the department.

The speaker announced at the close of the meeting that he will shortly open campaign headquarters in his offices at 418 Manhattan building and that a campaign committee will also be organized within the next few days.

start to summon two witnesses, Sigmund Albert of New York, representative of the German-American steamship companies, and Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore, former manager of the Atlantic transport line. The latter has been mentioned as a shipping authority from whom information as to available ships had been obtained by Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Redfield. No decision as to when the hearings would begin was reached. The committee will meet again tomorrow.

Senator Weeks asked to be excused from service in the ship bill inquiry committee. Senator Sutherland, another Republican, was appointed in his place.

Debate on Cloture.

Proposals to limit debate in the senate, either by general or special cloture rules reversing the customs of more than a century, took the whole time of the senate debate today.

Senator Norris, Republican, thinks he can command enough Democratic votes to pass his resolution limiting any senator to three hours' talk on any one subject. Senator Cummins spoke for his proposal to deny the right to vote on any measure considered under a cloture rule to any senator bound by a caucus. He declared the caucus rule, under which the Democrats were working on the ship bill, "savored of medieval tyranny."

Senator Reed retorted it was time for "the majority to rebel against the tyranny of the minority."

Favored By President.

Washington, Feb. 16.—President Wilson told callers today he favored a reasonable and general cloture rule in the senate. He believes in a rule to stop obstructive tactics, but which would not cut off fair debate.

Discussing the shipping bill, the president said he believed the majority of the senate was for it and that evidences of the need of its passage were accumulating. His callers he did not expect the shipping bill nor the appropriation bills to fail and therefore he had not finally considered calling an extra session.

garded as Mrs. James M. Darnell.

Darnell was arrested by a deputy United States marshall as he was entering the office of his attorney.

The formal charge against Darnell was that he transported Miss Soper from her home in Owatonna, Minn., to Chicago, and thence to Kenosha, Wis., in violation of the Mann act.

He was taken before a Federal commissioner who set the hearing for Feb. 25 and fixed the bond at $5,000.

Darnell's attorney said he would not attempt to obtain bondsmen immediately and the defendant was taken to the county jail. The marriage license obtained yesterday by Darnell and Miss Soper at Crown Point, Ind., according to Darnell's attorney, has not been used and is in his office safe.

Gets License to Wed.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—James M. Darnell, former pastor of a Kenosha, Wis., church, whose resignation was accepted recently, yesterday obtained a marriage license to wed Miss Ruth Soper, who had been introduced in Kenosha as his wife.

Darnell left Kenosha when Doris Vaughan of Chicago went to Kenosha and announced that she was the minister's wife. She later obtained a divorce from Darnell.

In his application for a license at Crown Point, Ind., today, Darnell said he had been married once and divorced once. Ruth Soper never had been married, according to the terms of the license.

Rheumatism Advice

Here is a prescription for rheumatism (to be mixed at home) used all over the U. S. for many years and said to be the surest known remedy; neutralizes acid in the blood and gives results after first dose. "One ounce of Toris compound and one ounce syrup of Sarsaparilla. Put these two ingredients in half pint of whisky. Use a tablespoonful before meals and at bed time." Get ingredients at any drug store. Genuine Toris comes in one ounce sealed yellow packages put up by Globe Pharm. Co., Dayton, O.

Frost Bites, Chilblains, Burning, Aching, Tender Feet

Don't endure foot agony. Here is quickest and surest remedy known. "Two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in warm foot bath." This gives instant relief; corns and callouses can be peeled right off; excess sweating or tenderness is soon overcome and bunions reduced. It acts through the pores and removes the cause. Large box of Calocide twenty-five cents at any drug or general store. Prepared at Medical Formula laboratories, Dayton, Ohio.

Ends Dry, Hoarse or Painful Coughs Quickly

A Simple, Home-Made Remedy, Inexpensive but Unequaled

The prompt and positive results given by this pleasant tasting, home-made cough syrup has caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It gives almost instant relief and will usually overcome the average cough in 24 hours.

Get 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any drug store, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—of the most effective cough remedy at a cost of only 54 cents or less. You couldn't buy as much ready-made cough medicine for $2.50. Easily prepared and never spoils. Full directions with Pinex.

The promptness, certainty and ease with which this Pinex Syrup overcomes a bad cough, chest or throat cold is truly remarkable. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes a painful cough in a hurry. With a persistent loose cough it stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the annoying hacking.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol and is famous the world over for its splendid effect in bronchitis, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

To avoid disappointment in making this, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Bills Introduced.

The following bills were introduced: Senator Rustad, requiring railroads to get the consent of the railroad and warehouse commission to build new lines and putting their construction under the commission's supervision; Senator Andrews, prohibiting the use of blinds and screens to obstruct the view of saloon bars; Senator J. D. Sullivan, creating the office of state architect; Senator J. D. Sullivan, providing that preference be given to Minnesota materials in state buildings, and requiring the use of Minnesota stone; Senator Rustad, authorizing the railroad and warehouse commission to investigate railroad accidents; Senator Gjerset, preventing a murderer from inheriting property from his victim; Representative Magnus Johnson, prohibiting discrimination between local ties in the buying and selling of grain, with a view to preventing old line elevators from unfair competition with farmers' elevators; Representatives Greene, Thornton and Moeller, providing civil service for city employes in first-class cities having home rule charters; Representative Sanborn, punishing tenants who vacate buildings between November and April, leaving pipes exposed to freezing, without notifying landlords; Representative Condon, requiring railroad engineers to have had three years' experience as firemen and engineer and conductors to have had two years' experience as brakemen.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

will provide an ample market for all valid county warrants at par, and as there are usually several hundreds of thousands of these warrants afloat, the saving will be considerable.

To show that the public pays the bill, Senator Nord relates one instance that came to his notice where the successful contractor, in bidding on a ditch job amounting to $375,000, added $20,000 to his bid to offset the loss anticipated in discounting county warrants.

Representative Paul Marschalk of Warroad yesterday introduced in the house a bill aimed at this same evil. His bill, however, provides that interest on county ditch warrants shall be paid annually. This would make them bankable paper, it is figured; but the plan has its disadvantages in that if a county has no funds available for the payment of ditch contracts, it probably will have no funds available to pay interest, and will have to make its interest payments in warrants also, thus paying compound interest.

Roads on State Lands.

Representative Fred Bessette of Orr and H. J. Miner of International Falls yesterday afternoon introduced in the house the bill already introduced in the senate by Senators Nord, McGarry and O'Neill, providing for the taxation of state lands to the limit of 5 cents an acre for road-building on, around and through state lands.

In order to be valid, the proposal is to appropriate money up to 5 cents an acre to build firebreaks for the protection of state timber; but it is provided that these firebreaks shall be built under the joint direction of the state highway commission and the state forestry board, so that they will serve the double purpose of fire protection and highway construction. This aid will be available for all counties having more than 5,000 acres of state land.

The text of the bill is as follows:

"Whereas, The state of Minnesota owns in certain counties in this state large areas of state lands, which said lands in most instances are covered with valuable timber, and which timber is liable to destruction by fire, and which from such possible fire has no adequate protection; and

"Whereas, The state of Minnesota in times past has sold a portion of its lands, which said lands so sold have been settled thereon, and which settlements are widely separated, and such persons so settled thereon are in constant danger of losing their lives, property, and homes by fire, by reason of the fact that the state of Minnesota has negligently permitted and allowed dead and down timber and other debris to accumulate in large quantities, thereby placing its citizens and its own property in constant danger, as aforesaid; and Settlement Hindered.

"Whereas, In the opinion of the legislature, if fire-breaks were constructed by the state into, through, and from its said lands, that the state would thereby protect the lives of its citizens and its own property, and at the same time be able to sell said lands at a materially increased price thereafter; and

"Whereas, Said fire-breaks, in themselves, will not only operate to sell said lands, but will offer the most practical method of protecting timber so situated upon said dlands, and prevent destructive fires from burning such timber, and will prevent, where lands are not covered with timber, the burning of the surface soil therefrom by said fires; and

"Whereas, It is the clear and obvious duty of the legislature of the state to protect its citizens and its public domain, and so preserve the same that it may receive therefor the greatest possible price by the sale thereof; therefore, be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Minnesota:

"Section 1. That in any county in this state where there is situated more than 5,000 acres of state lands covered with timber, there shall be used annually in constructing or building of such fire-breaks into, through and from said lands as such shall be deemed necessary for the protection of the timber and soil, and of its citizens, a sum of money equal to not less than 5 cents per acre for such purpose, which sum so expended shall be added to the selling price of such lands.

Appropriation Provided.

"Sec. 2. To carry out the purposes of this act, there is hereby appropriated from the money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of $112,500 for the year ending July 31, 1916, and $112,500 for the year ending July 31, 1917, and such money shall be expended according to the acreage of state land in each county under the joint supervision of the state highway commission and the state forestry board. Such fire-breaks shall be located so as to most enhance the value of said lands, preserve its timber and protect its citizens, and at such places as shall be designated by the state highway commission and the state forestry board jointly. When the location of said fire-breaks is ordered and approved by said commission and board, said money may be used to defray the total cost of such fire-breaks, or any portion thereof, the balance of the cost to be paid by the county in which such land is located, or in any other manner now provided by law.

"Such fire-breaks shall be constructed by the state highway commission in accordance with the plans and specifications prepared by the state highway commission and the state forestry board jointly, and may be constructed of partial ditches from three to four rods apart, and when so constructed said ditches shall be excavated below the peat line into solid subsoil, and all dirt excavated from said ditches shall be wasted between said ditches."

Surety Bonds By the State.

The state will go into the surety bond business if a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls becomes a law, though only the bonds required of county, city and village officials will be covered.

The plan is to provide these bonds at cost. A premium of 25 cents for each $100 is to be charged, but the bill provides that when the reserve fund created by these payments reaches $100,000, the surplus shall be distributed to the counties and communities that have contributed it, in proportion to the premiums paid by each.

The operation of the law is to be placed under the state insurance commissioner. No bond in an amount exceeding $50,000 is to be underwritten by the state, and where bonds required of county officials exceed this sum the surplus must be insured in a surety company.

The bill is modeled upon a law passed in North Dakota several years ago. The original North Dakota law was held unconstitutional, but it has been amended to meet the objections raised by the supreme court to the law in its first form, and it is now believed to be constitutional. In drafting the bill introduced today Mr. Adams has taken advantage of the experience of North Dakota, and since the state, if his bill is passed, is not undertaking this work for profit but for a public saving, he believes that his measure will stand the scrutiny of the courts.

The state two years ago went into the fire insurance business to the extent of carrying its own insurance on state buildings. While there have been no large losses to test this policy severely, the state has saved nearly $100,000 already, and the plan is working admirably.

Bills are now pending in both houses to extend this state fire insurance to county property, at the option of the counties, and they are likely to become law. The plan is, later on when the state and county scheme has been tried out, to extend the system to the state insurance of city property as well.

In a recent talk before the house committee having this bill in charge, State Auditor Preus, former state insurance commissioner, gave it his unqualified approval. He said that it had worked a saving to the state, and that indirectly there had been a great benefit because it involved an inspection of state property by the insurance department that had vastly decreased the danger from fire removing fire hazards that has previously existed.

County Division Hearing.

Advocates of the pending bill for the division of St. Louis county will have a chance to state their case before the house committee on towns and counties. Thomas J. Greene of St. Paul, chairman, next Tuesday evening, when a public hearing will be held on the bill.

The range members, who have arranged for this hearing, have not yet heard from the range committee which is pushing the measure, but they expect that a delegation will be down for the hearing, consisting of Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing, M. H. McMahon of Virginia, James P. Boyle of Eveleth, and other leaders in the county division movement.

Constitutional Convention.

Action toward a constitutional convention, by the house at least, is indicated by movements that took place at yesterday afternoon's session of that body.

On motion of Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minnesota, author of the bill, house file No. 10, providing for the calling of a constitutional convention, was made a special order for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

On motion of Representative Thomas Kneeland of Minneapolis the bill introduced by him and by Representative Charles L. Sawyer of Minneapolis, amending the Constitution so that the next legislature could call a constitutional convention, was added to the special order.

The house also received a joint resolution introduced by eight house members, stating it to be the sense of the the house and senate that the constitutional convention bill should be taken up and decided before action is taken on any pending constitutional amendments, on the ground that it cost about $100,000 to submit eleven constitutional amendments last fall, that only one of them was ratified, and that it would be cheaper and more effective to have a convention than to continue the attempt to amend the Constitution by existing methods.

The Bjornson bill, which proposes a constitutional convention under the present provisions of the Constitution, requires a two-thirds vote of both houses.

The Kneeland-Sawyer bill, which is based on the presumption that it will be impossible to get this majority, seeks to accomplish the same result by a mere majority vote of the legislature by proposing an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the legislature to call a convention, by providing that such action can be taken not oftener than every twenty years except by a vote of the people.

Elwell Road Law.

The house yesterday afternpon made a special order for Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 24, of the A. V. Anderson bill to repeal the Elwell road law, on motion of Representative Charles W. Bouck, chairman of the house committee on roads and bridges. The committee reported the bill out without recommendation.

A similar bill by Senator J. L. Vermilya of Dover is a special order in the senate for tomorrow at 11 o'clock. Should the senate bill be defeated tomorrow, in all probability the special order on the house bill will be dissolved.

Prison Labor on Roads.

The bill by Senator John H. Baldwin of Frazee providing for the employment of prison labor on the roads of the state was advanced to the calendar by the senate yesterday.

Incidentally, the debate on the bill gave Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis an opportunity to voice a plea for unemployed free labor, which brought out from Senator W. W. Dunn of St. Paul a suggestion that the legislature pause to consider what has been accomplished by legislative bodies in this country in recent years toward stability for prosperity and the employment of labor.

"If you would be timely," he said, "to consider what creative legislation we have been enacting and to balance it—if we can find any such—against the vast amount of destructive legislation that has been in vogue in the state legislatures and in congress."

The Baldwin bill provides that men in the Stillwater penitentiary and the St. Cloud reformatory, not engaged in other work required by the board of control, may be employed on state road work. The board of control is to certify monthly to the state highway commission the number of persons available for such work in these institutions. While the control of the men is to remain with the prison authorities, the work is to be done under the direction of the highway commission.

The plan is to put "trusties" from the state prison on road work, and then employ the available reformatory inmates in crushing rock for road-building.

Over 500 House Bills.

The house received thirty-eight bills yesterday afternoon, bringing the number of bills in that body past the 500-mark. Among them were the following:

By Representative Novak—Providing that the commissioner of weights and measures remove all nickel-in-the-slot and other weighing machines for which a fee is charged.

By Representative McGrath—Authorizing railroads to issue passes to the widows and orphans of deceased employes of the Twin Cities to the heirs of employes killed in the service.

By Representative Stenvick—Providing a labor lien for men engaged in grubbing, clearing and plowing land.

By Representative Bernard of Duluth—Requiring railroads to cinstruct shelters for employes at all stations where more than six men are employed.

By Representatives Marwin, Indrehus, Welch, Vasaly, Anna Peterson, Woodfill, Bernard of Duluth and L. O. Teigen—The "single tax bill," introduced in the senate by Senators Jones and Paul, shifting the burden of taxation from buildings, furnishings, personal property, etc., to land.

By Representative Lee—Forbidding the sale of liquor within 200 feet of any public or parochial school.

By the house committee on labor—Giving the state board of health authority to control the construction and equipment of industrial camps, with reference to sanitation.

By the house committee on public accounts and expenditures and the house committee on immigration—Abolishing the state immigration bureau.

By Representative Guilford—Making all villages separate from the towns of which they were formerly a part.

By Representative Bjornson—Providing that after July 1, 1916, no school shall receive state aid unless the special school tax in the district voted for maintenance of schools exceeds 5 mills.

By Representative Bjornson—Providing state aid for graded schools giving special normal instruction, of $1,200 for the principal teacher and $900 for each additional instructor up to a total of $5,000.

By Representative Novak—Providing that no weights or scales shall be sold in the state that have not been passed on by the commissioner of weights and measures and given a serial number.

By Representative Moeller—Admitting to the state Soldiers' home veterans of the Philippine insurrection and the Boxer rebellion, and their mothers, wives and widows.

By Representatives Bjorklund and Brown—Prohibiting a telephone toll charge between the Twin Cities.

Congress is asked to legislate for the control of floods in the Mississippi valley by a joint resolution introduced yesterday afternoon by Representatives E. R. Ribenack of Duluth, and John B. Sanborn of St. Paul.

Efficiency Bill Hearing.

The division of labor and commerce in the proposed efficiency and economy bill was considered at a public hearing in the senate chamber yesterday afternoon.

Chairman Duxbury of the senate committee having charge of the bill read a letter from C. A. Congdon of Duluth, a member of the commission, approving the bill. Senator Duxbury, after reading it, said that Mr. Congdon had said things about the bill that he had never heard before, and that he had said them in an illuminating way.

Talks in favor of the bill were made by Chairman Charles P. Craig of Duluth, E. G. Hall, president of the State Federation of Labor, W. F. Houck, state labor commissioner, J. S. Pardee and E. Dana Durand. Col. R. A. Wilkinson of Lake Elmo spoke against it, and C. E. Elmquist of the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners criticized the features of the measure affecting his department.

The house judiciary committee yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the senate bill proposing an amendment to the Constitution increasing the membership of the supreme court from five to seven.

Labor Bill Recommended.

The McGrath bill, providing that if employers do not pay their men within twenty-four hours if they are discharged, or within five dtys if they quit, their wages shall run until they are paid, was recommended for passage by the house committee on labor. The Woodfill bill requiring the payment of wages in actual money was killed, as its purpose is reached by the McGrath bill.

The morning paper in its Sunday issue having criticized Secretary of the Senate Peachey because of Senator Jones' misfortune in being unable to find stenographers to do his work last Saturday afternoon, it is perhaps only fair to state that Mr. Peachey has no control over the senate stenographers.

Chairman Indrehus of the house committee on game and fish has a letter from Charles J. Johnson of Grand Marais, suggesting that a law be passed prohibiting the use of poison in taking wolves, on the ground that a hundred other animals are killed for each wolf destroyed in this manner.

STEAMERS DUE IN WAR ZONE

with freight. The Philadelphia carried 250 passengers, the Adriatic 400 and the other three liners had fewer passengers aboard.

Six From Boston.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 16.—Six British steamers which sailed from here within the past fortnight are not due to reach their destinations in England or Scotland before Feb. 18, the day set for the establishment by Germany of a war zone around Great Britain. Only one vessel, the Pretorian, which is scheduled to arrive at Glasgow on Feb. 18, carries passengers. The other ships are freighters, their cargoes consisting chiefly of foodstuffs. They include the John Bakke, due at Manchester Feb. 18; Devonion, due at Liverpool Feb. 20; Ninian, due at Manchester Feb. 21; Anglian, due at London Feb. 22, and Leo, due at Glasgow Feb. 23.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL START ACTION AGAINST GERMAN BLOCKADE

use of neutral flags is given secondary importance. The German press is hinting that satisfactory assurances by Great Britain on the question of neutral flags would constitute the best safeguard to American shipping.

German Statement.

Berlin, Feb. 16, by wireless to Sayville.—The great license staff today gave out a report on the progress of the war, reading as follows:

"Western theater of the war: The attacks of the enemy upon the trenches taken by German troops from the English near St. Eloy were yesterday repulsed; otherwise there have been no important developments in the west.

"Eastern theater of the war: The fighting and the pursuits on and beyond the East Prussian frontier are proceeding very favorably. In Poland, north of the Vistula, German troops have occupied Bielsk and Plock, after a short engagement. About 1,000 prisoners were taken. South of the Vistula there have been no important developments.

"Foreign newspapers are publishing the most absurd rumors concerning immense German losses in the fighting to the east of Bolimow, Russian Poland, which began in February. It can be said that the German losses in these attacks were small in proportion to the successes attained."

Intimation By Germans.

Berlin, Feb. 16, by wireless to London.—An official statement, reading as follows, was issued in Berlin today:

"Inasmuch as it is to the interest of Great Britain that conflicts arise between Germany and neutral powers, it is thought in German shipping circles that English submarines, in order to bring about this end, may purposely sink one or more neutral ships. It is known also in the shipping circles that Great Britain has laid large quantities of mines against German submarines."

the British public will learn of the dreadnaught's reappearance in the fleet only in the event of her participating in no engagement or after the war is ended.

Swift Work Saves Ship.

When the Audacious appeared to be foundering, following the explosion which rent her keel, a swift inventory of the damage wrought was made by the engineers on board and also by experts from other naval craft, which soon were alongside. At first it was believed that the great fighting ship was doomed.

Almost before the echoes of the tremendous explosion had died away the collision mats were overboard and lashed over the hole left by the explosive. Meanwhile sandbags were piled into the ragged aperture from within, and, with the elaborate system of bulkheads, the tremendous inflow of water was practically cut off.

By this time, of course, the great vessel had shipped an enormous quantity of water through her torn bottom and was very low in the sea. It was in this condition that the photographs were made that depicted her in what was believed to be a sinking condition.

It at first was decided to tow the wounded battleship into the Laird shipbuilding yards at Birkenhead, a suburb of Liverpool on the other side of the Mersey. From Lough Swilly, on the Irish coast, where the disaster occurred, to Birkenhead, is a run of 190 miles.

Was Towed to Belfast.

The crippled condition of the Audacious, upon later consideration, was believed to be too serious to permit of such a run, especially as at that time the British government was said to be investigating reports that the Germans were operating from a cleverly concealed submarine base in the Shetland islands, off the northern coast of Scotland.

It was accordingly decided to tow the vessel into Belfast, 140 miles nearer, being about fifty miles from the mouth of Lough Swilly. This relieved the cruiser squadron which escorted the Audacious from encountering further hazards from hostile submarines.

It is believed that of her crew of 1,000 men few were killed and injured by the explosion on board the Audacious. Those who were not taken from the vessel by the boats of the cruiser Liverpool and smaller British warcraft, which stood in close to the dreadnaught after she showed signs of distress, were taken off in the Olympic's boats and those of the battleship herself.

A sufficient number of the battleship's company, however, was left on board to keep fast the water resisting collision mats and the sand bags. Experts from the shipyards were hurried on board and had already taken steps to remedy the injury before the vessel was placed on the blocks of the drydock.

Since she was run into drydock a small army of mechanics and workmen have been busy night and day repairing the damage wrought by the torpedo or mine, and these men, like the Olympic's passengers, who remained true to their pledge of secrecy alleged to have been exacted by the British authorities in the matter of the disaster, have maintained a strict silence.

Now the Audacious is complete in every detail, even as on that day in the spring of 1913 when she steamed forth on her first trial trip.

CHICAGO RETAILERS REAPING HARVEST

Keep Up Price of Meats Though Buying It Much Cheaper.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—The scare by hoof and mouth disease and the high price of corn and wheat, have made a harvest time for local meat dealers, according to tables prepared by experts on the market conditions today. In most places the retailers are charging the same prices at which they made a profit two months ago, the table indicates, and a comparison of wholesale prices shows the following:

	Dec. 15, 1914.	Feb. 15, 1915.
No. 1 ribs	17 cents	15 cents
No. 1 loins	23 cents	18 cents
No. 1 rounds	12½ cents	11 cents
Chucks	12½ cents	10½ cents

Reduced consumption of meat occasioned by the high prices was set forth as the reason for the low wholesale prices.

Representatives of one of the large retail firms said the overhead costs of their business were so great that the high prices had to be maintained.

ARISTOCRATS KILLED BY BOMB AT DANCE.

Berlin, by wireless to London, Feb. 16.—Two members of Sofia's aristocracy are reported to have been killed and ten others injured when a bomb was exploded last night at a masked ball attended by representatives of the most exclusive society of the Bulgarian capital. Advices received here state that those killed were the son of a former war minister and a daughter of the present minister.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal, amount of fat and nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug Store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution: While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ANNUAL FARM CROPS SHOW IS OPENED AT CROOKSTON

Corn Palace and Remarkable Exhibit of Products Features of Show.

Various Subjects Pertaining to Minnesota Soil Are Being Discussed.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fourth annual Farm Crops show of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association, with a large attendance, opened in the new armory at 10 o'clock this morning, Vice President C. G. Selvig presiding in the absence of President Welter, who cannot arrive until Wednesday morning.

Surrounded on all sides by a veritable sea of prize-winning corn, the audience gazed with deepest interest at the magnificent corn palace, six arches of which occupy the entire width of the monster stage in the new armory, and no similar piece of work in the Northwest ever approached it in artistic design or splendid execution of work.

The base of the entire front for a depth of three feet is constructed of red, yellow and white corn on the cob worked out in an elaborate design. The six arches were formed by an eight-inch border of shelled red corn, with shelled yellow and white corn above the arches. The background of the arches is made of threshed oats stuck on compo board, and in the center of the oat background in each arch is a powerful electric light which brings out the grain and corn clearly.

Between each arch is a massive column with threshed wheat glued to compo board, and here and there threshed barley glued to compo board used effectively in working out the design, the color effect and the architecture of the structure arousing enthusiastic admiration for the work of Architect B. D. Keck and Chairman Taylor and the entire corn palace committee.

Tiers of Corn.

Notwithstanding the great exhibition room, 50 by 90 feet, there is not room for all the exhibits, some being placed in the reception rooms and some in the rooms in the basement. Tier upon tier of corn is piled on the racks built around the entire auditorium, and the exhibits are of high class. Most conspicuous, of course, is Minnesota 13, Minnesota 23 and Northwestern dent, but there are a score or more of other varieties of yellow, white and red dents, popcorn, sweet corn, flint corn, etc.

There is but the slightest difference between the corn exhibits from Clay, Becker, Norman, Mahnomen, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties as a whole.

Corn, however, does not form all the attractive exhibit features. The grain exhibits more than double those of last year, and wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax, etc., of the highest quality are shown. The potatoes exhibits also attract special attention.

A new departure in the Farm Crops show is the women's department, three classes being added for dairy butter, bread and sewing, the latter including two lots, plain sewing and fancy work. The entries were far more numerous than had been expected and this will in the future be a permanent feature of the annual shows.

Opening Ceremonies.

When Vice President Selvig called the convention to order this morning not only the exhibits, but the decorations attracted attention. Rev. Paul V. Albert offered the invocation and President S. M. Sivertson of the Commercial club gave a short but earnest address of welcome in which he referred to the great significance of the Farm Crops show and its influence in stimulating the better farming movement, better living and better business, and serve to unite the efforts of all those in the ten counties who were striving for better things. The response was made by Prof. W. V. Longley, agricultural instructor in the Hallock high school.

The first speaker on the program was Prof. C. P. Bull of the University of Minnesota, who, after some very complimentary remarks regarding the exhibits, delved into the subject of types of corn. He was followed by Forest Henry of the university agricultural extension division, who discussed clover and crop rotations, emphasizing the value of clover as one of the rotation crops. Following the appointment of committees the convention adjourned till 2 p. m.

Afternoon Session.

A. D. Van Syckle of Warren, who has won more corn and grain prizes at state, district and national conventions than any farmer in Minnesota, presided at the afternoon session.

C. E. Brown gave a very good address on potatoes, rotations, varieties and diseases, and laid special stress upon the desirability of standardizing the potatoes in Minnesota to aid in their more ready sale on the open market, as the demand for mixed lots is light and the price correspondingly lower, there often being a brisk demand for variety carload lots when mixed cars were a drug on the market, this being specially true of the Southern market.

Supt. Selvig of the School of Agriculture next discussed the weed problem in the Red River valley, which he regards as one of the greatest which must be met by the farmers, and advocates a weed law with teeth in it as one of the absolute necessities before the weed problem can be solved. He contends that despite the best efforts of the progressive farmer, results cannot be obtained while there are indifferent non-resident land owners who make no effort to keep their land clean.

The importance of Boys' and Girls' club work was discussed by Prof. T. A. Erickson, the state leader in that line of work, and he recited some excellent results that had been obtained, dwelling especially on the beautiful work that had been accomplished through Boys' Corn clubs. Following this address, Lee R. Boyd announced the Farm Crop Show winners. At 4 o'clock the Polk County Pure Seed association began a two hours' session.

This evening will be given over to music and the declamatory and spelling contests in which nearly all the counties will be represented.

Women's Meetings.

The women's meetings opened this morning in the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock, and after the preliminaries, "The Efficient Home" was discussed by Miss Bess Rowe of the University of Minnesota. Miss Howe presented the subject in an interesting manner and called attention to the necessity of order and method, home decoration and home entertainment, and the duty of each member of the family to play their part.

The afternoon program opened with music, after which Mrs. T. R. Sewell talked on the proper division of the family income, Miss Bess Rowe following with an address upon training the home-maker, which was followed by a good general discussion of the subject, reasons being brought out clearly why many newly married women lacked all knowledge of their duties and responsibilities.

This evening the women will meet in joint session for the Farm Crops Show program, as will be the case during all the evening sessions.

The Prize Winners.

The following are the prize winners in the corn contest as announced this afternoon by Lee R. Boyd, chairman of the exhibits committee:

Sweepstakes.

HARRY POOR DOG AND ROSE HIGH CAT MARRY.

Fort Yates, N. D., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The well-known custom of Indians naming their children after the first object that strikes their eye after the birth of the child resulted in a peculiar combination of names in a wedding ceremony when Miss Rose High Cat was married to Harry Poor Dog. After the birth of the bride her parent saw a cat on a tree and immediately named her High Cat. The parents of the bridegroom saw a lean and crippled dog and called the pappoose Poor Dog.

MOOSE LAKE LODGE TO MEET THURSDAY.

Moose Lake, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Solomon's lodge of Moose Lake will have its first meeting next Thursday evening in its hall over the Jacobson & Gay company's store. The furniture has all been installed and the meeting is looked forward to with a great deal of interest by local Masons. The hall has been entirely remodeled. The furniture is all in the colonial style finished mahogany. The officers are: C. M. Mahnke, W. M.; W. D. Dixon, S. W.; Dr. F. R. Walters, J. W.; W. C. Stephenson S. D.; Dr. S. S. Shannon, J. D.; J. W. Lindmark, S. S.; W. C. Empke, J. S.; D. L. Beck, tyler; J. A. Robertson, secretary and George D. Beck, treasurer.

The lodge will start out with a membership of about twenty-five and from the interest taken locally and throughout the jurisdiction it is believed that the Masons will soon have a lodge of from 50 to 75 members.

FOLWELL FINISHES MINNESOTA HISTORY

First President of University Completes Work on 82nd Birthday.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 16.—Dr. William Watts Folwell, first president of the University of Minnesota, celebrated his 82nd birthday Sunday by announcing that he had completed his history of Minnesota.

Dr. Folwell had passed the three score and ten-mark when he was relieved of his professional duties at the university in 1907 with the rank of professor emeritus, but that jobless position did not deter him from work. It was then that he started his biggest single task, that of writing a complete history of Minnesota.

Ever since then Dr. Folwell has been delving into the records of the North Star state and the manuscript which will make up three volumes has been completed. Its author is now engaged in checking up citations and references and gathering some illustrations and will turn the first volume over to the printer in the near future.

The history begins with the missionary incursions of the French Jesuits in the sixteenth century and reviews the progress of the commonwealth down to the time when Winfield Scott Hammond was inaugurated governor.

As sources for his history, Dr. Folwell used records of the State historical society, the university library and the congressional library at Washington.

PLANS TO HANDLE CUTOVER LANDS

Will Be Discussed at Land Meeting at Moose Lake Feb. 25.

Moose Lake, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A booster land convention will be held here on Feb. 25, called by W. R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Land association. The meeting will be held in the Commercial club rooms and will be called at 10 o'clock a. m. The object of the meeting is to get the land men of the cut-over land counties together to talk over the boosting of the timber section of Minnesota. Representatives from the Northern Pacific and Soo Railway companies have promised to be present and the meeting is looked forward to as one that will create more interest in the development of the resources of Northern Minnesota. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Commercial Agricultural club.

KILLS NEIGHBOR WHILE VISITING AT HIS HOME.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 16.—Henry Backer, a farmer near Kasmer, Mercer county, was shot and killed by his neighbor, Jacob Christman, with whom he was spending the evening. The men had quarreled and Christman seized a shotgun and fired. The right side of Backer's head was torn off. Christman is under arrest.

SECOND TRIAL FOR IRONWOOD BANKER.

Bessemer, Mich., Feb. 16.—The second trial of Matt Fitzsimmons, alleged defaulting cashier of the defunct Korste bank at Ironwood, comes on in circuit court here this week. Fitzsimmons was convicted once, but obtained a new trial by order of the supreme court because the prosecuting attorney was a depositor in the bank and was an interested party.

SHARE IN BIG ESTATE.

Two St. Paul People Get Part of Idaho Property.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—An Idaho gold miner, Peter Hughes, died eighteen years ago at Challice. He left an estate valued now at $2,000,000, according to heirs now living in St. Paul. They have learned that efforts are being made in the West to find them.

Mr. Hughes, who was in partnership with R. N. Hull in the Idaho mining business, was a brother of the late Mrs. Maria Fallon of Delafield, Wis. Among the seven heirs are Frank Fallon, James and Annie Fallon and Mrs. O. J. Courtemanche, 404 Fry street, St. Paul.

MANKATOAN COMES BACK

Charged With Defalcation, Returns to Fight Accusation.

Mankato, Minn., Feb. 16.—William D. Kaufmann, former manager and treasurer of Philip C. Morrell's department store, and who left a week ago after being accused of a large defalcation, returned to the city voluntarily and was served with a warrant charging him with grand larceny in the first degree. He waived examination and was held to the district court.

The warrant charges the theft of $5,000, but Morrell alleges a shortage of $13,000, and has begun a civil action against Kaufmann to recover this amount.

Kaufmann intends to fight both criminal and civil procedures. He has been in Rochester and Winona since leaving Mankato, he said.

ALFALFA GROWING AT FINE PROFIT

North Dakota Farmer Who Nets $87 Per Acre From Crop.

Glen Ullin, N. D., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Showing that his alfalfa had netted him $87 per acre on a 160-acre field, R. B. Bobb, a farmer in Adams county, attracted a lot of attention when he addressed a meeting of the farmers of this vicinity.

Under his method he plows the land sixteen inches deep, grows one or two corn crops on the field and carefully cultivates for the purpose of conserving all moisture and keeping the field free from weeds. He also grows potatoes on some of the land. After the land is plowed in the spring he drags it repeatedly and packs it well. He would prefer to plow the land in the fall, but found it was better to plow in the spring to destroy the weed seeds that are blown on the land in the winter. After finishing and packing the seed bed to suit him, he seeds the alfalfa about the last week in May or the first week in June with garden drills or a two-horse cultivator. The seed is placed in thirty-six-inch rows at the rate of one pound per acre and he seeds only choice and select Grimm's alfalfa. Under his plant he gets 15 plants to every 12 inches in the row. He lowers the cultivator shovels so he really cultivates the soil as he seeds it. Whenever possible he also innoculates the soil and finds it profitable in insuring a good stand.

If the weeds show thickly he runs a mower over the alfalfa as soon as the weeds appear troublesome, otherwise he does not cut the alfalfa until ready for the first crop, but he always cultivates the rows of alfalfa when the plant reaches 10 or 12 inches in height and again after the first crop is cut.

The first crop is cut a trifle early and the second permitted to go to seed. His early crops usually nets a ton of hay per acre and the seed crop about 160 pounds per acre.

Costs $13 Per Acre.

His estimate of the cost of the crop and its profits are that he spends about $13 in getting an acre of land into alfalfa. This is for interest, 50 cents for taxes, $2 for cutting the first crop, $4 for cutting and hulling the second crop, 50 cents per acre for depreciation of machinery, and $3 per acre for preparing the land, seed and seeding.

He estimates the returns as follows: One ton of hay from the first cutting worth $8, 150 pounds of seed at 60 cents per pound, $90, and a half a ton of straw at $2, making a total of $100 per acre.

The deduction of the $13 per acre cost leaves him a net profit of $87 per acre. He says both the alfalfa from the first crop and the alfalfa straw from the seed crop are worth more to him than the figure he gives because he feeds those products directly to his cattle and really gets a value of $20 per ton for his first crop of alfalfa.

His chief advice is to till the soil deeply, to cultivate at least two years in corn or potatoes and to carefully conserve the moisture before seeding the alfalfa. This insures a fine start for the plant and his method of cultivation in rows makes the seed crop possible and this is the greatest source of revenue.

CANADIAN ELOPERS NABBED AT KENMARE.

Kenmare, N. D., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A pair of Canadian elopers, the man being already married and the girl only 15 years old, came here and registered as husband and wife. They have been placed under arrest for the Canadian Mounted police and were taken back to Canada. It is said the United States officials also want the prisoner on a charge of violating the Mann act. The man had a wife and three children and registered here as "A. Brown."

SUICIDE FOLLOWS FAMILY QUARREL.

Stevens Point, Wis., Feb. 16.—Mrs. W. H. Dawson, aged 25 years, after a quarrel with her husband, last night, shot her 2-year-old son and herself. She was dead when her husband in the next room, reached her side.

RAPIDLY BEING SETTLED.

Barely 700,000 Acres of Available Farm Land in North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 16.—The records of the department of the interior at Washington show that July 1, 1890, there was vacant government land in the state of North Dakota, subject to homestead entry, with an area of 16,703,820 acres. Twenty-four years later, July 1, 1914, the same records disclosed the fact that only 672,949 of these same acres remained. The total land area of the state is 44,736,477 acres, or approximately 70,000 square miles.

Thus in less than a quarter of a century nearly 16,000,000 acres have been taken up by actual settlers under the United States land laws and passed into private ownership, leaving but the picked over remnant of less than 700,000 acres to represent the free government lands of the state.

MANY VARIETIES IN BADGER STATEHOUSE

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—There are thirty-six varieties of marbles represented in the state capitol. They come from Europe, Africa and America. Twenty-one come from abroad and the remainder from the United States. W. O. Hotchkiss, the state geologist, in a lecture recently gave some interesting information regarding the material entering into the construction of the new capitol.

Minnesota furnished the marble for walls in the main corridor and grand staircase walls, and rotunda.

WHIRLED TO DEATH IN HER FATHER'S MILL.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Feb. 16.—The 4-year-old daughter of John Campbell was killed by being caught in a shaft and whirled around in a portable sawmill owned by her father. The father saw the accident, but was unable to stop the power in time to save the girl's life.

Blind Pigger Loses Out.

Schafer, N. D., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paddy Boyd has begun to serve a sentence in the local jail for illegally selling liquor after fighting the case three years and twice carrying it to the state supreme court.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Crystal Falls—A resolution received by Frank Scadden from the city attorney at Marquette providing for the submission to the electors of the question of a change in the form of the city government to the commission form has been under consideration by the council.

Houghton—Lydell Dwight, a member of the state fish commission, has arrived in Houghton on an inspection tour of the streams of this vicinity.

Baraga—Edward, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Magnant, while sliding with his sled down the stairway leading to Superior avenue from Pennocke's residence, broke his arm just above the elbow.

Houghton—Supt. Doelle after an investigation of the reading habits of the pupils in the Houghton and Hurontown public schools says that 71 per cent of the pupils are readers of books, or, rather, are borrowers of books from the Houghton public library.

Hancock—Rev. F. J. Barwell-Walker, for some years rector of St. George's Protestant Episcopal church, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the church at Murphysboro, Ill. He will leave within two weeks.

Calumet—John Kivela, manager of the Metropolitan pharmacy of Red Jacket, has notified the authorities of the theft of a quantity of war revenue stamps from his place of business during the past week.

Lake Linden — The funeral of Capt. Louis Bussiere, an old resident who died Saturday, was held Monday. Capt. Bussiere was born in Canada on June 17, 1841 and came to Houghton in 1866. He lived in Houghton for about fifteen years moving to Bootjack and later to Lake Linden, where he has lived for twenty-eight years.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Mandan, N. D.—With the Morton county jail overflowing and about three times as many prisoners as can be cared for, thirteen men who pleaded guilty to blind-pigging in district court were turned over to the custody of the sheriff, to serve three months each.

Fargo, N. D.—Sam Henri of Hope, aged about 35 years, died at a local hospital Feb. 13, from a complication of diseases. The deceased had come to the city for medical treatment some few days ago, but grew steadily worse. The remains were shipped to Hope next Monday morning, where the funeral was held.

Williston, N. D.—At a meeting of the Williston Military Training School association it was decided to make an effort to secure a new armory-auditorium building for this city, to cost not less than $25,000.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Cadet Lindsey, who has been connected with the Salvation Army at Jamestown, has arrived here to assist the local corps.

Wishek, N. D.—Jacob Haug, a farmer living ten miles northwest of Wishek, climbed his windmill intending to repair its gear, when he accidentally slipped, falling forty feet, landing on a snowdrift, which saved his life. His shoulder was fractured.

Leeds, N. D.—A change of time has been made by the Northern Pacific on its Carrington-Leeds line. The northbound train now reaches Leeds at 4:45 p. m., connecting with Great Northern train No. 4.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Supt. Y. G. Barnell, who for the past three years has served as superintendent of the local schools, tendered his resignation, to take effect at the end of the present school year. Mr. Barnell was re-elected for the coming year at the regular meeting of the school board.

Jamestown, N. D.—Earl Savage, who was given a hearing in justice court on the charge of forgery of a check for $15, was before Judge Coffey in the district court and sentenced to one year. The defendant pleaded guilty. Dan Brophy was given six months in the penitentiary. He pleaded guilty to the charge of blind-pigging.

Bismarck, N. D.—E. L. Richter of Larimore and C. D. Colcord of Minot have been spending some time in the capital city of late in the interests of the newspaper men of the state. Mr. Richter is president of the North Dakota Press association and Mr. Colcord is a former president.

Milnor, N. D.—An electric light franchise will probably be granted David Vall. He promises a day and night service with a white way. The citizens generally favor the plan provided an agreement is made that the city may take over the plant later if it wishes.

Arnegard, N. D.—Badly injured in his eyes and his sight threatened permanently, Editor Folkestad of the Call is under the treatment of specialists as a result of an explosion. It is thought he will recover the use of his eyes.

Alexander, N. D.—Two of the three banks here have consolidated. The Scandinavian-American has absorbed the McKenzie County State bank. Gunder Olson, the recent state treasurer, is the president and the stockholders and directors are well-known men of the state.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Beaver Dam—Representative Burke has selected Peter Veling to be postmaster in his home town. Mr. Veling will be Beaver Dam's first German postmaster, although the majority of its inhabitants are German. He will succeed A. B. Chandler, who has been postmaster since April 1, 1911.

Washburn—The supreme court has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the damage case of the administrator of the estate of Fred Carlson, against the city of Washburn. The administrator sued the city for $5000. The decision is in favor of the city.

Grand Rapids—Mrs. Victor Bourgard, 65 years old, was struck by a handcar and seriously injured while crossing the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway tracks at Port Edwards. The accident happened at the main street crossing, and as the aged woman was very deaf she did not hear the cry of warning given by the operator John Zurfluh, a section foreman.

Tomahawk—Oliver Dorsey sought shelter in the jail here and was found dead in his cell. Dorsey was at one time a member of a tailors' union. The coroner's inquest decided heart disease caused his death. He had no relatives in this county.

Washburn — Membership of the Washburn Commercial club has been materially increased during the last two weeks as the result of an active membership campaign. The club now has a membership nearing the 100 mark and the club is active in promoting interests of the city.

Wausau—The buildings of William Kurzweil at Boulevard park, near Mosinee, were burned and Mr. and Mrs. Kurzweil had a narrow escape.

Milwaukee—A survey of religious education in the Episcopal dioceses of the midwest province is being conducted by the Rev. Lester Bradner, who is in Milwaukee studying conditions that prevail in the various parish schools and Sunday schools of the local diocese.

Chippewa Falls—An agitation has been started in this city for the purchase of the water and electric light plants by the city and it is progressing favorably. The reason for the city wanting to purchase these plants is because of the high rates for water and electricity that are charged in this city.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—Rev. George H. Gamble, aged 54, pastor of the Baptist church of this city about fifteen years ago, for many years pastor of the Tabernacle church in Minneapolis, and in point of service the oldest Baptist minister in Minnesota, died when he was about to deliver a sermon at Byron, Minn.

Crookston—Drainage Engineer J. E. Beim, formerly county surveyor, has returned after a survey of Ditch No. 92, near McIntosh. The matter of that ditch comes before the county commissioners on Feb. 16 and it is expected several farmers owning land through which the ditch is to run will present claims against the construction of such a ditch.

Spooner—Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Aanestad enjoyed a long hike the last two weeks, when they conducted services through the Rapid River country and visited many of the homesteaders and friends in the neighborhood of Carp.

Stillwater—The new residence of Frank Schmidt, out beyond Fairview cemetery, was burned to the ground Friday night between 11 and 12. The house was partially completed, Mr. Schmidt living in the basement.

Little Falls—T. H. Peterson of Gilbert was badly injured Friday when he fell while working with a power saw, cutting his left wrist almost through the radius bone. He is at Hall's hospital, where the thumb was amputated at the first joint.

Alexandria—The school district of this city voted an issuance of bonds of $72,000 for a new high school and $3,000 for additional grounds for one of the ward schools.

Bagley—L. F. Johnson, district forest ranger, has been out looking over the slashings in these parts, to see if the woodchoppers are complying with the state law in regard to the piling and burning of the brush.

Rochester—George Carney of Virginia, Minn., came here to attend the funeral of the late Edward Carney.

Blackduck—One of the men at Bruce's camp, near Foy, was kicked by a sharp-shod horse. The corks cut big gashes in his face, which were sewed and plastered up by the doctor.

Marshall—The Barrymore, a new theater just completed here, with a seating capacity of 700, has been opened.

Moorhead—The Moorhead National bank has been opened to the public in new banking rooms in the Moorhead National Bank block. The remodeling is entirely completed and the bank is settled permanently in its quarters. J. B. Blanchard, who has just passed his ninety-fourth birthday and is Moorhead's oldest settler, was the first man to sit in President P. H. Lamb's chair in the president's private office.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ESTABLISH NEW COURT

Two Harbors Will Have Municipal Judge After April 1, Next.

Steps to Be Taken to Keep City Water Supply Pure.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 16.—A petition signed by seventeen farmers and dairymen living in the country immediately west of the city, received by the council last night, requested that the city furnish them with electric current for lighting purposes. The matter caused extended discussion. City Attorney Dwan stated that according to law the city could not sell current outside the city limits, or if it did it would have no control of the matter outside the city limits. Charles Rosen, one of the petitioners stated that if the city decided it could not distribute the current outside the city limits that the farmers in that vicinity would undoubtedly incorporate and distribute their own current providing the city would furnish the current to the city limits. If the farmers in this vicinity succeed in getting electric current it will possibly be by the later means. Some of the petitioners live in the Segog addition which is in the city limits.

Want License Election.

The temperance element of the city presented a petition, signed by 300 voters, asking that a ballot be prepared for the coming election in March for the purpose of voting on the license question in this city.

City Clerk August Omtvedt reported that there was $1,000 interest due on the sewer and drainage bond. He was instructed to draw an order on the city treasurer for the amount and pay it.

A communication was received from Mayor William Towl stating that inasmuch as there was a deep coating of ice covering Burlington bay, and in the vicinity of the city's intake pipe, that there was great danger of the city water becoming contaminated as it has no chance to purify by becoming in contact with the air and thereby increase the danger of another typhoid fever epidemic. Therefore he recommended that the city take immediate steps to have the ice in this particular section broken up and kept open, and also that the amount of hypochloride used be increased. The council believed it inadvisable to undertake breaking the ice as it would soon freeze up again. The city engineer will be instructed to increase the amount of hypochloride used. The city clerk was also instructed to confer with the board of health on the matter. The council is very much concerned in the local water question and willing to do everything to prevent disease. The new hypochlorite plant which has been under construction at the city water and light station for the past month will be completed in about a week. The top of the hypochlorite pipes on the water main was made yesterday.

The committee on audit reported it had heard from one firm in the Twin Cities who is willing to audit the city's books for the past two years for $18 per day and expenses. The council instructed the committee to take the matter up with other auditors, as the aldermen considered the above bid rather high.

To Have Municipal Court.

A resolution providing for and establishing a municipal court was passed. The court will be organized in accordance with the Minnesota laws of 1905, General Statutes, which provides for a municipal judge, special municipal judge, court clerk and a court reporter. The new municipal court will be in effect after April 1. The following salaries were set for the court officers: Municipal judge, $50 per month; special municipal judge, $2 per half day's work and $3 for whole day's work; (the pay of the special judge to be deducted from the salary of the first judge); the municipal court clerk, $20 per month. The voting places for the spring election March 16 are as follows: First ward, rear room in the city hall; Second ward, first precinct, basement of public library; Second ward, second precinct, kitchen of William Towl's residence; Third ward, Odd Fellows hall; Fourth ward, old fire hall.

The following judges of election were also decided upon: First ward, Edward Therrian, Louis P. Christenson and James Lowell; Second ward, first precinct, Alex Halliday, Henry K. Gilman and Oliver J. Tennant; Second ward, second precinct, Edward McGowan, Mike Brickley and Otto Otterbard; Third ward, I. W. Foote, Magnus Peterson and Gust. Strand; Fourth ward, C. E. Bergren, Joseph Latta and Edward Kronman.

MOUNTAIN IRON BRIEFS.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to the Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Ormond of the Brunt location, have returned from a visit of several weeks in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Mrs. Cannon of the Brunt location will entertain for the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church at her home next Thursday afternoon.

A surprise party was given Monday evening for Mrs. Cornman at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson.

Children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Van Pelt of this village and to Mr. and Mrs. Sever Severson of the Brunt location.

Ralph Waggy, chief clerk for the Constumers Ore company of Virginia, was at the Brunt office and paid off the men for the past month. About twenty-five men are now employed in the shops at the Brunt.

The schools of the district opened Monday morning after a vacation of two days last week.

Mrs. D. E. Burley is still at Camby, Minn., where she was called a month ago by the serious illness of her mother.

WILL RAISE MONEY FOR BELGIAN TOTS

Cabaret Performance at Virginia to Be Very Novel Affair.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—What is considered one of the most praiseworthy charitable efforts ever undertaken in Virginia will be the cabaret benefit for the infants of Belgium to be given by the local women in the Elks' hall tonight. An excellent program has been arranged, the feature of which will be a demonstration of new and popular dances by Mr. Kant and Mme. Putmark, who came to Virginia to locate and will organize classes soon. For the first time in Virginia they will demonstrate the Pavlowa gavotte, the popular new Chinese dance, Pa Tao, the Four Hundred and One, the Lulu Fado and other popular figures.

Will Be Waiters.

The waiters will be George Shea, Dr. Deering, Otto Poirier, R. L. Griggs, Chase Stevens, Ben Stone, Wilbur Van Evera, D. C. Cuppernull, Harry Gillespie and Emmett Taylor, undoubtedly the greatest combination of all-star talent ever at one time assembled in the city on a similar occasion. They will have some pleasant surprises for the guests of the evening.

At every third number of the cabaret program there will be opportunity for everybody wishing to do so to dance.

COMMERCIAL CLUB IS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Hibbing Organization Also to Discuss Many Important Matters.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual election of officers of the Commercial club and the appointment of committees to represent this village at the annual meeting of the St. Louis County club, at Virginia, Friday, will be held tomorrow night in the council chambers. The club has planned for special entertainment for members.

Secretary J. L. Lewis announces that several matters of importance to the development of this section of the state will be discussed. It is probable that a delegation from Virginia will be present and county division discussed.

It is strongly intimated that J. L. Lewis has accepted an appointment at Minneapolis and will not seek reelection to the secretaryship of the club if offered to him. Lewis was chairman of the Hammond club here when Governor Hammond was running for the office.

NEW VILLAGE HALL.

Plans for Iron Mountain Structure to Be Accepted This Week.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the next regular meeting of the village council Wednesday evening, it is expected that plans for the new city hall will be considered and formally accepted. It is understood that the plans will call for a two-story building on a foundation 50 by 50 and that quarters will be provided for all village officials. The material to be used will be similar to that used in the recently constructed library building. The location of the building has been selected. The completion of the city hall, together with the library building which is just about completed, and a proposed new bank building, will make quite substantial additions to the village.

TO HIBBING MEETING.

Eveleth Red Men Plan to Attend Saturday Night's Affair.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large party of the local Red Men will attend the district meeting of the Red Men at Hibbing Saturday evening. Besides district business, a large number of new members will be initiated. The initiating will be done by the Superior degree team, F. J. Hebl, Red Men state secretary, will be present. Among the members, who will attend the meeting from Eveleth are J. J. Brince who is district deputy great sachem, and August Bratulich, who is the sachem of the local Red Men lodge.

COUNTY OPTION DEBATE.

Will Be Held Friday Evening By Eveleth Boys' Club.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Boys' Study and Recreation Club of the Presbyterian church will meet Friday evening at the home of F. R. Campbell. The meeting will be one of the most interesting of the year. Ex-Senator James P. Boyle will give a talk and the boys will debate county option. Considerable time has been spent in preparing the arguments and the debate, coming as it does while a county option bill is before the legislature, will be interesting.

PIONEER VIRGINIAN DIES AT FERGUS FALLS

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—Andrew Sandstrom, one of the pioneer residents of Virginia, died Sunday at the state hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls, where he was committed about two years ago. His body was brought here for burial and funeral services will be held Wednesday. Sandstrom was about 60 years old. He came to Virginia nearly twenty-five years ago and was for many years engaged in the saloon business here. He is survived by his widow, who lives here.

Births Far Exceed Deaths.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—Dr. John H. Crowe reported that during 1914 there were 518 births and 185 deaths in Virginia. During January of this year there were recorded fifty-three births and eleven deaths. January was the record month for births in several years.

Complains Against Roads.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred Goodell, formerly a barber of Chisholm, now a prosperous farmer of Sturgeon township, came to town to complain against the roads in his section.

OSWEGO, N. Y., FIVE BEAT TWO HARBORS

Large Gallery of Basket Ball Fans Watch Notable Contest.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly 500 people crowded the galleries of the Y. M. C. A. gym last night to witness the game of basket ball between the local city team and the Oswego, N. Y., team. The crowd was so large that it was necessary to seat many on the main floor. The game was fast from start to finish and ended with the score 42 to 31 in favor of the visitors.

The work of Grimstad, the visitor's big center, was marvelous. Although his team mates are all stars, his work shone bright above that of the others. Woodward was the star of the locals. Woodward made five baskets and three of these were made from the center of the floor. The rest of the local team fought gamely and all played star games, making it mighty interesting for the Easterners. Another game will be played here between the same teams next Monday evening.

Following was the line-up:

Two Harbors—	Pos.	Oswego—
Freeman	f	Murnam
Sullivan	f	Noll and Roberts
Woodward	c	Grimstad
McCurdy	g	Alberging
Filiatrault	g	Murphy

Referee, Conliff. Timekeeper, James.

Scores were made as follows: Two Harbors—Freeman 4, and 5 free throws; Sullivan, 3; Woodward, 4; Filiatrault, 1. Oswego—Murnam, 3, and one free throw; Noll, 3; Grimstad, 10; Alberging, 4, and two free throws.

BUYCK CASES ARE APPROACHING END

Jury Soon to Pass Upon Accusations Against Alleged Lawbreakers.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Late this afternoon it is expected the district court jury that has been hearing evidence in the seven Buyck blind pigging cases will have the cases and retire to deliberate, the balance of the evidence being submitted this morning.

Attorney McMahon of Virginia is representing the alleged blind-piggers, who are: James Mikus, John Johnson, Benjamin Christenson, John Klinik and Axel Westman. Assistant County Attorney Boyle is prosecuting the case.

Seven witnesses were called upon to testify.

Tells of Buying Liquor.

Will Johnson, a Finn, testified through an interpreter that he had bought liquor at a camp of De Coigney twice. He alleged that there were several others in the room where the liquor was sold and that all were drinking. The other witnesses submitted less important evidence.

MAY LET SEWER BIDS.

Hibbing Council Expected to Finally Pass on Proposition.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids for material for the Alice sewers will be let by the council tonight, if proposals of members materialize. Bids have been readvertised for several times and it is expected that those opened at the last meeting will be acted upon.

It is possible that some action will be taken by the council on the request for appropriation by the library board for $10,000. This request has been held in obeyance pending the receipt of information relative to the legal status of the Carnegie library with the New York corporation.

RAISING MONEY FOR EAGLES' GATHERING.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local Eagles have begun to raise money for the entertainment of the state convention of the order here next June, when it is expected the greatest gathering of the feathered tribe ever seen in Northern Minnesota will take place. The profit of the dance given by the Eagles last Friday night amounted to $100, and this amount has been placed in a local bank. From now on local Eagles will continue to raise money by various methods and add to the $100 nest egg in the bank. It is hoped that by the time the convention is held there will be $2,000 or more available for expenses, as the Eagles plan to make this convention a record-breaker in the way of amusements and attractions. It is probable that Governor Hammond and other state officers will be invited to attend.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let Your Sore, Swollen, Aching Feet Spread Out in a Bath of "TIZ."

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "TIZ" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "TIZ" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "TIZ." Its grand—its glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "TIZ." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

KEEN COMPETITION

Shown By Bowling Teams in Contest on at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some keen competition for the first place is shown by the Virginia Five-Back bowlers this year, the two leading teams being either tie or one game apart. Now they are tie again. Most of the players have rolled some very good individual scores and averages.

Standing of the Clubs.

	Games.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
All-Nation Stars	57	32	25	.561
Royal Stars	57	32	25	.561
Virginia All-Stars	54	20	43	.370

High team game, All-Nation Stars, 301. High team average for three games, All-Nation Stars, 51 2-3. High pin average during season, All-Nation Stars, 45 1-3.

HIBBING ELKS GIVE SUCCESSFUL DANCE.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Elks' dance last night excelled any similar affair ever attempted here. More than 500 couples attended. The decorations and lighting effects were the features. Di Marco's ten-piece orchestra, in full dress, played.

With the exception of the 11 o'clock toast, which was given then, the dance program was uninterrupted from 9 o'clock until early this morning. At the toast, all but the small string lights around the walls and decorating the two large antlers on each side of the wall, were put out. A moon with star backgrounnd effect was also lighted during the toast.

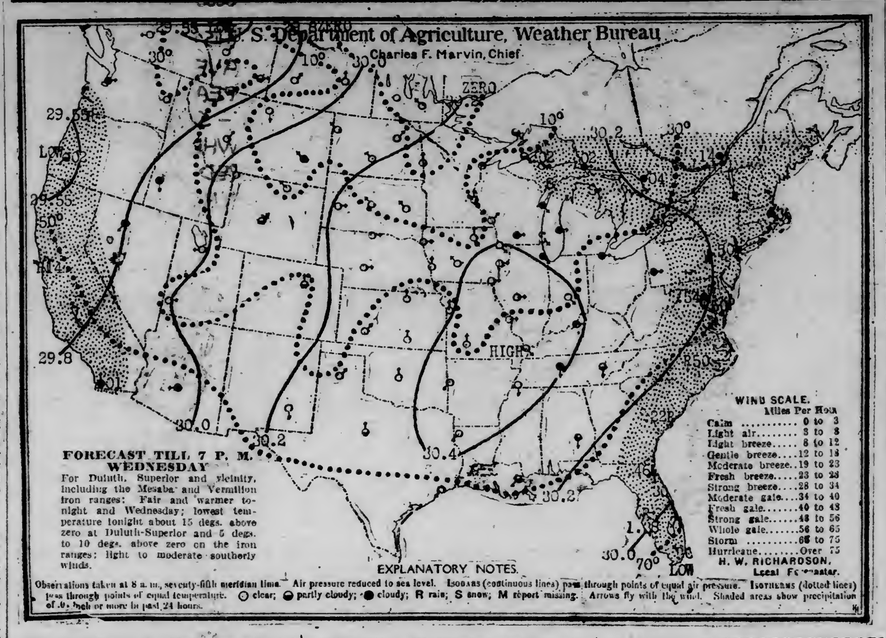

TWO HARBORS HAS SCARLET FEVER CASE.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was reported to the council that Albert Anderson, 9-year-old son of Mrs. John W. Anderson, Second avenue, has scarlet fever. This is the only case of scarlet fever in the city.

WIDOW GETS MONEY FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—Mrs. Matt Tusa of Iron Junction, who was awarded a verdict on behalf of her children and for herself in a damage suit brought against the Illinois Surety company, and an Iron Junction saloon keeper for the death of her husband, has received full payment from the surety company in accordance with the terms of the verdict which she received in district court. The total amount was $1,346. Of this amount $750 goes to the minor children. Matt Tusa was found drowned in a ditch near the D. M. & N. railroad about a year ago. He had been drinking for several days in an Iron Junction saloon and in a maudlin condition had started to his home when he was overcome by liquor and fell in a ditch by the railroad tracks.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

Nothing could well surpass the charm of the weather as served up today. True, it is a trifle slippery underfoot, but a little caution — or, better, a little sand on the walk, will obviate danger. In the meantime the atmosphere is bracing and not too cold or too warm; and the sun is shining, making things cheery and agreeable.

A year ago today was cold and windy. The sun rose this morning at 7:11 and will set this afternoon at 5:34, giving ten hours and twenty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails in the lake region, Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys and Southeastern states. Throughout the Rocky mountains, the Northwest and Southwest the weather has turned warmer. This increase in warmth should reach the head of the lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours. Zero temperatures occurred last night in the Red River valley and Manitoba. Snow or rain fell during Monday or last night over Eastern Canada and in Atlantic and Pacific coast states. Heavy rains occurred at Tampa, Fla."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota and Iowa—Fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature.

Wisconsin — Fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature Wednesday and in west and central portions tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Wednesday; rising temperature.

Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday, except probably rain or snow in west portion Wednesday; warmer tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Wednesday; somewhat colder tonight.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Wednesday; colder in extreme east and south portions tonight; rising temperature Wednesday.

KILLED AND BURIED IN GERMAN TRENCHES.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl Hendricks of this city today received a letter from his sister, living in Hamburg, Germany, stating that their cousin, Ernest Lasson, while fighting in the German army before Reims, France, was killed Dec. 16 and that his body was buried in the trenches. The letter also stated that food was then plentiful at Hamburg at advanced prices.

Hibbing Chautauqua.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The chautauqua program for tonight, in the library at the high school, follows: Discussion, "The Problem of the Old Age," B. A. Elliot; "The Rheingold as an Industrial Allegory, Wagner, Miss Elizabeth Mitchell; "Our New Peonage," taken from the Independent July 25, 1912), Miss Carolyn Morrison; talk, "Problems of Poverty," taken from "Twenty Years at Hull House," Miss Jennie Wildes.

Gives Life as Nurse.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 16.—A martyr to the life work that she had recently chosen, Gladys Labelle, student nurse at the University hospital, is dead and her body was taken back to her home at International Falls by her father, L. W. Labelle. She died at the hospital Feb. 11 of typhoid fever contracted while nursing. She was 24 years old and became a student nurse only two months ago. She was taken ill with typhoid Jan. 29.

FOUR FINED $7.50 EACH FOR GAMBLING

Four Dismissed and One Held on Blind Pigging Charge.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four of the nine men arrested Saturday night by the police at the home of Martin Lulich, 218 Balsam street, on the charge of gambling were fined $7.50 each yesterday afternoon by Judge Carey. The charge against four others were dismissed, while the ninth, Mike Brozonovich, is held on a charge of blindpigging preferred by Ben La Monde. The alleged blindpigger will have his hearing before Judge Carey at 4 p. m. today.

BELIEVE VIRGINIA SEWER WAS PLUGGED

Obstructions Said to Have Been Found and Reward May Be Offered.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — There is considerable excitement here today over the report that the Chestnut street sanitary sewer in the vicinity of the European hotel was deliberately plugged Sunday causing damage to various stores and other business houses.

It is said that a piece of wood and several chunks of paper were found in the sewer. There is no little indignation and at the council meeting tonight it may be decided to offer a reward to find out who perpetrated the outrage.

City Engineer Johnson hardly credits the deliberate plugging theory. The affair has started more agitation in favor of additional sewers and the whole sewer question will probably figure prominently in the council proceedings tonight.

Gets Flag Pole.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The request of Postmaster O. J. Backman for a pole upon which to hang the large flag he possesses bore fruit. Alex Levaque offered the pole. Gust Anderson also offered to supply the pole. Mr. Backman hopes to be able to have the Stars and Stripes waving over the postoffice tomorrow.

"JEW BY NATURE AN AGRICULTURIST"

Turns to Trade Only From Necessity, Says Dr. Sirkin.

In a lecture on "The Future of the Jewish Nation," given last night at Odd Fellows hall on Lake avenue north, Dr. N. Sirkin of Chicago declared that, naturally, Jews are not business men, but most of them have been forced to make their living in business; and he asserted that wherever the Jew has turned to trade, it has been a case of necessity.

"Jews are in every profession," said the speaker. "They are, today, numbered among the greatest writers, scholars, physicians, and artists of the world."

The speaker asserted that the Jew is, by nature, an agriculturist and with a strong leaning toward literature and the arts. He told how in Russia, the Jews cannot own land and only about 5 per cent are allowed to attend college in order that they may not become a dominating race.

Dr. Sirkin, who was speaking under the auspices of branch No. 352 of the Duluth Workingmen's circle, declared that the advancement of the Jew as well as that of all other people, is only through Socialism.

HEAD AND NOSE STOPPED FROM A COLD? TRY THIS!

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends a Cold or Grippe in a Few Hours.

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

A WINTER TONIC

Why is it that some people keep well all winter while others, less exposed to cold and damp, suffer with colds, grip, pleurisy, pneumonia and all the ills of the season?

Thin blood and debility are the causes of much sickness in winter. When the blood is thin and there is oxygen starvation in the tissues of the body, poisons are retained that should be eliminated and there is a lowered resistance to disease.

Rheumatism disappears when the blood is built up and does not return if the blood is kept rich.

The after-effects of grip are never cured until the blood is built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood and enable it to carry more oxygen, to nourish the starved tissues in debility, to soothe the inflamed membranes in rheumatism, to quiet the nerves in neuralgia and sciatica and to expel the lingering germs after the fever and influenza of grip have passed. All winter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be in every house, ready for use. You can get them now at the nearest drug store.

The third edition of the popular little book "Building Up the Blood," has just been published. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy.

NO ACTION TAKEN TO HOLD FESTIVAL

European War Keeps Committees From Making Preparations.

Owing to the European war and the uncertainty of conditions as a result, the committees in charge of the proposed midsummer festival to be held in Duluth next summer, are pursuing a "watchful waiting" policy. While conditions remain as they are, it is doubtful if further action will be taken.

T. W. Hugo, chairman of the board of governors, said today that the committees were simply waiting for a turn in conditions and that nothing definite had been decided upon yet.

FRAZEE NEXT YEAR.

Baptist Y. P. U. Vote to Meet There in 1916.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Baptist Young Peoples Unions of the Northwestern Association of Minnesota elected officers: President, Vera M. Rice, Park Rapids; vice president, Ira Lowe, Long Prairie; secretary and treasurer, Agnes Swanson, Brainerd. The board of managers includes the officers and L. O. Kelsven, Brainerd; Vina Arkiels, Akeley, and John Johnson of Long Prairie. The next convention will be held in Frazee.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the citizenes of Brainerd for their hospitality, thanking the Willing Workers' association, Miss Peterson, Miss Rundlett, and Rev. Mr. Ballback. The house and senate are to be petitioned to vote in favor of the prohibition bills now pending. The beautiful B. Y. P. U. banner awarded the society having the highest percentage in standard of excellence was won by Brainerd with 78 points; Detroit, second with 74 points; Akeley, third, 73; Park Rapids, fourth, 71; Frazee, fifth, 70; Long Prairie, sixth, 69; and Bemidji, seventh, 63.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

LISTEN, folks, this is a boost for the Watson-Brown contest. It should be some fight. But the main trend of what we are going to say is merely to point out one of the poorest pieces of match-making upon the part of those behind Brown that could be well imagined—and this assertion stands irrespective of whether Brown wins or loses with Watson.

Promoter Abrams offered Brown 25 per cent of the gross to fight Mandot. The French market fighter was given a guarantee of $1,000 with the option of taking 30 per cent of the gross. Because the fight club was giving Mandot 5 per cent more than Brown, the range lad called off negotiations.

We understand that Brown has some arrangement with the Superior club whereby he is to receive 27½ per cent if the gross receipts go to a certain figure. Let us say flatly that Brown is to receive for his fight with Red Watson 2½ per cent more than he was offered to fight Mandot.

Now here is the situation. Watson compared to Mandot is more or less unknown. Some followers of the game of pugilism are of the fervid opinion that Watson is a better man than Mandot. One of the reasons for this opinion is that Mandot was stopped by Bud Anderson, while this Watson person knocked the ever lasting daylights out of the Medford, Or., farmer boy.

If Brown had agreed to meet Mandot and had made a good showing with the New Orleans boy, the result of the meeting would have been a boost for Pal. If he is beaten by Watson, watch the public opinion bull skid down the thermometer of sentiment. Watson is a harder hitter than Mandot and less known. In fighting Watson, Brown has nothing absolutely to gain and everything in the world to lose. In the case of Mandot the conditions were precisely the reverse.

Viewing the Brown side of the argument from the standpoint of match-making, permit us humbly to state that someone heaved a monkey wrench into the negotiations.

Ray Temple Rehabilitated.

YARS and yars ago," measuring striding time by the meteoric flight of the pugilistic seasons, Ray Temple of that bright burg of Milwaukee was reckoned some climbing personage in the world of swat. One evening the Temple one stretched high up on the rung of the pugilistic ladder—high enough, in fact, to stake Joe Mandot to a licking; licking Joseph right at the time when the New Orleans lad was in the heyday of his glove youth.

Like Solomon, T. R., and others, Temple could not stand prosperity. He kept his foot in one place too long. For several years, following the several short seasons of ring prosperity, he reached and floundered among the dregs of his calling. The ring rehabilitation of Temple started in a ring across the bay. Joe Sherman of Memphis was brought up to the village across the bay to battle with Temple. The display of cleverness upon the part of the rejuvenated Milwaukeean was nothing short of marvelous; and yet at the same time the old punch was not there, nor was there a storage tank of vitality to be tapped when occasion should demand.

Just the other evening in Minneapolis Temple placed the skids delightfully under the tootsies of Johnny Tillman. The men met before one of the private clubs of Minneapolis and at the end of the seven rounds of milling Temple had established a sufficient lead to be awarded the decision.

Accounts of the mixing indicate that Temple had the better of the going and not only boxing in remarkably clever manner, but also jolted his adversary to a near stage of grogginess in the sixth session.

Some say they never come back; Temple is a great boxer—the former resident of the "bloody sixth" of Milwaukee knows more about the fine points of the game than a lot of the boys being generously headlined for one night stands.

Two Big Contests.

YESTERDAY it was stated that Tilton Lewis, impresario, is working on two big wrestling contests to bring to an end the mat activities of the present season.

Old Mike Yokel and Waino Ketonen are wanted here by Col. Lewis—and Fred Beell and Karl Lehto.

For years the Finnish people have yearned for a meeting between Beell and Lehto, their idol. Lewis has secured the consent of Beell to a meeting and is working to have the articles signed and placed away for safe keeping.

In Yokel and Ketonen the colonel will have the match de luxe—a glittering jewel among the gems of the mat.

Yokel is one of the greatest and most aggressive mat maulers produced in this generation. He came into national notice by nearly wrestling Henry Gehring to death in the rarified altitude of Salt Lake City. The contest went three hours and Yokel was winning, when the astute and suave Tom Scanlon pointed out to the credulous police that the men might die. Let it be stated that Mons. Scanlon was at that time behind Gehring.

This Finn Ketonen is a wonder. Fans here have never seen the little Finn in the Greco-Roman style, Ketonen can bridge with remarkable ability and effectiveness. If Yokel beats the Finn he will have to break down Ketonen's bridge before pressing the shoulders of this artist to the canvas.

Yokel will be the favorite—if the lads meet; but take a tip from us—the Rocky Mountain Lion will have one of the greatest matches of his career if he wins.

We picked Ketonen to defeat Miller. If Ketonen meets Yokel we opine that the Finn will give the Dutchman the hardest contest of his career.

Ketonen is an artist. He knows a counter hold for nearly every hold. He is cool and collected and a demon to pin.

CANADIANS BEAT ST. PAUL'S SEVEN

Game Declared Fastest Hockey Ever Seen in State Capital.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16.—The Aberdeen hockey team of Ottawa, Canada, defeated the St. Paul Athletic club team of St. Paul 4 to 1 here last night in the fastest hockey game ever seen in St. Paul.

The Canadians were much heavier than the St. Paul players, and their team work was much superior. The teams were equally matched in speed. For Ottawa, Thebo's goal tending was brilliant, and Impleau at coverpoint, and O'Connor at center, were dangerous at all times. For St. Paul, Brennan and Kahler were the stars. Goheen, St. Paul's left wing, suffered a fractured collarbone, and probably will be out of the game for the rest of the season.

Lineup:

St. Paul—	Position.	Ottawa—
Weidenboner	g	Thebo
Peterson	p	O'Leary
Fitzgerald	c. p	Impleau
Kahler	r	Hillman
Brennan	c	O'Connor
Goheen	l. w	Boucher
Conroy	r. w	Bourne

WOMEN DRAW AT I. B. A. TOURNEY

Hard Fighting for Position Occurs Among Men Contenders.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 16.—Thirty women bowlers of Minneapolis and St. Paul, composing six teams, staged a feature event at last night's session of the International Bowling association's tournament, and atracted a record crowd of spectators. No unusual scores were made.

This special attraction came after two shifts of singles and doubles had been rolled by masculine adherents of the game, without, however, affecting the standing of those who held the first five positions in each event when play was resumed this morning.

In extra shifts late last night, however, several changes were wrought in the singles and doubles leaders. George Wilke and Fred Reimer of Minneapolis, forced Schoenig and Hanson, Winona, out of second place in the two-man event with a score of 1,229. In the individual class, three Dubuque, Iowa, bowlers worked into prominence by grabbing three of the first five places. Ray Curtis, Charles Linehan and J. J. Macken were the men—Curtis going into first place with 630; Linehan taking third place with 621 and Macken rolling into fifth with 616.

The five-man shift late last night, participated in only by Twin City teams, produced no change in the leaders in this class, which is headed by the Peorias of Peoria, Ill., who established an I. B. A. record of 2,981 on Saturday night.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 16.—The first annual tournament of the Atlantic Coast Bowling association will be held in this city beginning about May 1, following the close of mail balloting. The tournament will be the first in which championships will be decided in events for candle pins, duck pins and ten pins.

CANUCKS TAKE BIG CONTEST

Duluth Rinks Have Hard Luck in International Curling Event.

Oldham Still in Tetley Tea; Three Tied for Grand Aggregate.

Winnipeg, Can., Feb. 16.—Canada defeated the United States last night in the annual international curling match held in connection with the Winnipeg bonspiel by a score of 56 to 35.

The odds in favor of the Canadians by no means accurately reflect the closeness of the play, for they had to fight an up-hill battle throughout.

At the sixth end the visitors had a fair lead of five points, but later while the skips maintained almost perfect form, their support weakened perceptibly.

Duluthians' Tough Luck.

Oldham of Duluth, after being three up at the end of the sixth, saw Pepper, Deloraine, build up a four-head on him and establish a lead which the former could not pull down.

MacLeod, Duluth, also had hard luck in his duel with Gillespie, which ended with honors even. This game was nip and tuck all the way, MacLeod being one ahead at the eighth end. MacLeod was lying three shots in the last end when Gillespie went to throw his last rock. The latter just managed to get a roll for second shot, leaving MacLeod the tying point.

H. R. H. the duke of Connaught was an interested spectator.

Oldham Still "In."

Neither Duluth rink figured in the open events of the Winnipeg bonspiel during the day. Ron MacLeod has been defeated in all four of the big competitions, but Oldham is still in the "Tetley tea."

In the Eaton competition yesterday, MacLeod defeated Bromner, Tilson, 11 to 10, but Oldham was beaten by Andeson of Melita, 13 to 6.

Braden of the Granites, Winnipeg, Dunbar, St. Paul, and J. Pepper, Deloraine, are leading in the race for the grand aggregate, all having nine wins and one loss in the four open events. The are now no undefeated rinks in the bonspiel.

Yesterday afternoon the draw was canceled to enable the curlers to attend the review of 7,000 troops. The duke of Connaught was in the reviewing stand.

Auditorium Tonight!

One big night on the rollers. Benefit evening for Frank Bryant to send him to the World's Championship Races. Three special features—Obsincle race, barrel jumping, four-mile relay race, Maher, Scott and Holland vs. Frank Bryant.

Touchard Stars.

New York, Feb. 16.—G. F. Touchard, the playing-through holder of the national indoor tennis singles championship, was the star performer yesterday in the singles of the national indoor tournament here. In the fourth round Touchard beat J. M. Steinacher, the old Cornell star, 6-1, 6-4. Karl Behr defaulted in the singles to E. H. Whitney, the Harvard star.

Demarest Beats Catton.

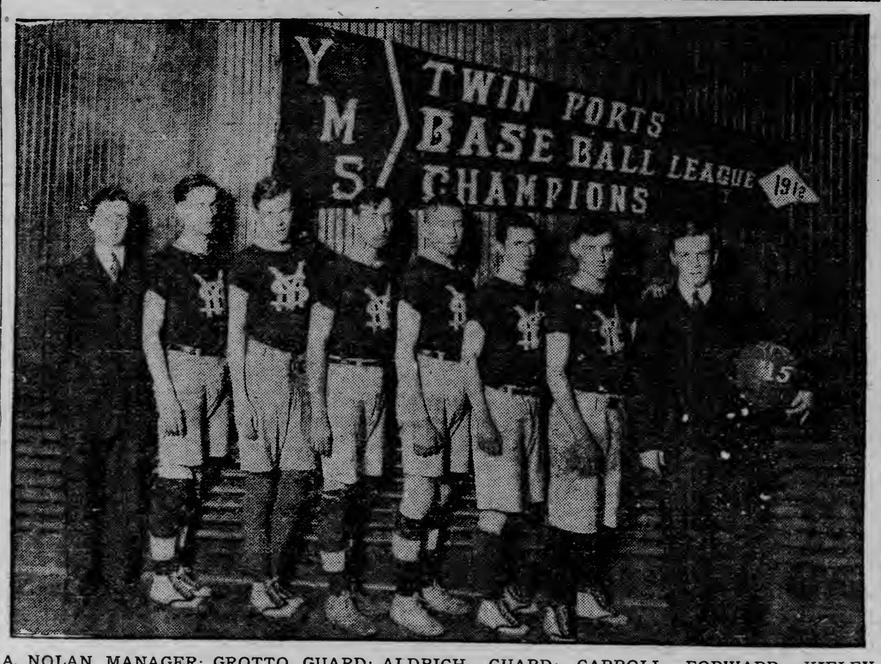

Binghampton, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Calvin Demarest defeated Marcus Catton 300 to 104 in a Billiard Players' league match here last night.

PULFORD IS IN THE RING

Winnipeg Report Says Northern Dispute Far From Settled.

"Mystery" Meeting Case Referred Back to National Association.

From Winnipeg comes the report that the Pulford matter is not settled as yet and that the muddled muss that has thrown the Northern league into turmoil and caused magnates to squabble and heap piles of vituperation upon the heads of one another, is still in the hands of organized baseball.

Here is a portion of the Winnipeg version:

"Notwithstanding all the press agent dope sent out from Minneapolis by President Burmeister of the Northern Baseball league, the case of the Winnipeg club, as constituted by Messrs. Pulford, Erzinger, et al, is not yet out of the hands of the national board of the Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, as the minors are known.

"A letter from August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, inclosing a copy of a letter from the same high official and Secretary Farrell of the national association, is quite clear on the point.

"The Winnipeg case was discussed at the commission meeting of Feb. 6, but the decision there arrived at was that it must be referred back to the national association for reconsideration. Mr. Herrmann's letter is addressed to President Pulford of the Winnipeg Baseball club. He assures Mr. Pulford, and Mr. Farrell is also instructed, that the case is a purely internal affair for the national association to deal with. The board's decision at Omaha has not been questioned, and the second complaint of the Winnipeg club has not been determined by the court of first resort, the association board. The commission is, therefore, without the authority to investigate or decide until after the board has adjudicated, until then only on appeal from one or the other parties of the dispute."

Should Be Settled.

For the general good of the league, the fight of the league on Pulford—or the fight of Pulford on the league—should be settled, one way or another.

One story has it that Mr. Pulford has been passed by and his claims unrecognized by organized baseball. The version given here gives another color to the dispute that originated at the "mystery" meeting and seems as yet to remain in an unsettled state.

From Grand Forks comes the statement that the Flickers will do their training at home this season. It is generally agreed that training trips will be dispensed with by all of the teams of the league. The preparation at home would be the means of saving a large sum of money. Training trips rarely pay expenses.

BIG TOURNEY IS COMPLETED

William Wendlandt Winner of Y. M. C. A. Handball Contests.

The Duluth Y. M. C. A. has just completed the most successful handball tournament in the history of the association. Thirty players were divided into six teams of five men each. W. Wendlandt, Dr. Clark, Clarence Olson, William Johnson, Pete Petkoff and William Dreves were the team captains.

Wendlandt proved to be the individual star of the tour, having defeated every man he met.

Another tournament will begin on March 15 if the present plans of the handball committee go through. All hope of getting St. Paul to come up here for a series of games has been abandoned.

It is stated that the Elks' club may construct two new and thoroughly modern handball courts in the near future. The construction of new additional courts would prove a great impetus to the game.

William Wendlandt may be groomed for a series of games with the star individual player of Chicago. Also a challenge may be issued to John Kay, the St. Paul champion, to meet the Duluth star on a neutral court.

ERTLE UP AGAINST REAL TOUGH BOY

St. Paul Bantam Has Furious Mix With Ruby Hirsch—Other Bouts.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 16.—Johnny Ertle, St. Paul bantamweight, and Ruby Hirsch of Chicago boxed ten fast rounds here last night and were in a furious mixup at the bell. Ringside experts gave the fight to Ertle, Hirsch being praised for his gameness. The Chicagoan appeared to have overtrained in making 115 pounds, the required weight.

Referee George Duffy stopped the fight between Joe Welling and Bobby Scanlon of Philadelphia in the seventh round after Scanlon had been knocked down twice for the count of nine.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 16.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, easily defeated Jimmy Anderson of Indianapolis in a six-round bout here last night. Welsh landed almost at will through the bout.

Philadelphia, Feb. 16.—"Kid" Williams, the bantamweight champion, outfought Jimmy Murray of New York in a six-round bout here last night. Murray fought hard all the way, but was not as clever as the champion.

RAY TEMPLE TO OPPOSE WELSH

St. Paul Lightweight Earns Right to Box the Champion.

Mike Collins announced over the long distance telephone from St. Paul yesterday that there was a possibility that Ray Temple and Freddy Welsh, the champion lightweight boxer of the world, would meet some time in the future before the Hudson club.

The great showing Temple made against Johnny Tillman has resulted in a demand upon the part of the Twin City fans to see the clever St. Paul boxer pitted against the title holder.

Tillman and Temple met in an elimination bout before a private club in Minneapolis. Tillman lost and as Temple had beaten Charley Lawson previous to his artistic trimming of Tillman, Collins stated that the clever Apostle has fairly earned the right to enter the ring with the great Welsh.

Temple is one of the cleverest boxers in the ring. He made Tillman miss repeatedly, it is stated. One of the greatest sights that ever greeted the eyes of boxing fans is a workout bout between Temple and Mike Gibbons. It was Temple that assisted in the preparation of Gibbons for the Clabby bout, and the speed and inside knowledge of the game possessed by Temple proved of rare aid to Sir Michael.

OTTAWA SEVEN MAY NOT COME

Duluth Not Sure of Meeting Canucks; Winnipegs Coming.

No decision has been made as to whether the Ottawa hockey team will play here, according to the statement made today by Manager Jacobi. Consideration is being given to the terms of the Ottawa manager and it may be that the Canadians will come here for games on Friday and Saturday of the present week.

The Winnipegs of Winnipeg will play here on Friday and Saturday of next week and the crack St. Paul hockey seven will oppose the local team on Monday evening. One of the stars of the St. Paul team had his collar bone broken in the game of last evening.

As to whether Duluth will meet Cleveland, nothing definite has developed as yet. Ray Johns returned last evening from Cleveland and a decision in regard to arranging a series of games with the Forest City septet is expected today.

HARVARD ATHLETIC CANDIDATES APPEAR.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 16.—One hundred candidates appeared for practice yesterday when the Harvard rowing season was opened officially. They were divided into a first and second crew and the remainder were apportioned among the class crews. The 'varsity combination was composed of three oarsmen who rowed against Yale last June, three members of the crew which won at Henley and two members of the freshmen eight of last year.

Thirteen men appeared at the opening of the spring baseball practice yesterday as candidates to pitch for the Harvard college baseball team this season. Four prospective catchers completed the group of battery candidates.

UNCERTAIN OF NATIONAL

Duluth May Not Attempt to Secure Big Regatta.

Local Club Can Land Prize If Conditions Are Favorable.

From New York Herald:

That applications for the privilege of conducting the next national rowing regatta have been made by seven cities to date was the announcement made yesterday by James Pilkington, head of amateur rowing affairs in the country. San Diego, San Francisco, Detroit, Peoria, Ill., Duluth, Minn., Washington, D. C., and Saratoga are the cities that are preparing to send representatives to the annual meeting here on March 20 to plead their cases with the executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, and whether or not any more applications develop between now and voting time, the committe will have a serious problem on its hands to decide what to do in the best interests of the sport.

Clubs in the East—and they always furnish the major share of the entries—are particularly anxious this year to have the championship regatta held in this section of the country, as under the present condition of their finances they can ill afford the expense of sending oarsmen on a long trip West. However, the Western delegates are prepared to make a strong fight, particularly those of Duluth, San Diego and San Francisco, which have citizens' organizations behind them.

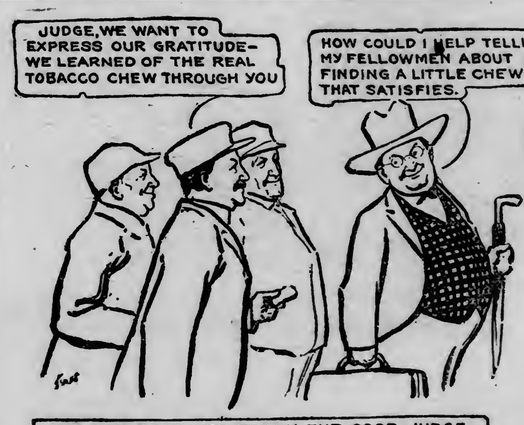

Duluth bases its plea on a number of arguments, including the enthusiasm of its citizens generally for the sport, an excellent course, favorable climatic conditions during August, and the fact that crews from the Duluth Boat club won five out of the twelve national championships last year. San Francisco offers the Panama-Pacific exposition as an attraction, in addition to the promise of excellent management and fair courses.

No entries are expected from Canada, as many of the rowing club men in the dominion have gone to the front. This means the loss of several star oarsmen.

Ray Higgins, president of the Duluth Boat club, stated today that he has received practical assurances that the local club can land the regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, if the officials of the national can be persuaded that a fair portion of the Eastern crews will come out here.

"One of the propositions before us now," said Mr. Higgins, "is offering inducements in the way of transportation for some of the crews. The majority of the clubs of the East have neither the resources nor the enthusiasm of the Duluth Boat club. To secure a large representation from the East it may be necessary for us to raise funds and pay the transportation of some of the oarsmen.

"The proposition in a nutshell is that

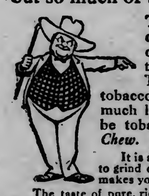

THE RAIL ROAD MEN THANK THE GOOD JUDGE.

A MAN'S comfort is a precious thing—chewing tobacco can mar or make a man's pleasure and contentment.

That's the reason why "Righ-Cut" users are so eager to tell their friends about the Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit .oo much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

if the Canadian crews are not going to row this season, Duluth does not want the regatta. We are going after it strong—if conditions warrant the holding of the regatta here; if conditions do not warrant Duluth in going after it, then the matter will be dropped."

War May Affect Rowing.

The war may affect rowing. This is one of the reasons why it may prove an unwise move in going after the regatta in what may be an off year in general athletics.

It is stated that Peoria has little chance to secure the national. The majority of the officers of the national association are said to favor Duluth—if it can be shown that Eastern oarsmen can be induced to come out here.

In this matter there is small chance for a disagreement between the officials of the Duluth Boat club and the officers of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. Duluth does not want the regatta, according to President Ray Higgins, unless it can be shown that both the Eastern and Western clubs will send representations.

In the event that it develops that Duluth is going after the national, Ray Higgins and Wallace Quimby will represent the club at the meeting of March 20, with the possiblity that Julius H. Barnes will also be at the meeting.

HATLEY TO PLAY CAPRON

Billiard Stars of Northwest to Engage in Series Here.

W. F. Hatley, recognized as the champion balk line billiard player of the Northwest, has arranged a contest with the veteran Joe Capron of St. Paul. The series of billiard contests will be played in the Hatley rooms shortly after the termination of the amateur tourney that is in progress at the present time.

Capron is a real star of the green cloth. The St. Paul man played three years in the academy of Paris and during his residence in the capital of France met all the stars of the billiard world. The series of games between two such stars as Hatley and Capron should prove a treat to lovers of the gentlemen's game.

Following is the result of the games of yesterday in the amateur tourney and the complete standing to date of the players:

JACK JOHNSON COULD BE EXTRADITED.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, who fled to Europe after being sentenced to a year in the Federal penitentiary for violation of the Mann act, eventually will be extradited and returned to Chicago on a charge of conspiracy, according to a statement by Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney.

The recent supreme court decision in a white slave case, holding that a conspiracy may be entered into to violate the act, was cited by Mr. Clyne as authority for the statement.

ANOTHER JACKIE IS KILLED WHILE BOXING.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 16.—A. V. Brown, a seaman on the cruiser North Dakota, at the Puget Sound navy yards, died yesterday from injuries received Sunday while boxing on the cruiser West Virginia, with Clarence Salmon, another seaman.

A blow behind the left ear rendered Brown unconscious. Brown's home was in Dallas, Texas. Naval authorities held that Salmon was blameless in connection with Brown's death.

Sutton Wins.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 16.—George Sutton defeated Koji Yamada, 300 to 214 in a Billiard Players' league match here last night. Averages and high runs: Sutton 15; 61. Yamada 11 5-19; 39.

OSWEGO TO MEET ROTARY

Fast Basket Ball Game Expected Between Strong Teams.

The crack Oswego basket ball team of Oswego, N. Y., and the fast Rotary team of this city will meet this evening at the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium. Last evening at Two Harbors the Rotary team defeated the Two Harbors quint by the score of 45 to 35. The Duluthians led all the way and showed marked superiority. In the contest against the Eastern invaders the locals are expected to play a great game. Lawrence Duby, manager of the Rotary team, declares that the Duluth boys are in much better shape than when they met the Eastern team in the initial game. The team work of Duluth should show better and it is expected that Oswego will be compelled to travel at top speed to win.

WOMAN WILL HAVE NEW TRIAL

Newly Discovered Evidence Grounds for Appeal in Assault Case.

Mary Traverse, negress, who was convicted Jan. 23 by a district court jury on a charge of assault in the first degree, was yesterday afternoon granted a new trial by Judge Fesler. She was found guilty of firing a revolver two or three times at Pearl Ball, colored, on Dec. 16 last. Shots were fired and nobody was injured. The woman on trial denied that she "started" things and pleaded self-defense.

One of the grounds urged for a new trial was that of newly discovered evidence. Grover Dickey, the defendant claims, will testify to facts that will show a meritorious defense.

John H. Norton, the woman's attorney, also declared that the court erred in not permitting the jury to render more than two forms of verdict. Under the court's instruction, the jury was obliged either to convict the defendant of first degree assault or free her. Attorney Norton argued that the jury had a right also to pass upon the question of whether the accused was guilty of a lesser offense than that charged in the indictment.

Harry F. White, third assistant county attorney, appeared in the case as attorney for the state.

ASK FOR DISSOLUTION.

Partners in Island Lake Hotel Want Accounting and Receivership.

An action was brought in district court yesterday by D. H. Clough, E. A. Tessman and Martin Rosendahl against Bert F. Gilbert, in which it is sought to have a copartnership dissolved, a receiver appointed and an accounting had.

The four men are jointly interested in a hotel business at Island Lake on the Cloquet river in section 32, 53-14. It is claimed that Gilbert, who is named as defendant, has collected a total of $2,250 more than his partnership interest. An injunction against Gilbert making further collections is sought.

T. E. Considine, who claims an interest in the hotel business, has been joined as a defendant, although the plaintiffs say that they have had no business dealings with him.

How to stop dandruff and loss of hair with Resinol

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop dandruff and scalp itching, and keep the hair thick, live and lustrous:

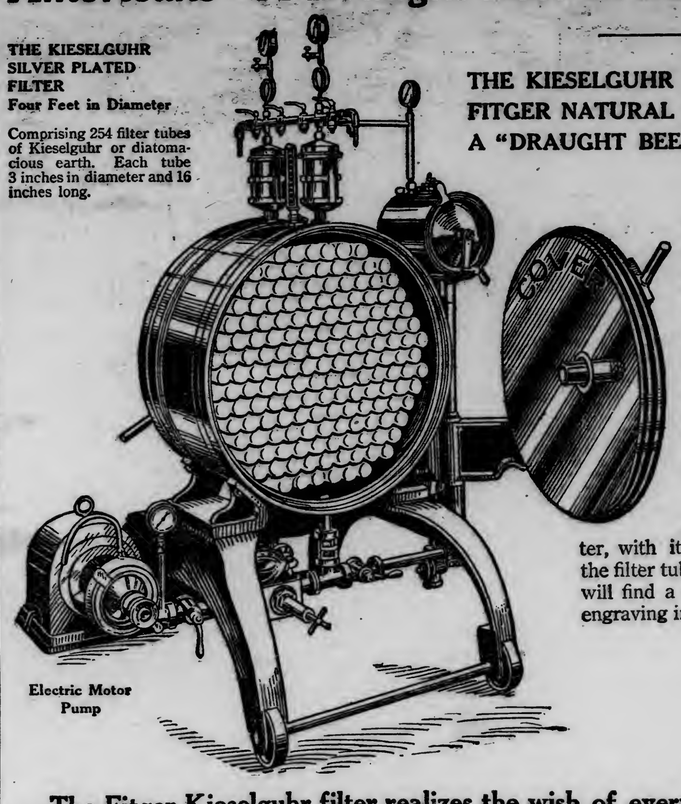

At night, spread the hair apart and rub a little Resinol Ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with Resinol Soap and hot water. Work the creamy Resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment easily heal eczema and similar skin eruptions. Sold by all druggists. For sample free, write to Dept. 27-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Wonderful Invention Gives Americans "A Draught Beer in Bottles"

Comprising 254 filter tubes of Kieselguhr or diatomacious earth. Each tube 3 inches in diameter and 16 inches long.

Electric Motor Pump

THE KIESELGUHR FILTER MAKES FITGER NATURAL BEER A "DRAUGHT BEER IN BOTTLES"

This wonderful invention completely corrects the evils of pasteurization, in fact it does by filteration what others are doing by pasteurization and the natural results is a natural beer, thus ours is no just-as-good method, but a better one, a perfect one.

This picture of our silver-plated filter, with its cover open, shows the filter tubes in position. You will find a more complete steel engraving in every case.

The Fitger Kieselguhr filter realizes the wish of every judge of beer for a bottle beer that retains the character, taste and aroma of the best beer as drawn from the wood.

By the simple process of filtering the natural beer through diatomes of Kieselguhr, the clear, brilliant liquid of Fitger Natural Beer in bottles is identical in character, taste and aroma with the best beer that is drawn from the wood.

Besides having the wonderful character of draught beer, Fitger Natural Beer in bottles has a purity and brilliancy unequalled by any other beer.

A. Fitger.

FITGER Natural Beer

"A Draught Beer in Bottles"

Besides being the purest and most brilliant beer in America, Fitger Natural Beer is the equal in quality of any beer made in Europe. The truth of this and of our claim that it is is proved in the drinking of it, a pleasure easily within the reach of all.

Nurse Proclaims Skin Cure

Myrtle Hahn Says D. D. D. Prescription is Worth Rockefeller's Millions to Her

"Ten years I suffered with eczema—three years of that time I could not appear in public. My entire body was covered with the disease. I could not eat. I could not sleep. I could not live. I have at last found the great Prescription D. D. D. My body is clean, smooth. If there were one bottle only of D. D. D. in the world and I had it, Mr. Rockefeller's millions could not buy the golden fluid."

Nurse Myrtle Hahn, address on application.

If you have any skin blemish or a little rash, do not let it develop into something more serious. D. D. D. Prescription, a compound of oil of wintergreen and other soothing elements, has been recognized for fifteen years as the standard skin remedy. It always helps, and if used according to directions, it should cure in a short while.

All druggists sell this standard remedy, 25c, 50 and $1, but if you come to us, we will offer you the first full size bottle with the guarantee that unless it stops the itch at once we will refund the purchase price.

Merritt Asks $90,000 for Improvements in Department.

Present Reservoir Inadequate—Will Recommend Electric Street Lighting.

Commissioner Merritt introduced an ordinance at the council meeting yesterday afternoon authorizing the appropriation of $90,000, of which $15,000 will be spent for the erection of a 1,000,000-gallon concrete reservoir tank at Woodland, $8,000 for a new bridge over Tischer's creek on East First street and the remainder for pipes and fittings to be used by the division of public utilities during 1915.

In a letter to the commission, D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, explains how it is planned to spend the $90,000 appropriation. The estimate, given below, calls for expenditures amounting to $93,000, but $4,000 to be spent for lead is resold to contractors at cost, so that the expenses will be kept within the appropriation.

Brass fittings	$ 2,000
Lead and iron fittings	3,000
Cast iron water and gas pipe	30,000
Pig lead	4,000
Tischer's creek bridge on First street	8,000
Reinforced concrete reservoir in Woodland	15,000
Gas and water extension	30,000
Auto for engineer's office	1,000
Total	$93,000

Reservoir Too Small.

The reservoir at Woodland will be constructed on Minneapolis avenue, between Anoka and Mankato streets and will have a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons. The present wooden tank has a capacity of only 80,000 gallons, which Mr. Reed claims is far too small for that section of the city.

The present automobile is in bad shape, Mr. Reed claims, and could be sold for $300, while an additional $1,000 would be needed in purchasing a new car.

Mr. Reed also recommends that the council rent the basement adjoining the water and light department's ground floor for storage purposes and as a garage for the automobile. The rent would be $600, just $200 more than is now paid, but the additional space is needed, because of the cramped condition at present, Mr. Reed explains.

Commissioner Merritt reported that Charles W. Cate has been promoted from assistant cashier to cashier and W. F. Haig from assistant clerk to clerk.

The head of the department of utilities also announced that he is now planning a resolution authorizing the sole use of electric lights throughout the city, in place of the gas lamps, as the change would save about $636 a year. Mr. Merritt said that he would make some recommendations at the meeting next Monday, in view of the fact that the new lighting rates are now in effect.

VOSS SAYS MAYOR VIOLATED CHARTER

Awards Bond Engraving Contract Without Advertising for Bids.

Finance Commissioner Voss declared at the council meeting yesterday afternoon that Mayor Prince violated the city charter when he awarded a contract for engraving on city bonds, without first introducing an ordinance and advertising for bids, and as a result the commissioners rescinded the action taken a few minutes earlier and it was decided to leave the matter on the table until the mayor returns tomorrow from Cleveland.

Acting as president of the council in the absence of Mayor Prince, Commissioner Hicken asked for a vote on the ordinance introduced by the former a couple of weeks ago, appropriating $126 for the printing of the park bonds. Commissioners Hicken, Murchison and Merritt voted aye on the ordinance, while Commissioner Voss voted no.

Asked to explain his vote, the commissioner of finance declared that the mayor had already awarded the contract for engraving to the Christie Lithographing & Printing company and that the ordinance appropriating the money was simply a procedure to make the bill payable. He declared, also, that Mayor Prince violated the charter when he awarded a contract on his own responsibility, without first advertising for bids, as is required by law.

"The only excuse that can be offered for arbitrarily giving the job to the Christie engravers," explained Mr. Voss, "is that the job was promised them last year. At that time there was a mistake in dates on park bond coupons, and the printers said it was our fault. They did a little erasing and restamping, worth, I should say, about $2, for nothing, on the promise that they would get the next engraving job on park bonds. This thing does not look right to me, and I had intended for some time to vote against this ordinance to pay the Christie company $126."

Ambassador Denies Report.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The German embassy last night authorized a denial of the report that the ambassador had been summoned to Berlin or was contemplating leaving the United States for any purpose. It was said also that Countess Bernstorff had made no plans for a visit to America in the near future.

MARKET IS AGAIN STRONG

Wheat Bulges Sharply on Higher Cables and Export Demand.

Flaxseed Is Easy on Weakness at Winnipeg—Crushers Indifferent.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 16.—A further sharp bulge materialized in the wheat market today as a result of higher Liverpool cables, good export demand and fears expressed in some quarters of possible damage to winter wheat through the light snow covering. There was also the reported working of substantial export trade at the seaboard. It was noted in that connection that a Duluth operator was a heavy buyer of the May future to cover large sales put through today for delivery at the opening of navigation. It was also a subject of comment that grain offered for resale recently by exporters at the seaboard has been cleaned up, and that some of the interests who offered it have again come into the market. With conditions as they are, it is considered that winter wheat will largely monopolize the trade for some time yet, and it is predicted that foreign buying will later make itself largely felt in the spring wheat markets. It is the contention of shrewd operators that Duluth is now the cheapest wheat market in America, and on that account the placing of trades here by outside traders is becoming more of a factor.

A bullish feature today was the large decrease of 11,500,000 bu shown in the world's visible wheat supply report. American clearances also continued heavy, mounting up today to 1,176,000 bu of wheat and flour.

That farmers are feeding their grain on the markets at the present high prices is shown in the large primary receipts for the season. They came to 1,096,000 bu of wheat today against 576,000 bu last year. Car inspections at Duluth today were 166 cars compared with only 10 a year ago.

May wheat opened ¾c up at $1.51½, and closed 3⅝c up at $1.54⅛ bid, or just ⅛c off from the high of the day. July opened 2c up at $1.43½, and closed 2¾c up at $1.50¼ asked. Durum showed strength on urgent demand from exporters. The May future opened ½c up at $1.56½, and closed 4c up at $1.60 asked. July closed 4c up at $1.56½ nominally.

Flaxseed Slightly Off.

Trading in flaxseed was neglected, a comparatively small volume of trading being put through. Quiet selling pressure developed in the May future and with small interest shown by crushers, it closed 1¼c off at $1.86¾, after opening unchanged at $1.88. July flax opened unchanged at $1.89½, and closed ¾c off at $1.88¾ asked. September closed 1c up nominally at $1.86¼. Weakness at Winnipeg was a factor.

At London, flax closed ⅞c up. There was no market at Buenos Aires today.

Oats closed ¼c off at 57⅛c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.23@1.24; barley unchanged at from 70@80c, and corn ⅞c off at 72¼c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed unchanged to ⅛c up at 67¾@67⅞c bid, and July ⅛c off at 68⅝c bid.

May flaxseed closed there ¼c off at $1.86⅜ bid, and July unchanged at $1.88⅝ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Foreign crop summary: United Kingdom—Weather is fine and planting of the new crop continues.

France—Weather is now more favorable and crop continues fair.

Germany—Weather is milder, following heavy freezing, and much of snow covering has disappeared.

Russia—Snow covering is general except in the Southwest. General crop outlook is favorable.

Roumania—Winter has been mild and crop conditions are generally good on a full acreage.

India—Weather and crop conditions are fine.

Argentina—Weather is favorable for the new corn crop and prospects are excellent.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was influenced by the firmness in America yesterday and strength in spot and light offers. There is a large business being done in Argentine wheat but prices hold firm and sellers are confident. American winters are held at 6@9d advance and the spot market is strong with offers light. There are some disturbing rumors relative to commerce and millers are buying more freely. Arrivals here are disappointing. American visible is bullish.

"Corn was neglected with a poor spot demand and parcels were firmly held. Plate offers are firm for nearby but distant shipments are more freely offered."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Chicago: "The conditions surrounding yesterday's sharp advance in wheat developed very perceptibly a large shrinkage in volume of trade, and I think it is very apparent that we will have to turn our attention for the time being almost entirely to coarse grains, or at least until we get a market in our September wheat. We are liable to run into 10 to 20c daily fluctuations in May wheat at any time, and July will be proportionately violent. Therefore customers who continue to trade in wheat should be fortified with the maximum amount of margins at all times."

Paine Commission company had the following from Stuart Logan at Chicago: "The large export business together with the strong cables caused a sharply higher opening in wheat. Strength in Liverpool was due in part to fears of shipping complications, which in itself should not be considered a bullish feature in the markets of exporting nations.

"The continued heavy increases in the corn visible is having an effect on sentiment.

"Trade in oats is fair and the tone strong due to the continuation of export demand."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Decided Advance in Liverpool Sends Wheat Prices Upward.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—Wheat prices jumped upward today, influenced by a decided advance in Liverpool. Reports were at hand that a demand in Great Britain was of remarkable strength, and continued to exceed the supply. On the other hand, country offerings here and at other leading domestic centers appeared to be diminishing rather than showing any increase. After opening ½c to 2c higher, prices ascended to a range 3c to 4⅜c above last night's level.

Lack of available vessels to Europe held down export sales and caused considerable reaction later in prices. The close was unsettled at 2¼ to 3¼c advance.

Corn although inclined to sag at the start made a rally later in sympathy with wheat. The big stocks in sight, however, lead to evident caution on the part of bulls. Opening quotations, which were unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower, were followed by a moderate advance all around.

Slowness of eastern call led afterward to a good deal of heaviness in the market. The close was steady at ½@⅝ to ⅞@⅞c net decline.

Traders in oats guided themselves by the action of corn. A different course seemed to depend wholly on developments in regard to export sales.

Provisions averaged a little higher as a result of an advance in the hog market. Shorts did most of the buying.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Foreign Influences Uppermost and Standard Shares Under Pressure.

Selling of Coppers Affects Active Group in Late Trading.

New York, Feb. 16.—The only pronounced changes in the early stages of today's stock market were in the specialties, Pittsburg Coal preferred advancing 3 points, while Mexican Petroleum lost an additional 2 points. Leading issues were mostly lower, the Harrimans, Reading, New York Central, United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper receding fractionally. There was further selling of bonds for future delivery, indicating a recurrence of foreign liquidation. Important stocks showed more steadiness at the end of the half hour.

Speculative favorites made some improvement after their initial decline, but today's market showed an undercurrent of caution throughout the early session. Specialties continued to be the conspicuous feature, Texas company falling more than 4 points. Declines of a point or two were recorded by American Sugar, Central Leather and Loose-Wiles. Another severe decline in foreign exchange gave rise to renewed rumors regarding gold imports. Heavy buying of the new Pennsylvania 4½ per cent bonds at advances over yesterday's quotation was an offset to the otherwise lower bonds market.

Extreme dullness prevailed during the midday session, representative stocks being utterly neglected. Bethlehem Steel was strong, however, approaching its recent high record. Oil and motor shares also made substantial gains.

Foreign influences were uppermost in today's dull and irregular stock market. Standard stocks were under pressure. Selling of coppers affected the active group in the late dealings. The closing was heavy.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO EMPLOY PRISONERS ON STATE ROAD WORK

Special Order on Bill to Repeal Elwell Law Postponed.

Question Whether Banking Bill Was Passed or Defeated.

Bill Affecting Mutual Insurance Companies Has Been Introduced.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bill by Senator John H. Baldwin of Frazee, providing for the employment of prisoners on state road work, passed the senate this morning, 46 to 5. It now goes to the house to be considered there. Under it prisoners not employed at other work could be put on road work under the state highway commission, the prisoners at St. Cloud reformatory being used in crushing stone for road material, and trusties from the Stillwater penitentiary being put on road building work.

Elwell Road Law.

The Vermilyea bill repealing the Elwell road law, which was a special order in the senate for this morning, was laid over until Feb. 26 on motion of the author. It was virtually certain that the bill would have been defeated if it had come to a vote today, and this may have had something to do with the fact that the special order was continued until the day after the similar bill pending in the house will be acted upon there as a special order. Practically every Northern Minnesota member is against the repeal of the Elwell law, and many from other parts of the state believe that it will be well to give it a longer chance to show its value.

BIG AIRSHIP WINGED BY HOSTILE GUNFIRE

Assumes Vertical Position and Drifts Toward North Sea.

London, Feb. 17.—A big airship, believed to be of the Parseval type, apparently damaged by gunfire, flew over Amsterdam this morning, says a dispatch from that city to the Reuter's Telegram company.

The airship was flying at a height of about 600 feet and its crew was unable to keep the vessel in a horizontal position.

Assuming a vertical position the air craft drifted in the direction of Suyder Zee, an arm of the North sea, carrying with it telegraph wires with which a dangling rope had become entangled.

The air vessel was later sighted minus its gondola.

FORCE OF 450,000 IS TO FIGHT SERBIANS.

Paris, Feb. 17.—The Austro-German forces organized to operate against Serbia consist of nine army corps, three of which are German, totaling 450,000 men, according to a dispatch to the Balkan agency from Athens, based upon what is said to be authoritative information.

WOMEN JOIN IN PROTEST

Oppose Any Increase in Working Hours of Female Employes.

Bemidji Normal School Bill Laid Over Until March 9.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A public hearing on the bills regulating the working hours of female employes brought a score of women to the house chamber yesterday afternoon to protest against the enactment of any laws in which an employer might find a loop hole through which he could extend the working day, or increase the total working hours of a week.

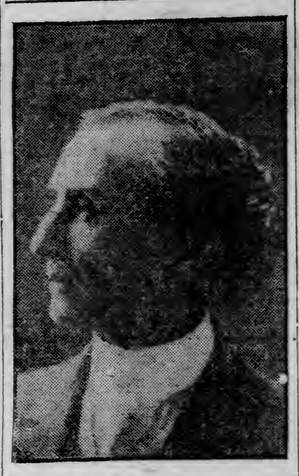

Representatives of employers declared there are certain lines of business that would suffer if it were not possible to increase the number of working hours in certain seasons. The Dunleavy bill would cut down the total number of working hours from fifty-eight to fifty-four in a week.

An amendment was offered by the employers permitting women to work sixty hours a week during busy seasons.

"This amendment," said Miss Bessie Williams, the suffragist, speaking on the proposed law, "would enable employers to furnish employment with excess hours half of the year. The

REMOVE ALL LIMITATION

Bill to Abolish Restrictions on Sale of State Lands.

Committee to Visit Duluth Regarding Track Scales at Elevators.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—As an offset to the bill proposed by State Auditor Preus limiting the sale of state lands to actual settlers, a bill removing all limitation on the sale of state lands, and opening the way to the buying of state lands in large tracts by development companies, has been prepared by Senator Leonard H. Nord and Representative H. J. Miner of International Falls, and it was introduced today in both houses.

This on the theory that so long as the state maintains its present laggard policy toward the development of its public domain, even the land speculator is a kindlier and more progressive landlord than the state of Minnesota.

Senator Nord and Representative Miner are strongly opposed to the policy announced by State Auditor Preus, and proposed to be carried out by bills introduced in the house of Representatives Charles H. Warner of Aitkin and Charles W. Bouck of Royalton, and in the senate yesterday by Senators O. H. Griggs of Virginia and N. S. Hegnes of Argyle.

WHY TURKEY ENTERED WAR

Not Urged By Germany, Says Leading Man of Country.

Holy War Is Also Fact in Spite of Claims of the Enemy.

Constantinople, Feb. 17, via London. —"Turkey declared war without being urged by Germany or impelled by any other influences, save those of the empire," said Talaat Bey today in a statement to the Associated Press made in reply to questions concerning the political and military situation in his country.

Talaat Bey today fills the post of minister of interior, minister of finance and minister of marine in the Turkish cabinet. Two weeks ago in addition to these offices, he was also minister of war, which gave him the four most important portfolios in the administration. He is a young Turk and is undoubtedly the most important man in Turkey at the present time. His advice is heeded everywhere and he virtually directs the public affairs of the Ottoman empire.

Will Carry War Through.

"Turkey engaged in military operations," he continued, "only when actions on the part of Russia and Great Britain made defensive measures necessary and today Turkey has taken all steps needful to carry the war through. The holy war is not menacing Christians, but the holy war is a

RESERVE FOR EMERGENCY

Fund of $28,000,000 at the Chicago Sub-Treasury Is Proposed.

To Be at Call of Seventh and Ninth Reserve Banks.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Acting jointly with Chairman C. H. Bosworth of the Seventh Reserve bank of Chicago, Chairman John H. Rich of the Ninth reserve bank of Minneapolis has proposed to the Federal reserve board that there be created in the United States sub-treasury at Chicago a special emergency reserve of Federal reserve notes, in $5 denominations, amounting to $28,000,000. Of this amount $20,000,000 will be held to the credit of the Chicago bank and $8,000,000 to the credit of the Minneapolis reserve bank. Requisitions on this fund will only be made at times of emergency or stress, and in the ordinary conduct of business both banks will disregard this fund and make their requisitions on Washington for their current supply of notes of all denominations.

Origin of the Plan.

The proposed plan is the outgrowth of conferences between the Seventh and Ninth banks, during which it was pointed out that upon Aug. 1, 1914, the situation caused by the European war first became serious in Chicago, with the result that before the following evening, which fell upon Sunday, the Chicago banks decided to go on a

GERMAN PURPOSE STANDS REVEALED

Italian Papers Comment on Imaginary Blockade of the British Isles.

Rome, Tuesday, Feb. 16.—Commenting on the diplomatic exchanges between the United States and Germany on the question of the submarine blockade of England, the Giornale d'Italia says:

"The German note to the United States does not deny the rights of neutrals, of which the great American republic has become the champion, nor does it renounce the threatened reprisals.

"The German purpose has now been revealed. All the noisy and somewhat ridiculous maneuvers of the imaginary maritime blockade had for their sole object the compelling of neutrals to make their voices heard in England asking the British government to permit provisions to enter Germany. Germany has been asserting that the dangers of famine was absolutely nonexistent; as a matter of fact Berlin is seriously anxious and scarcity of food already is being felt among the less well-to-do of the German civilian population."

SHIPPING BILL STRIKES SNAG

House Bill Will Not Command Support of Progressives.

Measure Now Before Senate and May Be Sent to Conference.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Administration Democrats got another setback in their fight for President Wilson's ship bill when they suddenly learned today that the bill as it passed the house last night will not command the support of Senators Kenyon, Norris or La Follette, Progressive Republicans, on whom they counted nor the support of any of the seven insurgents of their own party.

The plan to move to concur with the house amendments was wrecked by the discovery that the leaders could not muster enough votes. Administration leaders made no attempt to conceal their embarrassment and planned to send the bill to conference with the hope of putting on some amendments to command support.

The bolting Democrats were said to be favorable to an amendment to make the enterprise a temporary one to end with the European war.

From House to Senate.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The administration compromise ship purchase bill went to the senate today, following its passage by the house early today by a vote of 215 to 121.

The measure was injected as a new

ERRONEOUS IMPRESSION

People Have Wrong Idea of Food Supply, Says President.

Administration Will Give Out Statement of Exact Situation.

Washington, Feb. 17.—President Wilson declared today he believed an erroneous impression had grown up concerning the food supply in the United States.

In a letter to Mayor Mitchel of New York, replying to a suggestion that an embargo be placed by the Federal government on exports of wheat, the president wrote that in the near future the administration will give out a statement showing the exact situation.

The president thanked Mayor Mitchel for his letter and for the report of the food committee, headed by George W. Perkins, in which it was suggested that the amount of wheat in United States at the present time as compared with the amount on hand a year ago be made public.

Has All the Facts.

"The matter is one to which the administration has, of course, from the first, given the most thoughtful and careful attention," wrote the president. "The agricultural department is in possession of all the facts. About these facts some very erroneous impressions obtain, and it is our purpose in the immediate future to remove these misunderstandings by a very full and clear statement of all the facts. They will, I think, reassure the country."

Mayor Mitchel's letter has been referred to Secretary Houston and a thorough investigation now is being made. It is understood to be the position of the president that he has no authority to declare an embargo on the exportation of foodstuffs, even though such a step were considered wise.

CREWS OF ENGLISH SHIPS ON STEAMER

Holger Believed to Be Bringing Men From Boats Sent to Bottom.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Feb. 17.—It is reported here today from credible sources that the German steamer Holger was sighted yesterday heading for Buenos Aires and having on board the crews of several English steamers sent to the bottom by some German warship, probably off the coast of Brazil.

The steamship Holger has been identified with German activities in the South Atlantic. She left the harbor of Pernambuco secretly early in January, presumably with supplies for German warships at large in South American waters. The Brazilian government punished the port officials whose negligence made this breach of neutrality possible.

SAY 50,000 RUSS TAKEN

Germans Claim That Number of Prisoners in Recent Battle.

Many Cannon and Machine Guns Fall Into Their Hands.

Berlin, Feb. 17, by wireless to London.—Fifty thousand prisoners, besides many cannon and machine guns, were captured by the Germans when the Russian Tenth army was defeated in the Mazurian lake district, East Prussia, according to a statement issued at general headquarters here today. The text of the communication follows:

"In a nine days' battle in the Mazurian lake district the Russian Tenth army, consisting of at least eleven infantry and several artillery divisions, not only was driven out of strongly entrenched positions east of the Mazurian lake plateau, but was forced across the frontier.

"Utterly defeated at almost every point only the remnants of the army managed to reach the woods east of Suwalki and Augustowo, where they are being pursued. The number of prisoners taken has not been ascertained, but certainly exceeded 50,000. More than fifty cannon and sixty machine guns, besides an unknown quantity of war material, were captured.

"Emperor William was present during the decisive fighting in the center of our line. The victory was won by veteran East Prussian troops assisted by other troops who were young for such work but proved their worth.

"The achievements of these troops under fearful weather conditions, marching by day and night and fighting against such a stubborn enemy, are beyond all praise."

SERBIANS DEFEAT ALBANIAN RAIDERS

Thrown Back Across Frontier and Will Be Followed.

Salonika, Greece, Feb. 17, via London.—The Albanian raiders into Serbia have been defeated, according to dependable information reaching this city, and thrown back across the Serbian frontier. Serbia has decided to follow these raiders up, the same dispatches aver, and invade and occupy several Albanian towns with the view of securing her frontier against further violations.

LAST WARNING IS ISSUED TO ALL NEUTRALS

Some Services Across British Channel Will Probably Be Curtailed.

Majority of Shipping Lines, However, Will Accept the Risk.

Details of Great Britain's Retaliatory Policy Expected Soon.

London, Feb. 17.—Under the headline "supreme warning," says an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph agency, the German papers publish a semi-official communication once more warning all neutral ships to avoid the war zone established in the waters surrounding the British Isles.

London, Feb. 17.—At the stroke of midnight the waters surrounding the coasts of the United Kingdom will become, so far as lies within the power of Germany to make them, a war zone, which all vessels, neutral or otherwise, will penetrate at their peril.

Some of the services across the channel probably will be curtailed, but a majority of the neutral shipping lines will accept the risk and continue their sailings. The names and nationality of the vessels and the flags of their nations will be painted on their sides in the hope that German submarines will not sink them by mistake.

England's announcement of the details of her proposed retaliatory policy by which she plans to shut off the German food supply from the outside, is expected momentarily and apparently there is not the slightest prospect that this country will accept the German proposal to call off the blockade if England will relax naval pressure on shipping.

Brings Matter to Head.

It is not expected that there will be any immediate and widespread activity by the German submarines, but the developments regarding neutral ships should bring to a head one of the most interesting and threatening situations of the war.

England was noticeably cheered by the second big air raid on the German

GERMANS TORPEDO BRITISH COLLIER

Missile Strikes Steamer Dulwich, Sinking Her in Twenty Minutes.

Havre, via Paris, Feb. 17.—The British steam collier Dulwich, bound from Hull to Rouen, was torpedoed by a German submarine twenty miles west of Cape de La Heve at 6 o'clock last night. The torpedo struck the middle starboard side.

As the crew took to the boats the submarine which torpedoed the ship was seen speeding away. The Dulwich sank in twenty minutes.

Twenty-two members of the crew of thirty-one were picked up by the French destroyer Arquebuse and brought to Havre. Seven others rowed to Fecamp. The fate of the other two is unknown.

RUSS ENVELOPED BY AUSTRO-HUNGARIANS.

Berlin, via London, Feb. 17.—The Russian army in Bukowina has been enveloped by the Austro-Hungarians between the Pruth and Sereth rivers, a correspondent of the Tageblatt says in a dispatch from Bistritz.

One Austrian army pushing the Russians from the South now has reached Storozhinetz while another Austrian force having advanced eastward from Marmaros against Wisnicz, now stands in the vicinity of Czernowitz.

A general battle may be expected therefore, south and east of Czernowitz. The Russian army has halted twelve miles from that point, the Tageblatt is informed, having met reinforcements.

A HIGH STEPPER.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The German war office announced today that in the recent defeat of the Russians in the Mazurian lakes region of East Prussia, more than 50,000 prisoners were taken. The invaders, it is said, were "utterly defeated at most points," only remnants of the Russian army escaping after a battle of nine days. An earlier official German statement said that 26,000 Russians had been captured.

The Russian army at the other end of the eastern front also is in danger, according to the correspondent of a Berlin newspaper who states that the force which penetrated Bukowina has been enveloped by Austro-Hungarian troops. A general battle is believed to be pending, near Czernowitz.

Germany's reply to the American note concerning the rights of American vessels in the war zone which the Berlin government announced would be established around the British isles tomorrow was delivered to Ambassador Gerard who forwarded it to Washington.

Another British vessel has been sunk by a German submarine.

It became known today that the collier Dulwich which went down yesterday in the English channel was torpedoed.

An Athens dispatch states that a formidable army has been assembled for a new campaign against Serbia. This army is described as amounting to 450,000 men, made up in part of Germans. The army which Serbia now has in the field is estimated at about half this size.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO MEET MURCHISON

Conference on Second Street Paving Project to Be Held.

Property owners along Second street, from Fourth avenue west to Fifth avenue east, are requested by Commissioner Murchison to meet at the council chamber Friday morning to discuss the plan proposing a new pavement for that thoroughfare.

The meeting will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning, and in this way the commissioner hopes to learn the sentiment of the property owners, just what they think should be done and what material should be used this time.

Second street was paved some time ago, but the pavement is in very bad shape and Commissioner Murchison announced last week that he will make every effort to have the thoroughfare repaved some time this summer. He plans to use asphalt because the present condition of the concrete base, which can still be used in laying the new pavement.

The improvement, it is estimated, will cost about $50,000.

RENEW COMMERCIAL CLUB FEDERATION

Secretary Eva of Duluth Club Will Attend Meeting in Minneapolis.

On Friday of this week, Col. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, will attend a meeting to be held then at the Hotel Dyckman, Minneapolis, at which an effort will be made to completely reorganize the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs. President D. M. Neill of Red Wing has just sent out a letter urging a full attendance at the meeting.

Judge Wilson of Stillwater is one of the prime movers and recently sent to the Commercial club here a draft of a proposed constitution to be adopted, which was reviewed and amended according to Duluth ideas, and returned.

It is proposed to incorporate the new organization and name it the Minnesota Commercial and Civic Federation, and to have offices in Minneapolis. It is also proposed to have a salaried agent. The Friday meeting will also arrange for the ninth annual convention to be held in Minneapolis late next month.

"The new organization will act along the same lines as the old," said one of the officers, in discussing the proposed reorganization, "only the membership plan will be changed. The various member commercial organizations will be taxed according to the strength of the organization. In former years only organized clubs could be accepted in membership. We expect to change that to enable individuals and firms and corporations to join us.

"We are going to have a fund of $25,000 ready to carry on the new work and to assist any club in the state organization that needs it. The large city organizations are usually well provided for. It's the club in the rural district we are after.

"The entire reorganization means that the state organization is going to get on its feet and become a real civic aid to Minnesota."

RAINY RIVER MAN IS BURIED AT CROOKSTON

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of H. A. Nichols, formerly engaged in the lumber business here who died at Rainy River, Ont., Monday, was held here this afternoon from the Methodist church under the auspices of the Masons.

It was just one year ago that Mrs. Nichols, wife of the deceased, was brought from Rainy River to Crookston for interment. A son, Chauncey, survives.

Mr. Nichols was a member of the blue lodge of the Masons and also a member of the M. B. A.'s.

U. S. MAY TAKE OVER GUARDS

Federal Control and Pay Expected for State Troops.

Reorganization Suggested in Dispatch From Washington, Says Resche.

The impression is growing among National Guard officers that before a very long time the National Guards of the various states will be wholly under control of the Federal government and in Federal pay for the time spent in service, such as drilling, encampment and actual service.

That the general trend of the changes in regulations by the Federal war department has been that way has long been recognized. At present the national government furnishes the militia of the states with uniforms, arms and other equipment, and Minnesota has received in the neighborhood of $50,000 this year from the government at Washington for maintenance, according to Col F. E. Resche of the Third Minnesota regiment.

According to a Washington dispatch, the department's plan is to organize the two branches of the military service into four field armies ready to respond without confusion to a call for emergency service. Creation of twelve militia divisions is contemplated, with headquarters in each district.

Each state is assigned a definite quoto of troops to be furnished. In the proposed field armies there will be in all 316,264 enlisted men, in addition to some thousands employed in war time at depots and in transportation operations.

The government announcement says that most of the states already maintain as many men as will be needed in the infantry and light artillery branches, but there is a shortage in coast artillery, cavalry and sanitary corps. Transfers are urged, therefore, to balance the system.

Col. Resche says that there is little news mentioned in the dispatch. The militia of the state has been placed in militia divisions for quite a number of years, the officers of the companies, battallons and regiments in each division have full informations where, in case of ordered mobilization, to get their stores, where to assemble and have been informed in other ways as to how to successfully prepare in the quickest time for mobilization in army corps at any point where the government may desire.

No notice as to new developments have yet been received here, but in case something else in the way of furthering the project of taking the militia under Federal control comes about or has, notice is expected by the heads of the respective Minnesota regiments in a very short time.

STEAMER OSCAR II HAS REACHED PORT

Owners Believe She Has Been Seized for Examination of Cargo.

New York, Feb. 17.—Agents of the Scandinavian-American line announced today that the steamship Oscar II, which sailed from this port Feb. 4 for Christiania and Copenhagen, had reached Kirkwall, in the Orkney islands, just north of Scotland, last Sunday. Fears had been felt as to the vessel's safety.

Dispatches from Copenhagen stated that anxiety was expressed there and that the vessel was two days overdue. This was denied by local agents, who said that the ship was not expected to reach Copenhagen till tomorrow.

Four hundred passengers, most of them in the steerage, are aboard the vessel.

The Oscar II is a Danish steamer.

Local agents of the line said today that the vessel had not intended to stop at Kirkwall, and that they inferred that she had been seized and held there for examination as to her cargo.

The message received here came from Capt. Hempel and consisted of four words: "Arrived at Kirkwall Sunday." This is the second time the Oscar II has been diverted from her course into a British port.

"The message undoubtedly means that the Oscar II has been taken into Kirkwall by a British war vessel," said a representative of the line. On the previous occasion she was detained for a few days and then released.

WHEAT DEALERS HAVE DISAPPEARED

Two Chicago Men Who Were to Be Witnesses, Leave City.

New York, Feb. 17.—Upon the resumption today of the state investigation into the increase in the cost of wheat and bread it was announced that two of the Chicago wheat dealers who had expressed a willingness to appear at the hearing had disappeared from Chicago and that the direction in which they were traveling was not eastward.

An attache of the attorney general's office said that James A. Patten was not one of the men. Among the Chicago grain dealers expected to appear at the hearing are J. Ogden Armour, George Marcy, president of the Armour Grain company, and C. H. Canby, president of the Chicago board of trade.

The first witness today was Henry Heinzer, chief statistician of the New York produce exchange.

WOULD SET ASIDE DEED

Guardian of Homesteader Says He Was Incompetent to Make Sale.

Declares He Sold Farm for About One-Fourth Its Value.

Trial of an action brought against Karl O. J. Eklund and Olaf V. Eklund of Brookston and Julius E. Diesen and Charles P. Osburn of Cloquet by C. T. Larson of Brookston, as guardian for Anders A. Anderson, to have a deed executed by his ward to the defendants set aside is on in district court today before Judge Ensign and a jury.

Mr. Larson, as plaintiff, is seeking to establish that Anderson, aged 72, was mentally incompetent when he disposed of the greater portion of his 160-acre homestead in Carlton county to the defendants on May 12, 1913, for $1,000. He alleges that by reason of the aged man's incompetency advantage was taken of him by the purchasers.

The plaintiff took the stand as a witness this morning in his own behalf. Mr. Larson's contention is that the property sold to the defendants was worth $4,500 at the time the deal was negotiated and that the amount paid was grossly inadequate. A portion of the land was well timbered, he testified.

The Eklunds, who are among the defendants in the action, are sons of a Cloquet timber dealer and are engaged in business at Brookston, Mr. Diesen, another defendant, is county attorney of Carlton county and Mr. Osburn is a banker at Cloquet.

Anderson Satisfied.

In their answer, the defendants deny that there was any taint of fraud in their transactions with Anderson. They say that they bought the land at Anderson's solicitation, and after he had attempted to sell it to others at the same price. They further allege that Anderson is satisfied with the trade, in spite of the fact that his guardian has brought suit to have the deed set aside.

Recently the aged man made an affidavit declaring that his guardian, Mr. Larson, had begun the action without consulting him. He asked the probate court to discharge the guardian as he was fully capable of handling his own affairs. Judge Gilpin of the probate court refused to remove the guardian and an appeal to the district court was taken. This appeal is now pending.

A. G. McKnight is attorney for the guardian and W. L. Case is representing the defendants.

FOLK WILL NOT COME TO DULUTH

Federal Case in Which He Was to Appear Will Be Dropped.

Duluth will be denied the privilege of hearing Joseph W. Folk, the famous Missouri attorney, because of a petition for the dismissal of an action filed in the Federal court today. Mr. Folk, who is now attorney for the interstate commerce commission, was to have appeared in behalf of the government.

The original action was brought by Attorneys Harris and Pearson of this city in behalf of Frederick M. Alger against the Northern Minnesota Railway company and the Interstate Commerce commission, and asked for an adjustment of freight rates on that road. An action involving the same legal points has just been tried in Chicago, and makes the trial of the Duluth case unnecessary. In view of this fact Attorneys Harris and Pearson petitioned for a dismissal.

MOORHEAD VOTES TO CONTINUE SALOONS

Vincent, Opposed to Saloons, Chosen Mayor By Six Votes.

Moorhead, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Moorhead has a "wet" town and a "dry" mayor as the result of yesterday's election. The vote was the largest in the history of the city, exceeding by 170 all former records and reaching a total of 1,203. The "wets" led by 11 actual votes but gained 11 more cast as blanks, making the final result 629 as against 574.

In a three-cornered mayoralty fight, Vincent won by 6 votes, having received 508, Awty 502 and Melander 169. Melander was credited with 15 per cent of the total vote and received 14. Awty led Vincent in the first three wards but the "dry" landslide in the Fourth carried Vincent into the mayor's chair. He will strictly enforce both state and municipal laws against saloons and will forfeit licenses in cases of infraction.

Other Officials Chosen.

Other election results were: Rustad, for city attorney, unopposed; Dammen, for city treasurer in close fight with Wilhelm, and Wade, for police magistrate against Rusness. Johnson was elected city justice and the aldermen are Morrow in the First, Moe in the Second, Peterson in the Third and Costain in the Fourth. The "drys" feel that the big showing made is a great moral victory and are optimistic over the passage of the county option bill by the legislature, which will be invoked as soon as permissible, when they claim there is no doubt as to results, as Moorhead and Barnesville are at present the only two "wets" in Clay county.

The greatest disappointment is on the part of the women, who had prayed and pleaded for a "dry" victory, and they feel depressed that the funds of the "wets" and superior organization won.

There are rumors of a contest, but it is scarcely probable that the "drys" can show that fifty-five illegal votes have been cast and Moorhead is likely to retain its saloons until knocked out by the county option bill, or, if that fails, in another election next year.

The saloon men had checked and rechecked the city and had the vote estimated to within five of the actual results. They claimed they were beaten a week ago, but made gains after that.

ACTION OF SOCIALISTS DISQUIETS FRENCHMEN

Paris, Feb. 17.—The action of two Socialist members of the French cabinet, Jules Guesde, minister without portfolio, and Marcel Sembat, minister of public works, in attending the recent international Socialist conference in London, has evoked protest from a large section of the French press, which makes the declaration that this conference was inspired by the German Social Democratic party.

Senator Gaudin de Villaine has written a letter to Premier Viviani announcing that unless the government publicly disavows these two Socialist ministers before next Thursday he will present an interpellation on the subject in the senate.

EMPLOYERS FAIL TO USE NEW BUREAU

U. S. Employment Agency Urges Them to Send in Their Names.

The failure of employers of labor to give their names to the new Federal employment bureau at the postoffice is the only hitch in the operation of the department. This will be remedied Postmaster McEwen believes when the public has become familiar with the functions of the agency.

Only one employer, up to this time, has given his name while laborers are applying at the rate of ten to fifteen a day. Many of the men believe the new bureau to be similar to a regular private agency where men are shipped out whenever needed. The fact is that the department is a clearing house in which employer and employe may get together and thus avoid a condition where a dearth of men may exist at one point and a congestion at another. Names of laborers and employers are sent to Minneapolis, where the whole field of Minnesota and the Dakotas is gone over.

It is expected that the new department will be a great boon to the farmers of the Northwest this coming spring. Usually the large cities have crowds of unemployed laborers each spring while the farmers cannot get in touch with men and have to plant and harvest their crops short-handed. The European war has brought up the prices of all grains, and the farmers have been urged by grain men to increase their acreage as much as possible. The increase is expected to be great, and Minnesota and the Dakotas should be in need of a large number of farm hands during the spring and summer.

Keep Your Lungs Strong

This advice is doubly important with the knowledge that every three minutes some one in the United States succumbs to consumption and many refuse to realize they are afflicted until it is too late.

It is after colds or sickness, from overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists that tubercular germs thrive because the resistive powers of the body are weakened.

Only with fresh air, sunshine and abundant rich blood can one hope to arrest their progress, and the concentrated fats in Scott's Emulsion furnish fuel for rich blood, and its rare nourishment helps strengthen the lungs while it builds up the forces.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or run-down Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known and is free from alcohol or stupefying drugs. Avoid substitutes.

CHARGES AGAINST DIX PROVE UNFOUNDED.

New York, Feb. 17.—District Attorney Perkins announced yesterday that he had established as unfounded charges made against John A. Dix, former governor of New York, and others, including the pardon granted by Mr. Dix, when governor, to Albert T. Patrick, the slayer of William Marsh Rice.

Horace Young, an Albany lawyer, and the firm of Joseph Walker & Sons, mining engineers of this city, were named with Mr. Dix in the charges, which were made last November by George Goodrich. It was alleged that the pardon was granted because of a certain mining concession which Mr. Dix was to have obtained.

TWO FIREMEN LOSE LIVES AT DANVILLE.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 17.—Two firemen, Albert Holmes and Albert Shanks, were killed and five others seriously injured early today while fighting a fire that completely destroyed the Odd Fellows' building. A falling wall buried the firemen in the ruins.

The building, a four-story brick structure, was located in the business district and the loss is estimated at $70,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

WHERE EXAMPLE WAS BETTER THAN PRECEPT

Grain Trader Showed Pledge Card and William West Climbed Aboard Water Wagon.

Inspired by the example of Watson S. Moore, one of Duluth's most prominent business men, William West, blacksmith, has forsaken the broad highway for the "straight and narrow path."

Last December West lost his job and appealed to the city welfare department, asking them to telegraph a brother living at Cleveland, Okla., for $20, with which he could live until he found work.

After investigating the case, welfare department officials spent 60 cents of the city's money to telegraph, and the next day the $20 was received from the brother.

Probation Officer Hicks gave West the $20, with a little advice. Three days later he was brought into headquarters on a charge of drunkenness, with about $8 left of his $20.

This time West declared he had found a job, but he didn't have enough money to get to the town where he was to work. When he went to the probation office to ask for further aid, Mr. Moore was there, discussing with Mr. Hicks the feasibility of the Board of Trade fund, to be used in helping "down and outers."

"Here is a case in point, Mr. Moore," declared the officer, pointing to West. Mr. Moore was interested, and after talking with West, tried to induce him to sign the pledge, and "go straight."

West didn't want to sign, and finally Mr. Moore took out his card case, and produced a pledge card.

"I have carried this since I was a boy," he said, "and I am glad to say that it always has been a help to me."

The blacksmith was so impressed that he consented, and was duly enrolled as the first one to be helped by the Board of Trade fund.

The probation officer spent $4.64 in buying West a ticket to Bena, Minn., and securing him a job.

This morning he received a check for $4.64, from Bena, where West is employed as a blacksmith.

CHRISTIE DECLARES VOSS HAS MISREPRESENTED CONDITIONS

Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, received a communication this morning from John Christie, president of the Christie Lithographing & Printing company, in answer to the charges made by the former at the council meeting last Monday that only erasures were made in correcting the park bonds printed by the local concern last year and that the mayor had violated the charter by giving the contract for this year's park bonds without advertising for bids.

In his letter, Mr. Christie states that there was an error in the park bonds of last year, through no fault of his, as proof had been read by the city officials and the mistake was discovered after the bonds were all printed. It was during a conference later with Mayor Prince, Mr. Christie explained this morning, that he agreed to print the entire issue all over again, if the 1915 contract would be given him, as he could then run off a large part of the printing, including the double shade of green, both in front and back, for both issues.

Mr. Christie also included copies of two bonds showing the one with the error and the other with the proper corrections. The original bond had the word "twentieth" instead of "first," and as the correct bond shows, there would have been two much space left if an erasure had been made, as claimed by Commissioner Voss. Mr. Christie denies that the mistake was erased, but claims an entirely new issue of bonds was printed.

Mr. Christie's letter to the commissioner follows:

"In confirmation of my statement to you, that we had made a complete run of the bonds referred to in our conversation, instead of making an erasure and correction on the bonds already delivered to you, you will herewith find enclosed sample sheets of both issues, and we would ask you to examine the place where the error occurred, which is the date line marked on the face.

"If you will further examine the colors of the borders, you will notice that there is a difference in the shade of green used in the two different issues, as further confirmation of my assertion that these bonds were completely lithographed over again.

"We would also draw your attention to the fact as a further confirmation of our statement, that while the first bond printed in error, bears our imprint on the bottom of the face of it, the corrected bond has no imprint whatever, so that they could not both be done from the same plate, or at the same time.

"This should convince you that you have publicly done a wrong to us by the statement made at the council and which appeared in this morning's paper, and also in this afternoon's paper, and it seems to us that it should be up to you in all fairness to right the wrong which you have done, or at least endeavor to do so, as publicly as your statement of yesterday.

"As these are samples which we retain on file and are part of our records, we would ask you to kindly return them after you have made an examination of them. Yours very truly,

"JOHN CHRISTIE."

FORMER MENOMINEE RICH MAN DIES POOR.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—A. F. Underwood, 59 years old, once a well-to-do resident of Menominee, Mich., died in a West Side lodging house yesterday of pneumonia. He was without funds.

Identification was effected partly by a letter from his daughter, Miss Belle Underwood. Later his son, Bert Underwood, identified the body at an undertaker's. Neither the son nor daughter knew of their father's condition till he was dead.

DULUTH CONCERN OBJECTED TO SALE.

L'Anse, Mich., Feb. 17.—The Marshall Butters company's lumber mill was sold Monday for $758,377, being bid in by Martin A. Davel, F. A. Stewart and J. Swainton for the Trust Company of Chicago, which had advanced money to the concern. The Kelley-Horr-Thomson Hardware company of Duluth filed a notice with the company's attorney to restrain the sale of personal property.

MOOSE LAKE MEN FINED.

Three Saloon Keepers Indicted By Grand Jury Mulcted $50 Each.

Carlton, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Dancer, who is holding district court here, is trying civil actions. The judge accepted the pleas of guilty to the indictments made by H. K. Lower, Joseph King and M. H. Herschler, the three Moose Lake saloonmen, indicted for running saloons in that village after the courts had declared the village "dry." They were fined $50 each and costs.

TWO DITCH DIGGERS ARE BURIED ALIVE.

Sherburn, Minn., Feb. 17.—Victor Johnson and Carl Lausten, employed in the construction of a ditch northeast of here, were buried alive in a caveln. Warning by the foreman of the impending slide was too late, and the men were buried under tons of frozen earth. The ditch was fourteen feet deep. Johnson was 23 years old and Lausten 24.

Track-Walker Killed.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Feb. 17.—John Payson, aged 60, of this city, night track-walker for the Omaha railroad, was found dead yesterday on the tracks. His body had been cut in two by a train, four miles south of the city. He is survived by a large family.

Voted for Buchanan.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—Jacob W. Scott, grocer of the East side, who cast his first vote for James Buchanan for president in 1856, died Monday of heart failure at his home here. Burial will be at Crystal Lake cemetery. Mr. Scott was born in North Carolina and came to Minneapolis twenty-six years ago. He was 81 years old.

Western Wool in Demand.

Helena, Mont., Feb. 17.—Montana wool growers are advised that 500,000 pounds of Idaho, Utah and Montana wool had been contracted for at Salt Lake at the prevailing price of 26 cents a pound, with as high as 26. This is a record price for the amount of wool involved. Twenty cents was refused two weeks ago in Montana.

SEASON OF SELF DENIAL

Ash Wednesday Opens Annual Period of Fasting and Penance.

Catholic and Episcopal Churches Will Hold Daily Services.

Today is Ash Wednesday and the first day of Lent.

Lent observance among Duluth church-goers began today. The season will last until Easter, and in the meantime communicants from some of the congregations of the city—particularly the Catholic—will abstain from the use of meats, pastries and candies. Daily services will be held in the Catholic and Episcopal churches.

Lent is the great church fast of six weeks before Easter. Originally the duration of the fast appears to have been forty hours. Until the age of Gregory the Great, Lent consisted of only thirty-six days of fasting. It has not been established whether Gregory the Great or Gregory II, nearly a century later, added Ash Wednesday and the remainder of the week to Lent, which now, saving the Sundays, includes exactly forty days of abstinence.

The last seven days are called Passion or Holy Week, commencing with Palm Sunday. Maundy Thursday is kept as commemorative of the institution of the eucharist.

The Catholic church regards Lent as an institution dating from apostolic times. According to Bishop James McGolrick of the Duluth diocese, St. Jerome, St. Leo the Great, St. Cyril of Alexandria and St. Isadore of Seville mention it in their writings as such.

Two Factors in Penance.

"Penance," declares the bishop, "consists of contrition of the soul and in mortification of the body. These two parts are essential to it. The Lenten service begins on Ash Wednesday with that ceremony, which is both a lesson of the spirit of the holy season and a warning, 'Remember, man, thou art but dust, and into dust thou shalt return.'"

At the cathedral of the Sacred Heart mass will be conducted daily throughout the week at 7 and 8 o'clock in the morning. On Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays evening services will be held at 7:30 o'clock. Special masses will be sung during Holy week.

At St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, services will be held daily throughout the Lenten season. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays services will be held at 4:15 p. m.; on Tuesdays and Fridays at 8 p. m. Holy communion will take place on Thursdays at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. Special instruction for children and confirmation candidates will be given at 5 and at 8 p. m. on Mondays. Sunday worship will be held as usual. The Holy Week program will include several additional services, according to Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector.

The Lenten season is also considered as a period of self-denial. In the Catholic church communicants are expected to deprive themselves of luxuries and refrain from dancing, theater-going and other worldly pleasures during the fast period. Those of the Protestants who observe the season do not adhere to any set rules, but are expected to deny themselves such pleasures as they please.

Easter Sunday this year falls on April 4, and the Lenten season will end at that time.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "The Volunteer Organist."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
EMPRESS—Musical comedy stock company.
REX—Photoplay, "The Goose Girl."
ZELDA—Photoplay.

Joins the Company.

Miss Doris Olsson, the new leading woman of the Baldwin Players, joined the company this morning, and took part in her first rehearsal for next week's play, "Hawthorne of the U. S. A."

This play has been but recently released for stock purposes, and has never been seen in Duluth. It is a lively romantic comedy, the story being somewhat reminiscent of "Graustark." Miss Olsson will not have great opportunity to show her abilities in the opening play, as the men's roles dominate it, but patrons of the Baldwin company will have their first glimpse of the new leading woman. Miss Olsson is familiar with the part, having played it with the Castle Square company of Boston, with which she was leading woman for forty weeks.

This week's play, "The Volunteer Organist," is frankly melodrama of the New England type, but it is evidently pleasing Lyceum patrons, for the attendance to date has set a record for the winter engagement. Many who have not attended a theater for years have turned out to see this old-fashioned play of a type that was popular fifteen or twenty years ago.

This is the farewell week for Miss Shoemaker and Louis Leon Hall. They will make their last appearance Saturday afternoon, as there will be no Saturday evening performance, owing to the U. C. T. minstrel show.

YOUR BILIOUSNESS

At the New Grand.

The present bill at the New Grand will close with today's performances.

This week has been a gala one at this popular playhouse, for all the acts have registered solid hits and the pictures are most interesting.

A happy dancing combination is Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder. The tango, maxixe, fox trot and many original and exhibition dances in which they excel have established them as favorites at every performance.

Gardner and Revere with their funny songs funnier sayings and comedy capers bring laughs, loud and long, at every line.

Beautiful girls, stunningly gowned are the Four Society Girls. All have excellent voices.

Herras and Preston offer a novelty in comedy acrobatics and ground tumbling.

The three-reel feature, "The Shanghaied Baby;" "Olive's Greatest Opportunity;" a comedy and an educational film complete the bill.

Tomorrow the bill will change and be headlined by Bobby and Pebby Valentine in a new diversion in comedy singing, dancing and music.

Margarette Braun and Sister in bits of musical comedy; Gormley and Caffrey, acrobats and comedians, and Humid Kalz Pasha, the world's premier mat clown, with his company of comedians, and the Hearst-Selig News complete the vaudeville end of the entertainment.

Among the photo plays is the favorite comedian, Charles Chaplin, in "His New Job;" "The Little Engineer," a Helen Holmes railroad story, and a comedy.

At the Zelda.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" will open a three days' engagement at the Zelda theater tomorrow. Mr. Mistachkin, manager of the Zelda, believes that this five-act production is going to be the best drawing card his theater has had. "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" has been reproduced in this interesting picture with far greater attention than it was possible to give it when it first appeared on the stage. An entire circus was hired and transported to San Rafael. Theodore Roch, a lawyer, supervised the court scenes.

The leading lady, Beatriz Michelena, is one of the most popular stars in motion pictures. Supporting her are such well-known players as Blanche Chapman, Andrew Robson and House Peters. The production is a dramatization of Anne Crawford Flexner's successful play based upon the widely read stories, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary," by Alice Hogan Rice. It was produced by arrangement with the Liebler company by a competent all-star cast.

In connection with the production, Mr. Mistachkin has arranged to present an interesting and most laughable comedy with "Ford Sterling." Miss Delia Jones will sing as one of the effects in the five-act production. A complete change of program will be given to the Zelda patrons on Sunday, and another complete change on Monday.

ST. PAUL BABY IS STARVED TO DEATH.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—The 5-months-old baby boy of Mrs. Julius Tretzel, 548 Wacouta street, was found dead in bed Monday by the mother. "Insufficient nourishment" was given as the cause of death by the police surgeon. Mrs. Tretzel said her husband left her a few months ago. There were four children; the oldest was 9. She had done what she could to clothe and feed them. She put the baby to bed as usual Sunday night, with a bottle of milk. In the morning, when she went to take it up the child was dead with the bottle still clutched in its hand.

Wireless Messages Can Be Received Without Aerial Antennae.

Medford, Mass., Feb. 17.—Experiments conducted by the wireless society of Tufts college have shown, it was announced today that radio messages may be transmitted and received without the use of aerial antennae.

During the experiments the best results from the use of the ground antennae were obtained when the receiving wires were laid in a direct line with the transmitting station.

Two ordinary wires, ninety feet in length, were found sufficient to receive messages from points fifty to seventy-five miles distant.

Swallows Doll's Leg.

Rochester, Minn., Feb. 17.—Hattie Hagen, 5-year-old daughter of Evan Hagen, living near Byron, died in this city as the result of swallowing a doll's leg about Christmas time. She was brought to this city for surgical treatment, but it was found that the leg had lodged in the lung.

A London physician practicing in the poorer districts of that city says that 25 per cent of the children coming under his observation wear charms and amulets under their clothing.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE AND PRINCESS

Word comes from Germany that the wife of the crown prince is expecting an addition to her family and that a special train is being held in readiness to carry the crown prince from the fighting line to Berlin when the event is near. The prince has been married since 1905 and already he has four children, all boys.

BOY JUMPER UNCONSCIOUS

Herbert Clow Injured While Trying to Emulate Ski Riders.

Suffers Concussion of Brain—Accident at Toboggan Slide.

An attempt to emulate ski riders who performed at the eleventh annual tourney, held in Duluth recently, has proved costly to Herbert Clow, 15-year-old son of John H. Clow, 407 East Fifth street.

Since Monday afternoon, when the boy fell from a ski jump at Eighth street and Third avenue east, he has been unconscious, all attempts at resuscitation having failed.

Physicians state that he sustained a severe concussion of the brain, but that the full extent of his injuries cannot be determined as yet.

With several companions, Herbert had been playing on the slide constructed at Eighth street near the boulevard. Shortly before the afternoon's play ended, he attempted to outjump his playmates, and his skis caught, throwing him on his head.

A young women who refused to give her name was slightly injured when she attempted to toboggan down the Chester Park slide last night, starting at the half-way post. A toboggan which had started from the top of the slide struck her just as she was starting down hill. She was taken to her home by friends, declaring that she wasn't hurt "very much."

CASUALTIES IN BRITISH NAVY

Churchill Gives Out Statement Covering Entire War Period.

London, Feb. 17.—Replying in the house of commons to a request for details regarding the total British naval casualties since the outbreak of the war, Winstor Spencer Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, gave these figures: Killed, 348 officers and 5,812 men; wounded, 45 officers and 352 men; missing, 8 officers and 5 men.

To this list Mr. Churchill said should be added the casualties of the First royal naval division which participated in the defense of Antwerp, which were: Killed, 5 officers and 36 men; wounded, 4 officers and 184 men; missing, 7 officers and 868 men; interned, 39 officers and 1,524 men.

ONE SHIP LINE WILL SUSPEND SERVICES.

London, Feb. 17.—The Exchange Telegraph company's Amsterdam correspondent is authority for the statement that the Batavia and Zeeland shipping lines and services between Folkestone and Flushing will be suspended for a few days after Thursday, Feb. 18, the date on which Germany announced its determination to begin a blockade of British waters.

OPPOSED TO HIGHER FARE

Legislator Would Hold Rate at 2 Cents in Wisconsin.

Railroads Present Petition Asking Increase to 2 ½ Cents.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 17.—Assemblyman Budlong today introduced a bill to prohibit the collection of omre than a 2-cent fare per mile by railroads in Wisconsin.

Senator Burke offered a bill which provides for four full regiments of infantry, one cavalry and one artillery. This will make an increase of a number of companies. If passed, a number of cities including Green Bay, will profit by the terms of the bill.

A petition signed by representatives of three railroads operating in Wisconsin was presented to the senate by Senator Baxter of Superior, asking the legislature to change the 2-cent fare law enacted in 1905 to 2½ cents per mile. The petition was referred to the corporation committee.

Tax Commissioner.

Senator Baxter introduced a bill, urged by Governor Philipp, which provides for a tax commission of one member and two ex-officio members. Under the terms of the bill one member will be appointed by the governor for four years, the ex-officio members to be the governor and attorney general.

A bill by Senator Fairchild would empower the governor to enlist and organize a reserve corps of militia to conform to the regular army requirements.

By Bosshard, authorizing the state board of forestry to set aside a game propagation farm in the reserve.

Another bill makes it a misdemeanor to receive a tip, any person giving a tip to be equally guilty.

Assembly bills included: Grell, increasing exemptions under the income tax law to $3,600 for married men; Morgan, for repeal of the more stringent parts of the eugenics marriage laws; Nelson, to repeal the corrupt practices act; Cretny, to have the income tax collected by local assessors as proposed by Governor Philipp.

Both houses adjourned until this evening.

AWARD TO BE MADE IN APRIL

Board of Arbitration Will Settle Wages for One Year.

Manager Trenholm Praises His Men on Omaha Road.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—The award of the board of arbitration in the wage movement of the engineers, firemen and hostlers of ninety-eight Western railroads will be handed down April 20, next, and will be effective for one year, beginning May 1, 1915.

A stipulation to this effect was signed here today by A. W. Trenholm, chairman of the conference committee of managers representing the railroads; Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and William S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Under the law by which the board was appointed evidence was to be closed Feb. 27, next, and the award rendered within ten days. Although hearings began Nov. 30, last, it became apparent recently that the case could not be concluded within the time set.

While discussing punitive overtime as proposed in the Western railroad wage arbitration, A. W. Trenholm, general manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad, complimented his own men yesterday.

Mr. Trenholm was testifying and expressed the opinion that time and a half for overtime would not result in the elimination of overtime as alleged by the men.

Would Be Temptation.

"It would be a temptation to the men, to some of the men—and I would not accuse them of any weaknesses which might be made against me—to make the extra pay," said the witness. "Most of the men would be fair, I am sure, but some I am afraid would stretch a point to get the money."

Timothy Shea, an officer of the firemen's brotherhood and member of the board of arbitration here, asked:

"About how many men on your road, Mr. Trenholm, do you think would prove weak when the chance came?"

"None," said the witness promptly.

"What? None? Did you say none?" asked Mr. Shea.

"Yes, I said none of the men on my road."

"Well," went on Shea, "we may assume that the men are about of a caliber on the different roads, and then there would be none of this cheating? Isn't that so?"

"I don't know on the other roads. I know the men on my own; I've brought up most of them through thirty-five years and we know each other."

Mr. Shea smiled, and allowed the subject to drop.

The burden of Mr. Trenholm's testimony was that such an infinitude of detail, based on purely local conditions, enters into the handling of railroad trains that standardization of hours and pay threatened effects which could not be guessed at.

PARTNERS AIRING THEIR TROUBLES

Island Lake Hotel Matters Up Before District Judge Cant.

Affairs of the partnership arrangement whereby the Island Lake hotel and summer resort on the Cloquet river has been conducted are being aired before Judge Cant in district court today at the trial of an action instituted by D. H. Clough, E. A. Tessman and Martin Rosendahl against Bert F. Gilbert.

The four formed a copartnership on April 15, 1911. It was agreed at that time, it is claimed by the plaintiffs, that Mr. Gilbert should take charge of the hotel at Island lake in section 32, 53-14, attend to the collections and make daily payments to Mr. Clough. It is claimed that out of the first year's receipts he accounted for only $820 and that he has collected and kept $2,250 more than his partnership interest. The court is asked to dissolve the partnership, order an accounting, restrain the defendant from making further collections and appoint a receiver to take charge of the copartnership assets.

THEATER MANAGER SUED.

Film Exchange Brings Action for Breach of Contract.

Reciting that Ralph E. Parker, manager of the Sunbeam, an East Superior street "movie" theater, broke his contract with them, the Laemmle Film company, a Minneapolis corporation, started suit in district court today to recover $236.15, which is claimed to be due them. The film exchange company alleges that Parker, on July 30, 1914, entered into a contract to lease "The Trey D'Hearts," a serial of thirty-one reels in fifteen installments at $20 a week. He ordered the service discontinued on Sept. 20, 1914. His actions in so doing, it is claimed, constituted a breach of contract. The film company also includes a bill for merchandise purchased in the claim against Parker.

TO ASK CAPT. MITCHELL TO EXPLAIN REMARKS.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Secretary Garrison today instructed Brig.-Gen. Scott, chief of staff of the army, to call upon Capt. William Mitchell of the general staff to explain published remarks attributed to him on the unpreparedness of the United States for war.

Capt. Mitchell was quoted as having said that "it would take the United States about three years to put an army of 1,000,000 trained men in the field and in that time an enemy could take and hold our American seaboards."

RELATIONSHIP NO EXCUSE FOR THEFT

Stealing Watch From Cousin Will Bring S. Cohen Before Jury.

Stealing a watch from one's cousin is just as bad as stealing it from a total stranger, and Sam Cohen, aged 32, found this out, to his sorrow, when he appeared in municipal court this morning, charged with grand larceny. He was bound over to the grand jury.

After living with his cousin, H. Davis, 2222 West Michigan street, for some time, Cohen suddenly disappeared last July, taking with him a watch valued at $50 and a chain worth $18, according to Mr. Davis.

"Ingratitude" must be Cohen's middle name, according to Mr. Davis, who told the court that he had helped Cohen bring his wife to Duluth from Russia, and that he had found several jobs for him and helped him support his family.

When Cohen disappeared with the watch, all friendship ceased, and since that time the Davis family has been looking for their cousin. Cohen pawned his coat, and went to St. Paul with the watch and chain, he declared in court. At St. Paul he sold the timepiece for $22 and then continued his travels, going on to St. Louis, a town he always had wanted to see.

Police were notified of the theft last summer, but a search in St. Paul failed to disclose the timepiece or Cohen. When he returned to Duluth yesterday he was arrested by Sergeant John Hunter of the West end.

Cohen admitted his guilt, but said he hadn't returned to Duluth because he was afraid of being arrested for wife desertion. Assistant County Attorney Mason Forbes appeared for the state in the case, which was heard before Judge F. H. Cutting.

NEEDS WORK BY THE MEN

Speakers at St. Peter's Church Men's Club Discuss Religion's Necessities.

J. A. Peterson Says Money Is Good, But Service Is Better.

More than 100 men attended the annual banquet last night given by the Men's Club of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street. The general theme of the speeches following the banquet was "Personal Service." Among the speakers was James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, former candidate for the United States senate. Members of the Episcopal clergy of the city also made addresses.

Mr. Peterson said that the men are not active enough in the work of the church. He said that too often the men go on the theory that they are buying Christianity and that they gave a certain amount of money to the support of the church and foreign missions and let the rest of the work rest on the rector. He said it is a well known fact that church work is not very effective these days.

Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church advocated greater moral supervision of fathers over their boys and more active interest in church work. He said that if the fathers would take more interest in the Sunday school work it would tend to give the boys a greater respect for religion and more interest in it.

The address given by Rev. Thomas W. MacLean of Trinity Pro-Cathedral was along the same lines. He said that the church is the most democratic institution that the country has but does not have enough influence. Active participation on the part of each member and their personal interest in the work he said is the only way to remedy this.

C. S. Mitchell took the place of Mayo. W. I. Prince on the program. Mr. Mitchell said that only a thin interdenominational feeling exists between the churches. The church, he declared, should be the social home for the men and the gathering place for the discussion of affairs both moral and civic. Closer co-operation between various church organizations and men's clubs was advocated by the speaker.

Rev. J. G. Ward of Cloquet spoke on the subject of "Pushing and Shoving." He said that more push is needed in the work of the church and especially on the part of the men. The men of the church, he asserted, as a rule take too little interest in the work, laying the burden of the work of the organization on the shoulders of the rector and the women's organizations.

Bishop James D. Morrison was unable to be present and give his address. Carl E. Lonegren was toastmaster. Musical numbers were given by a quartet from Christ Episcopal church of Proctor, and there were vocal solos by Prof. D. W. Hiestand and violin numbers by Herbert Miska. The supper was served at 7 o'clock by the young women of St. Peter's.

Juggler's Sex a Question.

There is one performer at the Orpheum this week who is having considerable enjoyment at the expense of the Orpheum patrons. It is one of the two Cromwells, jugglers. Since the act made its appearance Sunday, there has been a wide speculation as to the sex of the larger of the two. Although pretty, exceedingly graceful, with superb figure and a well modulated voice and appearing in woman's costume, a number of dissenters forcibly assert that no woman could perform the tricks which require such strength and dexterity and insist that Cromwell is a man. Others assert that no man could acquire the grace of the juggler.

Some of the Sunday night critics spoke of the juggler as a young woman, which started the speculation. "He" or "She," as the case may be, refuses to be interviewed on the subject. The complication is all the more puzzling on account of the fact that the program simply states that the act is "The Cromwells" and does not enlighten as to whether one is an accomplished female impersonator or not. Probably the stage hands at the Orpheum could solve the mystery, but they are "not telling."

Company Will Remain.

So successful have the Manhattan players been in their opening production, "The Man Who Owns Broadway," at the New Empress that the management announced yesterday the company would remain here indefinitely.

The musical stock company was brought here from New York practically on trial. If the shows proved satisfactory, the players were to remain at the New Empress throughout the present year. Manager Abrahamson is enthusiastic over the players and well pleased with the reception given the opening production.

The seat sale has been large and those who have attended have only praise for the performance.

Announcement was also made yesterday that season reservations may now be made, so that patrons of the New Empress may have the same seats for the same night each week.

"The Man Who Owns Broadway" will continue for the remainder of the week, with a special matinee Saturday afternoon. On Sunday afternoon the Manhattan players will open in their second production, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," another George Cohan success, in which Fay Templeton and Victor Moore both starred for two seasons.

SENATOR TO BE "SHOWN"

W. C. T. U. Members Deny Statement of Lack of Suffrage Interest.

Petitions Out Demanding That He Support Pending Bill.

The wrath of the women of the western end of the city is about to fall on the shoulders of State Senator George M. Peterson. At a social gathering held by the West Duluth Women's Christian Temperance union, held yesterday afternoon at the West Duluth public library, one of the members stated that Senator Peterson had intimated that he intended voting against the women's suffrage bill because there were not more than fifty people in this end of the city who were in favor of the legislation.

"We intend to show Mr. Peterson that he does not know what he is talking about," said one of the members last night. "There are five women who want the vote to every one who does not want it in Mr. Peterson's district. Mr. Peterson intimated to a delegation of the women that he was favorable to granting the right of the people of the state to vote on the question and it is our intention, if possible, to have him live up to this half-made promise."

The W. C. T. U. women have already started petitions which, when finished, will be forwarded to the senator asking him to vote for the bill. Among the women who have agreed to circulate the petitions are Mrs. John J. Moe, Mrs. L. Q. Greeley, Mrs. Ed Gustafson, Mrs. T. F. Olsen and others.

A New School for Art.

There is a charm in "The Goose Girl" at the Rex which no one can escape. To begin with there is the personality of Marguerite Clark. Petite, dainty, vivacious, gifted, representing a most exquisite type of American feminine beauty, this little artist takes every heart by storm. The women and children join in homage to her sweet art. The part of the monarch who would rather be a man than a king, is the beau ideal of a prince charming and equal praise may be awarded to every man and woman in the play.

One would have to be blind not to see the outlines of a new school of art in motion pictures. This new school specializes in beauty. It has a keen eye for what is sweet and beautiful and elevating, and seeks to emphasize things on the screen. In "The Goose Girl" this tendency triumphs at the Rex beautiful Wednesday and Thursday.

TICKET NAMED.

Michigan Democrats Name State Candidates for the Spring Election.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 17.—At one of the most peaceful political gatherings held in Lansing in many years, the Democrats of Michigan nominated by acclamation a ticket for the spring election and indorsed in most emphatic terms the administration of President Woodrow Wilson at their state convention here today. The state ticket follows:

Justices of the supreme court—Thomas J. Cavanaugh of Pawpaw and Charles M. Wilson of Grand Rapids.

Regents of the university—Samuel J. Douglas of Detroit and E. F. Brown of Iron Mountain.

Superintendent of public instruction—Frank Jensen of Benton Harbor.

Member of the state board of education—Paul Van Dis of Greenville.

Members of the state board of agriculture—Angus M. Smith of Algonac and John J. Bale of Lakeview.

The platform commended the stand of President Wilson on the ship purchase bill and denounced the Republican opposition to the measure as being un-American and against American prosperity. The platform pledged President Wilson the support of the Michigan delegation for renomination and re-election.

WANTS U. S. TO GUARD THE CANADIAN BORDER

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The United States has been asked by the Dominion government to place guards on the American side of the international boundary at highway and railway approaches to Canada, it was learned last night. The request was made through the British ambassador at Washington. The recent attempt on the bridge at Vanceboro by Werner Horn and confidential reports of the feeling of certain Germans and Austrians in the United States, have led to the request, it was said. The Canadian government has had guards on duty at many points on the boundary for some time.

PERSISTENT IN APPLYING.

Fourth Petition Filed for Saloon License at Skibo Before Board.

Max Neupert yesterday afternoon filed an application with the county auditor, to be presented at the March meeting of the county board, asking for a license to conduct a saloon business at Skibo. The county board has on three occasions recently turned down applications for licenses to conduct a saloon there.

Mitchell Polinsky petitioned twice and was refused both times, and his son, Sam Polinsky, was also turned down. Neupert is the latest applicant.

BRITISH MAKE ANOTHER RAID

Air Wing of Navy in Massed Attack on Belgian Coast.

Attempt to Destroy German Submarine Base at Zeebrugge.

London, Feb. 17.—The air wing of the British navy yesterday made another massed attack on the German positions along the Belgian coast in an effort to destroy or damage the submarine base at Zeebrugge, the guns at Ostend and Middelkerke, and the aerodrome at Ghistelle. According to the official report good results were attained. Forty machines were utilized compared with 34 in last week's attack.

While the British airmen were dropping their bombs on the gun positions, the supply trains and barges and trawlers used in mine laying and mine sweeping operations, eight French airmen attacked the Ghistelles aerodrome, thus preventing the German airmen from making an attempt to cut off the British machines.

The official report makes no mention of the airmen engaged, so it is presumed that they all returned safely. The day was bright and clear, conditions being more favorable than last week for a raid.

Official Statement.

The official statement concerning the air raid says:

"The air operations of the naval wing against the Bruges, Ostend and Zeebrugge district were continued this afternoon. Forty aeroplanes and seaplanes bombarded Ostend, Middlekerke, Ghistelles and Zeebrugge.

"Bombs were dropped on the heavy batteries situated on the east and west sides of Ostend, on gun positions at Middelkerke, on transport wagons on the Ostend-Ghistelles road, on the Mole at Zeebrugge to widen the breach damaged in former attacks on the locks at Zeebrugge, on barges outside Blankenberghe and on trawlers outside Zeebrugge.

"Eight French aeroplanes assisted the naval machines by making the attacks on the Ghistelles aerodrome, this effectively preventing German air craft from cutting off four machines. It is reported that good results were obtained.

"Instructions are always issued to confine attacks to points of military importance and every effort is made to avoid dropping bombs on any residential portions of towns."

clearing house basis, and the following morning began issuing clearing house certificates. As a result of this action there was issued in the Seventh reserve district about $45,000,000 of clearing house certificates and $35,000,000 of the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency, making a total of $80,000,000. Not all of this currency was used by the banks, but about $25,000,000 was put into circulation, and it is probable that if the Federal reserve banks has been in existence at that time, the call upon them for Federal reserve notes would have amounted to approximately $40,000,000.

In submitting the proposal for the emergency fund to the Federal reserve board, Chairman Rich points out that unless some special provision is made in advance, the recurrence of a similar emergency will leave the Seventh and Ninth banks in such a position that they will be compelled to make requisition on Washington for a special supply of Federal reserve notes with a prospect of delays that might be dangerous. Minneapolis could not expect to receive an adequate supply, even upon telegraph requisition, in less than two days' time, and the probabilities are that it would require three days to make up the shipments and forward them from Washington. Chicago would have an advantage of about twenty-four hours over Minneapolis.

Ready For Emergency Use.

The plan proposed is that both banks act jointly in cancelling all unfilled requisitions for Federal reserve notes now in the hands of the board, replacing them with new requisitions amounting to the contemplated fund of $28,000,000, which would be filled and the notes shipped to the Chicago subtreasury, to be held there at the risk of the treasurer of the United States. The sub-treasurer in Chicago would receive instructions to issue notes from this reserve on the telegraph requisition of the chairman of the Ninth bank in Minneapolis or upon requisition of the chairman of the Seventh bank in Chicago. Minneapolis would then be able to obtain over night an ample supply of small denomination notes for any emergency use and Chicago would be able to draw notes out of the subtreasury upon an hour's notice.

While the total reserve emergency notes might not be adequate to meet a serious crisis, the reserve in Chicago would prove sufficient to amply take care of the member banks of the Seventh and Ninth districts until such time as additional requisitions could be made on Washington and supplementary shipments obtained.

fact which the enemies of the Mohammedan world should bear in mind Christians in the Ottoman empire who are participating in the destinies of their country are not suffering from conditions brought about by the present state of affairs and any statements to the contrary are a result of British, French and Russian intrigues, the purpose of which is to direct against Turkey the pressure of neutral countries of lower standing in the Ottoman world."

Complains of Attitude.

To the correspondent of the Associated Press, Talaat Bey complained of the attitude of foreign newspapers, including the American press, which he said were oblivious alike of the position of Turkey under the pressure of the entente powers and the efforts of the young Turks to accomplish the reforms associated with that party.

"On land and sea alike the Russians and the British provoked hostilities," he declared. "Our action finally was the result of efforts to bottle up our fleet by mining the entrance to the Bosphorus.

"Turkey is prepared to carry on the war to the end of the European conflict. The fact of being able to face the enemy on four fronts simultaneously against forces three or four times greater than ours and to mobilize at the same time an army of more than 1,000,000 men for a reserve, is for us as well as for our allies a matter of the greatest importance and for our allies a precious advantage."

This was the answer of the minister in reply to an inquiry as to the political and military advantages gained by Turkey up to the present time.

The Holy War.

The interview then turned to the Holy war. Answering a question on this subject, Talaat Bey said the holy war was a fact, in spite of the claims of the enemy; and he added that Christians were the enemies of the Mussulman world. Questioned concerning the oft-mentioned "reprisal policy" the minister answered:

"Turkey decided at the outbreak of hostilities just what retaliatory measures she would employ in case the powers of the Triple Entente acted contrary to the regulations set down by international law."

The next statement of the minister was that no other war ever had been so enthusiastically received in Turkey. This was made in reply to a question concerning the attitude of the Turkish people toward the conflict. Russia is our hereditary enemy, and Great Britain is the power which subjugated Islam," the minister said. "Nothing demonstrates the enthusiasm of the people so well as the formation of volunteer regiments in all corners of our immense empire."

Asked what possible effect would result from the success of the Ottoman armies, the minister said:

All Eyes on Turkey.

"All the sorrowful eyes of Islam are today turned toward the Turks, who, since their appearance upon the historic scene, always have been the benevolent champions of the disciples of Mohammed and all Asiatics generally. The success of Ottoman arms can have but one result, namely the rising of all Mussulmans subject to the dominion of Russia, France or Great Britain. Persia is a living symbol of what Turkey would become if we had not taken part in this present war. In addition to similarity of religion and above all in race, we have with Persia absolutely identical interests, which are created by the political dangers of having the same enemies."

The conversation was then turned to the military resources of Turkey and in this connection the minister said:

"Our military strength is greater than generally is believed. Despite our costly and murderous wars in Tripoli and the Balkans and the drain of continuous insurrections, Turkey is stronger today than ever. We have already more than 1,000,000 men on our various fronts."

Asked what truth there was in the statement that Turkey soon would be in need of new war supplies, and that Germany and Austria-Hungary were now engaged in establishing a free route from Berlin to Constantinople, Talaat Bey replied:

"Leave That to Armies."

"Leave that to the armies. The voice of guns predominates today over the voice of statesmen who permit themselves to be interviewed."

Talaat Bey was willing to discuss, although guardedly, the political and military situation of Turkey's allies. In this connection he said:

"This situation appears to me excellent from every viewpoint; even admirable. I am not competent to judge of military matters. All I know is that the Germans are fighting continually and advantageously on French and Russian territory in such a manner that their enemies do not dare go from the defensive to the offensive. Public opinion in Turkey concerning the naval operations of the Germans is simply overcome with astonishment; the audacious offensive at sea of the Germans has provoked our legitimate admiration."

In the Caucasus, Talaat Bey said, the coming of spring would mark a recrudescence of Turkish operations interrupted or cut short by the inclemencies of winter, which had been felt in these mountains to a greater degree than in any war zone of Europe.

Crossing Suez Canal.

Speaking of the results of a possible crossing of the Suez canal by Ottoman troops, the minister said:

"This will be the greatest coup possible to carry out against the British power, next to landing in England. Traversing the canal means interfering seriously with British communications with India, and this country will then lose no time in rising."

Relative to the Dardanelles in case of the victory of Turkey and her allies, Germany and Austria-Hungary, Talaat Bey said briefly that all the results of such a victory would conform completely to the interests of Turkey.

The conversation then turned to the status of Turkey and Islam in general in case Great Britain was completely divested of all opportunity of interfering with the affairs of the Ottoman empire and the Mussulman world. Commenting on this possible situation, Talaat Bey said Turkey would, under the circumstances, not have to tolerate intervention of any sort, and that the freeing in this respect of that part of Islam subjugated by Great Britain would have a result entirely favorable to the interests of Turkey and her allies.

The relations of Turkey with the Balkan states was dismissed by Talaat Bey with these words:

"Turkey has most cordial relations with Bulgaria, sincere relations with Roumania and good relations with Greece; Serbia and Montenegro do not count."

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

A Kansas City Lady Darkened Her Gray Hair and Stimulated Its Growth by a Simple Home Process.

She Tells How She Did It.

A well-known resident of Kansas City, Mo., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home process, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, stimulate its growth and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently, then every two weeks. This mixture relieves scalp troubles and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair. It does not stain the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."

bases on the Belgium coast, but as was the case after the previous raid, the official report does not indicate the extent of the damage.

Berlin is again celebrating the success of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, as further details of the East Prussian operations are received. It is officially claimed in Berlin that 50,000 Russian prisoners were taken.

It is believed that a recurrence of the general German offensive in the western theater depends largely upon the outcome of the present eastern situation.

French Statement.

Paris, Feb. 17, 2:45 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon issued the following statement on the progress of the war:

"In spite of an active cannonade the French and English aviators who yesterday threw bombs in the region of Ghistelles and Ostend, have been able to re-enter our lines unharmed.

"The Belgian artillery has carried out some effective shooting against gatherings of troops and shelters.

"In Champagne ten of the enemy's counter-attacks were repulsed during the night.

"In the Argonne there was considerable activity. Near Fontaine-Aux-Charmes we have destroyed a block house and 100 meters of trenches. A German attack launched by at least three battalions between Four De Paris and Hill 263, west of Boureuilles, has been very severe. We have entirely repulsed it, inflicting on the enemy huge losses and taken some prisoners.

"More to the east in the forest of Melancourt we have captured 100 meters of trenches.

"From the Meuse to the Vosges nothing noteworthy has occurred."

German Statement.

Berlin, Feb. 17.—By wireless to London, 3:45 p. m.—Today's statement from the war office is as follows:

"Western theater: Obviously induced to do so by our great successes in the east, the British and French yesterday and during last night began especially stubborn attacks at many places. In their unsuccessful attempts to recapture positions which they lost on the 14th of February the British lost in prisoners four officers and 170 men.

"Northeast of Reims the enemy's attacks were repulsed. Two officers and 179 Frenchmen were captured. Especially strong advances, made against our lines in the Champagne district frequently led to fierce fighting at close quarters. With the exception of certain separate sections where the enemy had penetrated and where the battle still continues, the troops of the enemy were repulsed everywhere. About 200 Frenchmen were taken prisoners.

"In the Argonne we continued our offensive and captured further portions of the enemy's main positions, taking 350 prisoners, two mountain cannon and four machine guns. In Priesterwald, north of Toul, small successes also were recorded. On this occasion two machine guns were captured. There is no news from the Alsace-Lorraine frontier.

"Eastern theater: North of the Niemen river our troops have followed everywhere the defeated enemy in the direction of Tauroggen. In the district east of Augustowo engagements occurred at many places during the pursuit of the enemy. A Russian column advancing from Lomza was defeated. Four hundred prisoners and six machine guns fell into our hands. A division of the enemy coming from Krajewo also was driven back towards Assowaic.

"On the conquered front from Plock to Racionz, in Poland north of the Vistula, bitter fighting apparently is developing.

"In Poland, to the south of the Vistula, there are no new developments."

SENATE BEGINS SHIP INQUIRY

Formal Probe of Charges of Lobbying Against the Measure.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Formal inquiry into charges of "lobbying" against the administration ship purchase bill pending in the senate, began today by the special senate committee. Two witnesses who were on hand ready to testify when the hearing began were Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore, former manager of the Atlantic Transport line, and Sigmund Albert of New York, representing German-American steamship companies.

Describing his connection with the shipping bill, Mr. Baker said he met Secretary McAdoo when the latter called a conference of business men soon after the outbreak of the war. He said he conferred with McAdoo on the shipping bill and ocean freight rates and discussed the availability of ships included in a list submitted by a Boston ship agent, which included none of those owned by the large German lines.

When efforts were being made to get Americans out of the war zone, Baker said he asked Mr. Sickel of the Hamburg-American line to advise McAdoo. Sickel refused, he said, until assured that no proposition to buy steamers of that line was contemplated. Sickel said he had orders to entertain no such proposition.

Mr. Baker was the only witness heard today.

policy would be to condemn a large area of Northern Minnesota to indefinite stagnation, under the incumbrance of great stretches of state land that pay no taxes, harbor no farmers and contribute nothing whatever to the development of the state.

Moreover, they contend that development companies, if permitted to buy state land in large tracts, would develop it, advertise it and settle it much more rapidly than the state will.

They figure, too, that the state will be ahead because the price of the land sold will go into the permanent school funds, and the land itself will immediately begin to pay taxes to both the state and the localities in which it is situated.

Koochiching county, they point out, contains 822,844 acres of state land, mostly swamp. If this could be sold at the constitutional minimum price of $5 per acre, the sale would add to the permanent funds $4,114,220. The annual interest on the deferred payments on this land would bring the state in upward of $150,000 every year, and millions of dollars would be added to the taxable value of Koochiching county and the state.

This is but one county, and the figures could be extended to include other Northern Minnesota counties having a large area of state lands.

The bill which State Auditor Preus has had introduced in both branches of the legislature restores the provisions of the Cole law of 1905, which limited sales to 320 acres to each individual, and required every purchaser to make certain improvements within five years. In the new bill the limit is fixed at 160 acres. The house committee on public domain took up the house bill yesterday, and on request of Representative Miner put it over to next Tuesday for a hearing.

Statement of Position.

Senator Nord and Representative Miner yesterday afternoon issued a statement of their position, which follows:

"To re-enact the old Cole law, making it impossible to sell state land except to homesteaders, and not to exceed 160 acres to any one purchaser, would be a public calamity, a crime against the best interests of Minnesota.

"The law would apply almost entirely to a very few of the counties in Northern Minnesota, where nature has set so many barriers in the way of human settlement and development. If the state land were prairie, or rolling lands, like the most of the state, it would be a proper law—in fact the only law needed to secure actual settlers.

"But when we realize that a large part of this state land is either covered with stumps, or a veritable swamp, how in the name of common sense do you suppose you can induce a man to buy 160 acres of such land, and actually go upon it to clear it, drain it, and gain a living upon it?

"Under the old Cole law, there was mighty little settlement and development in Northern Minnesota. We saw tens of thousands of people annually passing through Minnesota, settling upon the semi-arid plains and plateaus of the Rocky mountain states, or quitting the "Stars and Stripes" to become subjects of Great Britain, in Canada. Notwithstanding that Northern Minnesota has as fertile soil, as healthful a climate, and as great productive capacity as the very best of other states, such 'fool legislation' as the old Cole law simply paralyzed all efforts to settle Northern Minnesota.

"Who would be foolish enough to pay the state of Minnesota five or more dollars per acre, for 160 acres of swamp land, when he could get from the Federal government, by homesteading, adjoining land for nothing?

"'This bill,' they say, 'would stop land speculation.'

"Yes, it would, but it would stop the sale of state land also. It would leave Northern Minnesota for decades, just what it is today. No man of intelligence is going to buy 160 acres of swamp or stump land, when he would be required to go upon it, and fence it, cultivate it, and build a house upon it, and reside in that house, in that swamp for twelve consecutive months."

"And why fence it? Horses and cattle could not be got upon thousands and tens of thousands of acres of it, and no man but a man of means could get the food and provisions to feed stock there anyway.

"Before the state passes such a law, it is necessary for the state to put its land in such shape, by drainage and other development work, so that an actual settler could go upon it with some reasonable show of being able to gain a living from it.

"Under present conditions, the state does not, and will not, do the necessary preliminary development work. Therefore, the state should appraise its lands, and offer them for sale in limited or unlimited acreage, to any and all who have the money to buy them.

"'Oh,' it may be said, 'that would mean that the big land speculator would buy up tens of thousands of acres, and then proceed to sell it out at a profit.' That is just what they would do. They would buy large tracts of land, go upon it with powerful, expensive machinery, with hundreds of laborers, and they would blow those millions of stumps sky high, empty through a thousand properly and systematically constructed ditches the tens of millions of barrels of water, burn over the surface when dry, and lift the millions of acres of state swamp lands into the richest, most productive, and most sought after lands in all of the Mississippi valley from Canada to the Gulf.

Would Be Financially Benefited.

"In the mean time the state of Minnesota would have its money for these lands. Now, the interest on such money would be far in excess of the yearly increase in the state lands, under present conditions, so that the state would be financially benefited.

"The people who bought these lands from the big land companies would get their lands drained, cleared, developed, on a large scale, much more cheaply than poor, struggling, separated individuals could now obtain it. Therefore, the actual settlers would be benefited.

"Again, the rush upon these fertile lands would add tens of thousands of people to our northern population, would help us who now live there, to bear the heavy burdens of taxation now laid upon us, that we may have any sort of roads, schools, and other necessities and conveniences of modern life. Therefore, all of Northern Minnesota would be greatly benefited by opening up for sale, development and settlement the state lands now lying idle, worthless, useless, untaxed, and not increasing in value.

"Lastly, all of Minnesota, and all of her towns, villages, cities, shops, factories, farms, mines, etc., would benefit by the rapid sale of our state lands, in large quantities to development companies, because such private concerns would see to it that such lands were speedily put in shape for sale and settlement. Then they would inaugurate a campaign of land selling that would bring tens of thousands of actual farmers upon this rich, reclaimed, land. These settlers would call for all the products of mines, shops, factories and stores, thereby enlarging the business of our people.

"The purpose of the bill we are introducing, which is the very opposite of the old Cole law, is to enable the state to proceed rapidly to convert its land into cash and to make the purchasers rapidly to change Northern Minnesota into the richest, most productive, most healthful, most sought after portion of our most beautiful state.

Will Visit Duluth.

As the result of a speech made yesterday afternoon before the house committee on grain and warehouse, by E. N. Bradley of Duluth, representing the elevator interests at Duluth, a subcommittee appointed by Chairman L. A. Lydiard, will visit Duluth, probably Saturday.

The committee had before it the Magnus Johnson bill, requiring elevators to put in track scales. Mr. Bradley pointed out that this would be virtually impossible at Duluth, and asked the committee to send some of its members to Duluth for the purpose of investigation before acting on the bill. Chairman Lydiard appointed as members of this committee Representatives Maghus Johnson of Litchfield, Oscar A. Swenson of Nicollet and Gus Boehmke of Holland.

The committee decided to give a public hearing Friday afternoon on the bill by Representative Magnus Johnson, giving farmers a first lien for their grain on the memberships of board of trade and chamber of commerce members. The bill by A. F. Teigen, prohibiting future trading and short selling, will be considered at a public hearing Feb. 25 at 8 p. m.

Standard Remedy For Many Homes

Indigestion and constipation are two conditions closely related and the cause of much physical suffering.

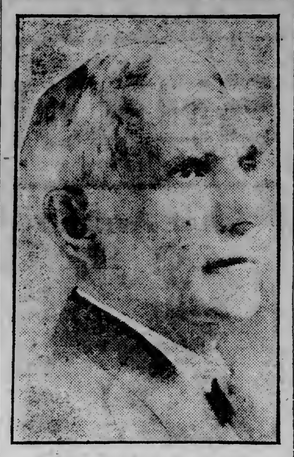

The tendency to indulge one's appetite is general, so that most people suffer at some time or another from rebellion of the overtaxed organs of digestion and elimination. A simple, pleasantly effective remedy that will quickly relieve the congestion of poisonous waste and restore regularity, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a mild, pleasant laxative-tonic and digestant, absolutely free from opiates or narcotic drugs and has been the standard household remedy in countless homes for many years. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

other half, most of the girls would be out of work. Who wants his daughter or sister to work so hard and such long hours six months a year as to impair her health? That is exactly what would result."

How Law Is Violated.

Miss M. A. Corey, a factory employe, said that in many lines girls now are forced to work excess hours, and cited instances where the law is violated by punching the time clock when the working day has expired and then returning to duties for from three to five hours a night.

"Conditions perhaps are worse in laundries and millinery shops than in other establishments," she said. "In laundries, the provision in the present law permitting employes to make up in the latter part of the week time lost early in the week works a hardship on the women and often results in a physical breakdown."

Representatives of the working girls suggested an amendment limiting the hours of telephone girls in cities to eight hours a day.

Several other bills were discussed briefly, but no action was taken.

Normal School at Bemidji.

The bill appropriating $150,000 to build a sixth state normal school at Bemidji was considered by the house committee on appropriations yesterday afternoon, but was laid over to an adjourned meeting March 9, for action.

Two years ago the legislature provided for the creation of a new normal school, and since then a site has been selected and acquired at Bemidji.

Bills providing for the erection of the necessary buildings have been introduced by Senator Leonard H. Nord of International Falls in the senate and Representatives L. G. Pendergast of Bemidji and H. J. Miner of International Falls in the house.

W. B. Stewart of Bemidji, superintendent of schools, and A. P. Richey of Bemidji, the former superintendent of schools, appeared in behalf of the bill. State Superintendent C. G. Schulz also spoke in favor of it, and quoted Chairman Torrance of the state normal school board as urging the need of additional normal school facilities.

The committee also laid over to March 9 the bill increasing from $35,000 to $100,000 a year the appropriation for state immigration work. Representative Sawyer and others voiced the suggestion already made in legislative form in the house that the immigration bureau be abolished, but Representative Sam Y. Gordon and others made strong pleas for the retention of this work.

The committee recommended for passage Chairman Spooner's bill authorizing the board of control to take $57,000 from the prison fund to build at Stillwater, a woman's prison building and two barns and to buy a dairy herd for the prison.

A bill appropriating $1,000 for the expenses of the commission to promote uniform state laws was killed.

Soft Drink Bill.

Senator G. M. Jensen's bill allowing the sale of soft drinks that do not contain more than ½ per cent of alcohol by any one without a liquor license was reported out of the senate temperance committee yesterday afternoon without recommendation. It will go to the floor of the senate for vote without a recommendation from the committee.

Senator P. A. Gandrud's bill making the finding of intoxicating liquors in certain quantities prima facie evidence of illegal sale was recommended for passage. The bill gives police officers a broader right of search.

Minnette Telephone Bill.

Amendments allowing the voters of a city to determine whether they should have a second telephone system by popular vote were added to the Minnette telephone bill by the house committee yesterday afternoon. The amendment is known as the referendum clause that was formerly in the Minnette bill vetoed two years ago.

Another meeting of the committee will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to consider some new amendments that Representative P. W. Guilford wishes to offer to the bill. They relate to the use of the public highways of the state by telephone companies.

Scott's Bill Killed.

Representative S. C. Scott of Hibbing consented at yesterday's meeting of the committee on villages, of which Charles T. Murphy of Aurora is chairman, to the indefinite postponement of his bill providing for the consolidation of villages having more than half a mile of common boundary. The purpose of the bill was to allow the village of Kittsville to be swallowed up by Hibbing, but objection was raised from other parts of the state, which Mr. Scott found it impossible to meet by amendments.

Representative W. J. North of Duluth appeared yesterday before the senate judiciary committee in behalf of his bill to make it larceny for a contractor to accept the price of building a house and then fail to pay his laborers and material men, leaving the owner subject to liens. No action was taken.

In the house the bill has been approved by a sub-committee, and will soon be reported out for passage by the judiciary committee.

SENATE PASSES BILL TO EMPLOY PRISONERS ON STATE ROAD WORK

of state banks on the same basis as for national banks came to a final vote in the house this morning, but whether it was passed or defeated is still an open question which Attorney General Smith will be asked to rule upon.

The vote was 78 for and 43 against, but Speaker Flowers, who favors the bill, ruled that under the Constitution a two-thirds vote, or 87, was required. The Constitution authorized the legislature to pass a general banking act by a two-thirds vote, but says nothing of amendments. The question is whether the two-thirds rule applies to amendments. Representative Girling gave notice of a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was lost, which holds it two days while the attorney general passes on it.

The McGarry-O'Neill senate bill, resubmitting "amendment No. 3, the reclamation revolving fund amendment," is at the head of the calendar in the house, having been advanced there with the understanding that it will be held until the question of having a constitutional convention is decided. The constitutional convention bills are a special order in the house for tonight, when the question will be decided so far as that body is concerned.

The senate passed the O'Neill bill relating to the tax on insurance companies for the support of the state fire marshal's office, with an amendment by Senator Rockne providing that these funds shall go through the state treasury. Senator Rockne called attention to the fact that the state has no check now on the use of these funds, as they go direct to the marshal.

Mutual Insurance Bill.

Representative E. N. Nelson of Duluth will tomorrow introduce a bill changing the reserve requirements for mutual insurance companies to provide that they shall set aside 10 per cent of their gross receipts for a reserve until it reaches $2,000, and after that 5 per cent until the reserve is $25,000. The purpose is to make it possible for small mutual companies to maintain and increase their surplus. Senator George M. Peterson of Duluth introduced a similar bill in the senate this morning.

Senator Healy of Hibbing this morning introduced a bill in the house authorizing St. Louis county to reimburse Hibbing for $3,000 spent in acquiring a county fair site.

• • •

A bill by Senator Hilbert appropriates $750,000 for county tuberculosis sanatorium work in the next two years.

Cook County Salaries.

Senator Adams in the senate and Representatives Woodfill and Ribenack in the house have introduced bills fixing the Cook county auditor's salary at $1,500 and allowing him $1,200 clerk hire and the treasurer $720 clerk hire.

• • •

An appropriation of $20,000 to enable the game and fish commission to resume its work immediately is provided in a bill introduced by the house game and fish committee.

• • •

Other bills introduced: Representative Guilford, providing that Minnesota materials, where available, shall be used in state buildings; house labor committee, requiring sanitary conditions in industrial establishments and putting them under the state board of health; Representative Miner, authorizing villages to fund floating debts, amounting to more than $5,000; Representatives Steen, Ferrier and Haislet, requiring the standardization of all bridges and culverts; Representative Nordgren, authorizing county boards to contract for maintaining at poorhouses aged persons, not paupers, with relatives to pay their board bills; Representative Indrehus, authorizing the breeding of otter, martin, fisher and beaver.

Acid Mouth—Loose Teeth—Corrected

Avoid exposing the teeth to extremes of temperature, says the London Chronicle. Hot and cold substances tend to break the enamel, and when these cracks are exposed to dental microbes there is real danger, as infestments occur in which the tiny animal microbes bore through the enamel, gradually eating big holes into the large molars. Teeth extraction is always to be avoided—pull a tooth and you make room for more trouble. The teeth separate from one another or come together too closely for comfort, gum separation, yellow coating of the enamel, blackened teeth inside, bring a train of troubles. You soon have bleeding gums, ulcerated teeth, distortions, sensitiveness to heat or cold, desire to dig the teeth, protruding or receding teeth.

Now, all these conditions may be avoided if you will get from your druggist, about four ounces of fluid ergan (you won't need more), and use a teaspoonful morning, noon and night, working it about the teeth for a minute or, so. The gritty substances are dissolved, soreness disappears over night, sensitiveness departs, the dirty yellow is cleaned off and you see the white of your own enamel. —Advertisement.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

NEW GERMAN SOPRANO WINS PRAISE IN GOTHAM

MELANIE KURT
As Brunnhilde.

Frau Melanie Kurt, the newest member of the German branch of the Metropolitan opera house, made her debut in Isolde and received much praise from all the critics of New York for the freshness and strength of her voice and the correctness of her singing. Her voice has a good range, and she takes the higher notes with confidence and ease. Her personality was one of the charms that brought her a warm greeting from the audience at the big house which witnessed her debut.

WILL SERVE PENNY LUNCHES

Poorly Nourished Children of Irving School Will Be Cared for By Housewives' League.

The Housewives' league at the meeting yesterday voted to give lunches to those pupils at the Irving school who need them. Mrs. Joseph Doe of 11 North Fifty-sixth avenue west will prepare the luncheons that will be served at her home. Mrs. Doe's fitness for the undertaking was vouched for by Mrs. Mary L. Hickox of the Associated Charities and Mrs. I. P. Swangle of the West Duluth W. C. T. U.

The report prepared by the investigating committee of the schools showed nineteen families of the Irving school neighborhood in need of lunches for school children, but the women who are familiar with the district think there are thirty-four children who are not receiving the proper nourishment.

At yesterday's meeting it was voted to ask the co-operation of the clubs that offered assistance in the matter of lunches at a meeting of the Woman's council held in January. These clubs were the Twentieth Century, Saturday, Westminster Circle of the First Presbyterian church, Woodland, Neighborhood and Lester Park Literary clubs. Plans will be completed as soon as Mrs. Watson, the president of the Housewives' league, can confer with the representatives of the clubs that have expressed a willingness to help.

Mrs. T. A. Hendricks, who has been investigating the sterilizing of milk bottles, reported that Dr. H. E. Webster said the city has no responsibility in this matter, it being to the interest of dairymen to keep the bottles clean. Mrs. Hendricks was asked to investigate bottles other than milk bottles.

Mrs. Watson announced she would try to rescue the pure food ordinance and bring it to light and Mrs. W. C. Sherwood undertook the investigation of the wrapping of bread.

A communication from Mrs. D. W. McCourt, chairman of the state fair committee of the St. Paul Housewives' league, was read, inviting the co-operation of the Duluth league for a program at the next state fair.

EVANGELINE OF 1915 TRAVELS IN COMFORT

A hundred and sixty years ago Evangeline, daughter of Benedict Bellefontaine, set out from the ruins of Grande Pre on her wandering search across the continent for Gabriel Lajeunesse, going West till she came to a mission at the base of the Ozark mountains, where for a time she found rest. Today another young woman from Nova Scotia, who for six months will represent Evangeline in the C. P. R. pavilion at the San Francisco exposition, is traveling West to the land of missions under very different circumstances. With her Norman cap and her kirtle of homespun she will spin at her old-fashioned distaff and remind the wayfarers at the Pacific coast of her own beautiful Acadian country on the shores of the Atlantic. But instead of talking in the mournful numbers of Longfellow she has a bright, cheery up-to-date Canadian optimism and boosts for Grand Pre and Nova Scotia.

WORK FARMS FOR MEN AND WOMEN

Social Service Club Members Attend Dinner and Hear Addresses From Fred Ward, T. S. Settle, Capt. Rossiter and Miss Clara Taylor.

At the meeting of the Twin Ports Social Service club held last evening at the high school in Superior, Fred Ward, superintendent of the work farm for Duluth and St. Louis county, told of the work and management of the institution and Capt. Emanuel Rossiter, a member of the Douglas county board, gave an account of the workhouse of that county. The club adopted resolutions supporting the bill introduced into the Minnesota legislature to provide a work farm for women in St. Louis county.

Short talks were made by Miss Clara Taylor of Minneapolis, a national extension secretary of the North-Central field of the Y. W. C. A., and by T. S. Settle of the Playground and Recreational Association of America, who is spending a short time in Duluth planning playgrounds.

Preceded by Dinner.

The meeting was preceded by a dinner served in the lunch room of the Superior high school. Red candles in crystal holders and red hearts were the table decorations. The high school orchestra played an excellent program during the dinner.

Mr. Ward explained that no fire arms are carried by the workhouse guards, who are known as foremen, that bars and locks have no place in the camp and that the men are provided with good clothes, all the food they want and good beds. He said a hard and fast rule cannot be laid down for the discipline of all men but that individual characteristics must be taken into consideration.

He outlined the plan of clearing the 1,000 acres of the workhouse property, dividing the area into eighty-acre tracts, and supplying each tract with a farm house and all the out-buildings necessary for a well conducted farm. After the entire tract has been cleared, parceled out and made ready for farming the plan would be to locate the work farm on another timbered piece of land that would be cleared and converted into farming land as the original piece was.

Hope for Gymnasium.

"We are hoping to get a gymnasium so the men can have exercise and can enjoy basket ball in the winter. In winter they work nine hours and in summer ten hours but even that is not sufficient for some of the men. We like for visitors to come to the workhouse for they invariably go away with a better opinion of the men out there.

"At many institutions the men are locked up and it is thought that when they escape there is a reflection on those in charge. Last year only 4 per cent of the men at the work farm ran away. The question is, 'Which is better, to run the farm for the 4 per cent of bad ones or for the 96 per cent of good ones?'

"There is one thing I want to say about the county work farm for women—that we haven't yet. This remark was very much like the famous chapter headed, 'An Account of the Kinds of Snakes in Ireland,' the chapter consisting of the sentence 'There are no snakes in Ireland.'" Mr. Ward advocated a farm for women, similar to the one for men, to be governed by the same board but as an entirely separate institution.

Capt. Rossiter, expressed his approval of the work farm plan and said he thought there would be little expense in converting the Douglas county workhouse into a farm arrangement.

"To show the spirit of the men," he said, "I heard two who were working on one of the barns discussing how they could make their piece of work look better. I asked the superintendent if he had employed outside carpenters but he explained the men I had heard talking were offenders who were doing time, and he also told me that he had had more trouble with a crew he had been compelled to hire than he had had with any of the men who had been sent to the workhouse."

The next meeting of the Twin Ports Social Service club will be held in Duluth Monday evening, March 15.

ORCHESTRA PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Selections from programs given at the last three concerts by the Duluth Concert orchestra will be given by the organization in the Central high school auditorium Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. This entertainment will be under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale and is to be given for the students of Duluth's high schools.

In selecting their program for this concert, Director Fred Bradbury of the orchestra has chosen many numbers that have proved particularly pleasing to those who atttended the Sunday afternoon concerts.

Principals and teachers of the high schools of the city are co-operating with the members of the Matinee Musicale and expect to make this concert one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever given for the high school students. Supt. R. E. Denfeld of the city schools will open the program with a brief talk.

The program:

Selections from "Tannhauser".....Wagner
"Minuet a la 'Antico".....Karganoff
"Woodland Whispers".....Czibulka
Trumpet solo from "Samson and Delilah".....Saint-Saens
Charles Helmer.
"Dolly Dances".....Poldini
"Crack Regiment Patrol".....Tobani
"In the Clock Store".....Orth
"Pomp and Circumstance".....Elgar

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Learn to Talk Correctly.

It is a source of great delight to me to listen to a person who speaks good English; one who uses well chosen words, correct pronunciation and proper inflections. Probably it is all the more pleasurable because it is so seldom that we find the entire combination.

Certain slang has its place. I cannot help but have a sort of admiration for the creators of some of the best slang, for they have shown great cleverness, often evolving a single word which conveys the meaning of an entire sentence or a phrase which expresses more concisely something that would otherwise require a paragraph or more. Some of these writers of slang have furnished literary gems and their language has gained entrance into intellectual spheres and homes of refinement.

In my travels I often note evidences of what might be called the illiteracy of those supposed to be cultured—glaring offenses in the misuse of words, spelling and pronunciation and grammatical construction. One would suppose that a sign painter would look to his spelling before executing work of such permanency as business signs. But if one takes the trouble to observe he can find some unique spelling on signs throughout the country.

Here are a few samples of signs that came to my notice: "Lady's and gent's shoes repared;" "Shaveing inside," and "Footware for stormy weather." These signs were artistic and occupied prominent positions. On one occasion I passed a freshly painted fence and a sign warned passers-by that, "This pint is not dry." This might have been appropriate in the display window of some liquor establishment.

The pronunciation of names should be made a part of the instruction of conductors on the street cars and trains. The influence of the mispronunciation of the names of streets and stations is apt to be bad, for these men are heard by hundreds of people each day.

In a large degree the art of good conversation is a gift, but the use of good English may be acquired, and whether we talk little or much, wherever we do talk, let us be correct or as near correct as a careful watchfulness over words will permit.

LENT.

For who shall say that Lenten fare makes Lenten thought?

So queries Tennyson in the lines in which he eulogizes Edward Fitzgerald, the translator of Omar Khayyam's quatrains. He might have added a question as to whether formal solemnity during the Lenten season insures more thoughtfulness and seriousness either then or in the months to follow. With so many of us the observance of Lent as a season of additional religious formalities and of unusual personal abstinence from this or that has come to have little more significance than a customary morning walk from home to business. We observe the rules or admonitions of our particular church or faith, quite as much as a matter of custom and fashion as with any deeper conception.

And yet when we come to think of what the Lenten season might mean to us, how foolish it seems to allow the season's observance to become mere ritual and habit, as so many of us do. Not that the ritualistic features are to be entirely despised. Just as it is easier for certain persons to concentrate their thoughts if they have a pencil and paper before them; just as others find it easier to follow a train of thought if they can walk about while they are thinking, so the observance of ritual helps many to concentrate their thoughts on subjects of a religious character. To take from such persons the advantages of ritualism would be to deprive them of an inestimable benefit.

But whether or not you observe the ritual, whether or not you attend religious service, whether or not you abstain from this or from that, you will do well to regard this Lenten season as a time in which to take stock of yourself and your life; of what purpose is behind your work, and how closely you are living to that purpose; of whether you are gaining in the development of your character or whether that development is being retarded by your own selfishness or by some other force that you can control if you only will.

Not that you should do this especially because the Lenten season has come round again, but that you should do it for your own benefit. And since uniformity of action increases the ease of that action, it may be easier for you to take stock at this time because so many thousand others are doing so. It is "in the air," as we say. And whatever your religious belief, whatever your views as to the observance of Lent as a religious festival, you will do wisely to make this a time of self-study. It is a time when you can most profitably "make it a business to know thyself, which is the most difficult lesson in the world."

Europe for Europeans!

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Another protest has been registered against the farce of "expert testimony," in cases in which a plea of insanity is made, and this time by a Chicago judge. Albert C. Barnes of the appellate court in Chicago put the thing bluntly while talking to members of the American Medical association. He said:

> The alienist is usually brought in where the use of the insanity plea is really an appeal to the unwritten law. It would be better for both doctors and lawyers not to have such a defense, than that your profession and mine should enter into a conspiracy against the truth.

Judge Barnes also pointed out that the results of the taking of expert testimony have shown that the problems presented either go beyond the knowledge of the experts, or these experts do not voice their own opinions.

Take any case that has been marked by the testimony of "alienists" and study the records, and you will find that those called by either side have been unqualifiedly positive in their statements favoring that side. It makes no difference, apparently, where they have studied, whether there has been any similarity in their experience or training or opportunities for observation. The experts paid by Smith testify for Smith and those paid by Jones testify for Jones.

The doctors to whom Judge Barnes made his talk finally agreed upon a bill which they will seek to have introduced in the legislatures of the various states, the purpose of which will be to discontinue the present tendency and to provide that in cases where testimony of alienists is desired, the court, and not the parties to the controversy, shall call from one to three such witnesses, and these shall be paid by the state.

It may be that such a law would not solve the problem entirely, but there can be no question that it would go a long way toward that solution. At any rate it would do away with the present system, which is hardly less than a disgrace to our system of justice.

The Illinois legislature proposes to give one full day of rest each week to everybody in the state. The housewives will be pardoned if they take the occasion to indulge in a little snicker.

WORK YET FOR DIOGENES.

Within the last few days probably every newspaper in the United States, large and small, has printed the story of the Frenchman who, while a captive of the Germans, learned that his mother was dying, and asked the German emperor personally for permission to visit her. The emperor gave the permission on condition that the prisoner return; and sure enough, the man lived up to his word!

What that man did was no more than to give his word and live up to it, and yet his act has been telegraphed broadcast throughout this country, and probably throughout the civilized world, as if it were one of the most unusual things that could happen.

It doesn't speak very well for mankind in general when the fact that a man is honest is regarded as news. The thing that ought to constitute news is that any particular man is not honest. Evidently there is some work left yet for our old friend Diogenes, with his tub and his lantern.

"There are no hyphens in the national game," says the Chicago News. Then why not leave it so, instead of calling the fact to the attention of the sporting writers?

WHY NOT A RAKE-OFF?

The American's supposed insistence on the introduction of the almighty dollar into every transaction has been the basis for a lot of fun in other countries, and in none more than in England. How would our friends across the pond like to see that subject injected into the question of the use of the flag? For instance, if they find it advisable to use our flag as a means of protection, why shouldn't we get a rake-off out of it, as by imposing a tax of half of one per cent on the value of ship and cargo, and libeling the vessel until the tax was paid?

There is nothing to prevent our doing so—except that of course we won't do anything of the kind. We may rent islands or ships or guns or even, on a pinch, an ex-president. But when it comes to renting the flag that would be going considerably beyond the limit.

Still, if the appearance of being American is worth so much, it does seem as if there might be a rake-off in it somewhere. It will be a bitter blow to those who have laughed at American "thrift" if it should turn out that there is none.

How did your wife—or husband—like the valentine you sent?

BACK TO THE SENATE.

The ship purchase bill has passed the house and now goes back to the senate, where it has hardly a fortnight in which to be adopted or defeated. As the house concluded its action, majority leaders in the senate were expressing their belief that the bill could be passed at this session. The country at large will sincerely hope that is true.

Of course the Republicans will continue their fight. They are not satisfied with having gone on record as opposing the bill. That isn't what they want, for they seem to realize that once the measure has gone into operation, and once the people have seen how it works, it will be to the disadvantage of any individual or of any party to be on record as having opposed it. So they must now keep up the fight, or yield to the necessity of seeing their policies discredited once more—and they have stood about all of that kind of thing they can.

It may be necessary for the majority in the senate to adopt some form of limitation on debate in order to pass the bill. Some of the leaders have declared in favor of that action, and the president is said to look approvingly on some such plan. One thing is certain—that as long as Republican lungs and tongues hold out, it would be next to impossible to do anything.

Perhaps this ship purchase bill fight is to be the means of bringing about a real reform in the senate, in the abolition of some of the most foolish features of the senatorial courtesy idea. It was a pretty little fiction to say that senators were entitled to more courtesy than other men when they looked, not to the people, but to the state legislators for their election.

Now these wonderful senators have been taken away from the legislators, and are in the hands of the people themselves, and a lot of them are being found to be nothing at all but common men, and some of them most mighty common, too. So maybe they will do away with some of those old ideas. It really wouldn't be a bad scheme to make a rule that senate debates shall not occupy more than ten hours on any one question, except by unanimous consent. There would be a lot more sense in that than in the present arrangement.

Now that the house has passed the ship purchase bill and still exists, maybe the senate will get courage enough to do the same.

Dallas Pastor Weds

Barron County, Wis., Shield: The following account of the wedding of Miss Edna Leland and Rev. Wayland Nickerson at the Dallas Free Baptist church, Thursday evening, Jan. 21, at 8 p. m., is sent in by the West Dallas correspondent:

The snow had softly and silently covered the hills and vales of West Dallas with a beautiful robe of white that glistened and sparkled beneath the sun rays like a field of innumerable diamonds, stretching away to the sky line, where a fringe of sleeping timber blended into ethereal space as the day slowly closed and myriads of stars first flickered dimly, then sparkled brilliantly o'er all the world of white, and on the hill slope, yonder, each window of the little white church is adding it's bright light to the scene, and from within rings the voices of eight male singers, in a well rendered selection. The faces of the large audience are filled with expectancy as the last notes die away, and from the organ are heard the strains of the wedding march, heralding the approach of the bridal party. At the rear of the aisle the bride and groom first appear, then bridesmaid and groomsman, followed by Rev. Peterson and Rev. Alborn. As the march continues, the procession nears the rostrum, where they form a semi-circle beneath the bridal arch of green and white and a festooning of same colors above all.

The bride and groom here have the central position, with the groomsman, Mr. Nelson, and Rev. Peterson at the right of groom, and bridesmaid, Miss Nina Bishop, and Rev. Alborn to left of bride.

The bride was beautifully arrayed in a dress of white English imported silk poplin and an illusion lace bridal veil, tastefully arranged about her head with real lily of the valley, and falling gracefully back over the shoulders. The veil was loaned to the bride by a friend residing at Milford, Mass. She carried a large bouquet of fresh cut roses, and not the least in all this display was her handkerchief of pure grass linen in hand embroidery made in Barbadoes, West India, twenty years ago and loaned for the occasion by her aunt, Mrs. S. E. Leland, who had been a missionary at that time in the Islands. The groom wore the customary suit of black. Bridesmaid Miss Bishop was arrayed in silk and carried Kilarney pink roses, and the groomsman wore a dark suit.

As the strains of the wedding march died away, prayer was offered by Rev. Peterson, then Rev. Alborn stepped forward and united the happy couple in the holy bonds of matrimony, using the double ring service of the Baptist church. After the benediction, the wedding march was continued and slowly the procession moved down the aisle to the center of the church, where congratulations were received. Sleighs now carried about sixty of the guests to the White House, the home of Rev. and Mrs. Peterson, where the reception was enjoyed as carried out by Mrs. Peterson, aided by the other ladies of the community.

Suitable wedding gifts and a purse of about $12 were presented the couple at the reception, and a large number of beautiful gifts are en route from the far east. Congratulations were telegraphed the groom from Chicago Friday morning and a shower of letters reached the bride from her girlhood friends in Boston vicinity the same morning.

Those from a distance in attendance at the wedding were: Rev. and Mrs. Chatterson, who have charge of the Methodist circuit at Prairie Farm; Rev. Wolf, pastor of the Free Methodist church of Maple Grove; and a sleigh load of fifteen from Hillsdale and four from Dallas.

The bride is the only daughter of Deacon and Mrs. Leland of Holliston, Mass., and though with us but a few days, has won many by her smiling, winsome manner. The groom took charge of the Baptist work here a month ago and is impressing all with the sincerity and honesty of his life to his profession. His home till 21 years of age was in Novia Scotia, he since has resided in Massachusetts until the last few years, which were spent in Wisconsin.

The bride's father has the distinction of being thirty-three years superintendent of the Sunday school and about forty years deacon of the Holliston Baptist church, and there culminated the meeting of Miss Edna Leland and Wayland Nickerson in the year 1906 in the far away east.

Once more West Dallas sends a launch on the great sea of life with a wish for safety hovering over it and a hope that in the after time the launch with its lives well spent will appear at the great White Throne as at our little altar with a smiling and serenity countenance to hear the sweet words, "Well done."

The bride's roses were divided by her and half sent to Mr. Sherwood, whose health is very poor, and the balance to Mrs. Cramer, who is very ill.

The Pull of a Want Ad.

Kansas City Times: Dave Graham of the Norborne Leader will know how to sidestep trouble the next time it comes up to him disguised as a want ad. Some honest Carroll county citizen found a pair of spectacles and brought 'em to The Leader office with instructions to advertise that the owner might call at the office and get his property. The ad appeared and the trouble began. Throngs flocked to The Leader office, hoping to find glasses they had lost. One hoping myope called Graham from his bed at night to ask about the glasses. Wags about town put in circulation that the editor was running a joint and the many callers were cited as proof. At last came a postcard from an out-of-town reader, "If you ain't found no owner for them specks, send 'em to me." Graham heaved a sigh of relief and sent the specks.

"Their Enemy-Friends"

Editorial in the Omaha World-Herald.

A valued reader of the World-Herald writes to say: "I send you the inclosed clipping from the English Church Times, to illustrate the well-known fact that the men in the front of battle are not, as a rule, as bitter toward one another as the civilians who stand far removed from the strife of blood. It is well worth printing." It is, indeed, well worth printing. Here it is:

> Letters from the front inform us that on Christmas day there was a veritable Truce of God. Toward midnight on Christmas eve, suddenly and by a common impulse, those who were enemies a moment before were sending each other Christmas greetings across the space between the lines of Germans and English. All through Christmas day hostilities were suspended, and Germans and English walked up and down together, talking and exchanging gifts, as though they were the best of friends. For one short period they helped each other to give decent burial to the slain. In one instance the English chaplain and the German commanding officer were seen each taking something out of his cap and giving it to the other. The chaplain's souvenir was a copy of "The Soldier's Prayer," and the commander's was a photograph. He had, it appears, come across a dying English officer who was vainly struggling to take something from his pocket. The German kindly helped him, and what he found was the photograph of the Englishman's wife. This he held before the dying man's eyes until his last breath. Thanks to his goodness and the happy meeting on Christmas day, the picture is now in the hands of the dead man's friends. A humorous incident was added in several instances where men recognized among their German enemy-friends former daily fellow-travelers by train from Finsbury park and elsewhere. It is pitful that, on the stroke of midnight, they had to resume their bloody work, but we can be thankful to have seen even this small touch of that human kindness that makes the whole world kin.

"Their enemy-friends," says this English church paper!

Could a phrase be found that, in connection with the touching little story told in the above paragraph, would more truly express the unbelievable folly of this heart-breaking war?

Not "barbarians," not "bullies," but kinsmen and friends.

Not enemies by nature or by reason of any hatred living in one another's hearts, but cousins and comrades, eager rather to do each other a kindness than to shed each other's blood and orphan each other's children. Returning, "on the stroke of midnight" to their "bloody work" of death and desolation; returning, as the story makes certain, in sorrow and dismay over the monstrous conditions that obliged them to aim bullets at each other's breasts rather than grasp hands in an enduring friendship.

Back home, and across the Atlantic where their common kinsmen dwell, the professors in the colleges, the editors at their desks, the lawyers and special pleaders, tradesmen, non-combatants, even the very ministers in their pulpits, might be hurling broadcast words of bitter hatred; words that flew seething hot, as if fresh-minted in hell itself. But on the battle front, where the flower of the manhood of two great branches of a mighty race stood breast to breast, there was amity, and understanding, and a great regret.

It is an unnatural war, and the fault for its existence, wherever else it may be found, does not lie in the hearts of the men who are fighting it. Because the hearts of the soldiers tell them, in the still, small voice that the roar of the cannon cannot drown, that the exhortations of patriotism cannot silence, that all false teaching and wicked dogma cannot extinguish, that those yonder, at whom they are firing, are not enemies but friends—not barbarians but brothers.

We of America are far removed, as distance is measured, from the scene of this pitiful tragedy. All of its victims are our friends. It should not be ours to indulge in bitterness, in rancor, in slander, toward any of the combatants. Ours it should be rather to emulate the manhood and Christian spirit of the cold and suffering soldiers who of their own volition declared that Truce of God and by a common impulse sent each other Christmas greetings across the trenches.

How Dahomey Honored a King's Coronation

In "Life in the Legion," a true story of the French Foreign Legion (Charles Scribner's Sons), Frederic Martyn tells of a campaign against the king of Dahomey. After the legion had captured his capital a soldier of the Senegalese troops told the legionaries of the festivities Dahomey had celebrated when the king was crowned.

At daybreak on this occasion a hundred men and a hundred women were put to death in order to start the day well. Then the new king emerged from his palace and about two hundred officers and princes saluted him and offered the day's proceedings, namely: four slaves each for the slaughter, say, eight hundred human beings in all, sheep, goats, money and rum.

The king then proceeded to the royal sepulcher and superintended the burial in it of sixty living men, fifty living sheep, fifty living goats, forty living cocks and a great quantity of cowries—native shell money.

This done, the king took a walk outside the palace. When he arrived at the principal entrance he found there fifty men to do him honor by being killed in his presence. After this the king mounted a platform and addressed a speech to his subjects, afterwards rewarding them for listening to him by gifts of cowries, clothing and rum.

Following this there was a sort of a "go as you please" competition in murder among the spectators. Twenty-four living men were brought out, the body of each one being inclosed in a wicker basket, the head being left exposed. The wicker basket arrangement was used to prevent the man inside from objecting to the proceedings in such a way as to spoil the royal fun.

The baskets were stood up in a row facing the king, while the eager crowd of his subjects stood behind waiting for the word "Go!" When the king made the sign to start, the crowd made a break for the unfortunate twenty-four. A strenuous scrimmage took place around each one. The persons who emerged from these scrimmages bearing the head of one of the men in the baskets were winners of a string of cowries, the exchange value of which was about 50 cents.

Among other parts of the palace were the tombs of the kings built, it is said, of bricks wetted with human blood instead of water.

A Word for Blease.

Nashville Southern Lumberman: Anyhow, the ambition of Governor Blease to go out of office and leave the penitentiary empty is more commendable than some retiring officials' efforts to leave the treasury empty.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—When a man is about to retire from congress it is customary for him to express a certain degree of pleasure over the prospect of re-entering private life. And at least nine-tenths of those who express this pleasure are offhand liars. It appears that the only circumstances under which a man will tell lies with greater alacrity is when trying to sell a second-hand automobile. The average man who has done time in congress desires to remain there. I have never been able to figure out why an able-bodied man should desire to tarry long in congress; I only know that most of them do, rich and poor alike. Out of a number of expressions of satisfaction on the part of outgoing congressmen over the steady and certain approach of March 4, I have heard only one that had the ring of real truth and sincerity.

That one came from Representative Sanford Kirkpatrick of Iowa. Kirkpatrick makes a plausible case for himself when he declares that he looks at the calendar each morning and counts the days until he is again a free man. For he has a valid reason.

"I want to get back into something that will afford me a little fun and excitement," he says. "After a man has devoted a quarter of a century to warring against crime and criminals it is no fun to sit in an ill-ventilated chamber merely listening to talk."

Kirkpatrick was for more than twenty-five years a government detective. As an agent of the internal revenue service he had gone all over the country in pursuit of moonshiners and other violators of the revenue laws. That is why he cannot content himself with the comparatively placid life of a congressman.

"Before I came here," says Kirkpatrick, "I used to read of fist fights between members on the floor. If such things ever did take place, I came too late. Even such momentary excitement as that has been denied me during my term of office."

Years ago Kirkpatrick was shot in the face by a moonshiner and he retains only 4 per cent of his eyesight. And he is 73 years of age. But he would be keenly vexed with anybody who would suggest that he is not amply able to go out and detect crime for the government.

"What I can't see," he says, "I can sense. One doesn't need to see so much."

As for being old——

A few days ago an agent zephyred into Kirkpatrick's office with a physical culture apparatus—an outfit to use in taking exercise in one's room.

Kirkpatrick listened patiently until the agent had said all he wished to about the merits of his article, and then he observed:

"You're about forty or fifty years younger than I am and you've got this device, which I haven't got, for keeping yourself physically fit. But I'll tell you what I'll do; I'll go out and run you a foot race, and if I don't beat you I'll buy a dozen of your devices. I've had a standing offer in thirty-nine different states for several years to run a race for any stake with any man of my age for any distance from 100 yards to ten miles. And I never had any takers."

The secret of success in tracking criminals, declares Kirkpatrick, is to win the confidence of men everywhere you go by means of kind words. Having won men's confidence, he says, they will talk freely, and if they talk freely you can find out exactly what you wish to know.

"A man," he remarks, "is no different from a cow. You stroke a cow the right way and she will let down her milk, but if you rub her hair backward she will not. I have often made a man talk to me just by getting up close enough to him and patting him on the back or shoulder and rubbing him down with my hand the same as I would a cow, thus ingratiating myself upon him."

Locating Water With the "Witch."

Rufus Steele, in February Sunset Magazine: "Kellogg's Springs" the place is now called. Water has brought life where before there seemed only the suggestion of death. Pilgrims are forever climbing the hills to view the wonder. The price of hill land has advanced about 300 per cent.

"What I did was entirely simple," Kellogg insists. "Anyone might have done it. Since my boyhood I have been using the so-called 'witch' to locate hidden treasuries of water. I have located many wells. If the work is carefully done there need never be a mistake. Of course where no water is, no water will be found, but water is nearly everywhere. Sometimes the 'water witch' fairly twists out of the hands, so strong is the attraction. The explanation of its principle is simple. The water in the ground is under terrific pressure, which causes an inaudible hissing. When you hold the willow or peach 'witch' above the spot it bends downward because it is vibrating at the same rate as the water note, and the moment they synchronize they are drawn toward each other.

"The 'water witch' will not work over a lake, a tub of water or a large buried water main, because in either case there is a lack of the pressure necessary to bring out the note. If, however, the water main is tapped by a smaller pipe a pressure is created and that smaller pipe can be followed without difficulty."

The Peasant War Mother.

I used to be a-dreamin' of my little youngest son—
(The number of my other sons is three),
Of the length of limb he'd have—O, he'd be the tallest one
And the strongest of them all this one would be.

I used to be a-dreamin' of him grown to be a man
And impatient for the happy time to be.
All my other sons was bonny, but I dreamed as mothers can
That not one of them would be as fine as he.

The time seemed slow in goin' for my little, youngest son,
So long 'twixt two foot six and six foot two,
Though in fancy I could see him grown to be the tallest one
In the silly, prideful way that mothers do.

But now I've stopped my dreamin' of my little, youngest child,
And I hug him to my lonely heart that's sore.
And I want to keep him little with a wantin' that is wild,
And I wish he'd never, never grow no more!

For I used to dream the same things of my other sons, as well!
(The number of my other sons is three)
. . . . . .
It's the tall ones make good soldiers (and good targets for the shell),
Oh, I would to God they all was wee as he!

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Shockingly Democratic.

Virginia Enterprise: The Canadian troops at Salisbury Plain are shocking merrie England. They are American. They use highly developed American adjectives and American slang; they fraternize together, officers and men, in the most amazing fashion, according to the English viewpoint. The English officer is a kind of dad to his men. He exercises a paternal attitude toward them and a paternal dominion over them. He thinks for them. Nothing like that with the Canadian contingent. Officers and men drink from the same canteen. They have an air of independence that startles the Briton born and it has been criticized. But out on the firing line they bring home the bacon. They proved it in the very first engagement into which they were thrown. They gained a mile where the regulars and continentals had been progressing by feet and inches. They were described as a long line of khaki-clad men in slouch hats cheering like mad, who swept everything before their irresistible rush. That is the American spirit on both sides of the line. There isn't much snobbery about your average North American. He acts for himself, he thinks for himself. He has never been taught to whisper in awe the names of royalty. His hat is off to the men of every race and every nation. He recks little of the power of kings or the lordly estate of peers and nobles. He can fight and shoot like a man, he can die like a man and when he is cut loose in any considerable number in Kitchener's new army, if he lives up to the traditions of his country, he will put "pep" into the business of war, no matter how great the sacrifice. That is the North American way.

State's Real Santa Claus.

Warroad Pioneer: St. Louis county is the real Santa Claus of Minnesota. It paid into the state treasury in 1913 $863,785.02 more than it took out. Roseau county took out $14,492.64 more than it paid in. The big tax returns from St. Louis county come from the mines.

Cause for Self Gratulation.

Magnolia Advance: Americans should congratulate themselves upon their present good fortune. We have no wars to tear our heartistones asunder, nor earthquakes nor floods to devastate our fair land. There are no internal strifes to disrupt the masses, and the classes are as pleased as the masses when they meet Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Eberhart.

Unduly Apprehensive.

St. Cloud Times: James J. Hill has expressed the opinion that the purchase of ships by our government would cause a war. Mr. Hill's opinions are entitled to weight, usually. In this case he is unduly apprehensive. There will be no war with us, ships or no ships. Uncle Sam has the money—strange it would be if he cannot buy what he has need for, just as Mr. Hill does for his railroads.

Cause for Speculation.

Wadena Pioneer Journal (Standpatter): If this legislature should finally adopt a county option law we wonder what pretext would next be used to keep Republican factionalism alive?

The Mean Thing!

Tower News: Some cuss who is apparently a woman hater is introducing a bill to defeat woman's suffrage by inserting a clause in the qualifications to vote that a woman must tell her age before balloting.

Don't Talk Too Much.

Faribault News: President Wilson's advice to the officers of the army and navy that they should refrain from talking too much about the war is good advice for everybody else. So far there seems to have been little bad temper in this country. But later on, as the situation grows more tense, and the American people grow more and more interested in the war, there will be more risk of offending others by violent expression of opinion. It is well to be temperate in our own sympathies. We may be perfectly sure we are right, and at the same time miss knowing the true state of affairs by a long shot. Everybody can render service by keeping cool and avoiding disputations. If feeling demands some outlet, it is perfectly legitimate for us to denounce the war as wicked and indefensible, and to form solemn resolves that never will we lift our voices in favor of it. This would be a good time for the organization of peace societies. There may never be as good an opportunity to study, almost at first hand, the horrors of armed conflict.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer,

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

Gen. xlv is a favorite among the narrative chapters of the Bible because it contains the climax of the story of Joseph, the favorite story of the Bible.

John xvii is a chapter close to the hearts of Christians because it is our Lord's prayer with his disciples and the longest of his recorded prayers.

Matt. v, the Beatitudes chapter, is a favorite with old and young because we all want to be happy, and we are there told how to be.

Luke xv is the favorite chapter of many Christians because it contains the parable of the prodigal son, which first taught them the love of God in Christ.

John iii is the best-loved chapter of millions because it contains the Bible's greatest verse, 16.

Rom. xii is a favorite chapter because it is so packed with practical wisdom. It has been called the Christian Endeavor chapter of the Bible.

Why Favorites.

We must know Scripture or we cannot have favorite verses. So the first thing we must do is to become familiar with our Bibles. Different experiences make precious to us different parts of the Bible.

In sorrow we will cherish the fourteenth chapter of John, where Jesus says, "Let not your heart be troubled."

Out in the open surrounded by the wonders of nature, we will think of the nature psalms, (viii, 19).

In the call to service, the sixth chapter of Isaiah will bring us inspiration.

That is, when a certain experience predominates, an appropriate passage will become for the time the favorite passage.—Service. W. W.

New York's Tiny Street.

New York World: New York has some queer streets, and Edgar street is one of them. It has been built up solidly on both sides from end to end for generations, but it has no numbers, and no one lives on it, and no one does business there. The letter carrier never stops. It has only one door and that is kept securely locked and never used. Fifteen long steps take one along the sidewalk from one end to the other. Queer little thoroughfare is Edgar street, lying between Broadway and the Hudson, below Rector street in oldest old New York.

Twenty Years Ago

Several eligibles from Duluth received the most remarkable experience of their lives last night when the degree of the playful kitten in the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo was conferred upon them in all its mysterious uniqueness. The following were the surprised individuals: W. W. Walker, D. S. Culver, F. P. Clark, A. G. McKinley, F. D. Hunter, S. V. Gilbert, A. S. Boyer, C. R. Ash and M. A. Hays. This is the first concatenation in Duluth. After the initiation ceremonies were concluded the members, old and new, adjourned to Boyle's, where a banquet was served, at which Grand Snark Platt B. Walker, Jr., of Minneapolis was toastmaster.

Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

LIKES PROPOSED LAW.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am like a Quaker. The spirit hath moved me. I noticed published in your paper of Feb. 12 that Representative W. L. Bernard of Duluth is about to introduce a bill to compel railroad companies to maintain buildings to protect laborers from inclement weather. This, to my estimation, would be a boon to the men employed to relieve their hardship and suffering which has brought about ill health and dissatisfaction by working out in inclement weather. I have often wondered why the railroad companies and others did not give their men protection from the elements, without waiting for a bill to be introduced, making it compulsory.

I will take this method of congratulating Representative W. L. Bernard for introducing one of the best bills ever introduced for the protection of workmen, and I hope the men thus employed in that line of outside work that can be done under cover will boost Mr. Bernard in his good work to get the bill passed. I hope it will not have any opposition. I am not writing this to dictate to either men or companies. I am only acting as a didactic as it is my sentiment that it is for a good cause, and sure gains, one side for health and both sides for profit.

Mr. Editor, will you kindly inform me if there is a law compelling schools to be equipped with fire extinguishers. Thanking you for past favors, yours truly,

T. A. HOLDER.

EUGENICS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your editorials of today you said something about eugenic marriage law. This subject has recently attracted some attention and it has even been asserted by some that these strange restrictions are necessary in order to save the race from entire destruction.

Eugenics will, it is asserted, prevent the evils connected with conjugal associations. If we let certain professions dictate who should marry and not marry, all the matrimonial evils will disappear from the face of the earth. The old custom in contracting companionship for life is declared out of style. Affection and mutual agreement can no longer be trusted. Dictatorships should be established to decide whether or not one should marry. And whether the Creator's command is overruled or the old principle concerning unalienable rights, as life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness is violated, does not seem to matter much.

Suppose that the human race was to be thrown headlong into a position to be thus arbitrarily dealt with, what faction or profession would you consider competent to exercise this function? Is there any organization consisting of so exalted individuals to whom power could be delegated to restrict the ordinances of God? Or to whom could this commission be confided so there would be no likelihood that one would be in a position dependent on an examiner's caprice and prejudice? Do you think, Mr. Editor, that if such laws were to be passed it would be anything in it that would prevent a man of wealth to pass examination regardless of his defects? Would it be any thing but the establishment of a new graft with which we are already so well provided?

Would you propose our scientific and professional organizations to help us out in this case and decide for us whether or not we should marry? As any man ought to know whether he for some physiological reason should not marry, this question is one of morality rather than one of knowledge and ignorance. We have due respect for our medical and clerical societies as well as their members, yet those gentlemen are human like us and have not yet attained a degree of trustworthiness and philanthropy in disposition that have not been attained by men out of sciences and professions. Dignified as many men in these callings might be yet they could not be trusted more than others to decide our fate in a so important matter as matrimony.

Eugenic law would cause humiliation and unnecessary expenses to the best people we have and interrupt them in their good and lawful intention when they in reality ought to be encouraged.

Let us rather urge our medical, legislative and ecclesiastical daddies to take some action toward doing away with quackery; getting a better control on the sale of opium and other injurious drugs, preventing them from getting into the hands of irresponsible persons, especially young boys as there have been so many complaints about 'instruction in hygiene to the generation growing up' and encouraging the youngsters to personal purity and warning them of the hideousness of the social evils. This would diminish defects more than eugenics. VICTOR JOHNSON.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the poem, "Whistling in Heaven," from Mrs. O. Jackson of West Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following poems:

"Barney McCoy" from Margaret Motherway of Bergland, Mich.

"They All Call Me Ole" from a subscriber at Stevens Point, Wis.

"If" from George W. Christie of Long Prairie. This is one of Kipling's. Copyright poems cannot be published here. If Mr. Christie will write the librarian of the Duluth public library, he can doubtless borrow a volume of Kipling's poems containing it.

Whistling in Heaven.

You're surprised that I ever should say so?
Just wait till the reason I've given,
Why I say I shan't care for the music,
Unless there is whistling in heaven.
Then you'll think is no very great wonder,
Nor so strange, nor so bold a conceit,
That unless there's a boy there a-whistling,
It's music will not be complete.

It was late in the autumn of '40,
We had come from our far Eastern home,
Just in season to build us a cabin,
Ere the cold of the winter should come;
And we lived all the while in our wagon
While husband was clearing the place
Where the house was to stand; and the clearing
And building it took many days.

So that our heads were scarce sheltered
In under its roof, when our store
Of provisions were almost exhausted,
And husband must journey for more;
And the nearest place where he could get them
Was yet such a distance away,
That it forced him from home to be absent
At least a whole night and a day.

You see, we'd but two or three neighbors,
And the nearest was more than a mile;
And we hadn't found time yet to know them,
For we had been busy the while.
And the man who had helped at the raising
Just staid till the job was well done;
And as soon as the money was paid him,
Had shouldered his ax and had gone.

Well, husband just kissed me and started,
I could scarcely suppress a deep groan
At the thought of remaining with baby
So long in the house all alone,
For, my dear, I was childish and timid,
And braver ones might well have feared,
For the wild wolf was often heard howling,
And savages sometimes appeared.

But I smothered my grief and my terror
Till husband was off on his ride,
And then in my arms I took Josey,
And all the day long sat and cried,
As I thought of the long, dreary hours
When the darkness of night should fall,
And I was so utterly helpless,
With no one in reach of my call.

And when the night came with its terrors,
To hide ev'ry ray of light
I hung up a quilt by the window,
And almost dead with affright,
I kneeled by the side of the cradle,
Scarce daring to draw a full breath,
Lest the baby should wake, and its crying
Should bring us a horrible death.

There I knelt until late in the evening,
And scarcely an inch had I stirred,
When suddenly far in the distance,
A sound as of whistling I heard!
I started up dreadfully frightened,
For fear 'twas an Indian's call;
And then very soon I remembered
The red man ne'er whistles at all.

And when I was sure 'twas a white man,
I thought were he coming for ill,
He'd surely approach with more caution—
Would come without warning, and still.
Then the sounds coming nearer and nearer,
Took the form of a tune light and gay,
And I knew I needn't fear evil
From one who could whistle that way.

Very soon I heard footsteps approaching,
Then came a peculiar dull thump,
As if some one was heavily striking
An ax in the top of a stump;
And then in another brief moment,
There came a light tap on the door,
When quickly I undid the fast'ning,
And in stepped a boy, and before
There was either a question or answer,
Or either had time to speak,
I just threw my glad arms around him,
And gave him a kiss on the cheek.
Then I started back, scared at my boldness,
But he only smiled at my fright,
As he said, "I'm your neighbor's boy, Elick,
Come to tarry with you through the night.

"We saw your husband go eastward,
And made up our minds where he'd gone,
And I said to the rest of our people,
'That woman is there all alone,
And I venture she's awfully lonesome,
And though she may have no great fear,
I think she'll feel a bit safer
If only a boy were but near.'

So taking my ax on my shoulder,
For fear that a savage might stray
Across my path and need scalping,
I started right down this way;
And coming in sight of the cabin,
And thinking to save you alarm,
I whistled a tune, just to show you
I didn't intend any harm.

And so here I am at your service;
But if you don't want me to stay,
Why, all you need do is to say so,
And should'ring my ax, I'll away."
I dropped in a chair and near fainted,
Just at thought of his leaving me then,
And his eye gave a knowing bright twinkle
As he said, "I guess I'll remain."

And then I just sat there and told him
How terribly frightened I'd been,
How his face was to me the most welcome,
Of any I ever had seen;
And then I lay down with the baby,
And slept all the blessed night through,
For I felt I was safe from all danger
Near so brave a young fellow and true.

So now, my dear friend, did you wonder,
Since such a good reason I've given,
Why I say I shan't care for the music,
Unless there's whistling in heaven?
Yes, often, Ive said so in earnest,
And now what Ive said I repeat,
That unless there's a boy there a-whistling,
Its music will not be complete.

Montana Ranchmen Accused.

Great Falls, Mont., Feb. 17.—J. Walter McKay, a young ranchman, and John P. King, a neighbor of McKay, were locked up on charges of stealing and butchering a steer. King turned state's evidence. The men were caught at King's home, where the hide of the steer was found hidden in a straw pile. King had a bill of sale signed by McKay, but the brand is not the one for the steer killed.

END INDIGESTION OR STOMACH PAIN IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Sick, Sour, Gassy Stomachs Feel Fine.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain indigestion remedy in the whole world, and besides it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know Pape's Diapepsin will save them from any stomach misery.

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it, enjoy it, without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known.

PLAYGROUND COMMITTEE

Expert Names Helpers to Outline an All-Year System.

Prince Heads List; Properties of City to Be Inspected.

Thomas S. Settle, field secretary for the Playground and Recreation Association of America, yesterday afternoon organized the committee which will have charge of outlining the all-year recreational system for the city of Duluth, for which work prominent Duluthians last fall donated a fund of $1,500.

The meeting of all those interested in this work was held in the council chamber at the city hall and after explaining his purpose and the needs of Duluth's parks and playgrounds, Mr. Settle announced the following general committee:

Mayor Prince, chairman; W. S. Moore, R. B. Knox, W. E. McEwen, F. A. Cokefair and Bishop James McGolrick, vice presidents; B. C. Wade, secretary; Miss Dorothy Olcott, assistant secretary; R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools, and Henry Cleveland, park manager, associate members. Others are to be selected from time to time.

Mr. Settle announced that the committee would begin at once to go over the properties now owned by the city, and then begin on the outline after the survey is completed. It is Mr. Settle's aim to combine the schools and playgrounds, so that during the winter social center meetings can be held in the public buildings throughout the city.

During the meeting yesterday afternoon Miss Katherine King, principal of the Bryant school; Prof. Eugene Van Cleef of the normal school; Miss Nellie Stoughton, physical director of Duluth schools and F. A. Cokefair, spoke on recreational work for children.

MINNESOTA LANDS ARE ADVERTISED

Illustrated Lecture Tour of Iowa Towns Arousing Interest.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An extensively illustrated lecture tour, under the direction of the state board of immigration, began Feb. 11 at Northwood, Iowa, and will continue up to April 1, covering forty towns in the state of Iowa. The lecture is being conducted by Frank M. Eddy, and with about 4,000 feet of moving picture films illustrating Minnesota's agricultural, mining and manufacturing industries.

Much care has been exercised in selecting the towns, ranging in size from 600 to 1,500 people, and all are located in the heart of the richest agricultural sections of Iowa, where lands are selling at from $150 to $250 per acre, and rentals range from $4 to $8.

A small portable exhibit is carried by Mr. Eddy, which is on exhibition throughout the day in the hall where the lecture is to take place. Wherever possible these lectures are given in the afternoon so that the farmers will have an opportunity to attend. Recent reports from Mr. Eddy indicate much interest by Iowa people, and the attendance good.

"ALIEN SUSPECTS" ARE BACK IN HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 17.—Fourteen men who enlisted with the First Canadian contingent for service with the British army, have been brought back in irons as "alien suspects," it was learned yesterday. All are of foreign parentage, but some have lived in Canada for more than a quarter of a century.

The party was landed under a strong guard. On the march to the citadel each man was handcuffed to a soldier.

DENIED BY McADOO.

Secretary Has Not Negotiated for Purchase of Any Foreign Ships.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Secretary McAdoo gave out a copy of a letter tonight to Senator Fletcher emphatically denying intimations that he had entered into any negotiations for the purchase of merchant steamers of belligerent nations for operation under the proposed ship bill. The letter was in answer to a resolution introduced several days ago by Senator Burton.

The secretary added that since the disappearance of the emergency at the war's outbreak, when 100,000 Americans in Europe awaited treansportation home, no agent or employe of the government, so far as he knew, had had communications with any steamship company or ship owners except to settle charges for transporting refugees.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

WORLD BETTER FOR INSURANCE

Preus Lauds Holders of Policies; Says Business Will Multiply.

Hicken Urges Higher Standard for Life Insurance Agents.

The world could get along without life insurance, and the state could care for the widows and orphans, but the world would not be as good a place to live in under such conditions. For that reason this country has the largest life insurance per capita of any nation in the world.

In this way J. A. O. Preus, state auditor and former state insurance commissioner, summed up some of the benefits of life insurance at a banquet given in his honor by the Duluth Underwriters' association at the Commercial club last night. The average per capita life insurance in the United States last year, he said, was $300.

In referring to the growth of life insurance, the speaker declared that life insurance would increase from two to ten times within the next ten years. The rise of life insurance has been rapid, said Mr. Preus. Within the last fifty-four years the total business has grown from $150,000,000 to more than $20,000,000,000 with $10,000,000,000 additional in assessments and fraternal insurance.

Good Agents Needed.

Mr. Preus advocated the employment of good agents. He declared that the oldest company boasting of non-employment of agents was the smallest company today of its kind.

A high standard for life insurance was urged, and the speaker discussed the bill now before the state legislature. He said the measure provided that a person to be an agent must file a statement to the effect that he was of good moral character and that he had never violated any of the state statutes in conducting the business. The state commissioner, he said, under this law would have authority to revoke the license of an agent who violated the statutes of the state.

W. A. Hicken, who was one of the pioneer insurance men of the city, spoke of the improvement in the personnel of insurance agents and the benefits of the underwriters' association. He also lauded Mr. Preus as a man in sympathy with the insurance men and an efficient officer while in the position of state commissioner.

ONE AMENDMENT IS DECIDED ON

Charter Commission Committee Holds Initial Meeting Prior to Election.

Members of the special committee appointed by T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission, to prepare amendments proposed to be voted on at the April election, met yesterday afternoon and decided on submitting five, one providing for the increase of the purchase limit from $100 to $500. Mr. Hudson announced this morning that the committee will meet again the latter part of the week.

Mr. Hudson is chairman of the committee, which includes the following members of the charter commission: H. H. Phelps, John G. Williams, City Attorney Clapp, J. H. Crowley and T. W. Hugo.

The committee has to consider four more proposed amendments and those that are approved will be put into legal form and then submitted to the charter commission at a meeting subject to the call of the chairman. That body will then pass on them and the city commissioners will be asked for their final approval, before the ballots are prepared.

The other four amendments to be considered by the committee are:

Changing the charter so that a property owner, who appeals from an assessment, would be compelled to pay interest on it while in the courts and also the 10-per-cent penalty, in case he loses.

Amending section 38 to extend assessments where the amount exceeds $25 for each 3,500 square feet of property benefited by an improvement, so that property owners will be able to pay in annual installments, with additional 7 per cent interest.

Changing the personnel of the board of review acting on tax matters, so that the city assessor would be included in the body instead of the city clerk.

Giving power to the city commission to appraise property damaged for proposed improvements.

SEPARATION IS NOT DESERTION

Judge Fesler Denies Application for Divorce Made By Mrs. Molin.

Judge Fesler in district court yesterday afternoon denied the application of Minnie G. Molin for a divorce from Carl W. Molin. Mrs. Molin sought separation on the ground of cruelty, but her testimony failed to substantiate the charge.

The Molins were married at St. Paul on Dec. 31, 1910, and lived together until Oct. 1, 1913. Then Molin found himself unable to support the family and a mutual agreement was reached whereby each were to return to their own homes and the furniture should be stored. They have remained apart since.

The court refused to construe the transaction as an act of desertion as contemplated by the divorce statute and denied the application. There are no children. Mrs. Molin is now employed as a musician at a local theater. Her maiden name was Minnie G. Youngstrom.

PROTEST AGAINST USE OF SWEDISH FLAG.

San Francisco, Feb. 17.—Under a precedent established by William H. Seward in 1864, when he was secretary of state in Lincoln's cabinet, William Matson, the Swedish consul here, protested to the police commission today against the display of the Swedish flag in a water front saloon as a bait for custom.

CAPTAIN OF CRUISER BLUECHER IS DEAD.

Edinburgh, Feb. 16, via London, Feb. 17.—Capt. Erdmann, commander of the German cruiser Bluecher, who was among those rescued during the battle between British and German squadrons in the North sea Jan. 25, died here tonight from pneumonia. His illness was due to exposure suffered when the Bluecher was sunk.

Capt. Erdmann was one of the greatest gunnery authorities in the German navy.

NEW IMPULSE TO STIR MEN

Affairs at Standstill; Religion Needed, Says Theosophist.

Spirit of Fraternalism Is Helping Pave Way of Great Teacher.

That the affairs of men are at a standstill and that a new impulse is needed to insure progress was the keynote of the lecture on "The Signs of Times" given at the public library last night by E. Y. Blum, an attorney of Kansas City, who is lecturing for the Theosophical society. Religion he declared is the only extraneous force that will impel people to realize their duties. Religion, science, art, medicine, sociology and political science are deadlocked, and need a new force.

As an illustration of this declaration the speaker gave numerous examples from the history of many nations.

"To many races," Mr. Blum said, "a great religious teacher came and gave them their religion. Vyasa came to the Hindoos. Hermes came to the Egyptians and gave them their great faith. Zoroaster came to the Persians and gave them their faith, and taught them purity. Orpheus came to the Greeks and taught them harmony and beauty. Buddha came to the later Hindoos and reformed that great faith into the Buddhist religion and taught them the immutability of law. Shri Krishna then came to the people of India again and gave them the benefit of his great love and then came back as the Christ in Judea 2,000 years ago and gave the wonderful Christian faith and taught the self sacrifice.

"All of these races were given the teaching they needed as they developed the traits they were to inculcate into their natures and now, when a new race is being formed in this country, is it not reasonable to suppose that a new teacher will come or one of the ones who came before will come again and give a new faith to the new race?"

Growth of Fraternalism.

The immense growth of fraternal orders in this country the speaker said shows that the trend of the times is toward fraternalism and is a forerunner of the religious impulse that he believes will teach brotherhood and co-operation, and draw men away from individualism and strife, which characterizes the fifth sub-race man, the Teuton.

"Formerly the rule in business was competition, now the rule is 'get together,' combine and cut out the waste and loss which comes from individualistic competition," said he.

"There are very definite qualities that are necessary for men to evolve in order that when the world teacher comes we shall be able to recognize him, and that his stay will be much longer the three brief years which he spent in Judea 2,000 years ago. The purifying of our lives by right living, right emotions, and right thinking; the willingness to co-operate and work with not only those whom we like, but also with those whom we do not care for; the cultivation of that broad spirit of tolerance which recognizes the right of others; and the living in our daily lives the spirit of brotherly love which realizes the oneness of all life are essential."

HYDE GETS LESS THAN THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Charles L. Hyde is entitled to recover $718.81 from the city of Duluth for a 4-acre strip taken by the city from his property near the pumping station on the north shore of Lake Superior for a boulevard right-of-way. A jury in district court before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon returned a verdict fixing this amount as reasonable compensation for the easement.

Mr. Hyde was among the property owners who appealed to the district court from the awards made by the appraisers in condemnation proceedings. During the trial several land value experts testified. They estimated the damage in Hyde's case as high as $4,011.98.

The jury made a personal inspection of the property last week.

CITY WORKMEN ARE PAID ON GROUNDS

Officials Motor to New Duluth and Gary With Funds.

So that the workmen on the New Duluth and Gary sewer jobs will not have to come into town to get their pay, City Treasurer McLean and City Auditor Campbell motored out there this morning with all the payrolls and the money.

The city council at a special meeting yesterday afternoon passed on the payrolls and ordered the money paid the workmen, of whom there now are about 158. Commissioners Hicken, Voss and Murchison attended the council meeting, the first presiding in the absence of Mayor Prince.

Commissioner Murchison reported at the meeting that work on the sewer jobs is progressing rapidly, he having made an inspection of the improvements yesterday morning.

FAVOR PROHIBITION.

Michigan Progressives Go on Record at State Convention.

Jackson, Mich, Feb. 17.—The National Progressive party in state convention here today adopted a resolution favoring state and national prohibition and nominated a state ticket. Some of the delegates opposed the action on the ground that it was equivalent to converting the Progressive party into a Prohibition party. The vote on the question showed a large majority in favor of prohibition.

Another resolution adopted favored presidential primaries.

The Cover Off

"Great continental savants, like Virchow, Hueppe, Lehmen, Eylenburg, von Leyden, Mendel, Fraenzel, as well as physiologists, doctors and food experts of our own country as Prof. Robinson, Dr. Wiley, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, Prof. Allyn, Mr. Alfred Mc Cann and Dr. Goudies have bestowed much attention on coffee and have recognized it as the cause of many cases of chronic caffeine poisoning.

Prof. Hueppe designates the symptoms as palpitations, tremor, fear, exultations, headaches, dizziness and insomnia.

Other scientists say that coffee drinking can be the cause of heart trouble, palpitations, dilatation of the heart and disease of the arteries (arteriosclerosis)."

Here's the admission made (in an advertisement) by one of the heaviest coffee advertisers of the country. Read it. Think it over. Read it again, and let the truth sink in.

Any coffee drinker who feels the onset of ill health and discomfort, and is in doubt as to the cause, can easily find out if coffee has anything to do with it.

AIMS OF LAW ARE OUTLINED

Davies Discusses Workings of New Trade Commission Act.

Says Spirit and Purpose That of "Even-Handed Justice."

New York, Feb. 17.—Joseph E. Davies, commissioner of the bureau of corporations, prominently mentioned for the chairmanship of the Federal trade commission, discussed recent trust legislation before the Members' Council of the Merchants' association of New York today and outlined the aims and workings of the law creating the trade commission.

He said the spirit and purpose behind the law was that of "even-handed justice, vigilant protection of the public interest from encroachments of dishonest business and, as well, constructive help to business which is honestly and fairly desirous of accommodating itself to the law."

Outlining recent trust legislation, Commissioner Davies said the purpose of the Newlands-Covington act which created the Federal trade commission "was to provide an expert body which should ever be watchful of the public interest, but which should as well be clothed with power to obtain facts and information for the good of the public and business generally, and which should serve also as an agency not to enforce the law, but to aid expeditiously in the more easy accommodation of the remedy to the wrong and to the accommodation of business to the requirements of the law.

Problems Not Simple.

"The problems of modern industrial business are not simple. Our modern industrial organism involves one-sixth of the total wealth of the nation. It affects approximately one-tenth of our population directly. Its welfare and its prosperity, consistent with the public interest, is a matter of first concern to government. One of the problems frequently alleged is uncertainty as to what the law prescribes. This legislation attempts to relieve that situation by specific definition to make that clear which cannot be done. A comprehensive body of information as to the constitution of the whole industry of the country will be obtained by the Federal trade commission. This information will be available to the solution of problems, in short, for the information and guidance of great and small business enterprises.

"The commission is charged with the further duty of investigating conditions in foreign countries with reference to their effect upon our export trade. It is contended that to extend our foreign markets it is necessary that combination be permitted among the smaller manufacturers and exporters of this country to compete with combinations in foreign countries. What is needed for the guidance of legislation is exact information.

Unfair Methods.

"The greatest menace to the small business men or enterprises lies in unfair methods of competition employed by their larger rivals, who can withstand a campaign of price-cutting or similar practice simply by reason of brute strength. These practices, if permitted, breed monopoly. If prevented in their inception by government agency, there is a guarantee of a square deal to the smaller unit and an assurance that it will depend for its survival upon its own efficiency and find justification therein for its existence. The theory of this law finds no quarrel with bigness of enterprise. It simply provides that the rules of the road, based on fairness, shall be made clear and shall be enforced.

"This, in brief, is the manner in which the recent trust legislation has sought to protect the interests of the people and to aid business constructively, both big and little."

MOTOR TRUCK USED TO HARVEST SUMMER'S SUPPLY OF ICE FROM LAKE SUPERIOR

CUTTING THE ICE.

By using a motor truck to haul the ice in from the lake, officials of the Fitger Brewing company succeeded in storing away 1,800 tons within five days. This ice will suffice for the plant during the year.

Work on the ice cutting and hauling was completed yesterday, after the big ice house had been filled to the top. A crew of thirty-five men was at work during the five days, the best record having been made last Wednesday, when 395 tons were hauled in during the day.

The large motor truck proved its efficiency. While the truck hauled in a string of five small cars, the men would load five other cars, so that the truck was constantly kept busy.

The truck was tried first a year ago and its success was so apparent that it was used again last week.

Summons Is Defective.
On the ground that it was defective, Judge Fesler, in district court today, filed an order setting aside the service of summons in an action brought recently by Mary B. Kendall against the American Benefit society to recover $2,000 on a benefit certificate held by her husband, Howard C. Kendall, during his lifetime. Mr. Kendall was drowned in the Duluth canal on Nov. 28, 1913, and it is claimed that the benefit society refused to pay her claim as beneficiary under the certificate.

HEAR LECTURES ON MARINE MATTERS

Officers of Tomlinson Fleet Listen to Course—Next By Capt. Swenson.

On Wednesday of each week during the winter months the masters and engineers of the Tomlinson fleet, and the office force, will listen to a lecture on some subject connected with the marine business and especially concerning the management, operation and government of ships. Several lectures in the course, as it may be called, are still to be heard.

G. A. Tomlinson, head of the company, believes that the employes of no concern can know too much about the business with which they are connected, even though they get delving into the technical parts, and he is thoroughly convinced—through experience—that the time spent in hearing these talks and in discussing the business and exchanging ideas pay dividends to the business. His theory excepts no business where many are employed, shipping, manufacturing, newspapers, and others.

The lecture tomorrow afternoon will be by Capt. Albert Swenson, hydrographic officer at Duluth, who will talk to the gathering of navigation principles. A week from tomorrow Capt. D. T. Sullivan, a master of one of the ships of the Tomlinson fleet, will lecture on "A Day on Board a Freight Ship." Two weeks from tomorrow, John Adams, one of the engineers of the fleet, will lecture on "A Day in the Engineroom of a Freight Ship."

JURY COMPLETE FOR FRAUD CASE

C. F. Koch Will Be Tried on Charge of Defrauding Iron Range Road.

Selection of a jury to try Christian F. Koch on a charge of having defrauded the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company out of $1,000 on a settlement for personal injuries, which are claimed to have been faked, occupied the morning session in Judge Bert Fesler's division of the district court today. The panel was completed when court took noon adjournment. Koch was represented by Thomas J. McKeon and the state by County Attorney Warren E. Greene. Witnesses for the prosecution will take the stand this afternoon. Koch was arrested in Nevada and brought to Duluth three weeks ago under an extradition process.

LODGE IS ENTERTAINED.

Eastern Star Members Are Given Pleasant Surprise.

Members of Euclid chapter, O. E. S., were pleasantly surprised last night by members of Euclid lodge, No. 198, A. F. & A. M., during the meeting last night. A short musical and literary program featured the affair following which dancing and cards were enjoyed.

Among those who took part in the program were: Miss Huth Trolander, who gave three solos, and was accompanied on the piano by her sister, Miss Evangeline Trolander; Rev. W. H. Farrell, who gave a short talk; Miss Rose Spellman, a reading, and Master Erwin Oreck, who played two piano selections. The numbers played by the latter were "The Wayside Chapel," by E. D. Wilson, and "The Anvil Chorus," from El Travatore.

INJURED ON ICY WALK.

Mrs. W. C. Agnew Has Shoulder Dislocated—Other Accidents.

As a result of a fall on a slippery sidewalk near her home Saturday afternoon, Mrs. W. C. Agnew, 1735 Wallace avenue, is confined to her home with a dislocated shoulder.

Mrs. Agnew was leaving her home, and slipped as she stepped down from the door, striking on her shoulder.

Several other similar accidents have been reported to the police during the last few days, but in no case have the injuries been serious. The daughter of a prominent Duluthian living on East Superior street fell while at play, and sprained her ankle.

CANDIDATES MUST PAY $5.

Law Discarded Since 1908 to Be Revived This Year.

All candidates filing for the coming spring election will have to pay a fee of $5.

This fee has not been paid in Duluth since 1908, because at that time a ruling was made that candidates coming in on the primaries do not have to pay, but that those who filed with petitions, must pay the required tax. It was not until 1913 that candidates began to use petitions, and at that time the city officials neglected to collect the money, losing about $275 as a result.

City Clerk Palmer recently discovered the oversight and yesterday the city attorney gave a verbal opinion to the effect that the law will have to be enforced at the coming election.

Candidates for offices may begin filing on Feb. 25.

HALLOCK CAPTURES BOTH SILVER CUPS

Boys Win in Stock and Corn Judging Contests.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Farm crops show here today the boys stock judging contest was won by the high schools in the following order: Hallock, Thief River Falls, McIntosh, East Grand Forks, Barnesville and Red Lake Falls.

The boys corn judging contest was won by teams from the high schools in the following order: Hallock, Argyle, Stephen, Ada and Warren.

This gives Hallock both silver cups and when the announcement was made just before the noon adjournment, the Kittson county alfalfa squad made the Armory jingle with their famous alfalfa yell.

VILLAGES DISAPPEAR UNDER HEAVY SNOW.

Rome, Feb. 17.—Many villages in the Friuli region of the Italian Alps have disappeared from sight under a snowfall of almost unprecedented extent for that locality. All of the mountain roads are impassable.

On the high plateau of Fugazze, on the Austrian frontier, the snow is more than seven feet deep.

The blocking of the road from Schio into the famous Dolomites district has isolated a number of towns much frequented by tourists during the summer months.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. NOTED INDIAN AGENT IN CITY

Maj. McLaughlin, Maker of Treaties, Guest of G. A. Tomlinson.

Maj. J. H. McLaughlin of Washington, D. C., and one of the most noted Indian agents of the West, is in the city today, and is being entertained by his friend, G. Ashley Tomlinson. D. F. Barry of Superior, Maj. McLaughlin's friend for many years, and also noted among the Sioux and other Indians of the wild days as a photographer and friend of the Indian, accompanies the major.

Maj. McLaughlin is author of a comparatively recent book, "My Friend, the Indian," in which he reviews his life among the children of the plains, and brings out their good traits. The major has said that too many have pointed out their failings and not enough have dwelt upon the good that is in the Indian, naturally. The book, which has had an enormous sale, was illustrated by the photographs taken by Mr. Barry.

For more than forty years, every treaty that has been made between the United States and the Indians has been negotiated by Maj. McLaughlin, in whom the Indians repose the most thorough trust. The major is a most interesting man. He is widely traveled, and cultured; and his knowledge of the Indians and their lore makes him a conversationalist in that line whom those who know about it never fail to try to draw out.

CABIN THIEVES ARE SOUGHT

Country Homes of Many Duluthians Have Been Stripped.

Campers-out who visit cabins in the Ingleside district, beyond the end of the Woodland car line, while their owners are in the city, and ransack the places, taking with them everything of value, are being sought by the sheriff, following several complaints from residents of the district.

The marauders have made a practice of watching until the cabin's owner was in Duluth, and then breaking into the place, have carried off everything in the way of supplies they happened to want.

Deputy Sheriff John W. McDonald, who was detailed to investigate the burglaries this morning, stated that the thieves had disregarded all ethics in their work, robbing elderly women, as well as younger campers.

Sometime since Sunday the cabin of Mrs. Rose McGrain, 5061 London road, was entered, and ransacked, the thieves taking more than 100 pounds of flour, some silverware, some tea and coffee, as well as some cooking utensils. Mrs. McGrain, who is nearly 60 years of age, makes a practice of visiting the cabin every few days.

John Oakes, another cabin owner, reported today that the lock of his place had been forced and all his food supplies taken. He had spent Sunday in the cabin, returning to the city Monday. He discovered last night, when he made a trip to the park, that there was nothing to eat on the premises.

Three or four other cabins also have been entered, according to the reports received by the sheriff. So far operations of the thieves have been confined to the colony just beyond Ingleside park, and it is believed that the persons responsible live near there.

SUPERIOR

BULLET WOUND PROVES FATAL

Victim of Ogden Avenue Shooting Dies—Assailant Not Captured.

Dennis Ftobanis, whose name is also given as Chapanus, victim of the shooting yesterday forenoon at the Fulton building, 524 Ogden avenue, Superior, died at 7 o'clock last evening at St. Mary's hospital, Superior, as a result of his wounds. The bullet struck the man in the right temple and although city physicians worked over him for several hours and for a time believed that they might save his life, he expired without regaining complete consciousness.

The police of Duluth and Superior have been able to get only a meager description of Dennis Mafredas, who is alleged to have done the shooting. The information against Mafredas was given by companions of the pair who were in the building at the time of the affray. No trace of the man has been found in either city.

Six men are being held at Superior police station and these will be examined today through an interpreter. The men are James Kandlas, Tom Mipredus, Dennis Kalinskus, John Kandlas, Spews Xanden and Tony Petis.

Go to Ski Tourney.

August Nordby and Simon Erickson will be delegates of the Superior Ski club to attend the annual tournament to be held next Suday at Milwaukee. Both men have won reputations in the professional class and expect to make records at the meeting. Owing to the meet in Milwaukee, officials of the Superior Ski club decided to postpone the ski tournament here scheduled for the same date.

Got Too "Pally."

Olaf Anderson has appealed to the police to search for a man named Harry Ross, who was his "pal" for a day, but who last night, he says, stole $43 in cash and a gold watch from him while sleeping in a Tower avenue hotel. Anderson said he had picked Ross' acquaintance during the day, and they went to the same place to sleep for the night. When Anderson woke up this morning Ross was gone and so was the money and watch.

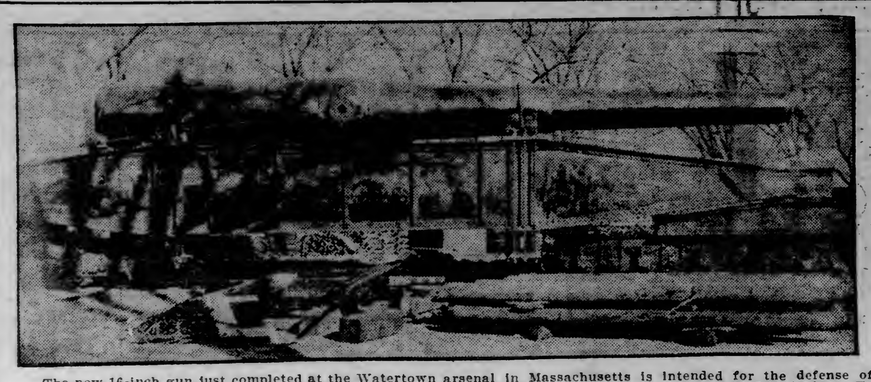

Lets Paving Contract.

The city commission let the contract to pave lower Tower avenue to the Russell Construction company, yesterday afternoon. The two blocks between First and Third streets will be paved with concrete. The contract price was $5,980.24.

Oscar II Released.

New York, Feb. 17.—The Danish steamer Oscar II, taken into Kirkwall in the Orkney islands last Sunday, was released on Monday and presumably proceeded to Copenhagen, according to dispatches received here today from London. Dispatches from Copenhagen stated that anxiety had been felt there as to the vessel's safety.

NEW DEFENSE GUN FOR PANAMA CANAL

The new 16-inch gun just completed at the Watertown arsenal in Massachusetts is intended for the defense of the Panama canal. It weighs 62½ tons, is 48 feet 3 inches long and has a maximum diameter of 45 7-10 inches. To fire it once takes 349 pounds of powder costing $201.69. The projectile weighs 1,660 pounds and costs $570.58. The projectile has a velocity of 2,250 feet a second and will penetrate 3-inch armor at 18,000 yards. The gun was designed by the experts of the war department and cost $40,000.

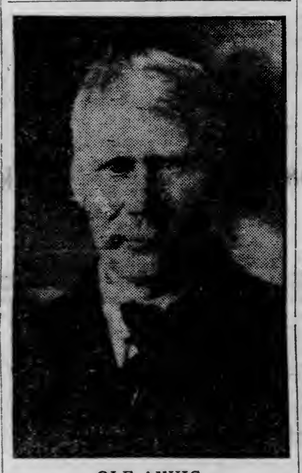

NORTH DAKOTA LEGISLATURE

Senate Kills Resolution for Four-Year Terms for Congressmen.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four-year terms for congressmen, proposed by the house and given approval in a joint memorial to congress, failed to meet the approval of the senate, which turned down the resolution.

The Bronson bill proposing the regulation of freight trains as to length and crews, was reported into the senate yesterday afternoon for indefinite postponement by all but one of the railroads committee.

The woman suffrage fight is now transferred to the house and the supporters of the resolution are hopeful of success in that body. The senate's action in passing the measure, with a margin of six over the constitutional requirement, was a big surprise to the suffrage workers as well as the opposition, as the defeat of the measure had been generally conceded. In the house there is little question but that the bill will pass.

OLE AXVIG,
Representative From Cavalier County.

Representative Moses' bill creating the office of temperance commissioner is now before the senate. An attempt will be made to do away with the $3,000 appropriation that was carried by the house measure. It is expected that a fight also will be made to reduce the powers of the official.

Senator Gibbens' measure proposing that county officials be prohibited from appointing their wives or husbands as deputies was indefinitely postponed by the senate.

Representative Dixon's bill providing that assessors, when acting as census enumerators in the forthcoming census of the state, shall be allowed 4 cents a name, instead of 2 cents, as at present, was passed by the senate. It now goes to the governor for his signature.

Attorney General H. J. Linde has furnished Senator Martin Thoreson, the father of the compulsory hail insurance bill, with an opinion that the measure likely will be declared constitutional under the Federal Constitution.

Allen Funeral.

Funeral services for J. R. Allen, aged 83, who died at the home of his son, Frank N. Allen, 522½ East Third street, Tuesday, were held from the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment was in Forest Hill cemetery.

In addition to his son, Mr. Allen is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella G. Minard of Springfield, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Rice of Chicago, Ill.

"MEANEST MAN" FAILS IN ATTEMPT

Honesty of Young Austrian Frees Him of Federal Charge.

Duluth's meanest man failed yesterday in an attempt to bring grief to Frank Sakuski, aged 22, a young Austrian, who came here from Port Arthur, Ont., looking for work.

When Sakuski was sleeping on the floor at the Bethel, Eighth avenue west and First street, Monday night, the "meanest man," who had overheard Sakuski telling of his trip from Canada, called police headquarters and informed Lieut. Barber that there was a man there who had escaped from Canada.

Sakuski was arrested, accordingly, charged with violating the immigration laws. He told a straightforward story in his attempt to get work and was so honest in his recital that Immigration Officer Brown McDonald, after a short investigation, released him.

WOOL IMPORT EMBARGO LIFTED

Tense Trade Situation Relieved By Agreements Entered Into.

American manufacturers of woolen goods are gratified in the completion of an arrangement that has led to the lifting of the embargo against the exporting of wools to this country from Great Britain and Australia.

It is announced that the Textile Alliance, Inc., with headquarters at New York, is to be licensed to receive shipments of wools upon the giving of a guarantee that the products made from them will not be exported to Germany. This new compact is expected to afford relief in the strained situation in the American woolen trade. Had the British embargo against exports of wool been maintained, it is claimed that manufacturers of some of the finer grades of woolen fabrics in this country would have been badly handicapped.

GUARD ON SHIP.

Three Officers and Sixteen Men Placed Aboard Wilhelmina.

London, Feb. 17.—The report which was current last night and received wide publicity, to the effect that a prize crew of three British officers and sixteen men had been placed on board the American steamer Wilhelmina at Falmouth, proved today to be erroneous. The officer commanding the men in charge of the Wilhelmina, said the detachment was not a prize crew, but merely a guard.

WEDDED BLISS BRIEF.

Wife of Four Months Asks for Divorce Decree.

Four months after Einar Johnson swore to love, honor and protect Ellen Johnson, he broke his wedding vow and departed for parts unknown, according to the story related by the deserted wife in divorce proceedings filed in district court today.

They were married on Jan. 4, 1913, and on April 30 of the same year, and without provocation, he left her, it is said, and she has not seen him since. On the grounds of desertion, she asks that a decree of divorce be granted her. She is 25 and he 24.

BOY IS STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Struck by an automobile while crossing the street at First avenue west and Superior street this afternoon, William Carson, aged 9, the son of William C. Carson, department manager for the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, 1428 Jefferson street, sustained a broken leg. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital by the police emergency, where it is believed he will recover.

Detectives are looking for the automobile, which did not stop after the accident, and disappeared before it was identified by bystanders. Detective F. A. Schulte, who was placed on the case, stated that the car was believed to belong to the board of education.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

Nomination of Frank L. Gorenflo of Cass Lake Sent to Senate.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 17.—President Wilson sent to the senate today nominations of the following for Minnesota postmasters: William Gusewitz, Hill City; Frank L. Gorenflo, Cass Lake; J. M. Collins, Pine City; Patrick H. Grogan, Saint James; Jacob Scherer, Winthrop.

Funeral on Saturday.

OLSEN—Mrs. Hannah Olsen, aged 41, wife of Swan Olsen, 5802 London road, died at her home yesterday after a short illness. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 o'clock from the residence, with interment in Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. Harmon officiating. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Olsen is survived by four daughters, Svea, Esther, Hilda and Minnie, all of Duluth.

An island in the Pacific, of which a French company has obtained control, is believed to contain 10,000,000 tons of high grade phosphates and many more million tons of inferior quality.

YOUNG INVENTOR OF ARMORED AEROPLANE

CECIL PEOLI.

Cecil Peoli is inventor of an armored aeroplane which a company recently organized is about to construct. The machine is building at Dayton, Ohio, and it will be completed, it is hoped, by March 10. The inventor talks of making a trial flight from New York to Washington to exhibit it to officials there from whom he expects to get orders. He also suggests a sunrise to sunset trip from New York to St. Louis. The machine will have a motor of 140 horse power.

The New Bon Ton Corsets Show a Graceful In-curving at the Waist

The new styles will not do at all on the older corsets, you can see that at a glance, and yet there is no return to the wasp-like waist of a few years ago.

Yet there must be a suggestion of graceful slenderness at the waist and correspondingly the bust line is somewhat higher,

The hip must be free and lithesome.

The New Bon Ton Corsets Embody These Important Style Features

They mold the figure with firm glove-like smoothness into the new style lines. Beautiful models in both plain and brocaded materials. The cost is slight, but $3.00 to $5.00 for models that are certain of fashionable demand.

You cannot "save" on your corsets, it is false economy—for the corset is the very foundation of style—it determines the appearance of the outer garment.

Let our corset experts fit the proper model on you.

DAIRY FARMING THEMES AT BIG FARM CROPS SHOW

Various Subjects Pertaining to Handling Dairy Cows Are Discussed.

G. P. Grout of Duluth Gives Audience Dairy Cow Judging Demonstration.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is dairy farming day at the big Farm Crops show which began yesterday and many subjects pertaining to dairy cows are being discussed. M. Christianson of Mentor is presiding.

Among the subjects discussed this morning were:

"Dairy Cow Judging Demonstration," G. P. Grout, manager, Jean Du Luth farm, Duluth; "The Outlook for Dairying," W. A. McKerrow, agricultural extension division, University of Minnesota; "Minnesota, the Butter State," J. J. Farrell, dairy and food commissioner, St. Paul.

The afternoon and evening program follows:

Afternoon Session.

(T. A. Sullivan, East Grand Forks, Presiding).

Music by Agricultural School band; songs of the Red River valley; "Research in Agriculture," Dean A. F. Woods, department of agriculture, University of Minnesota; "Feeding the Dairy Cow," G. P. Grout; "The Value of Cow Testing," W. A. McKerrow; discussion.

3:45 P. M.—Grand Opera House.

Play, "Back to the Farm," will be presented by a cast of students of the Northwest School of Agriculture.

Evening Session.

(Supt. C. G. Selvig, Presiding).

Moving pictures; music by Citizens' band, Crookston; Red River valley community singing; illustrated lecture on "Types of Dairy Cattle," G. P. Grout; music—selected; "Problem of the Country Church," Dr. J. M. Walters, Fargo.

Musical Festival.

The first evening of the Farm Crops show opened last night with a grand musical festival and enthusiasm never ran so high at a similar gathering in Crookston. The Crookston band played a half-hour's program while the audience was filling the Armory, after which A. W. Rogers directed the community singing, a chorus of 100 voices leading and the entire audience joining in with a vim which fairly shook the kernels of corn from the walls of the corn palace. As the audience sang "The Minnesota Red River Valley Farmer" to the tune of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching" and "Red River Valley, Minnesota's Wonderland," to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland," "Northwestern Minnesota" and "Farm Crops Show Song," the entire armory shook and cheer after cheer followed each song. A trio by Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Peterson and N. A. Thorson completed the musical program, following which the spelling contest was taken up with results as given below:

Written—First, Hazel Perry, Polk county; second, Carl Thompson, Kittson county; third, Beatrice Miller, Red Lake county; fourth, Nicholai Halstad, Norman county; fifth, Constance Lunder, Clay county. The prizes were $10, $5, $2.50, $1 and $1.

Oral—First, Mabel Kays, Polk county; second, Stella Carlston, Kittson county; third, Rose Perras, Red Lake county; fourth, Myrtle Nelson, Clay county; fifth, Annie Hilde, Marshall county. Prizes were $5, $2.50, $1, $1 and $1.

This contest was conducted by Miss Sherwood of the Crookston school of agriculture and aroused great enthusiasm.

Remarkable Grain Exhibit.

Better grain was never judged at an exhibit in the United States than that at the fourth annual farm crop show, now on in Crookston. It is a credit to the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association in the manner it is staged, and a monument to the progressive farmers of the Minnesota Red River vallew, said C. P. Bull of the Minnesota university, after completing the judging yesterday.

Continuing he said: "The corn is splendid and shows great progress from year to year. You are in the corn belt, and with the good work being done by the farmers, the Minnesota Red River valley has a great corn future. Keep the good work up."

Sweepstake Awards.

Sweepstakes, ten-ear sample of corn in ten counties, won by James A. Houske, Halstad.

Reserve sweepstakes premium, Stewart Austin, East Grand Forks.

Best ten ears of corn in counties north of the north line of Polk county, including Red Lake and Pennington, A. D. Vansickle, Warren.

Best thirty ears of corn in the whole district, C. C. Williams, Detroit.

Reserve sweepstakes premium, John Croy, East Grand Forks.

Best two quarts of wheat, Albert Weinstaff, Roseau.

Best two quarts of oats, A. D. Vansickle, Warren.

Reserve sweepstakes, Martin Jensen, Stephen.

Best two quarts of barley, A. D. Vansickle, Warren.

Best peck of potatoes, A. D. Vansickle, Warren.

CATARRH CAUSED BY A GERM

Must Be Destroyed Before Catarrh Itself Can Be Cured, Says Specialist. Wonderful Results From Breathing Medicated Air.

Medicine taken into the stomach will never cure catarrh. And neither will the sprays, douches, lotions, creams and other temporary reliefs that so many catarrh victims make a habit of using. To cure catarrh so it won't come back you must first drive from your body the millions of germs that are flourishing in the inner recesses of your nose and throat and are causing the disease.

There is a preparation which does this called Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me). Hyomei is a germ killing vaporized air formed from the purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other healing and antiseptic ingredients. You breathe Hyomei through the mouth and nose by means of a little hard rubber inhaler which druggists furnish with it. This medicated germicidal air penetrates into every fold and crevice of the mucous membrane of your nose and throat, kills the catarrh germs that lodge there, soothes, reduces and heals the swollen inflamed membranes, stops the discharge and open up the clogged nose and air passages in a truly wonderful way. It gives blessed relief in five minutes from catarrhal distress of every kind and if you make a practice of breathing Hyomei for a few minutes each day for just a few weeks not only will all the symptoms of catarrh vanish but the disease itself will be a thing of the past. No one need try or buy Hyomei on pure faith. Boyce Drug Store and many other leading druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell it with the positive guarantee that it must cure catarrh or that the money paid for it will be refunded. Hyomei is very inexpensive and with this protecting guarantee behind your purchase there is absolutely no reason why any sufferer from catarrh should not give it a fair trial.

HARDWARE MEN MEET AT FARGO

Three Days' Session of Flickertail Association Is Being Held.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald)—The North Dakota Hardware Dealers' association began a three days' session here today. There are many delegates and an army of traveling men and other representatives of the big wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing houses present.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the association was called to order by President Smith. After the invocation by Rev. Mr. Beard, the delegates were welcomed by President Emery of the city commission and the response was by Otto Saugstad.

H. L. W. McNamara of Janesville, Wis., a former president of the national association, spoke on "Association Work." Former State Senator McDowell of Marion, a banker, discussed "The Relations of the Banker and the Merchants." He was followed by C. D. McLaren of St. Paul.

This evening an orchestra will furnish music at the auditorium and there will be a more detailed inspection of the exhibits.

Thursday's Program.

President Smith will deliver his annual address tomorrow forenoon and the reports of all the officers will be received. I. L. Newgard of Grafton will also report on the last national convention at which he represented the North Dakota association as a delegate. The only formal address will be by M. L. Corey of Argis, Ind., who is secretary of the national association. He will discuss the "Service the National Organization Offers Its Members."

The entire afternoon and the evening till 9:30 will be devoted to inspecting the exhibits. After 9:30 there will be a smoker at the Commercial clubrooms at which the delegates and their guests will be present.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE.

Ironwood Will Send Delegation to Calumet, Mich., Meeting.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual older boys' conference for the Upper Peninsula will be held at Calumet on Feb. 19, 20 and 21 under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The following delegates will go from this city and several others may also attend: Junior senate, John Best; Presbyterian church, John Chisholm; Swedish Lutheran church, Hult Wilson, Gustaf Erickson; Ironwood high school, Chester Toutloff, Everett Kearney; First Methodist church, Will Wright, Will Lory, Carl Baker.

"Team Work" will be the important subject to be discussed, the entire morning of Feb. 20 to be given over to this subject. Everett Kearney is on the program for an address on "School Team Work." Rev. A. E. Healey, pastor of First M. E. church, will accompany the boys and be toastmaster at the banquet to be given in connection with the conference.

NEW CASS LAKE PLANT.

Excelsior Factory Is Among New Industries Promised That Village.

Cass Lake, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cass Lake will soon have an excelsior plant, according to the plans laid out by a number of interested parties. For a time the erection of such an establishment has been under consideration, but it has not been until recently that much has been done toward active work.

There is sufficient hardwood and in fact all kinds of timber in this vicinity awaiting the opening of just such industries. The large sawmill here is good for a number of years yet and the box factory is certain of sufficient material to keep them busy for over thirty years. With these and the many smaller industries which are branches of the lumber business there is ample goods to keep things thriving, not mentioning the valuable farms that are being developed.

LITTLE "WANT AD" LOCATES FAMILY.

Fortuna, N. D., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph De Witt has been united with his mother and a brother after eleven years as a result of a want column ad in a St. Paul newspaper. When he was about 2 years old his father died and he and a brother were placed in an orphan asylum in Minneapolis. Later Joe was sent to Jamestown, N. D., and soon afterward was adopted by Lewis De Witt of this place and assumed the name of the latter instead of his own, which had been Buckley. As he grew older he began to wonder what had become of his brother and mother and recently decided to place an advertisement in the St. Paul publication.

Greatly to his gratification he received notice through some one who had known the family that his mother and brother were at present at Alexander, N. D. It was eleven years since the boy saw his mother.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

KILLS PAIN (GUARANTEED)

DR. EARL S. SLOAN, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa. St. Louis, Mo.

Price, 25c., 50c. and $1.00

IS AGAIN ELECTED MAYOR OF BEMIDJI

WILLIAM C. M'CUAIG.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor William C. McCuaig, who headed the independent ticket, was re-elected yesterday along with the balance of the ticket by a plurality of 75. A. T. P. Lyon was elected assessor after a spirited contest. Frank S. Lycan, alderman at large, was elected by 175 votes but he had only one opponent instead of two as most had. Morris Kaplan, formerly of Duluth, was the Socialists' candidate for mayor, while Judge H. A. Simon was also a candidate. The Socialists were beaten all along the line.

CARLTON LOSES ITS ONLY SCHOOL

Crossed Electric Wires or Fumigation Gas Blamed for Blaze.

Carlton, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred and sixty students who have been attending school in the eleven-room brick high school here this winter, will find school quarters the balance of the term in the city hall, courthouse and Presbyterian and Finnish Lutheran churches as the result of the fire which early yesterday destroyed the school. The school board decided last night to use the churches and other buildings for that purpose. Yesterday's fire starting about 5:15 a. m. burned with great rapidity. It was discovered by Janitor Lemaster when he entered the building to fire up for the day.

Started Under Stairway.

The flames were raging in the basement having started in the stairway leading to the first floor. Bells were rung and whistles blown arousing the town but fire fighters could do but little. The buildings had been closed three days while being fumigated against scarlet fever and it was so full of fumes of formaldehyde and other gases that the firefighters could not get inside to fight the fire before it had attained large proportions. The flames licked up the structure with great rapidity despite much water being poured on it and this morning the ruins were still smoldering.

The general belief is that crossed electric wires or explosion of fumigating gas started the fire. The loss is $35,000 with $22,000 insurance. The building was erected seven years ago and was the only school here. The school board decided last night to take immediate steps to rebuild.

SOO LINE'S EARNINGS ARE REPORTED LESS.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—The Soo Line showed a decrease in gross earnings for the final six months of 1914 as compared with the same period in 1913 in the report to the Minnesota tax commission yesterday.

The half-year earnings were $5,130,281 in 1914 and $5,528,157 in 1913. The company will pay a tax of $256,514 on its 1914 earnings.

The earnings of the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railway were $102,570 in the last half of 1914 and $134,825 in 1913. The 1914 half-year tax $5,128.

ALBERTA FARMER GETS RECORD WHEAT PRICE

Major, Alta., Feb. 17.—The record sale of wheat in Alberta was made here when Preston Mills, a farmer in this district, sold a carload of wheat, an even 1,000 bushels, to a flour company for $1,450, or at the rate of $1.45 a bushel. Officials of the Canadian Pacific railway predict that the price will go higher and many farmers are holding their wheat. The high prices are resulting in a great many inquiries from prospective settlers.

GOODHUE COUNTY PIONEER CALLED.

Red Wing, Minn., Feb. 17.—John Staiger, 81, one of the early settlers of Goodhue county, is dead at his home here. He was born in Wurtemburg, Germany, June 21, 1833. With his wife, whose death occurred in this city last May, he came to America in 1858. On May 17 of that year they arrived at Frontenac and settled on a homestead claim in Florence township. He remained on the farm until fourteen years ago, when the family moved to Red Wing to make their home. He is survived by six children.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Feb. 17.—The Park Region Medical society at a meeting called for the purpose of considering the proposed affiliation of the recently formed Mayo foundation for medical education and research and the state university unanimously passed resolutions protesting against the plan. Fifteen doctors were present.

The resolution addressed to the regents of the university declares: "That the Park Region Medical society wishes to register this protest against the proposed affiliation of the medical department of the University of Minnesota and the so-called Mayo foundation."

ST. PAUL MAN SHOT BY BROTHER-IN-LAW.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—Joseph Wallraff, 522 West Exchange street, shot and probably fatally wounded his brother-in-law, John N. Theissen, Monday night in the latter's harness shop at 549 Rice street, St. Paul. Both are harnessmakers. Wallraff, who is said to be a cocaine user, when arrested told the police that he had planned the murder for months and that his only regret was that Theissen was not killed outright. He said for seventeen years Theissen hounded him.

St. Cloud Mill Burns.

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 17.—The George Tileston flour mills, owned and operated by the recently organized Great Northern Flour Mill company, burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon. The plant is a total loss.

Severe Blood Troubles Vanish

With Magic Effect, Great Remedy Makes Disease Disappear.

At almost any drug store you may obtain S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, and you then have the veritable wizard that makes all blood troubles vanish. Your stomach takes kindly to S. S. S., it rushes into your blood, is a purifying wave, makes the liver, kidneys, bladder and skin work in harmony; stops accumulations that have caused rheumatism, catarrh, swollen glands, sore throat and skin eruptions.

Just as food makes blood, so does S. S. S. follow the process of digestion to stimulate natural secretions to protect us against the ravages of disease germs. We are well aware of the fact that these germs are apt to be latent within us to break forth in violent eruptions of the skin whenever the system is in a low state of resistance. And it is to both prevent these eruptions or to get rid of them that Nature gave us such an ally as S. S. S. It is purely vegetable, contains no mercury, and yet it overcomes those serious troubles for which mercury has been employed for ages. In every community are people who know this to be true. They owe to S. S. S. their recovery. Get a bottle today. Refuse all substitutes. Read the folder around the bottle that tells of the wonderful work being done by the medical department in assisting users of S. S. S. For a special book on blood troubles address The Swift Specific Co., 51 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bethlehem Norwegian Lutheran church. Rev. Hostager officiating. The body will be shipped to Superior on the early train Thursday morning.

St. Cloud — In the presence of over 500 Knights of Columbus, fifty-three candidates were initiated and became members of the local council. The exemplification of the first and second degrees was in charge of the officers of St. Cloud Council No. 961 and was conducted in a very impressive manner.

Grand Marais — Henry Howenstine and his aged father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howenstine, who have been confined to their home for several days with a serious attack of winter cholera are much improved and are rapidly recovering.

St. Cloud—County Supt. W. A. Boerger is preparing the prize list for school exhibits at the 1915 Stearns county fair, to be held at Sauk Center in September. The potato contest will be one of the features and for this event $175.50 have been set aside as prizes to go to 142 students.

Little Falls—Little Falls voters will decide March 16 whether or not they want saloons in the city, a petition to put the issue on the ballot having received enough signatures to put it to a vote. F. A. Nelson circulated the petition.

East Grand Forks—The charge of assault and battery against Ole Logan was dropped in Judge Rasmussen's police court Feb. 15. Ole was arrested on Jan. 10 on complaint of his wife. A continuance was taken, the case coming up again Monday morning.

Winona — George Johnson, aged 25, met instant death here by falling across a circular saw. He was sawing wood. He fell against the saw and before help could reach him his body was completely severed, the disk cutting off his left arm and then passing diagonally down through his body.

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial." — Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis. — "At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since." — Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ON THE IRON RANGES

CHEAPER OFFER FROM RED WING

Hibbing Council Will Consequently Readvertise for Bids.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids for the material for Alice sewers again will be readvertised. An offer from a company at Red Wing which was nearly $100 below any bids submitted at the last meeting was received and Mayor Power last night at the council meeting said it would be inadvisable to accept any offers for the material when this amount can be saved.

C. A. Remington, a local bidder, declared that he would meet the price of the Red Wing company. The recorder was instructed to find out if the Red Wing company will adhere to its offer. If it will, the bids will be ordered readvertised.

Employe Has Claim.

An injury claim by John Pearson, an employe of the village who was hurt while working recently, was referred to the village attorney. Three applications for employment were tabled. An application to tear up pavement on Mahoning street to place water pipes in the Wasa hall was referred to the streets and alleys committee. Two applications for saloon licenses at 113 and 405 Pine street was referred.

A petition asking for "sufficient fire protection" was received from Brooklyn residents. This petition was referred to the fire committee. It is believed by village officials that this is an intimation that a fire station is wanted at that addition.

Names of members for the election board here were approved.

Want Salary Paid.

The village treasurer is paid an exorbitant sum, in the opinion of mining company officials who submitted a petition asking that a straight salary of $125 per month be given instead of a percentage basis of all money spent by the village. The present salary is approximately $5000 yearly.

That this will dampen the ardor of many aspirants for the office is the belief of political predicters here. More than twelve persons have announced their candidacy for the office and it is expected that the campaign this spring will be a live one.

BUYCK MAN FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Buhl Saloon Man Pleads Guilty to Selling Liquor to Minor.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury last night in a verdict of guilty in the case of Camile De Colgney and Peter Jonnson, charged with selling liquor without licenses at Buyck in January. Judge Hughes has not yet imposed sentence.

Benjamin Christiansen, charged with selling liquor without a license at Plain Lake, Feb. 14, was tried this morning. The case was given to the jury at 11 o'clock.

Attorney McMahon of Virginia for the defense, urged that evidence submitted by "stools" and "spotters" be not accepted as adequate for conviction. He also asked that the cases of John King, Jos. Mikus, Joseph Josskosky, all charged with liquor law violations be held over to the Virginia term. There was no objection and Judge Hughes granted the request, as that court is nearer the scene of the alleged offense. Walter Banister, a saloon man of Buhl, charged with selling liquor to a minor, pleaded guilty and was fined $100. A similar charge against William McKinney also of Buhl was dismissed.

After a short deliberation today the jury acquitted Ben Christensen, tried for selling liquor without a license at Plain Lake.

HIBBING MAN'S MOTHER DIES AT GRAND FORKS

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Sullivan, aged 80, who died at her home here Sunday morning, was held Tuesday morning from St. Michael's Catholic pro-cathedral Tuesday morning.

She is survived by four sons, George of Great Falls, Mont., Jerry of Hibbing, Minn., and John and Patrick of this city, and four daughters, Mrs. H. H. Ryan, Mrs. C. J. Murphy, Misses Elizabeth and Josephine of this city. Besides her children she is survived by a brother, Patrick Woods and a sister, Mrs. Johanna O'Rourke of Rochester, Minn.

JESMORE'S HORSES WILL RACE ON ICE.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Jesmore, postmaster, will have two horses entered in the ice races at Lake Como in St. Paul, Feb. 22. The horses are in training at the state fair grounds, where they have been stabled for nearly a year and Mr. Jesmore hopes to see his colts make a good showing. They were entered for the state fair races but were not raced because of bad weather and a muddy track.

Mesaba Queen, a 5-year-old trotter, and Ruth J., 4-year-old pacer, are the horses entered for the Washington birthday matinee. Miss Harwood, Mr. Jesmore's 3-year-old trotter, is also at Hamline, but will not be tracked until next summer.

The New Baby is World's Wonder

Every tiny infant makes life's perspective wider and brighter. And whatever there is to enhance its arrival and to ease and comfort the expectant mother should be given attention. Among the real helpful things is an external abdominal application known as "Mother's Friend." It is so well thought of by women that most drug stores throughout the United States carry "Mother's Friend" as one of their staple and reliable remedies. It is applied to the abdominal muscles to relieve the strain on ligaments and tendons.

In a little book are described more fully the many reasons why "Mother's Friend" has been a friend indeed to women for more than two generations. This book was prepared not only to aid the inexperienced but to enable so many women to have at hand the timely hints, suggestions and helps in concise and neatly printed form for ready reference. It should be in all homes. "Mother's Friend" may be had of almost any druggist but if you fail to find it write us direct and also write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 306 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Georgia.

EVELETH LIGHTING CONTRACT IS CLOSED

City Commission Closes Deal With Home Electric Company.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city commissioners last night closed a ten-year contract with the Home Electric & Heating company to supply current for the city's arc lights and for the municipal buildings.

The contract calls for a monthly payment of $10 each for all arcs up to forty and $8.00 a month for all lights over forty. Current for the city buildings will be charged at 6 cents a kilowatt. Before putting the contract to a vote, Mayor Saari obtained a pledge from the company that at any time when changing conditions make it possible for power to be furnished cheaper to small consumers at a legitimate profit that the rates will be reduced without recourse to the courts.

A liquor license was granted to Matt Thomas.

Apply for Jobs.

Applications of William Chappel and Matt Sutula for a position as market master; Frank Vito for position as watchman at St. Mary's lake and of Nick Thomas for a position as fireman were filed.

It was decided to hold an informal meeting the latter part of this week to talk over the improvements which are to be made the coming season and decide which work to start on in the spring. Paving and sewer work was provided for in the levy. City Engineer Dorway was asked to prepare estimates for the use of the council when the meeting is held.

HIBBING CONSIDERS MAKING ELECTRICITY

Water and Light Board May Buy Oil Burning Engine.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the water and light board are strongly considering the advisability of purchasing an engine to generate electric current for the village. E. B. Pollister, manager of the Busch-Sulzer Bros.-Deisel Engine company, appeared before the board last night and urged that body to investigate the merits of crude oil burning engines. This the board decided to do and Recorder D. D. Hailey was instructed to request the Burns-McDonald company, designing engineers, to report on this preparatory to a more thorough investigation.

Power Company's Offer.

The Great Northern Power company wants to share the expense of construction and use of the electric high tension line which is to be built to Alice this spring.

A representative of that company appeared before the board and said that the company was making an extension to Nashwauk and that as part of the line would be between here and Alice there would be no reason why the village and company could not use the same poles, at least. The offer of the company will be referred to the Burns & McDonald company before it will be acted upon, as these engineers will superintend the construction of the line.

According to the representative of the power company, all the material for the extension has been purchased and work will begin immediately.

FOR QUAKE SUFFERERS.

Eveleth Society Raises $39 By Ball Just Held.

Eveleth, Minn., Meb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ball given Monday night by the Eveleth Filarmonica club netted $39, which will be sent to Italy for the benefit of earthquake sufferers, through a fund which is being raised by the Italian Journal of New York. The sum represents the sale of seventy-eight tickets at 50 cents each, as there were no expenses. Joseph De Yoannes is president of the club; Buongiovanni Biaglo is secretary and Angelo Chilodini, treasurer. The members are Nick Bartelo, John Minella, Anton Balardinelli, Peter Ottoline, Bernard Gais, John Ciagne and Peter Foorte. Frank Soffinantini officiated as director of the dance.

IN HIBBING RACE.

Lawyer Templeton of Hibbing Out for Village President.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. A. Templeton, an attorney here, has thrown his hat in the village presidency or mayoralty ring. Mayor Power has not announced that he will again be a candidate.

CHISHOLM PLAY TO AID QUAKE SUFFERERS.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the direction of Peter Cichotto, the Italian Amateur Dramatic club, G. Verdi, will stage an Italian play at the Chisholm opera house next Sunday. The cast of characters consists of women and men, all of whom have been rehearsing diligently for several months. Miss Ursilini Bessetti and Minnie Mattioli will take the leading parts. The proceeds are to be given to the sufferers by the earthquake in Italy.

Eveleth Chess Tournament.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth chess club will hold its first tournament in the near future. The membership of the club has increased from 4 to 11 since last fall and the silent game is growing in popularity. Two of the club's veteran players, Charles Mueler and Morris Sheinberg are in Minneapolis this week taking part in a tournament and upon their return the Eveleth club will hold a tournament. As a prize for the winner the presidency of the club has been offered.

Boyles Going to Expo.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Senator and Mrs. James P. Boyle will leave about March 1 to spend several weeks in California, where they will attend the expositions at San Diego and San Francisco. Mr. Boyle was granted a leave of absence for two months as city attorney by the council Tuesday evening and his duties will be cared for by Abe Feldman.

Chisholm Juniors Win.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Junior Athletic club basket ball team beat the All Stars at the Lincoln school gymnasium on Monday evening, 25 to 14. The game was characterized by excellent team work and good basket shooting by the Junior five. Freed and F. Valente starred for the Juniors and O'Neil for the All Stars.

VIRGINIAN WINNER AT WINNIPEG SHOW

H. F. Kendall Carries Off Many Prizes at Chicken Exhibition.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. F. Kendall of this city has won many prizes at the big chicken show being held in Winnipeg, according to word received here today. A large number of local fanciers plan on going to the show today. Mr. Kendall has been awarded several silver cups in the way of trophies.

He captures first, fifth and sixth prizes in cockerels; second, third and sixth in hens; first, fifth and sixth in pullets; first on pen, and third on cockerels.

His exhibit was held up at International Falls on the way to Winnipeg, the Canadian custom officers going through a lot of red tape exactions in the way of being sure the birds were free of disease, the pens clean and so forth, before allowing the exhibits to go through. Bonds had also to be furnished that the birds would not be sold.

VIRGINIA CABARET AFFAIR IS SUCCESS

Nice Sum Realized to Help Feed Starving Infants of Belgium.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The indigent infants of Belgium will receive a substantial sum from Virginia as the result of the very successful cabaret given by the local women in Elks' hall last night. The proceeds amounted to $150 and a check for that amount was mailed today to Mr. Chapman at St. Paul, who is collecting Belgian aid in the Northwest.

Some unique pictures were presented, as well as many dances, among them being the "Pavlowa gavotte," pa-pao, lu lu fado and other modern dances, musical numbers by Mrs. O. H. Griggs, Miss Angella Schumacher of Gilbert, Prof. George Jensen, Miss Sarah Hurd and Miss Cora Sahlitzberg of Virginia and Miss Inez Davey of Eveleth. Prof. and Mrs. Michel of Gilbert gave an exhibition of aesthetic dancing.

Luncheon was served by the young professional and business men.

BIG WOLF IN TRAP.

Is Dispatched After Fight By Chisholm Hunter.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Sampson, trapper, is in town seeking a purchaser for a large wolf hide which he carries as a trophy of an encounter with a wolf. Sampson was out looking over his traps, which are set near the village dumping ground, when he discovered the wolf in one of the traps. The animal simulated death until Sampson came up to it, when it made a vicious snap at the hunter. Sampson jumped back, avoiding the animal's fangs. The beast, however, made several more attempts to bite Sampson before he dispatched it with a shot from his rifle. The pelt is a large one and in good condition.

SMOKING STOVE IS CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department was called out Tuesday morning by a blaze in Sam Helstein's furniture store and succeeded in carrying out the cause of the fire without any damage. The cause was a smoky kerosene stove, which filled the upper story with dense, black smoke. The smoke issuing from an open window in the front of the building attracted the attention of the officer on the beat and he turned in an alarm, afterward rushing upstairs, where he found Mr. Heelstein and family sound asleep. Mr. Helstein was awakened first, and becoming alarmed at the smoke, rushed into the street. By this time the fire department was well on its way to the building.

SEWER MATTER WILL BE AIRED FURTHER.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—About the only thing considered by the brief session of the city council last night was the report of City Engineer Johnson in reply to the charges that the big $80,000 sewer recently completed was not finished in accordance with specifications in that it was not all laid in concrete. The engineer told the council that it was laid in clay in some places, as concrete was not required. The matter will be further considered at a special session of the council in committee of the whole next Tuesday evening.

CHISHOLM DELEGATES TO COUNTY MEETING.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chisholm will be well represented at the meeting of the County club to be held Friday evening at Elks' hall, Virginia. They were Peter Borbot and Miss Lucia Radotich, Jack Dribnich and Miss Anna Majerle and Charles Prijatel and Miss Mary Kozar. Mr. and Mrs. Borbot will reside in Chisholm, Mr. and Mrs. Dribnich have gone to housekeeping at the Morton mine, near Hibbing, and Mr. and Mrs. Prijatel will make their home at Carson Lake.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

ANDREW SANDSTROM TO BE BURIED THURSDAY.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Andrew Sandstrom, aged 48, who died Sunday in the Fergus Falls asylum, where he was taken two months ago will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. from Gillespie's undertaking place, with interment in the local cemetery. He was engaged in the saloon business for years, being a pioneer of Virginia, and more recently in the grocery business here and in Duluth. His widow lives in Duluth.

VIRGINIA K. OF P. HAVE FINE TIME.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local and visiting members of the Knights of Pythias held a memorable session here last night in honor of Grand Chancellor Ben Fowler of Two Harbors. There were at least 100 visiting members from various range and other points present. There was a fine program, smoker and lunch.

EVELETH CURLERS ARE WINDING UP CONTESTS

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The curling finals have been reached in several events and will probably be played off during the coming week. Play has not begun in the "Smokery" cup event, and only the second round has been played in the First National bank event. Inter-city trophy games will complete the season today, when Eveleth and Virginia play for the Cusons trophy.

In the Finch trophy, William Murray and Van Slyke remain for the finals.

In the Home Electric & Heating company event the rinks skipped by Loye and Lyons survive for the finals.

Greening and Robb will meet in the finals in the Malloy event.

In the Miners' National bank event, Van Slyke and Hoel have reached the semi-finals, and Murray and Greening are scheduled to meet, the winner to meet Lyons in the semi-finals.

In the Britton trophy event Loye and Hatch are scheduled in the semi-finals, the winner to play Howard Murray for the prize.

In the second round of the First National bank event H. Murray is to meet Hatch, Andrews plays Van Slyke and Greening plays Hoel. Campbell has already reached the semi-finals.

Figured on a percentage basis, it now appears that the race for honors rests between Grening and Van Slyke.

Preached Last at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last issue of the Range News, a Presbyterian publication, was devoted to the life of "Sky Pilot" Higgins, who recently died. It notes that the last public appearance of Rev. Mr. Higgins was in this city a short time before he went to Rochester for an operation from which he never recovered.

Take Over New School.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board in special session took over the new $210,000 high school building. Everything being satisfactory the building was accepted and the final payments made to the contractors, the Gray Construction company.

Appointments to Make.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council will meet today at the last meeting but one before going out of office. The appointment of a member of the water, light, power and building commission to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the time of Antone Tancig will take place. Also appointment election judges and clerks will be made.

BLAIR RESIGNS FROM HIBBING SCHOOL JOB.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education is meeting this afternoon to act on the resignation of Supt. Herbert Blair, who resigns to accept the superintendency of the Schenectedy, N. Y., schools.

The board accepted the resignation with regret as Mr. Blair has given no little satisfaction here. Mr. Blair was formerly of the faculty of the Duluth state normal. Principal Alexander is mentioned as Mr. Blair's successor. Mr. Blair aims to leave at once for his new position. He was chosen to the Schenectedy position to succeed Dr. Brubarcher, who has been chosen president of the New York state normal at Albany.

Chisholm Wedding.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Katherine Kusma and John Girarde were married Monday at the residence of Father Schiffrer. Both are well known residents of Chisholm, having attained their majority here. Miss Kusma is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kusma. The groom has been a member of the mechanical force of the Mesaba Miner for some time.

Former Evelethian Raises Oranges.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—T. C. Boscoe has received a crate of "tree-ripened" oranges from Paul Cartwright, a former Evelethian now at Pasadena, Cal. The crate contains fourteen perfect oranges, ripened in the grove. The box is about 2 by 2 by 3 inches and the oranges are the size of marbles.

USE COCOANUT OIL FOR WASHING HAIR

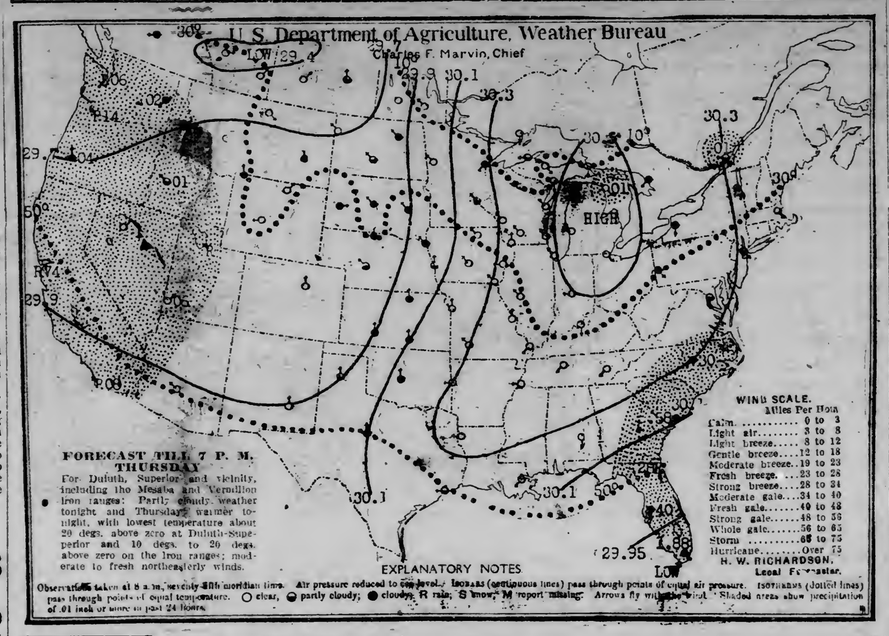

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

The delightful weather of yesterday seems to be due to remain; and to everybody it is a welcome guest; in fact, had the wishes of Duluthians any influence, this brand would remain until the break for spring, which, by the way is, officially, at least, not so very far away.

A year ago today the weather was mild with snow falling. The sun rose this morning at 7:09 and will set this evening at 5:38, giving ten hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails in Atlantic states and the greater portion of the Lake region. From the Mississippi valley westward the temperature has generally risen somewhat, especially over Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, Southwestern Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Montana. Rain fell during Tuesday or last night over South Atlantic and Pacific states and the Plateau region. Heavy rain occurred at Miami, Fla."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Fair and warmer tonight; Thursday partly cloudy and warmer.

Iowa—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; warmer in east and central portions tonight.

South Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; moderate temperature.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday, probably rain or snow west of the divide; moderate temperature.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Thursday; warmer Thursday and in north and west portions tonight.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Thursday; rising temperature.

ARE HELD TO GRAND JURY

Suspects in Theater Payroll Theft Waive Police Court Hearing.

Their Bail Will Be Fixed in the District Court.

Arrested Feb. 6 on a charge of robbing Ross Garver, manager of the Orpheum theater, of $1,900, Edward O'Regan, aged 36, and George Burke, aged 34, were arraigned in municipal court this morning, waived examination, and were bound over to the grand jury by Judge F. H. Cutting. Attorney John Norton represented the prisoners. Bail will be fixed by the district court this afternoon.

O'Regan, known to the police widely as "the Jap," and his partner, Roach, alias George Burke, are said by police to be notorious pickpockets, with criminal records in many of the principal cities of the United States. Two others, believed to be in "the gang," when Manager Garver was robbed, have not been apprehended.

O'Regan is under an indictment and $5,000 bail in connection with a case in Minneapolis, wherein he is alleged to have picked the pockets of a man in the Minneapolis & St. Louis passenger depot last fall. He has been arrested several times on similar charges, but never has been convicted, according to the police.

Manager Garver was jostled between three men while passing through the vestibule of a West Superior street cafeteria early in the afternoon of Feb. 8, and robbed of the weekly payroll for the theater. The men made their escape.

About ten hours later Roach was arrested in the berth of a Northern Pacific train at the Union depot, by Gustav Lahti, superintendent of the police bureau of identification. O'Regan, found in an adjoining berth, was taken into custody a few minutes later by Detective J. L. Bradley and Patrolman Honnold.

Attorney Norton at first moved for a further continuation of the case, but when Assistant County Attorney Mason Forbes, appearing for the state, insisted upon a hearing, the two men waived examination.

Virginia Masons to Entertain.

The local blue lodge will entertain at an informal dancing and card party in Masonic hall, Virginia, this coming Friday evening, Feb. 19, 1915. Dancing will continue from 9 to 12, and there will be refreshments and punch. Postal cards will not be sent out for this party. Excellent music will be provided and a most enjoyable time is looked forward to.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS ARE WANTED IN NAVY

Good Openings at Good Salaries in Many Departments.

A man who enlists in the United States navy does not necessarily have to take up the profession of arms, says Peter Coyle, recruiting officer at Duluth. There are various side lines in the navy that offer good work and good salaries.

The electrical branch of the navy needs good men. This department is divided into two parts—general electricity and radio, or wireless operators. Men accepted for enlistment in either of these branches will be enlisted as landsmen for electrician, and sent to the electrical school in the navy yard, New York, for instruction in the branch for which they are bested suited. Upon completing the course satisfactorily, which requires about six months, they are rated electricians, third class. The pay while under instruction is $17.50 a month. The pay of electrician general, or electrician (radio) third class, is $33 a month.

LARGE IRONWOOD FUNERAL.

Many Attend Last Rites for Mrs. Herman Arndt.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Herman Arndt, who died here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Frederickson, was held today from the home and the Swedish Mission church. Rev. S. L. Wilson, pastor of the Salem Lutheran church, conducted the services on account of the serious illness of Rev. John Hendrickson, pastor of the church. The funeral was largely attended. Interment was in Riverside cemetery.

Mrs. Arndt was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Frederickson and was born in Ishpeming April 28, 1887. She came with her parents to Ironwood in 1890, where she spent practically all her life. She was educated in the public schools and in 1910 was married to Herman Arndt of Milwaukee, who, with a 19-months-old son, Roy, survive. She is also survived by two brothers, Charles and Simon, and three sisters, Mrs. John Hines of Ironwood, Mrs. J. James of Bessemer and Mrs. Gibson of Pittsburg, Ind., all of whom were here to attend the funeral. Mr. Arndt, who is a veterinary surgeon, is a government inspector and is now located in Chicago, at the stockyards.

WILL SETTLE BELGIAN OWNERSHIPS AFTER WAR

London, Feb. 17.—The question of the ownership of land and houses in Belgium will be settled by the authorities of Belgium after the close of the war, Foreign Secretary Grey told the house of commons yesterday afternoon in response to a request for assurance that property which the Germans threatened to transfer away from Belgian refugees unless they returned to their country would revert to its true owners.

The foreign secretary added in this connection:

"This is one question, among others, in which we believe the result of the war will make justice and right prevail."

WHAT NEURASTHENIA IS

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, heachache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

How Can You Tell?

THE Chicago Herald of the other day ran a column story of the Mandot-Dundee fight, calling it a draw. In a black box at the top of the column was a story from Tommy Walsh, manager of Mandot, stating that Mandot won by several of the larger city blocks that are to be plenteously found in the Crescent city.

At the bottom of the column, in another black box, was a statement from Scotty Monteith, manager of Dundee, in which he stated that his boy won all the way.

Thus do we find that opinion differs the world over. A baseball umpire will deny that there are two sides to every question—no one ever agrees with him.

Trying Out an Innovation.

A BOXING promoter of Kenosha, Wis., tried out a decidedly original idea the other evening.

Six boxers were on a so-called all-star program. Each of the boxers received 10 per cent of the gross. The cherished state of Wisconsin received 5 per cent and the promoter was awarded 35 of the gross to buy a cup of coffee and two doughnuts with.

This is the nearest to taking an even chance that modern boxers have exhibited in many a day.

Phillip Received Here.

PHIL BUSHA is a roller skater who once lived and labored in this city. The Busha annual challenge to Frank Bryant was an event eagerly awaited. The other evening in Minneapolis Phil raced Harley Davidson a mile contest. Before the mile was reached Mr. Davidson had lapped his opponent. The worst part of the whole performance was that Mr. Busha had extensively advertised himself as being the greatest roller skater at the Head of the Lakes.

When Frankie Bryant meets the veteran Harley in this city all of we'uns do hope that Frank goes forth and skates the sturdy limbs off of the winner of the great London derby event.

WOULD "SLIP ONE OVER" ON MAJORS

Federal League Will Start Season Early; Encroachments Abandoned.

New York, Feb. 17.—Before leaving here last night for Pinehurst, N. C., to join President R. C. Ward of the Brooklyn Federals, President Gilmore of the Federal league announced that his league would try to get an early advantage over the National and American leagues this year by opening the Federal league season several days before the other major league openings.

It was declared on authority here that the Federal league has abandoned any intention of coming into New York city this season, and that there will be no transfer of franchises other than that of Kansas City to Newark.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 17.—James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, who passed through Baltimore last night on his way to Pinehurst, N. C., announced that the proposition to place a minor league in New England had been abandoned temporarily.

The Northern Hardware quint strengthened its hold on first place in the Commercial league last night at the Y. M. C. A. "gym," defeating the Big Duluths, and the Kelley Hardwares went into second place by defeating Lake Hardware five by a score of 25 to 21. The Northerns had an easy time of it with the Big Duluths, putting them away to the tune of 20 to 6.

Dworshak, the big center for the Kelleys, played a strong game in the Kelley-Lake contest, scoring 10 out of the 25 points. In the last half Dworshak divided honors with Olson of the Lakes, each man scoring 8 points.

In the Northern-Big Duluth game the league leaders had everything their own way and were never headed for a minute, the Big Duluths being held to two goals from the field. Smith, A. Nelson and Busselman all were big factors in the Northerns' scoring.

NEED CHANGE IN LAW.

Without Sunday Baseball Fargo Club Cannot Make Success.

Fargo, N. D. Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless the North Dakota blue laws are modified at the present legislative session there may be no Northern league baseball club in Fargo this summer. The Sunday observance laws are at present so strict that one or two persons in any community can make complaints, cause the arrests of the players and create so much uncertainty about the games that spectators will remain away.

An effort is being made to have them modified to permit games between 2 and 6 p. m., Sundays.

As without Sunday games it is practically impossible to make baseball in a town the size of Fargo a self-supporting proposition or to get men to back the proposition. It is unlikely anything definite will be decided regarding Fargo's representation in the Northern league until after the final action on the bills now before the legislature.

BAKER OUT OF BASEBALL

Home Run Star of Athletics Will Devote Time to Farming.

Hero of Two Championship Series, But Fell Down Last Year.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—"Home run" Baker, star third baseman of the Philadelphia American league baseball team, has decided to retire from the diamond, and will not appear with the team next season, according to an announcement here last night by Manager Connie Mack at a dinner of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers' association.

Baker last year signed a three-year contract with the Athletics. Mack stated that the third baseman is not dissatisfied with the terms of his contract, but wants to devote his time to his farm in Maryland.

Baker is less than 29 years old and has been a member of the Athletics since 1908. He was the hero of both the 1911 and 1913 world's series with the New York Giants. Last year his batting average for the season was .336 and he made twelve home runs, but like the other members of the team, he appeared to be in a slump in the series with the Braves.

ST. PAUL MAN IS BOWLING LEADER

Twenty-Six Teams in Five-Man Contest of I. B. A.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 17.—Two new teams top the list of leaders in the singles and doubles events as a result of yesterday's bowling at the International Bowling association's tournament. Trix German of St. Paul is the individual high man with a score of 640, and T. R. Tennyson and B. Newhouse of Minneapolis with 1,265 points, head the two-man list.

Twenty-six teams, all but two from Minneapolis, rolled last night in two five-men shifts. The later shift resulted in several changes among the leaders, four Minneapolis teams coming into prominence. The old I. B. A. record of 2,926, shattered by the Peorias Saturday, was surpassed by the Zumalweiss team of Minneapolis. The standing of the first five leaders in the five-man event is as follows:

Peorias, Peoria, Ill., 2,981; Zumalweiss, Minneapolis, 2,954; Centrals, Minneapolis, 2,889; Bergsings, Minneapolis, 2,861, and Snyders, Minneapolis, 2,758.

AMATEUR LEAGUE OFFERS BIG DOUBLE HEADLINER

Big Duluth and Northerns and Universals and Two Harbors Will Clash at Hockey at the French Rink—the Banner Card of Season Is Offered.

What promises to be the greatest hockey card offered this season in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league, is that of this evening. The Big Duluths and the Northerns are to clash and the Universals will attempt to wreak vengeance on Two Harbors.

This all-star feature hockey headliner brings the four leaders of the league together. There is a fumey feeling existing between the Big Duluth and Northerns. It was caused and further fomented by the scrap over the services of Player Oswald. Some of the followers of the rare old sport are gleefully awaiting the struggle.

Ed Harris is thirsting for a win over the Two Harbors sextet. This has been a bad season for Edward and cohorts. In the last four seasons the Universals, playing under several noms de guerres, have hung up a shining record. A bad start this season has resulted in two losses.

Tonight the Universals hope to square accounts and send the range visitors home with their thumbs in their mouths. The presence of Sullivan and La Fleur on the railroad center team is a constant menace.

With so sterling a card on the tapis for this large and pleasant evening, it is expected that true lovers of the sport will brave the ride out to the French rink and side line and trumpet forth shouts of encouragement to their favorites or hurl anathemas to the opposing players.

League Is Progressing.

A glittering brand of hockey is being played in the league. The hockey menu spread for this evening looks like the choicest of the year. The meal starts with soup of good ingredients and the meal is wound up by a dessert of palatable proportions.

The Big Duluths have one of the strongest aggregations assembled in the league in several years. This season the clothiers have hung up a fine record. The Northerns, under the coaching of Andy Grenner, have been coming fast. As for Two Harbors, that team has played a surprising form of hockey from the first game down to the present. The Universals were picked at the start of the season as the class of the league. As has been stated an upset interfered with the progress of the flour makers. The game of this evening may see the Harris aggregation nicely started on the upward trend.

All through the season the league has provided first-class games for its patrons; the double-header of this evening is by far the strongest attraction of the year.

OSWEGO IS THE WINNER

Rotary Basket Ball Team Defeated By 52 to 40 Score.

"Morrey" Harris Plays Star Game for the Home Quint.

Last evening at the Catholic Athletic club gymnasium the Oswego basket ball team again demonstrated its class by defeating the strong Rotary team by the score of 52 to 40.

The contest was a corker all the way through. The first half terminated with the score 32 to 10 in favor of the cornstarch makers. In the second period of play Duluth braced and played a splendid aggressive game, at times rushing the visitors and giving flashes of team work and pretty combination passing.

But the champions from the eastern section of the country possessed the class and played more consistently and exhibited a far greater degree of team work. The playing of the ball in combination passes was a rare sight and Harris in Limelight.

"Morrey" Harris gave a scintillating exhibition of play for the home guard. The Duluth leader scored eight field baskets and his work was at all times of the stellar order. Dick Bradley shot three baskets in the second half and opposed to the giant Grimstad, Roy Johnson played a strong and consistent game.

In the first half the visitors swamped the Rotarians. While Duluth started strong, the Oswegoites came back and gave a dazzling exhibition of lightning-like passing, dribbling the ball and playing the basket from all angles of the floor.

In the second half the home team came back and for a few minutes actually outplayed the champions. But before the period had progressed very far the Easterners regained their stride, and from that point until the end of the game played a fast and consistent brand of basket ball.

Grimstad a Power.

"Swede" Grimstad was at all times a tower of strength to the Oswego team. The play, both defensive and offensive, swung around the giant, and he gave a really remarkable exhibition of passing and dribbling the ball up the floor.

Alberding was another of the visitors to give a great account of himself. Guard Murphy was also there. But the visitors played as a team rather than as a collection of individual stars, and it was the superb team work of the invaders that proved the downfall of the Rotarians.

The lineup:

Rotary—	Position.	Oswego—
Harris	f	Murnane
D. Bradley	f	Nolls
Johnson	c	Grimstad
Solheim	g	Alberding
Zeeman	g	Murphy
B. Bradley	g

Field goals—Harris, 8; D. Bradley, 3; Johnson, 3; Solheim, 1; Zeeman, 2; B. Bradley, 3; Murnane, 3; Nolls, 6; Grimstad, 7; Alberding, 6; Murphy, 4.

The first and second girls' teams of Central high school played between halves. The first team won by a 14 to 6 score. No hair was pulled and no shrill screams rent the air. It was a most unusual exhibition.

The lineup:

First—	Position.	Second—
Kugler	f	Benda
Whiteside	f	Richie
Lutes	c	Morey

Goals—Kugler, 3; Whiteside, 2; Lutes, 2; Morey, 3.

CANADIANS BEAT ST. PAUL AGAIN

Strong Ottawa Hockey Team Has Hard Fight in Second Game.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 17.—With both teams playing a remarkable article of hockey, St. Paul Athletic club septet went down to defeat for the second time last night, before the speedy aborigines from Ottawa, Canada. The score was 6 to 2.

St. Paul displayed considerable improvement over the previous night and the Canadians were obliged to exert themselves to win. The score does not indicate the fierceness exhibited by the two teams. The game was clean and free from penalties.

Down to Semi-Finals.

New York, Feb. 17.—The semi-final round of the singles and doubles in the national indoor tennis championship tournament was reached yesterday. T. R. Pell, C. F. Touchard and A. M. Lovibond won places in the singles. Two schoolboys, L. V. Robinson and H. W. Robinson, were the successful pair in the doubles.

CURLING

Some close games were played at the curling club last evening. In the Columbia event Fred Hoene had a great contest with Wilkie's rink. There were a number of forfeits on the program.

It is stated by the members of the games committee that The Herald and Bagley events will be cleaned up either this week or the first part of the coming week. Play down in the Manley-McLennan event is to be rushed and in the Universal play is expected to start in bonspiel form during the first part of the coming week.

The results of last night's play and the draw of this evening:

DAVIDSON VS. BRYANT

World's Champion Roller Skater Will Meet Local Boy in Three Contests.

St. Paul Athlete Has Record of Winning More Than 3,000 Races.

Harley Davidson, not only one of the greatest roller skaters in the world, but also one of the greatest all-round athletes, arrived in Duluth early today, in fit condition for his series of three roller skating races with Frank Bryant.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of the present week the world's champion and the winner of 3,048 races on the little wheels, will attempt to douse the aspirations of little Frank Bryant, one of the fastest and gamest skaters in the country.

When a lad of 11 years old, Harley Davidson was winning ice skating contests in St. Paul. With his brother Johnny and sisters, Mabel and Fanny, the world's roller skating champion led the greatest family of skaters that has ever been assembled.

The Davidsons toured the world, appearing before royalty in six European courts and were given an ovation at the court of England.

Great Ice Speeder.

Harley Davidson was at the height of his speed on the blades when McCullough, the wonderful Canadian, John S. Johnson, Johnny Nellsson and others of the imposing brood of world beaters were skating at their best.

Later Harley yielded to the bicycle racing craze and settling at Brantford, Can., won the professional championship of the Dominion. As a wrestler, tumbler and even with the gloves Davidson has exhibited marked proficiency.

After ice skating had somewhat died out as a competitive branch of national athletics, Harley took up the roller skating game. On the evening of Feb. 26, 1909, Davidson, representing the United States, started in the big derby at the Olympia in London. Arrayed against the American were the fastest skaters in the world. Ollie Moore, another American, Charles Wilson of London, and others of world's prominence faced the starter.

Davidson won this contest, the diamond medal and a purse of $2,000. The race originally had 150 starters, 11 skaters leaving the mark in the final heat.

Bryant Is Speedy.

In Bryant the veteran from St. Paul is meeting one of the fastest skaters in the Northwest. Several years ago Harley met and defeated Bryant at the old Lincoln park pavilion. Bryant has improved 50 per cent since that occasion and should give the great Davidson a battle in every one of the races.

SLUGGING RED WATSON HAS A FINE RECORD.

Red Watson was born in Pueblo, Colo., in 1884. He stands five feet three inches. The boy who now hails from the golden state of California started fighting in 1912. Right at the start of his career he scored seven knockouts. In the same year Watson fought a ten-round draw with Joe Rivers. Tommy McFarland was knocked out in four rounds, again in ten and once again in six.

In 1913 Babe Picato was beaten at Oakland in ten rounds. Willie Hoppe was knocked out twice in four-round bouts. Watson drew with Frankie Burns in ten rounds at Frisco. Joe Bayley was stopped dead in four rounds at Frisco. Watson won a four-round decision over Joe Azevedo. Red Robson was stopped in the first round at Frisco.

In 1914 Kid Scaler, who once fought Pal Brown, was stopped in nine rounds at Taft, Cal., Bud Anderson was flopped in five rounds. Watson drew with Gilbert Gallant and in a return engagement knocked the Gallant one out in the seventh session. Watson lost two decisions to Leach Cross, one at San Francisco and the second at San Diego, Cal. The second one was when Watson nearly stopped the dentist. Dick Hyland was stopped in four rounds and again in three. Watson drew with Eddie Moy in a twenty-round Frisco engagement. Joe Azevedo, who shaded Al Weigant, was stopped in Denver in eleven rounds by the slugging Watson.

CONFERENCE GAMES

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 17.—Wisconsin defeated Ohio State 26 to 17 in a Western conference basket ball game here last night.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—The University of Chicago defeated Northwestern university 22 to 14 in a conference basket ball game here last night.

KETONEN WINS HARD CONTEST

Tom Doctor of Kansas Decisively Defeated By Little Finn.

Waino Ketonen decisively defeated Tom Doctor of Belleville, Kansas, in Belleville the day before yesterday, pinning the Kansan for the first fall in 1:08 and securing the second and deciding fall in eight minutes.

Doctor is a middleweight with a long and creditable mat record. He has been a consistent challenger of Yokel and Miller and bet $250 on his chances against the little Finn, so confident was he of pinning Waino's shoulders to the mat.

A hammerlock, turned into a combination leg scissors, spelled defeat for Doctor in the first bout. An arm roll quickly extinguished the wrestling light of the pride of the prairies in the second and final bout.

ST. PAUL ROOTERS COMING TO BIG GAME.

Manager Jacobi of the curling club hockey team received a wire today from Ray Johns in St. Paul requesting that three sections be reserved for St. Paul rooters who are going to make the trip up here to the hockey game of Monday evening, when the Apostles and Ilnderites clash. It is expected that this game will be one of the fastest of the season and it is expected that the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed a game in this city will be on hand. St. Paul rooters are going to lug bells and horns and other noise-making instruments along. No games will be played this week.

YOUNG PREACHERS WILL PLAY FARMERS.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The agricultural college and the Fargo college quints will meet this evening in the gym of the latter for the first contest of the season. Both teams have been defeated by the North Dakota university aggregation, the farmers by a slightly larger score than the preachers and this makes the Fargo college crowd a slight favorite this evening.

Will Play at Polo Grounds.

New York, Feb. 17.—All arrangements were completed here yesterday to hold the Army-Navy football game of 1915 at the Polo grounds, the home of the New York National league baseball club on Nov. 27. The conditions for the game were agreed upon at a conference attended by representatives from both service schools and President H. N. Hempstead and Secretary John B. Foster of the Giants.

White Sox Away to Camp.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—The Chicago American league baseball team left Chicago last night at 10 o'clock on a special train for the training camp in Paso Robles, Cal. Fifty-eight persons composed the party, which was in charge of Secretary Grabiner and Manager Clarence Rowland, who succeeded James J. Callahan as head of the White Sox. Fully 2,000 persons were at the depot when the train pulled out.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Blood Pressure and Insomnia

DURING natural sleep, it has been experimentally proved, the circulation in the brain is diminished in activity. A piece of the skull of a dog was removed with a trephine, and a watch glass accurately inserted in its place, the edges being hermetically sealed to exclude air pressure. During wakeful hours the visible blood vessels remained moderately distended; when the dog was asleep the brain retracted and became pale.

A physiologist, Flemming, produced immediate and profound sleep by compression of the carotid arteries, which supply most of the arterial blood to the brain. Not on dogs, nor on human subjects, but on himself.

It is generally taught by physiologists that the circulation in the brain is not controlled by local nerves—that is, there is little or no evidence that the vaso-motor or sympathetic nervous system controls the arteries in the brain as it is known to do elsewhere in the body. The brain circulation is controlled rather by the pressure of the blood in the general circulation. When this blood pressure falls, as it does in sleep, there is a diminution of blood supply to the brain. When the blood pressure rises above normal, from toxemia or arterial or kidney diseases, then there is an excessive supply of blood to the brain, and insomnia is the result.

The hyponotic influence of a tepid pack, administered to a patient who is sleepless from any cause, is due to the equalizing of the circulation by the vaso-motor sympathetic nerves. Indeed, all hydro-therapy depends for its beneficent results upon the circulatory changes produced by the vaso-motor nerves.

Baths, diet and medicine to reduce a high blood pressure will give more relief than hyponotic drugs in many cases of insomnia. Sun bathing, sunburn in moderation, is a famous remedy for insomnia and the melancholic depression which often results from insomnia.

Questions and Answers.

A Dangerous Partner: A young person to whom the writer is engaged recently developed throat trouble, and the doctor finds tubercle bacilli. Would marriage be advisable under this condition?

REPLY.

Certainly not, nor would intimate association with the young person be wise. Let the patient first follow the doctor's orders and be cured, as she probably will if orders are followed. Especially beware the poisoned kiss.

* * *

Some Pumpkins: Please advise me how to use pumpkin seed for tapeworm. I am told it is an old standard remedy.

REPLY.

The seeds are deprived of their outer coat, ground into an emulsion with water, and administered in a single dose of two ounces. The dose should be given on an empty stomach in the morning, and followed in two hours by a tablespoonful of Epsom salts.

Phenolphthalein: Are "Phenolax wafers" a good laxative, and will they in time cure constipation?

REPLY.

A proprietary preparation of phenolphthalein, which is a good laxative, but will not cure constipation. No medicine, so far as we know, will cure constipation. General advice will be sent if stamped addressed envelope is furnished.

Dr. Brady will answer questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of special interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

PROBLEM TO BE SERIOUS

Many Sailors and Woodsmen Will Be Here During Spring.

Bethel Expecting to Care for Large Number of Unemployed.

The breaking up of the logging camps is expected to bring an unusually large number of men to Duluth this spring, and the Bethel is preparing to meet the problem of caring for a large number of unemployed men. The mild weather during the first half of February has reduced somewhat the crowds that flocked to that popular lodging place during December and January.

At present about 175 men are staying at the Bethel every night. This is almost a capacity number. The management is doing its best to feed and lodge all comers. Two cups of coffee, a half pound of bread and a piece of Bologna sausage are measured out to each lodger who cannot afford to buy a meal.

"This," in the language of Supt. Ramseyer, "is enough to keep soul and body together, and will hold the men over until work can be secured."

Most of the men applying for free lodging are single; the married men having secured preference at jobs opened by the city as well as private concerns. The problem of the single man is becoming much more difficult than that of the married man.

"If you want a job, get married," is the advice offered the unemployed these days; otherwise it's bread and Bologna sausage."

The early spring in Duluth always brings a serious labor problem. Sailors flock here to wait for navigation to open, and the logging camps break up, leaving hundreds of men out of work until they can find other employmet. The conditions are expected to improve greatly after warm weather sets in, but the period just following the breaking up of winter is expected to bring the largest number of unemployed.

CLAN PREPARES TO RECEIVE CHIEF

Scots of Superior and Duluth Will Give Receptions.

At the meeting of Clan Stewart, which will be held this evening at the U. O. F. hall, arrangements will be made for the reception of Alexander G. Findlay of Seattle, Wash., the royal chief of the Order of Scottish Clans.

Mr. Findlay is expected to visit the clans at the Head of the Lakes on March 2 and 3. Clan Cameron of Superior has already made preliminary arrangements for a big meeting to be held on the evening of March 2. Clan Stewart will decide tonight just what will be the nature of the meeting in honor of the chief to be held in Duluth on the evening of March 3.

Royal Chief Findlay has been here several times before and the hospitality of the Duluth clan has so impressed him that he never fails to include Duluth in his itinerary when he goes east.

Clan Stewart has added more than 100 new members since the last visit of the royal chief, and it is not improbable that Chief A. G. Macaulay will insist that the best form of celebration will be the initiation of a large class of new members. The local clan won the second prize for increase of membership during the six-months' period ending Dec. 31, 1914, and it also won the first prize for the preceding period.

In addition to the other business at this evening's session the Burns celebration committee will make its final report.

The clan is going to revive the publication of "The Thistle," a monthly, devoted exclusively to clan affairs, which was published during the year 1912. Chief Macaulay was given authority to resume publication, at the last meeting, and will have entire charge of the paper.

PAINT "NORGE" ON NORWEGIAN SHIPS

Denmark Also Wants Flags Painted on All Its Vessels.

Christiania, Feb. 17.—The war insurance bureau has given directions that all Norwegian ships proceeding to or from the British isles shall have painted as quickly as possible on both sides of the hulls the names of the ships and the word "Norge." Fore and aft of this word the national colors are to be painted in vertical stripes—a blue stripe a half meter wide in the middle and white stripes on either side of it a quarter of a meter wide. On the outside of these are to appear two red stripes each a meter wide.

Paint Flags on Vessels

Copenhagen, Feb. 17.—The recommendation is made by the war insurance company that the owners of all Danish merchant ships have two large Danish flags painted on each side of their vessel, one fore and aft, and the word "Denmark" amidships on both sides of the vessels. It also advises that the Danish flag bealways kept flying.

The company says that insurance premiums are to remain unchanged until further notice

ZENITH HAS BARGAIN SALE.

Order Slips Will Save One-Fourth of Cost Price.

Order slips allowing Central high school students to purchase the Zenith, their year book, at reduced rates, were placed on sale for the third time today by members of the Zenith board. Students in charge of the 1915 book expect to double their sales and the slips can be purchased from them during the rest of the week.

By buying slips now, the students save one-fourth, as the book which costs $1 when issued, is thus given them for 75 cents. Students in charge of the sale believe that between 700 and 800 of these order slips will be sold before the book is issued. They are making an effort to finish the sale as soon as possible, in order to expedite publication of the annual.

Stereotyping work on material to be used in the new Zenith is nearly finished, according to Editor Coe, and the board is busy with the copy, most of which is in their hands.

The Zenith will be printed by the school printing department, while the linotyping and binding will be done by a local firm. Smaller costs, because of the work done by students, will make possible a much better year book than ever before, according to the board members. The Zenith will be issued early in June.

UGH! NOT CALOMEL, OIL OR SALTS, TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" Cleanses Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

A harmless cure for sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness—take "California Syrup of Figs." For the cause of all such misery comes from a torpid liver and sluggish bowels.

A tablespoonful tonight means all constipation poison, waste matter, fermenting food and sour bile gently moved out of your system by morning without griping. Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative can not cause injury. Even the most delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine, so ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company. This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.

JULIET TAKES THE PLUNGE

Would Leave Smoky Pittsburg for the Golden Western Country and a Romeo of the Ranch—Wants The Herald to Help.

Mayme D. Barrer of Pittsburg, Pa., has heard the call of the great outdoors.

She desires to "get out into the great, golden, Western country on a good farm or a well-kept ranch," and wants The Herald to help her find a husband.

Unlike most women, Miss Barrer does not want her husband to be a paragon of most virtues. All that she asks is that he be:

Sober,
Religious,
Honest,
Industrious,
Kind and
A Protestant.

From her home in the center of the big, smoky city of Pittsburg, she has sent out a call to the men of Iowa, Kansas, Arkansas, Minnesota, Nebraska and "some parts of Colorado and California."

This Juliet would have for her Romeo a man between 30 and 40 years of age, who is not afraid to send her a photograph in the first letter. Furthermore, Romeo must be agriculturally inclined. He must have a farm, or a ranch, or an interest in one, and be able to furnish recommendations.

In asking The Herald to do "this little favor" and help her arrange her destiny, Miss Barrer further says:

Her Qualifications.

"I am a lady past 30 years of age and am a widow with a little boy about 4 years old. I am a practical nurse by occupation, but I have become very tired of city life and my work.

"I have had a great desire to get out into the golden West. The states I have named are all right. That one cannot make much of a mistake if they are industrious at all, in any of them, is my candid opinion. I was born and lived for twenty years on a farm in old Pennsylvania, and I prefer the country life very much more than this city existence.

"That is why I have gathered up courage to do this novel undertaking.

"I will say that I think the great Western country has a great many more advantages for the younger generation than this Eastern country. It is so thickly populated here and there are such terribly hard times."

"Hard times" have not left their mark on Juliet, however, for she hastens to add that she has found steady employment for the last four years.

Fear of poor cooking need not deter the rural Romeo, either, for, says Juliet, "My ability regarding the domestic part need not be questioned at all. That is my greatest ambition, let me assure you."

"Do It for Duluth" has been suggested as a motto for romantically inclined farmers living in St. Louis county who have yet to feel the barb of Cupid's arrow.

In the meantime, the sentimental press of seven states is searching for the future husband of Miss Pennsylvania, disregarding the warnings of the eugenists.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR PAIN FROM BACK

Rub stiffness away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Ah! Pain is gone!

Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with "St. Jacobs Oil."

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

WHEAT DROPS ON SELLING

Market Breaks Sharply on Heavy Selling Through Shipping Uncertainty.

Flaxseed Weakens Slightly, With Small Demand From Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 17.—The market was firmer at the close on covering demand and better support.

May wheat closed 2¼c off and July 2½c off. May durum closed 1½c off and July 3½c off.

Oats closed 1c off at 56¼c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.24@1.25; barley unchanged to 1c off at from 70@79c, and corn 1c off at 71¼c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed unchanged to ⅛c up at 67⅜c and July unchanged at 68⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.46, and calls at $1.52½.

Marked weakness developed in today's wheat markets, price recessions of over 3c being recorded during the first three hours trading. Export demand was affected through the uncertainty in shipping circles brought about by the German blockade of the British and French coasts to become effective tomorrow. Apprehension on that score on the part of English millers was also reported in early cables, and that paved the way for a break in the American markets at the start.

The sale of a cargo of wheat from stocks at Buffalo for export was advised by a Duluth grain man. The price paid was based at 26c over Chicago July, thus setting a record high figure price paid on the present movement. The same operator also disposed of a cargo for domestic consumption yesterday afternoon, making 640,000 bu from Buffalo supplies worked by him in the last two days. The volume of free wheat in elevators and afloat down there is estimated to be reaching small proportions, making the situation extremely strong in so far as the supply of spring wheat is concerned. Some Manitoba wheat was worked for export today and New York reported sales of a substantial tonnage of oats for foreign shipment. A lull was advised in foreign trade, however, on all of the American markets, it being generally advised that exporters are inclined to hold off for the time being in order to size up the shipping situation. A new feature in the way of foreign business was the development of some demand from Holland, buyers in that country seeking to contract for several million bu.

Primary receipts are being well maintained, figuring today at 902,000 bu compared with 749,000 bu last year. Clearances fell off sharply today, however, amounting to only 487,000 bu, whereas they had been running well over the million bu mark for some time back.

May wheat opened ⅝c off at $1.54¼, and declined 2½c more up to the noon hour. July opened ⅜c off at $1.49⅞, and weakened 2⅞c more. May durum opened ⅛c off at $1.59⅞, and declined 2⅝c more.

Weakness in Flaxseed.

Business in flaxseed was quiet and featureless again today, with an easier tendency in evidence. Crushers showed a disposition to hold back and they picked up the small lots of seed offered at moderate price recessions.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.86¾, and closed 1c off at $1.85¾ bid. July opened unchanged at $1.88¾, and closed 1c off at $1.87¾ asked. September opened ¼c off at $1.86, and closed ½c off at $1.85¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅝c off at $1.66½ bid and July ⅜c off at $1.68½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Filling of export contracts at the seaboard is leading to steady shipments of durum all-rail to the East. Yesterday 30,000 bu was loaded out from Great Northern Elevator S.

* * *

A. C. Randall of Randall, Gee & Mitchell was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade from Winnipeg today. He averred that trade has been very active in coarse grains up there of late. Receipts at country elevators have increased as farmers have shown a willingness to let go of their low grade wheat, especially at the prevailing high prices. Mr. Randall is of the opinion that remaining stores of grain in growers' hands through the Canadian West are now light.

Paine Commission company had the following wire in reference to seeding prospects:

"Found conditions in the Dakotas as regards spring seeding best I have ever seen at this time of the year. With favorable weather there will be at least 15 per cent increase in wheat acreage.

Holland is bidding freely for flaxseed and absorbing all offers. Hull opened firm with offers lighter and the demand good. India weather is fine but offers are light. Argentine weather is fine, but actual clearances are light as tonnage is being utilized for wheat, corn and oats.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The general market is dull with a waiting attitude with undertone firm as result of strong American cables and unfavorable weather in Argentina. American winters and Canadian grades are 4½d higher and there is some buying at the advance with millers more anxious on continued apprehension regarding shipping. Private reports received here from Argentina say weather is unfavorable with rain in parts. Offers are very firm and shipments this week will be moderate. Spot market is firm and gradually advancing.

Corn is dull with Plate parcels 3d lower and on easier American cables."

Very favorable Holland weather enables sowing to be done under excellent conditions and germination has already taken place regularly. The acreage is about the same as last year.

Germination of recently sown wheat and rye in Denmark is satisfactory. Wheat acreage is 3 per cent over last year and rye 10 per cent.

It is officially reported that the Chilian wheat yield amounted to 24,000,000 bu against 12,000,000 bu last year.

Price Current says: "Reports from the winter wheat belt are very gratifying except from the extreme southwest portion. In the cotton states, the winter has been cold and wet and wheat which is largely a matter of experiment, for southern farmers, is reported to be looking badly. In the eastern states where seeding was very late and germination later by reason of a dry fall the plant is reported in a precarious position. But all these combined do not effect over one-tenth of the planted area, so that if spring promises are likely to be above the low condition in which the plant went to winter."

Minneapolis: Cash demand was very good for top grades, but lower grades were slow. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 4c over May, and velvet chaff at May price to 1c over May. There were scattered flour sales but the aggregate was moderate. Some fair export inquiries were in the market with terms not wholly satisfactory.

Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $150@1.54 and No. 2 northern at from $1.46@1.51½. Wheat stocks at that point accrued 640,000 bu in the last four days.

Charles E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Shearson Hammill, Chicago: "The extreme political tension existing the world over, and which is rapidly spreading to neutral countries, calls, in our judgment, for very sharp reflection on the part of those interested in the grain business. There are certain facts which must not be ignored as having in themselves enormous possibilities and full of danger in the desperate measures being adopted by the belligerents to prevent each other from procuring the necessary food supplies with the consequent endangering of shipping and the probable effect of increasing the cost of shipments to a prohibitive level, is an outcome which must inevitably restrict shipments from this country and probably tie up the very heavy sales of wheat which have been made but not gone forward. The complete demoralization of the exchange market, with sterling selling at the lowest price on record, makes the sale of bills of exchange impossible, and the risk of doing business increases proportionately. German markets are in a still worse position, and the same applies to all foreign exchanges. Russia has a surplus for sale. It is securing money from the allies and probably every effort will be made to get wheat through, as it is the only collateral obtainable from that country at the present time. It may take time to force the Dardanelles, but they are under constant bombardment, and will eventually fall. The above bearish factors, in common with the extreme smallness of the market, the restricted trading now in force, and the consequent difficulty of liquidating, should liquidation be forced, are all possibilities which could bring about complete demoralization of prices. We do not wish to predict as to the market, but merely wish to point that the dangers involved are far too great to warrant any participation whatever in wheat speculation, at the present time. Advances might extend very much further, but in putting such a possibility against the effect of the accidents mentioned above, we feel it only right to warn our clients that in our mind, we would strongly advise them to get out of the markets, irrespective of what ideas they may possess as to the maximum price which may eventually obtain. In a lesser degree, the coarse grains will be affected. The corn situation is not developing the strength that was expected of it. Stocks are enormous. Discounts for cash encourage constant pressure, and we see no immediate prospects of an advance being warranted on that grain. In other words, times are out of joint and speculation should be curbed accordingly."

HEAVINESS IN STOCKS

Foreign Conditions Again Adverse Factor in the Market.

Some Leading Shares Decline to Lowest Point at Close.

New York, Feb. 17.—Stocks developed a heavy tendency at the outset of today's operations and declines of 1 to 2 points in issues of importance were soon recorded. Reading, Lehigh Valley and Canadian Pacific were weakest of the leaders, but other favorites yielded fractionally. New Haven, Southern Railway preferred and Loose-Wiles declined 2 points, failing to their new minimum prices. Specialties like Texas Company, Montana Power and Mexican Petroleum were lower. Trading was light and again governed largely by foreign conditions.

Declines on today's stock market were accelerated by short selling, the bears again availing themselves of unfavorable news from abroad to depress prices. In addition to the coal shares, New York Central and Canadian Pacific were heavy and Baltimore & Ohio, a favorite of the Berlin market, declined 1½ to its minimum of 67. United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting also fell a point each. Foreign exchange was less unsettled, cables and drafts on London being quoted well above yesterday's closing rates.

Bonds, especially the international group, were heavy.

In the early afternoon lower prices were made among inactive issues. Standard stocks were very dull at slight recoveries from the low range of the the morning.

Heaviness prevailed for the greater part of today's stock market session. Foreign conditions were again an adverse factor.

Final operations again reflected pressure upon leading stocks, some of which went to lowest quotations of the day. The closing was heavy.

ONE MAN IS HOLDING OUT

Refusal to Sign Petition Delays Work on Highland Subway.

Will Provide for Three Tracks—Road Ready to Begin.

The securing of the signature of one property owner is said to be the only requirement necessary for the beginning of the work on the Highland avenue subway by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad. This property owner is said to have refused to sign the agreement but other residents of the district feel hopeful that he will also sign within a short time.

Plans for the subway have all been made, according to the engineering department of the road. The subway will be sixty-six feet wide, allowing the full width of a street and will span the distance without center supports. The bridge will provide for three tracks at this time, the extra track to be used for the side track running into the stone crusher property. Provisions will also be made for allowing the widening of the trestle in case the railroad in the future wishes to lay additional trackage for the handling of its business between Proctor and the ore docks. Officials of the company intimate that at some time in the future it may become necessary to have four tracks handle the business, but this extra trackage facilities will not be provided during the next year or two.

The plans as laid out for the highways leading to the top of the hill will greatly benefit people who have to use the roads, according to those who are in close touch with the situation. In addition to the building of the subway at Highland, the railroad proposed to build another subway under the tracks at Sixty-third avenue. This will connect with the road leading up the hill and in turn the railroad will have the consent of the city to close Tacony street which now crosses the railroad at grade. The bridge over Keene's creek now used for team traffic between Bay View Heights and the city will be moved farther up the creek so that instead of the dangerous turn out of Earl street just west of the creek the route will be straight. This turn is said to be one of the most dangerous of any roadway in the city. The bridge will connect with the foot of Earl street and with the new roadway to be built that will connect with Highland street or the Sixty-third avenue subways.

Officials of the railroad said that everything was in readiness to start the work just as soon as the city had done its part. Members of the West Duluth Commercial club who have been active in getting this work done claim that they will have the petition of the property owners complete within another week.

THREE GAMES IN PHARMACY EVENT

Curlers Will Observe Lent, Reducing Periods for Skating.

Three games will be played this evening at the Western Curling rink. Olson vs. McDonald, Zauft vs. Evered, and Wade vs. Judson will play in the Grand Avenue Pharmacy event, and Kriedler vs. Quinn will play in the Henricksen event.

Lent is to be observed by the club. Instead of having band music for skaters on two nights each week, it is proposed during the period to have band music only on Tuesdays. The skating rink will be open otherwise for club members and their families each afternoon and evening.

On Saturday evening a number of curlers from Morgan Park will be at the club for games. It is expected that at least two rinks will attend the meet.

Several skips of the club are planning on entering the state championship spiel to be held at the Duluth Curling club on Monday. Play in this event will probably begin on Saturday evening. Among those who will enter rinks will be F. H. Wade, Thomas Quinn, Alex Donald, Charles Iltis and probably two or three others.

ON PAROLE FOR YEAR.

Walter La Mora Convicted of Passing Worthless Check.

Walter La Mora, 26, who was arrested last night on a charge of larceny, was sentenced this morning in police court to eighty-five days at the city and county work farm. Sentence was suspended, and he was placed on parole for one year.

La Mora is alleged to have passed a worthless check on Tony Romeo, proprietor of a small store on Central avenue, Saturday evening. When the check was presented at the bank, it was found to be worthless.

DEATH IS DUE TO APOPLEXY

Well-Known West Duluthian Dies at His Store.

Nels H. Nyhus, age 70, a pioneer resident of West Duluth, dropped dead of apoplexy at his store, 7015 Grand avenue yesterday afternoon. The attack was the third that he has experienced in recent months.

Mr. Nyhus was one of West Duluth's best known citizens. He settled in West Duluth in 1888 and at that time engaged in the buying and selling of livestock. Later he entered the grocery business and in recent years has been conducting a small store in the western part of West Duluth.

Mr. Nyhus came to America about forty-eight years ago. He resided for a number of years in Wisconsin and Iowa, and later moved to Canby, Minn. He moved from the latter place to West Duluth.

He leaves a widow and one son, Herman, residing at 227 North Sixty-first avenue west. He is also survived by five brothers, Halvor, Sievert, Einer and Andrew Nyhus, all of whom reside in Iowa, and Charles Nyhus of Seattle, and one sister, Mrs. Andrew Nelson of Forest City, Iowa.

The funeral arrangements are not complete, but the service will probably be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street. Rev. B. L. Opdahl will officiate. Interment will be in Oneota cemetery.

Even Break With Proctor.

Two teams representing the "We Brothers" class of the Westminster Presbyterian church played Proctor teams last evening. The first game was won by the Proctorites by a score of 32 to 12, and the latter game was won by the locals, 12 to 8.

In another game between a team representing the Westminster Sunday school and the West Duluth Baptist Sunday school the former won by a score of 15 to 8. The following was the line-up for the latter game:

WANT BRIDGE ACROSS PARK

Superior View Residents Would Use Ninth Street Car Line.

Residents at Superior View and in the vicinity of the east side of Chester park want a bridge constructed across Chester creek, either at Eighth or Ninth streets, so that they can get an East Ninth street car, and not be compelled to walk down to Fourth street.

At a meeting of the Munger Improvement club to be held Friday evening, Feb. 26, at the Munger school, Twelfth avenue east and Eighth street, residents in that vicinity will make a formal request for the bridge and a committee will be appointed to meet with members of the city commission to discuss the plan.

As Chester park is a long ravine, those living on the east side for a distance of ten or twelve blocks, are compelled, in stormy weather, to either walk around the park to get to an East Ninth street car, or go down to Fourth street for an East Fourth street car.

Residents in that vicinity claim that the district is settling rapidly and that there are many homes being built.

The bridge at the point desired would afford the residents on the east side of the park an opportunity to walk but a few blocks to get an East Ninth street car. The bridge would have to be a long one, because of the width of the ravine, and officials of the Munger club propose to obtain an estimate of the cost from the city engineer.

ABUSED WOMAN GIVEN DIVORCE

Mrs. Gerow Freed From Spouse Who Neglected and Threatened Her.

In district court yesterday afternoon Judge Fesler filed an order for a divorce decree in favor of Mildred Gerow, 32, against William Gerow, 50, on the grounds of cruelty. Judgment in favor of Mrs. Gerow was entered by the clerk.

The case was tried before the court during the early part of the term, and was submitted to Judge Fesler for his decision. The Gerows were married at Superior on July 29, 1898, and are parents of one son, Percy, aged 15.

Mrs. Gerow testified that while they were living in Hibbing, Gerow was employed in a restaurant, but spent the greater portion of his time and earnings in gambling. He never took her to a show or accompanied her to church, she said, but treated her with studied contempt.

She also told the court on one occasion, Gerow threatened to shoot her, that they later broke up housekeeping and that she was obliged thereafter to provide for herself.

IOWA "DRY" FORCES SHOW THEIR STRENGTH

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 17.—The "dry" forces in the Iowa house gave evidence of their strength today by ordering immediate reports from the committee on the suppression of intemperance on the Crozier bill for the repeal of the mulct law and the Clarkson bill to the same effect which has already passed the senate. The vote was 81 to 22. The committee must submit its report at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

GERMANY FIRM BUT COURTEOUS IN REFUSAL TO ABATE ITS BLOCKADE IN MARINE WAR ZONE

COMMITTEE TO FRAME NEW EFFICIENCY BILL IS ORDERED BY HOUSE

Gordon Resolution in an Amended Form Is Adopted Overwhelmingly.

Bill for Soil Survey of State Lands Is Introduced.

County Division Bill Is Constitutional, Says Attorney General.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the opposition of those having the efficiency and economy bill in charge, the house this morning by an overwhelming vote passed the resolution introduced several days ago by Representative Sam Y. Gordon providing for a committee of twenty to frame a substitute for the efficiency bill if it should fail of passage. Mr. Gordon, before moving its adoption, amended it so as to put the appointment of the twenty members of the committee in the hands of Speaker Flowers. Originally the resolution named them.

His Move Misunderstood.

Mr. Gordon said his move had been misunderstood by many members and that it was not intended to reflect on any body or to interfere in any way with the work of any other committee; but if the efficiency bill fails the members will want something to show their constituents that they have kept their pledges.

IN EMPLOY OF CITY; HEIRS GET $3,000

Decision in Case of Man Killed While Assisting an Officer.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—The Wisconsin industrial commission established a precedent today in ruling that William Voeck, a private citizen of West Salem, who was killed while assisting an officer to control a violent prisoner, was temporarily in the employ of that municipality and that therefore Voeck's widow is entitled to $3,000 from the village of West Salem.

Voeck, some months ago, was walking along the street in West Salem when he was accosted by the village marshal, who commanded him to come to his assistance in subduing Walter Jones, a violent prisoner, upon whom a deputy sheriff had just served a warrant for arrest. Voeck immediately responded to the demand of the village marshal and fifteen minutes later died from three bullet wounds from Jones' revolver.

WOULD AMEND THE DUNN LAW

Senator Baldwin Has Bill to Abolish State Highway Commission.

Committee Kills Bill for Educating Deaf in Public Schools.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The abolishment of the state highway commission and other radical changes in the R. C. Dunn road law are proposed in a bill introduced in the senate today by Senator John H. Baldwin of Frazee and others.

Senator Baldwin, who has been working on the bill since early in the session—in fact, since long before the session began—and who is a practical road man, declares that while his measure stands on the general principles of the Dunn law, it will work marked reforms in methods and will result in more roads for the money spent than is possible under the existing law.

The bill does away with the requirement that the counties shall contribute a part of the cost of state roads, unless they desire to do so, and leaves it to the state to build state roads, as an example in road-building; the counties to handle county roads

CONVENTION BILLS LOST

House Refuses to Provide for Holding Constitutional Convention.

Bjornson Bill Fails to Secure Necessary Two-Thirds Vote.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There may be no constitutional convention in Minnesota that can look back to the present legislature as its originator. Both the bills on that subject went down in the house last night, one of them failing to get the required two-thirds vote and the other not even securing a majority.

Action was taken first on the bill introduced by Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minnesota, one of the ablest and most aggressive leaders in the house. After a spirited debate of three hours the vote was taken, resulting in 69 for and 50 against the bill, 87 being needed to pass it.

Representative Bjornson took the defeat in good spirit, and after the announcement that his bill had lost he made a brief, good-natured talk, concluding by saying that his position was the same as that of the man who declared that when it was the will of nature that there should be rain instead of sunshine, then rain was what he wanted.

Sawyer-Kneeland Bill Fails.

After disposing of the Bjornson bill the house took up the Sawyer-Kneeland bill, intended to accomplish the same purpose on a majority vote of the legislature. This finally was passed upon by a vote of 61 for it and 56 against it, but as the vote in favor of HOMEOPATHIC SCHOOLS ARE IN NEED OF MONEY.

Chicago, Feb. 18. — Homeopathic schools throughout the country will be forced to suspend within three years unless endowments of at least $500,000 are provided, Dr. Joseph P. Cobb, dean of the Hahnemann medical college of Chicago, told the American Institute of Homeopathy last night.

"I can safely predict," Dr. Cobb said, "that unless substantial endowments are raised among the alumni of the homeopathic schools there will be no schools."

Dr. Royal S. Copeland of New York was elected president of the institute.

STATES' CONFERENCE ON RIVER TERMINALS.

St. Louis, Feb. 18.—Delegates from most of the states in the Mississippi valley today attended a conference here on river terminals. The meeting is to last two days.

Addresses were made by Governor Major of Missouri and Former Governor Eberhart of Minnesota, chairman of the gathering.

The sessions today were devoted largely to reports on river terminal work in various cities, including Minneapolis, Kansas City, New Orleans and Davenport.

HEAVY LOSSES ON THE ENEMY

French Statement Says They Were Inflicted Near Arras.

From the Sea to the Oise Nothing New Is Reported.

Paris, Feb. 18, 2:45 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon issued a report on the progress of the war, which reads as follows:

"From the sea to the Oise nothing new was recorded last night.

"It has been confirmed that the successful surprise movement which made us master of the lines of the German trenches to the north of Arras, northwest of Rolincourt, inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

"In the valley of the Aisne and in the sector of Reims there have been artillery engagements to our distinct advantage.

Territory Retained.

"In Champagne, in the region of Perthes, all the territory conquered by us yesterday and the day before has been retained. Among the numerous prisoners made by us Feb. 16 and 17, are found officers and men of the Sixth and the Eighth corps of the active army and of the Eighth, Tenth and Twelfth corps of the reserve army.

"In the Argonne we have also maintained the advances won in the forest of La Grurie, the south of Fontaine-aux-Charmes. Furthermore, we have made some progress in the vicinity of Boureuilles at Hill No. 263.

"Our success between the Argonne and the Meuse reported Feb. 17 has made us masters of a forest south of the forest of Cheppy. We have furthermore made an advance of about 400 yards to the north of Malancourt and almost as much at a point to the south

GERMAN CRUISER SANK FOUR SHIPS

Crown Prince Wilhelm Active Off Brazil During Past Two Months.

Buenos Aires, Feb. 18.—The German steamer Holger, which has arrived here, brings news that during the months of January and February, the German auxiliary cruiser Crown Prince Wilhelm, operating on the northern coast of Brazil, sank the British steamer Hemisphere, the British steamer Potaro, the sailing ship Sumatra and the sailing ship Wilfred. The crews of these vessels are on board the Holger.

GERMAN BLOCKADE OF UNITED KINGDOM TIES UP PASSENGER TRAFFIC

TEUTONS HAVE 64,000 RUSS

Berlin Officially Reports That Number of Prisoners Captured.

Fighting Continues on the Road to Arras and Lille.

Berlin, via London, Feb. 18.—The official report on the progress of the fighting given out in Berlin today says that the Russians taken prisoners by the Germans in East Prussia now amount to 64,000 men.

The German army headquarters today issued the following statement:

"On the road to Arras and Lille, fighting continues for a small section of a German trench into which the enemy entered on Feb. 16.

"The number of French prisoners taken yesterday to the northeast of Reims has been increased. The French losses in this region especially were heavy.

"French attacks have ceased in Champagne. To the north of Perthes fighting continues. To the east of Perthes the French are repulsed, suffering heavy losses. The enemy has only in a few places advanced to the German trenches.

"The number of prisoners reported to have been taken by us yesterday has been increased to eleven officers and 785 soldiers.

Enemy's Attacks Fail.

"The enemy's attacks against the German positions near Boureuilles and Vauquois, to the east of the Argonne forest and to the east of Verdun, failed completely.

RUSS COMPLETELY BEATEN, SAYS KAISER.

Berlin, Feb. 18, via London, 6:59 a. m.—The president of the province of East Prussia at Koenigsberg has received the following telegram from Emperor William, who has been on the eastern battle front:

"The Russians are completely beaten. Our beloved East Prussia is free from the enemy."

All Sailings Between England and Holland Are Suspended.

Lines to Scandinavia, However, Continue to Maintain Service.

Ship Captains Instructed in Avoiding Fire on British Submarines.

London, Feb. 18.—The blockade of the United Kingdom by Germany is on.

What will be the effect of Germany's declaration will take a day or two to demonstrate. British shipping interests profess to feel no alarm, nevertheless all passenger traffic from England to Holland has been tied up. The lines to Scandinavia, however, still continue to run. The cross-channel services have announced that their schedules will be maintained as usual.

In the meantime the British public is perusing the German note answering the American communication concerning the war zone blockade, and awaiting the pronouncement of Great Britain's expected retaliatory campaign.

Illustrations showing British and German submarines are being distributed to the skippers of merchant vessels so that they will not fire on or ram a British submarine by mistake.

Rewards Offered.

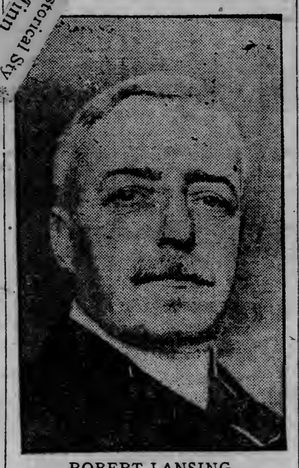

In many quarters the demand is increasing that masters of ships held up or threatened by submarines should be allowed to use offensive measures and various private rewards, totalling several thousand pounds, still stand to be taken down by the first British skipper destroying a hostile submarine.

The British press now concedes that the Russians must have lost heavily in their retreat in East Prussia, but refuses to credit Field Marshal von Hindenburg with a great victory pending the outcome of the rear guard action before the fortified line on the Niemen river.

$12,000 Fire at Fond du Lac.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 18.—Fire starting from spontaneous combustion caused damage to the amount of $12,000 to the Wallichs block early Wednesday. Mrs. Gifford Henry, wife of a railroad man, aroused by plaster falling in the flat she occupied in the building, managed to escape.

GERMAN EXPERT WHO DRAFTED NOTES TO POWERS

ROBERT LANSING,
Counsellor of State Department, Who Drew Up Letters to Great Britain and Germany.

COMMENT ON GERMAN REPLY

Expert Says Teutons Desire to Remain Friends With Americans.

Answer Firm But Conciliatory, Says the Cologne Gazette.

Berlin, Feb. 18, via London.—Count von Reventlow, the German naval critic, comments in today's issue of the Tages Zeitung, on the answer of the German government to the American note on the subject of the marine war zone around Great Britain.

The writer declares that the tone of the German note, in spite of the tone of the American communication, shows that Germany is prepared to go to the utmost limits compatible with the situation. No fault can be found with the declaration in the German answer, Count von Reventlow declares, that the German government, like the American, desires to prevent occurrences which could disturb existing friendly relations.

Can Read With Pleasure.

"One can read only with pleasure those parts of the German answer which refer to American supplies to England and France," the writer says. "We add to this that these shipments of weapons to our enemies have filled public opinion in Germany with deep indignation and bitterness against the United States. Statistics of the amount of these shipments show that the Germans are not now justified in speaking of friendly relations."

Count von Reventlow then refers to the government's assumption that neutrals do not intend to offer opposition to the forcible suppression of

REVOLT AMONG HINDU SOLDIERS

Marines Landed From Jap and French Warships Quell Trouble.

Tokio, Feb. 18.—A revolt has broken out among the Hindu soldiers at Singapore, one of the Straits Settlements belonging to Great Britain, according to newspaper dispatches received here today from the Malay archipelago.

Marines were landed at Singapore from Japanese and French warships and some fighting has taken place between the mutineers and the men from the warships.

The Hindu mutineers numbered 800, but later half of this number is reported to have surrendered and the revolt is said to be subsiding.

ANSWERS NOTE OF PROTEST BY UNITED STATES

Says Action Made Necessary By Britain's Cutting Off Food Supply.

Asks U. S. to Send War Vessels to Convoy Its Merchant Vessels.

Hopes Americans Will Understand Position in Which Germany Is Placed.

NO ELEMENT IN THE SITUATION CRITICAL.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Germany's reply to the American note on the naval war zone around the British Isles had not been received today at the state department. The outline of the German reply contained in news dispatches, however, commanded close attention in official and diplomatic quarters, but comments were being reserved until after the text has been received.

Secretary Bryan went early to the White House for a conference with President Wilson. The official view was that no element in the situation was critical.

Berlin, via London, Feb. 18.—The reply of Germany to the protest of the United States against a blockade of British waters is couched in the most friendly terms, but firmly maintains the position of Germany as already announced. The answer, which is a lengthy document, was converted into code at the United States embassy under the direction of Ambassador Gerard and has been transmitted in full to Washington.

The note explains that Germany's proposed action is rendered necessary by Great Britain's policy of attempting to cut off the food supply for the German civil population by a method never recognized in international law. England's course in ordering merchantmen to fly neutral flags, equipping them with artillery with orders to destroy submarines, the German reply contends, renders nugatory the right of search thus giving Germany the right to attack English shipping. Germany holds that she cannot abandon that right under the stress which England has forced upon her.

Since Germany must compel the nations with which she is at war to return to the recognized principles of international law and restore the freedom of the seas she argues that the stand she has taken is necessary.

Recommends Convoy.

The note recommends that the United States government send warships to England to convoy merchant vessels through the danger zone as security against attack with the understanding that vessels thus guarded shall carry no war supplies. Hope is expressed that the American government will understand the position in which Germany has been placed and appreciate the reasons for its course.

The reply closes with an expression of the hope that the United States may prevail upon Great Britain "to return to the principles of international law recognized prior to the outbreak of the war," and in particular obtain the observance of the London declaration by belligerents opposed to Germany. If this were done, the note explains, Germany would be enabled to import food supplies and raw materials. Germany would recognize in this, says the reply, an invaluable service

EXPLOSION DESTROYS ENORMOUS ZEPPELIN.

London, Feb. 18.—The Zeppelin destroyed by an explosion on Fance island was the L-3, one of the largest in commission. She was completed in 1914 and was 550 feet long, had a diameter of 61 feet and displaced 32 tons. She was supplied with four motors with a total horse power of 720 and had a speed of 40 knots. Commander Prinz says the situation when the fire broke out was critical. He feared that the bombs on board the airship would explode before he could get to the ground with the crew of 14, now interned by the Danish authorities.

NOT MUCH CHOICE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Germany has declined to alter her position in consequence of the American note concerning the war zone decree, although expressing the most friendly feelings toward this country. The German reply, a summary of which was cabled from Berlin, recommends that the United States send warships to protect American vessels passing through the danger zone.

Emperor William has telegraphed to the president of the province of East Prussia that the Russians have been driven from the province. An official communication from Vienna says that the Russians have been defeated in Bukowina. The Austrians have occupied Kolomea. A report from the Russian war office, however, asserts that there is no change in Bukowina. It says that the Russians have won the advantage in several engagements in Galicia.

Turkey has yielded to Greece and offered satisfaction for the insult to the Greek naval attache at Constantinople.

Fourteen members of the crew of the Zeppelin which was destroyed over Fance island were rescued and will be interned by the Danish authorities.

SAVE MONEY BY MAKING THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE AT HOME

Money spent for the old-style, ready-made cough syrups in bottles holding only 2 to 2½ ounces is very largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it was all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better cough medicine at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to the Lyceum Pharmacy and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffmann's Concentrated Expectorant. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (16 ounces). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold. Also excellent for Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough. One bottle will make enough home-made cough medicine to probably last the whole family the entire winter. Children like it, it is so pleasant to take. It is unlike any other cough medicine, and positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics, as do most cough mixtures. Keep it on hand in case of emergency and stop each cough before it gets a firm hold. The above druggist has been authorized to return the money in every single case where it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found the best remedy ever use. In fact, any druggist in this city will sell this new remedy under the same guarantee. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy under this positive guarantee. (54)

WARD IS CONTENT; GUARDIAN ISN'T

Anders Anderson, Aged Farmer, Does Not Feel He Was Victimized.

Anders A. Anderson, aged Cloquet farmer, took the stand in Judge Ensign's division of the district court this morning and testified that he was satisfied with the real estate deal which he made with Karl O. J. Eklund, Olaf V. Eklund, Julius E. Diesen and Charles P. Osburn in May, 1913, notwithstanding the fact that his newly appointed guardian, C. T. Larson, has brought suit to have the deed set aside.

Anderson, who is 72 years old, testified as a witness for the defense in an action brought by his guardian to set aside the sale of the greater portion of his 160-acre homestead at Cloquet to the four defendants for $1,000. The claim of the guardian is that the four purchasers took advantage of his ward's age and at the time Anderson sold the property he was mentally incompetent.

DRAFTS NEW ORDINANCE.

Substitute Sign Measure Will Be Placed Before Council.

Another sign ordinance is now being drafted at the city attorney's office, and it will be presented to the city commission next week.

The old ordinance, which was passed in January, it was discovered, contained a double penalty and as a result was invalid. It was decided not to enforce the ordinance when it went into effect on Feb. 13, but draft a new one at once.

The ordinance provides for a fine of $25 or imprisonment for twenty-five days, or both, for each day the law is violated.

Want More Business Men in West Duluth Commercial Club.

A campaign of education among the West Duluth business men to induce them to join the West Duluth Commercial club is proposed by W. A. Pond, president of the organization. Mr. Pond said that it is the duty of the West Duluth merchant to belong to the club if for no other reason than to take care of the interests of the residents who patronize him.

"The business man is virtually interested in the welfare of the community," said Mr. Pond this morning. "He has the time, if the he is so inclined, to look after the welfare of the district, where the average resident, not in business, is employed during the entire day and at night is too tired to take up the duties of the district's general welfare. The average citizen looks toward the business man to watch out for the welfare of the district.

"There is no better way for the business man to do this than to lend his counsel to that of his fellow men in such gatherings as are held by the West Duluth Commercial club. Every business man in the district should for that reason belong to the organization. We expect to be able to convince all of the merchants of the truth of this argument and bring them all out to our meetings in the future."

OLD RESIDENT DIES.

John St. Mary Succumbs While Visiting Old Home Here.

John St. Mary, age 64, a resident of West Duluth for twenty-two years, died this morning at the home of his brother, Jerry St. Mary, following a short illness of dropsy. He had lived in this end of the city until two years ago, when he moved his family to a farm near Laura, Minn. He was in this city on a visit when taken ill.

He leaves a widow and ten children, seven whom are boys. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste French Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Interment will be made in Calvary cemetery. Mr. St. Mary was a member of Duluth lodge, No. 80, Woodmen of the World.

WILL TALK TO RAILROAD EMPLOYES ON SAFETY.

"What Are You Doing for Safety?" will be the subject of a paper to be read by Ed H. Windom, general claim agent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad at the meeting of the Proctor Railroad club to be held next Monday evening. The meeting will be held at the Proctor Y. M. C. A.

A feature of the meeting will be an exhibition of the work of the shop crew known as the "Shop First Aid Squad." The squad will demonstrate how it does its work in case of accident within the shop. A subject will be used and demonstrations of relieving pain, placing of bandages for cuts and other methods will be given.

The entertainment committee is also planning a special program to be given during the evening. This program will be appropriate for the occasion, it being Washington's birthday. Charles Birch is chairman of the committee to provide the entertainment.

Lodge to Entertain.

West Duluth lodge, No. 85, Degree of Honor, will entertain tomorrow evening for its members and the members of West Duluth lodge, No. 145, A. O U. W. An invitation is also extended to families of members of the latter lodge. A program has been arranged by the women, which will be given at the close of the business meeting.

CURLER MISSES RARE OPPORTUNITY

Capt. Sullivan Fails to Make Eight Head By Only One Inch.

An opportunity of laying an eight-head, something that is seldom done in curling, was missed by about an inch last night in a game between the Zauft and Evered rinks by Capt. William Sullivan, who was skip for the former rink last night. The opportunity came in the final head, when his rink had seven stones in the house, and it required the knocking out of the ring a stone that cut them out of all but two.

The final stone thrown by Capt. Sullivan was a little "narrow" and instead of knocking out the opponent's stone, served to scatter his own from the center with the result that the opposition won the lay and the game.

The game was played in the Grand Avenue Pharmacy event. In a game between Wade and Judson, the former won, 9 to 7, and McDonald won from Olson, 10 to 6.

This evening the finals in the Union Match event will be played between Wade and Quinn. Mallory and Iltis will also play in the Pharmacy event.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Julia Wennerlund Dies After Illness of Eighteen Months.

Mrs. Julia Wennerlund, age 30, wife of Frank Wennerlund, 114 North Fifty-third avenue west, died last night at 10 o'clock following an illness of nearly eighteen months. Mrs. Wennerlund was reared in this end of the city and had a large circle of friends.

She is survived by her husband, a son, her mother, Mrs. Julia Moline, and two sisters, Misses Lydia and Ruth Moline.

The body was taken to Richter's undertaking rooms. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the West Duluth Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street, with interment in Oneota cemetery. Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom will conduct the service.

HOPE TO MAKE PROCTOR "DRY"

First Meeting of Campaign Attended By Big Audience.

Temperance advocates of Proctor, following the meeting held last night at the Odd Fellows' hall, feel hopeful of winning their battle for a dry village.

The meeting was attended by one of the largest crowds that has gathered in the building, and speakers were roundly cheered.

Several meetings are scheduled for the anti-liquor forces between now and election, which will occur March 9. On Sunday evening a mass meeting is scheduled at the Forbes M. E. church, and another meeting on next Wednesday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall.

Among the speakers last night were: Rev. H. O. Ostlie of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church; Rev. W. E. Harmann, rector of Christ's Episcopal church of Proctor, and the St. Peter's Episcopal church of the West end, and Rev. B. D. Hanscom of the Forbes M. E. church.

The village has now two saloons. The local option question will be the principal campaign issue, the contest for village president and trustees sinking to insignificance beside it. Many of the railroad men are taking an active interest in the campaign to make the village dry.

FIRE AT NEW DULUTH.

House and Barn of George Dariehz Badly Damaged.

Fire starting from an unknown cause totally destroyed a barn and caused about $50 damage to the home of George Dariehz, 1533 Ninety-sixth avenue west, New Duluth, at 2 o'clock this morning. The New Duluth department was able to extinguish the flames before they got much headway.

The fire started in the barn. In this was about a half ton of hay, but no livestock. The barn was near the house and flying embers started a fire in the building. The loss of the barn is placed at $200, while the damage to the house is estimated at $50. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

RETURNS HOME; HAS FRACTURED ARM.

Herbert Lewis, 411 North Fifty-third avenue west, returned home this morning from Funckley, Minn., where he has been employed for several weeks. His sudden return was brought about by a fracture of his arm. While driving along a logging road with a load of hay he turned his team out of the road to allow a logging sled to pass. In turning out his sleigh tipped over, and he was caught under the load.

WILL POSTPONE WORK ON SUBWAY

Indications are that the Northern Pacific subway at Smithville will not be begun until spring.

Supt. William H. Strachan of the Northern Pacific informed Commissioner Murchison this morning that the bids on the construction of the steel bridge, over which the tracks will run, were opened early this week in St. Paul, but that they were all too high, because each bidder wants $6,000 additional for the work on account of the condition of the ground. The bidders all claim, Mr. Strachan explained, that much more labor would be required to go ahead with the work at this time.

As a result new bids are to be advertised for at once by the Northern Pacific and the contract awarded next month. Work is expected to begin as soon as the frost leaves the ground.

"We want to go ahead with the work," said Mr. Strachan, "but we do not plan to spend $6,000 extra. We will have to wait several weeks more, but we will go ahead just as soon as possible."

The construction of the subway will entail an expenditure of about $25,000, officials of the company recently announced.

CAR SALES REMARKABLE.

Farms Offer Vast Field to Dealers, Says Cole Agent.

"The very noticeable increase in the sale of motor cars during the last two weeks, not only locally but throughout the entire country, leads one to investigate the automobile market," says C. H. Johnson, local dealer in Cole motor cars. "The figures and facts are remarkable.

"Since 1902 there have been sold in the United States one and one-half million cars, and the field is practically untouched in the country. It has been estimated that 5,000,000 more cars are needed to supply the farms, although the supply averaging one automobile to the farm is far in the future.

"This coming year, however, it is estimated that nearly half a million cars will be sold, and 50 per cent of these are expected to be sold to the farmer. The farm market is considered to be the dominant factor by many and the big increase in sales throughout the country districts only confirms this belief.

"When one considers that only 10 per cent of the farms are supplied with motor cars the bigness of the field can be grasped.

"Every factor considered, it is the common opinion that this coming season will be one of 'big sales' in the automobile industry, and plans and preparations are being made to take care of large orders."

SNOW AND ICE IN MIDDLE WEST

During the week ending last Saturday, the area of the United States covered by snow was east of the Rockies and north of an irregular line extending eastward from Denver on the west, south of Lincoln, Neb., north of Chicago and south of Milwaukee, escaping the southern shore of Lake Erie, as far south as Philadelphia and ending on the east coast just south of Boston. The snow storm which covered this territory moved from the Southern Rockies to the Great Lakes and thence to the Atlantic coast. A large part of the winter grain districts are now without snow covering and the great cattle ranges are largely without cover except in the northern districts.

The heaviest snow on Saturday in the Middle West was at Calumet, Mich., where the covering reached 37 inches. Houghton, Mich., and Moorhead, Minn., each had 22 inches. At the end of the week Duluth had only 8 inches. Many places in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin had only a trace.

The ice thickness at the Sault last Saturday was 19.5 inches and Duluth had 34 inches. Heavy ice at other points on the Great Lakes was as follows: Escanaba, 22 inches; Houghton, 11; Marquette, 10; Buffalo, N. Y., 9; Green Bay, Wis., 12, and Milwaukee is open.

PASTOR RUSSELL WILL LECTURE HERE ON "THE BATTLE OF ARMAGEDDON"

PASTOR RUSSELL of BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

Pastor Russell of London and Brooklyn tabernacles, famous author and lecturer and president of the International Bible Students' association, will visit this city next Sunday afternoon and will deliver an address at the Auditorium at 3 p. m., his topic being "The Battle of Armageddon."

The pastor has won great distinction and world-wide fame as an unusually brilliant student of Bible prophecy, and because of his published belief that the Scriptures foretold the close of the gospel age with a terrible war in 1914. When the war came on time, thinking people the world over have desired his interpretation of the momentous events, and the pastor has lectured widely to meet this demand. Immense audiences listen to him with great interest. His previous successful interpretations give his present lectures peculiar interest. The pastor claims to be an optimist of the most pronounced type, but, according to his own statements, he does not expect the present war to end until it has greatly weakened the nations involved. Following this struggle, he declares, and largely as its result, the Bible prophecies indicate that an even greater conflict will ensue, resulting in social revolutions and anarchy and finally ushering in Christ's kingdom.

Pastor Russell is well-known as an independent Bible teacher and has won a unique place in the religious world during the last forty years. His antagonism to the teaching of a place of fire and brimstone as the eternal home of the wicked has gained for him the title of the "anti-hell-fire preacher." As a religious writer he has the distinction of being the author of a series of books on Bible study having a circulation now said to exceed 8,000,000. During the last year his picture-story of the Bible, "Creation," has been presented throughout this country and Europe, and created quite a sensation, as it is the first successful effort to present a systematic course in Bible study by means of motion pictures. The Bible students' association, which has financed its presentation, reports that this progressive evangelistic effort has proved highly successful in reaching the people with religion. Many thousands witnessed the production here last spring, when daily exhibitions were given for several weeks at the Auditorium without charge for admission.

One of the provisions invariably made by Pastor Russell is that he will speak only where admission is free to the public and no collection taken. It is announced that next Sunday's lecture will be under these conditions.

GOVERNOR WILL SPEAK AT SHOW

Hammond Will Pay First Official Visit to Duluth.

Word was received yesterday from Governor Hammond that he will attend the automobile show next week and that he will be delighted to address the audience either on Thursday or Friday evening. He is not certain just when he can arrive, but he has given final assurance to the officials of the show that he will come.

Last week one of the members of the executive committee called on Governor Hammond at St. Paul, inviting him to attend the automobile show on Thursday evening, Feb. 25. He accepted at the time, but said that he was not certain, nor would he actually promise to make the visit to Duluth, especially while the legislature was in session. However, he agreed to write some time this week and yesterday a communication was received from him, formally accepting the invitation.

The visit of Governor Hammond next week will be his first as the chief executive of the state, as he has not been here since the election last November.

Officials of the show plan to make society night on the evening of the governor's arrival. This will be announced either Saturday or Monday, it was said this morning.

AUSTRIANS OCCUPY TOWN OF KOLOMEA.

Vienna, Feb. 18.—Official reports given out in Vienna say that after two days of hard fighting the Austrians have occupied the town of Kolomea in Bukowina.

"This success was achieved yesterday afternoon by means of a general attack on the Russian positions," the report says. "We drove the enemy, in spite of his stubborn resistance, out of his last positions in front of Kolomea, thus reaching the town at one operation. We prevented the Russians from blowing up the bridge over the river Pruth. The town, clear of retreating Russians, was occupied by us. We captured 2,000 prisoners and several machine guns and light cannon.

"In the Carpathian section, as far as Vyschkoff, the fighting continues with great ferocity. Four thousand additional prisoners have been brought in."

INVESTIGATION OF LOBBY CONTINUES

Official of Hamburg-American Line Ready to Give Testimony.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Inquiry into charges of lobbying against the government ship purchase bill was continued today by the special senate committee appointed for that purpose.

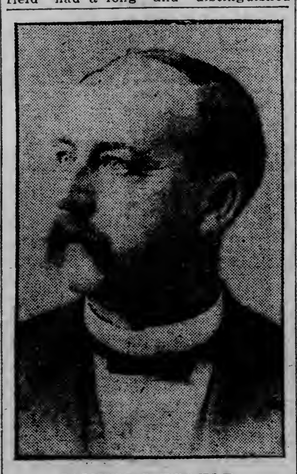

W. J. Sickel, an official of the Hamburg-American line was on hand ready to testify when the hearing began. His testimony was wanted because of the statement of Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore, formerly connected with the Atlantic Transport line, before the committee yesterday in which he said that Mr. Sickel had told him he had received orders from the German government not to sell any German vessels in American ports to the United States.

PASSES AWAY AT ASHLAND

Former Lieut.-Governor Samuel S. Fifield Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Well Known in Duluth and and Frequent Visitor Here Years Ago.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Samuel S. Fifield, former lieutentant-governor of Wisconsin and for a time acting governor during the illness of Governor Jerry Rusk, died at his home here last night from pneumonia. He was 75 years of age and is survived by his brother, Hank O. Fifield, publisher of the Wellington, Ohio, Enterprise, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. S. F. Payne of Chicago. His wife died a year ago. He was a thirty-third degree Mason and the funeral will be conducted under the auspices of that order. Governor Fifield had a long and distinguished career and had more than a state-wide reputation. The principal events in his life are here summarized:

1839—Born in Corinna, Maine, the second son of Sam S. and Naomi (Pease) Fifield.

1847—His mother died, and for several years thereafter he lived with his uncle at Bangor, Me., where he attended the public schools.

1853—Located at Rock Island, Ill., with his father and brother.

1854—Settled at Prescott, Wis.

1859—Secured a job as apprentice with the Taylor Falls Reporter. Became foreman of the St. Croixlan of St. Croix Falls. Published the Polk County Press at Osceola Mills. Elected to the legislature.

1863—Was married at Prescott, Wis., to Stella Grimes, who died in 1914.

1870—Moved to Bayfield, Wis.

1872—Moved to Ashland and founded the Ashland Press with his brother, Hank O. Fifield, now of Wellington, Ohio.

1872—First chairman of the board of supervisors of Ashland.

1870—Assistant sergeant-at-arms of Wisconsin assembly.

1871-2—Sergeant-at-arms of Wisconsin assembly.

1874—Elected assemblyman, and re-elected in 1875-6.

1876—Speaker of the assembly.

1876—Elected state senator to fill an unexpired term.

1879—Re-elected senator.

1881—Elected lieutenant governor.

1883—Re-elected, serving until 1886.

1890—Appointed postmaster by President McKinley.

1898—Appointed again by President McKinley. Reappointed by President Roosevelt in 1902, serving until 1914.

Governor Fifield was well known in Duluth and was an old and intimate friend of Capt. T. H. Pressnell. Previous to going to Bayfield in 1870 he considered the idea of buying, with Capt. Pressnell, the Duluth Minnesotian, but finally abandoned the idea. He was a frequent visitor to Duluth years ago, when he was considered a wealthy man, coming here in his private yacht. He lost much of his property later and it is stated that his homestead at Ashland was about all he possessed when he died.

MAY FILE NEXT WEEK

Open Season for Candidates Will Begin on Feb. 25.

Three Expected to Enter the Race for Municipal Judgeship.

One week from today candidates for the city commission and municipal judge will begin filing their nominations for the election on April 6.

Although it is expected that there will be a large number of candidates running for the two offices in the commission now held by Commissioners Hicken and Murchison, but four have so far made their announcements. They include Commissioner Hicken, who would succeed himself as head of the public safety division; Bernard Silberstein, who was defeated for mayor two years ago; J. A. Farrell, defeated for commissioner at the last election, and R. E. McFarlane, well known railroad engineer. It is generally understood that Commissioner Murchison will also make an effort to succeed himself, but he has so far failed to announce his candidacy.

Municipal Judge Windom will make the race to succeed himself, and it is understood that Capt. W. H. Smallwood, Civil war veteran, and M. E. Louisell, local attorney, will oppose him for the office. Judge Windom's term will expire on Jan. 1 next and at the election on April 6 the voters will select a presiding officer of the court for a term of four years.

Candidates for office have ten days after next Thursday in which to file, after which they will be barred from entering the campaign.

On March 9 there will be the first registration day for all the voters of the city, to be followed by a second registration on the succeeding Saturday, March 13.

FIGHT ON SHIP BILL RENEWED IN SENATE

Effort to Be Made to Send Measure to Conference.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The fight over the amended government ship purchase bill was renewed in the senate today with the fate of the measure still uncertain.

With a view to clearing up the situation the Democratic leaders were ready when the senate met to make another effort to send the bill to conference for further amendment in order to win the support of recalcitrant Democrats and Progressive Republicans.

ELK MILLENNIAL JUBILEE IN MARCH

Duluth lodge, No. 133, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will celebrate the passing of the 1,000 mark on its membership rolls with an appropriate jubilee next month.

On Wednesday, March 17, a class of candidates will be initiated which will bring the membership of the local lodge past the 1,000 mark, and it is intended to make the affair one that will not soon be forgotten in Elkdom.

William Burgess, H. B. Knudsen and A. J. McCulloch have been appointed by Neil B. Morrison, exalted ruler of Duluth lodge, as a committee to take charge of the affair. It is proposed to invite Elks from the Superior and range town lodges.

The annual election of officers for Duluth lodge will take place the first Wednesday in March.

Peruna for Colds

Stubborn Cough — Cold on the Chest — Thick Yellow Sputum

Mr. H. E. Waterman, Brooklyn, Wis., writes: "I had a very peculiar cough for several months, the result of a cold on my chest, and I finally became aware that I had catarrh of the bronchial tubes. Every night and morning I would cough and raise a thick, yellowish matter which was very disagreeable. I took medicines which were prescribed for me, with little or no effect, and as my trouble grew worse and worse I became very much discouraged. The druggist advised Peruna, and as I had noticed it advertised quite freely, I thought I would give it a trial. I soon found that it was doing me a great deal of good, and I took only a few bottles before I was perfectly well. I feel very thankful to Peruna."

This is a typical case of bronchial catarrh. Many people are subject to chronic cough, caused by catarrhal bronchitis.

Those who object to liquid medicine can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

KIDNEY TROUBLE FROM OVERWORK

I am a blacksmith by trade and would like to say a word to all who have to work hard and suffer with their kidneys. I suffered for about ten years and was treated by a Waynesboro, Va. Doctor. He said that I had kidney trouble in its worst form and that he had done all he could for me. I read about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and as I could hardly do a day's work, was willing to try anything that would do me any good. After taking Swamp-Root a few days I felt so much better that I continued until I felt that I was cured and I was altogether a new man. That was eight years ago and if I ever feel the least pain about my kidneys I just take a few doses of Swamp-Root and in a few days I am all right. I feel to-day that I am a well man and would say to all who suffer with their kidneys, take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, for it has done more for me than all the doctors, and saved doctors' bills.

I can further say that about two years ago my son was sick in bed and was taking medicine from doctors and got worse all the time. I went in the night and got a fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root and told him to lay aside all the doctors' medicines and take Swamp-Root. He took six bottles and I am glad to say that he is well today and has not had any trouble with his kidneys since. It was Swamp-Root that cured him. My son now thinks that there is no medicine that a doctor can give that can compare with Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

Very truly yours,

CONFERENCE OF MEMBERS OF RURAL SCHOOL BOARDS.

N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, and H. B. Hursh, assistant, will go to Virginia tomorrow to attend a conference of the members of the rural school boards of the county. The meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Technical high school building in that city.

The conference will be in the nature of a round table discussion of rural school board affairs. The proper methods of keeping minutes, financial accounts and of conducting meetings in rural school districts will be discussed. It is also probable that the educational commission's proposed bill which is now before the legislature will be talked over. The bill proposed to abolish rural school districts and put the control of schools under one board in each county.

The discussion will be informal in nature and no outside speakers will address the meeting.

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye-strain or other eye-weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing, say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona. Fill a two ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

PERFORMED A MIRACLE

Payment of $1,000 Enabled Christian F. Koch to Discard Crutches.

Witnesses Tell How Sum Was Extracted From Railroad.

Annals of crime are replete with blood-thirsty tales of how bold bad men have employed guns, razors and ruder implements of warfare as an argument to extort from their victims the coin of the realm of convertible collateral, but seldom does a story come to light where nerve propelled by a pair of crutches extracts $1,000 from the obliging claim department of a railroad corporation without a struggle.

If the story of the experiences of one Christian F. Koch with the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company as related in Judge Fesler's division of the district court today are true, Koch performed a successful operation on the railroad company for $1,000. It was successful at least for the time being. At the present time, Koch is standing trial on a charge of first degree grand larceny. He is charged with having defrauded the company out of the money by a fake injury.

The story of the affair was unraveled by witnesses who testified yesterday afternoon and this morning. County Attorney Warren E. Greene outlined it to the jury yesterday afternoon in stating what the state expected to prove in the prosecution of the prisoner on a charge of having defrauded the railroad company. The facts, which the prosecutor stated he expected to develop from the testimony, were substantially as follows:

The State's Claims.

Koch was a passenger on an Iron Range train from Duluth to Two Harbors on the night of Oct. 14, 1914. The train arrived in Two Harbors shortly before 1 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 15. In alighting from the steps of a coach to the platform, Koch fell. Bystanders picked him up and he complained that he could not walk. He was taken to the Budd hospital at Two Harbors and turned over to Dr. J. D. Budd, the company's physician and surgeon.

The next morning Koch informed Dr. Budd that he had lost the power of sensation and locomotion in his lower extremities. Dr. Budd with his assistant, Dr. E. P. Christensen, submitted the patient to a number of tests to which he responded in such a manner as to at least convince Dr. Christensen that he was a paralytic. Dr. Budd suspected that Koch might be simulating paralysis and after observing the patient for several days, called for Dr. E. L. Tuohy of Duluth, also in the employ of the railroad company, to examine him. Dr. Tuohy was not satisfied with the examination at Two Harbors and had Koch come to Duluth so that his case could be looked into further.

Never "Batted an Eye."

After having been in the Two Harbors hospital for seven or eight weeks, Koch came to Duluth and was examined by Dr. Tuohy again. Dr. J. R. Kuth was called into the case by Dr. Tuohy and both put the patient through the usual tests, such as sticking him unexpectedly with needles and observing whether he flinched or not. The hot and cold water test, as well as others, were applied. Koch never batted an eye. He got around slowly and laboriously with the aid of a pair of crutches.

On Dec. 7, 1914, after Dr. Tuohy had reported to the claim department that it was his opinion that Koch was suffering from paralysis and in all probability would never again be able to have full use of his lower limbs, Edward Windom, general claim agent for the company, induced Koch to take $1,000. Koch hung out a while for $2,000 but finally accepted the offer. His plans were to go to Rochester, Minn., to the Mayo hospital for further treatment, he told the claim agents.

At all times Koch moved about he used crutches and dragged his feet like dead weight. He had to be helped up and down stairs, into and off vehicles and got about with some little difficulty. After leaving the claim agent's office, he was helped into a taxicab, which took him a short distance. He decided to go to Superior and was transferred to another taxicab, which drove him there. He embarked with the aid of the crutches at the Soo depot at Superior and had the taxicab driver carry and check his suitcase for him.

Great Transformation.

Some time later in the evening, Koch walked into the baggage room and shoved the check for his grip over the counter. He had no crutches with him. The checker noticed the wonderful transformation but commented upon it to other employes. The next day the crutches were found under a sidewalk not far from the station by a boy who carried them home. They were recovered and yesterday brought into court as an exhibit in the case.

Koch took the train from Superior that night and the next day news of what occurred reached the railroad claim agents. A detective was placed on his trail and Koch was caught several weeks later at Tonopah, Nev., and arrested. He was brought to Duluth under an extradition process. Thomas J. McKeon is appearing in the case as his attorney.

Dr. J. R. Kuth, one of the surgeons who assisted Dr. Tuohy in his examination of Koch, was on the witness stand when court adjourned at noon today. He testified as to certain X-ray pictures which were taken of Koch's backbone. The photographs disclosed no fractures but other tests, the surgeon testified, would indicate that the patient was a paralytic.

Edward Ryan and H. A. Smith, assistant claim agents for the railroad company, testified concerning conversations which they had had with Koch with reference to settlements. Mr. Ryan testified that he was willing to admit that he had been "fooled" by Koch. Mr. Smith testified as to talks he had with Koch and told of how Koch at first turned down his offer at settlement for $1,000 and insisted upon compromising for $3,000.

His Stay at Hospital.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. J. D. Budd, the company's chief surgeon, who conducts a hospital at Two Harbors, related on the witness stand the story of Koch's stay at the hospital, where he was under daily observance by physicians, nurses and attendants.

Koch was brought to the hospital on a stretcher on the early morning of Oct. 15, 1914. He claimed, the doctor testified, that he had sustained an injury to his back in a fall while alighting from one of the company's trains known as the "high ball," which arrives from Duluth shortly before 1 o'clock every morning.

The witness described how the patient was taken to the operating room, placed on a table and examined. Dr. Budd said that he found a very slight redness covering an area about the size of a 50-cent piece in the small of Koch's back and that he complained of pain when any pressure was placed upon it. He also claimed to be losing the use of his lower limbs.

Koch was helped to the bathroom, where, according to Dr. Budd's testimony, he took a bath without assistance. The next morning the red spot had disappeared. The witness testified that the spot such as he observed might have been caused by a blow of some sort or it might have been the result of merely rubbing.

Losing Use of Legs.

Koch, on the morning after his alleged injury, complained to Dr. Budd that he was losing the use of his legs. Dr. Budd said that he thought this rather unusual and from that time on submitted Koch to a number of well known tests. Dr. Budd testified that the case rather puzzled him, especially when he observed that Koch, when asleep, and lying on his side, often curled his legs up under him. On the second or third day, needles were thrust into Koch's lower limbs, but the patient claimed anesthesia, or the loss of feeling as well as that of motion.

Dr. Budd, when asked by County Attorney Greene, if a person could be pricked with a pin or needle and feel the pain and yet evince no signs of it, replied that he knew it be a fact because the experiment had been worked upon himself and that those witnessing the test did not observe him flinch. The witness declared that he would be willing to submit to a test in court if the jury so desired. The doctor also told of other reflex action tests which were applied. The results which were obtained failed to absolutely convince him that Koch's injury was real.

Was German Reservist.

The doctor testified also that Koch gave his occupation as a stationary engineer. The first day that Koch came to the hospital, Dr. Budd said, he requested that no news of the accident be given out to the newspapers as he was a German army artillery reservist. He thought that the German military authorities might order him returned to that country for service, the witness testified.

After Koch has been at the hospital a few days he began to use crutches. When walking about the place, he dragged his feet as if to indicate that he had no use of them whatsoever, according to Dr. Budd, who gave the jury a demonstration of how the patient managed to get around. Later, Dr. Tuohy gave a similar demonstration, using the same pair of crutches.

Koch left the hospital during the first week in December. Dr. Budd testified that it would have been impossible for a man to have been able to throw his crutches away and walk without them, as Koch is now doing, had he actually had the symptoms he exhibited while at the Two Harbors hospital.

Miss Nettie Olson, nurse at the Budd hospital at Two Harbors, testified as to her observations of Koch during his stay in the hospital. Her testimony was largely corroborative of that given by Dr. Budd. She testified how she had helped the patient to the bathroom door when he wanted to take a bath, which was usually twice a week, and that after he had bathed himself he would rap on the door and she would assist him back to his bed. She also described how he hobbled about on crutches and the laborious manner in which he walked when he left to take a train for Duluth just before he collected the $1,000 from the company for his alleged injuries.

Miss Ivaree Bailey, an attendant at the hospital, testified that two days before Koch left the hospital he was sitting in the reception room, where she brought him his dinner. When she entered with a tray, he was seated on a sofa with his crutches nearby. She declared that she stepped out of the room for an instant and that when she returned Koch had moved over to a settee six feet away, without the aid of his crutches. She left the room again and when she returned, she said, she discovered that the crutches had been brought over to the settee beside him.

Dr. E. P. Christensen, Dr. Budd's assistant at Two Harbors, and Marie Norlin, a nurse in the Budd hospital, took the stand this morning. Their testimony was largely corroborative.

JOINT SANATORIUM

Being Discussed By Crow Wing, Wadena and Todd Counties.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Commissioners Erickson, Oberg and Flansberg and Dr. J. A. Thabes were at Staples where they conferred with county commissioners of Todd and Wadena counties relative to establishing a joint sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis. The site may be on the Crow Wing river three miles east of Staples. Negotiations are also under way with Aitkin county. If Aitkin will not unite with this county, then, it is said, Crow Wing county will unite with Todd and Wadena counties in establishing and maintaining a sanatorium.

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.

GOVERNOR IS AT CROOKSTON

Executive Attends Farm Crops Show and Delivers Two Addresses.

Governor's and Meat Production Days Bring Large Crowd to Crookston.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is Governor's day at the Farm Crops show, also Meat Production day. Because of the presence of the governor, the trains arriving in the city last evening were packed with show visitors, and this morning extra coaches were attached to all incoming trains, and even the platforms between the cars were packed.

Governor Hammond was accompanied by Insurance Commissioner S. D. Works, who is also a heavy land owner in Polk county, and a delegation of Minneapolis business men.

The governor was met at the depot by a reception committee headed by A. D. Stephens, Martin O'Brien and P. M. Ringdal, and escorted to the Hotel Crookston, where he held an informal reception, greeting many old friends and meeting many new ones.

Governor Hammond spoke first today at the Crookston School of Agriculture, where he lunched with Supt. C. G. Selvig, with a small party.

Governor Spoke to Students.

In his talk to the students, Governor Hammond first congratulated them because they had availed themselves of the agricultural education provided by the state, and impressed them with the importance of proper equipment for the modern, progressive farmer if he would be successful. He spoke of the dignity of agriculture and the growing importance being attached to the farmer and his work, as well as the dependence upon the farmer of the rest of humanity. He told them of the prominent position Minnesota occupied as a diversified farming state, her mineral wealth, climate, educational advantages and her future, provided every citizen did his duty. He was given an ovation when he appeared on the platform, and even a more rousing one when he concluded.

Governor Hammond also addressed the women's meeting at the Presbyterian church this afternoon, dwelling especially upon the important part played by the woman in substantial development. He said that redevelopment must begin in the home, where woman reigned, and without the proper home environment there could be no permanent development. He said the farm home should have all the attractions of the city home and all the comforts, if the boys and girls were to be kept on the farm.

Governor Hammond will speak again tonight at the joint session at the armory.

Swine Demonstration.

The program at the armory this morning opened with a swine demonstration by William Dietrich, with types of good and undesirable animals on the slate to illustrate his talk.

The balance of the morning program follows: Beef type judging demonstration, W. A. McKerrow; "Preventing and Controlling Hog Cholera," William Dietrich; "Beef Production Problems," L. A. Wallace, editor the Farmer, St. Paul.

Afternoon Session.

VOSS INSISTS THAT THE CHARTER WAS VIOLATED

Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, who has opposed the granting of a contract for printing to the Christie Lithographing & Printing company, declared this morning that he has sent for a copy of the old bonds to prove that the originals were corrected by erasing the mistake, instead of a new issue printed, as claimed by John Christie, president of the company.

"I am sincere in my belief," said Mr. Voss this morning, "that we are being overcharged, and in addition, I refuse to vote for an ordinance appropriating money already spent in violation of the city charter. Mr. Christie's letter has not convinced me in the least, and I have written for a copy of the old bonds, just to see whether an erasure was made or whether a new bond was printed, as Mr. Christie claims."

Asked this morning if he had received a communication from Mr. Christie, Mr. Voss gave out the following statement:

"Yes, I received Mr. Christie's letter this morning, also a copy of the bond which was wrongly dated and one which purports to be a copy of the corrected bond. My recollection, and also that of the auditor and city clerk, is that the bonds had been signed by the clerk and mayor before the mistake was discovered, and were taken back by the Christie Printing company for correction. If new bonds had been printed, it would have been necessary for the clerk to sign them, which he claims he has no recollection of having done, also the bonds wrongly dated should have been returned and burned, of which there is no record. When they were returned, my attention was called to the blotchy appearance of some of the bonds, which plainly showed that an erasure and correction had been made. However, I am endeavoring to get possession of one of the bonds, which will be conclusive evidence as to who is mistaken. If the bonds were redated, they will show a margin between the word 'the' and the word 'day,' as the word 'twentieth,' which was the date in error, requires a longer space than the word 'first,' which was the date substituted.

"That will settle the dispute as to whether the bonds were redated or reprinted, but will not explain why Mr. Christie makes a charge of $125 for fifty bonds with plates already prepared, except a change of date, and only $130 for 400 bonds (eight times as many) which required entirely new plates.

"In any case it would have been better to pay for the correction at the time than to have arranged to give Mr. Christie the job of engraving the next park bonds, thus making it impossible to get bids as the charter requires, and also violating the ordinance which requires that a purchase of this kind shall be made through the purchasing agent.

"An arrangement might have been made whereby Mr. Christie's work in correcting the former bonds could be taken into consideration without barring all competition as to price."

COUNTY OPTION VOTE WEDNESDAY

Vote on Constitutional Convention Bill Reconsidered By House.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was agreed today to make the county option bill a special order in the house for next Wednesday at 11 a .m.

The senate, 37 to 21, today killed the Campbell bill extending state fire insurance to county buildings, and by a vote of 35 to 23 killed the Westlake bill reorganizing the state boiler inspection work.

* * *

A proposed constitutional amendment by Representatives Woodfill and Devold, Socialists, introduced in the house today, would take from the supreme court the power to declare laws unconstitutional.

* * *

The vote by which the Kneeland-Sawyer constitutional convention bill was defeated last night was reconsidered today, on motion of Representative Sanborn, and the bill given another chance. It will be considered later, and only a majority vote is required to pass it.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

BULLDOG ADOPTS KIND "BLUECOAT"

"Napoleon" Boards Car With Officer; Now One of Family.

Policemen often have adopted dogs, but it is seldom that a dog adopts a policeman.

Napoleon, a dark brindle bull with almost human intelligence, has in some way learned that Patrolman Ira L. Ricketts is one of the kindest hearted men on the force, and has adopted him.

Any attempt to divorce him from his newly found master is resented very much by Napoleon, who can be pugnacious, as well as persistent, and as a result he is now enrolled as an accredited member of the Ricketts family.

When the officer left his beat last night and started for a Woodland car, Napoleon followed him and boarded the car. He was put off, but when the gates opened again, he jumped on again, and ran up the aisle until he found the patrolman.

This performance was repeated three times, and finally Napoleon was allowed to ride to the end of the car line, and then he accompanied Patrolman Ricketts to his future home at 415 West Austin street.

He enjoyed a good dinner last night and a good breakfast this morning. Then he started for work and the car ride was repeated.

This time when the conductor objected to his presence, Napoleon growled until given a seat beside the motorman, where he remained. In an endeavor to lose his friend, the officer presented "Nap" to the motorman, and got off at headquarters.

Napoleon soon discovered the base intrigue, however, and when the motorman's cab was opened at Third avenue west, he departed without ceremony, and returned to headquarters, where he found his master starting for his beat.

Napoleon is still on the job, and he is looking forward to a car ride at 6 o'clock.

RECKLESS DRIVER NOT YET FOUND

Police have been unable to find the driver of the automobile that sped away after hitting William Carson, aged 9, as he was crossing Superior street near First avenue west yesterday afternoon. Attendants at St. Mary's hospital today declared that the boy had sustained a compound fracture of the ankle.

Police Lieutenant Frank A. Schulte is making an investigation of the case in an attempt to identify the driver of the car. The boy is the son of W. T. Carson, 1428 Jefferson street.

CENTRAL DEBATERS TO MEET ST. PAUL

The Central high school debating team will hold a contest with the John A. Johnson school of St. Paul tomorrow evening. The question for debate will be, "Resolved, That the Government Should Own and Operate the Telephones and Telegraph." The local team will be composed of Jacob Garon, Emanuel Cook and Irving Grover. The school paper, The Gazette, calls the students to account for lack of support in debate this year.

"Debaters this year have not been supported as well as they should be," says The Gazette. "It should be known that moral as well as financial support is as necessary at a debate as at a football game. If you did not, when possible, attend the football games you were not a booster, and if you fail to attend the debates when possible you are not a booster. A student who is not a booster is a parasite on all the students who are boosters.

"He gets credit for being a member of a school known largely by the various activities of its students and all the time he take no part in these activities nor does he do anything to help them. Do not be a parasite; be a booster. Show that you are a booster by attending the debate next Friday night."

A Message To Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Boyce Drug Store and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.

WEIGHING FRAUD EXPOSE

State Commissioner of Weights and Measures Lectures at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Weights and measures, the primary standards and the secondary standards, and confiscated types of weighing and measuring, were shown in an illustrated lecture at the Chamber of Commerce by Charles C. Neal of St. Paul, state commissioner of weights and measures.

Mr. Neale's lecture covered the confiscated types of weighing and measuring devices, showing the kinds of practiced fraud. Actual fraudulent devices were on exhibition, mostly in the line of false bottomed measures. Apparatus showed the difference between dry and liquid measures by actual demonstration.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition.

BOY SKI JUMPER WILL RECOVER

Although Herbert Clow, aged 15, 407 East Fifth street, has been unconscious for seventy-two hours as a result of a fall from a ski slide Monday afternoon, physicians this afternoon declared that he probably would recover. The lad sustained a severe concussion of the brain.

He was playing with other boys on an improvised ski slide at Eighth avenue east near the boulevard, and attempted to make a record jump. He succeeded in jumping sixty-two feet, but the tip of his ski caught in the snow and he was thrown forward, striking on his head.

Dr. F. F. Clark, who was called, stated that there was no evidence of a fracture, or a blood clot, and that the boy probably would be little the worse for his accident. Herbert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Clow.

G. HOG MAY HAVE HAD THE WRONG "DOPE" ON FEB. 2.

"Mr. G. Hog apparently made the mistake of his life when he emerged from his hibernating quarters on Feb. 2, this year," observed the Head Barber today as he tucked a towel under his patient's chin.

"The story is that if there is enough sunlight for him to see his shadow when he butts into the open after a snooze of several months, he is supposed to become so alarmed at the Physche-at-the-pool result that he turns tail and beats it into his winter den for another flop.

"Feb. 2 was some bright sunshiny day, all the time from 7 of the larks to dewy eve, and his nibs, the woodchuck, could not have helped seeing his shadow if he could pry his eyes open after being in the hey so long.

"But right away, the weather goes contrary to the dope. Instead of six weeks more of winter starting, a first-class imitation of early spring starts to play an engagement, and the applause has been so long and hearty that it is still appearing before the public of Duluth in its fetching role, and holds its popularity without the least loss of zest."

All of which is true. There is, of course, snow on the ground, but with the soft and balmy weather continuing and aided by a day or so of rain, which is promised, a good deal of this will be among the things missing. The presence of what snow there is on the ground prevents the real signs of spring from becoming prominent in the public eye.

No Marbles Yet.

One of the first, of course, is the inauguration of the marble season. There are not yet enough bare spots for the small boy to joust knuckle to knuckle in fierce and vociferous games of the time honored sport of youth; but that will soon be remedied. The small boys, nevertheless, are taking time by the forelock and many of them are carrying around marbles in their pockets and are already trading alleys and shooters.

As yet, coasting is too good to at once turn the attention of the young toward any other form of sport. The hillsides and the grades on most of the streets are still well covered with hardened snow, and the melting process of the last few days has made the surfaces glassy, so that bobs will slide with increased speed and give more exhilaration to the riders. Young and old are at this sport and will stay at it until the bare ground begins to interfere.

Things lacking to give a real touch of spring, despite the approved weather are:

The first robin has not yet been seen—or, at least, reported.

The first spring poem has yet to arrive.

The coal man is not yet eschewed.

The period of mothballs may be thought of but has not yet appeared.

Lovers are not yet dreamy-eyed—there is too much skating and other sport extant.

Hurt While Coasting.
While coasting at the Chester Hill slide with three companions last night, Miss Victoria Bjorkman, aged 26, fell from a toboggan and sustained severe bruises. The young woman, who was a member of an outing party of telephone operators from the Bell company, was taken to her home at 718 Third avenue east by Humane Agent R. D. McKercher. Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was in attendance. Her companions were not injured.

See Armory Plans.
New armory plans were shown to officers of the three Duluth companies of the Third Regiment, M. N. The Salvation Army.
There will be an enrollment of new members at the Army hall, 508 West First street, this evening. Several have professed conversion during the midwinter camp meetings which have been held. Special music will be rendered this evening. The meeting will be open to the public.

Talks on "Sermon on Mount."
Dr. W. W. Lawrence, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church, spoke to the Bible class at the Y. M. C. A. on "The Sermon on the Mount," which was a continuation of the Wednesday night series. Dr. Lawrence extolled the Sermon on the Mount as one containing moral teaching for all time. Supper was served at 6:30 and the address followed.

Asks City for Damages.
Charles V. Hanson filed a complaint with the city clerk this morning asking for $600 alleged damages as the result of a fall on the sidewalk at Fourth avenue west and Fourth street on the morning of Jan. 21. The complaint will be referred to the city attorney.

Article on Duluth.
The American City, a journal devoted to municipal improvement, has an illustrated article this month on the fire-fighting trolley car, used on Park Point, Duluth, and operated by W. W. Forsyth. The article is by George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, and the city, incidentally, is given a very good piece of advertising. The Technical World Magazine has written Mr. McCarthy, asking for an article on the same subject, together with illustrations.

Don't forget the grand opening of Haley's new hotel and restaurant at 417-419 West Superior street (formerly the old Delmonico stand), on Saturday evening, Feb. 20, from 5 to 8 p. m. Special table d'hote dinner, 50 cents. Music by Flaaten's orchestra.

Will Exchange Pulpits.
Pastor C. Edwardson of Superior, Wis., will preach at 11:30 a. m., Saturday, at the Seventh Day Adventist church, English, on the corner of Sixth street and Tenth avenue east. Pastor Stemple White of Duluth will, in turn, occupy Pastor Edwardson's pulpit in Superior.

Peace Day in Schools.
Yesterday was peace day in the schools. In some parts of the state quite elaborate programs were given, but in Duluth the only observance consisted in reminding the pupils of the day and explaining its significance. Supt. Denfeld is not disposed to give much time for celebrations and lengthy programs out of the school hours, and, in fact, believes there are already too many holidays to interrupt the work of the school year.

"POINT" MEN ASK PAVING

Club Would Have Part of Work Done This Year; Remainder Later.

So eager are the Park Point residents for the completion of the pavement, and realizing that the city is unable to go to such an expense at this time, members of the Park Point Improvement club presented a resolution to Commissioner Murchison this morning asking that a strip twenty-one feet wide be laid this year and that the remainder be finished whenever the funds are available.

Last year the city built a concrete pavement on Lake avenue from the canal to Twelfth street and the residents there are now eager to have the pavement extended over to Minnesota avenue and completed down to Thirty-eighth street. Figures on this improvement were recently prepared by the city engineer, showing that the cost would be in the neighborhood of $75,000.

About three weeks ago Commissioner Murchison introduced a resolution, which was passed, ordering the pavement constructed this year. However, it was later discovered that there are not enough funds available at this time and that only part of the pavement could be completed this year.

In the proposition presented this morning, R. B. Odell, secretary of the club, states that at a meeting of the organization held last Tuesday, the members passed the resolution favoring the construction of the pavement on the lake side of the avenue, with a width of twenty-one feet, running to the street car tracks. The commission is asked to commence work right away and to levy assessments on this part of the improvement so that the property owners on both sides of the street would have to bear the cost. The same plan would be followed out, the resolution suggests, when the remaining forty feet is paved.

Commissioner Murchison said this morning that the offer of the Park Point residents appeals to him very much and that in all probability the plan will be followed out and that work will be started this spring.

"FATHER AND SON" BANQUET MONDAY

Final plans have been made for the second annual "Father and Son" banquet to be held at the boys' department Y. M. C. A. next Monday evening at 6:30. The fathers of the members of the boys' department have been invited to attend and places will be reserved for all those who send their names in.

Last year, at the first banquet of its kind, every seat in the big banquet room was filled, and the occasion was one of the most successful and enjoyable affairs ever conducted by the club.

On Monday night Willard Thorp, a member of the cabinet, will act as toastmaster. Irving Grover will give the address of welcome to the "Dads," Russell Duncan will give a talk on "Chums, Father and Son," Rev. C. N. Thorp will speak on the "What a Dad Expects from His Boy," and Col. F. E. Resche will give a talk on "Other Boys."

Moving pictures and a musical program will conclude the evening's entertainment.

COAL COMPANY OFFICIALS HERE

T. B. Davis, president of the Island Creek Coal company; E. P. Merrill of Cincinnati, general manager; R. S. McVeigh, also of Cincinnati, and W. H. Groverman of Minneapolis of the same company are here today inspecting the docks of the corporation. Part of the day was spent at the docks of the company, the remainder of the time being put in at the Kitchi Gammi club.

General Manager Merrill declined to discuss business. Mr. Merrill declared that the officials were here merely for an inspection of the company's interests here and that there was nothing of more than routine importance to discuss.

The party left for St. Paul on an afternoon train.

ALLEGED IRONWOOD MURDERER CAPTURED.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alex Visoade, alias Alex Westcott, who is alleged to have killed Steve Marz in Ironwood, Mich., last July, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Andrew Mollan on photographs and police descriptions sent out by the Ironwood authorities. The Gogebic county, Mich., authorities have been notified and will send an officer here after the accused. It is alleged Visovade killed Marz by striking him over the head with a slung shot. The accused had just arrived here when arrested. Joe Marz, a brother of the murdered man, lives here.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW ARMORY

Work on Duluth's $100,000 National Guard armory at Thirteenth avenue east and Jefferson street was started this afternoon by Lounsberry & Co., contractors, who were the successful bidders.

Ground has been broken for the structure and work will be rushed so that the building will be ready for occupancy by the Third regiment and Duluth companies of the naval militia by fall, according to Kelley & Williams, architects in charge of the work.

Commissioner Murchison of the division of public works stated this afternoon that the city had commenced hauling stone from the Point of Rocks to be used in the foundation of the building.

Contractor George H. Lounsberry has erected an office on the site, and will have a large force at work from now on, it was stated.

DULUTH SERIOUS AS LENT BEGINS

The general quiet that prevails in social circles shows that Duluth is observing the Lenten season. Yesterday was Ash Wednesday and marked the beginning of the fast of six weeks, which will come to a close Easter Sunday, April 4. For many the period of penance was begun with abstinence from meat, and many other foods, and the Catholic and Episcopal churches began daily religious services.

At Trinity cathedral services yesterday were conducted morning and evening by the Rev. Thomas W. MacLean, vicar. A sermon was preached in the morning at 10 o'clock and an address was given in the evening at 8 o'clock. Services were also held at 10 a. m. today. No services will be held on Fridays.

At St. Paul's church services will be conducted by the rector, Dr. A. W. Ryan. Special meetings for the confirmation class will be held.

At Sacred Heart cathedral mass was held yesterday and today at 7 and 8 o'clock, and will continue throughout the Lenten season. On Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays services will be held at 7:30 p. m.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which, everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Relief for Catarrh Sufferers Now FREE

You Can Now Treat This Trouble in Your Own Home and Get Relief at Once.

By the new method the nose and throat are treated by an effective local remedy applied directly to the afflicted membranes.

The Elixir, taken into the stomach, has a direct influence upon the mucousmembranes of the body and cures the disease by removing the cause.

How the Remedy for Catarrh Was Discovered.

THIS terrible disease has raged unchecked for years simply because symptoms have been treated while the cause of the trouble has been left to circulate in the blood, and bring the disease back as fast as local treatments could relieve it.

C. E. Gauss, who experimented for years on a treatment for Catarrh, found that after perfecting a balm that relieved the nose and throat troubles quickly, he could not prevent the trouble beginning all over again.

On test cases, he could completely remove all signs of Catarrh from nose and throat, but in a few weeks they were back.

Careful experiments and investigations have shown that as the troubles were expelled from the nose and throat, the real cause of the disease was overlooked and in a short time the Catarrh would return stronger than ever. Mr. Gauss has gone way ahead of the ordinary methods of treatment and has provided a remedy that

Removes the Cause

and Immediately Gives Relief to the Nose and Throat

Reese Jones, of Scranton, Penn., says that after trying many other treatments, he used this new method and—"My nose is now entirely clear and free and I am not bothered by the disease any more. The New Combined Treatment is worth its weight in gold."

Temporary relief from catarrh may be obtained in other ways, but the New Combined Treatment must inevitably be accepted for permanent results.

Sarah J. Cape, Mount Pelia, Tenn., says, "I suffered the pains and distress of catarrh for thirteen years and needless to state, tried nearly every method. But by your new method I was completely cured and you cannot imagine the joy that has come over me."

Trial Treatment FREE

This new method is so important to the welfare of humanity, so vital to every person suffering from any form of catarrh, that the opportunity to actually test it and prove its results, will be gladly extended without one cent of cost.

A large trial treatment, with complete, minute directions, will be sent free to any catarrh-sufferer.

REPLY OF GREAT BRITAIN TO UNITED STATES' FIRST NOTE

Protest Against Seizure of American Commerce Answered in Detail.

Denies Depression in Industries Due to Activity of British Fleet.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Great Britain's second and complete reply to the American note of protest which on Dec. 28 last asked for an early improvement in the treatment of American commerce by the British fleet was made public last night by mutual agreement between the state department and the British foreign office.

The note addressed to Ambassador Page by Sir Edward Grey under date of Feb. 10, denies that the depression in American industries is due to the activity of the British fleet, and suggests among other causes the shortage of shipping facilities, the consequent dimunition of cotton trade and the destruction by submarine mines "laid by the enemy indiscriminately" of many neutral vessels.

After giving a lengthy and detailed answer to the charge that American ships and cargoes were being unduly detained, the communication contains in its concluding paragraph the announcement that Great Britain intends to take retaliatory measures against the German submarine campaign against enemy ships but does not reveal their nature.

Conceding that foodstuffs intended for the civil population of a country are not contraband, the British government points out that "in any country in which there exists such tremendous organization for war as now obtains in Germany, there is no clear division between those whom the government is responsible for feeding and those whom it is not."

To Avoid Loss to Neutrals.

"It will still be our endeavor," says the final paragraph, "to avoid injury and loss to neutrals, but the announcement by the German government of their intention to sink merchant vessels and their cargoes without verification of their nationality or character and without making any provision for the safety of noncombatant crews or giving them a chance for saving their lives has made it necessary for his majesty's government to consider what measures they should adopt to protect their interests. It is impossible for one belligerent to depart from rules and precedents and for the other to remain bound by them."

Supplementing the preliminary reply of several weeks ago, the new note is about 10,000 words long and includes not only statistical argument but a further discussion of the legal principles involved. Foremost, however, is the denial of the British government that the depression in American industries referred to in the American note was due to the alleged interference of the British fleet with American commerce, or "the result of any exercise of belligerent rights."

Since the presentation of the preliminary note, Sir Edward states that he has had "further opportunity to examine into the trade statistics of the United States as embodied in the customs returns, in order to see whether the belligerent action of Great Britain has been in any way the cause of the trade depression which your excellency (Ambassador Page) describes as existing in the United States and also whether the seizures of vessels or cargoes which have been made by the British navy have inflicted any loss on American owners for which our existing machinery provides no means of redress."

Results of Investigation.

"In setting out the results of my investigation," writes the British secretary, "I think it well to take the opportunity of giving a general review of the methods employed by his majesty's government to intercept contraband trade with the enemy, of their consistency with the admitted right of a belligerent to intercept such trade and also of the extent to which they have endeavored to meet the representations and complaints from time to time addressed to them on behalf of the United States government.

"Towards the close of your note of Dec. 28, your excellency described the situation produced by the action of Great Britain as a pitiful one to the commercial interests of the United States and said that many of the great industries of the country were suffering because their products were denied long established markets in neutral European countries contiguous to the nations at war.

"It is unfortunately true that in these days, when trade and finance are cosmopolitan, any war, particularly a war of any magnitude, must result in a grievous dislocation on a commerce including of the nations which take no part in the war. Your excellency will realize that in this tremendous struggle, for the outbreak of which Great Britain is in no way responsible, it is impossible for the trade of any country to escape all injury and loss, but for such his majesty's government are not to blame.

"I do not understand the paragraph which I have quoted from your excellency's note as referring to this indirect consequences of the state of war, but to the more proximate and direct effect of our belligerent action in dealing with neutral ships and cargoes on the high seas. Such action has been limited to vessels on their way to enemy ports or ports in neutral countries adjacent to the theater of war, because it is only through such ports that the enemy introduces the supplies which he requires for carrying on the war."

Only Right to Prize Court.

Sir Edward then points out that only eight out of 773 ships sailing from the United States for neutral European countries have been placed in the prize court, and that only forty-five have been "temporarily detained to enable particular consignments of cargo to be discharged for the purpose of prize court proceedings."

The note does not go into detail as to American ships detained on the high seas or taken to British ports for search. The next paragraph analyzes the statistics of exports from the United States and makes the observation that "It is therefore clear that, if cotton be excluded the effect of the war has been not to increase, but practically to arrest the decline of American exports which was in progress earlier in the year; in fact, any decrease in American exports which is attributed to the war is essentially due to cotton."

Pointing out that Great Britain has never declared cotton contraband or interfered with its shipment, the note then remarks that imports of cotton to the United Kingdom fell as heavily as those to other countries, and the same "no doubt was true of France."

"The general result," it continues, "is to show convincingly that the naval operations of Great Britain are not the cause of any diminution in the volume of American exports, and that if the commerce of the United States is in the unfavorable condition which your excellency describes the cause ought in fairness to be sought elsewhere than in the activities of his majesty's naval forces."

Commerce Maintained.

Moreover, the British communication contends that even though trade between the United States and the allies has diminished from normal, the commerce with neutral countries as compared with previous years has been maintained and the inference "may fairly be drawn" that a "substantial part of this trade was in fact intended for the enemy countries going through neutral ports by routes to which it was previously unaccustomed."

Taking up some of the "inconveniences to which this great war is exposing the commerce of all neutral countries," the note points out that undoubtedly the "serious shortage in shipping available for ocean transport and the consequential result of excessive freights" have had much to do with the situation, but a denial is entered that Great Britain's activity has brought about this shortage for it is added that only ten neutral vessels are awaiting adjudication in prize courts. Great Britain declares that she too is suffering from the shortage of shipping and a rise in freights "as acutely if not more than other nations" and has taken "every step consistent with belligerent interests to increase the tonnage available for the transport of seaborne commerce."

The hope is expressed that the United States will realize that the detention of neutral ships by the allies has not contributed nearly so much to the shortage of shipping "as has the destruction of neutral vessels by submarine mines indiscriminately laid by the enemy on the high seas many miles from the coast in the track of merchant vessels."

"Up till now," continues the note, "twenty-five neutral vessels have been reported as destroyed by mines on the high seas; quite apart from all questions of the breach of treaties and the destruction of life, there is far more reason for protest on the score of belligerent interference with innocent neutral trade through the mines scattered by the enemy than through the British exercise of the right of seizing contraband."

Right of Capture.

Discussing the general proposition that a belligerent is entitled to capture contraband goods on their way to the enemy, the British note traces the origin of the right to interception and speaks of the new devices encountered from time to time for dispatching contraband goods to an enemy. Here the doctrine of continuous voyage as enunciated during the Civil war by Secretary Seward is quoted at length and the question of ultimate destination argued in legal detail. To justify the detention of suspected cargoes when passing between neutral countries and taking them into ports for examination, the cases of American practice during the Spanish-American war also are cited, and the note says these precedents are inconsistent with the statement of the American government made to the British ambassador on Nov. 7, which insists that search should be made on the high seas "at the time of the visit" and that the "conclusion should rest upon the evidence found on the ship under investigation and not upon circumstances ascertained from external sources."

The foreign secretary reiterates that the increased size of steamships necessitates search in calm waters, and insists that during the Russo-Japanese war and also during the second Balkan war, "British vessels were made to deviate from their course and follow the cruisers to some spot where the right of visit and search could be more conveniently carried out," and in both cases "although questioned at first, Great Britain finally acquiesced."

Not a New Right.

To take a ship into port, the note contends, is not to be looked upon "as a new belligerent right but as an adaptation of the existing right to the modern conditions of commerce," and like all belligerent rights, it must be exercised "with due regard to neutral interests, and it would be unreasonable to expect a neutral vessel to make long deviations from her course for this purpose." For this reason, it is asserted, neutral merchantmen were encouraged to visit some British port on their route to avoid the alternative of keeping a vessel waiting perhaps for days for better weather conditions on the high seas.

Realizing that in no war that has yet been waged have neutral individuals "not occasionally suffered from unjustified belligerent action," Great Britain suggests that opportunities for adequate compensation are offered in the British prize courts, details of which proceedings are given.

"It is the common experience of every war," continues the note, "that neutrals whose attempts to engage in suspicious trading are frustrated by a belligerent are wont to have recourse to their government to urge that diplomatic remonstrances should be made on their behalf, and that redress should be obtained for them in this way. When an effective mode of redress is open to them in the courts of a civilized country by which they can obtain adequate satisfaction for any invasion of their rights which is contrary to the law of nations, the only course which is consistent with sound principle is that they should be referred to that mode of redress and that no diplomatic action should be taken until their legal remedies have been exhausted and they are in a position to show prima facie denial of justice."

Followed This Course.

The British government recalls that it followed this course with its own ships during the American Civil war and the Spanish-American war.

In connection with the subject of detentions, Ambassador Page is reminded that he has now been supplied by the British foreign office "with particulars of every ship under American colors detained and of every shipment or cargo in which an American citizen appears to be the party interested; not only is the fact of detention notified to your excellency, but so far as is practicable the grounds upon which the vessel or cargo had been detained are also communicated to you, a concession which enables any United States citizen to take steps at once to protect his interests."

Turning to the question of conditional contraband and foodstuffs, the note says:

"No country had maintained more stoutly than Great Britain in modern times the principle that a belligerent should abstain from interference with the foodstuffs intended for the civil population. The circumstances of the present struggle are causing his majesty's government some anxiety as to whether the existing rules with regard to conditional contraband, framed as they were with the object of protecting so far as possible the supplies which were intended for the civil population, are effective for the purpose, or suitable to the conditions present. The principle which I have indicated above is one which his majesty's government has constantly had to uphold against the opposition of continental powers. In the absence of some certainty that the rule would be respected by both parties to this conflict, we feel great doubt whether it should be regarded as an established principle of international law."

Quotes Bismarck.

Sir Edward then quotes Prince Bismarck's answer to the Kiel chamber of commerce in 1844, in connection with the treatment of rice as contraband in the French-Chinese war:

"The measure in question," Prince Bismarck is quoted as saying, "has for its object the shortening of the war by increasing the difficulties of the enemy and is a justifiable step in war if impartially enforced against all neutral ships."

The British note here remarks:

"His majesty's government is disposed to think that the same view is still maintained by the German government. Another circumstance which is now coming to light is that an elaborate machinery has been organized by the enemy for supply of foodstuffs for the use of the German army from over seas. Under these circumstances it would be absurd to give any definite pledge that in cases where the supplies can be proved to be for the use of the enemy forces they should be given complete immunity by the simple expedient of dispatching them to an agent in a neutral port.

"The reason for drawing a distinction between foodstuffs intended for the civil population and those for the armed forces or enemy government disappears when the distinction between the civil population and the armed forces itself disappears.

No Clear Division.

"In any country in which there exists such tremendous organization for war as now obtains in Germany, there is no clear division between those whom the government is responsible for feeding and those whom it is not. Experience shows that the power to requisition will be used to the fullest extent, will be used to assure that the wants of the military are supplied, and however much goods may be imported for civil use it is by the military that they will be consumed if military exigencies require it, especially now that the German government have taken control of all the foodstuffs in the country."

After giving statistics tending to show that supplies are reaching neutral ports from the United States to "an unprecedented extent," and reciting efforts on the part of his government "to deal as leniently as possible with neutral interests," Sir Edward points out that Great Britain has recognized "the transfer to a neutral flag of enemy ships belonging to companies which were incorporated in the enemy country, but all of whose shareholders were neutral," even waiving objections to companies "incorporated in Germany which were subsidiary to and owned by American corporations," the only condition being imposed that these vessels "should take no further part in trade with the enemy country."

"I have given these indications," concludes Sir Edward, "of the policy which we have followed because I cannot help feeling that if the facts were more fully known as to the efforts which we have made to avoid inflicting any avoidable injuries upon neutral countries, many complaints which have been received by the administration in Washington and which led to the protest which your excellency handed to me on the 28th of December would never have been made.

"My hope is that when the facts which I have set out above are realized, and when it is seen that our naval operations have not diminished American trade with neutral countries, and that the lines on which we have acted are consistent with the fundamental principles of international law it will be apparent to the government and people of the United States that his majesty's government have hitherto endeavored to exercise their belligerent rights with every possible consideration for the interests of neutrals."

EIGHT MINERS KILLED BY EXPLOSION OF GAS.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 18.—Eight mine workers were killed and six others seriously injured by an explosion of gas at the Prompect colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal company here yesterday. Two of the injured probably will die.

The accident occurred at a point nearly two miles from the shaft. A heavy pocket of feeder gas that had accumulated behind a wall of coal, was ignited by the naked lights of the miners, causing a terrific explosion.

According to members of the rescue party, most of the dead were found in a single chamber, where they were sitting eating their lunch. This chamber was not at the exact source of the explosion, but was a little way from it. All of the injured are painfully burned.

LITTLE PIMPLES ON CHILD'S FACE

Itched and Child Scratched. Could Not Leave Them Alone. Something Terrible, Used Cuticura. In a Month Child Was Healed.

Merle Beach, Mich.—"My little daughter was nearly two years old when she had little pimples come on her face. It was just a little red bunch when it first started. I think they must have itched for she would scratch them until they would get to be large sores, nearly as large as a ten-cent piece. It seemed as if the poor girl could not leave them alone; if we held her hands she would try to rub her face on something else. It was just terrible.

"I used most everything I could think of and everything anybody told me to use and nothing would help her. I decided to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment and before I had used them one week I could see they were healing. Before a month was up you would never know the child had ever had any sores on her face." (Signed) Mrs. Lewis White, June 22, 1914.

TRADE VIEWS ARE CHEERFUL

Duluth Jobbers Looking Forward to Business Expansion in Spring.

Retailers Through This Territory Are Placing Orders More Freely.

Duluth wholesalers and manufacturing establishments aver that in the aggregate business is well up to the average for the season.

Merchants over the territory are generally cheerful regarding the outlook for the spring and summer, and while they are proceeding on conservative lines in placing orders, the amount of goods being shipped out is bulking up nicely.

Prospects in the agricultural districts are regarded as especially bright by reason of the largely increased acreage forecasted to go under crop in the spring.

Collections are satisfactory, it being reported that the high prices realized by growers for their wheat and coarse grains this year have resulted in the liquidation of numbers of backward accounts at points over the Northwest.

Grocery Trade Good.

Business being placed in general grocery lines is satisfactory, according to the Barthe-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior.

No special changes in quotations have materialized during the last few days. After their sharp advance of 6 cents last week, sugars have turned easier owing to efforts of speculators to realize profits on the bulge. While two of the leading refiners are quoting standard granulated at 6 cents, the others are asking 5.75 cents, and in some quarters the product is said to be offered at 5.40 cents. Coffees have become steadier, with Rios up 1¼ cents a pound from their low point.

With Lent in, the trade has met with a big demand for fish of late. Prices are regarded as reasonable, especially in consideration of the fact that offerings in some lines have been affected by the European war. Norwegian herring is cheap, but Holland milkers in small kegs have been advanced slightly. Codfish and mackerel are firm.

Canned and dried fruits and vegetables are becoming firmer on account of the large export demand. The greater part of the large surplus stocks that existed last fall, are said to have been largely disposed of. It is intimated that canners are preparing to put up large supplies for every line this year, in the assurance that a record foreign demand at good prices will prevail for both fruits and vegetables.

Liberal Woolen Orders.

Good future bookings in patricks, sweaters and socks were reported by F. A. Patrick & Co. The special force of salesmen sent out to introduce those lines in new territory are said to be exceeding the expectations of the management in the amount of business being taken.

The house's regular salesmen are expected at the warehouse about the end of the month to take out their samples of piece and other fall goods.

Hardware Market Firm.

Shipments of rope, builders' hardware and other seasonable spring goods are being sent out over the territory by the Kelley-How-Thomson company, and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company.

With the strong market ruling in iron and steel products, merchants are showing a greater disposition to place orders, in lines that are considered most likely to be affected. Quotations in black pipe have been advanced a point this week and galvanized pipe is up 3 points.

Big Building Paper Trade.

Receipt of more cariot orders in building papers during the past few weeks, than at any similar period since it began business, was advised by the Peyton Paper company. Trade in general stationery lines is also up to the mark, as attested in the fact that the company's sales for January, showed an increase of 13 per cent. With the exception of a slight advance in wrapping papers, no price changes were noted through the list.

Shoe Business Holding Up.

F. E. Church, sales manager of the Northern Shoe company, intimated that its general trade is holding well up with a year ago. He expressed special gratification over the business for next fall's delivery being placed in the factory's special hockey shoe. Practically every shoe and sporting goods handler in this part of the country has contracted for the line, he averred.

Furniture Outlook Bright.

The receipt of good furniture orders from its salesmen covering North Dakota and Montana was noted by the DeWitt-Seitz company.

The steady volume of mail orders coming to hand, is taken to afford evidence that retailers in the West are doing a satisfactory trade for the season. In the company's experience, the smaller towns are doing a relatively better trade than the larger centers.

U. S. LIABILITY LAW IN FORCE

Disabled Postal Employes Will Now Receive Part Pay.

The Federal liability law is now operative and henceforth all employes of the postoffice department will be remunerated in case of injury or disability resulting from their service for the government. This will include the railway mail service and postoffice employes.

Postmaster W. E. McEwen has just received instructions to give blanks upon application by employes of the service. These will be filled out, stating the nature and time of the injury, and will be forwarded to the Federal department in charge.

This is considered a great advance in the humane work of the Federal government, providing part pay for its employes when disabled.

U. S. IN NO DANGER OF FOOD SHORTAGE

Department of Agriculture Gives Assurance in Report.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Assurance that the United States is in no danger of a food shortage despite exportations to Europe was given last night in a statement by the department of agriculture. The president promised such a statement in a letter to Mayor John Purroy Mitchel of New York, in reply to Mitchel's note asking information regarding a possible food shortage.

The surplus of wheat, above domestic needs, on hand Feb. 1, the statement said, would permit the exportation of nearly 1,000,000 bushels daily, about the recent average—until the new crop is available. Moreover, there were larger supplies of corn and other grains, meat animals, dairy products, potatoes, and fruit at the opening of 1915 than for many years.

Incidentally it was pointed out that the average price of meat animals was 7 per cent lower in January than a year ago; butter, 2 per cent; potatoes, 35 per cent; apples, 37 per cent, and the price of chickens slightly lower.

"The 1914 wheat crop of the United States was estimated to be 891,000,000 bushels," said the statement. "The estimated surplus carried over from the 1913 crop was about 76,000,000 bushels, making a total available supply of 967,000,000 bushels. As the normal annual per capita consumption of wheat in the United States is about 5.3 bushels, 520,000,000 bushels should meet our normal domestic requirements for food; 90,000,000 bushels are required annually for seeding. Therefore, 610,000,000 bushels should supply the normal domestic demand. This would leave a surplus of 357,000,000 bushels.

"Of this surplus about 210,000,000 bushels were exported by Jan. 30. This left 147,000,000 bushels or 40,000,000 bushels more than our average annual export for the past five years, for export between Feb. 1 and the appearance of the new crop, or for carrying over into the next crop year.

"The new American crop will begin to appear before July. The Argentine crop is now coming on the market.

"But suppose a shortage in wheat should develop in the next three months, what would be the situation?

"There is a great surplus in other food crops in the United States, a number of which can be used as substitutes. The most important competing products are corn and potatoes.

"It would seem that the United States is not likely to be threatened with a shortage of foodstuffs."

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Duluth People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is often present day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells may occur.

Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Duluth evidence proves their worth.

Mrs. Julia Hauser, 4317 East Superior street, Duluth, says: "I had kidney complaint in a bad form. My back ached and I was lame and seemed to ache all over. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have told other people about them. I am pleased to publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

RUBBER ADVANCE NO LONGER FEARED

British Lift Embargo—Britain's Enemies to Be Boycotted.

Fears of an extreme scarcity in rubber and of prices of automobile tires and other goods soaring to unheard of levels, have been relieved through the removal of the British embargo against exports of crude rubber from its colonies.

This was effected through manufacturers taking the material, entering into a guarantee not to export manufactured rubber goods to the enemies of Great Britain, nor to any neutral European countries except through England. They may, however, export to non-European countries on merely forwarding to the British consul a memorandum of the shipment.

The first substantial shipment of plantation rubber since the lifting of the embargo was made last week. It amounted to 2,125,000 pounds, the greater part of which will go into immediate consumption. Other large consignments are coming along, so that normal conditions are soon expected to be restored in the trade.

Fargo's Postmaster Bereaved.

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AS AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people devotes so much time to beauty study as do actresses and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. An inquiry among them develops the information that they find it dangerous to use a makeshift when shampooing, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

Woman's Realm

Girls of the University of Minnesota are going in for co-operative housekeeping that will give them wide experience in domestic training. They will occupy two cottages, will share the same dining room and do all the work with the exception of the rougher part.

The Faculty Women's club and the Minnesota Alumnae club, who are sponsors for the undertaking, have been swamped with applications from young women who are eager to become residents of the cottages. The buildings under consideration are on the enlarged campus and may be heated from the university plant.

One plan suggested for furnishing the cottages is for each alumna to give something as a remembrance of some pleasant time in her college life.

A special meeting of the Minnesota Alumnae club will be held at the home of Mrs. George E. Vincent March 6 when plans will be submitted by the committee in charge of the undertaking.

The Elizabeth Northrop cottage for women students at the university is being conducted under the direction of the Faculty Women's club and is proving a great success. As the object is to merely make expenses those living there get a home and board at a nominal cost.

Sleighing Party.

The Young People's Society of St. Paul's German Evangelical church enjoyed a long sleigh ride through the eastern suburbs of the city last evening. At the return a supper was served in the church parlors. The following members and guests were in attendance:

FIRST YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONCERT

Matinee Musicale Has Distributed 1,500 Tickets to Students of High and Grade Schools.

About 1,500 tickets have been given to pupils of the normal school, public high schools, Cathedral high school and the seventh and eighth grades of the public and parochial schools for the young people's concert that will be given under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale by the Duluth Concert orchestra tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Central high school. The pupils will go direct from their schools to Central high school, accompanied by their teachers.

Some of the principals have asked that members of the Matinee Musicale explain the program to the pupils and in compliance to these requests the following members of the club have been appointed: Miss Josephine Carey, Bryant and Lester Park; Mrs. G. W. Rosa, Washburn; Mrs. E. D. Edson, Madison and Miss Carlotta Simonds, Monroe.

Instructions have been arranged by the supervisors of music for the students of all the schools in order that the young persons may be able to appreciate the program.

Concerts Appreciated.

Mrs. George S. Richards, president of the Matinee Musicale, said this morning:

"That the Matinee Musicale's free concerts for the Duluth school children are appreciated more and more each season is evident by the clamoring for tickets among the children this week in order to hear the new Duluth Concert orchestra tomorrow afternoon at the Central high school.

"Good music becomes popular music if heard often enough and as music has an enduring part in education it is the hope of the club that these concerts will foster a love for good music in the hearts of the coming generation and thereby develop a more musical Duluth."

Dr. John Walker Powell of Minneapolis, who is visiting in Duluth said today:

"I am very much interested in the school concerts of the Matinee Musicale. The children's concerts given by the Minneapolis orchestra form one of its most interesting and beneficial activities. They give the children a bigger view of music and broaden the influence of the orchestra in relation to the community.

"It is a splendid thing for the new orchestra to be training an audience, 'catching them young,' and making them intelligent and critical listeners. It is a splendid thing for the Matinee Musicale to use its funds to help the orchestra and the public. I think the Matinee Musicale is one of the most remarkable organizations I know of, as it gives the community opportunities that generally fall to the lot of only a privileged few. The educational side of this club has always been important. It is trying to make recreation a civic proposition that will broaden the life of the community."

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "The Volunteer Organist."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
EMPRESS—Musical comedy stock company.
REX—Photoplay, "The Goose Girl."

Romantic Comedy.

From a New England melodrama to a romantic comedy will be the change made by the Baldwin Players next week.

This week "The Volunteer Organist" is the attraction. It is old-fashioned melodrama of a type rarely seen on the stage in these days, and it is proving immensely popular with Lyceum patrons, judging from the box office records.

Next week's attraction will be "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." This is a modern play, having been first produced but two years ago. Douglas Fairbanks used it as a starring vehicle for one season, and it was released for stock companies only last July. It has never been seen in Duluth. The plot is somewhat reminiscent of the novel "Graustark" and deals with the adventures of a young American in one of the little kingdoms of Europe. The title role is one that will offer exceptional opportunities to Homer Barton. It is believed to be the best part he has had in Duluth. Miss Doris Olsson, the new leading woman who joined the company last Tuesday, will make her first appearance Sunday afternoon.

This is the farewell week for Miss Dorothy Shoemaker and Louis Leon Hall, who will make their last appearance Saturday afternoon. They have been the guests of honor at many little informal gatherings during the week. During their residence in the city they have made many friends, and these friends are remembering them as far as their limited time for social engagements permits.

Diving Seals Coming.

The present vaudeville bill at the Orpheum is one of real merit from start to finish, all the principal ingredients of good vaudeville being represented in pleasing proportions—comedy, music and novelty—and every act on the bill is more than making good with the Orpheum patrons.

Next week's bill promises to be one of the biggest of the season, having as a special feature the Diving Seals, presented by the Three Travilla Brothers, who are expert swimmers and divers themselves and give novel aquatic exhibitions in the tank with the seals. Another important number will be Laddie Cliff, the well-known English comedian, who has established an international reputation as an entertainer. Other numbers will be Ben Deelye and Marie Wayne, presenting "The New Bellboy;" Tony Hunting and Corinne Frances and Lawrence and Hurl Falls, the sensational acrobatic comedians.

New Bill at Grand.

An entirely new bill, replete with comedy and variety, will open for the week-end at the New Grand this afternoon. Heading the bill are Bob and Peggy Valentine, in a singing, dancing and comedy diversion. "Pretty Peggy," as Miss Valentine is sometimes called, is a sweet, winsome miss with a magnetic personality and a beautiful voice. Her partner is a comedian of sterling quality.

Hamid Kala Pasha, mat clown, and his company offer a novelty in athletics and comedy acrobatics.

Margarette Braun, prima donna and sister, offer bits of musical comedy in a vaudeville way.

Grimmer and Caffery, funmakers supreme, inject many thrilling and sensational feats in gymnastics into their offering, combining originality and cleverness.

The Hearst-Selig News this week contains many views from the seat of war and other events of importance in the world's at work and play.

The first of the Charles Chaplin comedies, "His New Job," a two-reel subject and said to be Mr. Chaplin's masterpiece; one of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "The Little Engineer;" a comedy and a Western play complete the bill.

Musical Stock Pleases.

The Manhattan Musical Stock company at the New Empress appears to have "caught on." The performance of "The Man Who Owns Broadway," has caused much favorable comment.

"The Man Who Owns Broadway" will continue until Saturday night, with a special-priced matinee Saturday afternoon. The advance sale for this performance has exceeded expectations.

Next Sunday afternoon the players will open in "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," the famous Cohan success in which Fay Templeton and Victor Moore starred. In this show two of the best known song hits in years were introduced and they are still popular. They are "So Long, Mary" and "Mary Is a Grand Old Name." Miss Mabel Day will play the role of Mary Jenkins, the maid, and James McElhearn will appear as Kid Burns, the pugilist.

During the week of Feb. 28 the Manhattan players will present "The Telephone Girl," in which Louis Mann and Clara Lipman starred throughout the East about two years ago.

Marguerite Clark.

Marguerite Clark is bewitching Rex audiences in the Lasky-Paramount feature, "The Goose Girl." The picture is but fifty feet old on the screen when the audiences sense the beauty and respond with a will which is very flattering. Photoplay parties are popular and many are being made up to attend the Rex this afternoon and evening. The young woman answering telephone calls at the Rex is going to learn to play bridge. When asked why so interested in bridge, her reply was as follows: "Every time I answer that telephone, which is about ninety-nine times a day, a nice pleasant ladylike voice will ask: 'Is Marguerite Clark playing today?' 'Yes, and today is the last.' 'Oh, dear, we play bridge this afternoon and I just cannot miss it but I must see "The Goose Girl." What time is the first show this evening?' And the lady of the sweet voice is happy."

NEWS FROM BIRDLAND

Sparrows Too Numerous to Please Bird Lovers—May Form Ornithological Society in Duluth—First Robin Not Yet Reported.

Not content with remaining passively neutral while the rest of the world is at war, nearly a score of Duluthians are planning to organize a club for the purpose of waging war to the last ditch—on the English sparrow.

Within the near future, say these students of bird life, Duluth will have an ornithological society, which will take up the question of protecting the desirable members of the feathered world and excluding the undesirables. Formation of the club will be delayed until the return from California of S. George Stevens, well-known Duluth attorney, who is an authority on bird life.

In the campaign against undesirable citizens of the bird kingdom, the sparrow, known as the tramp or "vag," will be the first one to be haled into court. The sparrow, with its greed and pugnacity, is driving out many of the birds which help the St. Louis farmer or truck gardener, according to students of the feathery tribe.

Although spring is still far distant, the annual search for the first robin already has started. No budding disciple of Ananias has been found yet who lays claim to having seen a robin this year, but with another week of mild weather these claims may be expected.

Woodland residents recently saw a blue jay, who, braver than his mates, had remained in Duluth to face the wintry blasts, while his former companions were sunning themselves in the South. A red-tailed hawk, commonly known as a hen-hawk, also was discovered by an observant naturalist.

Snow Birds Scarce.

Ornithologists, or those who are bird lovers to the "nth" degree, say that an unusual feature of this winter has been the scarcity of snow birds. Despite the abundance of snow, the lack of severe cold and high winds has prevented the white-feathered creatures from coming this far south.

Birds seen most commonly in the parks and woods near Duluth are the evening and pine grosbeaks, the sapsuckers, the crossbills and the chickadees. All these are outnumbered by the unwelcome sparrow, however.

Bird lovers say that when their society is organized they may take steps to have the government appoint a migration man for St. Louis county. Until the last few years Duluth has had a migration man, whose duty it was to observe the spring and fall flights of birds and take a census of the citizens of the feathered kingdom, excluding chickens, ducks and turkeys.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Restore Lost Pets.

Have you ever owned a cat or a dog or a pet of any kind who, through long association and the affection you may have for dumb animals, has become almost as one of the family? If you have you know how strong is the attachment that soon binds one to some little animal, and that its absence from its customary haunts is a matter that causes one great concern.

If you have believed such a pet lost you have experienced the aching void that you would not have fancied could be caused by the loss of a tiny mite who has practically nothing in common with you, and you have searched long and sorrowfully, to finally, if fortunate, bear your treasures home in triumph and genuine thankfulness.

But you may have searched just as long and just as thoroughly and never set eyes again on the kitten or puppy that has endeared itself to you. You may have been left in entire ignorance of whatever became of the little animal. It would be some satisfaction to know that your pet was dead, but instead you are left to wonder whether he is being treated kindly or being held captive and abused by some human brute. To know that the lost or stolen animal was receiving an occasional kind word and its home being diligently sought would lift a load from the minds of many in your household.

Have you stopped to consider that it is very unkind for a person to make no effort to find the owner of a stray animal? Some possibly believe that the little fellow is being better taken care of by them than it was in its old home, or else why was it allowed to wander away. The least that one can do is to search the "lost and found" columns of the newspapers in hopes that someone might be seeking information of the lost one. If one is very humane he can advertise the fact that a certain pet has been found and state that the owner may have the same upon the payment of the cost of the advertisement.

Often times an animal does not stray far from its own home unless it is picked up by someone and then dropped several miles beyond. Inquiry in the neighborhood where one lives is often productive of the most satisfactory results, for it is satisfying to see smiles chase the tears from the face of a little girl when you place her lost pet in her arms.

PROGRAM FOR NEXT CONCERT

Miss Bradshaw Will Be Soloist at First Symphony Sunday.

The Duluth Concert orchestra is preparing an excellent program for the fourth of its concert series which will be given at the high school auditorium next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The numbers selected are about the most pretentious that the orchestra has so far attempted including as they do two movements of Haydn's "Symphony Militaire," excerpts from the popular Italian opera "Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo, "Marche Hongroise," from "The Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz, "Fackeltanz," by Meyerbeer which constitute the heavier numbers while the lighter ones are "Lost Happiness," a dainty valse de salon by Gillet for string orchestra, Pizzicato Polka from the Sylvia Ballet by Delibes, "Whispering Flowers," by von Blon and "Chanson de Nuit," by Elgar.

Miss Mary Bradshaw will be the soloist contributing two standard numbers of great musical worth, "To the Forest" by Tschaikowsky and "Sehnsucht" by Costello.

The attendance and enthusiasm have increased at each succeeding concert and so successful have they been that plans are being outlined for a series on a more elaborate scale next season.

The orchestra has won the admiration of the city in its efforts to provide good music and has also been of great benefit in an educational way.

Fred G. Bradbury, the director of the orchestra, has given to Duluth an organization of exceptional caliber and the start now made augurs well for the permanency of the orchestra as a local fixture.

ARE READY TO ASSIST

Dentists Meet and Offer to Inspect School Children's Teeth.

The Duluth District Dental society held a meeting last evening at the Commercial club rooms and the members voted to offer their services for the inspection of the teeth of children who are attending the public schools. A committee was appointed to confer with the board of education on the matter. This committee consists of Dr. C. W. Benson, chairman; Dr. T. T. Sheridan, Dr. Charles McFadden, Dr. John A. Maker and Dr. F. A. Amundson.

"Inspection of teeth" is specified because the members of the society have not been fully advised as to what will be asked of them, and as the inspection will be necessary as a preliminary, the services for that portion of the work were volunteered until the committee named can consult with the board and find out what is wanted, what facilities will be provided and what time can be set aside by the school board for the work.

The dentists declare that they are willing to volunteer for any dental work which the board believes will be necessary and is within reason, but merely wish to be instructed as to what is required.

The dental clinic for schools was broached by the Housewives' league, and the committee on schools, at a recent conference with the league, agreed to provide a room in the Central high school for use by the clinic. The league agreed to get the money with which to equip the room and to provide a trained attendant. These matters are still to be worked on, but it is expected that now that the dentists have acted, definite shape will be given to the project in a very short time.

SMALL BLAZE IN FLAT.

Fire of unknown origin caused damage amounting to about $50 in a flat owned by George S. Munsey, 1432 East Superior street, this morning.

Decorators were at work in the flat, and the flames, helped by fumes from the varnish, spread to rugs and furnishings of the room in which the painter was working. Apparatus from engine houses No. 1, No. 3 and No. 4 responded, with Chief Joseph Randall and Assistant Chief C. W. Wilson.

TWO REMER FIRES.

Remer, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the dwelling and contents of William Townsend in the south of town Sunday night.

The store and contents of D. A. Clabaugh were destroyed by fire at noon Tuesday. The loss is $1,000; fully insured.

James Snell, son of Mark Snell, was shot in the leg by parties shooting at a dog. Young Snell was in a fishhouse. The ball passed through the walls of the house hitting him in the leg.

"SUPREME WARNING."

Says an Associated Press dispatch from London, under yesterday's date:

Under the headline "Supreme Warning," says an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph agency, the German papers publish a semi-official communication once more warning all neutral ships to avoid the war zone established in the waters surrounding the British Isles.

It would be well if some person who could make his words heard and understood would deliver a "supreme warning," not only to Berlin, but to London and Paris and Petrograd and Constantinople and Tokio—a warning that would be something after this fashion:

BE IT UNDERSTOOD by all belligerents, irrespective of race, color, nationality or any other consideration, that the neutral nations of the world regard the present war as something with which they have nothing to do; that they do not consider themselves in any way parties to the quarrels of or among the nations involved, and that while they hold it a part of their duty to humanity to do their utmost to alleviate suffering and help the helpless, their acts beyond these interests are intended to display only that impartiality and disinterestedness that is the just attitude.

BUT BE IT FURTHER UNDERSTOOD that these same neutral nations will regard as unwarranted and mischievous any and all efforts on the part of any belligerent to interfere with the legitimate commerce of neutral nations, either by exposing that commerce to undue peril or by actual application of violence to the ships or subjects of neutral nations; and although the neutral nations may not, even in support of their rights, become belligerents in this war, or resort to force of arms or to reprisals upon belligerents, they hereby WARN those belligerent powers that in the times of peace to come, when the nations impoverished by the terrible cost and crippled by the fearful slaughter of the war shall seek once more their former place in the world commerce and industry,

THE NEUTRAL NATIONS WILL REMEMBER the events of this war, and will shape their course in accordance with the efforts made by the warring nations to remain just and fair in their dealings with and in their attitude toward the nations which are preserving or are endeavoring to preserve a proper and honorable neutrality.

Perhaps many in these slaughter-mad nations would be unable to realize what such a warning would mean. But surely there must be some who could comprehend, even in the midst of their madness, that there is coming a time when it will be well, not only to have a "friend at court" in the formation of peace agreements, but powerful commercial and industrial friends who can be relied upon to help rebuild decayed industries and piece together a shattered commerce.

It seems as if some such "supreme warning" as this might reasonably be issued to the fighting powers. Surely it would be to their interests to heed such a caution.

What Mexico needs is a J. P. Morgan to arrange a presidential pool and syndicate, with a single executive head.

MASSACHUSETTS, TOO.

Massachusetts has joined the list of states where the people are to vote on the question of woman suffrage. The house has passed a bill already passed by the state senate, and the proposition will be submitted to the voters at the next election.

It isn't so many years since the mere idea of such action in Massachusetts would have been called ridiculous. But the world is progressing, and the extension of the suffrage is progressing with the rest. To be sure this does not mean that women will be accorded the ballot in Massachusetts. That is yet to be passed upon at the polls. But it has taken a decided change from the old order of things to get even that far with the proposal.

The action of the Massachusetts legislature will help the suffrage advocates to realize that the failure of their cause before congress was in fact a good thing for the cause. Even if it had passed there they would have had to make the fight in the several states, as they now have to. With every state victory now there are just so many more women given the privilege of the ballot, while if the states were acting on constitutional amendments, none of those women would gain the privilege until three-fourths of the states had acted.

The suffrage cause is better off under the present arrangement. It is winning, however slow its gains may seem. Perhaps, having got this far, Massachusetts will be among the next to let all citizens vote, instead of only male citizens.

Can't somebody demonstrate that corner lot baseball is ample training for a citizen soldiery?

STATE LAND AND LEGISLATION.

It was only reasonable to expect that some such measure as the Nord-Miner bill would be introduced in the legislature in opposition to the plan of State Auditor Preus to restrict the sale of state lands. The new measure would take the lid completely off such sales, on the basis that even if land should be sold in large quantities to speculators, the state would have the use of the purchase price and the income from taxes, and meanwhile the new owners would be more likely to develop the land or encourage its development than is the state.

Such a measure as this is the natural result of the state's past policy with regard to its lands. There has been no effort at development, and when a homesteader settled on his few acres and was surrounded or all but surrounded by state land, he found himself obliged to do all the work and bear all the expense of making a road through to the nearest town or some already established highway. And meanwhile the state land lay there idle, year after year, without even any effort at development, and in fact making the condition of the homesteader harder than it might otherwise have been.

But the state has begun to see a great light on this land proposition, and in one form or another efforts are constantly being made to facilitate the development of land held by the state, or at least to make state land bear a fair share of the expense of development of the district in which it is located. This movement is bound to succeed, and with its success will come even greater advantages for settlers than exist at present. At the same time, such a policy would make Minnesota land more attractive than ever to speculators, and so it is all the more advisable to safeguard sales so that only bona fide holders and developers of land shall become owners.

There is one thing of inestimable value about the Nord-Miner bill, and that is that it is a straight and forceful warning to the state that unless the old haphazard and stifling land policy is changed, we may yet be obliged to sit back and watch Minnesota acres lie idle in the hands of speculators, while settlers who had a right to expect something entirely different take out their disappointment in bitterness of spirit and language.

That there is any real merit in the opposition to the Preus plan is due to the character of the state's land policy heretofore. Unless it is willing to take chances on legislation of this kind, the state, either through constitutional amendment or by some other means, must adopt a progressive and practical policy for development of its lands, either by settlement or through state agencies.

And there wasn't a Joseph to warn Europe of the coming lean years.

AS TO A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The Herald has consistently and steadily favored the holding of a convention to revise the state Constitution and put it into coherent and practical shape, but the house has disagreed with the proposal by voting down two bills on the subject. It is not at all likely that the question will come up again at this session.

There can be no question that the failure of the movement before the present house was due principally to a conservatism that hesitated to act upon a matter fundamental to the state government without some direct expression of the people on the subject. There has been no campaign issue raised in the state which dealt with the question of constitutional revision. It is doubtful if the members of the present legislature even so much as discussed that question with the people before the election, and probably there are not above sixty or seventy men in the whole legislature who have any accurate idea of what their constituents would approve in this respect.

That the state is very much in need of the services of a constitutional convention, The Herald is thoroughly convinced. It might be a good plan, in view of the attitude of the house on that question, to have the matter made an issue in the next campaign so that a direct expression of the voters' wishes could be had.

Later—The house today reconsidered the vote on the Sawyer-Kneeland bill, and there is a chance for its passage.

The Senate of 1880

By Savoyard.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though the present senate contains 96 members against but 76 in 1880, and the present house of representatives 435 members against 293 thirty-five years ago, it will scarce be disputed that both the senate and the house of the Forty-sixth congress contained more first-class men than can now be mustered on Capitol hill in this town. The constitutional convention of Kentucky of 1849-50 was composed of 100 members. James G. Blaine considered it the ablest political body he ever came in contact with—that is, the most formidable in the field of political disputation; but I think it matched by the senate of the Forty-sixth congress of the United States and overmatched by the house of representatives of that epoch of which I tried to write the other day.

Here are some of the senators of the Forty-sixth congress: John T. Morgan, James L. Pugh, Augustus H. Garland, Newton Booth, W. W. Eaton, O. H. Platt, Thomas F. Bayard, Benjamin H. Hill, Joseph E. Brown, Daniel W. Voorhees, Joseph E. McDonald, William B. Allison, John James Ingalls, James B. Beck, James G. Blaine, George F. Hoar, William Windom, L. Q. C. Lamar, George G. Vest, Roscoe Conkling, Zebulon B. Vance, Allen G. Thurman, George H. Pendleton, Wade Hampton, Isham G. Harris, George F. Edmunds, Justin S. Morrill and Matthew Hale Carpenter.

And yet from the house could have been picked an equal number of men equal to even these in forensic debate. There were giants in the land in those days, though the decade 1850-60 produced a set of men perhaps superior to these who contended in the American congress at the time I note.

It would be difficult to name the first senator of 1880. Most observers would say Thurman, "the Old Roman," held first place, and as a debater he rarely met his match and never his master. Ben Hill was a giant and the debate between him and Matt Carpenter on the Louisiana case has rarely been equaled even on that theater. Lamar declared Conkling to be the greatest intellect of them all and perhaps he was. But his manner was so offensive to all his fellows that his influence was negligible. His one particular chum was W. W. Eaton, a Democrat from Connecticut, who believed in the right of secession even after Appomattox and advocated it. Hannibal Hamlin, a senator from Maine, was another senator that met cordiality from the lordly New York senator, and subsequently Voorhees was numbered among his very warm personal friends.

In those days every session of the senate, regular or convened, was enlivened by a debate of the tariff between Justin S. Morrill of Vermont and James B. Beck of Kentucky. It is doubtful if any discussion of that question, the economic feature of it, has been surpassed since the great debate between George Evans and George McDuffie forty years earlier; though all good free traders hold that Daniel Webster in 1824 presented their side of the question as no other man ever did, as no other man ever can. Yet Webster got on the other side.

John J. Ingalls was very conspicuous in the United States congress. The era when it was the chief office of the statesman to tell his adversary how mean he was, still endured, and for that sort of thing Ingalls had not his match in either house of congress. Only a while before had occurred that terrific encounter between Ben Hill and Blaine in the house of representatives, when the old lion of Georgia put the bloody shirt off the flag staff at that end of the capitol, but Ingalls had not heard of it and he was superb when it came to spouting about treason and things.

A great debate—not partisan—came on in that congress over the distribution of the $15,000,000 England paid us—the Geneva award. It is possible that I am not exactly accurate, but as I recollect Thurman, Conkling, Carpenter and Ben Hill held that the money should go to the insurance companies. Blaine, McDonald, Hoar and Platt declared that it belonged to the ship masters whose vessels had been destroyed by the Alabama. Edmunds contended that the money belonged to the United States and should be covered into the treasury.

The passage between Thurman and Blaine was exceptionally fine in this debate and showed what a giant the "Old Roman" was in such a contest. "Boys," said he in the cloakroom, "did that damned harlequin get away with me?" The answer was that he did not. And certainly he did not.

Now Blaine was not a lawyer, and certainly if a lawyer at all he was like his pupil, Garfield, a "near lawyer." Yet after Thurman had thrashed him to a frazzle he had the temerity to engage Matt Carpenter, "the greatest lawyer who ever spoke the English tongue," according to Judge Black, in that same debate. Carpenter made a monkey of him, and spice was added to the debate when a political tinge was given it—the time being shortly before the national Republican convention at Chicago in 1880, when and where it was Blaine versus a third term for Grant.

This is a reminiscence. I am sure, however, that congress was abler then than it is now.

The Small Town Mother

George Fitch in the American Magazine: It's mighty hard to be a mother of sons in Homeburg. I worked in the postoffice for a year once—handed out mail—and I got to know just exactly what most of the mothers in town wanted. I could please them with a new magazine and mystify them with a circular or a business letter. But if I wanted to light them up until they took the shadows out of the corners as they went out I would give them a letter from a son, way off somewhere making good. The best of them didn't write any too often. Once a week is pretty regular, I suppose, from the other end; but you should see the mother begin to come in hungry again the second day after her letter came. And when a boy came home successful and prosperous, and his proud mother towed him down Main street it used to go to my heart to see the wistful looks of her women friends. There is hardly a family in Homeburg of the right age which hasn't a grown-up son off at war somewhere—fighting failure. It's grand when they win; but I hate to think of some boys who haven't come back.

Why Girls Get Low Pay

Eos Rockie in the New York Mail.

In the course of the state factory investigation recently, the "poor working girl" incidentally came in for an awful panning. President S. G. Rosenbaum of the National Cloak & Suit company, taking the stand, said that 50 per cent of the girls who apply for jobs in the clerical departments of his shops, and who have been graduated from public school—in some cases have attended high school—are absolutely inefficient. They cannot spell. They cannot write legibly. They do not know cities from countries, rivers from mountains, or authors from breakfast foods.

"The trouble lies," Mr. Rosenbaum said, "not so much with the public school system as with the modern girl herself. Perhaps we should say," he went on, not wishing to be too hard on frail femininity, "it is the fault of the extravagant trend of the times.

"The girl of today cannot stand the temptations that surround her. She sees too many 'movies.' She yearns for luxuries and finery. She overdresses and underthinks.

"Twenty-five years ago a girl worked ten hours a day for $5 a week in uncomfortable and insanitary environment. She lived on her pay, served her employer faithfully, strove for promotion and usually married at 21.

"Nowadays a girl's hours are materially shorter, her wages higher and every inducement is offered in the larger industrial plants for her to do good work. I believe in fair wages, in comfortable, light, airy, wholesome surroundings. But I also believe in thrift. The girl of today does not as a rule save money, only about 50 per cent strive for efficiency, and they are so bent on marriage and so mistaken in their efforts to attract men that they defeat their own purpose. Nevertheless, we're having a wedding celebration here this afternoon."

Mr. Rosenbaum then led the way to the big school which is part of his factory equipment, along with lunch rooms, rest rooms, hospital, library, rainy day drying rooms, etc.

This school is a regular, full sized affair, with desks, blackboards, textbooks, maps and college graduate instructors. The young idea shoots daily there, one hour a girl a day.

"What do you mean, wedding celebration?" I asked, unable to keep my mind on arithmetic with an unmistakable smell of cake in the air.

"Why, one of the girls is going to be married. She's leaving us and we're giving her an engagement party."

"Then she is one of the girls who has not defeated her own purpose?"

"Aha! That's just it," chuckled President Rosenbaum, "she's one of the efficient ones. They're the kind who get married, not the flibbertigibets. Isn't it funny girls can't see that? Men snap up the sensible girls who don't wear evening clothes to work in, or put much make-up that a man's afraid to come near them.

"Now, in order to have more girls of this sort we keep this school going. Not that we want the girls to marry and leave us right away, but we do want them to progress from labelers and circular folders to heads of departments.

"The intelligent merchant or manufacturer does not want cheap help. He wants efficient help and is willing to pay for it.

"He would rather pay girls $8 a week than $6. He'd rather pay $10 a week than $8, provided they earn it. The really efficient girl is almost never out of a position—until some man comes along and makes her his wife. Then she has a fine job, and needs efficiency more than ever.

"The average girl spends entirely too much on shoddy finery. Notice the girl with the cheap velveteen suit, white fur hat with a white feather and patent leather shoes with light uppers.

"That girl could have got a good linen shirtwaist and serviceable serge skirt for $6. She would look better in them, work better and have money in her purse at the end of the week."

After a glance over a stack of fifty examination papers and application blanks, I could account for the girls' shortcomings only on the ground that the girls were untruthful when they said they were public school graduates.

Can you imagine a girl of 19, finished with her prescribed courses of reading, writing, rithmetic and presumably elementary geography, being asked on the application paper, "What is the present state of your health?" and replying, "New York state?" And to the query, "Name the four largest cities in the United States," answering, "New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Paterson?"

Girls, girls! What is the matter? "Dress and the 'movies'," says Mr. Rosenbaum grimly.

A "Jitney" Prophecy.

Kirksville, Mo., Express: The jitney service started in Kansas City, whereby motor cars are competing with the street car company and making a profit at it, reminds one that it looks like the day of the "interurban" railroad is about over. Prophesying is a dangerous thing, but the editor hazards a guess that within the next ten or fifteen years there will be fine, hard roads between Missouri cities with big motor busses running on regular schedules on these roads. Railroad engineers figure that it costs $50,000 a mile to lay a good railroad. A fine, hard road practically impervious to weather can be built for less than $500 a mile. Motor busses cost less than electric interurban cars and can be operated as cheaply. It is easy to see the trend of things in interurban transportation. One of the best things about the gasoline interurban is that other vehicles could travel over the same road and that it would mean a network of superb highways throughout the country. It is not the Missouri laws against foreign ownership corporation stock which is keeping interurban promoters out; interurban promoters are waiting to see which way the motor car jumps, and we make the prediction here that it is going to jump into the interurban business.

Try to Be the Fellow That Your Mother Thinks You Are.

While walking down a crowded city street the other day
I heard a little urchin to a comrade turn and say:
"Say, Jimmie, let me tell yer, I'd be as happy as a clam
If I only was de feller dat me mudder
t'inks I am.

"She t'inks I am a wonder and knows her little lad
Would never mix wit' nottin' dat was ugly, mean or bad;
An' lots o' times I sit and t'ink how nice 'twould be—gee whizz,
If a feller was de feller dat his mudder t'inks he is."

So, folks, be yours a life of toil or undiluted joy,
You still can learn a lesson from the small unlettered boy;
Don't try to be an earthly saint with eyes fixed on a star—
Just try to be the fellow that your mother thinks you are.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This question of maintaining one's neutrality makes Congressman Henry Barnhart think of the case of old Bill Jones, or whatever his name was, out at Rochester, Ind., where Barnhart has a little newspaper.

One morning Bill Jones' wife called Editor Barnhart on the telephone and asked him if he would like to have a good, red-hot article for his paper.

"Always," replied Barnhart.

So Mrs. Jones said she would put on her hat and be right down.

In a little while she came bounding into Barnhart's office and began telling him all about it.

Her story, it appeared, was in the nature of a muckracking article, and the subject was her husband.

Old Bill Jones, so his wife said, had fallen in love with a good-for-nothing widow over at Peru, and was much in her society, to the neglect of his work and his family.

One day Mrs. Jones caught him and the Peru widow engaged in earnest conversation over a time table down at the railway station.

"Going some place?" asked Mrs. Jones, in a twitting, bantering tone, as she walked by the pair.

Whereupon the Peru widow squared herself away and gave Mrs. Jones a piece of her mind. It was an extraordinary piece of mind, too, containing a great many altogether deprecating epithets and certain quaint nouns which, if reproduced here, would tend to prevent this paper from going through the mails.

Bill Jones excused himself while this clever repartee was being exchanged and started to walk away.

"Are you going to allow your own wife to be called such names?" asked Mrs. Jones, who was really quite put out about the thing, as she afterward explained to Barnhart. "I say, are you the kind of man that will let a woman like her say such things to your own wife? Answer me!"

At which point Bill Jones, looking back over his shoulder, stated his position of neutrality.

"I do not intend," said he, "to take sides in this matter at all."

* * *

Senator Hamilton Lewis of Illinois has a great memory for words and phrases, but scarcely any for figures. He dislikes anything involving even the slightest form of mathematical calculation, and for this reason rarely counts his small change.

"Don't you suppose people cheat you?" he was asked.

"Yes," he admitted, "I imagine they do. I suppose I have lost a great many thousands of dollars in that way."

* * *

Vice President Marshall while waiting for a train at a small town in the West was introduced to the local station and express agent.

"This is Mr. Marshall, vice president of the United States," said the man who made the introduction.

"Well, I don't mind telling you that I didn't like that last inspector you sent around," remarked the agent to Marshall.

"I don't understand," said Marshall.

"Didn't the man say you were vice president of the United States?"

"Yes."

"Well, if your company sends any more boneheads like that last one to go over my accounts I'll quit you and go to work for the Adams or the Wells-Fargo."

* * *

I have just ascertained why it is that members of congress do so much talking. It is for the purpose of keeping in practice. If one did not get up and make a speech every day he would not be able to make a speech when one is actually needed. It is on the same priciple that financiers often borrow money when they do not need it so that they may feel perfectly at ease when they really have to borrow.

Champ Clark testifies on this point as follows:

"During the last year that I was the minority floor leader I got into the habit of having comparatively little to say, and I found that the longer I went without making a speech the less desire I had to make one. There is no place where public speaking is harder than in the house, and one who seldom does it is apt to be half afraid to try it."

Other members have told me that they find it just that way, and speak frequently rather than wake up some dread day and find that they have little inclination to speak at all.

Singer's Hints On Child Training

Mme. Schumann-Heink in the Saturday Evening Post: I had other experiences like this, which fact prompts me right here to say a word about the pernicious cynics who make it a business to throw cold water on the aspirations of youngsters.

The man who is always saying, Don't! is the frost that kills the tender blossom of aspiration. It is as presumptuous for him to judge and advise us as it is weak and foolish for us to accept his judgment. Such a one cannot possibly know us as we know ourselves, for we have a capacity for development, hidden qualities that are brought out only in actual work and that shrink out of sight under the inquisition of a cynical, bored, wholly unsympathetic interrogator. Such an interrogator terrifies us, where a great, warm-hearted audience inspires us, lifts us into a seventh heaven, and brings out powers we never dreamed we possessed.

These officious would-be judges invariably lose sight of the fact that because you want to do a thing is evidence that you can do it! I had so much faith in the fact that I could sing that nothing could swerve me. I did not know the fact at the time, but I have come to believe that the fact is father to the faith. You will always find that when a youngster has faith he can do a thing, there is the ability to do it behind it, since aspiration is nothing but ability seeking to express itself.

There is greater responsibility in saying Don't! to an ambitious person than there is in saying Do! But, because so many persons fail, the presumptuous judge wants to go on record as being on the right side; so he discourages us on general principles. Then he will come to you and say: "See how I saved you from going on the stage! You ought to thank me for that." Or, if you have tried it and failed: "Why didn't you take my advice?"

Patriotic.

London Tit-Bits: A school teacher recently gave his pupils a lecture on patriotism. He pointed out the high motives which moved the Territorials to leave their homes and fight for their country.

The school teacher noticed that one boy did not pay attention to the instruction, and as a test question he asked him:

"What motives took the Territorials to the war?"

The boy was puzzled for a moment, then, remembering the public send-off to the local regiment at the railway station, he replied:

"Locomotives, sir."

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Might Get a Bargain.

Minneapolis Tribune: Speaking of state-owned elevators at terminal markets, Minnesota once went into the grain business to the extent of buying a site on the Duluth water front, and still owns it, although the courts prevented the building of an elevator. North Dakota might get a bargain there.

The Ideal Husband.

Red Wing Republican: A Duluth minister has found the ideal husband and gives the virtues that he must possess. He must be truthful, industrious, temperate, clean, cheerful, optimistic, tidy, steadfast, the soul of integrity, honest, shrewd in business, kind, fond of children, strong, stalwart, a sworn enemy of liquor and tobacco, amiably disposed, of quiet domestic tastes, a fair cook, and he mustn't gamble. The girl, in search of a husband, will write these requirements in her hat or she might forget some of them under the impulse of the moment.

Third Greatest Seaport.

Austin Transcript: Few realize the extent of Minnesota's tonnage by water transportation, yet it is a fact that in point of value of tonnage Duluth is the third greatest seaport in the United States, only New York and Galveston ranking above it. And that, too, in spite of the fact that these others are active with shipping the year round, while Duluth's port is closed for four months in every year. It is an excellent showing.

Might Not Object.

Baudette Region: A Duluth senator wants a bathroom maintained in every lumber camp. If the lumberjacks are allowed to take their baths internally they will have no objection.

Second to None.

St. Cloud Times: J. Adam Bede was in New York last week, and is quoted in the Times of that city as saying "Duluth is the only weak spot in Minnesota now. Duluth is not agricultural, and that's why it's weak just now." What is the matter with J. Adam that he should thus prevaricate? Duluth is Minnesota's third city in population, but in public spirit, push and energy it is second to none.

A Gratifying Experiment.

Princeton Union: The Duluth board of trade recently tried an experiment that produced results of a highly gratifying nature. Almost $300 was collected and turned over to the probation officer in that city. The officer used the money in securing employment for men, buying them necessities, and sending them some place where they could work. Over forty of the men thus befriended have returned all the money they were loaned, and numerous others have not yet had time to report. Man invariably appreciates being befriended, and the better side of his nature usually comes to the front then.

It Pays to Advertise.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: A Duluth fish firm, having a much greater supply than they could sell in the local market, used a few of the Minnesota papers to advertise their product. The advertisements, after a few weeks, were called off, for the good reason that the firm received so many outside orders that its supply was soon exhausted, and now the demand exceeds the supply. There is one thing advertising does—it brings business, and the merchant, manufacturer or dealer who is not prepared to take care of the business, should be careful and not advertise.

Unpublished History.

Elk River Star-News: The Duluth Herald says "there is some unpublished history being made at Washington that would be mighty interesting reading if it could be put into print." Sure thing, but not only in Washington but in every state capital in the United States. Not only that, but the veteran political writer of The Herald is probably as capable of writing it as any man in the state. Go to it.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinnis, the Sunshine Man.

There used to be an old battered safe standing in the Broadway, New York, on which was the notice: "It stood the test; the contents were all saved." It had been in one of the hottest fires New York ever saw, but the old safe had carried its treasure safely through it all.

No life is so safe as that which is guided and controlled by Christ.

"You will never succeed in business because you are so small." "Well, said he, "small as I am, I can do something which none of you four can do." "What is that?" they inquired. "Well, I can keep from swearing, and that is more than you can do."

It is mean to swear. It is also rude. A sign of an empty head, and an uncontrolled tongue. The evidence of a depraved heart.

A short time ago a worker in a Manchester slum related the story of a whole family completely changed by the presence of a deformed child. The father was a navvy, the lads were coarse and uncouth; but there was born into the home a crippled child, and that deformed baby became the point upon which the love of the whole family centered. The man nursed and petted his child of an evening; the boys made playthings, and showed their affection for her in all sorts of pleasant ways; the mother kept the window clean, that her child, pillowed on the table, might look out on the court; and the visitor declared that she witnessed an absolute transformation, an elevating and refining process, which went right through the household.

This poor lost world that has swung out into the cold and the dark doesn't know anything about the love of God, and if we do not love men with the same kind of love that Jesus had for this lost world, we are not going to reach them. I wish we could rise to a higher plane of duty and let love be the motive power. How easy it is to work for God if the heart is filled with love! And if it is not filled with love let us pray God to fill it with love. What we want is to be baptized with the love of Christ for this world, and if we are full of love for the perishing, we are sure to succeed.—D. L. Moody.

Dayton, Ohio.

Honorable.

Judge: Marjorie, aged 4, was in the library with her father while her mother was superintending the preparation of dinner. The attention of the head of the house was attracted by a scratching sound, and he looked up to find his daughter at work with a pair of scissors on the top of a polished table.

"Marjorie," he said, sternly, "go tell your mother what you've been doing!"

"I won't do it, papa," she said. "Do you think I am a little tattle-tale?"

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

J. C. Healy today was appointed postmaster at Mesaba, St. Louis county, vice A. G. McKinley, resigned.

By the passage of a bill in congress today, the salaries of the two inspectors of steam vessels at Duluth are increased from $1,200 to $1,800 each.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHEN WIVES WERE SCARCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to have you answer this question in the Open Court. Whom did Adam and Eve's sons marry if there were no other people on earth at that time? R. U. INTERSTED.

Duluth, Feb. 17.

This question has caused many debates among Bible students. The answer generally given is that they must have married their sisters.—The Editor.

POPULATION DISPUTE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please help us settle a dispute?

A says the population of Grand Rapids, Minn., has increased 3? per cent in the last five years.

B says the population of Grand Rapids, Minn., has decreased in the last five years.

Which is right? W. T. C.

Duluth, Feb. 18.

The 1900 census gave Grand Rapids 1,428 and the 1910 census gave it 2,230. No census has been taken since then, so there are no accurate figures available for the last five years. You might write to the postmaster or the editor of one of the Grand Rapids papers for an estimate of the present population, but it would be merely an estimate.—The Editor.

REASON FOR SUICIDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

For what reason did Myrtle Reed, the author of "Lavender and Old Lace," commit suicide? MRS. C. PUTNAM.

Mitchell, Minn., Feb. 12.

This author married a man very much younger than herself, and it is said that he proved unfaithful to her, causing her great unhappiness. This is said to have been the direct cause of her fatal act.—The Editor.

CREDIT WHERE DUE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In an issue of last week's paper I noticed an article which stated that the residents of Kenwood had opened a street in their district. Now I personally know the man who cut and underbrushed out that street himself all alone. Now what gets me is why some one else should get the credit of his labor. Thanking you for your valuable space and also for printing all the old time songs and poems, I remain, A SUPERIOR VIEWETTE.

Duluth, Feb. 15.

COLLIE DOGS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly tell me through your Open Court if there is more than one kind of collie dog and that the Scotch collie, black and white in color. We have a fine yellow and white dog. Is he not a collie also?

Thanking you in advance.

RUSSELL H. BERG.

Mass City, Mich., Feb. 16.

Some collie dogs have black and white markings and some tan and white. To be well marked he should not have too much white, just a thin collar, white paws, white chest and a narrow strip down the nose. His collar and brush should be of very thick, long hair.—The Editor.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"The Strawberry Girl" from Verona M. Holden, a 9-year-old Duluth girl.

"Comrades Parting" from Mrs. Elbert H. Reid of Farris, Minn.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Don't Leave Your Mother, Tom, When I Am Gone" and "I Sat Beneath the Drooping Willows" from A Reader of Duluth.

"So You're Going to Leave the Old Home, Jim," from W. Baker of Cusson, Minn.

The Scotch song of Barbara Ellen from a Duluthian.

"Only a Pansy Blossom" from Mrs. J. W. Milligan of Iron, Minn.

"I Love You Truly" and "Just A-Wearyin' for You" from Mrs. Elbert H. Reid of Farris, Minn.

"Comrades Parting."

How can I leave thee?
How can I from thee part?
Thou only hast my heart.
Comrade believe.
Now is this soul of mine
So firmly bound to thine,
No brother can be
Like thee alone.

There is a flow'ret
Called the forget-me-not.
Wear it upon thy heart
And think of me.
Yet, flower and hope may die,
Friendship shall ever stay,
That cannot pass away,
Comrade believe.

Would I a bird were Quickly with thee I'd be,
Swift hawk nor falcon fear,
Hastening to thee.
Though by the fowler slain,
Cold on the earth to lie,
Yet would I ne'er complain,
Joyful I'd die.

The Strawberry Girl.

Strawberries, strawberries, oh, who will buy?
Freshly they're gathered, they're wet with the dew;
Early this morning did sister and I
Carefully seek them the green meadow through.

Poor little sister, her patient young face
Lovingly watched as I hastened away;
Oh, 'tis my love for her quickens my pace,
Who'll buy my berries this bright summer day?

Mother is sleeping; she never will wake;
Father is far on the deep rolling sea;
O'er him the cold cruel billows may break,
Lost to his children e'en now he may be.

I am so young, but my heart is so old!
We are alone, little sister and I;
Turn not away unbelieving and cold,
Who'll buy my strawberries, oh, who will buy?

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

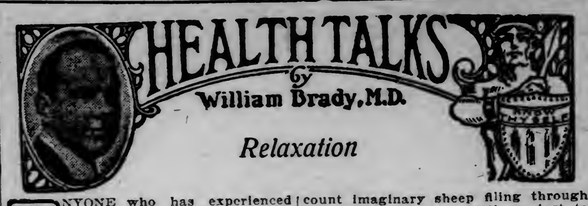

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 54 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Relaxation

ANYONE who has experienced any difficulty in going asleep knows that sleep will not come until the whole body is completely relaxed. For instance, a very comfortable chair before a warm fire, a stomach comfortably filled with food, a pipe perhaps—or if the subject be a lady, then a book of romantic verse—and muscles moderately tired from a brisk walk in the cold night air, there's a formula which puts many a one asleep a good hour before bedtime.

Warm sleeping garments and warm bed are essential adjuncts in the treatment of insomnia. Cold feet can't relax. Cold sheets are enough to start most anybody thinking of his past sins. But cold air to breathe—moving cold air—is indispensable if satisfying sleep is desired.

There are many foolish ideas about the right position for sleeping. This is a question that solves itself. Whatever position seems natural and easy, be it flat on your back or curled up in a compact ball or braced up on many pillows, is normal. The important thing is to sleep in a position which permits the fullest relaxation.

A common cause of restless sleep is a bed with sagging springs and cobblestone mattress. For the victim of insomnia money spent for good springs and mattress is well invested. It is difficult to relax with your head resting on a hill, your feet on another and a bottomless abyss between.

There are countless schemes for forcing relaxation when sleep comes reluctantly. Sometimes it may help to count imaginary sheep filing through a breach in a stone wall, or just to count slowly until you forget yourself. But we imagine a better plan is to think away back and try to recall memories of childhood and the little incidents of childhood days.

A dark room, cold air, warm night clothing, warm feet, comfortably filled stomach, a good springs and mattress, and above all, a clear conscience, will permit relaxation and refreshing sleep.

Anemic Young Woman: Am 25, weigh 109, 67 inches tall, have been suffering from anemia for two years. Which is preferable, Peptomangan (Gude's) or Iron Tropon (Mulheim's)? Or a tablespoonful of olive oil three times a day with fresh air exercise? Is it in any way harmful to whistle?

REPLY.

Olive oil is all right as a food. Fresh air and sunlight is the remedy. You should remember that anemia is only a symptom, and it is up to your physician to find out what it means. Whistling is harmless so long as it is in tune.

CANNOT ALTER PASSPORTS NOW

Great Precautions Taken By the British Authorities.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 5.—All British passports are now issued in such a manner that it will be impossible for spies and other alien enemies to alter them so they can be used by other than the persons to whom issued.

Over all the surface of the passport where descriptions and signatures are to be placed fine lines are printed in red ink. The application of acid to this surface makes the red ink run and instantly shows the passport has been tampered with. Instead of stamping the photographs on the new passports with a seal which does not cut through a new seal has been devised which perforates the pictures and the passports making it extremely difficult to substitute other pictures.

On the new passports wives accompanying their husbands will also be fully described. Heretofore little attention has been paid to women traveling as the wives of passport holders, but the appearance of women spies in various parts of England has aroused the authorities and they will hereafter watch the movements of women more carefully.

UNCLE SAM CUTS OUT RED TAPE

Foreign Packages Will Now Take a More Direct Route.

Uncle Sam is gradually eliminating "red tape," and a good example of this is shown by an order regarding foreign packages that reached Postmaster W. E. McEwen today. Packages to the value of $100 or more will henceforth be sent direct to the branch postoffices where a customs house is established instead of being sent to St. Paul and then returned.

Postmaster McEwen says that this order will eliminate a great deal of the useless work entailed in handling such foreign packages. Up to this time packages coming from Winnipeg and other foreign cities, have had to be sent to St. Paul before going to the customs house. From now on the packages will be sent directly to the customs house.

WIDOW PAYS $15,085 AS INHERITANCE TAX

Levy on Graff Estate Fixed By Ruling of Supreme Court.

In accordance with recent interpretations of the inheritance tax laws of the state supreme court, Melvina W. Graff, widow of Edmund D. Graff, yesterday afternoon paid $15,085.27 into the county treasury as a tax on her inheritance.

Judge Gilpin yesterday also determined an additional tax of $2,146.50 against the estate of Alexander B. McDonell, Chippewa Falls, Wis., lumberman, who died leaving a large estate to his son, Alexander A. McDonell. The Minnesota estate on which the tax was levied was $603,964.41. The son has already paid a tax of $16,990.09.

WHEAT MAY HIT $2 MARK

That Figure Is Predicted By Chicago Elevator Owner.

Says There Is Little Unsold Wheat—But Few Speculators.

That wheat prices in this country will attain a level of $2 a bushel if the war continues for any length of time, is the prediction of F. P. Frazier of the Bartlett-Frazier Grain company, Chicago, which operates a number of large elevators there.

In the course of a recent interview with the New York correspondent of the Boston News bureau, he said:

"I can foresee nothing else if the war holds out and the big demand continues. Millions upon millions of bushels of wheat have been sold for export; in fact, the available supply has about all been taken. Our own six or seven elevators are bare of wheat and the same holds true of the Armour elevators. There is practically no unsold wheat that I know of except some holdings in Minneapolis. There is no manipulation going on, the rise in prices being due entirely to the extraordinary conditions existing. But if a group of speculators should take hold of wheat they could put it to $2 a bushel in ten days. However, that day has passed and the market is free of speculation except for the small fellows who trade in 10,000 and 20,000 bushels.

"Is there no substitute for wheat that could be furnished by corn?" was asked. "Corn meal could be used," was the reply, "if people only knew how to make proper use of it."

Export buying of corn has been disappointing, according to Mr. Frazier. Although some of this grain has been taken for foreign shipment the available supplies are still large.

"About 50,000,000 bushels of oats have been taken for export to date," he said, "and more will probably be needed for the armies abroad. This is the only country where supplies can be secured for the next two months.

"Our exports of corn and oats have dwindled in volume during the past few years. Argentina has been supplying the European markets from her corn crop, which has resulted in a smaller demand from this country. The extraordinary demand for oats at the present time is most beneficial to holders of that grain."

Concerning winter wheat prospects, Mr. Frazier called attention to the increase of 5,000,000 acres in the area planted. The acreage in both Oklahoma and Texas has been increased and the crops in those state to be harvested in June will be available in July. He believes the outlook for the crop is generally favorable.

HOPE TO SEE WORK RESUMED

Steel Corporation Begins Construction Work in the East.

The assumption that construction work will shortly be resumed at the Minnesota Steel company's plant here is regarded as being warranted in the recent announcements to the effect that the United States Steel corporation is arranging to proceed with extensions that had been under way at various points in the East, and while work had been suspended owing to the outbreak of the war.

It is intimated that the corporation has just appropriated $200,000 for improvements at the Carnegie steel mill at Newcastle, Pa. The amount will be used for betterments at the blast furnace, which will include a new metal mixer.

EMPEROR WILLIAM TO APOLOGIZE TO GERARD.

Basel, Switzerland, Feb. 18, via Paris.—Emperor William will apologize personally to James W. Gerard, the American ambassador to Germany, for the hostile demonstration which occurred at a Berlin theater on the evening of Feb. 9, according to a telegram received here from the German capital.

The emperor, it is said, will express his regrets to Mr. Gerard on the occasion of the ambassador's visit to his majesty, at the East Prussian fortress of Koenigsberg. Mr. Gerard is reported in the dispatch to have accepted the emperor's invitation to go to Koenigsberg.

Ambassador Gerard and a party from the United States embassy were attending a theater in Berlin on Feb. 9, when, greatly to their annoyance, a man in the audience protested because they were speaking English. When informed that his remarks were directed against the American ambassador, the man began a loud and violent tirade against the United States for permitting the exportation of arms. The individual was finally suppressed by the theater attendants.

BEST METHODS OF FIRING BOILERS

Information for Stationary Firemen Issued By the Government.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The Federal government, in its attempts to be useful to the people has reached out in a new direction, in that it has just issued valuable information to the thousands of stationary firemen throughout the country, telling them the best methods of firing boilers in order to have the least smoke and to get the most heat from their plants.

The report, which has just been made public by the United States bureau of mines, seeks to meet the needs of the men, many without a technical education, who are employed in small plants of 1,000 to 2,000 horse power capacity, where the firing is done by hand.

The bureau tells the firemen that the best results are obtained if the fires are kept level and from four to ten inches thick, according to the character of the soft coal used and the strength of the draft. The coal should be fired in small quantities and at short intervals. Leveling the burning fuel should be avoided as it means more work for the fireman and also causes clinkers to form. Further, the bureau claims that while the fireman is leveling the fire, a large excess of air enters the furnace and lowers the efficiency. The bureau's experts say that the ash-pit door should be kept open and that all fellows who trade in 10,000 and 20,000 bushels.

"Is there no substitute for wheat that could be furnished by corn?" was asked. "Corn meal could be used," was the reply, "if people only knew how to make proper use of it."

Export buying of corn has been disappointing, according to Mr. Frazier. Although some of this grain has been taken for foreign shipment the available supplies are still large.

"About 50,000,000 bushels of oats have been taken for export to date," he said, "and more will probably be needed for the armies abroad. This is the only country where supplies can be secured for the next two months.

"Our exports of corn and oats have dwindled in volume during the past few years. Argentina has been supplying the European markets from her corn crop, which has resulted in a smaller demand from this country. The extraordinary demand for oats at the present time is most beneficial to holders of that grain."

Concerning winter wheat prospects, Mr. Frazier called attention to the increase of 5,000,000 acres in the area planted. The acreage in both Oklahoma and Texas has been increased and the crops in those state to be harvested in June will be available in July. He believes the outlook for the crop is generally favorable.

If the firings are too far apart, say the experts, the coal burns out entirely in spots, allowing a large excess of air to enter the furnace. This prevents the proper mixing of the air and gases and the result is that the gases escape without burning, depriving the boiler of much heat.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: FEB. 21.

Samuel iv, The Death of Eli and His Sons.

THE CONNECTION.

The doom foretold was at hand. It was a punishment of the nation and the house of Eli. It was to clear the situation for the new regime under Samuel. The Philistines were the enemy that was to scourge the nation and destroy the recreant house, the same enemy that had been harrying them since long before Samson's time. Warnings had been given, once by a prophet sent to Eli, then by Samuel, the boy of 12; the iniquity of the sons of Eli was full and the dread effects on the popular morals were complete; the new leader was at hand to reconstruct the national life, Samuel, now grown and recognized as a brave, true prophet of God. The old order is ready for defeat, the new ready to be inaugurated by a suitable man.

THE LESSON.

I.

Initial Defeat by the Philistines. 1, 2.

"And the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Now Israel went out against the Philistines to battle, and encamped beside Ebenezer: and the Philistines encamped in Aphek. And the Philistines put themselves in array against Israel: and when they joined battle, Israel was smitten before the Philistines; and they slew of the army in the field about 4,000 men."

1. THE ENEMY.—The Philistines occupied the territory from Joppa to Egypt. They must have conquered those Arabs who used to subjugate Israel, for we hear no more of them. That means they were a strong people. They must have been a cultured people, though we now use the word for a rough, uncouth person. They came from Crete and were of Greek extraction. The rulers of their five cities were called kings. They were ambitious, too, as they had crept up north and were now at Ebenezer, a sacred spot, "the stone of help," not very far from Jerusalem, while the army of Israel was near by at Aphek. They knew of the deeds Israel's God had done and that must have made them all the more anxious to subjugate them. That would mean that their own god, Dagon, was the stronger.

2. DEFEAT.—Israel was thoroughly defeated, slaughtered. They had gone into the battle with courage and had fought well, but it went against them. They must have had some hope in God, not because they were trying to do His will, but because Samuel was evidently His prophet, and He could not fail His own. They were not slain in flight but in the fight. They excite our interest and our admiration.

II.

Final Defeat. 3-11.

"And when the people were come into the camp, the elders of Israel said, Wherefore hath Jehovah smitten us today before the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark of the covenant of Jehovah out of Shiloh unto us, that it may come among us, and save us out of the hand of our enemies. So the people sent to Shiloh; and they brought from thence the ark of the covenant of Jehovah of hosts, who sitteth above the cherubim; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were there with the ark of the covenant of God.

"And when the ark of the covenant of Jehovah came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth rang again. And when the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, they said, What meaneth the noise of this great shout in the camp of the Hebrews? And they understood that the ark of Jehovah was come into the camp. And the Philistines were afraid, for they said, God is come into the camp. And they said, Woe unto us! for there hath not been such a thing heretofore. Woe unto us! who shall deliver us out of the hand of these mighty gods? These are the gods that smote the Egyptians with all manner of plagues in the wilderness.

"Be strong and quit yourselves like men, O ye Philistines, that ye be not servants unto the Hebrews, as they have been to you; quit yourselves like men, and fight. And the Philistines fought, and Israel was smitten, and they fled every man to his tent; and there was a very great slaughter; for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen. And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were slain."

1. EXPLANATION.—It is much to their credit that the military and civil officers, called "elders," met and inquired into the cause of the defeat, and it is also to their credit that they decided that God had caused it. So far, so good, for God had surely brought it about. But they were inexpressibly stupid and vicious in the reason they gave for God's action. It was not for their sins, they concluded, but for their mistake in not taking into battle the little wooden chest called the ark, in which were contained tables of the law, the shew bread and Aaron's rod that budded. That was the whole trouble. They would take that symbol of God's promise and presence with them into battle. They never once thought of taking God Himself in their hearts. So, the defeat didn't change their attitude toward God at all, only confirmed them in their immorality.

2. PREPARATION.—It consisted in reparation of that mistake, not in repentance for their sins. That reparation gave them great joy. The sight of the little chest excited them into a delirium, but their joy was as superficial and selfish as their action was. They went into battle in larger numbers and with greater confidence, yet unrepentant as individuals, as officers, as a people.

3. SLAUGHTERED. — The two armies are face to face in what appeared a battle of the gods, with the advantage seemingly on the side of Israel, for two reasons: First, the Philistines were alarmed while Israel was confident. Each recognized that the other had a God. Second, Israel's was a real, not an imaginary God. The Philistines were astonished, then alarmed, for they knew of the great deeds of Israel's God hundreds of years before on the way up from Egypt; but they soon energized themselves with all sorts of appeals, worthy of a better cause, till their men fought like demons and won the fight, killing thirty thousand and scattering the rest in hopeless panic. Hophni and Phinehas were killed and the ark taken. That meant the victory was complete; also that God was getting ready for the constructive era ahead.

III.

Effect of the Tragic News. 12-18.

"And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Shiloh the same day, with his clothes rent, and with earth upon his head. And when he came, lo, Eli was sitting upon his seat by the wayside watching; for his heart trembled for the ark of God. And when the man came into the city, and told it, all the city cried out. And it came to pass, when he made mention of the ark of God, that Eli fell from off his seat backward by the side of the gate; and his neck brake, and he died; for he was an old man and heavy. And he had judged Israel forty years."

1. ANTICIPATION.—Of course Eli was waiting for news, for the battle was only about twenty miles away. He was fearful, with anxiety about the ark, most of all. He was straining his old eyes towards the north as he sat on a bench outside the tent. The trained runner came fast with the tidings and all the people came out to inquire, all wept in their loudest tones so that Eli heard it before he saw the messenger. He knew God was at work in retribution and chastening. He was to blame for not turning his boys out of the priesthood when they polluted the people and themselves. He knew it. He waited in dread. Still it was the symbol rather than the reality that he thought of.

2. TRAGEDY.—Old and feeble, he fell from the seat and broke his neck. A child was born to the wife of Phinahas and she called him Ichabod, "The Glory Has Departed." The old troubles are removed now, the destructive work is finished; God is ready to undertake a constructive work and He has His man ready.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The church is a priceless gift of God to us, so manifold are its ministrations. But all its observances and fellowships are worse than useless if we trust them instead of the God who established them. When sacred objects, or sacred rites, or sacred institutions come in between us and God, or get for themselves the reverence that belongs to God only, then we had better thrust them aside that God may be the sole ground of our confidence.—Goodchild.

Through all life we find it demonstrated that it is not the foe without, but the enemy within that is largely responsible for our defeats. Consider the little defeats that shadow the sunniness of the hours—the unkind word, the harsh criticism, the unspoken appreciation; all these contribute to bring about the lesser failures of life—and can we lay the blame for these at any other door than the door of our heart?—Blessing.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why ought leaders to be personally as well as officially clean?
2. Why does God sometimes cause our defeat?
3. How are we relying on externals instead of on God?
4. Have you any superstitions and, if so, why?
5. How are you responsible for the morals of the nation or community?

WOULD SETTLE ESTATE.

W. J. Musolf Petitions Court in Behalf of Brother's Family.

Walter J. Musolf of Chisholm yesterday afternoon petitioned the probate court for letters of administration on the estate of his brother-in-law, William Doslen, who was killed while in the employe of Saari Bros., near Chisholm, Dec. 15, 1914, as a woodsman. The estate consists of money due heirs from his employers under the terms of the workmen's compensation law. The heirs are four children, who are being cared for at an Indian boarding school at Fort Frances, Ont.

A Personal Statement.

There are so-called "honey and tar" preparations that cost the dealer half as much but sell at the same price as the original and genuine Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. We never offer these imitations and substitutes. We know you will buy Foley's whenever you need a cough syrup if you once use it. People come long distances for the true FOLEY'S—over thirty years the leading remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, bronchial and la grippe coughs. Sold everywhere.

NO MOORHEAD CONTEST.

Less Talk of Carrying Dry Defeat Into the Courts.

Moorhead, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Less talk is heard here today of a contest by the "dry" as a result of their close defeat at the polls Tuesday. The more conservative opponents of the saloons insist on waiting for the enactment of a county option law, then renewing the battle on a county-wide instead of a local basis. They feel that while there may have been some illegal votes cast, it will be difficult, despite the large vote, to actually prove a sufficient number were illegal to offset the results.

SCOTTISH RITE BODIES WILL MEET AT FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Scottish Rite bodies will hold their spring reunion March 28 to April 1. It is anticipated several hundred Scottish Rite Masons will be in attendance and that after the degree work is over El Zagal Shrine will initiate a large class.

HEADACHE, COLDS, COSTIVE BOWELS, TAKE CASCARETS

Tonight! Clean Your Bowels and End Headaches, Colds, Sour Stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now.

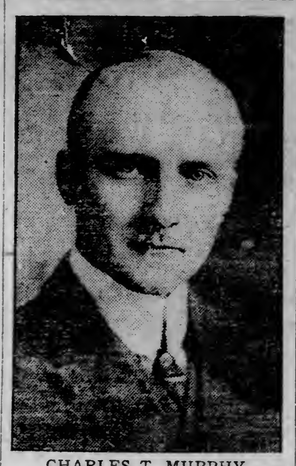

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

WOULD AMEND LAW ON ELY MUNICIPAL COURT

CHARLES T. MURPHY, Representative From Aurora.

WOULD AMEND THE DUNN LAW

according to a county plan, and the townships to handle town roads for town purposes.

State Superintendent.

Instead of a state highway commission of three members, there is to be a state superintendent of highways, who is to be appointed for state road work, on the theory that the board plan dissipates responsibility. The state superintendent is to be appointed by the governor, to serve until January, 1917, and thereafter his term is to be for two years. His salary is to be $4,000, and he is to have a deputy at $2,000.

The bill recognizes Elwell roads, and includes them under the term "state roads."

County roads are placed under the direction of county boards. The counties may, at their option, appropriate money to aid in the building of state roads, and such money is to be spent under the direction of the state superintendent of highways.

The state superintendent of highways is given the authority now held by the state highway commission, except as such authority is restricted by the provisions of the bill giving counties exclusive authority over county roads.

Less Engineering Costs.

As a good deal of the time of highway engineers now is spent in the supervision of county road work—some of them, it is said, receiving pay from the counties as well as from the state, though the state pays them for their full time—there would be a saving in engineering costs under the bill, Senator Baldwin believes.

The distribution of state aid, now in the hands of the highway commission, would be under the highway superintendent, the state auditor and the state treasurer. As in the Dunn law, the maximum amount given to any county would be 3 per cent and the minimum 1 per cent.

Instead of waiting until the money was due on roads, the bill provides that as fast as the amount of the apportionment due to each county is available, it shall be paid over to the county treasurers on auditor's warrants, to be placed to the credit of the county as a state road and bridge fund. Thus the counties would have the handling of the money instead of the state.

The provision of the Dunn law that 20 per cent of the state allotment may be used for maintenance of state roads is retained, the counties to provide for its use under the direction of the highway superintendent.

The state is relieved of all direction of county roads and the county from all necessity of contributing to the construction of state roads.

The bill was referred to the committee on public highways, of which Senator Robert C. Dunn, author of the Dunn road law, is chairman.

Good for Rural Districts.

That the rural districts are getting a pretty good thing out of the 1-mill road tax, and that the cities, villages and mining property are paying much more than half the bill, is shown by a statement which Senator R. C. Dunn has had compiled.

In 1914 the total amount of the proceeds of the 1-mill state road tax was $1,475,999, which was distributed among all the counties, none of them getting more than 3 per cent, or less than 1 per cent, and was used outside of cities and villages, and all but a very small amount outside the iron mining district.

Of this total, $560,676 came from the tax on city and village property, and $282,170 from the tax on iron property. The balance, $659,055, was derived from the tax on farm property. City, village and iron property thus contributed $862,847, or $206,52 more than the sections that benefit directly; though, of course, the communities benefit indirectly quite as much.

Deaf School Bill Killed.

The house appropriations committee yesterday afternoon voted to recommend for indefinite postponement the bill by Representatives W. J. North of Duluth and P. H. Konzen of Hallock, proposing education for deaf children under 10 in the public schools. A letter from Jay Cooke Howard of Duluth, opposing the bill along the lines of his statement in the local columns of The Herald, was submitted by Representative E. R. Ribenack of Duluth.

The Gordon bill appropriating $90,000 for the 1915 state census was reported out without recommendation. Some of the committee members were opposed to having any state census at all, even though the Constitution requires it.

Deaf Boys Cruelly Treated.

Three small boys were kept in solitary confinement for 6 days on a diet of bread and water for stealing bits of food from the kitchen at the state school for deaf mutes at Faribault, according to testimony deducted yesterday afternoon at a hearing before the house committee recently appointed to investigate conditions at the school.

For more than six hours, inmates and former inmates of the school told the committee, through a priest who acted as interpreter, of excessive punishment meted out to them at the direction of Supt. J. N. Tate.

"I saw them drag three small boys to a room in the cellar, board up the lone window, and I know they were kept there for a week on bread and water," testified Fred J. O'Donnell of Minneapolis, a former inmate.

C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of education, and ex-officio member of the board governing the Faribault school, said that he had visited the institution twice in the last two years. "Is it not true," questioned Representative P. H. Konzen, chairman of the committee, "that you have not given this school the attention it deserves?"

"I am sorry to state that other pressing duties have kept me from doing so," Mr. Schulz replied.

Mr. Schulz further admitted that his knowledge of actual conditions there was limited. Supt. Tate, he admitted, was given wide power in conducting the affairs of the institution.

Raymond Whitney, a former inmate of the school, whose father is an employe in the state supreme court offices, testified that he saw Tate kick a small boy for misbehavior.

He also complained that the food there was insufficient to satisfy the appetite of a growing boy, and said he had gained more than twenty pounds since leaving the institution last fall.

Bills By Jones Favored.

Employment agents are forbidden to take fees for finding jobs at manual labor under a bill by Richard Jones of Duluth, which the senate committee on labor yesterday afternoon voted unanimously to recommend for passage.

The committee also approved a bill by Senator Jones, which he introduced today, enlarging the powers of the state board of health so as to include supervision over the construction and equipment of industrial camps as to sanitary conditions. This bill is aimed at the same end as a bill recently introduced by Senator Jones requiring lumber and railroad camps to provide bathing facilities for their men, but it goes further. It is also provided that the companies shall not be permitted to charge a fee for any facilities required by the board of health.

The Campbell bill requiring one day's rest in seven in all industrial establishments was recommended for passage by the committee.

The bill by Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia, providing that where a joint owner of a mineral lease defaults in his royalty payments his partners shall take his share and assume his obligations, as recommended for passage by the senate committee on general legislation yesterday afternoon.

Railroad Measures.

The house committee on transportation yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the Morgrath bill allowing the families of deceased railroad employes to receive railroad passes, and the Indrehus bill requiring railroads to light depot platforms for half an hour each day after train time.

Railroad representatives argued against the McGrath bill prohibiting trains over half a mile in length, and representatives of the Twin City Rapid Transit company appeared against the Corning bill requiring interurban railroads to provide toilet facilities and drinking water. The committee will act on these bills Friday.

The house had another fight on a banking bill yesterday afternoon, when it advanced to the calendar the bill creating a state commission to pass on all applications for new bank charters, with a view to restricting new banks in each community to the number that can be properly supported. A motion to kill the bill lost by the narrow margin of 53 to 56.

The house yesterday passed the Claude F. Southwick bill limiting to twelve hours the time gypsies and other itinerants can spend in any one spot on a public highway.

Representative Charles T. Murphy of Aurora yesterday secured an opinion from the attorney general's office, holding constitutional the proposed amendments to the Ely municipal court act, and he will introduce it tomorrow.

The house committee on judiciary yesterday afternoon voted favorably on the bill by Representatives Murphy and Gill providing for two regular terms of court each year at Ely.

will dumfound you, especially if you have tried everything else for corns. Two drops applied in a few seconds—that's all. The corn shrivels, then comes right off, painlessly, without fussing or trouble. If you have ever made a fat bundle out of your toe with bandages; used thick, corn-pressing cotton-rings; corn-pulling salves; corn-teasing plasters—well, you'll appreciate the difference when you use "GETS-IT." Your corn-agony will vanish. Cutting and gouging with knives, razors, files and scissors, and the danger of blood-poison are done away with. Try "GETS-IT" tonight for any corn, callus, wart or bunion. Never fails.

CONVENTION BILLS DEAD

the bill was five short of a majority of the membership, the bill was declared defeated.

The Bjornson bill required a two-thirds vote in both branches of the legislature, and if it had secured this vote, would have gone before the people at the 1916 election. If then approved by the voters, the legislature of 1917 would provide by law for the summoning of a constitutional convention, to be elected by the people and to consist of the same number of members as the house of representatives, or 130.

The argument for the bill was opened by Representative Bjornson, author of the bill. He said that the present Constitution, drafted fifty-eight years ago, has been many times amended, and is now a patchwork, far behind the times. The cost of a convention would be less than the cost last year of submitting eleven proposed amendments, only one of which was adopted. Nine out of ten newspapers in the state have voiced what the speaker believed to be the general demand of the people for a new Constitution. "The question," he said, "is simply whether you will let the people say whether they want a constitutional convention or not, and if you say no, you must say that you distrust the people. The people have a three-fold check on the process. They must first vote whether or not they want a new Constitution. They must next elect the men to do the work, and after it is done they must pass on the result.

Representatives Kneeland and Sawyer spoke on the need of a complete revision of the Constitution.

Constitution Violated.

Representative Lewis C. Spooner said that if the legislature had not violated the letter of the Constitution there would be no new state prison, and now the Constitution must be violated again in order to dispose of the old prison, because it requires that the prison must remain within half a mile of its present site.

"The Constitution," he said, "is virtually a dead letter as applied to the conditions of today."

Representative Carmichael of Farmington said that there is no demand for a constitutional convention. "The Federal Constitution," he said, "is 132 years old, but it still stands, and thank God it stands."

Representative C. A. Gilman, who served in both houses and presided over both when the Constitution was young, said that it was easy to pick things to pieces. This legislature is picking to pieces the work of the 1913 session, and the next legislature will pick to pieces the work of this. And if the old Constitution is rejected, and a new one made, the work of picking that to pieces will be begun immediately.

Representative Larimore of Minneapolis spoke against the bill. He said that though the state was young when the Constitution was drafted, it held a remarkable set of men, and the best of them sat in that convention. It is a great document. It is not a house in ruins, as some of the speakers had said, but has been kept in good repair by amendments, and it can be amended at any time and in any manner when the people wish it. When they vote not to amend it, it is because they do not wish to amend it. The Constitution is not legislation, but the foundation, and it should not be disturbed.

Should Be Up to Date.

Representative J. W. Woodfill of Two Harbors, speaking for the bill, said that it was a question of the twentieth century, and of a Constitution that would fit that century.

"All honor to the builders of the Constitution," he said, "but let's bring their work up to date."

"We owe much to the fathers," said Representative Leavitt Corning of St. Paul, "and much to the grandfathers and the great-grandfathers and the great-great-grandfathers. But it is no disrespect not to want to be tied to the same conditions that held them down. There isn't a business," he said, "that if an attempt were made to run it on the rules that governed business fifty-eight years ago would not go bankrupt in twenty-four hours. Yet there are men here who do not want to change the rules that govern the business of this state, and government is business."

"This proposal is opening up the way to tamper with the very vitals of our political existence," said Representative Thomas J. McGrath of St. Paul, "and we should approach it with caution. Is there any reason to think that the people would take any more interest in passing on a new Constitution than they do in passing on amendments? The state is great and prosperous under this old Constitution, and we should not destroy it for the trivial reasons that have been urged here tonight."

Representative H. H. Harrison of Stillwater, opposing the bill, said that with the possibility of implication in the European war staring the country in the face, the people should exercise economy and caution. The old Constitution, he said, is as strong today as it was the day it was enacted, and it should stand.

A Touch of Asperity.

Representative Spooner's speech brought out one touch of asperity. He said that there were no members of the appropriations committee with experience in handling appropriation bills, so that he had had to do most of the work himself.

Later on, Representative Swenson, a member of the committee, reflected the feeling of some of the members.

"I think," he said, "that the members of the appropriations committee ought to be excused, so they could go to the committee room and bathe their hands in the lemon handed them tonight by the chairman. I suppose, after that, that we should vote unanimously for this bill, as he directed."

Speeches were made by Representatives Lydiard, Dealand and Girling against the bill and by Representatives Theodore Christianson, Malmberg and Anton Peterson in favor of it.

How the Vote Stood.

The vote was as follows:

Yes—Anderson, Bendixen, Bernard, Sawyer, Searls, Scott, Spooner, Steen, Bessette, Bjorge, Bjorklund, Bjornson, Boehmke, Borgen, Burrows, Christianson, Corning, Erickson, Flinn, Frye, Gill, Gordon, Grant, Guilford, Hauser, Hinds, E. E. N. NELSON, Representative From Duluth.

apolis said there was no chance now for a house committee to frame a comprehensive plan of reorganization, a work that thirty men had taken eighteen months to do.

Representative Gordon answered that no such plan was in contemplation, but that his commmittee could combine some of the departments and work real economies.

Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls declared the efficiency bill does not lop off a single dead branch, and only regroups existing departments. The Gordon plan would make it possible to trim off some of the suckers, he said.

Opposed By Spooner.

Representative Lewis C. Spooner of Morris, chairman of the committee having the bill in charge, opposed the resolution. If anybody wants to do something for efficiency and economy, he said, let him study this bill and suggest improvements if he sees the need of them. If it fails, he added, he will introduce a resolution providing for a committee to study the subject during the next two years and report to the next session; and probably the chief justice will be asked to name the commission. As soon as the hearings are concluded, he will appoint subcommittees to do the very work proposed by the Gordon resolution.

Representative Holmes of Big Lake declared that if those in charge of the efficiency bill don't quit generating heat every time they are touched and a new one made, the work of picking that to pieces will be begun immediately.

Mr. Spooner this morning withdrew the remarks he made last night about his appropriations committee, saying he regretted them the moment they were said.

Bill For Soil Survey.

The bill to carry out the purpose of the forestry amendment adopted last fall came into the senate this morning, introduced by Senator N. J. Holmberg. It authorizes the state agricultural experiment station to make a soil survey of state lands, setting apart for that purposes "all lands better adapted for forestry than for farming." An appropriation of $10,000 a year is carried.

The leasing of the state fair grounds for automobile speedway purposes is provided in a bill by Representative Nimocks. The lease is to go to the highest bidder, and the corporation getting must spend $340,000 within eight months on a track and grandstand improvements. Not more than two speed contests a year may be held.

North's Bill Favored.

Representative W. J. North's bill to protect home-builders against dishonest contractors has been favorably reported by the judiciary committees of both houses and is likely to pass.

The senate passed the C. H. Warner house bill relating to the terms of payment of interest on state land contracts, and the bill by Senator Ward prohibiting any officer or employe of the state banking department from owning stock in any bank within or without the state.

County Division Bill.

Senator O. H. Griggs of Virginia has secured an opinion from Attorney General Smith that the county division bill is constitutional. However, it is to be amended to provide for a vote on division, though only residents of the proposed new county would be allowed to vote.

* * *

The house concurred in the senate resolution asking congress to remedy the damages from floods in the Mississippi valley.

* * *

Representatives Fred Bassette of Orr, Edward Indrehus of Foley and H. O. Bjorge of Lake Park were authorized by the house to visit the Detroit and Glenwood fish hatcheries to investigate proposed improvements there.

* * *

Another Batch of Bills.

Bills introduced: Senator Denegre, authorizing first-class cities to beautify streets by planting and caring for trees, assessing the cost to the property.

Senator Buckler, permitting 75 per cent of town road taxes to be paid in labor.

Representative Dunleavy, making it a crime to abandon a child under 14, or a family where there is but one child.

Representative Boyd, appropriating $50,000 for a dining hall and service building at Crookston agricultural school.

Representative Boyd, abolishing the state highway commission and putting state roads under county boards.

Representative Konzen, providing that 1 per cent of inheritance taxes shall be paid judges of probate and county treasurers for their work in collecting them.

Representatives Woodfill, Devold and Marwin, an eight-hour law applying to all but agricultural labor and emergency cases, and requiring time and a half pay for overtime.

Representative Larimore, proposed blue sky law.

Representative Christianson, providing that all liens shall be filed with registers of deeds.

Representative Novak, providing a penalty for an employer who discharges a workman without notice equivalent to the interval between regular paydays, and for any worker who quits without a similar notice.

the weapon trade with Germany's enemies and he says that even if the German government finds itself disappointed in this self-evident assumption, it will carry its firm decision through to the end.

"Submarine commanders," the writer goes on to say, "have been instructed to avoid damaging American ships recognizable as such, but it must be pointed out that American ships will be recognizable as such only when they are accompanied by American warships. To assume that American flags make ships recognizable and assure their safety would be a gross misconception of the note."

Must Fight Fairly.

The Taegliche Rundschau says that neutrals must either compel Great Britain to fight fairly, or else keep their ships out of the war zone.

Americans can have their ships convoyed by warships. If they don't want to do that they can keep as far from this war zone as they have from the war zone declared by Great Britain.

The Cologne Gazette declares the German standpoint cannot be presented more earnestly than it is in this note, and at the same time in a more conciliatory manner.

The other side of the note, however, leaves no doubt of Germany's unalterable resolve to retaliate against the "barbarism of England," now that the neutrals have shown themselves unwilling or unable to make Great Britain respect international law.

"On the right bank of the Vistula the fighting has been going on in almost the same localities with great ferocity in certain sections.

"In the region of the Niemen river we have found only patrols of the enemy.

"On the left bank of the Vistula there has been no change.

"In Galicia we repulsed an attack on the Khava-Vikrotsch front with great loss to the enemy. Further to the east the enemy endeavored to attack in the region of Loubne-Stoudenne, but without success. In repelling this attack we made prisoners of ten officers and 1,400 soldiers and captured three guns.

"On the front from Kozlouska to Mount Vyscoff the Germans delivered a series of determined and spirited attacks, forcing themselves vigorously in the direction of Mount Vyscoff. All these advances were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy. Almost an entire battalion was put to the bayonet; the rest of the Germans were made prisoners.

"There is no change in Bukowina."

TEUTONS HAVE 64,000 RUSS

roy, to the north of Pont-a-Mousson, which were taken by the Germans on Feb. 13, have been evacuated after the destruction of the French fortifications.

"Otherwise there is nothing important to report on the western front.

"Near Tauroggen and in the district to the northwest of Grodam, the pursuing German troops are fighting the enemy. A Russian detachment beaten near Kolno was reinforced to the north of Lomza by fresh troops. The enemy was then again attacked by us.

"Engagements near Plock and Raclonz have been decided in favor of the Germans.

"There is nothing new to report from the south of the Vistula river in Poland. The results obtained near the East Prussian frontier are increasing in our favor. So far we have taken 64,000 prisoners, 71 guns, more than 100 machine guns, three hospital trains, air craft, 150 cars filled with ammunition, searchlights, countless cars filled with goods and horses. A further increase of booty can be expected."

TURKS APOLOGIZE TO THE GREEKS

General of Police Expresses Sorrow for Insult to Attache.

London, Feb. 18.—Turkey has yielded to the demand for satisfaction made by Greece because of the insult offered an attache of the Greek legation at Constantinople.

The director general of police of Constantinople, it is officially announced, has visited the Greek legation in that city and in the presence of all the members of the staff he formally expressed his regret at the insult offered the Greek naval attache. He promised further that an official communication to this effect would be published in the press.

The incident is now regarded as closed.

The Greek minister to Turkey left Constantinople the latter part of last week, leaving his secretary of legation in charge, because the porte was slow in carrying out its agreement to give satisfaction for an insult offered the Greek naval attache. The difficulty was not regarded as serious and it was felt that Turkey would offer the necessary apology.

TURKS COMMIT NO ATROCITIES AS YET

Some Cases of Maltreatment, However, Are Reported From Syria.

Alexandria, Egypt, Feb. 18, via London.—Passengers by the American cruiser Tennessee, which has been bringing refugees from the coast of Syria to Egypt, are authority for the statement that while no actual atrocities have been committed by the Turks in Syria, a number of persons have been maltreated. The population of Syria, although fanatical, is remaining calm.

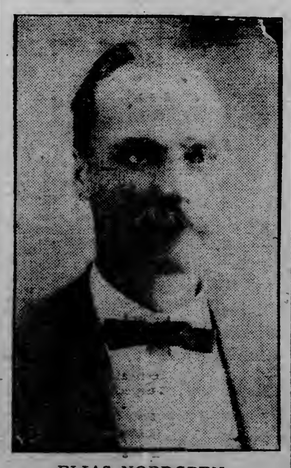

The Tennessee arrived here yesterday from the Syrian coast. Refugees on board say that Hassan Bey, the commander at Jaffa, has a rather overbearing manner and that he treats nationals of the entente powers with great rigor. Reports of a great Turkish victory in Egypt, printed in letters of gold, have been posted in Jaffa. The people have been told that Ismailia and Suez have been occupied by the Turks, who are now marching on Cairo. Graphic descriptions of the alleged sinking of several British cruisers in the Suez canal caused the greatest jubilation. The Turkish casualties in these engagements were given as ten men killed and twenty-five wounded.

There was great rejoicing also at Jerusalem, where a large amount of ammunition was expended in the firing of guns to celebrate the event. Nationalists of the entente powers, Great Britain, France and Russia, were insulted by the population and compelled to remain indoors.

Prohibition in Oregon.

Salem, Or., Feb. 18.—State-wide prohibition, effective Jan. 1, 1916, became the law of Oregon yesterday, when Governor James Withycombe, surrounded by state officials and temperance workers and under a battery of cameras, signed the bill passed by the legislature to make effective the people's mandate of last November, when a prohibition amendment was voted into the state constitution.

WOULD OPEN POORHOUSES TO PEOPLE PAYING BOARD

ELIAS NORDGREN, Representative From Sunrise.

INJURED BADLY BY CORN CULTIVATOR

A Michigan farmer was so badly injured while cultivating that he had 33 running sores. He states that he tried many remedies and doctors with no success and that finally he used Allen's Ulcerine Salve which cured up all the sores completely. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair

(Toilet Tips)

It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered delatone, apply to hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

HOSTELRY ON LAKE BEMIDJI

Beltrami County Seat Must Raise $15,000 to Assure Enterprise.

Propose to Build Up-to-Date Hotel on Shores of Beautiful Lake.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—As soon as $15,000 can be raised among local business men, work will begin in constructing a summer hotel at the head of Lake Bemidji at Birchmont Beach. This was decided at a meeting of the Merchants' association when George W. Cochran appeared before the association and submitted a summer hotel proposition which was accepted.

It is the ambition of the members of the Merchants' association and Mr. Cochran that the funds will be available in time to have the hotel ready for the summer trade of 1915 and work of raising funds will begin at once.

Big Bemidji Proposition.

Speaking of the proposition, Mr. Brooks, one of the members of the summer hotel committee, said, "It is the biggest thing Bemidji has started since the Soo railroad has been built through our city and it is going to take a lot of money. I tell you $15,000 is a large amount of money to raise in a town of this size."

The site picked by Mr. Cochran for the new summer hotel is one of the most beautiful on Lake Bemidji. The land slopes gradually towards the lake and the background is covered with a heavy growth of birch and other hardwoods. Farther up the lake shore is Rocky Point and on the south side is Diamond Point and the city of Bemidji. The beach at Birchmont Beach is the most perfect bathing spot on the lake and the groves of birch trees make a most delightful place for picnics or for other outdoor pleasures.

Mr. Jester, who owns a summer hotel at Lake Plantagenet advised the business men to erect and operate a first class hotel, catering to the first class trade exclusively. Mr. Jester explained that there were three classes of summer visitors: the third class, who expect to camp out in the woods and cook for themselves; the second class who want a moderate priced hotel, board to be $4.50 and up for a week, and the first class trade who expect to pay from $2.50 a day up for hotel accommodations, and who want boats, guides and many other things, each of which will cost them extra. Another thing Mr. Jester advised the merchants to do is to stock the lakes tributary to Bemidji with bass. Mr. Jester suggested a modern hotel in every way, with electric lights, bath, running water, hot and cold, and a good dining service.

TO DICKINSON COUNTY.

Former Ironwood Banker Will Not Be Tried at Bessemer.

Bessemer, Mich., Feb. 18.—The case of the people of Michigan vs. Matthew A. Fitzsimmons, former Ironwood banker, which was called for trial at the February term of the circuit court of Gogebic county, will not be tried here. A change of venue has been granted and the case will be tried in Judge Flannigan's court, in Dickinson county.

According to a recent decision of the supreme court of Michigan in this matter, Prosecuting Attorney John O'Neil is disqualified from representing the people because he was a depositor in the Karste bank, of which the accused Matthew A. Fitzsimmons was cashier. The reversal of the decision of the jury in the lower court finding Fitzsimmons guilty of embezzlement turned on Mr. Neil's interest as a depositor.

MINNESOTAN TELLS OF WAR'S HORRORS

Nary Farmer, Fighting for France, Alleges Germans Use Dumdums.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Relating his experiences in the trenches, Ceaser Niogret, who several months ago left his farm near Nary that he might fight for France, has written a most interesting letter to his brother, now at Nary, in which he says, in part:

"After we had passed a few days at rest, we went to attack the Germans on the 13th. We met with good success, taking two trenches and eighty-five prisoners. They reattacked us three times, and we were forced to leave the first trench, as we could hold it no longer. The fields and roads were covered with dead Germans. I never saw slaughter like it.

"We were shooting from one trench into another, a distance of about forty yards, and all my comrades of the squad fell dead or wounded alongside the trench. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon we were holding our position when I was hit in the forehead by a stray bullet, but as it struck the ground before it hit me, it had spent its strength, otherwise I would have stayed in the trenches, too. My wound was not severe, and after only three days in the hospital, I went back to my regiment. I found no one from my battalion, only a few from my company. Everything was destroyed. That slaughter I saw made me crazy.

Piles of Dead.

"I am not over it yet and I am not the only one. There were piles of men killed, one lying on top of the other, and it was impossible to help the wounded, as the fusillade was too severe. The machine guns were spitting and also the artillery. We could easily hide behind the piles of dead. It is frightful, such slaughtering.

"What hurts us the most is that the Germans are using the dum-dum bullets, which explode when they hit. If one hits your arm it cuts it right off and if it hits your head, it blows your head off. Those bullets are not supposed to be allowed.

"We have no snow as yet, but the trenches are full of water, as we have had rain for the last two months, and we are fighting in mud up to our knees. As I see the war now, I never expect to see America again."

HARDWARE MEN HEAR REPORTS

President Smith's Address and Other Features at Fargo Meeting.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was an increased attendance this morning at the meeting of the North Dakota Hardware Dealers' association.

President Smith delivered his annual address, enumerating many things relating to the disappointment and the successes of the year's administration and making suggestions regarding the future work of the organization.

Secretary Barnes reported quite an addition to the membership and increasing interest in the organization. The treasurer showed a nice balance. Several of the committees reported.

There was a great deal of interest in the report of the last national convention by I. L. Newgard of Grafton, who represented this state at that session.

National Officer Speaks.

The chief address of the forenoon was by M. L. Corey of Argos, Ind., the secretary of the national organization, who spoke on what the big association was offering its members and made a splendid impression.

This afternoon and until 9:30 this evening will be devoted to an inspection of the fifty-five exhibits, which are attractively displayed and represent the larger manufactured articles handled by the hardware dealers of the state. At 9:30 this evening a smoker will be given at the Commercial club rooms, at which there will be a few impromptu remarks, but no general program.

Tomorrow forenoon will be devoted to making an inspection of the exhibits and giving orders for the coming season. There will be an executive business session in the afternoon prior to adjournment.

GETTING EVIDENCE ON LAND DAMAGES

Ex-State Drainage Engineer Ralph Gathering Data for M. & O. Power Co.

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—George A. Ralph of St. Paul, formerly state drainage engineer, now in the employ of the M. & O. Power company, has gone up the lake with a crew of men to obtain information connected with the overflow damage cases that have been instituted against the company.

The jury in the Pugh case against the Backus railroad, for destruction of timber on land in the Little Fork valley, brought in a verdict for $1,200. The amount sued for was $4,000.

The Masonic lodge will hold a regular meeting tonight. Judge Stanton will deliver an address on George Washington and his connection with Masonry, following which a "smoker" will be held.

EAST GRAND FORKS RESIDENT IS CALLED.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Feb. 18.—Joseph McCoy, aged 65, a resident of East Grand Forks for the last fourteen years, died yesterday.

Mr. McCoy was born in Ripon, Wis., in 1850, and was married to Miss Isabelle Murray in 1882. A few years later he removed to Stillwater, Minn., where they made their home for several years, removing to this city in 1901. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. J. W. Benson of Bemidji, and six brothers, R. H. of Bonners Ferry, Idaho; J. W. of New Richmond, Wis.; C. M. of Minneapolis; A. M. of Wattsburg, Wash.; George of Vancouver, B. C., and one sister, Mrs. M. Burnham of New York city.

Since his arrival here, Mr. McCoy was employed by his brother, R. H. McCoy, formerly engaged in the lumber business in this city, as expert accountant. He was a member of the New Richmond Masonic lodge.

SUING FOR $5,000: ALLEGING ASSAULT.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that injuries alleged to have been caused by an assault are permanent, Lars E. Nelson of Thorhult, in a case which was begun in district court before Judge Wright, asks Swan S. Larson and Charles W. Peters for $5,000 damages. The trial of the case will take about a day.

ELECTED CITY CLERK ON THIRTEENTH BALLOT.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the thirteenth ballot Anton Mahlum, former councilman of the First ward, was elected city clerk of Brainerd to succeed V. N. Roderick, resigned. The vacancy was caused by C. O. Haberg, being sworn in as alderman from the First ward.

BARRON CREAMERY LEADS ALL WORLD.

Barron, Wis., Feb. 18.—The annual report of the secretary of the Barron Co-operative Creamery company to stockholders shows the local creamery still holds its position as the largest co-operative creamery in the world. This plant, in 1914, manufactured 1,112,380 pounds of butter, from the sale of which it received $318,756.62. During the year it had 670 patrons, to whom it paid an average price of 32.15 cents per pound for butterfat.

BANNING, MINN., HAS JOINED "DRY" PLACES.

Sandstone, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Banning, the little hamlet four miles north of here, which has been "wet" since Sandstone voted out the license a year ago, is now "dry." Sheriff Hawley was here from Pine City Tuesday and seized everything to satisfy the creditors of the proprietor of the saloon.

FARM HAND KILLS SELF IN GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 18.—Ole Haug, a farm hand employed on the farm of Anton Anderson, northeast of Reynolds, was discovered by a bellboy in a local hotel, lying in a pool of blood with his throat cut, a razor lying nearby indicating the weapon he probably used.

He was rushed to a local hospital, but in spite of medical aid, died. He regained consciousness at times, but said nothing to indicate the motive for the deed.

From all that can be learned, Haug arrived in the city Saturday evening and registered at the hotel. He complained of being ill and called on Dr. Westeen. He appeared melancholy and while at the hotel Sunday, was seen in the lobby, but said nothing to anyone.

Haug was single, about 56 years of age and had one relative in the city, a cousin, Ole Telle, who is employed at a local grocery store.

NORTH DAKOTA RATE HEARING NEXT MONTH.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of taking testimony in two cases, one relating to rates at various points in La Moure county and another of a local foundry company against the Northern Pacific on rates, Examiner Worthington of the interstate commerce commission will conduct an investigation here March 8. It is possible that a number of attorneys of the different railroads will participate.

Farm Student Measles Victim.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 18.—Ira A. Gregg, the first victim of the measles epidemic at the Minnesota School of Agriculture, died Wednesday at the City hospital. The seriousness of his case caused his removal from the school dormitory measles ward some days ago. He also suffered from bronchial pneumonia, it is said. Gregg was a freshman student in the preparatory course in agriculture. His home is in Dexter, Minn.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Oshkosh—Twenty-three pieces of furniture made in the industrial department of the local state normal school for the men's room of the Wisconsin building at the Panama-Pacific exposition were packed and shipped to San Francisco.

Milwaukee—While on a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Steinbach, Mrs. Alice Brooks, 44 years old, of Eau Claire, was suddenly stricken and died. After the cause of death has been determined by a post-mortem examination the body was taken to Eau Claire.

La Crosse—The La Crosse Pastors' union, many years a unique organization of its kind, has disbanded, according to Rev. J. E. Watson, pastor of the West Avenue Methodist church, president of the union. To lack of interest and co-operation among the members of the organization the break is ascribed. The Pastor's union was at one time affiliated with the Trades and Labor council and marched in the Labor day parades.

Green Bay—Following the lead of Menominee, Mich., the Green Bay board of education is seriously considering adopting a longer daily session. Under the proposed plan school will convene at 8:15 o'clock and continue until 5:15 p. m.

Marinette—Representative C. A. Budlong of this city is the recipient of hundreds of protests from members of the Cram Methodist Episcopal church here for his bill introduced into the state legislature calling for the repeal of the Sunday saloon closing law.

Madison—The annual meeting and banquet of rural mail carriers of Dane county will be held in this city on Feb. 22. T. C. Pyburn of Marshall is president.

Manitowoc—Last of a family of fifteen, which came from Norway together, Miss Barbara Fylken, a resident of this city forty years, is dead. She was 81 years old.

Marinette—Hurrying to work came near being fatal to Miss Maymo Rick, when she was stricken with heart failure and taken to a hospital in a critical condition. The young woman was on her way to a store here, where she was employed and was running. She will live.

Wausau—The Lutheran Saengerbund of Central Wisconsin, consisting of choral societies of Merrill, Grand Rapids, Marshfield and Wausau Lutheran churches, has been organized with over 300 voices. The Rev. Hautz of Grand Rapids was named president. Grand Rapids was selected as the place of holding the first meeting next July.

Merrill—Judge M. C. Porter in county court decided against Aldyrman Meyers, when action was brought against him by Mrs. Charles Shively, his cook. It was agreed she be paid for extra work. The court found she was entitled to the extra money for working nineteen Sundays.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Frank J. Webb of Duluth, general manager of the Republic Iron & Steel company's mines, is here on a few days business visit to the company's Hartford and Cambria properties.

Ishpeming—Jerry Donovan, who has just been engaged in diamond drill work at Timmins, Ont., has returned home. Exploratory work there has been suspended temporarily. The war has greatly affected mining and other industries in Canada.

Rexton—Caught under a rolling log while engaged as a top loader here, Nicholas Pluo met instant death. He stumbled as the logs on the load began to roll and when a heavy timber passed over his body life was instantly crushed out. The man had lived at Rexton for the past two years. He came from Powers, Menominee county.

Marquette—Veterans' jewels, significant of twenty-five years of continuous membership in the order, were awarded at the annual meeting of the order of the Knights of Pythias Monday evening in Fraternity hall. H. O'Meara, William Parker and Dr. F. McD. Harkin were the recipients.

Houghton—Coroner Little and a sheriff's officer went to Pori, Ontonagon county to investigate a report that a man employed by the Porterfield Lumber company had been killed in a runaway accident. It is understood that the accident happened in Houghton county.

Negaunee—Fred Arscotte, a well-known resident of this city, left Monday evening for New York from where he will sail Saturday morning for his former home in Liverpool, England, having been called home by the English government.

Ishpeming—The council voted unanimously to sell the Zenith Lodge Knights of Pythias, a strip of five foot six-inch frontage, between the city hall grounds and the Pythias' property. The strip is ninety-five feet long and $275 is the price asked by the city.

Calumet—Plans for the entertainment of the many delegates and visitors expected here to attend the big state convention of the Foresters of America, which opens on June 1, are occupying the attention of the members of Court North Star, No. 17, of this city.

Houghton—Monday, March 1, has been designated past masters' night for the Houghton lodge of Masons. The past masters of the lodge will occupy the various chairs and will later be the guests of the lodge at a banquet.

Hancock—The funeral of John Heckman, aged 76, an old resident of Franklin, who died Feb. 14, was held Wednesday. He was born in Finland, having resided in the Copper County for more than thirty years. A widow in Franklin and a son in Finland survive.

Calumet—Charles Wesala of Ahmeek, aged 38, a resident of Keweenaw county for a number of years, and deputy under mine inspector, John Dunnigan, up to the first of this year, killed himself by shooting. The deceased leaves a wife and three children, all under 10 years of age. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—The North Dakota and Minnesota Short Circuit Farmers' association will meet here, Feb. 20, in a regular meeting. Representatives of farmers' clubs all over the state will be in attendance.

Rolla, N. D.—The Rolla consolidated school house was completely destroyed by fire, Feb. 16. Only the walls of the building were left standing. The loss is estimated at $20,000, of which $15,000 is covered by insurance.

Grand Forks, N. D.—"Tag day" for the relief of the suffering poor of Poland, proved a success Feb. 16, and over $200 was collected for the relief fund.

Fargo, N. D.—Judge Hanson is sustained in the decision just handed down by the supreme court, in the case of Pratt vs. Pratt, in which judgment was given for the plaintiff.

Devils Lake, N. D. — Five-year-old Clinton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, died Monday night after a fight for life. Clinton was operated on last week for an advanced case of appendicitis and from the first had very little chance to live.

Minot, N. D.—Tom Jogulis, a foreigner, suffering from smallpox, broke quarantine from his shack near Burlington without having been disinfected as provided by law. As a result of his action a warrant was issued for his arrest by the board of health and he was apprehended by a deputy sheriff and a Ward county public health officer at Genoa, in McHenry county.

Bismarck, N. D.—W. H. Scott, a pioneer of Burleigh county who helped build the bridge here, is dead. Mr. Scott was born in Rampton, Nottingshire, England, in 1839, and came to America in 1857. On Nov. 28, 1861, he was married to Maria Shipley at Platteville, Wis. In 1881 he came to North Dakota and took up his residence on the farm near Wogansport. He is survived by a wife and four children: Martin T. Scott, St. Xavier, Mont.; Harry S. Scott, Crow Agency, Mont.; Roy L. Scott, and Emma A. Scott of Wogansport.

Minot, N. D.—Joseph Beauregard, janitor at the Soo railroad depot, found a woman's pocketbook containing $150 in the waiting room of the depot. Beauregard failed to find any trace of the owner so reported the matter to the Soo officials. Miss Katie Spechmeir of Foxholm, owner of the purse, later also reported the loss of her property to the Soo officials when she missed it. The pocketbook was returned to her.

Fargo, N. D.—Ole Vick of Fargo, aged 27 years, died Sunday at Dunseith. Mr. Vick had been an inmate of the state hospital for the tubercular for the past nine months. The remains were brought to the city for burial. Mr. Vick is survived by his young wife and a brother.

Jamestown, N. D.—A $30,000 loss resulted when fire was discovered in the basement of the Zimmerman grocery department in the Lutz block on South Fifth avenue. The entire grocery department was destroyed, besides one room on the floor above.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Mankato—T. R. and T. M. Coughlan of this city have purchased from Mrs. Thomas M. Breen of St. Paul the Breen quarries and polishing plant at Kasota, ten miles from this city, and are organizing a company to operate them.

Minneapolis—E. P. Mills, one of the first settlers of old St. Anthony, one of the first public school teachers in Minnesota and a pioneer with a roving spirit that carried him all over the great West, died Jan. 14 on his son's ranch in Montana at the age of 84.

Crookston—W. S. Lycan will represent the Polk County Agricultural association at Fargo on Feb. 20, when the North Dakota and Minnesota short circuit holds a regular meeting.

International Falls—Deputy Sheriff Van Ettan went to Fergus Falls Monday night, taking a demented Finn and also took along McKenzie, the young fellow who pleaded guilty to robbing Fred Shaw of some rare coins. He took the latter to St. Cloud to serve a term in the state reformatory.

Sebeka—The Nimrod creamery has been organized with these officers: President, M. Perkins; vice president, M. Riley; treasurer, W. H. Johnson; secretary, O. Westvig; directors, Frank Meech, Ed Sweeney and H. Schermerhorn. The site for the creamery has been donated by O. Westvig, the Nimrod merchant, on the high bank of the Crow Wing river.

Brainerd—Dan Mack, a former Bay lake farmer, and family have returned from Virginia and are visiting with Mrs. Mack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Phelps. Mr. Mack went to Virginia five years ago and bought a farm near Richmond, but has sold out and returned, thinking Minnesota is good enough for him.

Fergus Falls—In district court here Judge Parsons has just made a ruling in which land valued at about $10,000 is awarded to the Luck Land company. The case involved the right of an Indian, receiving his patent before reaching the age of 21, to sell his land. The land in question is located in Mahnomen and Becker counties. Several other cases involving the same point are now in litigation.

Nymore—The home of L. C. Cole, a conductor on the Minnesota & International railroad, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. A portion of the furniture was saved. The family was not at home.

Little Falls—Albert Bell, indicted for burglary in the third degree, after he had robbed a store at New Pierz, and who effected a delivery from the Morrison county jail, has been sentenced to the reformatory by Judge John A. Roeser. Bell was at large several months and was recaptured but a couple of weeks ago at Foley, where he had hired out as a woodchopper.

Stillwater—Nels Martin Johnson and Nellie Lee of St. Paul were arraigned in the municipal court on charges of grand larceny in the second degree. Each waived examination and committed to the county jail, in default of $1,000 bail each. They are alleged to have burglarized a home at Newport.

Baking Helps

Learn to Regulate the Heat of Your Oven

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and keep an even surface. Have your oven moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to brown it over quickly. Extreme heat stiffens the dough. If you stiffen the outside of the cake before the rising is complete, you stop the rising process. Then the leavening gas, forming inside, will bulge up the center, where the dough is still soft, and spoil the shape of the cake. 38

NOTE—Biscuits or other pastries made from stiff dough, that are cut into shapes for the oven, bake in a hot oven. This is because the cut surfaces of the dough do not sear over, but rather leave the pores open, allowing the leavening gas to escape and the heat to penetrate readily. Small ovens cool quickly; therefore they should be made several degrees hotter than a larger oven, and the less the door is opened the better. Do not attempt to bake bread and pastry together. Bread requires prolonged, moderate baking—pastry the reverse.

Have a strong underheat for baking powder preparations, especially pastry.

These are only a few of the many baking helps found in the K C Cook's Book—a copy of which may be secured by sending the colored certificate taken from a 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any cases of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Young Woman:" "For several years I have doctored for distressing stomach symptoms, such as sour stomach, belching, accumulations of gas, heart-burn, drowsiness after eating, sleeplessness, coated tongue, bad breath, inertia, and I am getting thin and weak, my complexion is poor, and so far have not been improved by the medicines I have taken."

Answer: Your need is medicine to aid digestion, overcome dyspepsia and tone up the stomach, liver and bowels. I advise you to take "double-four stomach and bowel medicine," sold in sealed packets, by druggists, with complete directions.

Miss Adele writes: "My hair is combing out, my scalp itches and dandruff is very annoying, and I want something to cure these conditions.

Answer: For hair and scalp troubles I have never found anything to equal the beneficial results of a thorough treatment of plain yellow minyol. It is cooling, cleansing and invigorating, and thousands now use it regularly as a hair and scalp tonic.

Henry J. C. writes: "Something seems to be wrong with my system and I don't know what it is. I have huge puffs under my eyes, my eyes are bloodshot in morning and my feet and ankles are swollen. Sometimes I have chills and feel weak and tired most of the time."

Answer. Your eliminating organs, such as liver and kidneys, are in need of treatment. Begin taking balmwort tablets at once. Get them in sealed tubes with full directions of any well-stocked druggist.

C. M. C. asks: "Please relieve me of a coated tongue, foul breath, headache, constipation and general ill health."

Answer: If habitually constipated, you should take three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur) and arouse the organs which eliminate waste material from your body. These tablets purify the blood and improve the health by acting on the liver, kidneys and bowels. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism. If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be relieved of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be relieved. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

Miss Bertie L. asks: "What remedy can you recommend to reduce obesity safely? I want to reduce about thirty pounds."

Answer: I rely on five-grain arbolone tablets as being the most effective and convenient treatment to reduce abnormal fat. Druggists supply this in sealed tubes with complete directions. After the first few days a pound a day is not too much reduction.

Mrs. M. D. D. asks: "Do you think it is possible for me to increase my weight from 97 pounds to about 125 pounds?"

Answer: Yes, I believe that the regular use of a special tonic tablet will do this for you as it has for thousands of others. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclano tablets in sealed package with full directions. Take them for several months to get the full benefit.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial troubles be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?

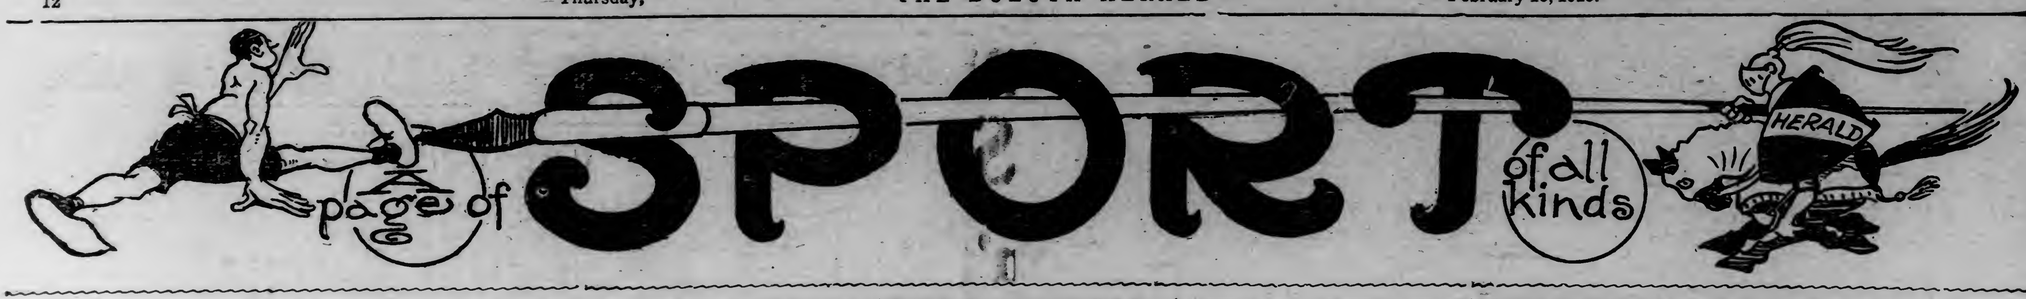

Answer: To relieve chronic cold, sore throat bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

M. G. W. asks: "What can one do for a bad catarrhal condition? I have suffered a long time and am unable to find relief. In addition to catarrh in throat and nostrils, I am also affected with pelvic catarrh (or leucorrhea).

Answer: A good tonic and builder such as three-grain hypo-nuclano tablets should build up your vitality, while using antiseptic Vilane powder for local treatment. Get either a two or eight-ounce package of the powder and complete directions with package will tell you how to use.

John C. L. writes: "I find my natural strength and nervous system failing me. I do not recuperate as of yore. My food and rest seem not to benefit as they should. Am weak, despondent and unable to perform the duties which were assumed earlier in life, while my ambition for work and pleasure is slowly going."

Answer: I think a powerful, harmless tonic and nervine medicine will rejuvenate and restore the functions of digestion, assimilation and elimination by invigorating the nervous system. Obtain three-grain cadomene tablets packed in sealed tubes, and take as per directions accompanying. — Advertisement.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

WE are going to enjoy a spicy week-end of sport hereabouts. Starting this blithesome near springtime eve there will be various doings in the local whirl of exhilarating pastimes of athletic nature.

Lawrence Duby, rising young impresario, has succeeded in bringing to the local midst two of the greatest basket ball teams in the United States. The statement can be tossed off with slight concern—but try to negotiate, arrange and otherwise promote a basket ball game of like magnitude and trouble will raise its Medusa-locked head and hiss forth opposition.

The contests carded between the strong Company E team of Fond du Lac, Wis., and the crack Oswego quint should furnish the fastest and most scientific exhibition of the popular floor sport that has ever been witnessed in Duluth.

If the citz and citizenesses of this dear city like the basket ball game they have the rare opportunity to see class arrayed against class—a case where Greek meets Greek.

Fond du Lac has a great record and for the last five years Oswego has been one of the towering figures of the professional basket ball world.

Harley Davidson Here.

AT the Auditorium for the last three evenings of the week Frank Bryant will attempt to outdo Custer's last stand and wrest the laurel of long sustained supremacy from the red brow of one of the greatest roller skaters that the little wheel sport has perhaps ever produced.

No "ifs" and "ands" jut thorn-like from the record of this Davidson person; he has gone forth in a large and Missouri-like world and performed valorous athletic stunts of prodigious proportions.

Harley has met and defeated the greatest roller skaters from Bangor, Me., to El Paso, Tex., on the main division of travel, and has added luster to his name by invading all of the countries of the world and beating the best men that could be brought to oppose him.

If Bryant succeeds in defeating this hardy veteran of over two decades of athletic endeavor, he will have added deserved prestige to his name and fame as a skater.

More From Michael.

MIKE COLLINS is authority for the statement that newspaper men from New York and Chicago will be on hand at Hudson on the evening of March 2, when Sir Michael Gibbons and Eddie McGoorty clash over the sprint route of ten rounds.

"McGoorty will be here within a few days," says Collins, writing from St. Paul. "He is to train in Minneapolis. McGoorty is surely going to try to put Gibbons away in one punch, and don't be surprised, Bruce, if this should happen. Gibbons certainly had to be coaxed to make this match. Mike put his price very high, but it might be stated that I called him. When Gibbons said, '$5,000 for my end,' I handed him a fountain pen and a set of articles. Well, the match is on. It should be a grand contest. Both Gibbons and McGoorty have everything in the world to win—and conversely, everything in the world to lose. It will mean more than the purse to the winner."

It is stated that reservations from the Head of the Lakes are among the huge list flooding the Minneapolis and St. Paul offices of Collins. Little towns throughout Minnesota and Wisconsin are going to send delegations down. It looks as if Hudson will entertain a notable fistic crowd on the large evening of March 2.

Emil Klank Is Alive.

MANY Duluth followers of the lines of sport may be interested to learn that Emil Klank, former manager of Frank Gotch and Freddy Beell and present pilot of the peerless Mike Yokel, is at Hot Springs, Ark.

The genial and jovial Emil is the owner of a bath house at the world famous health resort and has gayly budded forth as an impresario of sports at the American Spa.

During the last decade Klank has made frequent trips to Duluth. In his entourage have followed some of the greatest stars of the mat world. Gotch, Beell, Yussiff Mahmout and others have trailed behind the press-agented way of Emil. Klank has been known to use a typewriter and upon a well known occasion wrote two pages of copy in an hour.

The next visit Emil makes to this town will possibly be with the view of staking the sturdy Yokel against that wrestling machine known as Waino Ketonen.

Red Watson Fighter.

PICTURES at hand of Red Watson give the imagination a runway to a sturdy, thickset red-headed freckled faced youngster with the word fight written in large letters over his aggressive countenance. Not having seen Mr. Watson as yet, we take a little advance opportunity of stating that he looks, from the lifeless negative and cold reprint like a real fighter—one capable of battling from bell to bell without exhibiting the trace of weariness or ennui. We for one sincerely hope that this enthusiastic impression given forth by the photographs of Red Watson is not to be dissipated by the appearance in the quivering flesh.

Watson is due Monday. He comes hailed as a hero; let us trust that he will not depart assailed as a dub. Judging from the record of this outshoot of pugilism, he is extremely apt to make an indelible impression upon the minds of those who follow fight form and study the dope.

OLDHAM IS OUT OF TWO

Loses at Winnipeg Spiel—Ron MacLeod Bumped in Glenboro Event.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 18.—Johnny Oldham and Ron MacLeod, representing the Duluth Curling club, at the Manitoba bonspiel, were bumped by Doig and Cline of Glenboro, respectively, yesterday afternoon in the Tuckett trophy event. The scores were:

Oldham, 9; MacLeod, 6. Total, 15.
Doig, 11; Cline, 11. Total, 22.

Oldham of Duluth took the count in last evening's draw of the Tetley Tea, losing out to Hepper, Deloraine, 7 to 14. Dunbar, St. Paul is still going strong.

BILLY MURRAY WILL SPAR WITH RED WATSON.

In a letter received from Jack Kearns, manager of Red Watson and Billy Murray, the Pacific coast manager informs The Herald sport department that Murray will come to the Head of the Lakes and act as Watson's sparring partner. Kearns will come up here with Watson and states that he is confident that his boy will take the measure of Brown. Kearns states that there is some possibility that Mike Collins may match the winner of the battle with Freddy Welsh.

SHEPPARD A PROFESSIONAL.

Once Greatest Runner Signs as Coach With Athletic Association.

New York, Feb. 18.—Melvin W. Sheppard, once the world's greatest middle distance runner, holder of many world's records and Olympic championships, set all doubt at rest about his permanent retirement from competition in amateur track athletics by signing a contract yesterday as a professional coach for the Millrose Athletic association.

Sheppard is still under the doctor's care as a result of his fall at the New York Athletic club games in Madison Square Garden last week.

ENTRIES ARE COMING IN

Five St. Paul Bowling Teams Will Roll in Local Meet.

It looks now as if the Northern Bowling association tournament will be by far the largest that has ever been held at the Head of the Lakes. yesterday entries were received from five St. Paul teams. As the Northern association meet is not scheduled to begin until the 12 of March, the receipt of out of town entries at so early a date is taken as an indication that the tourney is going to prove by far the largest that has ever been held in this section of the country.

Members of the entertainment committee are busy these days devising ways and means for the cheer of the out-of-town pin men. Some unique features are planned for the entertainment of the visiting pin men.

Tomorrow afternoon members of five Duluth bowling teams will leave for the Twin Cities for the purpose of taking part in the L. B. A. The Elcoras, Peoples, Grand and one other team will go down. The Duluth bowlers will roll in the five-men, doubles and singles.

As Duluth is sending perhaps the best representation that has ever gone forth from this burg, followers of the game here entertain hope for a splendid showing.

This season has proved the greatest by far in the history of the bowling game. Great strides have been made in the game and it is believed that the high ability of the rollers that are to represent Duluth at the I. B. A. will prove a credit to the Head of the Lakes.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—Members of the University of Pennsylvania track team will not be allowed to compete for any outside organization during the collegiate term, it is announced.

The new rule will apply only to track and field athletics. Golfers, tennis players, oarsmen and participants in other branches of sport at the university will still be allowed to compete for clubs.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Twelve University of Chicago hopefuls answered the first call for 1915 baseball practice yesterday. They were given practice before Pat Page, assistant coach. The baseball squad will have daily workouts until the last of March when the first exhibition games are scheduled.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 18.—Forty University of Illinois candidates came out for 1915 football practice yesterday to help Coach Zuppke develop a fullback to replace Jene Schobinger. Nelson, last year's substitute tackle, had a long workout.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 18.—Princeton defeated the Lafayette wrestling team here last night 29 to 0. Princeton secured four falls and three decisions.

Manhattan, Kas., Feb. 18.—Missouri university basket ball team won its fourth consecutive Missouri Valley conference game by defeating the Kansas Aggies here last night, 21 to 19. The game was won by a free throw in the last minute of play.

GIBBONS-M'GOORTY BOUT IN DANGER

Moha Says He Got No Money at Hudson—Asks License Suspension.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 18.—Bob Moha, a middleweight pugilist of Milwaukee, has filed complaint with the Wisconsin state boxing commission against the Hudson club of Hudson, Wis., charging that the organization violated the rules of the commission in failing to pay him his share of the receipts of the Moha and Gibbons bout, Dec. 4.

Moha asked the commission, which has full charge of boxing in Wisconsin, to prohibit the Hudson club from staging any boxing shows for a period not less than one year. If the commission should grant the plea, the fight between Mike Gibbons of St. Paul and Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, set for March 2, would have to be staged elsewhere.

CRACK TEAMS WILL MEET

Fond du Lac and Oswego Will Decide Basket Ball Supremacy.

"Swede" Grimstad to Meet Giant in Opponent Hawkins.

Fond du Lac, Wis., and the Oswego, N. Y., basket ball teams will meet this evening on the Y. M. C. A. floor. These quints represent about the highest basket ball class in the country.

"Swede" Grimstad, the center for the Oswego team is called the greatest basket ball player in the world. The Swede stands 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 204 pounds. Opposed to Grimstad will be Hawkins of Fond du Lac. Hawkins stands 6 feet 3 inches and weighs 230 pounds.

The initial game of the series between the two star teams will be played at the Y. M. C. A. The other two contests will be pulled off on the Armory floor.

As Fond du Lac is the classiest team in the West, despite the fact that it occasionally loses a game, and as Oswego is one of the greatest quints in the country, the games should be close and bring out the greatest basket ball that has ever been seen in this city.

Fond du Lac won five games from the Ascensions before being defeated by that team. The Oswegos hold the enviable record of having defeated the Buffalo Germans. For years, down in the sylvan quiet of Fond du Lac, the Company E quint has met and beaten teams from all sections of the West. The Fond du Lac boys will go to San Francisco and meet some of the best teams on the Pacific coast.

Lawrence Duby, mnnager of the Rotary team, is putting on the games here. The Duluth team plays at Bemidji this evening.

ASCENSION TEAM TURNS THE TABLES

Gets Revenge for Recent Basket Ball Defeat By Fond du Lac.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 18.—Ascension tradition is intact. The North Minneapolis basket ball quint, smarting under a basket ball defeat of Friday, turned on the Fond du Lac team at Ascension hall last night and swept the Wisconsin men off their feet. The score was 26 to 11 and once more a defeat is revenged.

Manager Berry's men guarded more closely than on Friday and found the basket more accurately. Fond du Lac made a desperate game but couldn't smother the "Irish" they had aroused in their opponents.

The score at the end of the first half was 15 to 4 with the Ascension in the lead. The visitors came back strong in the second half, but failed to gain the lead. During the final few minutes of play, Fond du Lac made a desperate attempt to tie the score, but the defensive playing stopped all chances.

HARLEY DAVIDSON.

ISHPEMING DOG RACES.

Prizes for Washington's Birthday Events Are Announced.

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 18.—Capt. F. E. Keese, chairman; John Lacey and James Bryden, the committee in charge of the annual dog races, to be held on Main street, Monday morning, Feb. 22, have appointed judges and decided on prizes. John S. Olson is secretary and treasurer; John T. Burke, William Weelander and W. C. Uren have been named as judges and William Hooper will be the announcer.

The cash prizes will be: First, $3; second, $2, and third, $1. The value of each merchandise prize, of which there will be five, will range from $1.50 to $5. The eighth prize will be offered for a free-for-all with the boys changing dogs, and the driver of the last dog to cross the line will win the event.

MINNESOTA BASEBALL AND TRACK SCHEDULE IS OUT

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 18.—Spring baseball and track schedules for the University of Minnesota were announced today by Alan J. McBean, manager of athletics. All of the more important dates, including the conference games and track meets, have been arranged, but the list of early season practice contests is not yet complete.

Negotiations are under way for baseball games with St. Thomas college on April 17 and May 15. Other early season matches will probably be arranged with teams from other neighboring colleges. Baseball practice will start officially this season March 1, when Frosty Thomas, the coach, will arrive in Minneapolis from New York, where he is a student at Columbia university.

Track athletes will have their first chance to distinguish themselves in a handicap meet with Shattuck Feb. 27, the date having been confirmed today by the Shattuck authorities. On Feb. 26 the university swimming team of seven men will take part in an aquatic meet against the cadets at Faribault.

Spring football practice began late yesterday when twenty-five condidates, garbed in track suits, turned out to hear Dr. H. L. Williams expound his system of play. After a brief talk, in which the coach urged the men to keep up in their scholastic work, the squad was sent around the track for a mile jog. Only three members of last year's team reported at the first practice. Biernie Bierman, Frank Mayer, and Lorin Solon, captain, were the only veterans out. Jack Townley, tackle, and Albert Baston, end on the 1914 team, are both ineligible at present although they may be able to get rid of their scholastic impediments before next fall.

Coeds in Meets.

Athletics for university women is encouraged by two approaching tournaments. The Women's Athletic association will hold an indoor skating carnival at the Hippodrome Feb. 25. There will be contests in racing and figure skating, open to all girl students in the university. The other event is a basket ball tourney March 27.

Minnesota baseball schedule:
April 20—Macalester at Northrop field.
April 23—Iowa at Iowa.
April 24—Chicago at Chicago.
April 26—Northwestern at Evanston.
May 4—Macalester at Macalester.
May 7—Iowa at Northrop field.
May 8—Iowa at Northrop field.
May 10—Illinois at Northrop field.
May 20—Wisconsin at Madison.
May 22—Northwestern at Northrop field.

DAVIDSON AND BRYANT ARE HARDY INDIVIDUALS

Two tough birds.

One might speak of Harley Davidson and Frank Bryant in the poetical simile as winter and summer. Davidson is 42 years of age and yet remains today recognized as the greatest roller skater before the public. Bryant is but 22—just twenty years younger than Davidson.

When Davidson was winning world's championships Bryant was cooing in a cradle or being wheeled in a perambulator. Thus do the years catch and overlap one another.

Davidson is one of the most hardy athletes in the world. He is muscled like a professional strong man. At an age when most men are consulting a medical man for some tonic to battle off accumulated sedentary ills, Harley is out skating for world's titles. He declares that he will make another trip to Australia and will participate in the world's championship roller races at the Madison Square Garden.

Last September Frank Bryant was operated on at St. Mary's hospital for a ruptured appendix. One day the nurse was shocked to the verge of hysterics to find the little skater up and strolling around his room. Frankie was supposed to be approaching the portal of the long sleep.

One dusky evening in October a small figure could be seen speeding along First street. It was Frank Bryant. The little skater was running out to Twenty-fourth avenue east and back, with the Auditorium as a starting point. This was early in October. In September Frank was considered one of the worst cases that ever went to the hospital.

Yes, Davidson and Bryant are two tough birds, eh?

UNIVERSALS SHOW CLASS; NORTHERNS DOWN CLOTHIERS

Flour Makers Win From Two Harbors at Hockey By 5 to 0 Score and Northerns Take Big Duluths Into Court By Count of 3 to 2.

Team Standing.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Northerns	4	1	.800
Big Duluths	4	2	.666
Universals	3	2	.600
Two Harbors	3	3	.500
D. C. H. S.	1	2	.333
Bagleys	0	5	.000

The Universals got started last evening and decisively defeated the Two Harbors team at hockey by the score of 5 to 0. In the other half of the stellar double bill the Northerns somewhat surprised the talent by winning from the Big Duluths by the score of 3 to 2. Both games were fast and the second contest was a furious battle from the opening bell to the very last minute of play.

Thawing weather imposed a handicap in the way of soft ice. The skating surface of the French rink was filtered with holes before half of the initial game was completed. The slow going interfered with the players, but failed to prevent both games from ranking as the classiest exhibitions of the season.

Universals Show Strong.

Displaying the best team work of the season and playing a rushing game from the start, the Universals rushed the railroad gang off its feet. Ray Bartlett put up a stellar article of hockey for the flour makers. One of the most brilliant plays of the evening was performed by Ray when he took the puck away down in his own territory through the entire Two Harbors team for a goal.

"Beany" Brown's playing was another feature of the Universal offense. The little left wing of the flour men showed some dazzling speed and his combination play with Harris was one of the effective offense features of the contest. From the start to close of the game the visitors were played off their feet, the aggressive and speedy work of the Universal forwards rarely giving the offensive of the railroad men an opportunity to get started.

Northerns Show Class.

At the conclusion of the first half of the game the Big Duluths led by the score of 2 to 1. In the second period of play the hardware dealers gave a sterling and dashing exhibition of hockey, scoring two goals and preventing the clothiers from counting. "Nobby" Clark was one of the standbys of the Northerns. In the final half this player scored both of the Northerns goals by his excellent individual playing.

In twelve minutes Clark scored his first goal in the second half, carrying the puck from down near his own goal to the opposing cage and shooting a pretty goal. Seven minutes later Clark intercepted the puck and carrying it down the ice shot another pretty goal and gave the victory to his team.

As a result of the play of last evening the Two Harbors boys are shunted down to fourth place in the pennant chase. The race is a pretty one. The Universals are but a mite in the rear of the Big Duluths. The first four teams are making a dandy race of it. The lineup and summary:

NEARLY TIES ONE-MAN I. B. A. RECORD

Minneapolis Man Makes Great Showing in Present Bowling Tourney.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 18.—Scoring a total of 670, within one point of the International Bowling association's individual record, J. Garland of Minneapolis last night went into the lead in the singles of the association's annual tournament here. T. Sommers, also of Minneapolis, climbed to second place with 653.

The work of Garland was the outstanding feature of last night's play. In the doubles, F. E. Ryan and D. A. Hartberg, Minneapolis, nosed out Laidlaw and Garrison, Peoria, Ill., from second place.

REAL tobacco satisfaction makes up for a lot of the troubles of life. Your tobacco chewer knows how it is—and when he once gets the comfort of "Right-Cut" he's anxious for his friends to know about it, too.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does no need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

CURLING

One of the features of play this season has been that of the green Bishoff rink. Bishoff plays third for Bradley and skips a bunch of green players. His rink has gone along in fine style and is well up in several of the events. The string of victories of this rink was augmented last evening by a win over Colie Naughton's gang.

Ralph Bradley and James Elder are to meet tonight in the Bagley and the winner will go into the fours. Play is progressing in the Manley-McLennan and the Universal event is nearing the finals.

The draw for this evening and the results of the games of last evening:

Manley-McLennan Event.

The Trinity indoor baseball team chalked up another victory to its credit last night by defeating the crack Scottish Rite nine by the score of 29 to 9. Erickson and Anderson worked for the winners, while Anderson and Frederickson were the batteries for the losers.

Next Saturday night the Palestine and Chapter teams will clash.

MUST RAISE $8,000 TO GET FREEDOM

Bonds of Alleged Theater Payroll Thieves Fixed at $4,000 Each.

In district court yesterday afternoon, Judge Fesler fixed the bonds to be furnished by Edward J. O'Reagan and George Roach, alias George Burke, at $4,000 each, pending action by the March grand jury. The two men are at the county jail charged with the theft of $3,700 from Ross Garver, manager of the Orpheum theater, while he was in the vestibule of a West Superior street cafeteria, Feb. 6. O'Reagan is already under a $4,000 bond from the district court in Minneapolis for a similar offense.

NORMANNA WILL CELEBRATE

Famous Duluth Male Chorus Will Be Twenty-Four Years Old Next Saturday—Successful and Honorable Career Enjoyed.

The Normanna Male chorus which will celebrate its twenty-fourth anniversary next Saturday evening at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street, is the oldest organization of Norwegians in Duluth, having been organized in 1890 and continuing its labors in the realm of song ever since. The chorus is a member of the Norwegian Singers of America, an association of about fifty male choruses, which hold biennial "sangerfests." The Normanna chorus has represented Duluth at ten of these fests in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Sioux Falls, Grand Forks, Fargo, La Crosse, Chicago and Duluth, where it has won much praise for its work.

At Chicago last summer the chorus carried off all honors and attracted much favorable comment from the press cities.

On the excursion to Norway, following the Chicago sangerfest, the Normanna chorus had the largest delegation, based on percentages of membership of any chorus in the association, and they sang the praises of Duluth their adopted city, wherever they went.

The chorus now has about forty active singers besides a long list of associate members, and has taken part in many prominent local affairs, notably the recent convention of the Northeastern Minnesota Educational association at the Central high school auditorium, by special invitation of the management of the convention.

It is expected that the many friends of Normanna will avail themselves of the opportunity to show their appreciation by attending Saturday's celebration.

Sodahl First Director.

Ingo Sodahl was the first director of Normanna and continued his labors in that capacity for ten years. He was followed by Teodor Sommers, O. Gronseth, Jens Flaaten, Olaf Halten, Gust Flaaten and again Jens Flaaten, who is the present director and has done much to bring the chorus to its present high standard.

It is the intention of the members in the near future to incorporate and take steps to acquire a permanent home. The officers for the ensuing year are: President, George Thrana; vice president, Oscar Hanson; secretary, B. Hvaal; treasurer, Ludvik Solem; financial secretary, Birger Sande; property man, John Torgerson; trustees, Alfred Christofferson, H. Holm and A. Ruske.

The committee in charge of the "sangerfest" celebration consists of J. Jonasson, John Torgerson and O. Hanson.

A Genuine Rupture Cure Sent On Trial To Prove It

Don't Wear a Truss Any Longer.

After Thirty Years' Experience I Have Produced An Appliance for Men, Women and Children That Actually Cures Rupture

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Send attached coupon today and I will send you free my illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing my Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, I use no salves, no harness, no lies.

I send on trial to prove what I say is true. You are the judge and, once having seen my illustrated book and read it, you will be as enthusiastic as my hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try my Appliance or not.

The above is C. E. Brooks, inventor of the Appliance, who cured himself and who is now giving others the benefit of his experience. If ruptured, write him today, at Marshall, Mich.

Ten Reasons Why

You Should Send for Brooks Rupture Appliance

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years.
2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.
3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.
4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.
5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.
6. The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.
7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes soiled it can be washed without injuring it in the least.
8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.
9. All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.
10. My reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and my prices are so reasonable, my terms so fair, that there certainly should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—
Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body, as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance, and also the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am,

Yours very sincerely,
JAMES A. BRITTON,
80 Spring St., Bethlehem, Pa.

Confederate Veteran Cured

Commerce, Ga., R. F. D. No. 11.
Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Dear Sir:—I am glad to tell you that I am now sound and well and can plough or do any heavy work. I can say your Appliance has effected a permanent cure. Before getting your Appliance I was in a terrible condition and had given up all hope of ever being any better. If it hadn't been for your Appliance I would never have been cured. I am sixty-eight years old and served three years in Eckle's Artillery, Oglethorpe Co. I hope God will reward you for the good you are doing for suffering humanity.

Yours sincerely,
H. D. BANKS.

Others Failed But the Appliance Cured

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectfully,
WM. PATTERSON,
No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, Ohio.

Remember

I send my Appliance on trial to prove what I say is true. You are to be the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail today.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.
Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your Appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner, our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four months.

Yours very truly,
ANDREW EGGENBERGER.

ALLEGED MURDERER SOUGHT IN DULUTH

Suspected Slayer of Superior Man Thought to Be Here.

Dennis Mafredas, aged 25, of Superior, believed to be the man who shot and killed Dennis Chapanus, aged 25, in a Superior rooming house Tuesday night, is being sought in Duluth by the police.

Since the shooting, Duluth officers have heard stories of a man who appeared on this side of the river shortly after Chapanus was shot, without a hat and in very much of a hurry. It is thought that this man may be Mafredas.

Mafredas is described as being 5 feet 6½ inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds, dark complexioned, having a long, black mustache and wearing a black suit, a black or gray hat and a black shirt.

Six men, arrested by Superior police in a room adjoining the scene of the tragedy, declared that they knew nothing of the affair. One of them stated that Chapanus had been called from the room and a moment later they heard a shot, and rushed out into the hall to find him lying on the floor. Chapanus failed to regain consciousness and died several hours later in a Superior hospital.

LEAD PRICES MAY GO HIGHER

Heavy European and Domestic Inquiry Is Being Met.

Lead quotations are expected to come in for a sharp advance shortly as a result of the heavy European and domestic inquiry being met with. This is expected to lead to increased outputs at the mines and a marking up in the figures of some of the stocks listed on the exchanges.

It is intimated that Russia has placed another big inquiry for lead in the market, prompt shipment being desired. Although the quotation for lead has been holding steady at 3.80 cents, New York, during the last fortnight, sales for March shipment have been reported at as high as 3.87½ cents a pound. Stocks of lead in the country at the beginning of the year are estimated to have been about 25,000 tons in excess of the amount on hand on Jan. 1, 1914, but these are thought to have since been materially reduced.

COMMERCIAL CLUB'S WORK IS REVIEWED

Secretary Lewis Tells of Activities of Hibbing Concern.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Stratton was elected president of the Hibbing Commercial club last night to succeed W. L. Galloway at the annual meeting.

Other officers elected are: First vice president, W. H. Day, to succeed Con Keppler; second vice president, Ed A. Bergeron, to succeed W. R. Spensley; treasurer, Con Keppel to succeed W. J. Ryder; director, Ben Lippman, to succeed F. A. Klass and director W. L. Berksted to succeed F. A. Wildes, whose resignation was accepted by the club. The selection of secretary was deferred. Secretary J. L. Lewis announced that he would not be a candidate and it was proposed that he be continued until a committee of the club see the village council as to who to get for the position. As the village pays some of the salary it was thought that the council should have something to say.

Delegates to Virginia Meeting.

Committees were appointed to represent Hibbing at the St. Louis County club meeting at Virginia Friday. County Agricultural Agent, H. G. Larson, was present and urged that everyone who possibly could, to attend. The following were appointed to attend the meeting: Robert Stratton, E. S. Woolfax, Con Keppel, Benjamen Lippman, W. H. Berksted, A. P. Silliman, W. R. Spensley, L. D. Haley, J. L. Lewis, Conrad Wolf, C. M. Aitkinson, R. W. Hitchcock and Herman Antonelli.

Following a complaint by E. S. Woolfan that the club had not shown proper interest, at a former meeting, in a proposal by him that a committee should be appointed to urge members of the water and light board and village council to investigate the advisability of generating all electricity used in Hibbing here, he, E. A. Bergeron and W. H. Day were appointed to see the village officials as to the advantages of this project.

Secretary Lewis briefly told of the activities of the club during the year.

More than twenty-five hundred letters have been sent out of the secretary's office during the year, relative to the civic and community interests of the club. Thirty-eight new members have been added to the membership. Road work has also been carried on extensively by the club indirectly, he said, as a result of this County Commissioner O'Neil has already let the contract for the work on the Forbes town line road which when completed will shorten the automobile road to Duluth considerably and also open up farm settlement land for trade for this village. He also mentioned the activities of the club to get the county hospital which will cost approximately $150,000, for the town of Wolf.

C. C. ALEXANDER IS BLAIR'S SUCCESSOR

Principal of Lincoln School Chosen Hibbing School Head.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special meeting of the school board yesterday afternoon, C. C. Alexander, principal of the Lincoln high school for the last six years, was elected superintendent to succeed Superintendent Blair, who will take charge of the schools at Schenectady, N. Y., April 1. Supt. Blair's resignation was accepted by the board.

Supt. Alexander came to Hibbing six years ago. For four years previous to his arrival here he was superintendent of schools at Albany, Mo. He is a graduate of Missouri Valley college, holds a master of arts degree from Chicago university and has finished at that institution all work required for the degree of doctor of philosophy. He is now working on his thesis to acquire this latter degree.

CHISHOLM DOG RACES ABSORBING.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Washington birthday dog races are attracting attention among the boys and each dog owner is taking especial pride in grooming his canine.

The thaw of the last few days has made sleighing poor, but this, it is hoped, will be overcome by a fall of snow between now and the time the dogs lined up for the contest.

There will be two races, each of three heats, one for single dogs and the other for two dog teams.

The business men have contributed liberally toward the prize money and satisfactory prizes will be hung.

ELY YOUNG WOMAN CALLED AT HIBBING.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following an illness of nearly two years, Miss Alice Holmer, aged 18, died yesterday at the detention hospital here from tuberculosis. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Holmer of Ely.

The body was taken today to Ely, where the funeral will be held Friday.

CHISHOLM MOOSE PLAN EASTER BALL.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Loyal Order of Moose is planning a ball for Easter Monday. Joseph Beggs is chairman of the committee.

The members of the Moose have donated $5 per month to the Belgian relief fund.

A social will be held next Tuesday evening and a gathering of Hibbing-Virginia-Chisholm members will be held at the local lodge rooms Tuesday, March 2.

Frank G. Harris, Frank Butler, Walter La Plante, A. H. Kleffman and John Morrow constitute a committee of Moose that will take steps to bring about a monster meeting of all range Moose in Chisholm during August. A picnic is being advocated.

BEEF STEALING CASE IS NOW BEING HEARD

Mesaba Man Alleged to Have Taken Five Quarters of Beef.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A jury was drawn at 11 a. m. today in district court to try Paul Ratai, charged with stealing five quarters of beef, valued at $60, from Oscar Pera of Mesaba, Dec. 7.

The case against Allen Lloyd, started yesterday, was discontinued until tomorrow, owing to the illness of Attorney Philip Stone of Keewatin, representing the defendant.

Aljege Suitcase Theft.

Lloyd is charged with the theft of a suitcase valued at $55 from the Kewple hotel at Chisholm, Jan. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominick St. Lawrance and Miss Alice St. Lawrance testified for the state yesterday afternoon. St. Lawrance owns the hotel. He and Mrs. St. Lawrance were unable to identify Lloyd, although Miss St. Lawrance recognized him as a person who rented a room there. The evidence was circumstantial and a motion was made by Attorney Stone for the defendant that the case be dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence for conviction. This motion was denied by Judge Hughes.

Chisholm Policemen Testify.

Two policemen of Chisholm testified. One arrested Lloyd while the the other arrested a girl by the name of Mary Bruce. Although she told the policemen that she had known Lloyd, he declared that he did not know her. The two had registered at the hotel.

Hibbing Woman Seeks Divorce.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Issabelle Webster has filed an action for divorce against her husband, Thomas Webster, on the grounds of desertion. The Websters were married at Newberry, Mich., in 1892. Mrs. Webster alleges that some time ago her husband left her. He has filed a reply denying the allegation. The case will be heard at the present term of district court.

Explains Meter Cost.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Complaints of the high cost of light for the last month is not warranted, according to Recorder D. D. Haley, who explains that this is due to the fact that the last meter reading was for six weeks instead of four weeks, as usual. This was due to the illness of the regular meter reader, and not until a week later did the village put another man on this work.

Evelethians Join K. of C.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. F. T. Farley, Francis Malley, Edward Anderson and Joseph Polski of this city joined the Knights of Columbus at Virginia Sunday, when a class of sixty was initiated, after which a banquet was served at which covers were laid for 250.

Larsen Visits Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Agricultural Agent H. G. Larsen was here Wednesday to work up interest in the meeting and banquet to be given by the County club Friday evening at Virginia. Mr. Larsen is enthusiastic over the agricultural future of Chisholm and thinks it will not be long before an influx of farmers will turn this way.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ELY SUCCESS

Ladies of Presbyterian Church Net Nice Sum From Enterprise.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The entertainment given in the opera house by the ladies of the Presbyterian church last evening was a success from every standpoint. The house was packed to standing room. An orchestra composed of ten pieces was much applauded. The singing of Mrs. B. O. Strachan, Miss Margaret Brown and Robin Walker and Mr. Spedding were the features. Miss Hazel Whitnew and Mrs. Ruth Tremble King excelled in reading and monologue work. Mrs. King especially being encored several times. The program was all carried through by local talent and all were encored. The ladies netted a neat sum for the evening's work. The program follows:

March, "The Peacemaker," (Alferd), orchestra; vocal quartet, "Little Grey Home in the West," (Lohr), Messrs. Strachan, Trezona, White, Cardew, Mason, Englund, Walker, Carlson; piano duet, "Spanish Dance," (Edward Holst), Helen Laurence, Dorothy White; vocal solo, "Ship Mates O' Mine," (Sanderson), J. F. MINER KILLS SELF NEAR PRINDLE MINE

Despondent Over Ill Health Frank Uksisich Fires Two Shots.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Presumably despondent over ill-health, Frank Uksisich, aged about 30, single, a miner last employed at the Norman mine, shot himself some time yesterday near the Prindle mine track, about three miles from this city. The body was found about 3 p. m. yesterday. There were two bullet holes, one in the skull and the other in the body. Both had evidently been fired from a 22-caliber pistol which lay near with two exploded shells in the chamber.

Inquest Unnecessary.

Coroner Crowe went to the Prindle mine and looked over the condition of the body then ordered it brought to a local morgue pending the location of one cousin supposed to be living somewhere in this locality. Dr. Crowe said the case was evidently suicide, and he deemed an inquest uncalled for. Friends of Uksisich recalled he had been moody of late because of his poor health. He was last seen yesterday morning when he left his boarding house. He is supposed to have walked to the Prindle mine and fired the fatal shots about noon.

The identification of the deceased was made by the Norman check found on the body.

MRS. VINCENT SPEAKING ON THE MESABA RANGE.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. G. B. Vincent, wife of the president of the Minnesota state university, is in Virginia the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Poirier of this city. This afternoon Mrs. Vincent spoke at Eveleth at the public library, upon the work being done in Minnesota for the relief of the war stricken Belgians. Tonight she will speak and be given a reception at the public library here.

A. S. Mather on Range.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. S. Mather of Cleveland, Ohio, of the Pickands-Mather company, owning and operating extensive mines upon the Mesaba range, is on the range today looking after the company's properties and discussing with subordinates the prospects for opening work in the spring.

Eveleth Editor Weds.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 18.—Announcement has been received in this city from Little Falls, Minn., telling of the marriage there of Miss Wilhelmina Gertrude Stevens to Theodore H. Peterson, one of the owners of the Eveleth News. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will be at home to their friends April 1 at Eveleth.

Chisholm vs. Eveleth.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth and Chisholm high school basket ball teams will play Friday evening at the local high school gymnasium at 8:15.

Plans Virginia Branch.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—Branches of the Duluth Gospel Mission will be established in Virginia and Hibbing, May 1, and, according to Rev. F. E. Plumb, head of the Duluth branch, the "down-and-outs" will be given food and a place to sleep, providing they hear the preaching of the gospel.

Cannot Attend Meeting.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—Miss Annie E. Shelland, county superintendent of schools of Koochiching county, who had an important place on the program for the meeting of the St. Louis County club, to be held here Saturday, writes Secretary J. L. Lewis that she will be unable to attend.

Last Day for Filing.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saturday, Feb. 20 will be the last day upon which candidates may file for village offices owing to the fact that the 21st falls on Sunday, the 22nd on Monday (Washington's birthday), and the 23rd on Tuesday brings the time within the fourteen days set by statute.

Iroquois Not Abandoned.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite reports to the contrary it develops that the Iroquois mine will not be abandoned. The fee owners are keeping the pumps going and will prevent the property filling. It is possible they may resume mining.

Chisholm Play Called Off.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Fi Fi of the Toy Shop," which was to have been given under the auspices of the Woman's club, has been called off.

GERMANY FIRM BUT COURTEOUS IN REFUSAL TO ABATE ITS BLOCKADE IN MARINE WAR ZONE

toward a more humane conduct of the war and would act in accordance with the new situation thus created.

Text of Reply.

The text of the German government's reply to the American note follows:

"The imperial government has examined the communication from the United States government in the same spirit of good will and friendship by which the communication appears to have been dictated. The imperial government is in accord with the United States government that for both parties it is in a high degree desirable to avoid misunderstandings which might arise from measures announced by the German admiralty and to provide against the occurrence of incidents which might trouble the friendly relations which so far happily exist between the two governments.

"With regard to the assuring of these friendly relations the German government believes that it may all the more reckon on a full understanding with the United States, as the procedure announced by the German admiralty, which was fully explained in the note of the fourth instant, is in no way directed against legitimate commerce and legitimate shipping of neutrals, but represents solely a measure of self defense, imposed on Germany by her vital interests, against England's method of warfare, which is contrary to international law and which so far no protest by neutrals has succeded in bringing back to the generally recognized principles of law as existing before the outbreak of war.

How Things Stand.

"In order to exclude all doubt regarding these cardinal points, the German government once more begs leave to state how things stand. Until now Germany has scrupulously observed valid international rules regarding naval warfare. At the very beginning of the war Germany immediately agreed to the proposal of the American government to ratify the new Declaration of London, and took over its contents unaltered and without formal obligation, into her prize law.

"The German government has obeyed these rules, even when they were diametrically opposed to her military interests. For instance, Germany allowed the transportation of provisions to England from Denmark until today, though she was well able, by her sea forces, to prevent it. In contra-distinction to this attitude, England has not even hesitated at a second infringement of international law, if by such means she could paralyze the peaceful commerce of Germany with neutrals. The German government will be the less obliged to enter into details, as these are put down sufficiently, though not exhaustively in the American note to the British government dated Dec. 29 as a result of five months experience.

Would Starve Civilians.

"All these encroachments have been made, as has been admitted, in order to cut off all supplies from Germany and thereby starve her peaceful civil population—a procedure contrary to all humanitarian principles. Neutrals have been unable to prevent the interruption of their commerce with Germany, which is contrary to international laws.

"The American government, as Germany readily acknowledges, has protested against the British procedure. In spite of these protests and protests from other neutral states, Great Britain could not be induced to depart from the course of action she had decided upon. Thus, for instance, the American ship Wilhelmina recently was stopped by the British, although her cargo was destined solely for the German civil population, and according to the express declaration of the German government, was to be employed only for this purpose.

"Germany is as good as cut off from her overseas supply by the silent or protesting toleration of neutrals, not only in regard to such goods as are absolute contraband, but also in regard to such as, according to acknowledged law before the war, are only conditional contraband or not contraband at all. Great Britain, on the other hand, is with the toleration of neutral governments not only supplied with such goods as are not contraband or only conditional contraband, but with goods which are regarded by Great Britain, if sent to Germany, as absolute contraband; namely, provisions, industrial raw materials, etc., and even with goods which have always indubitably been regarded as absolute contraband.

Traffic in Arms.

"The German government feels itself obliged to point out with the greatest emphasis that a traffic in arms, estimated at many hundreds of millions, is being carried on between American firms and Germany's enemies. Germany fully comprehends that the practice of right and the toleration of wrong on the part of neutrals are matters absolutely at the discretion of neutrals, and involve no formal violation of neutrality. Germany, therefore, did not complain of any formal violation of neutrality, but the German government, in view of complete evidence before it, cannot help pointing out that it, together with the entire public opinion of Germany, feels itself to be severely prejudiced by the fact that neutrals in safeguarding their rights in legitimate commerce with Germany, account of international law, have up to the present, achieved none, or only insignificant results, while they are making unlimited use of their right by carrying on contraband traffic with Great Britain and our other enemies.

"If it is the normal right of neutrals to take no steps to protect their legitimate trade with Germany and even to allow themselves to be influenced in the direction of the conscious and willful restriction of their trade, on the other hand, they have the perfect right, which they unfortunately do not exercise, to cease contraband trade, especially in arms, with Germany's enemies.

Answers With Counter Measures.

"In view of this situation, Germany, after six months of patient waiting, sees herself obliged to answer Great Britain's murderous method of naval warfare with sharp counter measures. If Great Britain, in her fight against Germany, summons hunger as an ally, for the purpose of imposing upon a civilized people of seventy millions the choice between destitution and starvation or submission to Great Britain's commercial will, then Germany today is determined to take up the gauntlet and appeal to similar allies.

"Germany trusts that the neutrals who so far have submitted to the disadvantageous consequences of Great Britain's hunger war in silence, or mostly in registering a protest, will display towards Germany no smaller measure of toleration, even if German measures, like those of Great Britain, present new terrors of naval warfare.

"Moreover, the German government is resolved to suppress with all the means at its disposal the importation of war material to Great Britain and her allies, and she takes it for granted that neutral governments, which so far have taken no steps against the traffic in arms with German enemies, will not oppose forcible suppression by Germany of this trade.

Proclaims War Zone.

"Acting from this point of view, the German admiralty proclaimed a naval war zone whose limits it exactly defined. Germany, so far as possible, will seek to close this war zone with mines and also will endeavor to destroy hostile merchant vessels in every other way. While the German government in taking action based upon this overpowering point of view, keeps itself far removed from all international destruction of neutral lives and property, on the other hand it does not fail to recognize that from the action to be taken against Great Britain dangers arise which threaten all trade within the war zone, without distinction. This is a natural result of mine warfare which, even under the strictest observance of the limits of international law, endangers every ship approaching the mine area. The German government considers itself entitled to hope that all neutrals will acquiesce in these measures, as they have done in the case of the grievous damages inflicted upon them by British measures, all the more so as Germany is resolved, for the protection of neutral shipping even in the naval war zone, to do everything which is at all compatible with the attainment of this object.

Fixed Time Limit.

"In view of the fact that Germany gave the first proof of her good will in fixing a time limit of not less than fourteen days before the execution of said measures, so that neutral shipping might have an opportunity of making arrangements to avoid threatening danger, this can most surely be achieved by remaining away from the naval war zone. Neutral vessels, which, despite this ample notice, which greatly affects the achievement of our aims in our war against Great Britain, enter these closed waters will themselves bear the responsibility for any unfortunate accidents that may occur. Germany disclaims all responsibility for such accidents and their consequences.

"Germany has further expressly announced the destruction of all enemy merchant vessels found within the war zone, but not the destruction of all merchant vessels, as the United States seems erroneously to have understood. This restriction, which Germany imposes upon itself, is prejudicial to the aim of our warfare, especially as in the application of the conception of contraband practiced by Great Britain towards Germany—which conception will now also be similarly interpreted by Germany—the presumption will be that neutral ships have contraband aboard. Germany naturally is unwilling to renounce its rights to ascertain the presence of contraband in neutral vessels and in certain cases to draw conclusions therefrom.

Ready to Deliberate.

"Germany is ready finally, to deliberate with the United States concerning any measures which might secure the safety of legitimate shipping of neutrals in the war zone. Germany cannot, however, forbear to point out that all its efforts in this direction may be rendered very difficult by two circumstances, first, the misuse of neutral flags by British merchant vessels, which is indubitably known to the United States; second, the contraband trade already mentioned, especially in war materials, on neutral vessels.

Regarding the latter point, Germany would fain hope that the United States, after further consideration, will come to a conclusion corresponding to the spirit of real neutrality regarding the first point. The secret order of the British admiralty, recommending to British merchant ships the use of neutral flags, has been communicated by Germany to the United States and confirmed by communication with the British foreign office which designates this procedure as entirely unobjectionable and in accordance with British law. British merchant shipping immediately followed this advice, as doubtless is known to the American government from the incidents of the Lusitania and Laertes.

Merchant Ships Armed.

"Moreover, the British government has supplied arms to British merchant ships and instructed them forcibly to resist German submarines. In these circumstances, it would be very difficult for submarines to recognize neutral merchant ships, for search in most cases cannot be undertaken, seeing that in case of a disguised British ship from which an attack may be expected, the searching party and the submarine would be exposed to destruction.

Great Britain, then, was in a position to make the German measures illusory if the British merchant fleet persisted in the abuse of neutral flags and neutral ships could not otherwise be recognized beyond doubt. Germany, however, being in a state of necessity wherein she was placed by violation of the law, must render effective her measures in all circumstances, in order thereby to compel her adversary to adopt methods of warfare corresponding with international law and so to restore the freedom of the seas of which Germany at all times is the defender and for which she today is fighting.

"Germany, therefore, rejoices that the United States has made representations to Great Britain concerning the illegal use of their flag and expresses the expectation that this procedure will force Great Britain to respect the American flag in the future. In this expectation, commanders of German submarines have been instructed, as already mentioned in the note of Feb. 4, to refrain from violent action against American merchant vessels, so far as they can be recognized.

Discernible By Means of Convoys.

"In order to prevent in the surest manner the consequences of confusion—though naturally not so far as mines are concerned—Germany recommends that the United States make their ships which are conveying peaceful cargoes through the British war zone discernible by means of convoys.

"Germany believes it may act on the supposition that only such ships would be convoyed as carried goods not regarded as contraband, according to the British interpretation made in the case of Germany.

"How this method of convoy can be carried is a question concerning which Germany is ready to open negotiations with the United States as soon as possible.

"Germany would be particularly grateful, however, if the United States would urgently recommend to its merchant vessels to avoid the British naval war zone, in any case, until the settlement of the flag question. Germany is inclined to the confident hope that the United States will be able to appreciate in its entire significance the heavy battle which Germany is waging for existence and that from the foregoing explanations and promises it will acquire full understanding of the motives and the aims of the measures announced by Germany.

Under Strong Necessity.

"Germany repeats that it has now resolved upon the projected measures only under the strongest necessity of national self-defense, such measures having been deferred out of consideration for neutrals.

"If the United States, in view of the weight which it is justified in throwing and able to throw into the scales of the fate of peoples, should succeed at the last moment in removing the grounds which make that procedure an obligatory duty for Germany; and if the American government in particular should find a way to make the declaration of London respected—on behalf also of those powers which are fighting on Germany's side—and thereby make possible for Germany legitimate importation of the necessities of life and industrial raw material, then the German government could not too highly appreciate such a service, rendered in the interests of human methods of warfare, and would gladly draw conclusions from the new situation."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

The day may not be as bright and all that sort of thing, but the atmosphere is just as nice. It is not too cold and not too warm—just about right; and even if the clouds do lower, there is not much opportunity for a kick. By the way, wonder what has become of the groundhog thing. The sun was shining when he came out of his hole two weeks ago last Tuesday, and there should have been six weeks more of winter; but this year that tradition seems to have been knocked galley west.

A year ago today was rather cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:08 and will set this evening at 5:37, giving ten hours and twenty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has risen over the Northwestern Lake region, Western Ontario, Manitoba, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and has fallen over Eastern Canada, Atlantic states, the Southwest and extreme Northwest. Zero temperature has appeared over Northern Alberta, in fact, the weather is decidedly colder over that province. During the last twenty-four hours light snow or rain fell over Southern Minnesota, Western Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Southeastern Kansas, Northern Utah, Northern California, Oregon and Washington."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Minnesota—Probably rain or snow in east and south portions tonight and Friday, partly cloudy in northwest portion; colder Friday and in west portion tonight; cold wave in northwest portion.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness with probably rain or snow Friday and in west portion tonight; warmer in east portion tonight; colder in west portion Friday.

Iowa—Rain tonight and Friday; except possibly fair in northwest portion Friday; warmer in east and colder in northwest portions tonight; colder ... north and west portions Friday.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight and in east portion Friday; cold wave.

South Dakota—Partly cloudy and colder tonight and Friday.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; colder tonight.

Lower Michigan—Cloudy and warmer tonight and Friday.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Friday; warmer in east portion tonight; colder in west portion Friday.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP?

The debility and depression following an attack of the grip is not a fancied disorder. "Post-grippal neurasthenia" is the medical name for this condition and its seriousness is recognized by all medical writers.

One authority says: "Broadly speaking, every victim of the grip will suffer from post-grippal neurasthenia also. Lowering of nervous tone, with increased irritability is the most striking effect of the disease, with languor of mind and body, disturbed sleep and vague pains in the head and elsewhere."

Every sufferer will recognize the symptoms. What is the remedy?

After the fever has passed and the influenza has subsided the diet should be more liberal but be limited to articles easily digested; rest and sufficient sleep are essential and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the only medicine required in most cases. This treatment should be continued until the patient is completely restored to normal health and spirits. It is a specific treatment and rarely if ever fails.

Send today for the booklet "Building Up the Blood." It is free if you mention this paper. Address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

WEST END

TO CONTINUE GARDEN PLAN

Commercial Club Will Foster Friendly Rivalry for Fourth Year.

Children Already After Seeds—Club Committees to Be Named.

That a garden contest, conducted similarly to those of the last three years to be held again this year under the auspices of the West End Commercial club, will be an assured success is the general opinion of club members. The matter is to be taken up at the meeting of the club tonight and a committee will probably be appointed to have charge of the contest.

Announcement has been made that some of the West end business and professional men have voluntarily offered cash donations for prizes. Among these offers of prize money is that of Dr. O. A. Oredson, who, this morning, said that he would donate $10 towards such a contest.

The Herald will again donate $15 cash for special prizes to be distributed under the direction of the club. The money is donated on condition that it be divided equally between boys and girls entered in the contest. The $7.50 for boys and girls is to be divided in two sets—$5 and $2.50 for the boys' best vegetable gardens; and $5 and $2.50 for the girls' best flower gardens.

Dr. Oredson said that the school children are taking a lively interest in the proposed contest, and that from the Ensign school a list of 123 children has been forwarded to him with the request that they be included in a distribution of free seeds which Dr. Oredson expects to get from the agricultural department at Washington. He said that similar lists are expected from other schools of the West end.

L. A. Simonson, president of the club, said that the committees to handle the various activities of the club will be appointed this evening. The various committees to be appointed are: Garden contest, streets, alleys and sidewalks, sanitary, water and light, public market, schools, library and buildings, general traffic, entertainment, and membership. The members of the garden committee last year were James Maghan, L. A. Simonson, James W. Preston and E. A. Olson.

It is expected that a report of the club's banquet committee will be given this evening. The banquet will be held at the Rex hotel during the first week in March. The committee will submit the date this evening for action by the club.

ADVOCATES NAVY FOR WHOLE WORLD

Dr. Powell Would Have All Nations Unite to Maintain Peace.

"America and World Peace" was the subject of a lecture given last night by Rev. John Walker Powell of Minneapolis at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. The lecturer said that it was not fair to hold any one nation responsible for the present war in Europe, but that many of them and probably all were responsible for the conflict.

Stubbornness, greed and other influences were given as being largely responsible. He said the situation was strained and that almost anything might have brought on the war.

Dr. Powell advocated a plan of a supreme court for the world at which differences of nations might be settled without conflict and an armed navy supported by all nations which would enforce the decisions of this court as well as patrol the seas to prevent piracy.

Dr. Powell will repeat his lecture tomorrow evening at the Lester Park Methodist church. He is a guest today at the home of Rev. and Mrs. George E. Silloway, 310 North Twenty-second avenue west.

West End Briefs.

Rev. F. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, is expected to return home tomorrow from a two weeks trip to Spokane, where he has been completing the organization of a new English Lutheran congregation.

"Bringing Others to Jesus" will be the subject of a sermon this evening by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street.

The Young People's Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church will entertain at a social at the church tomorrow evening.

Miss Agnes Olson will be hostess at a social to be given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the First Swedish Methodist church tomorrow evening.

The first of a series of Lenten teas given by the St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, was held this afternoon. The hostesses were: Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. Edward Thompson and Mrs. James.

The junior department of the Baptist Young People's union of the Central Baptist church will entertain tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at a Washington's birthday concert. The young people have arranged a program of musical numbers, readings, short playlets and drills.

SAWYER COUNTY LOGGING LARGE

Favorable Weather Conditions Will Insure Record-Breaking Cut.

Cooderay, Wis., Feb. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the present ideal winter weather continues for three weeks more, all the loggers in this section will close a very successful logging season. One hundred cars or about 600,000 feet are being shipped out each day and considerable landed at banking grounds for summer loading, making about 1,000,000 feet of logs landed at banking grounds each day in Southern Sawyer county.

The season's cut will reach the 100,000,000 mark as estimated early in the winter, which will be the second largest hardwood and hemlock cut ever made in Sawyer county before.

WHEAT BULGE AT THE CLOSE

Market Turns Strong After Early Break on Export Buying.

Flaxseed Trading Quiet, With Offers and Demand Both Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 18.—The market was steady at the close on export buying and fixed figures were at the top. May wheat closed 1½c up, and July 1½c up. May durum closed 1c up, and July 1c up.

Oats closed ⅛c up at 56⅜c for on the track; rye, 2c off at 56⅜c; barley, 2c off at from 68@77c, and corn, ⅝c up at 71⅝.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅛c off at 68⅝c bid, and July unchanged at 68⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.46½ bid and calls at $1.56.

The nervous condition existing in the wheat market was emphasized today in a slump of 3⅝c right at the opening, and a subsequent rapid recovery to within ⅜c of yesterday's close at the noon hour.

The early weakness was brought about through the issuing of a government statement showing that on Feb. 1 there was still 147,000,000 bu of wheat available for export, or 40,000,000 bu more than the annual export average during the last five years. The report also alludes to the great surplus of other foodstuffs in this country that are available as substitutes for wheat, and the inference is drawn that no fears need be entertained on the score of any shortage in foodstuffs. Liberal buying attributed largely to exporters appeared on the break, and led to the subsequent recovery.

Export inquiry was in fact a feature on all the markets. A wire from Chicago received by a Duluth operator advised that an offer for a substantial tonnage for immediate shipment was turned down this morning on account of the scarcity of cash wheat. The spring wheat situation is said to be more bullish statistically than many suppose. It was estimated by a Duluth grain man this morning that practically all the wheat in the elevators here is under contract for spring shipment. "Where are the operators who are short in the May future going to get the grain to cover when the time comes?" he asked.

New York reported that a substantial tonnage of wheat and oats was sold for export there yesterday, and Baltimore operators estimated that 1,000,000 bu of wheat was sold there yesterday and today, besides 700,000 bu of corn and 500,000 bu of oats.

It was noted that the Winnipeg market held strong this morning at a time when the American boards were recording sharp slumps. The steadiness at that point was attributed to expert buying.

May wheat opened 1¾c off at $1.51, sold off to a low of $1.48⅝, and rallied to $1.51¾ at the noon hour. July opened 2¾c off at $1.45½, and gained 1¼c.

May durum opened 1¾c off at $1.55, weakened 1½c further, and then bulged 3c to yesterday's closing figure.

Flaxseed Holds Steady.

Flaxseed held steady today at around yesterday's basis. Offerings were light and better buying by crushers was noted. Flax men are looking forward to a bullish factor being introduced in the market this spring in the large reduction sown to the seed, both in the American and Canadian West. It is predicted in some quarters that less than one-third of the usual acreage will be put in flax this spring, owing to the high prices ruling for wheat and other grains.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.86¾, and closed ⅛c up at $1.86 asked. July opened unchanged at $1.87¾, and closed ⅝c up at $1.88 asked. September closed unchanged at $1.85⅝ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¼c up at $1.66⅛ asked, and July ¼c off at $1.68¼ asked.

B. F. Hartzell, operator at Charles E. Lewis & Co.'s Duluth office, is receiving the congratulations of his friends today on the occasion of the arrival of a young daughter at his home.

A Chicago wire received by C. E. Lewis & Co. said: "The substance of the government report issued by the department of agriculture says there is no danger of a shortage in grains, and it figures the 1914 wheat crop and carry-over from 1913 at 967,000,000 bu wheat. Deducting 610,000,000 bu for home consumption and seed, it leaves a surplus of 357,000,000 bu. Just 210,000,000 bu was exported to Feb. 1, leaving 147,000,000, or 40,000,000 bu more than our average annual export for the last five years between Feb. 1 and the appearance of the new crop. It also alludes to the great surplus of other food crops of the United States, a number of which can be used as substitutes. The most important competing products are corn and potatoes. Normally only 3 per cent of the corn crop is consumed as food."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The further weakness in America yesterday and lower offers of winters and Canadians were offset here by firmness in Plate offers and nervousness regarding shipping, and the undertone was firm. Spot market was firm, unchanged, and after offerings of winters and Canadians at 3@4½d decline, these advanced, and some buying was noted and there is no pressure of Plate offers and holders are firm.

"Corn quiet but firm. American weakness was without effect as later offers were firm and Argentina shipments are estimated to be light this week. Some reports are coming from Argentina of damage."

Argentina—Floods have seriously damaged wheat in the stack. Corn suffered considerable damage in the north from locusts. Weather today is unsettled and hot.

* * *

Foreign crop summary: Italy—In the north, the weather is favorable and seeding satisfactory. In the center, deterioration from freezing and thawing has resulted, and in the southern districts and Sicilia heavy rains and floods have caused much damage.

India—Weather and crop prospects are favorable. Wheat is coming forward slowly and prices are fully maintained.

Great Britain—The land is very wet, and this is greatly interfering with sowing. Much added acreage is assured if the weather becomes favorable as much of the land formerly planted to barley will be utilized for wheat. General conditions are fair. The deficiency in the aggregate supply is the primary reason for the high prices prevailing compared with last season in the same period. In the first six months of the crop season, the deficiency is 46 per cent.

Russia—Rumors current as to shipments from Archangel are not hopeful. This may be consummated later on when conditions become more favorable, but the amount would be small.

A wire from Portland, Or., to Paine Commission company from Logan & Bryan said: "Ship was chartered here yesterday at the highest rate for over thirty years to take full cargo of flour to England."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Increased Perils to Shipping Causes Sharp Drop in Wheat.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—Increased perils to trans-Atlantic shipping were promptly reflected today by a big drop in wheat values. Heavy liquidation sales began as soon as the market opened, and many stop-loss orders from holders were quickly being executed. The fact that prices at Liverpool were strong gave no assurance to owners on this side, and was even interpreted as having a bearish significance here, as indicating recognition of greater difficulty of safely landing supplies in Great Britain. After opening ¼ to 1⅜c lower, the market here fell as much as 3⅞ to 4⅝c under last night before beginning to rally.

Subsequently active export buying helped to lift the market. So also did assertions that continued exports from the United States at the average rate of 1,000,000 bushels a day would place this country on the most acute famine basis ever known. The export sales today were estimated as high as 3,000,000 bushels. Closing prices were strong at 1⅜ to 1¾c above last night.

General selling carried down corn as well as wheat. Hedging on account of fresh receipts from the country added to the burden from the big stocks previously in store. The opening which was unchanged to 1⅜c down was followed by a decided setback all around and then a moderate reaction.

Big sales here to seaboard exporters served later to prop up the market. The close was firm at an advance of ⅞@1½ to ⅝@¾c net.

Oats weakened with other grain. There was an active demand for oats, however, on the break.

Lower prices for hogs started provisions down grade. Heaviness of cereals led afterward to an unusually sharp descent.

Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.55½@1.61¾; No. 2 hard, $1.56½@1.62¾.

COPPER STOCKS FAIRLY STEADY

Price Changes Are Nominal; Butte & Superior an Active Feature.

Mining stocks held fairly steady at Boston today but the volume of business put through was light. Butte & Superior again absorbed a large proportion of the day's business. It closed 50 cents up at $45.75. Alaska Gold closed a shade off at $28.12; Calumet & Arizona 25 cents up at $62.25; Copper Range 25 cents off at $33.75; Butte & Ballaklava a fraction up at $2.87; Granby unchanged at 67; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $24.50; North Butte, a fraction off at $23.50.

At New York Amalgamated Copper closed unchanged at $52.87; Anaconda, 38c off at $26.12, and Utah Copper, 38c up at $61.63.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Calumet & Corbin sold at 11c, United Verde Extension at $2.06@2.12, Calaveras at $1@1.06, Jumbo Extension at from 81c down to 76c, Goldfields Merger at 24@25c, Atlanta at 25c, South Lake at $4.50, Davis-Daly at from $1.06 to 96c, and New Baltic at $1.38.

Sales of Calumet & Montana Consolidated were reported today at 45c and 48c, closing on the local curb market at 46c bid. The announcement that the development of the recently acquired property would commence at once is having a favorable influence on this stock.

Boston News bureau says: "Production of refined copper from the mines of the Lake copper district will not be increased more than 2,000,000 pounds in February notwithstanding the fact that every operating mine in the district is working full time."

The American Metal Market says: "There was sales of spelter this afternoon at 5⅞c for February and March shipment and at the close of business there were buyers left over who were willing to pay this price. Offerings are scarce and producers who have spelter to sell seem to have adopted the policy not to sell more than one or two cars a day irrespective of price, while other producers are not quoting at all as they say they will require all metal they have to take care of their regular trade."

A wire received by Paine, Webber & Co. from Boston says: "Allouez rock contents and tonnage are increasing. The monthly average is now at 30,000 tons and the underground showing is good."

WAITING TO SEE EFFECT

Flax Buyers and Sellers Are Watching Results of Threatened Blockade.

Market Sluggish Despite Rumored Demand Over Seas—Little Trading.

Flax closed yesterday 2 to 3 cents under the close of a week ago, and it may be said to be falling not only of its own weight, but because of the fear of traders to do anything in the seed until conditions become more settled. There are many things to be considered. Crushers are buying scarcely anything, and when they do, it is in the very smallest lots. Strangely enough, holders are not offering with much eagerness. The general spirit—with buyers and sellers alike—is not to trade until something more definite as to conditions develops.

There is the fear that perhaps vessels will become available for the carrying of Argentine seed to America, which would naturally bear the market. Some believe that with blockading on the other side of the Atlantic more attention will be paid to that by the belligerent countries than cruising around on the high seas for ships of the enemy, which would likely make a big difference as to shipping between ports of North and South America, and besides that the blockade may turn the attention of ship-owners to the latter trade as being safer, and that rather than lay up their vessels they will enter the shipping trade, which would give plenty of bottoms for the Argentine seed to invade the Northern continent.

On the other hand, despite the fact that there is rumored demand for flax in Holland, and that flax in Liverpool is strong, dealers fear that the blockade, which goes into effect today, will have a prohibitive effect on shipping of flax across the ocean. Otherwise, this rumor, naturally, would strengthen the market materially. In the face of it, the market fell off a cent.

Receipts of both domestic and bonded flax continue to be heavy, with shipments practically annihilated, there being only 4,455 bushels sent out during the last seven days. Sluggishness is the most descriptive word concerning the market, but not of the minds and watchfulness of those who deal in flax.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Market Is Again Largely Influenced By Foreign Conditions.

Prominent Stocks Under Pressure and Closing Is Heavy.

New York, Feb. 18.—More than ordinary interest attached to the opening of today's stock market because of the increased tension abroad. London, however, showed some firmness in the American list and initial prices here, while somewhat irregular, indicated a degree of support, leading issues advancing a fraction over yesterday's close. The feature of the special group was Mexican Petroleum, which was heavily traded in at further declines. The stock's feverish movement suggested percipitate liquidation. Texas Company also was weak.

Standard shares, including the Pacifics, Reading, United States Steel and Amalgamated Copper, fell fractionally under yesterday's lowest quotation in the first hour of today's stock market. Such upward tendencies as the list might have shown were checked by obvious manipulations in certain specialties and their further concern evinced over the foreign situation. Minneapolis & St. Louis issues declined 3 to 4 points on denial by Canadian railway interests of any intention to acquire that property. Exchange on London manifested increasing firmness, continental shares moving up in sympathy. European offerings caused recurrent depression in investment bonds.

In the early afternoon prices were generally restored to a level with yesterday's close, but pressure on prominent stocks continued. Minneapolis & St. Louis and Iowa Central issues made full recovery.

Today's narrow and drooping stock market was again largely influenced by adverse foreign conditions. Minor declines were general. Union Pacific, Steel and Amalgamated were sold moderately in the late dealings. The closing was heavy.

SPECULATION IS ONLY SECONDARY

Demand for Wheat From Europe Cause of Increase in Bread Price.

New York, Feb. 18.—Only in a secondary way has speculation been responsible for the advance in the price of flour, in the opinion of Henry Heinzer, chief statistician for the New York Produce exchange, given at the resumption of the state's investigation into the increased cost of wheat and bread. The unprecedented demand for wheat from Europe is directly responsible, Mr. Heinzer declared.

The hearing was adjourned late yesterday until Tuesday, Feb. 23, when it is expected that C. H. Canby, president of the Chicago board of trade, and Joseph A. Leiter of Washington, will testify. J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, it was announced, had declined to appear as have also C. W. Pardridge and Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago. None of them can be brought here by subpoena.

BLANKET RED DISAPPEARING

Maj. McLaughlin Declares Modern Indian Is Becoming Valuable Citizen.

Noted Friend of Indians Guest of G. A. Tomlinson; Meets Duluthians.

Maj. James McLaughlin, inspector for the department of the interior, and one of the most noted Indian agents and makers of treaties with the tribes that American has known, was a guest last evening, at the Kitchi Gammi club, of G. Ashley Tomlinson, who invited a number of Duluthians to meet the major at dinner. In the major's party were his assistants, Dr. W. M. Wooster and D. M. Wooster of Washington, D. C., and D. F. Barry of Superior, a life-long friend of the great friend of the Indian.

Maj. McLaughlin and his assistants held hearings in Superior yesterday and are continuing the hearings today to consider claims of the Indians living in the vicinity to a share in the $500,000 in cash and 40,000 acres of land which is to be distributed among the Chippewas by the Federal government. From Superior they will go to Ashland to complete the work. They have been held at Odanah and Bayfield before the party arrived at Superior.

Maj. McLaughlin has been in the Indian service practically forty-five years, and there is, perhaps, no other man on the continent who so well knows the red man or who is trusted more by the latter than the major. Maj. McLaughlin has negotiated every treaty made with the Indians for more than forty years, for the reason that he has the full confidence of the Federal government and the Indians believe in him, feeling sure that he is acting for their best interests. The result has been that the major has not, for many years, been in danger of tribes on the war path, but, when he has gone to them to represent the Great Father at Washington, he has been received with the hand-clasp of friendship, even when the tribes have been nursing grievances and have actually rebelled. In the earlier days of his services, before the Indians grew to know him as well as they did in later years, the major had some dangerous experiences; but he still thinks that those were the happy days, and sighs for the thrills that are gone.

Knows All Tribes.

Most of his services were among the Sioux and Chippewas, chiefly the tribes of the former, but he has had dealings with every tribe on the continent, and can speak practically every Indian dialect. For years he was agent of the Standing Rock reservation in what is now South Dakota, and on the Milwaukee line running through that territory, there is now a town named McLaughlin in his honor, and that town the major calls home, although his headquarters are in Washington. A son, Harry and his family live at McLaughlin.

At the dinner last night, the major and Mr. Barry recalled many circumstances of the old days, a great many of which they passed together. The major held the interest and closest attention of his fellow-guests and his host for a long time telling of experiences of the days when he was on the real frontier trying to keep the red children of the nation feeling friendly. The major is a most interesting talker and as the experiences he relates are given at first hand, time flies unheeded with his auditors and some of the thrills of the old days are communicated.

Maj. McLaughlin said last night that the old-time blanket Indian, has practically passed out of existence, and that the younger generation is becoming a valuable citizen, is fully amenable to the demands of civilization and is entering business, chiefly agriculture. The major also asserted that, contrary to general belief, the Indians are not decreasing in number, but are more populous now than for many years.

The position which the major holds, carries with it the title of "colonel," but he has never assumed it for the reason, he says, that he has been known as Maj. McLaughlin for so many years and over such a large part of the country, that to take the higher title would be like losing his identity.

THINKS PASSENGER TRAVEL WILL BE HEAVY

Thomas J. Wall, general agent of the passenger department of the Canadian Pacific railway, is in the city today. Speaking of passenger travel, Mr. Wall ventured the prediction that the approaching spring and summer will be productive of the heaviest passenger travel that the Dominion of Canada has ever experienced.

"The holding of the Panama expositions and the European war will prove the means of creating a tremendous amount of travel through the Dominion, if present indications count for anything," said Mr. Wall.

"The passenger department of the Canadian Pacific has been flooded with inquiries concerning rates and routes of travel. Duluth is bound to receive a large share of the traffic that will pass across the continent."

The Northern Pacific road has just issued a handsome new booklet concerning the exposition and the different travel routes, and in the booklet Duluth is given prominent notice. It is pointed out by local officials that a heavy movement is expected through this gateway.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—
State of Minnesota,
County of St. Louis.—ss.
In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Myrtle St. Charles, Decedent.
The petition of M. J. Filiatrault, as representative of the above named decedent, together with his final accounts of the administration of said estate, both as special and general administrator, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final accounts of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on his bonds. It is ordered, That said petition be heard, and said final accounts be examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 15th day of March, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law, and that a copy of this order be mailed to each heir of decedent at least fourteen days before the said date of hearing.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., February 17th, 1915.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.
Attest: A. R. MORTON,
Clerk of Probate.

OUTCOME OF VOTE IN THE HOUSE ON COUNTY OPTION IS STILL CLOSE

Outlook for Woman Suffrage in the Senate Also Doubtful.

Bill Repealing Minneapolis Civil Service System Causes Fight.

Amendments to Workingmen's Compensation Act Presented to Senate.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—County option will be a special order in the house next Wednesday at 11. Woman suffrage will probably be a special order in the senate for next Thursday afternoon. The Minnette-Burrows telephone bill will be a special order in the house for Thursday morning. Thus several of the larger measures will come up for final action next week. The county option special order was fixed by the adoption of the report of the committee recommending it but presenting the bill without recommendation. The outcome still is in doubt and is very close, with the probabilities that unless a stampede is started one or two votes will decide it. The outlook for woman suffrage in the senate is also close, with the chances apparently somewhat against its passage.

NO ANSWER MADE TO DUTCH PROTEST

Critical Situation Brought About By Blockade Impresses All Holland.

The Hague, via London, Feb. 19.—The critical situation brought about by the German naval demonstration which it was announced would begin yesterday, has greatly impressed governmental circles here. A reply to the Dutch protest against the proposed submarine blockade has not yet been received but is expected momentarily.

Work was continued in all government offices until late last evening and several conferences were held between ministers. No real uneasiness is felt as to Holland's position, but every precaution has been taken by all branches of the defensive forces in view of possibilities.

Considerable troop movements are reported along the eastern frontier facing Germany, but information regarding them is closely guarded. The water defenses are understood to be ready for any emergency.

OPERATIONS OF BRITISH ARMY

Second Bi-Weekly Letter on Situation in France Published.

London, Feb. 19.—A report on the progress of the fighting on the continent was given out officially in London today. It is the second bi-weekly communication on the operation of the British army in France promised by the authorities, and it reads as follows:

"The enemy has displayed considerable activity during the past few days southeast of Ypres. The fighting on this part of the line has at times been severe. At one or two points the enemy succeeded in occupying some of our trenches, but they were driven out by counter-attacks. One of the enemy's trenches was blown up and a number of prisoners were taken. Our troops delivered their counter-attacks with great gallantry in spite of the difficulties entailed by the waterlogged condition of the ground around the trenches and the bad weather.

"On the night of Feb. 15-16 an attack was made on our line north of the Ypres canal and on the following night a similar attack was made near Neuve Chapelle. Both were easily driven off with loss to the enemy. All the ground recently gained by us has been strengthened and held without difficulty.

"South of the River Lys our guns dealt effectively with the enemy's artillery, the fire of which has increased somewhat of late.

"Our air craft have carried out valuable reconnaissances and they have also successfully engaged aeroplanes of the enemy. One of our aviators recently attacked two German machines in succession. He drove off the first and left the second to our artillery, which brought it to the ground in hostile lines."

REGULATING TELEPHONES

Bill Made Special Order in House for Next Thursday.

Licenses for the Trading Stamp Concerns Favored By Committee.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnette-Burrows telephone regulation bill, putting all telephones under state regulation through the railroad and warehouse commission, was unanimously recommended for passage yesterday afternoon by the house committee on telephone and telegraph, with the further recommendation that it be made a special order for next Thursday at 11 o'clock.

The bill gives the railroad and warehouse commission full authority over telephones, but does not apply to any other public utility. It was on this ground that Governor Eberhart vetoed it two years ago, his veto resulting in one of the hottest fights of the session. The bill was repassed through the house over the veto, but failed in the senate.

The feature of the bill to which the large telephone companies, particularly the Bell company, have objected is the requirement that rival companies must connect their toll lines on request, at rates to be fixed by the railroad and warehouse commission.

One feature of the measure on which there may be a fight in the house is

FIERCE FIGHTING TIES UP TRAFFIC

Sixteen Men Arrested for Rioting in Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

New York, Feb. 19.—Sixteen men were arrested today in a riot in Fifth avenue almost directly in front of St. Patrick's cathedral. For a quarter of an hour traffic was halted for several blocks while 200 men fought in the street. Police reserves charged the crowd with night sticks and after a hard battle dispersed the rioters.

The police asserted that the fight was between strikers from a nearby tailoring establishment and men who sought to take their places.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Ship bill investigating committee did not meet and the senate prepared to rush work on waiting appropriation bills.

By unanimous consent it was agreed to send the administration ship bill to conference in accordance with the plans of Democratic leaders.

WILL OPEN SATURDAY

President to Start Panama-Pacific Exposition at Noon.

Forty-One Foreign Nations Participating in the Great Display.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 19.—An electric spark plug of enormous potential, jumping across the continent, will open the Panama-Pacific international exposition at noon tomorrow, Pacific coast time.

In the White House at Washington, the president will press a button and the aerials of the great government radio station at Arlington will snarl and splutter. The vibrations will be received an infinitesimal fraction of a second later by a commercial station on the shores of San Francisco bay, where they will be relayed by wire to a receiving instrument on the exposition grounds.

As soon as the signal is received, the wheels will begin to turn and the fountains play, the gates will swing open and a procession of citizens, with the mayor at their head, will march onto the grounds.

Telephone to President.

At the same time President Charles C. Moore of the exposition company will inform President Wilson by word of mouth over a telephone line already set up and waiting that the wireless flash has been received and the exposition is open. In return President Wilson will send his greetings and good wishes. Thus the two latest modes of long distance communication will be employed to vivify the fair. Ceremonies of dedication and acceptance as brief as it is possible to make them will follow.

After the outbreak of the European war there sprang up a rumor that the exposition would not open. As a matter of fact, the exposition stands today 100 per cent complete, free of debt and with forty-one foreign nations

MANY AMERICANS MAROONED IN PARIS

Cancellation of Channel Sailings Keeps Them on French Soil.

London, Feb. 19.—About 100 Americans are marooned in Paris and unable to cross the English channel because of the cancellation of sailings due to the German submarine blockade.

They have communicated their plight to Walter Hines Page, American ambassador here, through the embassy in Paris, and Mr. Page has arranged with the American line to hold the steamer New York, due to sail Saturday from Liverpool, until Sunday.

The marooned Americans in the French capital have made arrangements to cross from Havre, and the day's delay in the sailing of the New York will permit them to make their connections with the liner.

DEVASTATION ON EAST PRUSSIAN FRONTIER IS ON PAR WITH BELGIUM

Strip in Both Russia and Prussia Shows Depredations of Army.

Kaiser William Laments Work of the Retreating Russians.

Apparently No Great Battle Fought Since Retreat of Czar's Troops.

London, Feb. 19.—The situation in the northern extremity of the eastern battle line is not so clear as it was a few days ago. Territory on both sides of the East Prussian frontier has been desolated and areas both in Russia and in East Prussia have been converted into a sort of present-day Belgium. Petrograd speaks of the flight of the Russian population before the German advance, while Emperor William, eulogizing the victory of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, laments the depredations of the retreating Russians.

No Great Battle Fought.

Apparently no great battle has been fought since the Russians began their retreat toward the river Niemen. Petrograd insists that engagements since have been outpost affairs which would seem to indicate that the Germans have not advanced across the fifty-mile strip of territory lying between the Niemen line and the East Prussian frontier. On the other hand, the Germans claim and are celebrating a notable victory over the Russians in East Prussia, including the taking of no fewer than [illegible],000 prisoners.

All reports agree that the Austrians at last have flung the Russians entirely out of Bukowina. The Russians claim that they retired in good order but they do not seek to deny their retreat. Several weeks ago the occupation of Bukowina by the Russians and the presence of the Austrians near the Roumanian frontier was hailed as a situation which should justify the entry of Roumania into the war on the side of the allies, but today with Bukowina once

GARRISON OPPOSED TO PLANS OF WOMEN.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Secretary Garrison today told a delegation of the women's peace party, headed by Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, wife of the Wisconsin senator, that he is opposed to their plan for nationalization of the manufacture of armament.

Mr. Garrison told the women that as different nations have unequal facilities for manufacture of arms, the result might easily be that the United States would find itself at a great disadvantage if thrust into war, unless there was private manufacturing.

AMBASSADOR AT BERLIN HAS DELICATE POSITION

JAMES W. GERARD,
Through Whom All Notes From the United States Are Transmitted to German Government.

FRENCH SEE DESPAIR IN GERMANY'S REPLY

Newspapers Say Answer to United States Inspired By Desperation.

Paris, Feb. 19.—Despair plainly inspired Germany's reply to the United States' protest against the submarine blockade in the opinion of writers in all sections of the French press, who fill columns with ironical comment. The tone of the document they consider moderate enough, but declare the reasoning preposterous and its meaning plainly defiant.

The Matin says the reply in substance ignores America's warning and the Berlin government practically refuses to give the assurances asked.

Georges Clemenceau expresses the belief that terror of famine has driven Germany to the worst extremities. He argues that Berlin would do wisely to ponder the military power, enormous industrial resources and indomitable courage of the citizens of the United States.

FIRST BLOW STRUCK IN MARINE WARFARE

Submarine Fires on the Dinorah Without Warning, Crushing in Plate, But Fails to Sink Her.

Norwegian Steamer Strikes Mine Off Dover and Has Been Beached at Walmer—Pilot and Crew Landed.

ALL TRAVEL SUSPENDED

Washington, Feb. 19.—All travel between England and the continent of Europe has been suspended by the British admiralty until further notice, according to advises received today at the state department.

Dieppe, France, Feb. 19, via Paris.—A German submarine torpedoed this morning without warning the French steamer Dinorah, from Havre for Dunkirk, at a point sixteen miles off Deippe.

The Dinorah did not sink but was towed into Dieppe. No mention is made of the loss of any of the crew.

A plate on the port side of the steamer below the water line was stove in by the torpedo. Nevertheless the Dinorah managed to keep afloat by hard pumping. Word of the occurrence was taken into Dieppe by fishing boats and assistance for the Dinorah was promptly sent out. She was towed into port and her cargo will be discharged here.

The presence of a German submarine off Cape Ailly was reported four days ago.

The daily steam traffic between Dieppe and England has been suspended.

STEAMER STRIKES MINE.

Dover, Feb. 19, via London.—The Norwegian tank steamer Belridge, which sailed from New Orleans Jan. 28 and Newport News Feb. 5 for Amsterdam, struck a mine today off Dover. The vessel has been beached at Walmar. It was first reported that she was only slightly damaged by the explosion, but later it was learned that there had been fear of her going down. Her forepeak and her forehold are waterlogged and her foredeck is awash. The pilot on board and eighteen men of her crew have been landed. The Belridge struck the mine at any early hour this morning.

ZEPPELINS ACTIVE OVER NORTH SEA

Big Dirigibles Are Closely Watching Commerce; Two Are Lost.

London, Feb. 19.—The activity of Zeppelin airships over the North sea continues, telegraphs the correspondent at Copenhagen of the London Star, and this in spite of the fact that two airships recently have been lost. Gaps in the fleet caused by disaster are being filled by Zeppelins drawn from the airship stations in Western Germany.

A dispatch received from Copenhagen last night described the loss of two German airships in the North sea. The Zeppelin L-3 exploded on Fance Island Wednesday and another such airship, commanded by Capt. Count Platen, sank ten miles north of Jutland yesterday. It has been asserted that the entire Zeppelin fleet is patrolling the North sea just outside of English waters. Zeppelin No. 2 is believed to be the flagship.

Another dispatch from Rotterdam says the Dutch steamer Helena was overhauled in the North sea last Tuesday by Zeppelin L-5, which trained her guns on the steamer and ordered her to heave to. When satisfied as to the Helena's identity the captain of the Zeppelin apologized and reascended with his craft.

NO IMMEDIATE NEWS EXPECTED FROM SEA.

Berlin, via London, Feb. 19.—No immediate news from the submarine campaign against Great Britain is expected in naval circles here because several days must elapse before the submarine fleet can return to its base and report the result of operations. No news is expected from England regarding the destruction of ships.

Terminal Improvement.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 19.—The river terminals conference of the Mississippi valley states today devoted its attention largely to consideration of terminal improvement in various cities. J. H. Weatherford of Memphis discussed the waterway facilities of that city.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Germany has struck the first blow since her war-zone decree went into effect. A French steamer was torpedoed in the English channel by a German submarine. She was able to reach port, although badly damaged.

According to advices received today at the state department in Washington, all travel between England and the continent has been suspended by the British admiralty until further notice.

Berlin newspapers, commenting on the German reply to the American note, reflect the feeling that there must be no departure from the position Germany has taken. The influential Lokal Anzeiger says that "we Germans have resolved to fight without regard for the consequences."

The second of the British bi-weekly reports from the front speaks of severe fighting near Ypres, on the western end of the battle line. German attacks gained possession of several British trenches, which, however, were won back subsequently.

The Austrian troops are reported to be continuing their victorious advance through Bukowina, rolling back the extreme eastern end of the Russian line. A London dispatch says that the Russians have now evacuated all of Bukowina. Official reports from Petrograd and Vienna speak of encounters of great severity in the Carpathians, but apparently no decision is near. In Northern Poland the Russians are making desperate efforts to stay the advance of the German army, which drove them from East Prussia and the fighting now in progress is described by the Petrograd war office as "reaching the climax of stubbornness."

The German war office, in today's communication, asserts that substantial progress has been made in the invasion of Northern Russia, along the German border, following the expulsion of the Russian army near East Prussia. The Germans are said to have captured Tauroggen, in the province of Kovno, as well as several villages further south. In Central Poland, along the Warsaw front, the situation is unchanged.

The attacks of the allies in the west, supposedly to prevent the Germans from developing their offensive movement in Russia, has led to several engagements at several points in Belgium and France. The German war office admits the French were temporarily successful in a battle near Verdun, but says that later they were driven back.

FARRELL CLUB FORMED.

Hillside Residents Organize for Work During City Campaign.

Residents of the central hillside district, numbering about 125, met last night at Frank Sink's hall and organized the Cascade Farrell club, which will promote the interests of Bert Farrell in his run for city commissioner next spring. A working organization was perfected and committees were appointed. A number of those present gave interesting talks and the meeting was an enthusiastic one throughout.

Mr. Farrell addressed the meeting at length, outlining his policy in the coming campaign and going over thoroughly all details incidental to the campaign.

The club will meet again at the same place Thursday, Feb. 25, at 8 p. m.

Name Commission Soon.

Washington, Feb. 19.—President Wilson will nominate the members of the Federal trade commission within the next few days. He had been delaying them pending settlement of the shipping bill situation.

Commercial Club Garden Contest Committee Will Distribute Product.

Demand for More Police Will Be Made—Banquet Date.

The appointment of committees, a decision to hold a garden contest, and deciding on the date for the annual banquet of the club formed the principal business at the meeting of the West End Commercial club last night at Simonson's hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The garden committee will begin at an early date to get the names of school children who propose to enter the contest, and a decision was reached not to secure government seeds for the children but to get seeds from the state agricultural department that have become acclimated.

The seeds given out by the government are declared to be unreliable and not chosen as to climatic conditions. James Maghan, who was chairman of the garden committee last year and who was reappointed chairman this year made that assertion. He said that only about half of the seeds furnished proved fertile. The other members of the contest committee are H. Farles and A. Haglund.

Want More Police.

Members of the club complained of the lack of police protection of this end of the city. The nine men now employed on the force are not sufficient to cover the district properly, it was declared, and the club's public safety committee will ask the city to authorize the appointment of more men for the district. The club intends also to request the city to build a branch police station and equip it with call bells and a patrol wagon.

The club decided to hold its annual banquet on Thursday evening, March 4, at the Rex hotel. The committee in charge of the banquet announced that they would be ready to give out the program within the next ten days. Good speakers will be secured.

The following are the committees announced by D. A. Simonson, president of the club:

Safety—K. A. Franklin, E. Olson, S. W. Hill.

Streets, docks and alleys—J. W. Preston, George M. Jensen, William Bernard.

Sanitation—S. W. Hill, E. Olson, E. Gustafson.

Water and light—A. B. Anderson, F. O. Peterson, E. Hagstrom.

Public market—George M. Jensen, Dr. O. A. Oredson, John Thygeson.

School, library and building—Rev. G. E. Silloway, J. J. Moe, Victor Juten.

PETITIONS FOR SUFFRAGE.

West End Women Working to Get Favorable Legislative Vote.

Women of the West end are taking a keen interest in the circulating of petitions to Senator George M. Peterson and the representatives from the Fifty-ninth district, asking for a favorable vote on women's suffrage. A petition circulated at a meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church resulted in getting more than fifty signatures yesterday afternoon, and nearly that many more were added at the meeting of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. held at the home of Mrs. Harry Merritt, 4610 Magellan street.

It is proposed to send the petition to the legislators the first of the week with which names have been secured up to that time. Additional names will be secured by the women from time to time and sent as a supplement to the first list.

Through an error the name of Mrs. John J. Moe was given as one of the women who have charge of petitions. The petitions are at present in the hands of Mrs. Ed Gustafson, Mrs. L. Q. Greeley, Mrs. T. F. Olsen and others.

League to Entertain.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will entertain at a social for its members in the church parlors this evening. Miss Agnes Olson will be hostess for the members.

Lecture on Lincoln.

A lecture by John H. Norton on "The Life of Lincoln" will be the feature of the program at the French Naturalization club meeting this evening at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. The entertainment committee has also provided other forms of entertainment for the evening. Women are invited to be present.

West End Briefs.

George M. Jensen, 2117 West First street, left this afternoon for St. Paul, where he went to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. P. Peterson, who died Tuesday.

The Alpha Omega club has arranged to entertain at a dancing party on St. Patrick's day, March 17, at the Woodman hall. The club entertained at a dancing party Wednesday evening at the Woodman hall for about sixty couples.

Watson S. Moore will speak Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the men's meeting to be held at the Star theater under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

The Junior department of the Baptist Young People's union of the Central Baptist church will entertain this evening at a social in the church parlors.

DULUTH OFFICE BEATS ST. PAUL

Free Employment Bureau Here Makes Fine Showing for Three Months.

The Duluth branch of the Minnesota State Free Employment office has made an excellent showing during the last few months as compared to the branch offices in the Twin Cities. Duluth and St. Paul have run neck and neck in the number of men and women given work, and during January Duluth was the leader. The report shows clearly the important position Duluth occupies as an employment center and also that business depression has not been felt so keenly here as in other cities.

Statistics for the last three months:

January: Duluth—Women, 281; men, 172. St. Paul—Women, 238; men, 177. Minneapolis—Women, 661; men, 242.

December: Duluth—Women, 245; men, 209. St. Paul—Women, 277; men, 218. Minneapolis—Women, 678; men, 216.

November: Duluth — Women, 262; men, 293. St. Paul—Women, 348; men, 497. Minneapolis—Women, 836; men, 668.

The thing that stands out strongest in this report next to the comparative number of persons employed in the three cities, is the number of women employed at each office. In most cases it will be found that the number of women employed exceeds the number of men. The majority of applicants employed are for unskilled labor.

Mrs. Agnes Atwood, who is in charge of the women's branch of the Duluth offices, was very favorably impressed today with the table of statistics, and she said it was a fair showing of the relative activities of the three cities. St. Paul has more than double the population of Duluth and Minneapolis has more than three times as many inhabitants.

WOMAN SWOONS AT NARROW ESCAPE

Horses Run Away and Just Miss Trampling Pedestrian.

An unidentified woman had a narrow escape from fatal injury shortly before noon today, when a team of bronchos owned by J. J. Clark, 117 East Eighth street, became frightened at a street car and galloped along a sidewalk for half a block.

The team broke away from their driver and ran up across Superior street at Fourth avenue west, coming within less than a foot of the lone pedestrian, who was unable to escape, being hemmed in by an iron railing and the building.

Just before reaching her, the maddened team swerved slightly, just grazing the woman, who fell across the railing in a faint. A few feet further on the neckyoke caught across a brick pillar at the entrance to the Kamera shop, 17 Fourth avenue west and bystanders stopped the team. The woman, who refused to give her name, was cared for by pedestrians who witnessed the accident, and taken to her home.

PREPARING BRIEF FOR COMMISSION

Traffic Commissioner and Attorney in New York on Rate Business.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, and Francis W. Sullivan, the commission's attorney, who have been in Washington for the last week representing Duluth in the hearing before the interstate commerce commission in the matter of suspending the advance freight rates from Duluth to the Twin Cities, are not expected home until some time during the first part of the week.

They went from Washington to New York, where they are engaged in preparing a brief in the case to submit to the interstate commerce commission not later than Feb. 25. To come to Duluth for the work would cause dangerous delay, so the matter is being attended to while they are still in the East.

Sawmill Operator Hurt.

Moose Lake, Minn., Feb. 19.—O. J. Miller, who owns and operates a sawmill three and one-half miles north of here, caught his hand in a siding saw, cutting off two fingers and having his hand split up the middle. He was brought to the Moose Lake hospital.

MURCHISON TO RUN AGAIN

Cash Basis and Efficiency Are Basis of Commissioner's Platform.

Roderick Murchison, head of the public works division, will make the race at the coming election to succeed himself for a term of four years.

After considerable urging by his friends throughout the city, the commissioner late this morning told a delegation of local business men that he would enter the campaign for the election on April 6.

"I am going to make the run," said Commissioner Murchison to The Herald this noon, "on my record during the last two years and on a platform of business efficiency and a cash program basis of conducting the city's affairs.

"It is a hard job to please all the people of the city, but we have tried our best to make the many improvements in the order that the requests were received. But first and foremost we endeavored to keep the finances straight and not go over our appropriations and I am pleased to say that we succeeded, although many property-owners felt very angry because they were neglected.

"Every improvement asked for, no matter what it is, will be made just as soon as we can get around to it. It is up to the people to decide, and all we can do is take instructions, but if we have no money, then the improvement must wait."

The program for the next two years includes pavements on the Point to Thirty-second street, on Second street, East Superior street, West Third street, East Ninth street, Lakeside and New Duluth. If these plans all go through, Duluth will have a straight paved highway from Lester park to the steel plant.

Commissioner Murchison was elected for the two-year term in April, 1913, and at the first meeting of the council was chosen to head the division of public works. Previous to the election he was chief clerk in the office of public works for about fifteen years.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

ASSESSORS TO MAKE ANNUAL ROUNDS

Personal Property Estimated to Have Reached the $14,000,000 Mark.

Look out for the tax man.

If some kind-looking gentleman comes to the door and remarks what a beautiful piano you have, or how lovely the rugs look, don't go into ectasies about a bargain you got in purchasing that self-same piano or how you happened to get those pure weaves from a dying missionary in India. Just keep mum, for he is the tax man.

Within a short time the city assessors will make their annual rounds.

W. K. Fowler, deputy city assessor, who has charge of the personal property tax list each year, will begin making classifications on March 1 and as soon as these are completed, about twenty-five assessors will be hired to assess personal property and moneys and credits of the business and professional men. This work will take about four weeks.

Last year the city assessor's office, according to the records of J. A. Scott, assessed the personal property of Duluth at $13,411,128 and the money and credits at $18,916,729, while in 1913 these were $13,192,654 and $14,431,882, respectively.

With a corresponding advance for the last twelve months, it is estimated that the personal property in Duluth will have reached the $14,000,000 mark, while moneys and credits is expected to go far beyond $20,000,000.

FIRE GOD PLAYS PRANK.

Flames Cause Damage at Krieger-Jamar Fireproof Specialty Plant.

The fire god attempted a little jest last night shortly before 11 o'clock, when flames were discovered in the basement of the storeroom of the Krieger-Jamar company, dealers in fireproof specialties. Although the fire was not extinguished for more than an hour, damage was nominal.

The blaze was confined to a corner of the basement where sheet metal and roofing material are kept. Apparatus from engine companies No. 1, No. 3 and No. 4, with Chief Joseph Randall and Assistant Chief C. W. Wilson, responded.

Charged With Mail Theft.

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 19.—Martin Hinek, night baggageman at the Great Northern depot, was arrested here by federal authorities charged with rifling mail sacks. Thefts have been reported for several months, but the inspectors were unable to place the guilt.

AUTO RACES IN MOVIES

Pathe and Selig Men to Get Films of Duluth Event.

Four Cars Have Already Entered for 25-Mile Heat.

Two film companies will take motion pictures of the automobile ice races next Monday afternoon on the lake front.

The announcement made by officials of the Duluth automobile show that the races on the ice would mark the opening of the show next Monday has created considerable interest and the success of the plan is being watched by sportsmen in other cities.

The Pathe Weekly and the Selig corporations have telegraphed Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the race committee and E. J. Filiatrault, that they will send crews up here Monday morning to take pictures of the races during the afternoon. These pictures, it is stated, are to be shown throughout the world by both corporations.

The races Monday afternoon will start at 1 o'clock and will be run on a four-mile circular course, the largest in the world. Yesterday afternoon members of the committee mapped out the course, staking it on the inside, and today two scrapers are going over the ice, sweeping off the snow and preparing the track for the race.

Four automobiles have already entered for the 2-mile event, while two motor sleighs and a race between an automobile and an ice boat are also on the program.

Immediately after the races the automobile show will open at the Auditorium.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous, or who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By obtaining the treatment at some well stocked pharmacy, no one need know of another's trouble, while the treatment has been widely prescribed and dispensed heretofore by physicians and pharmacists, the grain tablets are so prepared with full directions for self administration that it is wholly unnecessary to pay a physician for prescribing them. Just ask for three-grain Cadomene tablets, begin their use and soon all the joy of a healthy body, sound nerves and strength will be felt.

STOLE WATCH TO AVOID ARREST

Unusual Reason for Theft Given By Samuel Cohen.

Samuel Cohen, 40, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the second degree when arraigned in district court yesterday afternoon under an information charging him with the theft of a watch and a chain valued at $68 from the home of his cousin, H. Davis, 2222 West Michigan street, on July 4, 1914.

Cohen told Judge Fesler that he stole the valuables to raise money for his wife, whom he feared was about to have him arrested for failure to support her. He pawned the property and his overcoat and went to St. Paul. When he returned recently he was arrested.

The case was held open by Judge Fesler for further investigation before passing sentence.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—While setting the pops of a switch engine at the roundhouse of the Northern Pacific railway shops, the dome cap broke, allowing steam to escape and scalded Joseph Funk, a machinist's apprentice, who was taken to the Northern Pacific hospital. Funk is expected to be able to leave the hospital in a week.

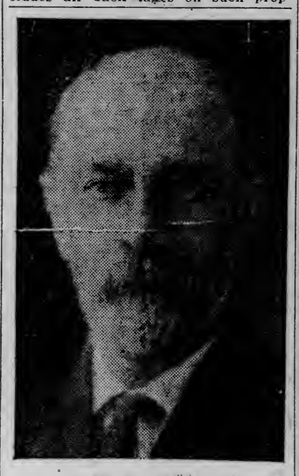

RECALLED BY SENATE

Woman's Suffrage Bill Probably Killed in North Dakota.

Terminal Elevator Bill Special Order for Saturday Afternoon.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate last night, by a vote of 26 to 22, recalled from the house the woman's suffrage bill recently passed by the upper body. As a motion attached when the bill passed the senate makes necessary a two-thirds majority vote to repass the measure, it is generally believed it will not be reconsidered this session.

Two reports were submitted by the joint committee that investigated the tax commission's work in placing new property on the tax roll. The senate members signed one report and the house members the other. The only essential difference in the reports comes in the fact that the house members have included much more statistical information than have the senators. As for revenue, the house members say the commission has placed property on the rolls that will net approximately $100,000 all told. This includes all back taxes on such property as has been added. The cost of the commission's work has been about $42,000.

W. S. DEAN, Representative From Grand Forks.

There are no conclusions by the committee as to the value of the commission's work, and no recommendations as to legislation concerning the commission's future.

There will be no legislative reapportionment this session, the house committee recommending abandonment of such plan.

Representative Haroldson's bill for congressional reapportionment was reported with a majority for postponement. Morrison's bill for the same object was indefinitely postponed.

Terminal Elevator.

Representative Burnett's bill proposing the establishment of a state-owned terminal elevator at either St. Paul or Superior, has been made a special order for Saturday afternoon. At the same time the state board of control has been asked to supply the house with additional information in connection with its inquiry into the terminal proposition. The information sought has to do with the business end of the elevator proposal.

The senate killed Representative Carney's bill proposing the division of tax payments. This measure would have permitted the payment of real estate taxes in semi-annual installments, due on March 1 and Nov. 1. The vote was 28 to 18 against the measure.

Senator D. H. Hamilton of McHenry county probably will not take his seat again at the present session. Mr. Hamilton was called to his home several days ago by the critical illness of his wife and he has written to colleagues that he does not expect to be able to return.

The Davis bills providing for state supervision of fire insurance rate-making bureaus, were rescued from indefinite postponement by the author, who secured their reference to the judiciary committee after the insurance committee had reported them for indefinite postponement.

Appointments by Governor.

Governor Hanna has sent to the senate the appointment of S. G. Syvertson as state bank examiner and T. Jackson as state oil inspector, also the reappointment of R. S. Lewis of Fargo, J. W. Jackson of Williston and F. O. Brewster of Bismarck as members of the board of control of penal and charitable institutions.

In the senate, Gibbons' bill to make counties the unit of senatorial representation was reported out with a majority for postponement.

The game and fish commission of the house reported its bill for amendments to the game laws, reducing the salary increases that had been asked. The board of regents bill was transmitted to the senate, after receiving the unanimous approval of the house. This bill creates a board of five to govern the university, agricultural college, the three normals, school of science, forestry school and normal industrial school.

Full Crew Bill Dead.

In the senate, Bronson's full crew bill was indefinitely postponed upon recommendation of a majority of the railroad committee, although its author made a fight for it.—Martin of Morton insisted the bill was a step towards compelling railroads to ask higher freight rates.

Representative Burnett's bill, providing that all railroad taxes should be paid into the state treasury, was defeated in the house.

The Lathrop committee has introduced bills reducing the salaries of the deputy state treasurer and the deputy state auditor from $2,400 a year to $2,000 a year. It is also expected that an effort will be made to increase the salary of the deputy secretary of state from $1,800 to $2,000, thus equalizing all deputy salaries.

Representative McClintock's bill, providing for the appointment of three new deputy bank examiners, was killed by the house.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

Mayor of South International Falls Is Haled Into Court.

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 19.—Clyde West, mayor of South International Falls, was placed under arrest Wednesday night on the charge of having forged the name of Peter Raymond to a city warrant for $50, which he sold to Frank Keyes. West secured bondsmen. He appeared in municipal court yesterday and secured a continuance of his preliminary hearing until next Monday. For some time there has been complaint about the manner in which the municipal affairs of South International Falls were being handled and West's arrest is considered the first move on the part of taxpayers of that city to bring about a reform.

"PRETTY GOOD EGGS" BUT GROCER ARRESTED

"How old are those eggs?" asked Robert A. North, deputy state food inspector, yesterday morning of H. E. Krantz, a meat dealer at [illegible], pointing to an open case of "nen fruit" in front of Krantz's counter.

"Oh, those are pretty good eggs," was the reply Krantz is said to have made.

Investigation of the age of the eggs and a desire for a clothespin came almost simultaneously, and Krantz was brought to headquarters, charged with violating the pure food law.

He pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial. His case will be heard March 2, and in the meantime the eggs are being guarded carefully by the city health department, lest someone try to sample them.

AGREEMENT BY SENATORS

Ship Bill Goes to Conference to Take Up Appropriation Measures.

Republicans Say Bill Is Practically Dead; No Extra Session.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Effectually blocked in their efforts to get the house ship purchase bill to a vote, Democratic senators yesterday agreed to take up appropriation bills, and sent the shipping measure to conference until Feb. 27. After that date it must take its chances of being filibustered to its death before March 4.

Republican senators entered into a "gentlemen's agreement" with Democratic leaders to let the house bill go to conference on condition that appropriation bills be passed within the next ten days in order to avoid an extra session of congress. The Democrats, it was reported, agreed to a reasonable cut in the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, and the Republicans in turn gave assurances that they would not filibuster against any appropriation measures. Democrats further agreed that when the ship purchase bill comes out of conference if any agreement on it ever is reached, the Republicans will be given an opportunity to renew their fight against it.

The compact which broke the long struggle, was reached late in the day. Administration leaders maintained that it was the best they could possibly hope for, under the circumstances, and Republican senators insisted that the action meant the bill was dead. All senators seemed to agree that there would be no extra session of congress.

When the time came to put the agreement into operation, revolting Democrats and other senators opposed letting the bill go to conference until votes could be had on their amendments. There was a flood of oratory and a long series of roll calls, and all amendments were voted down.

Bankhead Starts Trouble.

Senator Bankhead started the trouble with an amendment to provide that government ships be admitted to coastwise shipping. This amendment was defeated 54 to 43. Twenty-two Republicans also voted with the administration Democrats and some of the regular Democrats joined with the recalcitrant Democrats and Republicans.

Senator Hitchcock then renewed his amendment to prevent the exportation of munitions of war to belligerent nations. This was tabled 51 to 36. An amendment by Senator O'Gorman to prohibit purchase of belligerent-owned ships, was tabled, 45 to 43; one by William Alden Smith to create a commission to study the problem of ocean transportation was tabled 52 to 31, and one by Senator Poindexter to prevent ships plying between the United States and belligerent ports, met a like fate.

Another Poindexter amendment to authorize the president to expend $30,000,000 for construction of ships in American shipyards and to operate them outside of the war zone, also was defeated. The Fletcher motion to send the bill to conference then prevailed without a dissenting vote.

Conferees appointed were: Senators Fletcher, Ransdell, Martin, Simmons, Nelson, Burton and Crawford.

FRANK JAMES IS DEAD IN MISSOURI

One of Last Surviving Members of Famous Gang Passes Away.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Feb. 19—Frank James, one of the last surviving members of the notorious James gang, died on his farm near here late yesterday afternoon. James, who was 74 years old, had been in ill health several months and was stricken with apoplexy early yesterday.

One of the last members of a notorious robber band whose unparalleled career of crime during the Civil war and the unsettled period that followed, kept the people of a dozen states in terror, Frank James had been living the life of a quiet farmer, for more than thirty years.

The son of a minister, respected throughout the community, Frank James joined Quantrelle's guerillas in the Civil war, together with his brother, Jesse, and took part in the sacking of Lawrence, Kan. After the guerillas disbanded the James brothers became bandits.

Many notorious crimes of the decades following the war have been laid at the door of the James-Younger gang of which the only surviving members were Frank James and Cole Younger, the latter of whom is now living at Lee's Summit, Mo. Among these deeds were:

Some of Their Deeds.

"The raid on the Commercial bank at Liberty, Mo., in 1866. One bank defender was killed and $70,000 was stolen.

Looting of the Russellville, Ky., bank in 1868 for $17,000.

Bank robbery at Gallatin, Mo., in 1868, in which the cashier, Capt. John W. Sheets was murdered.

Robbery of a bank at Columbia, Ky., in which E. A. G. Martin, the cashier, was killed. This was in 1872.

Raid on a bank at Corydon, Iowa, in which $40,000 was stolen in 1873.

The wrecking and robbery of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train near Council Bluffs, Iowa, in 1873. The engineer was killed, the fireman wounded, and several passengers injured.

Box office in the fair grounds at Kansas City, Mo., was robbed of $9,000 in broad daylight in 1873.

Threw Bomb in House.

Detectives surrounded the James' home near Kearney, Mo., Jan. 25, 1875, and threw a lighted bomb into the house, thinking to kill the James brothers. It exploded, tearing the arm off their mother and killing their brother, Archie.

Although the James boys participated in hundreds of robberies, it is now generally believed that there were also hundreds of robberies charged up to them of which they were innocent.

In 1882 after Jesse James had been shot and killed in his home in St. Joseph, Mo., by Bob Ford, also a bandit, for a reward of $30,000, Frank James surrendered in Jefferson City, Mo. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary, but after a few years he developed symptoms of tuberculosis and was pardoned by the governor.

Expected Death and Died.

Chico, Cal., Feb. 19.—After testifying at Quincy in the murder trial of Frank Cook, George Miller, one of the chief witnesses for the state told his friends here Wednesday night that he expected to be killed for what he had sworn to. His charred body was found today in the ruins of his bakery at Portola, with two bullet holes in his skull.

READY TO EXECUTE CONSULAR AGENT

Representative of United States Saved From Death in Mexico.

Washington, Feb. 19.—How W. O. Jenkins, consular agent of the United States at Pueblo, Mexico, when confronted by a firing squad of Carranza troops about to execute him, was saved by the timely arrival of an officer, is revealed in a long report just received by the state department.

Details of the affair became known together with the fact that the strong representations on the subject as yet unanswered, were promptly made to Gen. Carranza.

The United States government not only protested against the discourteous treatment of an American consular agent, but demanded the punishment of those who had threatened him. Mr. Jenkins, who has extensive property interests in Mexico, first was arrested when the Zapata troops were in control of the city, and when the Carranza forces subsequently entered, a sergeant and several Carranza soldiers claimed that there had been firing from his house. Later he was released only to be rearrested, the report said, clubbed with pistols and taken to the barracks, where he was stood up for execution. Just in time, a Carranza officer rode by and when Jenkins protested that he was an American consular agent, the officer ordered that he be taken before Gen. Obregon. While the latter released Jenkins and apologized for the conduct of his subordinates the state department pursued the matter with a request for the punishment of the guilty.

INCREASE SHOWN.

Many More Goods Carried in American Ships Than Ever Before.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Marked increase in the percentage of American commerce carried on ships flying the Stars and Stripes during the period from July 1 to Dec. 31, as compared with the fiscal year ended June 30, is shown in a letter from Secretary Redfield to Secretary McAdoo made public yesterday. War caused only a slight falling off in the amount of American goods carried in British ships, but the loss to German shipping was more than 78 per cent.

The value of the water-borne commerce of the United States for the last fiscal year, was $3,785,469,000. The percentage carried on American ships was 9.26; on British, 53.45 and on German, 13.79. From July 1 to Dec. 31, the total value was $1,660,761,000, the percentage carried by American vessels rose to 14.09, while the amount carried by German ships decreased to 3.06 and that by the British steamers to 52.54.

Records of the department of commerce show that 129 ships have been transferred to the American flag under the new registry law.

RATION OF RUM TO BRITISH SOLDIERS

But Only Three Tablespoonfuls With Ration for Two Days.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 5.—A daily ration of rum is still part of the regular supplies of British soldiers in the actual fighting line, but it is doled out under the head of "medicine" and the quantity allowed is only three tablespoonfuls with rations for two days.

"This small ration of alcohol was considered indispensable by the army physicians," writes a correspondent to the Liverpool Post. "They considered it necessary that the soldier exposed to the cold for hours in the trenches, should have some stimulant available, and experience taught that the 'drop' of rum, taken either straight or in his tea, was the thing."

In some quarters fears have been expressed that the distribution of an alcoholic stimulant to the soldiers might lead some of the men to form permanent habits of drinking, but army leaders replied that the quantity handed out was too small to justify any such fear, and moreover, it is given to men only when they are actually in the front lines or in exposed positions on outpost duty.

As a matter of fact, everything is done to ensure the sobriety of the troops. When the armies are either advancing or retreating through a town all the saloons are closed, and the same measure is taken wherever the troops are in occupation of a town.

Old campaigners declare that their daily spoonful of rum is a safeguard against certain diseases, such as cholera.

As a matter of fact, notwithstanding the army's purchases of rum, the total importations of this beverage have fallen off more than half since the beginning of the war. Importers explain this by saying that the rum-makers in Jamaica and the West Indies are not making as much as formerly, because a greater profit is to be realized just now from the sale of sugar, although the price of rum has advanced about 70 per cent.

BIRDS TELL OF NAVAL BATTLE

Pheasants' Sensitive Organism Catches Faintest Distant Tremors.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 5.—Folks on the East Coast have no need of look-outs to warn them of a battle on the North sea. Even when they can not hear the gun-firing they have augories of the battle in the pheasants, in which the country thereabout abounds.

Hours before the people of London were aware of it, many East Coast residents knew there had been an engagement on the morning of Sunday, Jan. 24. Almost immediately firing had begun the pheasants made a great stir and fuss, and those old residents able to read the signs realized that the sensitive birds were aware of distant cannonading. Similar demonstrations by the birds had been made on previous occasions.

Rev. W. M. L. Evans, writing from East Coast, says: "It may be of interest to Admiral Sir David Beatty to know that a large portion of the population of this remote parish, in spite of the censor, knew all about his doings on Sunday morning at an early hour.

"Our worthy clerk met me with the announcement, 'There be rare goings on in the North sea the morn.'

"'Why?' I inquired.

"'The pheasants is all over the place with their full!' was the reply. 'Many villagers,' adds the rector, 'confirm his statement as to the excited condition of the birds.'"

The London Times, investigating the matter, finds that pheasants elsewhere along the coast have displayed the same uneasiness during naval engagements. Their sensitive organism catches the faintest distant tremors, when the human ear is not disturbed.

MONTANA ELIMINATES RACE TRACK GAMBLING.

Helena, Mont., Feb. 19.—Following the lead of the house, the senate has adopted the report of a standing committee recommending a bill abolishing race track gambling. The senate also passed a saloon closing law, the hours during which they may be open being from 8 a. m. to 12 midnight.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffing, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

COAL PRICES AT LOW EBB

Warm Weather and Big Supplies Help Reduce the Cost.

Wholesale Prices Cut But Retail Trade Is Not Affected.

Because of the mild weather, coupled with the unusually large supplies of coal now on docks along the Duluth-Superior water front, fuel in wholesale quantities is commanding a smaller price than almost ever before in the history of the coal business in Northern Minnesota, according to local dealers.

Mesaba range mining men are buying coal at from 35 to 40 cents per ton less than the circular price and have been for about three weeks.

One agent sold a 400-ton lot of Youghlogheny lump coal, cleaned and ready for steam use, at $3.05 a ton yesterday, and several agents have been reported as quoting $3 flat a ton.

Circular prices on this coal, which is standard for steam use, have been $3.55 per ton. This price of $3.05, say coal men, is far below any previous quotation and probably is a new low record for Northern Minnesota.

Domestic coals used by the average Duluthian in his home are not affected by this condition, however, as prices of coal when delivered in ton lots vary but slightly. The cost of delivery and handling is a big factor with the Pocahontas, egg, stove and nut coal used in furnaces and steam heaters, so that the price to the retail consumer remains about unchanged.

Steam coal, used by manufacturers, may go below the $3 mark, say operators, if present weather conditions prevail. There is more coal on the docks now than ever before at this time of year, and even with a good run of cold weather between now and spring there will be between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 tons left on the handling piers, it is claimed.

Smaller companies, in order to cut down the surplus as much as possible, may make greater cuts in prices before the winter and spring season is over, it is believed.

Coal for future delivery is, of course, commanding a slightly higher price, the low records being established on tonnage for immediate handling.

Anthracite prices are holding up much better than the bituminous, say dealers, as a large percentage of the hard coal demand is from the retail trade.

Phone your wants early for The Saturday Herald. Both phones 324.

PLAN NIGHT HIGH SCHOOL

Minneapolis May Award Diplomas to Evening Students.

Course Offered in Duluth But Students Are Scarce.

A movement is on foot in Minneapolis, started by the principal of the South side high school, which is in the midst of an industrial district, to have a night school course conducted, in which those who work days may take the course, and at the end of an agreed-upon period receive diplomas the same as the pupils who attend in the day time. This principal wants the high school plant used more hours of the day, especially the gymnasium.

Project in Part Here.

"The Duluth board of education," said Supt. Denfeld, when asked about the matter today, "has long since made provision for just such a project, except the matter of issuing diplomas, which could be very easily brought about. But the trouble is to get the pupils. We conduct night schools and have offered to instruct in special subjects provided classes of sufficient size could be mustered.

"I regret to say that, so far, these efforts have been a failure. There is a dearth of pupils, for not a large enough number seem to be interested in the opportunity to better their educational condition. Could we be assured of enough pupils to take up a high school course—and by speaking of the size of the class I do not mean fifty or a hundred or any such size as that, but a class that would warrant the engagement of a teaching corps of sufficient strength to carry on the work—we would be more than glad to conduct a night school and use the schools to the greatest capacity and for the longest time per day possible. However there is either lack of ambition or lack of energy; at any rate they won't come.

Strain Greater Now.

"I really cannot blame the young men and women who work daily for their living not wanting to coop themselves up at night. They want to relax. We often hear about the good old days from people of middle age and advanced age, who tell about the ambitious young men and women of their own youths, who worked hard all day and then attended school at night when they could get it, or even took private instruction where night schools could not be enjoyed. These point to what they choose to consider a lack of ambition among the young men and women of today. They fail to realize that the young man or women of this generation who is earning a living is worked harder, at a higher pitch and strain, and travels faster than those of the past generations. Nowadays the strife in business and the competition and demand are so keen that an employe must be 'on his toes,' so to say, all of the time. When the end of the work day is reached, his energy is sapped, and he wants relaxation and not more work."

Mr. Denfeld said that the most successful classes are those in which foreigners gather to learn to speak, read and write English correctly.

"Mathematics," he added, "or other subjects get little attention from them. They want to learn English for purely utilitarian reasons."

Interdiction Withdrawn.

Rome, Feb. 19.—Germany in answer to the vatican's protest concerning Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, has notified the holy see that the interdiction against the cardinal corresponding with the Belgian bishops, has been withdrawn. Cardinal Mercier com- with the Belgian bishops has been plained against his interdiction in his Latin letter of Jan. 10, which was addressed to the deans in his archdiocese.

HAMMOND BACK FROM WOODS WITH DEVELOPMENT POLICY

Definitely Concludes That Sound Business Principle Bids Minnesota Develop Her Now Unproductive Area—Says State Must Give the Homesteaders a Chance.

Minneapolis Tribune: Governor Hammond went into the woods of Northern Minnesota last week in quest of first-hand knowledge of the problems of Northern Minnesota.

The governor slept in a lumberjack's bunk. He ate salt pork from a cruiser's tin plate. He took "pot luck" in a homesteader's cabin. He heard the homesteader's story of what he is trying to do and why he can't. He trudged through snow nigh up to his hips. And he developed a tremendous appetite.

For Development Policy.

Emerged from the woods, the governor yesterday gave graphic description of his trip, outlined the impressions he so gathered first hand and announced a general development policy which brought glad smiles to the lips of Northern Minnesota legislators, for not until yesterday, after it was all over, were they cognizant of the real purpose of the governor's trip in the North.

It is the governor's definite conclusion that sound business principle bids Minnesota develop her now unproductive acres. Suggestion of delay is met by the governor with the assertion that every year of delay means only unwarranted waste.

"Minnesota is like a vast factory with unlimited demand for its products but with only a portion of its productive machinery in operation," said the governor.

"The governor does not pretend that he learned on his brief trips, which started last Thursday night and ended Tuesday, all there is to know of Northern Minnesota.

Unlimited Possibilities.

"But no sane person could doubt, after even cursory inspection, that Northern Minnesota presents unlimited productive possibilities," said the governor.

"I do not pretend to be an agricultural expert, but one need not be an expert to know that most of the lands of Northern Minnesota, now lying idle, are possessed of great productive possibility. As long as those lands lie idle, just so long are so many of the machines of the Minnesota factory of production idle."

The governor went to Brainerd over the Northern Pacific, and from there north with W. H. Grinnell, general manager of the Minnesota & International railroad. From Bemidji he went to Cloquet, Carlton county, and out into the woods, where the homesteaders are following in the trail of the loggers.

"I saw the lumbermen and the pulpwood men sweeping the big forests and the little forests before them," said the governor. "And I looked back upon the front rank of the pioneer farmers who followed in the wake.

Homesteaders Need a Chance.

"Their stories and the stories I heard from others encountered on the trip were sufficient to convince me that the homesteader must be given a fair start. There is many a deserted homesteader's cabin in Northern Minnesota. It appeals to me that it would be sound business policy for the state to give these sturdy pioneers of agriculture a fair chance."

Clear the Lands.

Here the governor turned to Senator Patrick McGarry of Walker to ask more definite knowledge of Constitutional Amendment No. 3, submitted at the last general election. This amendment to help homesteaders clear the lands lost, but the Northern Minnesota legislators are confident that they can have it submitted again by this legislature.

"That appeals to me to be a splendid amendment," said the governor. "You men of Northern Minnesota have given more thought to your problems than I and probably that is the best, the most business like manner of starting the homesteader right. But started the homesteader must be. It is too much for Minnesota to ask that he fight the battle all alone."

For Better Roads.

Here the governor turned abruptly to the question of roads. "I see the necessity for legal machinery for obtaining roads speedily for Northern Minnesota," he continued. "Farm produce is of little use unless there are roads over which to carry it to market. I understand that Northern Minnesota is availing itself of the Elwell Road law to pierce many sections which until now have been kept absolutely in check for the want of a way to market.

"Whether this is the most effective measure I am not now prepared to state, but I stand strongly for that road law which will enable Northern Minnesota to obtain roads speedily. A fair start and a road to market—that's all that great North country of ours needs. With those it will return to the state hundreds of times over the little aid needed for the start."

Advice to Secretary.

And here the governor showed that he had become a Northern Minnesota enthusiast. He turned sharply upon Charles M. Andrist, his secretary.

"Charlie," he said, "you are nervous, you don't sleep well nights. Spend a month in the North and I will guarantee that you will return without an ailment."

LOST HIS VEST AND HAS STOMACH ACHE

Gentleman of Leisure Will Try Exercise at Fred Ward's Country Estate.

Several weeks ago Ed Mattson, gentleman of leisure lost his vest and since that time he has had a stomach ache—so much of a stomach ache that he hasn't been able to do any work. This alarming state of affairs was revealed in municipal court yesterday afternoon when Edward was asked to answer to a charge of vagrancy.

When asked where the pain was, Edward hurriedly passed his hands over as much of his torso as he could in one swoop, and Judge W. L. Windom, becoming alarmed, concluded that the man had at least one foot in the grave.

"You're a mighty sick man," he said, "if you have a pain in all those places."

Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, failed to find any symptoms which pointed to sudden death, and so Mattson will try to improve his physical condition and rid himself of the "ache," by twenty days of exercise in the great outdoors, under the watchful eye of Supt. Fred Ward of the county and city joint work farm.

Mattson was arrested yesterday by Detectives F. A. Schulte and Donald Irvine, who found him loafing in a Michigan street saloon. He recently was a guest at the poor farm, as police records show, but he says "he didn't like it there."

OPENING DAY FOR NEW CAFE

J. J. Haley Announces Formal Opening of Duluth's Newest Restaurant.

Decorations and Equipment Set a High Mark for the New Building.

Haley's complete new restaurant and hotel, which has been under construction for the last five months, will be formally opened to the Duluth public tomorrow evening from 5 to 8 o'clock. Flaaten's orchestra will play a selected program of music during the dinner hour. While Duluth's newest cafe was initiated into service last Tuesday, John J. Haley, proprietor, decided to postpone the grand opening for several days so as to give his large force of employes a little time to familiarize themselves with their new work and thus insure complete harmony in all departments. Mr. Haley is well known to Duluthians, having been in the restaurant business in this city for years and he has established a reputation for himself such as is enjoyed by few others engaged in this line of business in the entire Northwest. On the opposite page is shown an interior view of this elegant new addition to Superior street and the representative firms of the Zenith City who helped make this new restaurant the splendid structure that it is.

Stromquist & Moyer, decorators for the Haley building, carry one of the finest and most exclusive line of wall hanging and decorative wall papers in the Northwest, and they are showing some of the newest wall papers for the spring season that have never been equaled in Duluth. They are now doing the decorative work for the new defective hospital being constructed by Bishop McGolrick, the Harriet Beecher Stowe school at New Duluth, and the eleventh floor of the Fidelity building. All of the cornice and roofing work, the steel ceilings and ventilation, that form such an important part of this new institution, were furnished by the Callan-Hopkins company.

The mill work and interior finish were furnished by the Endion Lumber company, who have their mill at the foot of Fourteenth avenue east. This progressive institution is under the management of W. P. Heimbach, Jr., and turns out a high quality of work. P. Johnson, who is foremost in the sign business in Duluth, painted the large sign that adorns the top of Haley's new building. Mr. Johnson paints signs of every description, and it will be of advantage to any one who desires work of this kind to consult him. The elaborate fixtures that give such an inviting atmosphere to this new cafe were furnished by Johnson-Gustafson, who have their plant at 308 East Superior street. This firm are manufacturers and designers in special furniture and all kinds of store fixtures. The Hytex face brick used in the construction were furnished by the Standard Salt & Cement company of 237-239 Lake avenue south. The furniture in both the hotel and restaurant and draperies were furnished by the French & Bassett company. The plumbing and heating was installed by the D. R. Black company, who have had the contracts for the greater part of the plumbing and heating that has been done in Duluth this winter. Included in the list of the work done by them are the homes of Bernard Silberstein, John G. Williams, George A. French, C. H. Bagley, Louis Dworshak, M. L. Fay and R. N. Chatfee; the First National Bank of Ely, and the ventilating system for the new Floodwood school. The Acme laundry will do all the laundering for this new hotel and restaurant. For over a quarter of a century the Acme laundry have been leaders in cleanliness and service. The Linen Exchange will supply the linens, coats and aprons used in this latest restaurant. The Linen exchange is the only firm in the city owning a plant devoted exclusively to the linen supply business.

Mazda lamps, furnished by the Duluth Edison-Electric company will brighten the interior and make night look like day in the interior of Haley's cafe. Ryan & Russell will furnish the pure food groceries that will be used in this cafe.

CASES IN FRENCH MILITARY COURTS

Desertions, Disrespect to Superiors and Misdemeanors on Calendar.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Feb. 5.—So far as the public knows, the military courts have thus far had few sensational cases. In view of the frequency of spy stories, many people are astonished not to hear every day or so of a traitor or a foreign spy being condemned to death. As a rule such cases are handled by drumhead court-martial, and the culprit has already been shot before the story of his exploits reaches the public, if the story is true. It is more the routine business with which the regular sittings of the court-martial have to do. Desertions, disrespect to superiors, aggressions of all sorts and misdemeanors make up the calendar.

A class of cases that is common is like that of Abdallah ben Said Yahlon, Algerian rifleman, who fell a victim to the warm hospitality of Paris. Recovering from a wound, he was ordered to rejoin his regiment near Marseilles. He had never seen Paris and so many people showered things upon him he thought it was a pity to leave. He lived like a prince six weeks, without spending a sou, when finally caught he had no defense excepting the weakness of human nature and simply declared, "I brave man—want fight."

Abdallah was formally sentenced to two years hard labor, but the sentence was suspended, as it has been in many other cases, and he will be sent to the front.

Resistance of civilians to military regulations brings many cases like that of Jacques Dellone into court. Dellone is a hard-working man, afflicted with a peppery temper. He pulled a handcart with an 800-pound load up to the Billancourt gate, where he was stopped by a sentinel. "You can't pass here!"

"What!" cried Dellone, "after pulling this load a mile and a half, you want me to turn about with it? Not on your life."

"You can't pass," insisted the sentinel, barring the way with his rifle.

"They ought to put up a sign post so people would know," protested Dellone.

"You'd better see Gallieni about that," replied the sentinel.

"Gallieni! Who's Gallieni? I don't know Gallieni and don't care a straw about him. I know no one but Joffre."

Dellone's excuse was that no one talked about Gallieni, and he did not know what authority he had to his credit.

He was given five days in prison.

BUTTER WILL BE CHEAPER

Reduction of Two Cents Announced—Egg Market Firm.

Good Call for Apples—Green Vegetables From South Here.

A feature in the produce market that will be appreciated by consumers today is a reduction of two cents a pound in butter, with fair prospects of slightly lower prices yet.

Creamery butter is quoted at 32 cents a pound in years, 31 cents in prints and 30 cents in tubs, according to the Bridgeman-Russell company. The eastern markets in the product are lower, due to an increase in the current make and a disposition on the part of the trade to reduce storage stocks. Production in Duluth territory and through the Northwest has not shown any expansion as yet, and none is expected before about April.

Egg Prices Firm.

The egg market is firm at 30@32 cents a dozen for fresh or 24@26 cents for storage. Receipts of fresh eggs have not increased as much as had been expected during the last few days, and with storage supplies being steadily drawn upon, temporarily higher prices are predicted by some dealers. The trade in an eastern city has been interested in an experimental importation of a car lot of Chinese eggs at the end of last week. These eggs were laid in China in November, and were bought from farmers of the Orient at about eight cents a dozen. Everything paid they cost 24 or 25 cents a dozen laid down in this country and sold quickly. There is said to be very little difference between the flavor of Chinese and American eggs, but the Oriental ones are considerably smaller.

Good Call for Apples.

Supplies of fruits and vegetables on the Duluth market are liberal, and a better variety of California and Southern greenstuffs was advised by the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company.

A good sale of apples was met with during the last few days as a result of special efforts to market them. Stocks in some varieties are being rapidly cleaned up, and fresh receipts of extra fancy Baldwins are reported. Box apples are said to be coming in for a run, with the smaller sizes being given the preference over the larger ones. The former are 50 cents a box cheaper. A slight advance in apples is expected to be announced at any time.

Orange prices are unchanged, but the quality of recent arrivals of the fruit is said to be all that could be desired. Grape-fruit continues exceptionally cheap and an increased demand is being met with in it. The cranberry market remains the lowest in several seasons back.

Potatoes Still Cheap.

A carlot of green vegetables, including beets, carrots and new cabbage from Louisiana, was received locally this week, and another is expected to come to hand next Monday. The celery market is stronger on account of rains in California, but Duluth consumers are reported to be getting the advantage of earlier purchases by dealers here.

Potatoes are still wholesaling on a basis of 50 cents a bushel for the best Minnesota stock. No advances are looked for by the trade, it being estimated that 40 per cent of the entire last season's yield in the Northwest is still in the hands of growers and operators. The prospects now are that Southern potatoes will be marketed comparatively early, coming into competition with the northern stock. The onion market is easy, but cabbage and roots are firm.

Meat Advances Halted.

A definite halt is regarded as having been called in the bulges in meat prices that have been so painfully prominent to consumers during the last six months. Receipts of cattle and other livestock at packing points are said to be larger, and that is leading to a declining market. Beef and pork are cheaper today but lamb and mutton are unchanged.

A Hint for Coming Maternity

In a little book designed for expectant mothers more complete instruction is given in the use of "Mother's Friend." This is an external embrocation applied to the abdominal muscles for the purpose of reducing the strain on ligaments, cords and tendons.

It serves to ease the mind, indirectly has a most beneficial effect upon the nervous system and thousands of women have delightedly told how they were free of nausea, had no morning sickness and went through the ordeal with most remarkable success. "Mother's Friend" has been growing in popular favor for more than forty years. In almost every community are grandmothers who used it themselves, their daughters have used it and they certainly must know what a blessing it is when they recommend it so warmly. It is used very successfully to prevent caking of breasts.

"Mother's Friend" has been prepared in the laboratory of Bradfield Regulator Co 304 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for more than two generations and can be had of almost any druggist from coast to coast.

Write to-day for the little book.

PARIS STILL FEELS THE LACK OF FUEL.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Feb. 5.—Paris is still feeling the lack of fuel. There is said to be plenty of English coal, but it comes in great blocks and there is not enough help to break it up at Rouen, the coal port of Paris, so as to make it available for the retail trade. To remedy the situation the minister of commerce proposes to recruit miners to increase the output of French mines that are not in the hands of the Germans.

OUTBREAK AGAINST GERMANS IN AUSTRALIA

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Melbourne, Jan. 10.—The only outbreak of any consequence in Australia directed against the Germans since the war began occurred recently when a mob burned down the German club at Broken Hill, a large mining city.

The trouble originated through the apparently insane act of two Turks, who, conceiving it to be their duty to attack Britons because Great Britain was at war with Turkey, armed themselves with rifles, and, in hiding along the state railway line, fired into a train of picnickers, killing four and wounding seven persons. The Turks were finally shot to death by police and militiamen, but the aftermath of the tragedies was a gathering of turbulent Britons in the foreign quarter of Broken Hill that night, loud in their charge that the attack upon the picnic crowd was attributable to the Germans. The mob marched to the German club, smashed all the windows in the building with stones and saturating the house with oil, they set the place on fire.

TAX IS FIXED ON BEQUESTS

Probate Court Determines State's Share of Philbin Estate.

Total Inheritance Levy Will Be Over $15,000 Mark.

Heirs of the late Donald M. Philbin, former superintendent of the Great Northern railway and later manager of the Hill ore properties, who died in Duluth on Aug. 6, 1914, will pay taxes aggregating $15,342.69 on their inheritances. The amounts were determined by Judge Gilpin in probate court yesterday afternoon.

The Philbin estate was inventoried at $406,299.02, which will be divided, according to his will, between his widow, Mrs. Adelaide G. Philbin, and eleven other beneficiaries. Of the total amount, the widow will receive $200,-120, and will pay a tax of $4,928.60.

Bequests to others and the taxes each will pay are as follows:

Miss Sophie Philbin, Montreal, Can., sister, $89,011.42, tax $4,970.85; Mrs. J. E. Findley, Montreal, sister, $81,588.44, tax $4,664.13; Thomas R. Philbin, Chicago, brother, $7,605, tax $198.15; William R. Philbin, Duluth, nephew, $1,250, tax $7.50; Richard Philbin, Montreal, nephew, $5,119.16, tax $123.57; Rhoda Philbin, sister-in-law, $4,587.50, tax $224.37; Louis Runkel, Tacoma, Wash., nephew, $3,017.50, tax $60.52; Donald Knobal of Crookston, Donald Baxter of Duluth, Donald Larke of San Francisco and Donald Fairbairn, namesakes of the deceased, each is devised $1,000, on which a tax of $45 will be paid by all except the last named, a relative, who pays $30.

Fight Over Minneapolis Bill.

The house got into a fight, lasting past the noon hour, on the bill repealing the Minneapolis civil service system, with the Hennepin county delegation divided 11 to 7 in favor of repeal, and most of the Minneapolis members and many others participating in the debate which covered civil service in the abstract and the concrete. The house voted down the previous question at noon, moved by Representative Minnette, who said that Minneapolis consumes more legislative time than any other section.

The house committee recommendation of the bill to repeal the Minneapolis civil service system was adopted by a vote of 55 to 48.

Attorney General Smith this morning upheld the ruling by Speaker Flowers that an amendment to the banking law requires a two-thirds vote, so the bill providing that state reserve banks must have $25,000 capital is defeated.

The senate judiciary committee killed the bill by Senators W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis and Richard Jones of Duluth for an appropriation of $1,000,000 to put the unemployed at work clearing state land at $3 a day and board.

Senator Lende tried to get back from the house the bill lowering the butter fat requirement of milk from 3¼ per cent to 3 per cent, but his motion to that effect got but 8 votes, and there were 49 against it.

Workingmen's Compensation.

The official amendments to the workingmen's compensation law, agreed upon by representatives of organized labor, the employers and the state labor bureau, were presented to the senate today in a bill by Senator Pauly of Minneapolis. The bill corrects defects and makes the compensation more liberal, among other things increasing the maximum aid from $10 to $11 a week, and the minimum from $6 to $6.50. Funeral benefits of $100 are allowed in all cases.

Senator Adams of Duluth introduced a bill making it unlawful to buy from minors grain swept out of cars.

The abolition of the annual town meeting in the township of Stuntz is proposed in a bill by Senator John A. Healy of Hibbing, which turns over to the board of supervisors the privilege of making tax levies, now held by the town meeting.

The bill also provides an election system and creates fifteen precincts for township voting.

The senate passed the Swanson house bill making it unlawful to sell storage eggs as fresh eggs, and the Denegre senate bill prohibiting trespassing on railroad terminals and yards.

The senate voted to adjourn from this afternoon to Tuesday afternoon, Monday being a legal holiday, and the house will adjourn to Tuesday morning.

of competition, that two telephone concerns in a town are a nuisance, and that if the railroad and warehouse commission is to be given control of the telephones of the state the control should be real.

The fight for this bill is many sessions old, and it began fully fifteen years ago. The measure never passed the legislature until two years ago, when its passage was met by the governor's veto. The prospects that it will become a law this time are promising.

Trading Stamp Bill.

Despite the fact that representatives of a dozen Twin City trading stamp companies appeared before the committee in opposition to the bill, the senate committee on commerce, manufactures and trade yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the bill by Senator George M. Peterson of Duluth providing for the licensing of all concerns giving stamps and premiums.

The bill requires a license fee of $500 for every trading stamp concern, and such license fee must be paid wherever it does business. Representatives of trading stamp concerns appearing before the committee yesterday declared that if it passed and was upheld in the courts it would drive them all out of business in this state.

And there isn't must secrecy about the fact that that is the purpose of the bill.

The Deaf School Probe.

A stream of silent testimony, written in the air with nimble fingers, continued to pour into the records of the house committee investigating the affairs of the state school for the deaf at Faribault yesterday afternoon.

Charges that there have been irregularities of most reprehensible character at the school have been compiled in volume, according to members of the committee. Just when the investigation will close remains a matter of speculation.

"There shall be no time limit on testimony such as we have been recording," said Representative A. F. Teigen, a member of the committee. "It is difficult to state just when the committee will be ready to report. Its investigation will be most complete."

With strained faces and staring eyes, a silent group of inmates or former inmates of the school sat for hours yesterday in a little committee room at the statehouse while the committee, through an interpreter, examined numerous witnesses.

Some of those present were parents of inmates, and testified that their children had felt the pinch of hunger, or at least the discomfort of an unsatisfied appetite.

Testimony that food was served in limited portions and that it was carelessly prepared, came from practically every witness.

Others told of alleged brutal punishment administered at the approval of Supt. J. N. Tate.

For stealing two small cookies from the kitchen, John Kline, a former inmate, now living in St. Paul, testified that he was hustled to the much-dreaded dark room in the cellar of a building.

Kept in Dungeon a Week.

"For one week I was kept in the dungeon," he testified. "The second day I was there, a man came and boarded up the one window. They fed me bread and water. I had plenty of time to meditate and pay penance for the theft of the bite of sweetmeats."

Kline testified further that he was compelled to remain in the shoe repairing department, despite testimony that he desired to take up other work.

Mahlon E. Hoag of Duluth testified that on Nov. 13, 1913, he was struck by Supervisor Edward Frechette. He was thrown against a pillar and his head severely cut.

"I angered Mr. Frechette by playfully calling a girl a pig," he testified.

Joseph J. Hennen of St. Paul testified that the school authorities permitted his little daughter to remain in a hospital at the school for more than a week, at the same time informing him that the girl was not ill.

"A thing that struck me as peculiar," he testified, "was the fact that whenever I called at the school in the afternoon I found my little girl mending underwear or sox, instead of being in class.

"I was often called upon to give the school money for dental work, shoe repairing and for other reasons."

Paying for Care of Insane.

The fight to shoulder a part of the burden of caring for the insane from the state to the relatives and estates of patients will be up again soon in the senate. The senate committee on public buildings yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the bill by Senator Henry N. Benson of St. Peter providing that wherever patients have property or relatives who can pay, $10 a month shall be contributed toward their support in state hospitals for the insane.

This bill has been requested by the state board of control, which figures that it will relieve the state of a considerable burden of expense, both directly and indirectly; directly in compelling those financially able to pay a share of the expense, and indirectly in ridding the hospitals of patients that would be cared for at home if a charge were made at the insane asylums. The board declares that many patients who are harmless and could be cared for at home will be cared for there if a charge is imposed.

The Swenson-Bjornson-Nimocks bill, abolishing the fee system in the state inspection of weights and measures was recommended for passage yesterday afternoon by the house committee on commerce and retail trade. As the bill carries an annual appropriation of $45,000 it must go to the appropriations committee. The senate committee on commerce, manufactures and trade has recommended favorably a similar bill by Senator George M. Peterson of Duluth.

Merchants now pay fees for the annual inspection of their weights and measures, but under the proposed bill they would pay fees only if their scales and measures were found to be incorrect.

The committee killed the bill by Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls, which would have put this work under the dairy and food department.

Efficiency Bill Hearing.

Persons interested in the agricultural clauses of the efficiency and economy bill appeared before the joint committee of both houses yesterday to explain their attitude on the various phases of it.

Prof. F. L. Washburn, state entomologist, objected to the features of the bill that applied to the state entomologist's office. Former Senator Thomas Cashman, D. A. Wallace, former member of the efficiency and economy commission; O. B. Nelson and E. M. Hughes, also former members of the commission, spoke on behalf of the bill.

The relation that the state fair would bear to the new form of government was discussed at length by Representative L. C. Spooner and Charles P. Craig, president of the state agricultural society.

"The new plan would put the state fair on a business basis and not make it necessary for the legislature to keep appropriating huge sums each two years to keep the fair going," said Representative Spooner.

Occupational Diseases.

Senator Richard Jones of Duluth and W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis yesterday introduced a bill designed to curb occupational diseases. It authorizes the state board of health to compel physicians to report all such cases, so that the state labor bureau can take steps to remedy the conditions causing them. The bill is introduced at the request of the bureau of labor. Commissioner Houck says that while the law now requires physicians to report such cases, he is satisfied that stronger measures are necessary as not one in ten is reported.

The bill for the education of deaf children under 10 years of age in the public schools, introduced by Representative W. J. North of Duluth and P. H. Konzen of Halloek, was rescued from defeat yesterday by Mr. North. It has been taken up by the appropriations committee and killed without giving the authors an opportunity to be heard, but Mr. North secured the consent of the house to have it referred to the committee on education for further consideration.

Horseshoers' Licenses.

The bill increasing from $2 to $5 the fee charged for horseshoers' licenses was killed yesterday afternoon by the house committee on general legislation, of which Representative Ribenack of Duluth is chairman.

The committee also voted adversely on a bill by Representative Pratt of Anoka, authorizing villages to license regulate and prohibit dance halls. Representative C. H. Warner of Aitkin and others, however, decided to put a minority report in favor of the bill.

Representatives Bouck, Warner and Putnam were appointed by Chairman Ribenack as a sub-committee to go over the bill introduced by Representative Magnus Johnson of Litchfield, providing for the incorporation of cooperative societies.

Employes and officers of the state grain inspection department take exception to the statement made by Chairman Spooner of the efficiency and economy committee that the "so-called grain inspection department" is "a burden upon the taxpayers and a robbery of the farmers of the state."

E. R. Rehnke, general chairman of the boards of grain appeals, points out that the grain inspection system is not costing the taxpayers a penny, and that so far as the boards of appeals are concerned, in the last four years their receipts have been $146,583.05, their expenses $78,012.71, and their net earnings, $68,570.34.

WILL OPEN SATURDAY

participating, of which twenty have built pavilions of their own.

Those Represented.

England, Germany, Austria and Russia, among the belligerents, are not officially represented, although various of their commercial organizations have seen to it that they should not be wholly left out of mind. France, Italy and Japan are officially represented, as are forty-one states and territories under the flag of the United States. Canada and Australasia, under the British flag, both have buildings.

The grounds lie on the water front, adjoining the United States military reservation known as the Presidio, facing San Francisco bay with the Golden Gate visible on the west.

The many domes are done in transparent greens and dull ashes of roses. The broad stretches of mural expanse are grained and stained to the texture and color of Italian travertine. Where the statuary has not been wrought from the same material, it has been finished a soft buff, or burnt orange.

Thus the exposition as a whole has the soft tone of a pastel, done in the impressionistic manner. Other world's fairs have been uniformly white, which in the strong light of the California climate would have been painfully dazzling.

Tower of Jewels.

Dominating the whole scheme is the colossal Tower of Jewels, 435 feet high, set in the central Court of the Universe, whose Corinthian columns are taller than those of Saint Peter's cathedral in Rome. Each column is surmounted by the figure of a star, whose headdress is covered with "jewels" and from the tower itself depend 80,000 sparklets in all colors, which flash in the sun and scintillate at night when the searchlights illuminate the court.

The site and plan of the exposition have made it the most compact ever built. It occupies 635 acres, of which fifty have been devoted to horticultural display. Liberal use of palms, shrubbery, vines and trees has been made to relieve and diversify the long facade of the exhibit palaces. At the far ends of the grounds are the athletic field and race track; at the near end lies the zone, in which are grouped the amusement concessions.

Conceived to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal, the idea of the exposition had its inception in 1904. The great fire of 1906, in which San Francisco virtually was destroyed, only delayed plans for its embodiment. The authorization of the state legislature, together with an appropriation of $5,000,000, was obtained, and in April, 1910, $4,089,000 was raised by private subscription in two hours. President Taft signed the exposition act October 4, 1911.

Investment of $80,000,000.

In work done by the exposition company, the nations, states and territories participating and the concessionaries admitted, an investment of $80,000,000 is represented. Exhibits on display probably will bring the total of capital, temporarily tied up within the grounds to $300,000,000 or more.

Only one exposition building is permanent. The city and the exposition jointly built as part of the city's new civic center, still in process of construction, a $2,000,000 auditorium, in which are to be held the 400 congresses and conventions which will give the exposition such an important educational aspect. After the exposition closes, the auditorium will pass into the keeping of the city.

In the field of sports, the nation will be represented as widely as in any other of its interests.

Yachting cups have been given by President Wilson, King George of England, Emperor William of Germany and Sir Thomas Lipton.

There are to be important golf and polo matches.

There is to be a motorboat race from New York to San Francisco through the Panama canal.

A cross-continent aeroplane race is under consideration.

The Vanderbilt cup and Grand Prix automobile races are to be run on the exposition track Feb. 22 and Feb. 27.

All the championships of the Amateur Athletic union are to be held on the exposition grounds.

DON'T WASH YOUR HAIR WITH SOAP

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soap or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

more in Austrian hands, the situation again grows interesting. Newspaper correspondents have ceased predicting when Roumania will take up arms, but sympathizers with the allies have not given up the expectation that she ultimately will take this step.

German Note.

The German note to the United States is still occupying the attention of British, Dutch and Scandinavian newspapers, while German newspapers continue to assert that in the face of starvation Germany must enforce her sea blockade regardless of the consequences.

For several days past the fighting in the western arena of the war would seem, judging from the reports reaching London, to have been in favor of the allies. The Germans have been counter-attacking violently but they appear to have had heavy losses. The pressure of the allies has no doubt been timed to keep the Germans busy during developments in the east and to prevent the withdrawal of forces for the relief of the eastern line, as was done in December.

German Statement.

Berlin, Feb. 19, by wireless to Sayville.—The official statement given out today by the German general army headquarters says:

"In the western theater of the war:

"On the road to Arras and Lille the French have been thrown out of the section of the German trench which was occupied by them on Feb. 16.

"In the Champagne district renewed attacks made by strong French forces broke down completely under German fire. One hundred additional prisoners fell into German hands. Short sections of the captured trenches, which were taken by the French on Feb. 16, were partly reconquered.

"In the reported French attack on Boureuilles and Vauquois, 5 officers and 479 uninjured men captured.

"To the east of Verdun, near Combres, the French, after a short-lived success under heavy losses, were repulsed.

"In the Vosges the Germans stormed 'Height 600,' to the south of Lusse, and took two machine guns.

"In the eastern war arena:

"The Germans yesterday occupied Tauroggen in the Russian province of Kovno.

"The engagements of the pursuing Germans with the retreating Russians to the northwest of Grodno and to the north of Auchswola are nearing their end. The battle to the northwest of Kolno still continues. South of Mysznice the Germans drove the Russians out of several villages.

"To the north of the Vistula in Poland, minor engagements are taking place on both sides of the River Wkra to the east of Racionz.

"From the region on the south of the Vistula in Poland, there is nothing new to report."

DIRECTED AGAINST ALLIES OF BRITAIN

One American Traffic in Arms, Other Starvation, Says Berlin Press.

Amsterdam, Feb. 19, via London.—A dispatch received here from Berlin quotes the Vossische Zeitung as follows:

"The new German measures at sea are directed against two of the allies of Great Britain. One is the American traffic in arms and the other is starvation. We need no American arms, we shall make the struggle with starvation in the firm consciousness that we will pull through, even if not one single grain of wheat reaches us. Great Britain as a result of our blockade must experience severe damage."

The Lokal Anzeiger says:

"Feb. 18 was the beginning of a defensive fight of a people threatened with starvation, a people which must fight for its existence and which in this fight for its life must and will push aside all consideration for third parties. Consideration of others toward us already has been eliminated. The fight we enter upon Feb. 18 must be fought with all recklessness or not at all and we Germans have resolved to fight without regard for the consequences."

SYMPATHY FOR THE PRESIDENT

Proposed in Resolution Presented to Wisconsin Legislature.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 19.—Senator Bray of Oshkosh, in a joint resolution offered today, proposed that the Wisconsin legislature extend its sympathy and encouragement to President Wilson in the trying hours of his stewardship. Action was deferred until next week.

The senate killed the Bennett bill allowing the court to pay a portion of the fines to the informant in certain cases and the Burke bill relating to judges drawing papers without charge.

The senate passed the Baxter bill permitting foreign corporations to enforce payment on loans in this state without being licensed in Wisconsin.

The assembly advanced the Hambrecht bill making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday. Bills requiring vestibules on all trains and for half holiday on election day were reported for indefinite postponement.

The assembly adjourned until Tuesday, the senate until tomorrow.

SHIPPING STAGNATION DUE TO THE WEATHER.

Rotterdam, Feb. 19, via London.—The stagnation in shipping here yesterday seems to have been due to the weather rather than to Germany's declaration of a sea war zone. The shipping today was quite normal. Of fourteen incoming vessels six were British and the six steamers which departed were all British.

WOULD RUN INTO ABSURD FIGURES

Railroad Manager Shows What Certain Demands of Men Would Do.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—How, in certain instances, the demands of Western locomotive engineers and firemen, being arbitrated here, would run into absurd figures, was pointed out at the arbitration proceedings today by A. W. Trenholm, general manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad. In his figures, Mr. Trenholm considered the new rates of pay requested and the demands for automatic release, pay for preparatory time, initial and final terminal delay, and all elements involved in the demands.

He first cited a run of six trains between Elmira and Riverside, Iowa, on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, whereby the application of all the rules and rates demanded an engineer now earning $6.22 for eight hours' work would receive $34 and his fireman $22. Another Rock Island crew running between Cameron Junction, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan., would receive $34.96 a day for the engineer and $22.83 for the fireman, the witness said. He cited several other instances of similar possible high pay, including one on the Denver & Rio Grande, where the engineer of a "helper" engine running up Tennessee Pass would receive $21.30.

The principal factor in these instances is the demand of the men that in cases where an engine makes several short trips a day as part of a day's work, the crew would be paid a full day for each trip.

Guilty of Murder.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 19.—David Fountain, a church janitor, who confessed to the murder of 10-year-old Margaret Milling in the German Lutheran church of this city last December, was found guilty late yesterday of murder in the first degree. The convicted man will be sentenced next Tuesday to death.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

ADDITION TO HOME PLANNED

Members of Children's Society Start Campaign for Funds.

President Urges Duluthians to Aid Institution Here First.

Members of the Childrens' Home society of Duluth, under the leadership of Mrs. G. Herbert Jones, have started a campaign through which they hope to raise funds and complete plans for an additional building this coming spring.

The Duluth home already is caring for 112 children under the age of 12 years, and has fourteen adults on its payroll. The record made since the establishment of the home has aroused considerable enthusiasm among members of the society as to the possibilities of operating on a much larger scale.

President Jones called a special meeting of the directors of the society at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hoatson, 1701 East First street, this afternoon, when the 1914 annual report was received, and prepared for mailing to the many associate members of the society.

One thousand circulars, telling of the work done so far by the Duluth Childrens' Home society and giving a list of the many patrons of the organization, also, are to be mailed prospective members.

"Charity begins at home," said Mrs. Jones, in telling of the campaign, "and we are sure that when some of our citizens realize that the Childrens' Home of St. Louis county needs an additional building, they will give their financial aid.

"We feel that they will do this in preference to giving to the Childrens' Home Society of Minneapolis, known as the Jean Martin Brown home. The Minneapolis home does a good work and extends its efforts all over the state, but it is a volunteer institution and our home does the work for this locality, and merits the first aid.

"The mite boxes in our stores and banks are for the Minneapolis home and people have solicited support here for the Jean Martin Brown home, but we believe that business men should help the home institution first."

HERBERT CLOW IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS

But Physicians Hope Youthful Ski Jumper Will Recover.

Although he has been unconscious for four days, physicians still believe that Herbert Clow, aged 15, will recover without serious injury from a concussion of the brain caused when the boy fell on his head, following a long jump on his skis.

Since Monday afternoon, when the boy jumped sixty-two feet and struck on his head, Herbert, who is the son of John Clow, 407 East Fifth street, has been unconscious, despite efforts to arouse him.

Last night and this morning he showed some signs of reviving, according to the physicians, and was in possession of many of his faculties for a few minutes at a time. He is conscious of pain in his arm or legs, but beyond that, he cannot be roused.

Dr. F. F. Clark declared that there is nothing that can be done in the case, as there is no indication of a fracture of any kind. He believes that the boy will regain consciousness soon, and that he will recover, as there is no sign of a blood clot.

Herbert was playing on a ski slide at Eighth street east near the boulevard when the accident occurred.

AIRCRAFTS WILL RECEIVE ATTENTION

Naval Committee Wakes Up After Talk By Walcott.

Washington, Feb. 19.—After Secretary Walcott of the Smithsonian institution had reminded the house naval committee today that while Samuel P. Langley was the first man in the world to make a heavier-than-air machine fly, his country was the last of all in the world's development of aviation, a resolution was passed authorizing the president to appoint an advisory committee of scientists to work on aircraft development.

Secretary Walcott said the dirigibles in the European war had not proven a success because they cannot weather gales and are endangered in bad weather. He said he had information from English aviators that heavier-than-air machines are now flying in all weather.

"If aeroplane development in the next ten years is as great as in the past decade," said he, "they will be used for mail-carrying where there are no railroads, where there are no bridges and where mountain ranges are to be crossed. They will cut expense of reconnaissance and certain kinds of traveling and will open large areas to rapid communication.

"I believe we eventually will have cheap flyers just as we have cheap automobiles."

MOVING TO JOIN CARRANZA TROOPS

Nearly 5,000 Men to Assist in Attack on Monterey.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Gen. Carranza's agency here today announced the receipt of advices that 4,500 troops were moving to join other Carranza troops in a general attack on Monterey.

"The Zapatistas have been routed from Zoutuitlan and Tehuacan, suburbs of Mexico City, suffering heavy losses," the agency announced. "It is absolutely false that Mexico City has been evacuated."

Reports of the evolution of Mexico City by the Carranza forces, were discredited when a dispatch was received at the state department from the Brazilian minister in the capital, making no mention of a change in the situation there.

Earlier in the day officials received through border sources what they considered an authentic report that Gen. Obregon had withdrawn and Mexico City had been again occupied by Zapata troops. Recent information has indicated that the capital was likely to change hands at any time.

RUSS DEFEAT A SEVERE ONE

Germans Doubt If Much Remains of Five Army Corps.

Boat Service From Rotterdam to London Has Been Stopped.

Berlin, Feb. 19, by wireless to Sayville.—Further reports concerning the German victory of the Mazurian lakes in East Prussia, make it apparent that the Russian defeat was a severe one. German military officers in Berlin doubt whether much remains of about five Russian army corps which were engaged in the recent battle. While the Russians may have saved some of their artillery through quick retreat, it seems certain, army men say, that Russian troops to the number of at least 130,000 are no longer to be reckoned with by the German armies.

The clearing of the Austrian crown land of Bukowina of the invaders also is taken by German officials to mean a Russian defeat on the other extreme wing of the operations in the east.

Included in the news given out today by the Overseas News agency is the following:

Constantinople reports that the Greek government, on representation made to it, has agreed to prevent the movement of Russian ammunition by way of Saloniki.

"Amsterdam reports that the boat service from Rotterdam and Flushing to London has been discontinued. Dutch ship owners have asked the Netherlands government to exclude for a period of one year from Dutch ports all British steamers, which during these days fly neutral flags. Dutch steamers bound for America are to sail around Scotland.

"The Cologne Gazette reports that Sir Roger Casement will soon go to Christiania and submit proofs against the British minister to Norway, M. DeC. Findlay, and the Norwegian government.

A dispatch given out in Berlin by the Overseas News agency, Feb. 12, said that Sir Roger Casement had charged the British minister to Norway with conspiring for his death. Sir Roger is a leader of the Separatist faction in Ireland and is said to be at the present time in Germany.

French Report on War.

Paris, Feb. 19, 2:50 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of the fighting which reads as follows:

"There has been nothing of importance to communicate since the report of last night. The night of Feb. 18 passed quietly. There were fairly spirited exchanges in the valley of the Aisne and in the sector of Reims. In the region of Perthes all the positions conquered by us remain in our hands.

"Between the Argonne and the Meuse, at the bridge of Quatre Enfants, we captured a bomb thrower.

"In the Vosges we repulsed two infantry attacks at a point north of Wissenbach, in the Bonhomme region. Furthermore we have organized and consolidated our positions as we made methodical progress both to the north and to the south of the Sudel farm."

THE ANNUAL COST OF A RAT.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: A single rat, the experts say, may eat or otherwise destroy from 60 cents' worth to $2 worth of goods per year. Rats with social aspirations, who live exclusively in hotels, have been known to eat $5 worth and more per year. Rather less, on the whole, than the average human guest at these establishments, yet totaling up to about $50,000,000 a year cost to these United States for the maintenance of the rat population. Rats cost Philadelphia something more than $1,000,000 a year.

Somehow we never missed the money until recently. We were willing to tolerate the rat so long as he stayed on good behavior. But since he has committed the unpardonable indiscretion of having fleas—and infected fleas, at that!—matters have come to a pass where his reputation really must be looked into. Now, the rat, too, may have to curtail his menu, if not his family. There is little enough romance left to him these days, anyhow.

Effete modern cats find him distinctly uninteresting, if not vulgar. As a result, the rat has had things far too much his own way.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.

Los Angeles Times: Telephone girls are forbidden to "answer back," no matter how abusive a customer may be. Sometimes they get around these hard conditions in a very clever way. An instance of the retort courteous happened recently in Los Angeles in one of the big exchanges.

After vainly trying for ten minutes to get the number he had asked for, the irate customer shouted: "What the deuce is the matter with you telephone girls, anyhow—are you all crazy?"

The answer came with exasperating sweetness: "I don't know. Ask information."

ONE OF RICHEST PEERS IN ALL GREAT BRITAIN

LORD LONDONDERRY.

Lord Londonderry, who was Viscount Castlereagh until the death of his father Feb. 8, is one of the richest peers in Great Britain. His proper title is Marquis of Londonderry but it is commonly rendered Lord Londonderry. His father was and he has now become one of the great landed proprietors of Ireland. He possesses more than 50,000 acres. He has three country houses and a town house in Park Lane. He was born in 1878.

Let a New Bon Ton Be the Foundation of Your Spring Attire

The right corset is absolutely necessary to secure the proper effect of the new spring styles.

The new fashion lines are such that the older corsets simply will not do.

The waist has a slight "nip," giving a suggestion of roundness quite different from the straight lines of last season.

The bust line is slightly higher.

The hip is rather free.

Let our Corset Experts demonstrate to your satisfaction how superbly the new Bon Ton models develop these figure changes with ease and comfort.

Prices range $3.00 to $5.00 for the most popular styles.

REMNANT SALE

Woman's Realm

The Missoula, Mont., Missoulian of last Sunday contains the following account of the wedding of Miss Gertrude St. Germain, a member of a well known family, formerly of Duluth:

"Miss Gertrude St. Germain and J. Wright Gray were married at high noon yesterday at the Catholic rectory in the presence of members of the family and a few intimate friends. Miss Corinne St. Germain and Ray Shannon attended the bride and groom. The bride wore a becoming traveling suit of dark blue with a hat in harmony, and the bridesmaid wore a tailored suit of brown with a brown hat. After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. Germain, in Orchard Homes. Guests seated with the bridal party at the beautifully appointed table were Mr. and Mrs. N. St. Germain, Miss Maud Gingras, Miss Loretto St. Germain, Frank W. Gray of Bozeman, a brother of the groom, Phil Motherbaugh, and Dr. C. L. Yourdeau. The bride came with her parents from Duluth eight or nine years ago to make her home in Missoula. Mr. Gray graduated from the Montana state college in 1911. He has been located in Missoula in the employ of the Blackfoot Land Development company, estimating the agricultural value of logged-off lands. Mr. Gray expects to farm his ranch near Bozeman and after making a tour of the Pacific coast Mr. and Mrs. Gray will be at home in Bozeman."

Guild Tea.

St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church gave the first of a series of Lenten teas yesterday afternoon in the guild room. The hostesses were: Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. Edward Campbell and Mrs. John McCormick.

At the tea next Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Alex McKenzie, Mrs. Fred Holloway, Mrs. James Harper and Mrs. Miller will be the hostesses.

Annual College Night.

The letters from college students, read last evening at the annual college night of Pilgrim Congregational church, gave favorable impressions of the activity along religious and philanthropic lines in the colleges attended by members of the congregation.

A letter from Miss Dorothy Strong, a freshman at Oberlin, was read by Miss Edith Shearer, an Oberlin alumnae; Rev. Charles N. Thorp read letters from Duncan C. Frick, who is in the Sheffield scientific school of Yale, and Ray E. Phillips, who is attending the Yale school of religion; a letter from Rollin C. Hawkes, who is attending the University of Wisconsin was read by Louis L. Chapman, a graduate of that institution, and Edward L. Kimball read a letter from Arthur W. McMillan of the University of Minnesota, who also wrote of Carlton college.

Miss Carrie I. Castle reported on the Christian work in South America and Mrs. W. D. McGill presided at the piano.

Kitchi Gammi Dance.

The attendance at the weekly dancing party at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening was smaller than usual, due, perhaps, to the Lenten season. Some of the dancers came in late, after theater and dinner parties. Miller's orchestra played.

Studio Supper.

Miss Berta Schmied will entertain eight guests at supper this evening at her studio in the Oak Hall building, in compliment to Miss Muriel Prindle and to Cornellus Ayer Wood of Boston, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Prindle.

Miss Prindle and Mr. Wood were the guests of honor at a dinner given by Fred Wolvin last evening preceding the dance at the Kitchi Gammi club.

Philathea Class.

The regular monthly meeting of the Philathea class of the First M. E. church will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. W. C. Robinson, 320½ Seventh avenue east.

Card Party.

Mrs. J. A. McCuen of 931 East Third street was the hostess this afternoon for a card party of six tables. Daffodils carried out a yellow color scheme. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. George Worcester, Miss Eleanore Kraft, Miss Dorothy Pierce and Miss Gertrude McCuen.

Thimble Bee.

Mrs. Mary Robertson of 427 West Third street entertained the Thimble bee of J. B. Culver corps yesterday afternoon. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Alex McLennan, Mrs. Robert Gaylord, Miss Esther Brown and Miss Gertrude Robinson. Mrs. McLennan gave two vocal solos and Mrs. T. R. Hancock gave a group of readings.

Presbyterian Aid Society.

At the meeting of the Presbyterian aid society, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Webb, 3428 Minnesota avenue, Mrs. John D. Macfarlane was elected president, Mrs. J. C. Gude, vice president, and Mrs. William O. Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Shrine Girls' Dance.

Preceding the dance given this evening at the Masonic temple in honor of the Shrine girls Aad patrol, under the leadership of Capt. A. H. Paul, will drill. The patrol, headed by Lyonel Ayers, the potentate, will lead the grand march.

The members of the floor committee are: A. H. Paul, Wallace Welbanks, C. C. Jones, George A. Sherwood, Dr. C. L. Haney, Dr. W. A. Coventry, A. B. Kapplin, J. W. McDonald, Fred Koehler, G. C. Kane, R. K. Abraham, Alex McDonald and H. N. Gjertsen.

Helmer's orchestra will play for the dancing.

W. C. T. U. Memorial Meeting.

A memorial meeting was held by the West Duluth W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Merritt, 4610 Magellan street. Mrs. J. T. Culbertson read a paper on the life of Frances Willard; Mrs. G. W. Smith, the leader of the program, spoke on Mrs. Lillian Stevens, the national president; Mrs. H. H. Phelps paid a tribute to the deceased members of the West Duluth W. C. T. U., and Mrs. Joseph Cochrane spoke of the following deceased state leaders: Mrs. Chauncey Hobart, state president; Miss Eva Jones, Mrs. Julia B. Nelson and Mrs. Abbie S. Church.

Mrs. David Adams sang "Lead, Kindly Light," with Mrs. J. Riddle as accompanist. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Grace Merritt.

Camp Fire Girls.

The Minnetoska Camp Fire Girls will meet this evening at the home of Miss Jeannette Johnson, 2302 West Second street.

Saturday Club.

Mrs. Hugh Steele, who will be the leader at the meeting of the Saturday club tomorrow afternoon in the library clubroom, will read a paper on "Old and New Engineering in Egypt," and Mrs. N. R. Morrison will speak on "The First Cataract at Philae." "United States Bird Preservation" will be the current events topic.

Mothers' Club of Munger School.

At the meeting of the Mothers' club of Munger school yesterday afternoon the following officers were elected:

Mrs. A. L. Wright, president; Mrs. E. C. McMinn, first vice president; Mrs. R. E. Devine, second vice president; Mrs. Fred L. Harmon, third vice president; Mrs. E. A. Sabel, secretary, and Mrs. John Wodtke, treasurer.

The constitution drawn up by a committee previously appointed was approved. The Washington birthday program that will be given by the school was given at the meeting yesterday.

THE NURSERY WALL

Brooklyn Eagle: It is not necessary to have a picture molding fastened to the nursery wall, and to hire a paper hanger to decorate the wall above the molding with expensive Mother Goose or Kate Greenaway wall paper. An effect that will be equally pleasing to the little folk and which need cost no more than a few cents may be achieved very easily.

Buy a 10-cent roll of striped wallpaper of some neutral color and cut it lengthwise (on the stripes) into long strips measuring about three inches across. Paste these strips around the nursery wall over the ordinary wall paper at a height of about five inches from the floor. The strip of striped paper will give the effect of a picture molding. Above this paper strip, all around the room, will be pasted the pictures—which have been previously clipped from old magazines and picture books by the children themselves. Most little folks nowadays, trained in the kindergarten to be deft-fingered, can cut out pictures very neatly and the wall decorations will be doubly dear to them if they have had a hand in it. Many of the full page magazine advertisements offer charming subjects; the colored pictures in magazine covers may also be used. Be careful not to get the cut-out figures too near together, and group the subjects to form story suggestions. A small girl seated in a big chair with a small boy standing six inches away will represent "her first party." Then leave a space of twelve inches and place a small boy, apparently sitting on the "picture molding" with his feet hanging over. Another space of twelve inches and a black cat in silhouette may be observed regarding belligerently a silhouetted dog. A ship under full sail, crossed flags, a ruminative cow and many other subjects, will suggest themselves to the resourceful decorator of the nursery.

"IN WOMAN'S OWN PROVINCE"

San Francisco Star: "In Woman's Own Province"—here we have it in big print clear across a Sunday page. Recipes for liver pudding, stewed rabbit and such like. I skip, because I have six cook books and even a "Cook's Calendar," and I like to forget I am not a cook, in so far as that means take seventeen different things and chop and mince and grate and mix and stir and dash this, that and the other in, and when you think it is finished begin top of next column and "put the mixture in shells with bread crumbs and grated cheese and bits of shredded parsley on top and brown in the oven. Serve"—with a half dozen other things you haven't got but "should ought'a have" if you want to feel like a real woman in "Her Own Province."

Here are directions for making crocheted rugs out of rags sewn in a string, striped pillows, and, glory to Gideon or anyone else out for glory, instructions for "embroidering a Dot." Heavens! how I've suffered for a properly embroidered dot! "Helps in Breadmaking": inasmuch as I believe trained and professional bakers with all modern conveniences should make our bread, and it should be ours to see that they are cleanly in the doing of it, I skip through this with occasional dips. Probably he won't use a "double glass flour sifter," or "aluminum baking pans," nor pay "ten dollars" for a single-batch mixer, but he will turn out a shelf of evenly-baked, thoroughly done loaves better than you or I could make to save our lives, and at less expense, fuel considered. And while you were burning your fingers and your loaf and losing your temper you might have found out if the Baltic sea is north or south of Russia, and what the Turk is doing to the Dardanelles, and why?

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Suggestions Are Appreciated.

A prominent hotel man in Philadelphia remarked at a dinner recently, "It is the easiest thing in the world to run a hotel. All you have to do is to build one and the guests will tell you how to run it." This was said in fun, but nevertheless it contains a kernel of good, sound truth that might be applied to a number of enterprises successfully, not the least of them being the newspaper business.

While, of course, the editor or publisher holds his own individual views concerning the conduct of a newspaper, he is often influenced and aided in his work of serving the public by the suggestions and criticisms of the readers of his paper. Because of the widely varied character of the modern newspaper's contents it is not supposed that the entire paper will interest any one person.

Almost every newspaper buyer is interested in the general news from all over the world, and after this each will turn to the particular feature of the paper that most appeals to him. It is upon the matter of these special topics that the maker of a newspaper always welcomes expressions from its readers. An editor of a newspaper, to succeed in his work of catering to the public, must keep his own likes and dislikes in the background. In choosing the matter for publication he must constantly bear in mind that he is selecting not for himself but for thousands of people of diversified tastes and interests.

It is also true that because of these varied requirements of readers it is next thing to impossible to produce a paper every day which will please every reader in every particular. While the publisher desires to know the wishes of his constituents and usually invites their criticisms and suggestions it is not always practical to abide by them.

Personally the writer has been aided many times by hints from readers. I receive comments constantly and naturally enough they are not all complimentary. I cannot say that I do not like praise but I will say that I appreciate the adverse criticism even more for the reason that I gain more from it for myself, and in turn for my readers.

It is my purpose in this column to write on matters of everyday life. I sometimes criticize habits, morals and manners, but it is all intended in a spirit of fairness and in the hope that it may result in some good to someone. At all times suggestions will be appreciated.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

Her Farewell Appearance.

Admirers of Miss Dorothy Shoemaker—and she has many in Duluth, will have their last opportunity to see her with the Baldwin Players tomorrow afternoon at the Lyceum.

Miss Shoemaker's engagement ends this week, and as there will be no Saturday evening performance at the Lyceum theater owing to the U. C. T. minstrel show, Miss Shoemaker and Louis Leon Hall will make their last appearance at the Saturday matinee.

Miss Doris Olsson, the new leading woman, will make her first appearance Sunday afternoon, and on that occasion Duluth will also make the acquaintance of a new play. "Hawthorne of the U. S. A." will be presented for the first time in Duluth by the Baldwin Players next week.

The play is a romantic comedy drama, something of the type of "The Prisoner of Zenda," and it will be a radical departure from the New England melodrama of "The Volunteer Organist" type. Homer Barton will appear as Hawthorne, the young American officer, and Miss Olsson will make her Duluth debut as the princess of the little European kingdom with whom he falls in love.

There will be a special matinee on Monday, Washington's birthday.

Laddie Cliff Coming.

Laddie Cliff, England's favorite comedian, is to be one of the features of the coming week's bill at the Orpheum.

It is not only good material, but good delivery and a knack of getting his points over that has placed Laddie Cliff in the van of foremost English artists. The boy comedian has gained, on his own superior merit, an international reputation.

In America he became one of the brighter features of vaudeville which secured for him one of the principal roles at the Folies Bergere. Upon the close of this entertainment, he returned to vaudeville. With a fresh supply of new songs and his eccentric dances, he is repeating his former successes. Laddie Cliff's career has been one of steady progress. He began his life on the stage when 6 years old and since then has appeared in practically every quarter of the globe.

Other acts on the bill will be the Three Travilla Brothers and their diving seals, Ben Deeley and Marie Wayne in "The New Bellboy," Tony Hunting and Corinne Francis in "A Love Lozenge," and Lawrence and Hurl Falls, acrobatic comedians.

New Bill at Grand.

Vaudeville and pictures of surpassing merit and audiences that crowded the theater, featured the opening of the new bill at the Grand yesterday. Despite the fact that the Lenten season has begun, the audiences yesterday were the largest for a mid-week show for some time. Many had to stand up or go away last night.

The new bill is a big drawing card. Miss Margaret Braun and sister are the best musical attraction seen at the Grand since its opening, and Charles Chaplin, the "man with the derby," who is said to be the highest-priced funny man in the "movies," was seen in the first of a series of comedy films, entitled "His New Job." Although the whole bill was good, Chaplin got more laughs than all the rest of the show combined.

Miss Braun, who is billed as a prima donna, is a fine entertainer, possessing a cultivated and beautiful soprano voice. Her rendering of "Adele" and other popular numbers was received with great applause. She is ably assisted by her "sister" at the piano.

Bob and Peggy Valentine offer a dainty bit of amusement that is out of the usual run of song and dance acts. Bob sings an introductory song which ushers in Peggy, who does a number of character dances. Among these are a Dutch dance done in wooden shoes, a Scotch dance, a colonial dance and others. Her costume is changed on the stage for each number. Both play a comedy skit in closing.

Gormley and Caffrey are gymnasts and acrobats who have a good line of comedy, some of which is new, and all of which is well done.

Humid Kala Pasha and company, consisting of three men, do a mat turn that possesses considerable humor.

The picture program was a star attraction. Charlie Chaplin will undoubtedly be one of the biggest attractions the Grand has ever had. His new vehicle, "His New Job," which has just been released, is said to be his masterpiece. His comedy is more than knock-about stuff, and he is seen at a new angle in this film. Miss Helen Holmes is again introduced in another railway episode, "The Little Engineer." This time Helen overtakes a runaway train on a handcar after it had been set in motion by the engineer's little son. Maurice Costello is also starred in a photoplay of heart interest. The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial offers a number of the leading news events of the week.

Will Change Sunday.

Three more performances of "The Man Who Owns Broadway" will be given by the Manhattan players at the New Empress. Tickets for the special matinee tomorrow are now selling.

On Sunday afternoon the company will open in "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," which is generally credited with being the most successful production ever made by George Cohan. New costumes and scenery have been brought from New York for this production.

The management announced yesterday that a special holiday matinee will be given on Washington's birthday next Monday afternoon, besides the regular matinees Tuesday and Saturday.

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" takes place in New Rochelle, a small town in New York state. The part of Mary Jane Jenkins, the maid, will be taken by Miss Mabel Day, while James McElhearn will portray the role of Kid Burns, made famous by Victor Moore.

"So Long Mary" and "Mary Is a Grand Old Name" are the two song hit features of the show.

A Comedy of Thrills.

Beautiful mountain scenery, elaborate interior settings, some of which are made possible by new lighting effects, and an interior that is rather a clever idea and one that has not been tried out heretofore, namely photographing the dining room of Overland Limited while the limited was making sixty miles an hour, are shown in "After Five" at the Rex. The beautiful snow scenes were made at Bear Lake valley, where the exteriors were photographed after the company was snowbound for several days. "After Five" abounds in thrills and laughs. Edward Abeles as Ted Ewing tries to dispose of himself, but fate has other plans. First he falls in front of a fast-moving train, but it turns into a switch when within a few feet of him. When he falls into the harbor a dredge brings him up besmeared with slime. The plucky work of Miss Schade and Mr. Abeles furnish some daring stunts that call for considable nerve and daring.

HOUSE GALE SUBSIDES.

Wordy Warfare Between Representatives Subsides Quietly.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The lashings of last night's wordy gale in the house when Representative Farr called Representative Palmer a lobbyist and Representative Palmer called Representative Farr a tadpole statesman subsided today when Representative Farr told the house he had no intention of reflecting on the honor or integrity of his colleague. Mr. Palmer did not want to continue the discussion and the most bitter personal row the house had seen in the present session was ended.

WADE WINS UNION MATCH TROPHY

Quinn Loses in Latter Half of Game; Two Games Scheduled.

Frank H. Wade's rink won the Union Match trophy by defeating Thomas Quinn's rink in the finals of the event last night. The score until the latter part of the game was in Quinn's favor, but by laying three heads in succession, the former won out by a score of 10 to 8. The trophy carries with it 72,000 matches for each of the players.

This evening two games will be played in the Grand Avenue Pharmacy event. Iltis will play Mallory, and Quinn will play the Kriedler rink. Donald and McDonald will play in the Universal event.

Two rinks will represent Morgan park at the Western Curling club tomorrow night. The skips, who will oppose the visitors, have not yet been chosen, but it is expected that Iltis and Mallory will pick up rinks to play them.

WOULD RUSH CONSTRUCTION.

Club Will Get Petition to Secure Early Work on Subways.

The West Duluth Commercial club will meet this evening at the club rooms, and it is probable that action will be taken to assist the city in securing the signatures to the petition necessary for the construction of the subways under the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad tracks. The only hindrance to an immediate start is said to be the consent of one or two property owners, who are expected to sign as soon as they thoroughly understand the proposed work to be done.

City Attorney Clapp was in West Duluth today to take the matter up with some of the residents. He was accompanied by members of the railroad committee of the West Duluth Commercial club.

FILIATRAULT BACK FROM LODGE MEET.

M. J. Filiatrault returned last evening from St. Paul where he attended the annual state convention of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, which was held Tuesday and Wednesday. Humphrey Jones, who also represented West Duluth lodge, No. 145 at the convention, returned last night. The delegates report that the financial affairs of the order this year are the best in its history.

Postmaster Appointed.

E. F. Quackenbush, a resident of Smithville for a number of years, was appointed postmaster of the suburb according to information received this morning from Washington. He will take the place of A. C. Renstrom, who occupied the position to fill an unexpired term. Mr. Quackenbush has been in business in the suburb for a number of years.

St. Mary Funeral.

The funeral of John St. Mary, age 64, who died yesterday morning at the home of his brother, Jerry St. Mary, will be held tomorrow morning instead of this morning as was planned yesterday. The funeral will be held from the St. Jean Baptiste French Catholic church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. The funeral was postponed in order to allow out-of-town relatives an opportunity to attend.

West Duluth Briefs.

Wesley Perrin left this afternoon for Brainerd, Minn., where he will attend the boys' conference as a delegate of the "We Brothers" class and the Westminster Presbyterian Sunday school. The convention will be held tomorrow and Sunday.

B. Benson, 716 South Sixty-third avenue west, left this morning for Blair, Wis., where he will spend a month visiting relatives.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church will entertain this evening at a concert in the church parlors. The affair will be in the nature of an "old time" party.

AUTO RACE ON ICE MONDAY

Starting Time Changed to 11 o'Clock—Several Events Scheduled.

Harry Webster Will Give Aeroplane Flight Over Frozen Lake.

All arrangements have been completed for the series of automobile races that will be held on the ice course of Lake Superior next Monday morning. The starting point will be somewhere between Third avenue east and Twenty-sixth avenue east, and the time will be 11 o'clock. The hour has been changed from 10 o'clock, as originally planned.

The first contest will start sharply on the appointed hour. There are four sixty-horse power roadsters entered in the first speed trial of the day, which will be a race of eight miles over a surveyed course of four miles, with a straightaway stretch of nearly two and one-half miles.

Members of the race committee estimate that the big cars will be able to attain a speed of nearly eighty miles an hour over the ice course, as the thaw of the last few days has cleared the surface of all impeding snow.

Following immediately upon the termination of the opening contest of the day there will be a race between smaller cars, ranging up to thirty-horse power. This contest will also be for a distance of eight miles.

Sixteen-Mile Race.

There will be a sixteen-mile race between the high power cars and a contest for a similar distance between cars of smaller horse power. Following these contests there will be a motor bob-sled contest and an aeroplane flight by Harry Webster.

Taking the program as a whole, it is regarded as a big sport day for Duluthians. The spectacle of the high-power cars whizzing over the ice at a rate of speed bordering on the sensational and making the hazardous turns traveling at a breakneck pace is one well calculated to thrill and excite even the most phlematic.

The contest between the bob-sled motors is expected to prove an exciting and unique test of speed. The bob-sled motors are able to attain a high rate of speed on the ice.

Harry Webster has promised to make an aeroplane flight, and the suggestion of a human dangling out over ice-coated Lake Superior is one that will likely lend class to the big holiday entertainment.

Those coming in from the Vermilion range to attend the event may leave the train at the Endion station to save time in getting to the scene of the sport.

PREPARE FOR CONVENTION

State Gathering of Maccabees to Be Held Next Month.

Governor Hammond and Other Prominent Men Will Give Addresses.

Many high officials and noted speakers will be in the city to attend the annual state convention of the Knights of the Maccabees to be held on Wednesday and Thursday, March 3 and 4. The convention will be held at Maccabee hall on Lake Avenue north.

A class initiation, a theater party and a banquet will have part in the entertainment that will be provided for the visitors by the local committee. The class will be initiated by two Duluth degree teams on Wednesday evening, and, it is expected, will include nearly 200 candidates.

The convention will be called to order by Great Commander Edward H. Haas of St. Paul at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of March 3. Mayor W. I. Prince will give the address of welcome. During the afternoon session election of officers will be the principal business. In the evening the class initiation and competitive drill, in which six teams of the state will take part, will be the feature.

On the following day the reports of officers and committees will take up the forenoon session. A theater party will be given during the afternoon at one of the local playhouses. The banquet will be the attraction of that evening.

Many prominent speakers will be at the banquet. Governor W. S. Hammond has promised to be present and give an address. D. P. Markey of Detroit, Mich., supreme commander of the order, will also speak. Among the others who will be on the program will be Dr. Haas, Great Commander Brown of Wisconsin, Curtis Johnson of Rush City, Minn., Mayor William Towle of Two Harbors, Minn., and George J. Mallory of Duluth, past great commander of the order in this state. Judge H. W. Lanners will be toastmaster.

Committees from Tents No. 1 and No. 2 are in charge of the arrangements. The members of the committee are: Tent No. 1, Charles G. Futter, A. F. Brown, A. L. Martin, Joseph Seiner and A. Telford; Tent No. 2, J. A. Bethune, Charles Anderson, O. S. Buell, I. Diebel and R. J. Grundy.

"BROKE" FAR FROM HOME

Chicago Crooks Got $100 of New York Man's "Roll."

Then Duluth Sneak Thieves Annexed the Remaining $350.

Fresh from New York city and guileless in the ways and methods of "wild and woolly" Westerners, it has taken Frank Gramegna about three days to lose $450, according to a story he told police this morning.

He was relieved of $100 in Chicago early in the week, and thieves who entered his room at a lodging house at 508 West Superior street late last night got $350.

Before coming west, Gramegna, who is an Italian, lived in New York for several years, he told police, and managed to accumulate a lot of money with his electrical shoe-repair establishment.

Wearing a diamond stud and a "sparkler" on his finger, he started west several days ago to join a friend at Gilbert, Minn., where he planned a visit.

At Chicago pickpockets found a roll of $100 in Gramegna's back pocket and helped themselves. Thus educated in the ways of western crooks, the Italian felt no further fear of thieves.

He came to Duluth last night with Leo Yetta of Gilbert, with whom he was going to Milwaukee, Wis. They registered at the City hotel, and asked to be called at 5 o'clock, after Gramegna had promenaded in the lobby, displaying his jewels and flashing his roll.

His friends warned him, but he laughed at them scornfully.

He went to bed, placing his trousers, with the roll, on the bureau. In the morning he rushed to get his train for Milwaukee, and when he got to the depot, he found that his entire "wad" was gone.

Police started an investigation of the case this morning, Detectives Herman Toewe and Gustav Lahti being assigned to it.

In the meantime, Gramegna has postponed his trip. He wants to get back to little ol' New York, where there aren't so many crooks.

HELD UNDER MANN ACT.

E. S. Tapola of Ely, Minn., was placed under a $1,000-bond today by United States Commissioner Thomas H. Pressnell on a charge of taking a woman across state lines for an immoral purpose. Complaint was made by Egbert S. Oakley, assistant United States attorney, that Tapola brought Ida Wesley from Fitchburg, Mass., to Ely for the purpose of living with her immorally. The Wesley woman appeared and gave testimony against Tapola. The prisoner has not yet furnished his bond.

OBITUARY

Benjamin S. Platt, 76, enrolling clerk of the senate since 1884, died at Washington Feb. 18 after a brief illness.

Alexander Reed, former owner of the Toledo Blade and the Toledo Commercial, died at Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 17, aged 87. He was appointed by President Lincoln as United States supervisor of internal revenue. Later Lincoln made him postmaster at Toledo. President Hayes appointed him collector of public money of Washington territory. His wife, aged 83, and two sons survive him.

Charles McHenry Godley, 67 years old, one of the early merchants of Minneapolis, died Feb. 18. Mr. Godley came to Minneapolis in 1862 from Cincinnati and opened a general merchandise store near Nicollet and Washington avenues. He retired several years ago. Mr. Godley is survived by his wife and two daughters.

TWO-DOLLAR WHEAT.

Is two-dollar wheat coming? Some people say so. And these who make that prediction seem to have reasonably sound arguments to support their prediction.

Then what is the ordinary family to do for its bread? It is an interesting question, and the more so in view of the fact that the prices of other grains are inclined to rise with that of wheat, so that even the ordinary substitutes for that product will be higher in price with the advance in wheat and wheat flour.

Then what is the family of moderate income to do? That is one question that the United States bureau of chemistry is working on, and working hard. Several suggestions have come before it, and each of them is being tried out.

One of the most successful of these, so far, is said to be the use of "potato flour" with wheat flour. In Austria the bakers are compelled to use potato flour for twenty-five to thirty per cent of their dough, and the bureau of chemistry has been experimenting with this. It has been found, it is said, that when more than thirty per cent of potato flour is used, the bread is too soggy. It is explained that the imported "potato flake" used by the bureau is not the same thing as the "potato flour" on the market in this country. The bureau of chemistry, however, makes its own product some times, by slicing, milling and drying potatoes.

Other experiments are being made with still other substitutes. Dried bananas are included in the list, as are bran, different kinds of beans, cotton seed flour, buckwheat, rice, peas and corn meal. The nutritive and digestive qualities of these various products and of others are being determined, and perhaps, by the time wheat reaches that two-dollar mark—if it ever does—Uncle Sam will be in position to tell the thrifty housewife a new way to beat that old high-cost-of-living game.

You can judge the small boy's forethought fairly accurately by the certainty of his knowledge as to the present location of his marbles.

GET TO THE BOTTOM.

Although it appears now that the country is to lose the benefits of the ship purchase plan, at least as an immediate means to help our commerce over a present emergency, it can hardly be said that the fight over the bill is to prove entirely wasted effort. At least it has brought about the movement for an investigation of certain interests said to have been exerting a great influence on government affairs, and if the spirit aroused in the senate is any indication of the thoroughness with which this inquiry is to be conducted, there is likely to be an airing of some interesting matters.

That just such an investigation is needed is the view of the New York World, which cites the charges made in the senate, more or less openly, that the administration has been dickering with foreign ship owners and that the shipping interests have directly backed the fight on the administration bill. The World calls attention to the fact that the lines of the International Mercantile Marine, with one exception, fly other than American flags to evade the navigation laws of the United States, and asks what influence has been exerted by other American financial interests that own ships which sail under foreign flags. The World continues:

> Is it a mere coincidence that Senator O'Gorman, who fought the coastwise monopoly's fight against the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption, broke with his party to become one of the leaders against the president's ship purchase bill? What is the attitude of the principal ship building concerns toward the measure, and what are they doing to kill it?

Then is pointed out the excess of bitterness in the attacks on this measure as compared with those on other administration measures, and the World maintains that "the country needs all the light that can be shed upon this extraordinary situation."

"All the light that can be shed upon" it is exactly what is needed. Set the probe to work, and jam it clear through to the bottom of the mess, and let the whole country see just what is behind this affair, and why.

Somehow we have expected that Mr. Pankhurst would show up at least as a general.

WAKING UP.

An Associated Press dispatch from London quotes the London Daily News as saying that "Europe is reeling into barbarism." To be sure the News qualifies this by adding, "The fault is not ours," but even with that qualification the statement shows that at least some of the people over there are waking up to the truth about this war and what it is accomplishing.

It's a long step in advance when even part of the people of a nation begin to stir in the midst of their nightmare and realize the truth. At the least, in their restlessness they are likely to disturb other sleepers, and it may lead to a general waking up. And once let the people—not the rulers, but the people and the men in the trenches—wake up, and the days of war will be numbered.

The superstitious still are puzzling over how this war ever missed 1913.

SETTLE-UP DAY.

We have had all kinds of days injected into our public life in the last few years—mother's day, go-to-church day, tag day, and so on, in addition to the old Thanksgiving day, Labor day, April Fool's day and the rest. But it took a little Wisconsin town to give us the really practical application of the "day" idea.

What this town sprung was "settle-up day." A lot of the people—that is, a lot of them considering the size of the town—found their account books loaded down with slow-pay people. A number of citizens got to talking it over and decided to agitate for the naming of a day on which everybody should pay up all the debts he could. The idea took, and "settle-up day" was celebrated.

It was celebrated to some purpose, too, for according to all accounts not less than forty thousand dollars was paid to creditors on that day. Some sum, you will say, but there is another factor that enters into it—that whole amount was paid by two thousand people, so that the average payment after all was only twenty dollars. Of course a debt like that doesn't amount to much in itself, but these "settle-up day" figures will give some idea of what a few of them can amount to.

Wisconsin has been the birthplace of a good many "ideas" in the last few years, but not many of them have been as striking either in conception or in operation as this "settle-up day" proposition.

At least Sarah Bernhardt can claim to have lost a leg in a year when that was a popular amusement in Europe.

PRETTY MUCH OF A MUCHNESS.

When the allies couldn't defeat the Germans in so short a time as they hoped, they set about to cut off all means of replenishing the food supply of the German people.

When Germany found herself cut off from getting food from outside, she set about to stop the supplies intended for English use.

Both sides to the war cry out when bombs or shells hurled by the other side kill or wound women or children, but both sides are doing all they can to keep the other side's women and children from getting any more to eat.

It's all terrible—which is only to say that it's all war. And it means only that same thing when we say it's all brutal and inhuman and all else that is vile. But after all, whether you scare 'em half to death and then finish the job with a bomb, or whether you kill 'em by the torture of slow starvation, isn't it pretty much of a muchness?

And after Lent comes housecleaning.

The Majesty of the Law.

St. Joseph News-Press: In a recent editorial Bench and Bar points out that "if Thaw be brought back and put on trial upon the conspiracy charge, he must either be acquitted or convicted. If he is acquitted it would seem clear that he would have a legal right to insist that he be allowed to return to the state from which he was brought for the purposes of trial only; while if he is convicted, it is difficult to see that he would have more to face than a short term of imprisonment; for a verdict of guilty would necessarily include a finding that he was sane, which would entitle him to immunity from confinement in Matteawan, regardless of the earlier verdict that he was insane."

Thereupon Bench and Bar says that if Thaw was not brought to trial, it would become apparent that the indictment against him was a mere subterfuge to get him back within the state. Such being the case, it is reasoned that Thaw's attorneys would be entitled to demand his prompt release on a writ of habeas corpus, and action could be taken by one of the bar associations, or possibly by a grand jury, with reference to the abuse of the machinery of justice by procuring an indictment under a false pretense.

Would Cool Him Off.

Chicago News: Father and son went for a stroll one day. As they passed a vender of ice cream the boy turned to his father and said, lovingly:

"I vish you'd buy me some ice cream, fader; I do feel warm."

His father gazed at him for a few seconds in mild surprise and then exclaimed:

"No, no, Ikey, my poy; but I'll tell you vot I'll do. I'll tell you some ghost stories vot'll make your blood run cold."

A League of Neutrals

Editorial in the Indianapolis News.

Late last December the government of Venezuela proposed that the governing board of the Pan-American union call a conference of neutral nations. The suggestion naturally followed a gathering of American representatives, but at the time it made little impression.

Attention is now called to it. The increasing difficulty with which the Declaration of London is being interpreted, the use of an American flag by the British steamer Lusitania, and the threats recently made by the German war office should be sufficient warning to neutrals that their position is perilous. Something must shortly be done if that part of the world which is at peace—and wishes to remain so—is to be protected from possible attack by belligerents. Not only is property endangered, but the lives of neutral travelers have lately been menaced.

Venezuela's suggestion has caused an investigation to be made for precedents. A significant one is to be found during the reign of Catherine the Great. During the war of American revolution several European powers became involved. The hereditary hostility between France and England prompted the former to assist the rebellious colonists, and later, through the influence of France, Spain added her weight to the opposition which England met in home waters. Naval operations from 1776 to 1780 often took place on many seas, and neutral shipping suffered. The combatants were not sympathetic toward the rights of neutrals, and as a result Catherine the Great of Russia devised what history has called the "armed league of neutrality." In 1780 Denmark and Sweden indorsed the Russian idea. Prussia and Austria came over in 1782 and Portugal a year later. France and Spain recognized the fundamental principle. The league had for its main object the practical enforcement of the principle that the vessels of a neutral power might carry without molestation goods belonging to the subjects of a belligerent.

In 1909 a conference of diplomats from practically every nation was held in London. A new code covering conduct during war was adopted, known as the Declaration of London. But this declaration was not ratified, and now, by various expressions from Germany and Great Britain, becomes practically null and void.

The neutral powers thus find themselves somewhat in the same position occupied by the Baltic kingdoms and later by others in Europe during the Revolutionary war. The League of Catherine had for its argument no mere diplomatic persuasion. It was exactly what it professed to be—an armed coalition. Holland was attracted to it through the burdens imposed on her shipping, and this led to actual war between Holland and Great Britain.

The demands of the league, peculiarly enough, covered points which are in dispute at the present time. They included the free passage of neutral ships from port to port and along the coasts of combatants; freedom of an enemy's goods in neutral ships (as before stated) with the exception of such goods as were contraband; exact definition of a blockaded port; repudiation of a "paper" blockade. Then, as now, the rights of neutral shipping hinged on the definition of contraband.

Stieber, the King of German Spies

Sydney Brooks in the Atlantic Magazine: A genius in espionage—"the king of sleuth hounds," as Bismarck called him—was discovered in the person of Stieber. He was still in his 20s when he became a professional agent provocateur, posing among the people as a leader of the "social revolution" and betraying his colleagues day by day to the police.

He knew every trick in the game of stirring up popular feeling to the point where, without an actual outbreak, the authorities were furnished with all the excuse that they needed for acts of oppression; and in the tumultuous '40s and '50s he rendered the king many conspicuous services.

But it was not until he came in touch with Bismarck and won his confidence and was deputed to pave the way for the German invasion of Austria, that he became an international figure. For two years he traveled through Bohemia and Moravia, planting out spies at the points of strategic importance. Even Moltke, the most grudging of men, acknowledged the value of his work.

Wherever the German armies went they found one of Stieber's agents primed with information as to the strength and position of the enemy's forces, the state of local feeling and the resources and notabilities of the neighborhood.

He was asked when the war was over whether the cost of organizing his service had been very heavy. He records in his memoirs his proud reply. "One cannot," he answered, "set down in thalers the value either of bloodshed which has been avoided or of victories which have been secured."

After Sadowa he turned his attention to France. Between 1866 and 1870 he sowed in the fourteen French departments that would be traversed by the German troops a residential army of not less than 30,000 spies. After looking over the ground, which had, of course, already been prepared, he formulated his needs in wholesale fashion. Thus he required (1) between 4,000 and 5,000 farmers, market gardeners, agricultural laborers and vine growers, for whom employment was guaranteed in advance by his agents; (2) from 7,000 to 9,000 female domestics for service in restaurants, cafes and hotels, the youngest and prettiest of them to be stationed in garrison towns; (3) 600 or 700 retired non-commissioned officers for whom billets were to be found in commercial or industrial offices and factories; (4) 1,000 commercial travelers; (5) as many German governesses for distribution among the French official class.

Well might he exclaim when an officer of the general staff remarked in his and Bismarck's presence, "Our army is invincible," that the proper phrase should be, "Our armies." "The fighting army," he went on, "which you lead, comes behind you. Now, my army is already in occupation of positions which it reached in silence many months ago." And well might Bismarck indorse the retort by silently clasping the hand of the master spy.

When the Prussians got to Versailles 9,000 of Stieber's men were on duty in the streets; and it was to their official headquarters, where Stieber was then in residence, that the unsuspecting Jules Favre was driven when negotiating the surrender of Paris. Stieber himself waited on the French minister in the guise of a valet, brought him his cup of coffee every morning, and systematically went through his pockets, trunks and papers.

Therefore—

Washington Star: "One thing dat keeps de world f'um goin' ahead faster," said Uncle Eben, "is de fact dat a man kin allus make mo' money foolin' people dan he kin educatin' 'em."

Alsace and Lorraine

National Geographic Society Statement.

Americans think of Alsace and Lorraine chiefly as a prize of honor, ascribing the intensity of the German-French struggle for possession of this small block of land to beliefs in their title rights and to feelings of national pride. This, however, is only a part truth. For Alsace-Lorraine also is an economic prize of tremendous value. It is rich in iron. It is one of the largest grape-raising lands in Europe, and is agricultural soils are fruitful.

This German crownland is only 5,603 square miles in area—slightly larger than Connecticut. It produces, nevertheless, one-fifth of the great wine yield of Germany, or wine to a value of about $9,000,000 a year. It is Germany's richest source for iron ore, surpassing in its stores of this mineral every other division of the empire. Some years ago most of the German iron ore was mined in Prussia, but, in 1911, Alsace-Lorraine produced 17,754,571 metric tons of iron ore as compared with a production of 4,948,711 in Prussia. Moreover, a great body of skilled operatives, native in the territory, whose annual labors result in a production of more than $40,000,000, largely add to its industrial importance.

Some of the most fertile farming soil in Germany is found in Alsace. The greatest part of the land of Alsace-Lorraine is serviceable to economic purpose. About 48 per cent of the territory is under tillage; 30 per cent is under forests, of foliaceous trees largely owned by the communities; 13 per cent is in meadow, used as grazing and haymaking lands, and about 3 per cent is planted with grapevines. Potatoes, sugar beets, grains and hops are grown in abundance on the farms. The grapes are planted to a great extent in the hilly country, where, also, dairying and poultry raising are carried on.

The development of the country's transportation facilities has kept pace with the development of its riches. There are more than 5,000 miles of excellent roads, or nearly one mile of road to every square mile of territory. There is no better canal system in Europe than that of Alsace-Lorraine, these artificial highways, reaching in a wide network of trade arteries, up and down the country. Added to these means for communication, there are about 1,400 miles of railway or more than twenty-two miles for every 100 square miles of territory. With the railways, the broad macadam and rough packed, crushed stone roads, and with the canal mileage, the armies operating in Alsace-Lorraine will have better conditions under which to maneuver than any other armies other those those in Northwestern France.

The climate in Alsace-Lorraine is mild and healthful. In the mountainous parts, winter approaches the point of being rigorous. The mean annual temperature at Strassburg is 50 deg. Fahrenheit, while the mean winter temperature for the highlands is only 37 deg. Metz has a mean annual temperature of 48 deg. There are days in high Alsace and Lorraine, however, when the cold seems to reach the intense white bitterness of Northern Russia.

When You Look at Your Son

Henry Churchill King in the Delineator: "I'm only telling you this," writes someone, "when first you look into your son's face, every failing of your own will rise up to haunt you, because you will wish for nothing on God's earth so much as that that boy shall have a fair show in life and be a better man than you. You will thank heaven for every good thing you know of in your blood and in your wife's, and you will regret every meanness, every weakness, that he may inherit, more than you knew it was in you to regret anything."

A Toast.

Here is a toast I want to drink to a fellow I'll never know—
To the fellow who's going to take my place when it's time for me to go.
I've wondered what kind of a chap he'll be and I've wished I could take his hand,
Just to whisper, "I wish you well, old man," in a way that he'd understand.
I'd like to give him the cheering word that I've longed at times to hear;
I'd like to give him the warm hand clasp when never a friend seems near.
I've learned my knowledge by sheer hard work, and I wish I could pass it on
To the fellow who'll come to take my place some day when I am gone.

Will he see all the sad mistakes I've made and note all the battles lost?
Will he ever guess of the tears they caused or the heartaches which they cost?
Will he gaze through the failures and fruitless toil to the underlying plan,
And catch a glimpse of the real intent and the heart of the vanquished man?
I dare to hope he may pause some day
as he toils as I have wrought,
And gain some strength for his weary task from the battles which I have fought.
But I've only the task itself to leave with the cares for him to face,
And never a cheering word may speak to the fellow who'll take my place.

Then here's to your health, old chap; I drink as a bridegroom to his bride;
I leave an unfinished task for you, but God knows how I tried.
I've dreamed my dreams as all men do, but never a one came true,
And my prayer today is that all the dreams may be realized by you.
And we'll meet some day in the great unknown—out in the realms of space;
You'll know my clasp as I take your hand and gaze in your tired face.
Then all your failures will be success in the light of the new found dawn—
So I'm drinking your health, old chap, who'll take my place when I am gone. —Unidentified.

Couldn't Be Blamed.

Everybody's: Travelers' tales, which often add charm to the conversation of an agreeable and interesting person, frequently render a bore more tiresome than ever. A long-winded narrator had droned on at a party the other night for an hour or more about his recent trip to Switzerland.

"There I stood, gentlemen," he said, "there I stood with the abyss yawning in front of me."

"Pardon me," hastily interjected one of the unfortunates who had been obliged to listen to the story, "but was that abyss yawning before you got there?"

Why the Engagement Was Broken.

Kansas City Times: "What caused the coolness between you and that young doctor? I thought you were engaged."

"His writing is rather illegible. He sent me a note calling for ten thousand kisses."

"Well?"

"I thought it was a prescription and took it to the druggist to be filled."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nearly everybody has a great unfulfilled ambition. James G. Blaine and Thomas B. Reed each died embittered because he could not be president. William H. Taft got to be president, but he would like to be chief justice of the supreme court. Franklin K. Lane is a member of the cabinet, but his real ambition is to mother a little apple orchard on an eighteen-acre fruit farm out in California.

Now, if one were to glance at the whisker-sheltered features of Representative William E. Humphrey of Washington, one would see easily enough that Humphrey has not yet achieved his life's desire. He wears a thoughtful, introspective, preoccupied, half-worried expression as if forever trying to recall where he had left an umbrella.

The reason for this is that Humphrey never is able to pry himself entirely apart from his one big, ungratified ambition. There is a certain thing that he desires to do. Until he does it he will not be a happy man. He croons over his ambition by day and dreams of it by night. Many of the books in Humphrey's library relate to things intimately associated with his Great Desire.

And what is it that Humphrey yearns to do?

Why, he wants to shoot an elephant. There—you have his ambition all in a nutshell. Just that.

For years Humphrey has done big game hunting in various parts of the United States and Canada. He possesses much skill at bagging such fauna as this continent affords. But never once in his rambles through field and forest has Humphrey stumbled on a clump of elephants. If by chance he ever does, and is properly armed, he will know exactly how to proceed, for he has read everything pertaining to elephant hunting that the libraries have to offer. He has studiously gone through the African book of Theodore Roosevelt over and over again, and the more he reads of other men shooting elephants the more discontented and dissatisfied he becomes with his own lot. Every so often Humphrey goes out to the zoo and stares at the elephants displayed there. After each of these trips he is particularly morose for many days.

Unless he comes face to face with a wild, unfettered elephant in its native haunts before he dies, Humphrey's life will have been in vain.

Young Pat Harrison, congressman from Gulfport, Miss., went to Boston a while ago and delivered a speech. Having an engaging personality and a good quality of language at his disposal, Harrison made a hit with the Bostonese. Time went on and the Hobson prohibition resolution came up for consideration. Harrison planned to vote in favor of national prohibition. Some of his Boston friends heard of this and were deeply pained, for they chanced not to be prohibitionists. One of them wrote to Harrison, telling him frankly:

"If you vote for prohibition you can never make another speech in Boston."

"The difficulty is," Harrison wrote back, "that if I fail to vote for it I fear I can never make another speech in Gulfport, Miss."

E. Lester Jones, the United States government's deputy commissioner of fisheries, is a young man of originality. And he was never more original than when he set out a while ago to rid his back fence and neighboring alleys of night-yowling cats. For some reason the laws of the District of Columbia are unusually strict regarding all other domestic animals, and unusually optimistic with reference to cats. No matter how mild the dog, it must be muzzled or on leash the year around. There is even an ordinance against the cooing of doves in the district. But cats may make the night hideous with their uncouth conversation, and those whose sleep is disrupted have no redress—as we ourself have had occasion to learn.

When E. Lester Jones came to Washington to live he found that sleep in the night season was practically out of the question owing to the cat caucuses at various points within sound range of his bedroom window.

"Ah, ha!" ejaculated E. Lester. "If cats are so popular here, I, too, shall keep a cat."

And he does keep a cat, only his cat is different. He got himself a wildcat. It was a wee kitten wildcat when Jones first brought it home and it grew up so tame that it has the run of the house and acts as pet for Jones' little girl. But with all its tameness it has an innate and violent prejudice against all other cats. Whenever Jones hears too many untoward cat noises outside he simply turns loose his household pet. In a few moments the cat noises suddenly increase in volume and vehemence, but immediately thereafter they cease entirely. A little later Jones' wildcat comes scratching at the door with little wisps of fur about its face in addition to its own fur.

Then both Jones and his wildcat lie down to peaceful slumber.

1920 and the Rock.

New York Evening Mail: They are making careful preparations in New England to celebrate the three-hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. The tercentenary is five years and more away, but in New England the people like to take plenty of time to do a big thing. And the tercentenary of Plymouth Rock is really a big thing. The Pilgrim people brought a political idea with them—the one that they turned loose upon the world in the compact drawn up in the cabin of the Mayflower—which was fundamental to the future American republic; and Plymouth Rock, though inert granite—or is it pudding stone—managed to wriggle around until it got under the corner of the temple of American liberty.

So it is proper that the three-hundredth anniversary of the rock should be celebrated; and it is to be hoped that the New England people will make a good job of it, with 100,000,000 Americans at their back. Of course it does not matter in the least that there is not a shadow of evidence that the Pilgrims ever set foot on Plymouth Rock. That is all assumption. But the rock is there, and it ought to have been used for the purpose, in default of a more convenient wharf. Let us all gather at it in 1920!

The Church and the Caesars.

Edwin Davies Schoonmaker in the Century Magazine: It has been said by historians that much of the persecution which the early church suffered at the hands of the Caesars was due to the fact that the church already was active in politics and was furthering a movement for the overthrow of the Roman state. By which doubtless we are to understand that had the church kept out of politics she would not have been persecuted. We may infer from this that, in the opinion of these writers, there was nothing in Christianity as a religion to incur the enmity of the Caesars.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

We Want the Settler.

Tower News: Jake Preus, the state auditor of Minnesota, believes that state lands should be for the settler and not for the speculator. Jake has a good head on him. More effort should be put forth in behalf of the settler than the speculator. He can take care of himself, but the settler is the man we want, for he makes this a place in which to live. He does things. He is the bee that fills the hive.

The Land of Opportunities.

Gonvick Banner: Minnesota may not be the wealthiest state in the Union, but it comes very near being the best. We note seventeen new state banks for one lone city is proposed. The promoters of the new institutions have already applied for charters. Convincing evidence of the dawning of an era of untold prosperity, and a prevailing feeling of optimism. The horizon looks roy. Minnesota is the land of opportunities. Success in abundant measures is here for those who take advantage of it. Briefly, Minnesota is a reservoir of prosperity and happiness.

Says What He Means.

Baudette Region: One thing that we like about Governor Hammond is that he never gives an imitation of a man facing both ways at once. When he states his position on a subject you don't need a blueprint to understand what he means.

Clapp and Eberhart.

Luverne Journal: The Minneapolis Tribune remarks that now that Senator Clapp has told President Wilson where to get off at, probably the president can be depended upon to help arrange terminal facilities for the senator. The wish is the father of the thought with the Tribune. Now is a good time for that paper to trot out Adolph and groom him for the race. About a year ago it was telling us he was the greatest governor Minnesota ever had. If he was such a great governor he ought to be a great senator, in comparison with a common, ordinary man like Mose Clapp.

Let the Law Remain.

Bemidji Pioneer: One good result has been caused by the opposition which has been made to the Elwell law by certain members of the legislature, anyway, for there are hundreds of persons in Minnesota who had regarded it as unnecessary and of little benefit who are now fighting that it may be kept upon the statutes. Roads are absolutely necessary for Northern Minnesota's advance and by use of the Elwell law telling results have already been secured. By all means let law remain, unless, as we have before said, it can be improved upon by amendment and further legislation.

Might as Well.

Gully Advance: Spain as well as Canada is experiencing hard times. Now start the news going that the blame is due to the Democratic tariff reduction on the necessities of life and the increase of the luxuries.

Goethals a Pusher.

Montevideo Leader: Col. Goethals didn't wait for the formal opening of the canal, but opened it as soon as he could plow through the hills, dam back the waters and dredge out the shallow places. We like that man, for he is a pusher without frills.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

My Decision.

I decide henceforth to make it the rule of my life to spend at least fifteen minutes a day, preferably in the early morning, in religious meditation, reading and prayer.

By Dr. T. H. Harman.

Again we bring you back face to face with the quiet devotional moments of the early morning hour. There are things that sometimes mar these moments and make them fruitless.

Sometimes an overindulgence at the previous meal will so disarrange the minute organs of the body that they will illy perform their functions, and in these early morning quiet moments the mind and soul do not experience that keenness so necessary to a true, quiet hour devotion. The mind may be dull and ill at ease in the quiet moments. Intemperance along any line will blunt the keenness of the soul to grasp God, and thus thwart the very purpose of those early, quiet moments of setting the soul aright for the day's devotions and duties.

Solomon's injunction was not far out of the way when he said, "Put a knife to thy throat if thou be a man given to appetite." Over-indulgences along these lines will paralyze the mental and spiritual aspirations and beget an indifference that simply means failure. Guard thyself. Keep thyself. For these quiet moments well kept are worth more to you than all the delicacies of the kings. No life can overindulge in these things and at the same time be what God has marked out for that life to be. We should learn to eat as well as to work for the glory of God.

Dayton, Ohio.

A Workingman's Warning.

Tom Fitch, vice president Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in Leslie's Weekly: If there is a worker who has what you consider to be the bad taste and the poor judgment not to belong to a union, you are not obliged to associate with him or greet him with friendliness when you meet. But you are obliged not to assault him. He may be, in your opinion, a scab, but he has a legal right to be a scab if he chooses. He has a legal right to work for whomsoever he pleases, and for whatever number of hours each day he pleases. Persuade him to stand by his fellow workers if you can. That is your right. But keep your hands off him. You may be sure that if you attempt violence there will step to the front a deputy United States marshal who will say to you with the voice of 75,000,000 people, and with the bayonets of an army behind him, "Let that man pass to his labors."

"The Constitution—Between Friends!"

Kansas City Star: The "boys" down at St. Louis were embarrassed occasionally when it came to holding office by a simple little provision in the Constitution, requiring the occupant of some particular office to be a property owner.

Result—the politicians' lot, like which there is no other lot in the United States. It is only a 30-foot lot, this politicians' lot, but it has been divided and subdivided, and then subdivided, until now some fifteen or sixteen hold office by virtue of ownership of a few inches of it.

The "Hon." Fish McAdams was elected to the legislature from St. Louis just last week to fill a vacancy. Not being a property owner, the "Hon." Fish acquired a few inches of this politicians' lot from a deputy constable who no longer needed it, and by the payment of $4.54 Mr. Fish became a full fledged property owner.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

AGREES WITH SOUTHERNER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I agree with the Southerner's idea about Duluth. The climate is lovely and you have a fine city here, but what's the use if you can't enjoy any of the sports unless you are a club member, and besides your taxicab drivers charge an outrageous price. Is there no law for overcharging here and if there is why doesn't the city make them live up to it like they do in other places? A. STRANGER.

Duluth, Feb. 18.

TWO QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly answer in your Open Court column the following questions: How many days are there from Ash Wednesday to Easter Sunday? And also what is the correct way of heading a letter? Would you not put the name of the company or person which ever it may be and under that put Dear Sir or Friend to whom you may be writing?

Thanking you in advance. Yours respectfully, W. B.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 18.

Including Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday there are forty-seven. On a business letter, put the date at the top on the right hand side, and on the left hand side put the name of the man to whom you are writing, under it his address and then Dear Sir. If you are writing to a friend you can be less formal, and begin with simply the date and "Dear John." —The Editor.

MOTHER SHIPTON'S PROPHECY.

A. M. D. sends in a copy of "Mother Shipton's Prophecy," asked for by an Open Courter.

The lines were first published in England in 1485, before the discovery of America, and before any of the discoveries and inventions mentioned therein. All the events predicted have come to pass except that in the last two lines.

Carriages without horses shall go,
And accidents fill the world with woe.
Around the world thoughts shall fly
In the twinkling of an eye.
Waters shall yet more wonders do,
Now strange, yet shall be true.
The world upside down shall be,
And gold be found at root of tree.
Through hills man shall ride,
And no horse nor ass be at his side.
Under water man shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, shall talk.
In the air men shall be seen
In white, in black, in green.
Iron in the water shall float,
As easy as a wooden boat.
Gold shall be found 'mid stone.
In a land that's now unknown.
Fire and water shall wonders do,
England shall at last admit a Jew.
And this world to an end shall come
In eighteen hundred and eighty-one.

WANTS ACTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly inform me, through the Open Court, the steps I should take to move a small house off the street in front of my lot, when the owner says he won't move unless the village moves him and he says he has no money. He has had thirty days' notice twice and he won't move, and the village officials don't seem to care. So please let me know, and oblige. GEORGE McCOY.

DOESN'T LIKE THE ROCK PILE METHODS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In an article of last Monday's issue, entitled, "Unemployed Are Fewer," giving credit to the rock pile for the result, we beg to call your attention to a few facts that seem to have been overlooked. First, the number of men who have applied for work at the rock pile has been at least ten times as many as were given employment, and if the rock pile was started with the object of making it as hard and disagreeable as possible for the man seeking to earn a few dollars for his family, why it is a success all right, and deserves all the bouquets that have been handed out to it and the commissioners, for it is run as a prison quarry is run on the principle of "work, damn you, work." But the taxpayers of the city are paying about three times the price per yard that they should, when all the costs of getting the rock out are considered. The reason for this is the crude methods employed, the want of proper tools and poor management. But it is principally the want of a practical up-to-date rock man who knows city blasting, who knows how to handle machines and men to get the best results. You can bet it is worth 75 cents a yard to slug rock with a heavy sledge all day. Few men can stand it, but under proper management the men could get out more rock, make more money per day, and do it easier at 50 cents per yard and the city would be the gainer also.

To one who knows this class of work, it looks like a money-wasting joke, and undeserving of the credit it gets.

Yours very truly, A MINER.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"Barney McCoy," from J. T. Westerlund of Two Harbors.

Requests have been received for the following poems:

"Opportunity," from William Johnson of Munger, Minn.

"Passing Faces," from J. T. Westerlund of Two Harbors.

"Barney McCoy."

I am going far away, Norah darling,
And leaving such an angel far behind;
It will break my heart in two,
Which I fondly gave to you;
And no other one so loving, kind and true.

Chorus.

Then come to my arms, Norah, darling,
Bid your friends and old Ireland goodby,
And it's happy we will be,
In that dear land of the free,
Living happy with your Barney McCoy.

I would go with you, Barney, darling,
But the reason why, I told you oft before,
It will break my mother's heart
If from her I had to part
And go roaming with you, Barney McCoy.

I am going far away, Norah, darling,
Just as sure as there's a God that I adore,
But remember what I say,
That until the judgment day,
You will never see your Barney any more.

I would go with you, Barney, darling,
If mother and the rest of them were there;
For I know we would be blest,
In that dear land of the west,
Living happy with you, Barney McCoy.

I am going far away, Norah, darling,
And the ship is now at anchor in the bay,
And before tomorrow's sun
You will hear the signal gun,
So be ready—it will carry us away.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Belonged to Corporation.

Charles V. McCoy, appellant, vs. City National Bank of Duluth, respondent—

1. In a suit against the King Commission company, (a corporation), defendant bank was garnished and disclosed an indebtedness to the commission company. Judgment was rendered against the bank upon its disclosures and the judgment was paid. Thereafter plaintiff brought this suit to recover the money from the bank, claiming that, although it had been deposited in the name of the King Commission company, it in fact belonged to one A. A. King, and that his title thereto had passed to plaintiff. Held that there was no evidence sufficient to sustain a finding that the money did not belong to the corporation.

2. Statements of officers of the bank made in a casual conversation with plaintiff, or in an affidavit procured by plaintiff for his own purposes, are not admissions of the bank, nor evidence against the bank.

3. The exclusion of testimony is not reversible error unless it appear affirmatively that such testimony was relevant and material.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Held to Show Negligence.

Florence Watson, a minor, by W. Watson, her father, respondent, vs. City of Duluth, appellant.—

Evidence in the action against a city to recover damages for injuries resulting from a fall from an unguarded elevated sidewalk constructed along an embankment, held to show actionable negligence on the part of defendant.

Judgment affirmed. PER CURIAM.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Appeal Dismissed.

P. O. Helde et al, respondents vs. Patrick J. Lyons, appellant—

Under laws 1913, c. 474, G. S. 1913, Sec. 8001, an order granting a new trial is not appealable unless it appears therefrom, or from the memorandum attached thereto, that it is granted exclusively on the ground of errors of law occurring at the trial; and when it appears that misconduct was one of the grounds the order is not appealable.

Appeal dismissed. PER CURIAM.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Verdict Sustained.

Thomas Daly, respondent, vs. Thomas A. Curry, appellant—

Issues of defendant's and plaintiff's negligence in an action to recover damages for personal injuries alleged to have been caused by defendant's negligent operation of an automobile whereby it collided with plaintiff just after he had alighted from a street car, held, under the evidence, for the jury.

A business man of mature years, who saw the automobile as it passed the rear end of the street car and watched it until it stopped, was competent, without further qualification other than reasonable intelligence and ordinary experience in life, to give an opinion as to its speed, though he had previously testified that he had never theretofore attempted to estimate the speed of a passing automobile and could not state positively how fast the one in question was going.

Verdict for $6,000 as damages resulting from the fracture of plaintiff's leg and other injuries, sustained.

Defendant, having failed to question an allowance for expert witness fees which was set out as a disbursement in plaintiff's notice of taxation of costs, held precluded from objecting thereto on the ground that it was originally allowed by an ex parte order made by a district judge other than the one who tried the case.

Judgment affirmed. PER CURIAM.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Judgment for Defendant.

Helmer Carlson, respondent, vs. James T. Elwell, appellant—

Evidence considered and held not sufficent to warrant submitting to the jury the question whether plaintiff was mentally incompetent, or did not know what he was doing, when he received money paid by the defendant in settlement of his claim for personal injuries and executed a release.

Order reversed and judgment for defendant. BUNN, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Evidence Sufficient.

William Pierce Cowles, respondent, vs. City of Minneapolis, appellant—

The evidence has been examined and found sufficient to sustain the findings of the trial court.

Judgment affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Should Be Treated As Whole.

State of Minnesota ex rel: Gustave Kafka, relator, vs. District Court of Ramsey County, et al, respondents—

Where several persons have separate estates or interests in a single tract or parcel of land taken in condemnation proceedings, the proper mode of reaching a fair valuation of the property and of ascertaining the damages of those interested, is to treat the property as though the entire estate and all interests therein were in a single person and to find the value and damage in gross, leaving the apportionment of the award to be thereafter made according to the previous interests of the parties in the property.

Neither a separate assessment of damages to the several interests in the property nor a subsequent apportionment of the gross award is essential to the validity of the assessment, unless such is required by statute.

Section 251 of the St. Paul city charter in force in 1913, makes the compensation awarded a public charge, so that it may be recovered by the property owner with sufficient certainty to comply with the constitutional requirement of security of compensation.

Section 247 of the charter, providing that "if the lands and buildings belong to different persons, or if the land be subject to lease, the damages to such persons, respectively, may be awarded to them by the board of public works, less the benefits resulting to them, respectively, from the improvement," held not to require the board either to make a separate assessment of relator's interest in the property as lessee, or subsequently to apportion to him his share of the gross award.

Nor was such required under the terms of sections 251, 253.

Payment by the city of the gross award to the fee owner did not deprive relator, as lessee, of his constitutional right of security of compensation for the taking of his property; for, while his right of recovery against the fee owner does not fulfill the constitutional guaranty, the fund must be deemed as still in the hands of the city, subject to be brought into court for apportionment at the instance of relator, of whose claim the city had notice before paying the fee owner.

Judgment affirmed. PER CURIAM.

CASS COUNTY.
No Reversible Error.

W. T. Blakely, respondent, vs. J. Neils Lumber company, appellant.—

1. Former decision in this action, (121 Minn. 280) followed and applied as the law of the case.

2. Where there is an objection to an instructed verdict under Sec 7998 G. S. 1913, the objecting party is not required to request the submission of particular issues to the jury. Such request was made, but in the absence thereof the trial court will proceed and submit such issues as are presented by the pleadings and evidence, as the court deems proper.

3. The record presents no reversible error.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

CASS COUNTY.
Plaintiff Assumed Risk.

Wildred Petra, respondent, vs. Crookston Lumber company, appellant.—

In this action to recover for personal injuries the evidence is considered and held to show conclusively that plaintiff assumed the risk.

Reversed with directions. BUNN, J.

CLAY COUNTY.
No Fatal Variance.

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Francis C. Carey, et al., defendants; Francis C. Carey, appellant.—

1. When an indictment alleges grand larceny in the first degree committed by obtaining "current and genuine money" by fraudulent representations, and the evidence shows that the one defrauded drew a draft on a Missouri bank in favor of a Minnesota bank, and the latter bank honored it and was ready to pay the money to the defendant and he requested two drafts and a deposit credit, there is no fatal variance.

2. The evidence is insufficient to sustain a conviction of obtaining money by false representations as to the ownership of property with intent to cheat and defraud.

Order reversed. DIBELL, C.

OTTERTAIL COUNTY.
A Public Service.

In reapplication of Ottertail Power company to condemn certain lands. Ottertail Power company, respondent, vs. Edward A. Brastad, alias Edward S. Brastad, appellant—

1. The furnishing of electric light and power to the public is a public service, and land or water taken to forward such an enterprise is taken for a public use.

2. It is not necessary that the petition of a corporation in condemnation proceedings should allege that the proceeding was authorized by its board of directors.

3. A public service corporation authorized to condemn private property cannot interfere with the navigable capacity of any navigable stream unless authorized by statute, but it may take the private rights of property of the riparian owner upon compliance with the Constitution and laws of the state, and upon making just compensation, whether the stream be navigable or not.

4. A description of the right to be taken as "a portion of the waters of the Ottertail river,—leaving at all times in the channel of said river sufficient water for all public and domestic uses," is a sufficiently definite description.

5. The damages assessed are not so inadequate as to require the granting of a new trial or any disturbance of the verdict.

Judgment affirmed. HALLAM, J.

TRAVERSE COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Stella Thompson, by Maud Thompson, her guardian, respondent, vs. Bankers' Mutual Casualty Insurance company, appellant—

1. This action is brought on an accident insurance policy to recover for the death due to accidental injury. By the terms of the policy there can be no recovery if deceased was intoxicated at the time of injury. The burden was on the defendant to prove intoxication. The evidence is conflicting and it is not conclusive that deceased was intoxicated.

2. Expert testimony of a physician based in part upon statements made to him by others may properly be received if the evidence shows what the reported statements were and there is evidence in the case tending to prove their truth.

3. Any evidence tending to cast doubt upon defendant's theory of intoxication was proper, though not sufficient in itself to disprove it.

4. Conviction of any crime, whether felony or petty misdemeanor, may be proved in order to impeach a witness. The nature of the crime may properly be shown.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

FARIBAULT COUNTY.
Sustained By Evidence.

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Christian F. Virgens, appellant—

The books and records of a large mercantile establishment, situated outside the state, when properly identified as the books and records kept in the usual course of business, may be received in evidence in a criminal trial without being verified by the clerks who actually made the entries. It is for the trial court to determine whether sufficient foundation for the introduction of such books has been laid, and the ruling will not be reversed unless abuse of judicial discretion is made to appear.

A witness who has observed the appearance and manner of speech of a person may therefrom be permitted to testify as to the opinion formed concerning the mental state of such person.

Defendant on trial for murder, by the cross-examination of the state's witnesses, insinuated that a witness and defendant's wife desired conviction; and when defendant took the stand he accused them of criminal intimacy. In this situation, it was proper cross-examination of defendant to elicit that he claimed that, at the time of the commission of the crime, his wife was with him at home, and no impropriety in asking him in view of his accusation if he would consent to the wife testifying.

It was not misconduct of the county attorney, in his opening address, to state what he expected to prove, and which he did prove without objection. Nor was it prejudicial misconduct of such attorney, in his closing address, to allude to the desire of the state to have had defendant's wife as a witness under the circumstances of this case. An improper reference to the change of venue was rendered harmless by the court's instruction not to consider it.

The court's charge was correct, and the evidence, though circumstantial, sustains the conviction.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

SIBLEY COUNTY.
Remanded With Directions.

State ex rel Gaylord Farmers Co-Operative Creamery association, relator, vs. District Court, Sibley county, respondent—

1. The purpose of Part 2 of the Workmen's Compensation act was to secure the widow, or dependent next of kin, of an employe who should meet an accidental death while engaged in the line of his employment, a percentage income based upon their pecuniary loss, and the salary or compensation actually received by such employe at the time of his death represents such loss.

2. Where an employer pays to an employe having general charge of the affairs of the employer's business a fixed sum of money each month, from which the employe is required to pay an assistant, if one is employed by him to assist in the work, such sum as may be agreed upon between the employe and the assistant, the sum so paid the assistant forms no part of the salary or compensation of the employe, and in determining the salary of such employe the amount paid the assistant must be deducted from the total amount paid by the employer.

Remanded with directions. BROWN, C. J.

STEELE COUNTY.
Sustained by Record.

E. E. Hanson, appellant, vs. J. B. Merlon, despondent—

1. Cram vs. Thompson, 87 Minn. 172, to the effect that a parol agreement to execute a lease of real property, the lease when executed to extend over a longer period than one year, is within the statute of frauds and unenforcible, followed and applied.

2. The conclusion of the trial court that there was no evidence to justify an application of the doctrine of estoppel, and thereby to preclude defendant from invoking the statute, held sustained by the record.

3. Where it does not appear from the pleadings that the contract sued upon was in parol and within the statute of frauds, the statute may be taken advantage of by motion to dismiss at the close of plaintiff's case.

4. In such case the failure to object to the evidence when offered is not a waiver of the right to rely upon the statute.

5. The statute Sec. 6998 G. S. 1913, declares that no action can be maintained upon a contract therein referred to, unless in writing; it is held, that the statute is not to be construed as prescribing a mere rule of the substantive right of action upon the oral contract.

6. The rule that incompetent evidence received without objection is sufficient upon which to base a finding or verdict applies only when such evidence establishes or tends to establish an enforcible right.

7. It has no application where the fact shown or proven by the incompetent evidence furnishes no basis for recovery or of a right of action; as an oral agreement within the statute of frauds which the statute declares unenforcible.

Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

WRIGHT COUNTY.
Question of Liability.

Joseph Schaar, appellant, vs. Ross A. Comforth, respondent—

1. Where a statute is enacted for the protection of individuals one who violates it is liable to those for whose protection it was intended for injuries proximately resulting from its violation; and the question of liability is a question of proximate cause.

2. Applying this rule it is held that under Laws 1911, chapter 365, section 15, General Statutes 1914, section 2634, prohibiting the operator of a motor vehicle from passing a draft animal driven by a woman, child or aged person at a greater speed than four miles an hour, one violating such statute is liable for the injuries proximately resulting to those for whose protection it was intended.

3. The provision of Laws 1911, chapter 365, section 11, section 15, General Statutes 1913, section 2362, section 2634, requiring the operator of a motor vehicle to bring his machine to a stop in certain instances is governed by the rule stated; and other provisions of said sections relative to the care to be exercised by the operator fix a standard of conduct the non-observance of which is negligence.

4. Under said sections requiring the operator of a motor vehicle to stop his machine when signaled by the driver of a rig which he is approaching, it is his duty to stop when the signal is given by an occupant of the rig, though not the driver.

5. The statute fixing the limit of speed in passing at four miles an hour is not unconstitutional as class legislation.

6. A new trial was rightly granted for error in submitting to the jury the question whether the tear duct of the injured child was destroyed, there being no evidence that it was.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

CAME TOO LATE.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—News of an unusual tragedy in Northwest Canada, reached the Dominion government last night. Romolo Caesari, under sentence to be hanged yesterday at White Horse, Yukon territory for murder, attempted to escape and was shot by Constable Hayes of the Northwest Mounted Police, who was guarding him. Two bullets took effect and the man died.

A few minutes before this occurred, a telegram from the Canadian minister of justice had reached White Horse directing the authorities not to proceed with the execution, because the authorities believed the man was insane and had commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. The sheriff was on the way to convey the news when the prisoner made his fatal dash.

"'SHE' MADE IT ON HIGH"

"First Automobile Ever Built" Wheezes Up Hill to Herald Office While Pedestrians Stare and Laugh.

"She" wheezed along Superior street, and coughed her explosive way up Fifth avenue west.

The populace stared and smiled.

At the alley she sneezed and showed signs of giving up the fight.

"Tack, Bill, tack," yelled Earl Bradley, who was a passenger aboard the one-lung oil-eater.

W. F. Daly, the impresario of Duluth's first automobile show, ported his helm, and the "first automobile ever built" gathered a trifle more energy. A 1915 "Six" purred by, and the occupants grinned.

With a final sputter she rounded the corner and drew up in front of The Herald office.

"We made the Fifth avenue hill on high," said Daly.

"Going up or down?" asked The Herald automobile editor.

"Versatile Cah."

"Well," countered Daly, "she does go backwards better than forwards, at that. This is a versatile cah, sir, a versatile cah."

Mechanician Bradley then rose from his seat, backed out past the long steering handle, and dismounted.

He went to the port side of this wreck on the high seas, and started to crank.

After winding enough to keep an eight-day clock going for the rest of its life, he was rewarded by an asthmatic wheeze that started from the bowels of the one-lung and subsided into a sputtering snort.

"She sounds like a dissipated suction pump," said the auto editor.

Several more wheezes, a cough, a couple of snorts, a vigorous push from the mechanician, and behold, "she" started along First street west, putting to shame the ghosts of the one hoss shay and Henry Ford's "dream," who were assembled along the curb, making slurring comment.

The bicycle-tired wheels, rheumatic and gouty from so much high living in one morning, almost refused to go 'round, but Mechanician Bradley persisted until they reachd the hill, and then sailing was easy.

Whether this Rip Van Winkle of motordom reached the bottom of the hill safely or not, the story doesn't say. The Herald abandoned the reckless old lady to her fate.

This cah, said to be an Olds of about an 1895 vintage, has no competition as Duluth's oldest gasoline buggy. "She," will be shown at the automobile show next week, if the hill to the armory does not prove too steep.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF THE POLICE COURT GRIST

FACE HIS MISFORTUNE.

"Repeater" Looks Like John Bunny and Police Always Remember.

MANY a man's face in his fortune, but Gust Johnson, aged 62, can truthfully say that his is his misfortune.

Johnson is an old offender at police headquarters and when he appeared in municipal court this morning it was his fourth offense, according to police records.

Because of the prevalence of Gust Johnsons, the police at first confused him with a Gust who had offended the city's order but once before.

"Oh, this one's the fellow with a face like John Bunny's," said Assistant Secretary Fred Johnson. "He's a repeater," and Gust's fate was sealed.

When brought before Judge F. H. Cutting he was given a 60-day sentence at the work farm, instead of the 20-day sentence he might have drawn, had his face been his own, instead of John Bunny's.

After court had passed sentence, Johnson stated that any man unfortunate enough to resemble John Bunny should be allowed to drown his sorrow unmolested, he thought.

HID IN WAGON BOX.

William Wardak Had Just the Sum Stolen When Arrested.

CHARGED with having taken $26 from the cash register at the Park hotel, Sixth avenue west and Superior street, last night, William Wardak, aged 26, asked for an examination when brought into municipal court this morning. His case will be heard before Judge F. H. Cutting Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Wardak was seen in the hotel shortly before the money was missed by J. N. Stariha, clerk, and when he ran down the steps he was noticed by Patrolman Le Beau, who gave chase. Wardak was found shortly afterwards, hiding in a wagon box in the rear of Salvation Army headquarters, and was taken to headquarters by Officers Le Beau, L. W. Johnson and Krawscyzk.

Stariha later told Lieut. E. H. Barker that he had seen Wardak at the till, and that he closed the drawer and started to run when the clerk entered the room. Currency and silver amounting to $26 were found in one of Wardak's pockets, while 70 cents in change was found in the other.

Wardak declared that he knew nothing about the missing money this morning, but stated he had recently come to Duluth from a lumber camp near Cloquet, and that he had cashed a time check, thus securing the $26. He had forgotten where he cashed it.

He was held for the hearing under $500 bail.

AIRED HIS HOME.

Thief Blew in and Blew Out With an Overcoat.

DULUTH'S climate has been so mild and balmy during the last few days that Frederick West, 320 Seventh avenue east, thought it warm enough to leave his front door open and air out the house a little bit.

With the fresh air, someone blew into Mr. West's front hall last night and blew out again, carrying an extra overcoat over his arm, thus allowing the wind to get a better sweep down the hall.

Mr. West appeared at police headquarters this morning and upon describing his garment was directed to a pawnshop at 715 West Superior street by Lieut. N. U. G. Terry. There he found the coat and departed, resolving to wait until he could put on screen doors with locks before he again attempted to air his home.

LAYS ARREST TO TROUBLE AT HOME.

LIKE the Trojans who fled their burning city, disregarding their Lares and Penates, M. A. Close has failed to pay proper homage to the household gods, and this, he says, is the reason for his trouble.

Close has been operating a lock and gun store on East Superior street until recently, when he sold out, lock, stock and barrel. In selling out, however, he sold a .25 Mauser revolver belonging to the Kelley Hardware company. When arrested today by Lieut. N. U. G. Terry charged with petty larceny, he said that trouble at home had started everything. He pleaded not guilty in municipal court and will be given a hearing on Feb. 24, at 10 a. m.

Has Boisterous Visitors.

UPON the complaint of neighbors who said that her visitors were altogether too noisy and boisterous, Mary Olson, 4706 Jay street, was brought into municipal court this morning, charged with keeping a disorderly house.

Police allege that the Olson woman has been a disturbing element in her neighborhood for a long time, and particularly since Feb. 1. She will be given a hetring before Judge J. H. Cutting Tuesday at 10 a. m. Bail was set at $100.

PAVING WILL BE DEFERRED

Second Street Property Owners' Desire Complied With By Murchison.

Uncertain Business Conditions Given as Reason for Requested Delay.

Although they want the pavement, property owners along Second street, from Fourth avenue west to Fifth avenue east, declared at a meeting in the council chamber this morning that they would rather have action deferred at this time, because of uncertain business conditions. As a result of this meeting Commissioner Murchison announced that no pavement will be ordered this year, but that the department will wait until the property owners feel that they are in better financial condition.

The meeting of the property owners was called by Commissioner Murchison for the purpose of learning the sentiment of the owners along Second street. He had planned to introduce a resolution ordering an asphalt pavement on the present concrete base, but decided it would be more advisable to meet the owners and if there were objections, defer action at this time.

Several of the city owners present made short talks and when a final vote was taken to learn the sentiment of the audience, only one man voted in favor of constructing the pavement this year.

The proposed improvement, it is estimated, would cost about $50,000.

Ladysmith Mill to Start.

Ladysmith, Wis., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Wallace sawmill here, which has been closed down for several years, will be overhauled and started up in the near future by J. C. Young of Ladysmith and Ed. Ross of Park Falls, Wis., who intend to manufacture cheese box, beer and wood specialties. During the last six weeks the Menasha Wooden Ware company and the Menasha Paper company, Ladysmith's two largest industries, have been receiving daily a total of over 100 cars of raw material consisting of logs and bolts.

NEW TRIAL IS DENIED.

Court Upholds Verdict for $700 in Favor of Section Hand.

Judge Dancer yesterday afternoon filed an order in district court denying the defendant's motion for a new trial of the personal action brought by Boli Creamus against the Great Northern Railway company. A jury last June returned a verdict in favor of Creamus for $700. The railway company urged a motion for a new trial, which the court denied yesterday. Creamus, a section hand employed between Kelley Lake and Hibbing, was struck by a train and severely injured Sept. 18, 1913. He sued for $10,000. The company denied any liability. Victor L. Power of Hibbing appeared for the plaintiff and Baldwin & Holmes were in court for the railway company.

DID NOT FOLLOW IT.

Los Angeles Times: "I am glad to find you better," said a physician to a famous comedian upon paying him a professional visit one morning. "You followed my prescription, of course?"

"Indeed I did not, doctor," retorted the sick man, "or I should have broken my neck."

"Broken your neck!" exclaimed the doctor in amazement.

"Yes," said the other, "for I threw your prescription out of the window."

SUPERIOR

RECALL TO GO TO COURTS.

Election Will Probably Be Delayed By Opposition.

Men back of the petition for the recall of Mayor J. S. Konkel of Superior will make a fight through the courts to have the petition accepted by the commission. The injunction proceedings will be fought in the courts and at a meeting of some of the leaders in the movement last night Attorney W. P. Crawford was chosen to represent the recallers. The action will come before the court within twenty days. It is probable that the recall election will have to be postponed on account of the action taken by the opposition.

Good Roads Assured.

Douglas county will spend $104,000 on improvements to its highways this year. This amount was decided upon by the county supervisors recently. The county has spent more than a half million on highways during the last five years. Considerable money will be received as state aid within a short time and Douglas county will have one of the best highway systems in Wisconsin.

Contractor Is Called.

George C. Ashby, a well known Superior contractor, died yesterday at St. Francis hospital following a short illness of pneumonia. Mr. Ashby had been a resident of Superior for twenty-six years. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters. He resided at 220 Division avenue. The funeral will be held Sunday.

A LOYAL FRIEND.

FANCY WORK.

New York Sun: Something new in the way of fancy work is the adapting to modern uses of the quaint, geometrical designs in applied colored cottons which appeared in the bed quilts of a century ago. Pillowtops, table covers, curtains, lamp and candle shades and inserts for trays and baskets are all available for this style of decoration.

The work when used in this way requires no quilting, the designs being cut from the colored cottons and felled with tiny stitches to the foundation material. The use of an embroidery hoop insures better results, but much of the work is held in the hand like any other piece of sewing.

Showy floral designs are the favorite choice for this work, partly because of the beauty of the colorings and partly because it is possible to gain good effects with conventionalized flowers. Tulips, morning glories, wild roses and hollyhocks are particularly well suited to reproduction in this applique fashion, and ferns and leaves are effective, carried out in several shades of green. Bunches of grapes, cherries and plums are also good, cottons of the correct color being chosen to carry out the natural effect.

Wall paper designs and handsome cretonnes suggest many appropriate patterns for this style of work and also give desirable color schemes. Each bit of the design must be cut out, with a narrow margin allowed for turning in. The best way is to cut a cardboard pattern of the flowers and leaves required. This is then laid on the colored material and the outline marked with lead pencil.

DON'T TAKE CALOMEL

BEING HURT HAS NETTED KOCH MORE THAN $8,000

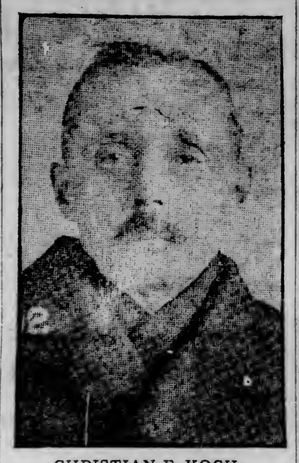

Found Railroads Easy Marks During Last Two or Three Years.

Witnesses Tell of Amounts They Have Paid Prisoner.

Sitting at his attorney's side in a crowded court room this morning, Christian F. Koch stocially maintained an air of indifference and unconcern while witness after witness implicated him in an ingenious scheme of fraud and deception which, if the state's witnesses are to be believed, netted him upwards of $8,000 during the last two or three years. Koch is on trial charged with defrauding the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company out of $1,000 in a personal injury settlement.

While the story of his operations during the last few years was being patched together as best it could be from what has been learned of Koch, the prisoner's face remained devoid of expression.

Koch's case will be in the hands of the jury some time this afternoon. The state rested its case this morning and Koch followed suit without taking the stand to defend the charge or to deny any of the accusations made against him. This afternoon closing arguments will be made to the jury by Warren E. Greene, county attorney, and Thomas J. McKeon, counsel for Koch. District Judge Fesler will charge the jury.

CHRISTIAN F. KOCH.

Record Not Admitted.

Although County Attorney Greene made an attempt to show by certain records which were offered as evidence that Koch had been convicted on former occasions on a charge somewhat similar in nature, the court sustained an objection to the evidence as not proper. It was rejected on the theory that it was only proper to prove the defendant's record on his cross-examination and for the purpose of impeachment. Koch did not take the stand and Koch's record was not put in evidence.

It is understood, however, that Koch has served prison sentences in two or three states for crimes of a similar nature and he is wanted in a number of cities for collecting money under false pretenses by employing the same methods as have been accredited to him in the case of the Iron Range railroad for which he is on trial. He is also said to have served terms in penitentiaries at Walla Walla, Wash., Deer Lodge, Mont., and Anamossa, Iowa.

Fooled Many Doctors.

Several surprises have been sprung at the trial since yesterday afternoon. Testimony has been adduced which points to Koch as one of the most clever swindlers in his own particular kind of a game now operating in the country. He has not only fooled doctors galore, but has also kept claim agents busy paying out money to him for supposed injuries, if the stories related are true.

Got $4,050 From Him.

This morning, W. R. Miller of Minneapolis, claim agent for the Great Northern Railway company, told how the ingenious Mr. Koch, known then as Charles F. Schmidt, had taken him into camp for $4,050 in March, 1913 at Breckenridge, Minn. Schmidt had fallen while alighting from a train and hurt his back and spine. Paralysis followed and deprived the unfortunate man of the loss of motion and sensation of both limbs. Doctors submitted him to every test and he never flinched. The settlement was made on March 26, 1912. Two days later, Mr. Miller said, Schmidt went south to a warmer climate.

Mr. Miller next saw Koch, alias Schmidt, in a hospital at Great Falls, Mont., this time as Clarence F. Myers. He had been unfortunate enough to slip upon a plum pit while walking down a coach aisle and to fall and so injure his spine as to cause paralysis and loss of the use of his limbs. Schmidt, or Koch, refused to recognize the claim agent who had so obligingly paid him the $4,000 only five months before. The man was arrested and convicted for this offense.

Sued the N. P.

A. J. Forsyth of Brainerd, formerly of Missoula, where he was employed as foreman in the Northern Pacific shops, testified that he knew Koch as C. F. Molt, who had worked under him at Missoula in March, 1906, and who a few days after having obtained employment supposedly met with an accident, which was later the basis of a personal injury case in the Montana courts.

Molt fell and injured his spine. He sued and in the lower courts recovered a verdict for $5,000. This was reversed later by the supreme court of Montana. The case dragged in the courts for three or four years. L. J. Burno, who was a witness in the personal injury case, today identified Koch as Molt.

A $600 Touch.

Yesterday afternoon, S. J. Beardsley, claim agent for the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad company, testified that two days after he had paid Koch $600 as a settlement for personal injuries claimed to have been sustained at Hampton, Iowa, he saw Koch walking briskly down the street without the aid of crutches. In making the settlement, Koch was assisted by Samuel A. Anderson, St. Paul attorney well known in Duluth. Mr. Anderson received $200 as his share.

Mr. Beardsley is an attorney. Twenty years ago at Minneapolis he was assistant county attorney when Harry Hayward was prosecuted and convicted for the killing of Catherine Cling.

James B. Howard, claim agent for the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway company, testified that he paid Koch $1,600 Aug. 8, 1914, for injuries which he claimed to have sustained in crossing a railroad crossing. Koch claimed that he stepped on a loose plank, which slipped, causing him to fall in such a manner as to hurt his spine and cause paralysis.

Dr. E. L. Tuohy concluded his testimony this morning. He admitted having been hoodwinked into believing that Koch was suffering from a severe case of paralysis.

Sue on Policy.
Suit to collect $1,000 on a life insurance policy was started today in district court by Pessie Isadore Anderson against the Royal League. The policy in question was one issued to Robert Whidden, Nov 2, 1909. Whidden's wife died and he made his stepdaughter the beneficiary. She is suing to recover. Whidden died Oct. 15, 1914.

Road Must Show Cause.
Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon issued an order requiring the Virginia & Rainy Lake company to come into court tomorrow and show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued restraining it from continuing to operate a logging road over land belonging to Mary Walsh. She also filed a complaint in which she asks for $4,500 damages and a permanent injunction. The land is located in section 33, 67-19. She alleges that the company took $1,500 worth of timber, for which she is entitled under a certain statute to collect damages in treble.

CLAIMS GRAVES WERE DESECRATED

Mrs. Ellen Jaffney Wants $3,000 Damages From Mine Owners.

Beneath the gentle slope on a hillside near Negaunee, Mich., up to November, 1910, were buried the remains of Anna Killgallen, and one of her husband's legs. The site is now an iron mine and this forms the basis of a district court lawsuit.

Mrs. Killgallen died back in 1875 and was buried in a cemetery near Negaunee. After her death her husband was obliged to have one of his legs amputated. It was removed and the amputated member buried with Mrs. Killgallen's remains. In 1902, Mr. Killgallen died and was also buried in the same cemetery.

Along in 1910, the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company discovered that there was iron under the cemetery and that the property was valuable. Negotiations were entered into for the purchase of the property and it was acquired. It is claimed that the understanding was that lot owners would be notified and permission secured before any bodies were moved or graves destroyed.

In a suit filed today in district court by her attorney, Andrew Nelson, Mrs. Ellen Jaffney claims that the mining company disregarded their contract with the lot owners and destroyed the graves containin gthe remains of her father and mother.

As a result of the mining company's actions, she says, she is griefstricken and is suffering from considerable mental pain and anguish. She measures her grief in money at $3,000. The plaintiff declares that she was devoted to the duty of caring for her parents and that between Sept. 1, 1910, and Nov. 20, 1910, she made almost daily visits to the cemetery.

GROUT LECTURES ON DAIRY STOCK

Address of Duluthian Feature of Farm Crops Show.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is Minnesota Red River Valley and Development day at the annual farm crops show. Draft horse judging and the culture of alfalfa were the subjects this morning. The program for this afternoon and evening follows:

Afternoon.

"Uniformity of Farm Crops," C. E. Brown, agricultural extension division; "The Contented Farmer," President J. A. Aasgaard, Concordia college, Moorhead; announcement of contest winners, Secretary N. S. Davies; business session of Minnesota Red River Valley Development association.

3:45 p. m.—Grand opera house. Play, "Back to the Farm."

Evening Session.

Martin O'Brien, Crookston, presiding; music by Crookston Citizens' band; music by mixed chorus, Crookston high; music, selected, Viking chorus; community songs; address, President G. E. Vincent, University of Minnesota.

Mr. Grout Makes Hit.

One of the features of the farm crops show was the illustrated lecture in the Armory Wednesday evening on "Types of Dairy Cattle," by George P. Grout, manager of the Jean Duluth stock farm near the Zenith City.

Another very pleasing feature of Wednesday evening's session was the community singing, which increases in enthusiasm at each succeeding session.

An interesting feature in connection with the announcement of the winners in the exhibitors in the women's department was the fact that Cornelia Cornielson, Amelia Cornielson and Matilda Cornielson won first, second and fourth prizes in white bread baking, and Director A. H. Costain of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association from Clay county demands a special banner of gold for Clay county, because of the special matrimonial opportunities presented in Clay county for Eastern bachelors.

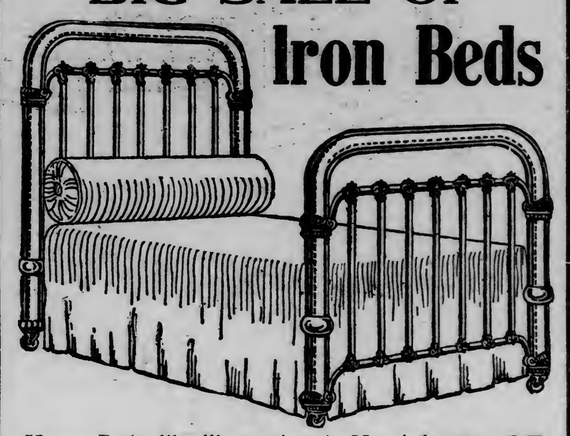

The closing address of Wednesday evening's session was made by Dr. J. M. Walters of Fargo, who discussed "The Problem of the County Church."

BLOWN UP; SAYS OIL WAS IMPURE

When Sora Zernich started to light a fire with kerosene at her home in Biwabik last August, an explosion occurred which may permanently disable her. She started suit for $6,500 th's morning in district court against the Standard Oil company and Matt Vides, the Biwabik grocer who sold her the oil. Vides had purchased the oil the day before from the oil company.

Mrs. Zernich's claim for damages is based on the allegation that the oil was not standard as represented but contained a large portion of gasoline mixed with it. This, she claims, was responsible for the explosion which occurred when she touched a match to oil-soaked wood.

ACCUSED'S COUNSEL RATHER INDIGNANT

Alleges Charge Against Mesaba Man Reeks With Perjury.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—"This case is rotten; it reeks with perjury," was the way Attorney M. H. Crocker, defending Paul Riatal, accused of stealing on Dec. 7 five quarters of beef valued at $60 from a warehouse belonging to Oscar Perra at Mesaba, characterized the case against his client in district court here this morning.

The case was given to the jury at 11:30 o'clock by Judge Hughes.

The Allen Lloyd case, involving the theft of a dress suit case at Chisholm, was continued until Tuesday owing to the illness of the father of Juryman A. C. Clymer.

With the exception of a pending report from the Riatal's jury, court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

DENFELD TEAM WILL PLAY AT TWO HARBORS

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A basket ball game will be played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this evening between the Denfeld high school team of Duluth and the local high school team. The game will commence promptly at 7:45 so as to enable the Duluth boys to return home on the 9 o'clock train. The local team will line-up as follows: Johnson, center; Cleveland, right forward; Richards, left forward; Irwin, guard, and Knutson, guard.

At the local gym. Saturday evening the Proctor girls' basket ball team and the local high school girls' team will play.

BUHL PEOPLE FOR DIVIDING COUNTY.

Buhl, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Support of county division was given at the meeting at the village hall Wednesday night. Several local and outside persons indorsed the movement. No opposition was voiced.

The crowd seemed equally divided upon the county seat, some favoring Virginia while others believing that Hibbing was the place for it. As Buhl is equally close to either of the two places this subject was not heatedly discussed.

Among those who spoke in favor of the movement were W. J. Archer, W. H. McMahan and J. W. Murphy of Virginia.

FINE HIBBING CONCERT

Promised By Leader of Hibbing Band for Next Sunday.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Director William Thola, of the concert band, will attempt one of the most classical band selections ever given at a Sunday matinee concert this winter next Sunday afternoon at the Armory. Decorations which were placed in the hall for the Elks' ball will be left there.

The program is as follows: March, Philharmonic, Leon Rinquet; overture, "La Burlesque," Fran von Suppe; solo for cornet, "My Hero, Osc. Strauss, Frank Di Marco; trombone solo, "The Old Home Down on the Farm," F. Harlow; tuba solo, "The Mighty Deep, H. H. Jude, George Martin; cornet solo, "Autumn Colors," Barnhouse, William Ahola; Zither duet, "Landlers," Strauss, P. Aha and M. Rakas; popular marches (a) "At the Mississippi Cabaret," A. Gumble; (b) "My Chinatown, My Chinatown," Schwartz; march song, "It's a Long, Long Way to Tiperary."

How to Avoid Wearing Ugly False Teeth

It's positively distressing the way some folks allow their teeth to gradually fade away—become broken, elongated, twisted, protruding. It makes people backward, often morbid. Most tooth affections come from microbes. These tiny, unseen organisms bore into the hard enamel under the shelter of brown or pale yellow spots. Grit and tartar get between the enamel and the gums, causing bleeding, sore, sensitive teeth. Then come loosened teeth, gum boils, gum separation. Your tongue easily rocks the teeth.

You can avoid the necessity to pull out your teeth, or fill them with disfiguring gold or porcelain, if you will get from your druggist about four ounces of fluid ergan, merely putting a teaspoonful in your mouth morning, noon and night, throwing it out after a minute or so. The microbes in the nooks and crannies are washed out, destroyed; the hard substances foreign to the teeth are dissolved, gums will be clean and rosy, mouth dentally clean, loose teeth harden in the gums—try them with your fingers—and your own white of the teeth appears when the yellow spots are washed away. The disease disappears. —Advertisement.

VILLAGE COUNCIL RECEIVES PROTEST

Women's Civic League of Deer River Alleges Lid Violation.

Deer River, Minn., Feb. 19.—The following is a copy of a letter sent to the village council by the Women's Civic Improvement league:

"Since the closing of the saloons by the Indian authorities on Dec. 5, the women and the children of Deer River have been compelled to witness a state of drunkenness which is anything but a credit to our village and the women of the Civic league out of self-respect for the community and themselves feel that they must go on record as entering a vigorous protest against the existing conditions of our town regarding 'blind pigging.'

"To us, it seems a disgrace that such a state of affairs exists and for the league to remain passive and not say or try and do anything would not be living up to the purpose of our organization.

"In entering this protest we have not forgotten the generous assistance and support you, as a council, have given us in the past, and we know that you are as opposed to the deplorable conditions existing as we are, and we respectfully ask you to advise us what steps could be taken toward bettering affairs. It would seem that if the Indian authorities had the power to close the saloons, they would also have the power to prohibit 'blind pigging,' but if they are not in a position to help us at this time, could not the county attorney or some other official carry this work on until the Indian authorities can take the matter up themselves?

"Please investigate and enlighten us if possible what steps can be taken toward wiping out this disgraceful condition of affairs.

"Surely it is not necessary for us to stand by idly and not try and do something to better the state of things."

TO PICK CANDIDATES AGAINST SOCIALISTS

Two Harbors Ward Meetings to Be Held for That Purpose.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The voters of the various wards of the city will meet this evening for the purpose of selecting candidates for the various city offices to run at the election in March.

It is expected that candidates for the ward aldermen will be appointed for the purpose of getting together to decide on the candidates for aldermen-at-large, mayor and other elective city offices.

The following have been designated as meeting places: First ward, basement of the courthouse; second ward, basement of the public library; third ward, M. Peterson's paint shop; Fourth ward, old fire hall.

It will be necessary for all candidates appointed at these meetings to circulate a petition in order to get their names on the ballot. All the candidates appointed at the meetings tonight will run in opposition to the Socialists, who are reported to have a full ticket already named.

GROCERY STORES OF EVELETH ARE WARNED.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Detectives employed by the Anti-saloon league are reported to have visited this city this week and interviewed several grocery store keepers and given them to understand prosecution would follow if they did not desist from selling bottled wines and liquors without having wholesale licenses.

THIRTY-EIGHT POUND FISH WELL SPEARED.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unusually large number of fish are being speared through the ice on the lakes in this vicinity. The prize fish, weight, thirty-eight pounds, was speared by Peter Bjorklund at Shoal lake. While other large fish have been speared, this is the record so far this year.

Stukel. J. M. Britz of Bismarck, N. D., will wrestle J. M. Hodnick of Chisholm. The stakes will be $200 a side.

Popular Buhl Concert.

Buhl, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. A. Nichols in a vocal solo, "I was All Dressed Up and No Place to Go," scored a decided hit at the village band concert Sunday afternoon. The village hall was taxed to capacity.

End Logging Near Buhl.

Buhl, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wallace & Robinson, loggers, who have been operating in the woods near here all winter, have completed their work here and will close camp for the season.

About fifty men and twelve teams were employed. The operators have taken out 700,000 feet of mining timber and 1,100 cords of pulp wood.

COUNTY DIVISION FIGHT IS EXPECTED

Effort to Be Made to Put St. Louis County Club on Record.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—There were about 250 people present when President N. B. Shank of the St. Louis County club called the annual meeting to order in Elks hall this afternoon. Duluth and that locality is well represented. Among Duluthians here are: E. K. Coe, Assistant Secretary G. D. McCarthy of the Commercial club, L. B. Arnold, County Agent H. G. Larson, Fred Ward, Mark Thompson, A. B. Hostetter, George P. Grout, B. E. Roe. State Immigration Commissioner B. D. Sherman, Dean Wilson of the university extension department, and County Agent H. A. Pflughoest of Carlton county are also present. The Jackson, Normandie and Lakewood Farmers clubs are also represented. Following the annual address of President Shank various committees will report and officers will be elected. It is expected that an effort will be made to commit the club to county division. This is expected to meet with opposition from the Duluth and other delegations and there is expected to ensue a lively debate.

Evening Program.

Dinner will be served the visitors in the Elks' home at 6 o'clock, after which the program of speaking will be taken up as follows:

Address, Dean Wilson of the university department and state leader of the county agricultural agents.

"The One-Room Rural School," County Superintendent of Schools Noah A. Young.

"The Farmers' Place in the Game," Ole Larson, president of the Jackson Farmers' club, Duluth.

"The Way in Which Commercial Clubs Can Promote Development," George D. McCarthy, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association and assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club.

"The Banker as a Factor in Helping the Farmer," Fred B. Myers, Biwabik, Minn.

"The Biggest Farm in the County and How It Is Run," Fred D. Ward, superintendent county work farm, Duluth.

"How the State Is Helping to Secure Settlers," Fred Sherman, commissioner of immigration, St. Paul.

OPPOSES DIVISION AT CLUB MEETING

E. C. Reid of Virginia Starts Something at Commercial Club Gathering.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. C. Reid of this city, an employe of the Oliver Iron Mining company, opposed county division at a meeting of the Commercial club last night and started something, as he soon discovered.

Mr. Reid declared the charges made that all of the money spent for roads was expended in the vicinity of Duluth were false; that last year about 55 per cent was expended on this end of the county. He declared that the creation of a new county would increase taxes all around and that the expected benefits would not accrue. He declared the mining companies were not as unfair as some people claimed.

M. H. McMahon, Ira Peers, Judge Fleming and several others jumped to their feet and attacked the speaker's claims. Attorney McMahon denied the claims. He said the mining companies would get a square deal, no more and no less, and criticized Mr. Reid for having the temerity to defend the corporations and other heavy taxpayers. The meeting ended when all these speakers had paid their respects to Mr. Reid.

SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF CANISTEO LODGE.

Coleraine, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Canisteo Lodge of Masons will observe its sixth anniversary on Washington's birthday. The new Corinthian club quartet will sing. Members of the general committee in charge of the affair are C. T. Olin, R. P. Weidenfeller and F. S. Fisk. The refreshment committee consists of A. King, A. H. Juergens and C. E. Glyer.

VIRGINIA FIREMEN HOSTS AT BANQUET.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia & Rainy Lake volunteer fire department members were hosts to other volunteer departments of the range last evening at a banquet at the new Fay hotel, with City Attorney R. J. Montague as toastmaster. Plans were discussed for the tournament to be held here next August.

Bury Coleraine Woman.

Coleraine, Minn., Feb. 19.—The funeral of Mrs. Isaac Hellis was held yesterday, from the Methodist church. Rev. T. B. Shorts preached the sermon. Floral offerings were sent by the mine, machine shop and office forces of the Oliver Mining company and by the Coleraine Commercial club.

Mrs. Hellis, formerly Susan Tyler, was born at Republic, Mich., 30 years ago. She was married to Isaac Hellis, superintendent of the Oliver Mining company here, ten years ago. She is survived by her husband and four children ranging from 8 years old to a babe 1 month old. Interment was in Coleraine cemetery.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE

Agrees With Him About Food.

A trained nurse says: "In the practice of my profession I have found so many points in favor of Grape-Nuts food that I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my patients.

"It is delicate and pleasing to the palate (an essential in food for the sick) and can be adapted to all ages, being softened with milk or cream for babies or the aged when deficiency of teeth renders mastication impossible. For fever patients or those on liquid diet I find Grape-Nuts and albumen water very nourishing and refreshing.

"This recipe is my own idea and is made as follows: Soak a teaspoonful of Grape-Nuts in a glass of water for an hour, strain and serve with the beaten white of an egg and a spoonful of fruit juice for flavoring. This affords a great deal of nourishment that even the weakest stomach can assimilate without any distress.

"My husband is a physician and he uses Grape-Nuts himself and orders it many times for his patients.

"Personally I regard a dish of Grape-Nuts with fresh or stewed fruit as the ideal breakfast for anyone—well or sick."

In stomach trouble, nervous prostration, etc., a 10-day trial of Grape-Nuts will usually work wonders toward nourishing and rebuilding and in this way end the trouble. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ALLEGED MURDERER TAKEN TO IRONWOOD.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Nick Frank of Ironwood, Mich., left here today for Duluth and Ironwood, taking Alex Visovade, the 24-year-old Austrian arrested here on a charge of murdering Steve Mraz at Ironwood July 13 last. The officer said the report that the accused killed his victim with a slung-shot was untrue; that Visovade interfered between Mras and a younger brother who were fighting on the street when the fatal blow was delivered.

Virginia Dog Races.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Entries are coming in for the dog races which will be held Monday of next week over a course extending from the corner of Chestnut street and Cleveland avenue to the Elks' home on Chestnut street. Alderman Al Heritage has induced friends at Ely to enter an Airdale terrier, who has a record for speed, and Mr. Heritage will make books for the dog race and back his favorite to the limit. The entries already received include dogs from Mountain Iron, Buhl and several other range towns.

Many Hear Mrs. Vincent.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. George Vincent, wife of the president of the state university, was the guest of honor at a reception at the library last evening after she had spoken of women's work in behalf of the Belgians.

SCOURING HILLS FOR TWO ROBBERS

Posses After Men Who Raided Express Car on Seaboard Air Line Flyer.

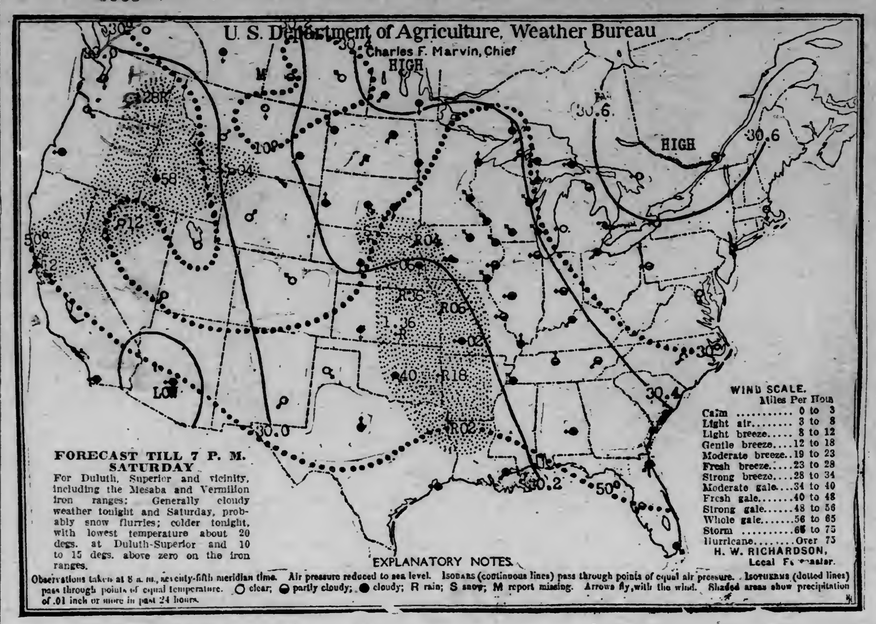

Washington, Feb. 19.—Police and deputy sheriffs were scouring the Virginia hills today for two masked robbers who raided the express car of the Seaboard Air Line's Florida flyer just after it passed Alexandria, Va., last night, but got only an empty safe for their risk.

The two robbers boarded the express car as the train stopped at Alexandria station almost within sight of the Washington monument and bound and gagged the messenger in approved fashion. They rolled the safe through the door as the train was slowing for a bridge and then jumped after it. The helpless mesenger rode on and the robbery was not discovered until after the train reached Richmond three hours later.

JITNEY "PAP-POP" NOW THE LATEST.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 19.—Now the jitney motorcycle. What used to be "the "charity" seat is to be bringing 5 cents. You can glance at your insurance policy, say your prayers, close your eyes and are whisked downtown or home. The motorcycle "jit" is an express train—no stops between start and destination. The first one here today carried no sign; if you looked like a prospect you were solicited verbally. There is no standing room or strap hanging of the cycle-jit.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

COLDER

Thawing weather seems to be on hand and working hard on its allotted job. The walks are getting slushy and with the wet ice underfoot one may well think of the advice to Jack Dalton to "have a care." Curling at the rink is no longer sport; it has become hard work, and about the only ones who are still at it are members of rinks that are playing off in events yet to be settled.

A year ago today was cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:06 and will set this evening at 5:38, giving ten hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson make the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature is colder over Manitoba, Southeastern Saskatchewan, North Dakota, and the greater portion of the Rocky Mountain region and the Southwest. Warmer weather prevails over Eastern Canada and the lower Mississippi Valley. Rain or snow fell during Thursday or last night over Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Northern Louisiana, Northern California, Nevada, Idaho, Eastern Washington and Northwestern Wyoming. Heavy rain fell at Wichita, Kan."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; slightly colder tonight.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, probably unsettled in south portion; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday, probably rain or snow; colder in northwest portion tonight.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

South Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; colder in east portion tonight.

Montana—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, probably rain or snow west of the divide.

Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Saturday; slightly colder in extreme west portion.

SUPPLY MEASURES BEFORE THE SENATE

Ship Purchase Bill Will Be in Conference Until Feb. 27.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The senate today began consideration of the appropriation bills, the government ship purchase bill having gone to conference, there to remain until Feb. 27.

In the meantime, in accordance with the agreement between the senate Democratic leaders and the Republicans, the big supply measures are to be taken up and pressed to passage in order to avoid an extra session of congress.

The fight over a cloture rule which grew out of the ship bill contest was summarily put aside and Chairman Overman of the rules committee introduced a resolution for six senators to consider a revision of the rules of the senate as to cloture and other changes.

Senator Martine called up the legislative, executive and judiciary appropriation bill and the senate got under way for speedy action on the other supply measure.

ITALIAN PREMIER REFERS TO THE WAR.

Rome, Feb. 19.—Indirect allusion to the international situation was made by Premier Salandra in an address yesterday before the chamber of deputies in commemoration of the victims of the recent earthquake. "We kept intact," he said, "our undaunted faith in the immortal fatherland, which today, more than ever, asks from her sons the profound conviction that her fate is not comprised in the narrow circle of present interest or even the life of one generation, but includes and connects those who were with those who will be, in all our memories of the past and in all our hopes and ideals for the future." The premier's address was loudly applauded by the members of the chamber.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in February and March or Face May Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish it to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all Summer unless removed. Now is the time to use othine—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by Boyce drug store or any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

CAPLAN WILLING TO STAND TRIAL

Alleged Dynamiter, Arrested Near Seattle, Will Go to Los Angeles.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 19.—David Caplan, last of the men wanted at Los Angeles, Cal., in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times in the fall of 1910, was arrested last night on his chicken ranch two miles inland from Rolling Bay, Bainbridge Island, twelve miles from Seattle.

Caplan, according to Walter R. Thayer, manager of the Seattle branch of the Burns detective agency, admitted his identity and expressed a willingness to return to Los Angeles for trial. He was taken to Port Orchard, county seat of Kitsap county, where he was placed in jail under an armed guard.

For two years he had been living under the name of Frank Moller on a small chicken ranch back of Rolling Bay. He also conducted a barber shop in Rolling Bay. He was found, Thayer said, through information gathered by William J. Burns after the arrest of Schmidt last Saturday in New York.

TWO STRINGS OF VIOLIN BROKEN

How French Violinist Notified His Bride of His Death.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Feb. 5.—This story is going the round of the French papers:

One of the most distinguished violinists of France, who was married only one month before the beginning of the war, said to his bride on leaving for the front that if any misfortune happened to him, he would arrange to let her know it in advance of the official notification.

Weeks and months went by, without any bad news, and the bride almost had forgotten the singular statement made by her husband in the emotion of separation, when on Sunday morning, Jan. 24, she felt an irresistible desire to play a certain melody that her husband Remi was particularly fond of. She opened the case, took out the violin and all color left her cheeks. Two of the strings were broken, the "ri" and the "mi." "I understand," she stammered and staggered to a chair. The following day, toward noon, an official from the war department came to inform her that the Sergeant Remi had died upon the field of honor.

IRONWOOD CITY TEAM DEFEATS ASHLAND FIVE.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ironwood basket ball team easily defeated the Ashland naval militia here Wednesday night, 53 to 11.

Ironwood's team work was exceptionally good, and the ease in which their forwards made baskets from any and all positions on the floor was the feature of the evening. The players at guard and center positions played a wonderful guarding game, clinging to their man as though they were a part of him.

The Ashland team put up a scrappy game.

Following is the list of games played by Ironwood up-to-date and their scores: Ironwood 12, Wakefield 19; Ironwood 29, Odanah 13; Ironwood 49; Ashland Union club 13; Ironwood 29, Wakefield 24; Ironwood 53, Ashland Naval Militia 11.

OBJECT TO REPEAL OF THE MULCT LAW.

Davenport, Iowa, Feb. 19.—The Davenport city council last night petitioned Governor George Clarke to veto the bill repealing the mulct law because it will increase taxes. Mayor Alfred C. Mueller was sent to Des Moines to present the resolution in person.

GARRISON ASKS FOR GREATER RANGE GUNS.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Guns of greater range and power than any that could be arrayed against them, were asked for American coast defenses in a report of the army board submitted by Secretary Garrison and made public yesterday by the house publications committee. The board advised that the old type 12-inch guns and mortars "are not equal in range and power to major-caliber guns afloat."

Mr. Garrison recommended the immediate improvement of some of the coast defenses so that the range of the old 12-inch guns could be increased to 20,000 yards and the board suggested that wherever it was necessary to construct new works the larger guns should be 16-inch, 45-caliber weapons.

STUDY AND EXERCISE

Study does not hurt a child unless the study time is taken from time that should be spent in out-of-door exercise.

Overstudy and lack of exercise make thin, bloodless children. It is a combination that provokes St. Vitus' dance.

If your child is thin and pale, listless, inattentive, has a fickle appetite and is unable to stand still or sit still, you must remember that health is even more important than education.

See to it at once that the patient does not overstudy, gets at least two hours out-of-door exercise every day, sleeps ten hours out of every twenty-four and take a non-alcoholic tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills until the color returns to cheeks and lips and the appetite becomes normal.

For growing children who become pale and thin Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not only safe but in great majority of cases they are the very best tonic that can be taken. They build up the blood and strengthen the nerves and assist nature in keeping pace with rapid growth.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., will send you two books on the blood and nerves if you mention this paper. If your child is very young ask for the booklet "The Care of the Baby." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Baby's Happiness Depends on Health

Cross, fretful babies usually need a laxative to make them comfortable, and comfort begets happiness. Constipation is the cause of much discomfort. Mothers should watch closely the condition of their children's bowels and see that they are regular.

A mild, pleasant tasting laxative such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is ideal for children because of its natural composition and gentle action, and because it contains no opiate, narcotic or other harmful habit-forming drug. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists everywhere. A teaspoonful at bedtime will bring easy, certain relief.

A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CASH STOLEN IS MADE GOOD

Amount Taken From Brainerd City Treasurer Has Been Paid to City.

Various Recommendations About Keeping Accounts Are Now Proposed.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A committee of aldermen, reporting on the public examiner's report of examination of city clerks' books for the last six years, finds that the amount in the hands of the city clerk at the time of the robbery on June 29 last has been paid into the city treasury.

It is recommended that at the beginning of the fiscal year a new system of bookkeeping be adopted along the lines indicated by the examiner.

Librarian and city treasurer are to check up the library account.

The matter of recovery from the county of penalty and interest on special assessments paid delinquent has been under consideration by the finance committee. It is recommended that the county auditor's tax rolls should be checked up for the last six years, and an auxiliary ledger should be kept for the special assessments with one account for each special improvement; cash balances of the city treasurer and secretary of the water and light board should reconcile each month.

BEMIDJI COURT NOTES.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a deliberation of but three hours the district court jury in the case of L. E. Ophelm and Carl Espeseth against Lars Quam, involving the payment of a merchandise account, brought in a verdict favoring the defendants.

The damage suit of Lars E. Nelson of Thorhult, who is suing Swan S. Larson and Charles W. Peters for $5,000 because of an assault, was taken up.

ROAD LAW AUTHOR TO ADVOCATE LAW

Former State Senator Elwell to Speak at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former State Senator James T. Elwell will come here on Tuesday evening, Feb. 23, to discuss the Elwell road law, in the chamber of commerce rooms. Crow Wing county has not a mile built under the Elwell law, and yet whenever the Elwell law is mentioned, there are a few persons who make it a point to raise their opposition. Three years ago an attempt was made to build under the Elwell law and this opposition was made apparent. When the Elwell road law was talked of for building a road in the west end of the county, it is expected that the road work will be commenced and prosecuted to a successful finish.

The chamber of commerce took a stand in favor of the Elwell law and sent down a delegate to the legislature, C. A. Allbright, who argued against the repeal of the Elwell law.

HOSPITAL FOR THIEF RIVER FALLS

Physicians' Hospital Incorporated to Erect Suitable Building.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thief River Falls is assured of a first-class, modern hospital, if the plans of the Physicians' Hospital company materialize. It is the intention to commence active work on the construction of a hospital building as soon as the weather permits.

The company is capitalized at $25,000, divided into 250 shares of common stock and of the par value of $100 per share. This capital stock is to be fully paid in in cash or its equivalent.

The Incorporators.

The incorporators are J. E. Douglas, O. F. Mellby, H. W. Froelich, F. H. Gambell and H. G. Heiber, all prominent physicians and surgeons of this city.

The officers are J. E. Douglas, president; O. F. Mellby, vice president; H. W. Froelich, secretary; F. H. Gambell, treasurer; H. G. Hieber, director. The first meeting of the corporation will be held on Tuesday, March 2, 1915, at which time other matters of business, pertaining to the future plans of the company will come up for consideration. The highest amount of indebtedness allowed by the articles is $25,000.

PENNINGTON COUNTY WILL RAISE TUBERS.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The potato raising campaign of the past week which has been conducted throughout Pennington county promises to put this district on the map for potato culture. As an outcome of this campaign one or more potato warehouses will be erected in this city during the coming summer.

WALKER WILL VOTE ON SALOON LICENSE.

Walker, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—From all reports there promises to be a number of candidates in the field for different offices at the village election.

Harry W. Bright is a candidate for re-election as recorder, while Fobert Oliver and J. S. Scribner will also run for the same position. The question of saloon license or no saloon license will be voted upon, a petition having been presented to the recorder.

WESTERN TRAIL MEETING.

Gathering at Montevideo to Discuss Building Coast Highway.

Montevideo, Minn., Feb. 19.—The annual meeting of the Yellowstone Trail association opened here yesterday with representatives present from Washington, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, all reporting enthusiasm along the entire route.

In his annual address, President J. W. Parmley advocated the extension of the trail from the Twin Cities to the Atlantic coast. The western extension, from Yellowstone Park to Bozeman, Butte, Missoula, Kalispell, Spokane and Seattle, was favored in a general discussion by western representatives, but action was deferred until later.

George R. Metlin, the Montana state highway engineer; Fred Fetwell, secretary of the Seattle Automobile club; A. L. Love of Bozeman, and H. A. Way of Livingston made addresses favoring the route selected by the committee appointed at the last meeting, at Hunter's Hot Springs.

Messages were read from Congressman Charles H. Burke and Senator Thomas Sterling predicting the passage of the Indian appropriation bill for building the trail through the Standing Rock reservation. A banquet was tendered last night by the Commercial club, and moving pictures and lantern slides showing the trail from the Twin Cities to Seattle were shown by Messrs. Parmley, Metling, Peterson, Love, Kenlston and others.

The meeting is expected to result in the extension of the trail from coast to coast.

HOUGHTON CHURCH ORDERS BILLIARD TABLE

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 19.—Rev. Dr. A. J. Rezek, pastor of St. Ignatius' church, Houghton, has placed an order for a carom table and a pocket billiard table to be placed in the parish hall in the basement of the St. Ignatius school. The equipment will be delivered at once and will become a part of the social activity that the new hall is fostering in the parish.

NATIONAL SECRETARY TALKS.

Addresses North Dakota Hardware Dealers at Fargo Meeting.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Hardware Dealers association will conclude its nineteenth annual session here late this afternoon.

An executive session was held this afternoon, of which the address by National Secretary Corey was the feature. He took up a number of phases of the work of the national organization, showing the benefits to the dealers of the trades relations committee of the price service and of the different bureaus. His remarks aroused an extended discussion and comment.

The standing committee appointed Wednesday made a report and the question box was opened. Late this afternoon the annual election of officers will be held and the new board of directors will immediately meet to plan the work for the coming year.

NEW FARGO CHURCH.

Christian Scientists Will Dedicate Their New Fargo Edifice.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—With their new $20,000 place of worship and every cent of its cost already paid in advance, the formal opening of the new Christian Science church in this city will be held this evening. George Shaw Cook, one of the leading lecturers of the national organization, will be the chief speaker. The edifice is located at the corner of First avenue and Ninth street south and is of the conventional design of the churches of that organization, with a mammoth dome and the entire building finished in white.

HAYWARD FAMILY STRICKEN.

One Child Dead, Another Dying and Two Others Seriously Ill.

Hayward, Wis., Feb. 19.—The 7-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Robert J. Barnes of this place is dead, the 2-year-old daughter is on the verge of death and two other children are seriously ill.

The real cause does not seem to be known. During the past several weeks they contracted a peculiar disease and although it appears to be cerebral spinal meningitis, the nature of their illness seems to be somewhat different than that of the above mentioned disease. An expert on children's diseases was summoned from St. Paul to diagnose the trouble, but he was unable to ascertain truthfully the strange illness, which threatens the two of the minister's children and probably the other two members of his family.

MILITIA INSPECTION.

Dates When North Dakota National Guard Will Be Examined.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 19.—General orders No. 4, issued by T. T. Tharalson from the adjutant general's office, provides for the annual inspection of the North Dakota National Guard by the officer named and on the dates specified in the following schedule:

Regular headquarters and Company C, Grafton, March 12.
M. G. company, Grand Forks, March 13.
Company L, Hillsboro, March 15.
Company B, Fargo, March 15.
Band, medical corps and hospital corps, Lisbon, March 17.
Company I, Wahpeton, March 18.
Company G, Valley City, March 19.
Company H, Jamestown, March 20.
Company A, Bismarck, March 22.
Company F, Mandan, March 23.
Company K, Dickinson, March 24.
State headquarters and storehouse, Bismarck, March 25.

Unless otherwise specified, the inspection of organizations will be held at 8 o'clock p. m.

WISCONSIN TUBERS TO CALIFORNIA FOR SEED.

Hayward, Wis., Feb. 19.—The biggest order of Sawyer county potatoes ever taken by an outside buyer has been loaded by a local dealer for California purchasers. The shipment was more than 500 bushels. The shipment will be used for seed.

PALMS MINE OPENING AFTER LONG SHUTDOWN

Bessemer, Mich., Feb. 19.—The Palms mine, operated by the Schlessinger syndicate, is now taking on men daily and by another month, as room is made underground, will have 1,000 men employed. This mine has been idle now for over ten years and for the last two years a new concrete shaft has been in course of completion to the deeper ore body located by drilling. When once in full mining order this mine will count among the heaviest producers on the Gogebic range.

CALMLY AWAITS DEATH WITH BROKEN BACK.

Escanaba, Mich., Feb. 19.—After lying with a broken back at a local hospital for two weeks, awaiting his end, Lyle Bergeon, 21 years old, of Ford River, passed away. The young man was the victim of a "woodslide" while working on a big pile of wood at Ford River and though his injuries were not at first thought serious an X-ray examination showed his backbone to be severed. He was told it was impossible for him to live. Knowing his condition the young man calmly and without fear watched the approach of the inevitable. And while his young wife and other members of his family knelt about his bed he passed away.

BIG WHITE PINE MILL NOW SAWING.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 19.—The sawmill which has been built at White Pine by James E. McGrath is now under operation. It began sawing Feb. 15 and will run night and day until the end of the sawing season.

The mill has a capacity of about 70,000 feet per day, and, although the greater portion of the timber to be cut is white pine, yet this mill is especially constructed so as to manufacture railroad material, such as car stock, switch ties, railroad timbers and ties.

The timber to supply this mill with will last for about six years and the logs will be hauled by rail and teams to White Pine.

The mill is one of the largest between Duluth and Minneapolis and by far the largest in Aitkin county.

N. P. GROSS EARNINGS LESS FOR SIX MONTHS.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 19.—The Northern Pacific railway has reported to the Minnesota tax commission gross earnings of $9,260,903 for the last six months of 1914. The tax for this period is $463,045. The earnings of this road for this period decreased $965,510 from the earnings reported for the last half of 1913.

DULUTHIANS SEEK BAUDETTE SYSTEM.

Baudette, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The F. C. Rogers company of Duluth are negotiating with the village council for the sale of the municipal lighting and power plant. The project seems to be meeting with general approval and will be taken up at the next meeting of the council and the board of trade.

LEECH LAKE PHONE LINE IS ORGANIZED.

Walker, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Leech Lake Rural Telephone company has been organized with Frank Reid president, A. E. Neilson secretary and treasurer and A. Kennedy, William McMurray and Harry Burdick directors. It is planned to extend the line in the near future to both Benedict and Walker.

CLEAR RIVER, MINN., WOMAN IS BURIED.

Warroad, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Bertha Clemens, formerly of Clear River, died at St. Luke's hospital, St. Paul, Feb. 14. Mrs. Clemens was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fish of Clear River. She had lived on a homestead in that neighborhood until about a year ago, when they moved to St. Paul. The cause of her death was blood poisoning. The remains were shipped here for burial and the funeral was held Thursday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fish. Mrs. Clemens leaves a husband and five children.

TO BE TRIED AGAIN.

Damage Action Against Old Baudette Council to Be Retried.

Baudette, Minn., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the village council of 1911 have been granted a new trial in the case in which Emil B. Peterson is suing for $25,000 damages.

The trouble started over the building of the bridge between here and Spooner in which the council sued Peterson. Now Peterson is suing the council for mental anguish and imprisonment of a few days due to this suit. A year ago Peterson was awarded a verdict of $2,000.

J. U. William, George D. Arnold, E. Riley, George B. Partridge and J. A. C. Lindsey are the defendants. The trial comes up next week in Bemidji.

Rainy River Partly Open.

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 19.—The river opened up between here and Ranier Wednesday and the Neffew boat line immediately established ferry service.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Chippewa Falls—Reuben Lee, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lee of Colfax, Wis., died from injuries sustained last Sunday while taking part in a local ski tournament in that village. Young Lee came down off the ski slide and fell at the take-off landing on his head, causing concussion of the brain. He was unconscious until death.

Argyle—More than 100 farm renters, with their stock on one farm and their supply of grain, waiting to be hauled from another, are in a troublesome situation, due to the quarantine law, which still affects Lafayette county and prohibits the moving of stock, grain and hay, from one farm to another. All farm sales have been canceled.

FACES AS FAIR AS AN ORCHID

Are Possible When Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Used After Meals to Clean Up Skin Eruptions and Discolorations.

When a face is covered with blotches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads, etc., Stuart's Calcium Wafers will act like some magical charm. However, there is nothing magical about them. They are nature's own way of cleansing the human blood and preventing it from filling the surface of the body—the skin—with pimples and little skin eruptions.

"With a Face as Fair as a Day in June."

The abolishing of all skin disorders must begin with the blood. Lotions, salves, cosmetics, etc., will do no material good. The trouble comes from within and there the remedy must be applied.

If you really desire quick action and at the same time a common sense, natural, harmless blood purifier, then Stuart's Calcium Wafers is this remedy.

The correct and best blood purifier known to science is—Calcium Sulphide. This great cleanser is contained in proper quantities in Stuart's Calcium Wafers and that is why all blood troubles and skin blemishes rapidly disappear after their use.

An unsightly and pimply face due to impure blood is one of the most disgusting sights one can see, and yet all about us, upon the streets, in the theater, when traveling, etc., we see these horrible results.

There is no need for this condition if you will take Stuart's Calcium Wafers daily and keep all salves, lotions, cosmetics and other harmful preparations from clogging the pores.

Every first-class druggist in this country carries Stuart's Calcium Wafers, which are pleasant to take, harmless, and may be obtained for 50 cents a box. A small sample package will be mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If Cross, Feverish or Bilious Give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never falls to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrup. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

WOMAN COULD NOT SIT UP

Now Does Her Own Work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

Ironton, Ohio.—"I am enjoying better health now than I have for twelve years. When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could not sit up. I had female troubles and was very nervous. I used the remedies a year and I can do my work and for the last eight months I have worked for other women, too. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for I know I never would have been as well if I had not taken it and I recommend it to suffering women."

Daughter Helped Also.

"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and could not sleep nights. Now she looks so healthy that even the doctor speaks of it. You can publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. RENA BOWMAN, 161 S. 10th Street, Ironton, Ohio.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

YOUNG M'GRAW TO RECEIVE TRYOUT

Duluth Corner-Lotter to Report to Superior Ball Club.

Young "Muggsy" McGraw, brother of Frank McGraw, is going to receive a tryout with the Superior team this coming spring. The kid has been performing on the local lots for the last few years and has played with some of the crack teams of the city. Like Frank, the youngster stands up to the plate like a big leaguer and has won local fame as a hard and consistent hitter.

It is stated that had Eddie Wheeler remained in charge of the Grand Forks team he would have tried out young McGraw the coming season. Now the management of the Superior team has promised "Muggs" a trial, and the kid may win a permanent berth in the outfield.

Young McGraw has faced all of the professional pitchers of the range and nearby teams. His batting against former leaguers has led his teammates to predict that the kid would accumulate a respectable swat average his first year out in professional company. Manager Mitchell of the Woodlands, the team McGraw played with last season, is of the opinion that the kid outfielder is one of the most promising ball players ever developed here.

WILLING TO MATCH TEMPLE AGAINST BROWN.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

"Thanks for the nice boost of Ray Temple. Your view of Temple is just and fair and does not give him anything he does not deserve. Let me say that Temple today is in the best condition of his career, is stronger, faster and a much harder hitter than he ever was. Ray has taken the best of care of himself for the past year, does not drink or smoke and keeps good hours. His last two fights have merely been tryouts for him. I have watched him closely the last year and want to assure you that Temple has come back.

"After he beat Tillman we wanted to match him with Pal Brown. We are willing to bet that he will beat Brown and make the contest winner take all. We are willing to match Ray with the very best and really think Temple in his present shape can beat any of them. Again thanking you for the nice boost given a boxer whom many of the followers of the game class as one of the very greatest, I remain,

"JACK FLYNN,
"Manager of Ray Temple."

BEMIDJI BEATS DULUTH ROTARIANS

Takes First of Two Basket Ball Contests in Fast Game.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 19.—Bemidji walked on the Duluth Rotary club basket ball team last night in one of the fastest and roughest games played here this season. The score was 29 to 18.

Miller, forward of the Bemidji team, made one of the most sensational plays ever witnessed here when he shot a basket from the center of the floor. In addition Miller made three other field baskets. Brandon the other forward of the local five, got six field baskets. Peck also got one basket for the home team.

Johnson, center for the Duluth five, played the best game for the Head of the Lakes quint. He scored three baskets. The teams will meet again tonight. The lineup of the visiting players was as follows: Zenane, right forward; R. Bradley, left forward; Johnson, center; B. Bradley, guard; Solheim, guard. Harris, captain, played for Zenane in the second half.

Association Meeting.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—The schedule meeting of the American association will be held in Chicago next Sunday, President Chivington has announced.

DAVIDSON SAYS BOSTON NEGRO IS BEST FIGHTER

"Sam Langford is the greatest pugilist in the world today, and it is a shame the way he is being prevented from fighting Johnson," said Harley Davidson.

"I have seen Langford in some of his greatest fights. There is no one in the business today like the squat Boston negro. Sam can hook or jab or swing with his left and the blows carry ring slumber with a six-inch drive. His right is a terrible weapon.

"At Los Angeles I sat at the ringside when Langford fought Harry Wills. This Wills one is a powerful black, standing over six feet and a real fighter. In the first round Langford ran right into a right. He was down twice for the count of nine.

"From that point on the Boston man gave a remarkable exhibition of gameness, generalship and hitting power. Along in the sixteenth round, I think it was, Langford feinted Wills wide open and then drove his right into the mid section. Wills sagged and then, quick as a flash the stubby negro shot over a left hook and it was all over.

"I saw Langford crush Jim Flynn and also saw him fight several times in the East. It is my opinion that Langford could beat Johnson today and could have beaten him any time in the last five years. As for Willard, it is my opinion that the short black would annihilate the lengthy cowpuncher.

"Fighters like Gunboat Smith, Jim Smith and Sam McVey are easy picking for Langford. Tham is obliged to play return engagements. He could beat them all and beat them quickly, but there are not enough opponents in the business to supply Langford with fights, and for that reason he has been obliged to give the fans several displays of his skill with the same opponent.

"Some critics seem of the opinion that Langford is fat and slow. This is not the case. I talked with Tham in his dressing room after his defeat of Wills, and I can assure you that the Boston negro is far from fat. Langford is huge of body and broad of beam. He can box and is the greatest hitter since Bob Fitzsimmons. If the public desires to see Johnson disposed of, it is too bad that Langford was not chosen for the task."

OSWEGO QUINT DEFEATED BY CRACK FOND DU LAC FIVE

Wisconsin Basket Ball Team Wins First Game 26 to 24.

Swede Grimstad and Kangaroo Trot Fogarty Prove Stars.

Fond du Lac last evening on the local Y. M. C. A. floor defeated the crack Oswego basket ball team by the score of 26 to 24. The final basket was thrown a few seconds before the shrill call of the referee's whistle brought to an end one of the greatest and one of the most exciting contests that has ever been played here.

A large crowd of spectators filled the running track gallery of the big gymnasium and occupied seats on the floor space outside the playing zone. Most of the time the closeness, and the spectacular and brilliant plays had the crowd on its toes, rooting and yelling like Comanches.

There was little to choose between the two teams. At the start it looked as though the Eastern aggregation was going to play the Wisconsin villagers off their feet. But after the Oswego boys had run the score up to 8 to 2, Fond du Lac struck its stride. Big Hawkins got warmed up and the Westerners got together and gave a sterling exhibition of team play.

The Kangaroo Lope.

Fogarty of the Fond du Lac team had a kangaroo lope and a one-handed dribble that was both unique, amazing and humorous. The playing of this individual was the feature of his team. His passing, floor covering and shooting kept the Fond du Lac crowd in the game and also kept a majority of the rooters screaming their heads off.

Swede Grimstad eloquently upheld his reputation as one of the greatest basket ball players in the world. The playing of the Oswego center was one of the features of the evening. Grimstad was the pivot around which the offense and defense of his team swung, and he was in the game every minute of play.

Contest Is Fast.

Right from the initial whistle the contest speeded up. After Oswego had run up what appeared so early in the game as a rather commanding lead, the Wisconsin quint got exceedingly busy and speedily tied the score. The throwing of Fogarty played a prominent part in the spurt of his team, and before the whistle for half time was blown the Fond du Lacs had passed the Oswegoites and held the lead at 14 to 10.

Led by the dashing and ubiquitous Nolls, Oswego staged a scintillating rally and tied up the score, 24 all, shortly before the end of the contest.

With individuals in the audience watching anxiously for the call of time, and the members of the two teams playing like whirling Dervishes, Fogarty staged another of his floor-covering stunts and camping under the basket, received a pass and shot a lightning-like basket just before the whistle ended the thrilling contest.

There was little to choose between the two teams. Grimstad towered above all others. Fogarty and Nolls also starred. But in team work and machine-like precision of play, it was a toss-up.

The second contest of the series will be staged at the Armory this evening. The third game will be played Saturday evening. As a curtain raiser to the game of Saturday the Two Harbors and Cathedral teams will clash.

Last night's line-up:

Oswego.		Fond du Lac.
Murnane, Murphy	f	Hineshel
Nolls	f	Fogarty
Grimstad	c	Hawkins
Alberding	g	Young
Roberts	g	Lepine

Field goals—Hineshel, 1; Fogarty, 7; Hawkins, 1; Young, 4; Nolls, 3; Murnane, 3; Grimstad, 2; Roberts, 2; Alberding, 2.

Free throws—Roberts, 0 out of 3.

FORMER CATCHER OF DULUTH WHITE SOX

JERRY EDMUNDS.

If the former White Sox catcher adheres to his determination to make Hibbing his future home and remain out of organized baseball, the fans of this city will suffer a grievous loss. Jerry was one of the most popular members of the Sox and one of the hardest workers. As a receiver he proved more useful than the touted Peters and classed with Myers of Winona.

WHICH TEAM DO YOU CHOOSE, ST. PAUL OR THE DULUTHS?

Ray Johns and Nick Kahler Will Bring Crack St. Paul Hockey Team Here Monday Evening to Defeat Joe Linder's Aggregation—The Great Question Is Which Team Will Win?

BY BRUCE.

One of the vaulting ambitions of Ray Johns' sweet young life is to witness a defeat of the Duluth Curling club hockey team at the husky hands of the septet he has fondly gathered together and assembled this season under the colors of the St. Paul Athletic club.

On Monday evening the third contest of the present season will be played between the Duluth and St. Paul teams. The game will be played on the curling club ice and it is expected that it will prove the chef d'ouvre, the scintillating climax of all contests played here or in the Northwest this season.

Early in the present season St. Paul came here for a practice game. At that time the Apostles were the only ones to take themselves seriously. "Wait until I get my boys going," declared Nick Kahler. "We will beat Duluth sure when Linder brings his boys down to St. Paul."

This statement, taken as leaning to the roaring side of the bombastic, was greeted with a low and chuckling reception; it seemed on the shady side of the preposterous to credit the St. Paul aggregation of youngsters with latent ability sufficient to encompass the defeat of the Linder crew, veterans of scores of hard-fought games.

But Kahler's prediction proved no empty or idle boast; on the large sheet of ice of the state fair grounds Hippodrome, in the screaming and screeching presence of nearly 5,000 spectators, the Duluth seven was chastened by an unexpected defeat of 2 to 1.

Can Duluth Retaliate?

And now, ladies and gentlemen, comes the large and looming query: "Can Duluth avenge this wholly unlooked-for defeat?"

The answer will be filed Monday evening.

Ray Johns and Uncle Nick will bring one of the most brilliant teams that has ever been assembled in this section of the Northwest. The team is young, but filled with everlasting bustle and pep and its members know not the meaning of defeat.

Against this crop of early May edlivery players Linder will hurl his winter crop of puck chasers. Experience is the watchword of success oftimes; a sentry that watches at the bastile of victory. Duluth has a team of veterans, a team like the old guard of Napoleon's historic legions—trained to the last degree of efficiency, with the very essence of discipline bred into their work.

In some details the St. Paul team excels Duluth in the matter of individual play. In the matter of speed it is believed that the flying Apostles will show the fans something to make their orbs pop wildly forth. But in the matter of team work of combination play, and concentrated attack, Duluth should show at least a shade of supremacy.

Outcome in Doubt.

The result of this game is generously clothed in the mantle of doubt. The very uncertainty, the delightful expectancy of something unlooked for, is arousing the wave of engulfing interest in the approaching game.

Before Duluth team went to St. Paul Johns and Kahler were steadfast in their predictions of a St. Paul victory; and now, as the time approaches for the return meeting on the ice of the local team, Uncle Nick and kindly Raymond remain peculiarly unperturbed and annoyingly optimistic.

The contest of Monday evening should prove a great one. St. Paul's defeat at the hands of the Ottawa team count little against it. Ottawa would have likely have defeated Duluth had it played here. The game of Monday would settle a deep score and award the mantle of supremacy to St. Paul or Duluth.

DOUBLE BILL OF HOCKEY

Universals and Big Duluths and Bagleys and Studes to Play.

A hockey game is scheduled for this evening between the Big Duluths and Universals, and another one between Central high school and the Bagleys. If the ice at the French rink is in any kind of condition the double hockey bill will be pulled.

Like the double all-star feature contest of Tuesday evening, the promised events of this evening should furnish a high class entertainment.

The Big Duluths are smarting over their defeat at the hands of the Northerns the other evening, while the Universals have just started on the upward trend and the scent of victory is in the nostrils of the flour makers.

As for the Bagleys and Central studes, the fight is a lusty one to crawl from the lowly cellar position. There is rivalry among the lower order as well as among the lofty individuals.

If the Universals can defeat the clothiers they will advance into third position. The Bagleys have not won a game this season and desire greatly to win at least one before the ides of March make playing doubtful.

The double bill will bring out some fine hockey and will also make the pretty race between the leading teams of the league more interesting. The first game will be called at 7:30 o'clock.

AGGIES NOT DISCOURAGED.

Basket Ball Tossers of North Dakota Farm School After Championship.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aggies are still in the running for the basket ball championship as a result of their defeat of Fargo college, 18 to 15. The game was played on the latter's floor. The farmers are now endeavoring to work a comeback in the next game with the state university, which will be played at Grand Forks. A victory in the second contest would help. It is a rather strange fact the team plays a superior game on foreign floors to that put up at home.

MAUSOLF AND MILLER MAY PLAY POOL MATCH.

A match game of pool between August Mausolf and Frank Miller is being planned. Since Miller's high run of 77 the other evening the followers of pocket billiards have been agitating a contest between the local sharks. Miller and Mausolf are rated as the peer of all cue men at the Head of the Lakes. There is considerable rivalry between the pair and devotees of local pool parlors are eagerly anticipating a meeting.

BRYANT HAS A BAD FALL

Davidson Wins From Local Star in Fast Skating Race.

In his half mile race against Harley Davidson at the Auditorium last evening, Frank Bryant tripped over a broken roller and fell, thus losing what seemed like sure victory, for the little local flyer was leading the world's champion at the time the accident befell him.

The contest was a thriller all the way through and had the onlookers screaching forth encouragement to Frank. The contest was skated in pursuit style, and Bryant pushed the veteran from the crack of the gun. The fall occurred right at the finish of the race and robbed Bryant of all chance to recover and make a finish.

Davidson skated in certain manner and never faltered all the way through. But Bryant showed occasional bursts of speed that gained on the veteran and that would have almost certainly won the race for him but for the unfortunate accident. The half mile was skated in 1:16.

The two skaters will meet in a mile race this evening.

HEALTH TALKS

Pathological Sleep

A CHILD falls and strikes the head. A great bump or perhaps a scalp wound is the result. There may be more or less immediate shock—paleness, faintness or loss of full realization of surroundings. But this passes away soon, and the child evinces a desire to sleep.

Is that a good or bad sign?

If the sleep is deeper than normal, or if there is twitching or jerking movement in one limb, or if the eyes are turned to one side, it is a bad sign—a sign of possible hemorrhage in the brain. If the child simply gets through crying and falls into a gentle sleep it is a good sign. It must always be remembered that apparently slight injuries to the head may be followed several hours later by such bad signs as those mentioned—delayed hemorrhage within the skull.

Chronic Bright's disease, diabetes, epilepsy, narcotic poisoning, alcoholism, apoplexy, fracture of the skull and hysteria are conditions which must be considered in any case of pathological sleep. An odor of alcohol on the breath must not be assumed to explain unconsciousness, for a drinking person may have any one of the other conditions mentioned. Mistakes of this sort have repeatedly proved fatal to the victim.

Sleep produced by hypnotic drugs must be considered pathological. There isn't a drug known which will produce sleep, but that, if pushed, will bring on fatal coma. It is pure nonsense to imagine that some drugs are harmless when used for that purpose. It is true that drugs vary in their by-effects and after-effects, yet it is none the less true that all hypnotic drugs are objectionable as sleep producers.

The one good excuse for resorting to hypnotic drugs in severe cases of insomnia is this: It is less dangerous to take certain drugs for a limited time than it is to develop the habit of sleeplessness.

Questions and Answers.

Neurasthenia: In a few words, what is the treatment for nervous prostration or neurasthenia?

REPLY.

Absolute rest (Weir Mitchell rest cure) in bed, with a trained nurse to feed and care for you—in a platonic way. Gradually increased diet, beginning with milk. Gradually increased massage, then passive movements. Isolation from family, friends and ordinary environment. Change of scene.

* * *

Hair Food: Is there any good hair food or tonic for one of 28 years whose hair is turning gray?

REPLY.

Food cannot select certain tissues or parts to nourish or strengthen. There is no muscle food, brain food, nerve food or hair food except ordinary foods which everyone should eat. Nor can you find a nerve, brain, blood or liver tonic which strengthens any one organ or tissue particularly. We will send general suggestions upon the hair if you furnish stamped addressed envelope—but we know of nothing safe that will change the color of the hair.

Dr. Brady will answer questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of special interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

BIG SMOKE LANDS ON MEXICAN SOIL

Will Get Safe Conduct to Juarez to Land on Jess Willard.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 19.—Jack Johnson, who is to fight Jess Willard at Juarez on March 6, landed safely at Tampico yesterday, according to messages he dispatched to the promoters of the fight here.

He is expected to arrive at Juarez on Sunday. From Tampico he will probably take the Cardenas branch of the Mexican railway, which runs west to San Luis Potosi, and thence travel northward to Torreon and Juarez.

The Carranza representative here said last night that Johnson would probably be given safe conduct to the Villa lines.

CROWDING WORLD'S RECORDS AT I. B. A.

Another Mark in Five-Man Team Established and Duo Plays Well.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 19.—Last night, for the second time during the International Bowling association's tournament here, a new five-man I. B. A. record was established when the Doris team of St. Paul, with a total of 3,014 points, went into first place in this event. The previous high mark of 2,916 was made by the Perolas at Peoria, Ill., last Saturday.

The score of the Doris team is within sixteen points of the world's record established at the National Bowling congress last year. Except to force each of the first five teams down one position, there were no other changes in the standing of leaders in the five-man event.

In the singles, J. Loshofsky of St. Paul went into second place with 659, and in the doubles another St. Paul team—Al Schnelzer and F. Rosafco—bowled within two points of the leading score, totaling 1,263.

RANK OUTSIDER WINS GREYHOUND DERBY.

Liverpool, Feb. 19.—Sir Thomas Dewar's Winning Number today won the Waterloo cup, the Derby for greyhounds, defeating M. G. Hale's Happy Challenge in the final round. Both the dogs in the final were rank outsiders, the betting before the first courses were run being 1,000 to 50 against each hound.

The coursing took place over the flats of the Altcar club. The winning owner received the Waterloo cup, valued at $500, given by the earl of Sefton, and a purse of $2,500.

Yankees' Practice List.

New York, Feb. 19.—The training trip schedule of the New York American league club, given out last night, provides for the playing of fourteen games, of which ten will be played in Southern cities.

The team is due to arrive at the training camp in Savannah on March 1.

Jap Has Easy Victory.

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Noji Yamada defeated George Sutton 300 to 83 in a Billiard Players' league match last night.

HIDES RIGHT NAME TO SHIELD FAMILY

Grip Thief Sentenced to Work Farm for Thirty-Day "Bit."

Refusing to reveal his right name for fear of disgracing his family, William Griffin, 33, pleaded guilty to an information charging him with grand larceny in the second degree before Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon and was sentenced to thirty days at the county and city work farm.

Griffin denied that he had given his right name. He also repudiated all other aliases which he has used, such as F. W. Shafer, S. Sampson and F. W. Barber.

The man registered at the Spalding hotel Jan. 16 under the name of Sampson. On the same day he went to the Lenox hotel, where he helped himself to a handbag belonging to M. J. Hogan. He pawned the handbag with Julius Siegel. To Siegel, he gave his name as F. W. Shafer.

ARE IN FAVOR OF SHIP BILL

Sentiment Among New York Merchants Strong for Measure.

Government Ownership Is Said to Be Striking Popular Chord.

New York, Feb. 19.—Attention of the business men of this city is largely concentrated upon the ship purchasing bill before congress and they are divided into two camps.

The large banking firms with European connections, and their clientele here are opposed to the government ownership, and with them in their views stand those who are opposed in toto to government ownership and also those who hope to operate steamships through use of government funds as subsidies and by that obtain profit for themselves.

Upon the other side stand the merchants and manufacturers who realize their dependence now upon foreign shipping whose owners and controllers are interested largely in the prosperity of other nations and not of the United States.

These interests desire ocean transportation that they can depend upon to assist the foreign trade of the United States, that will aid, not obstructed, its development; that will be regulated and controlled in operation and rates by friendly interests and they favor this effort of the government to provide the ships.

Throughout the working classes of the city, among the great masses of the people, nine out of ten favor the ship purchase measure. Without being familiar with the details of the bill, without knowing what its purposes are other than to provide an American merchant marine; without going further than they want the United States to have its own ships, the great majority of the people here are for the bill and are growing more enthusiastically for it with every day its passage is delayed.

New Haven Case Remembered.

The people of New York and New England are not so much attached to private management and private control of business affecting the interests of capital or the public since the failure of the highest class business talent in the management of the New York & New Haven railway.

Thousands of investors and small and large capitalists were so badly "stung" in that transaction that they no longer praise private management and many of them are loud spoken in their denunciation of its negligence, its selfishness and its utter disregard of the interests of others.

No Socialist that ever advocated government ownership of utilities ever struck so hard a blow at private control as did the men who were in control of the New York & New Haven railroad affairs.

No man or set of men ever did so much to promote the socialistic ideas as to public ownership as did these men who are known to be opposed to it, and yet by their action, so efficiently armed the advocates of such ownership. I find that fully nine-tenths of the business men of New York favor government control and regulation to an extent that will prohibit repetition of such indefensible management as has distinguished the methods of the New York & New Haven directors, and the Rock Island crowd, but they do not favor government ownership of railways except as a dernier resort.

The pride of the average New York business man has been severely hurt by the New York New Haven directorate's ill conduct; he feels a sense of personal humiliation which finds frequent and open expression here.

Says Business Man Is "Sore."

The men who composed that directorate he looked up to with confidence and respect, and he is sore and deeply disappointed in the results they produced.

Many times during the past sixty days the writer has heard the expression: "We looked for nothing better from the Rock Island crowd, but we did think the New York & New Haven men were above such transactions."

The renewal of the investigation of the Rock Island by the interstate commerce commission and the pressing of the indictments against the New Haven directors are expected here to cause much stir among the investors who have suffered financial loss, and it is thought will cause many personal suits to recover the losses to be entered against those responsible for the mismanagement or malfeasance.

The reports brought here by buyers as to the business conditions existing throughout the country are decidedly encouraging and have gone far to confirm the optimism already existing in business circles of the East.

The prosperity of the agriculturists of the West, the North and the center is so well marked, so definitely established, and the conditions in the South have taken such a turn for the better that every one feels that each day now marks progress to larger and better trade.

Building material men, architects and others that catch the first indications of renewal of construction activity are unanimous in their opinion that this spring and summer will develop a greater activity in building than has been known for the past four years.

In conversation with some of those who have just returned from consultations with interests in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia they stated that the last sixty days had wonderfully improved business in those states, and that many new enterprises were not only being discussed but that many had been determined upon and were already under way in the early stages of the work.

Cotton Ready to Ship.

They said that hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of cotton was awaiting ocean transportation for foreign markets; that many new trains had been added upon the railway lines of the South during the past sixty days, necessitated by the greater tonnage of freight offered, and that every one of the cotton states had recovered from the shock of the sudden check of business last autumn.

The ease of money in New York city and the demonstration of the desire of capital for good investments, as displayed in the offerings for the Pennsylvania bonds, has brought forward other railway financial offerings, and back of these has served to encourage the promoters of new railway construction enterprises.

This is especially true of the Southern states, and not less than a score of such enterprises looking to the building of lines of from forty miles to 400 miles in length are now being considered by the financial interests of the country.

To the Rescue in Blood Diseases

Just the Help Needed to Overcome Worst Troubles.

In S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is the greatest natural repair crew known. It is an antidote for germs, that once let loose, multiply so fast that a definite disease is apparent over night. And yet so powerful is the influence of S. S. Hero of Bunker Hill Brewer and Patriot.

General Putnam, who won great honor and lasting fame for masterly generalship and courage in our war of independence, owned the famous tavern "The General Wolfe," which was a favorite gathering place for patriots.

In addition to his business of "Tapping," he tilled many broad acres and conducted a brewery. In her "Stage Coach and Tavern Days" Miss Alice Morse Earle says: "The Tavern has ever played an important part in social, political and military life . . . . through all the anxious but steadfast years preceeding and during the Revolution gatherings were held in Taverns."

NOTE: Two other noted generals of the Revolution, Weedon and Sumner, also combined the business of brewing and tapping. Thos. Chittenden, first Gov. of Vermont, who did more for the independence and civic welfare of his people than any other, was a brewing tavern keeper. Capt. Steven Fay, landlord of the Catamount Tavern, had five sons at the Battle of Bennington. It was at the Catamount Tavern that Ethan Allen and other leaders of the Green Mountain Boys met after the Battle of Lexington and moved to "unite with their countrymen against the common enemy."

The Taverns were called "nurseries of Liberty" and in front of almost every one a Liberty Pole was planted.

THAT DELICIOUS TASTE OF BEER DRAWN FROM THE WOOD

Fitger Natural Beer, filtered by the Kieselguhr filter, has the wonderful natural taste and aroma of the finest beer as drawn from the wood.

The Kieselguhr filter (first of its kind in America) takes the place of pasteurization, the process used by other brewers for "keeping" bottled beer.

Pasteurization does not preserve the natural taste of beer. Kieselguhr filtration is the only known way to "keep" beer in bottles and preserve its natural taste. For this reason all brewers will in time use Kieselguhr filtration.

Kieselguhr filtration makes Fitger Natural Beer the clearest, most brilliant beer in America.

FITGER Natural Beer

"A Draught Beer in Bottles"

Pure food experts pronounce beer the purest food product made. The Fitger Brewery invites inspection by the public who will find much that is interesting, particularly our inovation the Kieselguhr filter that makes Fitger Natural Beer.

WOULD OBSERVE SPIRIT OF LENT

Dr. Hovis Urges Members to Attend Sunday Morning Service.

While most of the Protestant churches do not observe Lent, some of them are urging their members to observe the spirit of the self-denial period by attendance at regular services. Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, has issued a program for the Lenten season, and asks especially that members attend the Sunday morning service. Following is the program for Lent including Easter:

Feb. 21—"Stooping to Conquer." "He emptied himself, taking the form of a servant." Phil. 2:7.

Feb. 28—"Accuracy and Religion." "Thou shalt have a perfect and just weight, a perfect and just measure shalt thou have." Deut. 25:5.

March 7—"Paradise." "This day shalt thou be with me in paradise." St. Luke 23:43.

March 14—"The Wealth of Odd Moments." "Redeeming the time." Col. 4:5.

March 21—"The Magic Staff." "Gird up thy way." II. Kings 4:29.

March 28—"The Triumphant Christ." "Having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them." Col. 2:15.

April 4—"The Resurrection of the Body." "How are the dead raised and with what manner of body do they come?" I. Cor. 15:35.

TWO ARE AFTER WORKS DIVISION

R. E. Macfarlane Second Commission Candidate to Specify Place Desired.

Two candidates are now out for Commissioner Murchison's office as head of the division of public works.

Last night at a meeting in Axa hall, R. E. McFarlane announced that he will make the race in an effort to succeed Commissioner Murchison, whose term will expire this coming spring. Several days ago J. A. Farrell made a similar announcement at a meeting in the Polish hall.

Mr. McFarlane last night gave a short talk to a number of voters who gathered at the hall, declaring that he will make the race on a platform of business efficiency, economy, law enforcement and fair treatment to all. He will announce his campaign committee within a few days, he said.

It is expected that Commissioner Murchison will make some announcement within a few days, although it is generally understood that he will make the race to succeed himself.

London, Feb. 19.—A Reuter dispatch from Berlin says Emperor William has returned to Berlin from the East Prussian war theater for a short stay.

Tested and Proved On Ten Million Miles of Road

The Hudson Light Six-40 has been driven by private owners over 10 million miles in actual road service. Ten thousand cars of this one model are in daily use. Some have been running for over a year. At the low average of 1,000 miles per car this means over 10 million miles of test. Good evidence that your Hudson Light Six will give you thorough satisfaction. Experience is better than experiment. It is better to be sure than to be sorry.

HUDSON SIX

The Hudson sets the standard. You must see it before you decide. Come, let us show you the car and take you for a drive. You be the judge.

A Substitute for Meat

ANY expert chef will tell you that a macaroni base is the ideal substitute for meat. Creamettes is more tender than ordinary macaroni and cooks in less than one-third the time.

A package of Creamettes will give you nearly twice as much food value as a pound of beefsteak at less than one-half the cost.

Creamettes is made from the creamy parts of Durum wheat and has a rich new flavor of its own.

Try it with cheese, with ham, with bacon, with tomatoes, with chicken or with nuts.

MARKET UP ON EXPORTS

Wheat Bulges Early on Foreign Buying; Weakens at Close.

Flaxseed Weak, With Light Demand From Crushers in Evidence.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 19.—The market was weak at the close on the appearance of some realizing and liquidation. May wheat closed ¾c up and July ⅞c up. May durum closed ½c up and July ½c up.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 55¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.22@1.23; barley unchanged at from 68 to 77c and corn ⅝c off at 71c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¾c off at 67½c and July ½c off at 68½c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.46 and calls at $1.55.

Higher cables and a continuance of export inquiry led to a strong market in wheat again today. Opening quotations were 1¼c up locally in line with the other markets, and then prices sold off moderately on profit-taking. It was noted, however, that there was good underlying strength, attributable to a substantial volume of export bids in hand that were reported to be slightly under the working level. Taken on the whole, trading was the most active, with the largest execution of actual business in several weeks back.

A feature of the morning's operations was the sale by a local operator of 100,000 bu of No. 1 northern for all-rail shipment for export. It will go out from the Globe elevator.

Winnipeg showed marked strength and the putting through of a fair volume of export business for all-rail forwarding to the seaboard was advised. That development is regarded as peculiar in some quarters in view of the market there standing at around 6c over the Duluth basis. The May future at Winnipeg sold up to the highest price on the crop this morning and taking into consideration that there is practically no free wheat to back it up, its market is thought to be equally as dangerous as the Chicago May, where a similar condition exists.

Strength was also especially noted at Kansas City today with exporters taking No. 3 hard winter at 4½c over Chicago May at the Gulf. Demand for wheat was aggressive on that market throughout the day.

World's clearances for the week were liberal, amounting to 10,227,000 bu of wheat and 1,507,000 bu of corn. It is regarded as significant in view of the German blockade that four European countries should be bidding eagerly for wheat on the American markets.

May wheat opened 1¼c up at $1.55, but it stood ½c off from that mark at the noon hour. July opened 1¾c up at $1.51 and eased off ¾c. May durum opened ½c up at $1.58 and held there.

Flaxseed Trade Light.

Business in flaxseed was light, with moderate weakness still in evidence. Trades were in small lots, during the session and there were no features worthy of note.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.86, and closed unchanged off at $1.86 asked. July opened unchanged at $1.88, and closed ½c off at $1.87½ bid. September opened unchanged at $1.85¾, and closed ¾c off at $1.85 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed unchanged at $1.66¼ asked and July ¼c off at $1.68 bid.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market opened strong and excited with heavy takings and strong spot and cargoes sold at 9d advance from yesterday. Strength in American yesterday and firmness in Buenos Aires and unfavorable weather reports from Argentina, together with nervousness among shippers, caused a sharp advance. Spot market is strong, 2½@3½d higher, and cargoes strongly held with parcels at 9d advance from yesterday; millers here are taking freely. There is a growing belief here that dilatory purchases have been unwise and the United Kingdom was in the market freely.

"Corn was firm early with America, but later eased on our advices of clearing weather in Argentina. Spot demand was poor. Argentine shipments light.

In India the weather is dry and rain is wanted. Harvesting commences in a fortnight in the early districts and will become general in April if weather is favorable. The high crop promise is maintained.

Argentine weather conditions unfavorable, with heavy rain in the central districts. The quality of wheat is being damaged. Corn reports from Santa Fe are disappointing. Freights are firm, unchanged from Tuesday at 75 shillings. Argentine shipments of wheat were 3,184,000 bu against 2,376,000 bu last year; corn, 1,758,000 bu against 544,000 bu last year; oats, 3,380,000 bu against 1,010,000 bu last year.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Strong and Excited Buying in Liverpool Sends Wheat Prices Up.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Wheat prices leaped upward today, impelled by a strong and excited market at Liverpool, where the highest figures on this year's crop were being paid with no abatement in the demand. There was a general rush of speculative buying here and offerings were very scanty until a rise of 3¼c had been attained. Attention centered wholly on British efforts to circumvent the German attempt at a submarine blockade. After opening 1⅛@3¼c above last night, and fluctuating rapidly, the market here steadied at about 1½c under the top level reached.

Gossip that the advance here had checked export buying tended later to bring about a decided setback. Bears also were inclined to regard the suspension of all travel between England from the continent as ominous of interruptions to wheat traffic from America. The close was weak at ⅛c to 1c down.

Corn ascended with wheat. Buying was on a large scale, with shorts especially active in hurrying to cover. Country offerings to arrive were small, and there were reports of a big falling off in shipments from Argentina. The opening, which ranged from ¼@⅜c to ⅝@⅞c higher, was followed by additional gains and then a moderate reaction.

Inability to confirm statements regarding immense export sales yesterday led afterward to a further downturn. The close was weak at ⅝@¾c to ⅞@1c under last night.

In oats, the upward tendency of prices was met by free selling on the part of several leading concerns. Commission houses were the chief sources of demand.

Higher prices for grain helped make provisions firm. Advances were restricted, however, owing to uncertainty as to the course of the hog cholera.

NEARING NORMAL.

Steel Mills of Mahoning Valley Busy and Increase Is Expected.

Present operations in the steel mills of the Mahoning valley are reported to be now well up towards normal, and it is generally felt that production will be upon a good scale from now on.

The Hannah furnace of the Republic Iron & Steel company has been blown in, and all but three mills of that concern are operating. At Youngstown, Ohio, the puddle mills of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company are working at about normal basis, and the Youngstown Iron & Steel company has all its hot mills there in commission.

The finishing departments of the Carnegie Steel company are reported to be operating at capacity and five of its six furnaces are going.

The heaviest pay in six months was disbursed to employes by the American Sheet & Tinplate company last week. The tinplate men worked thirteen turns in two weeks for the first time since last September. The mill is operating at full capacity.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Volume of Trading in Morning Lightest for the Week.

Foreign Situation Is Principal Factor and Prices Are Irregular.

New York, Feb. 19.—Early dealings in today's stock market pointed to a continuance of the caution recently shown by professional traders. Business was light and changes in leading stocks were unimportant, though mainly upward. Baltimore & Ohio, as well as some of the equipment shares, touched their minimum prices, American Car and Foundry declining 1½ to 42. American securities were extremely dull in London, but advances exceeded losses, Canadian Pacific rising over a point.

The volume of trading this morning was the smallest of the week on the stock market, but prices continued to improve, important stocks gaining substantial fractions, while American Smelting and Lehigh Valley rose 1 and 1⅞ respectively. Mexican Petroleum was again heavy, but dull, in marked contrast to its movements of the previous day. Tennessee Copper developed sudden weakness, declining 1⅜. An official statement dealing with the company's probable dividend policy accounted for the recent heaviness of Loose-Wiles issues. Exchange on London was more steady with light offerings. Bonds were easy.

A heavier tone prevailed in the afternoon, the change coming with the announcement that the British admiralty had ordered a suspension of travel between England and the continent. Reading and other speculative issues yielded most of their advance.

The stock market was dull and irregular for the greater part of today's session. The foreign situation outweighed all other considerations.

Prices shaded again in the final hour to the accompaniment of more activity. The closing was heavy.

BIG TRAFFIC NEXT SPRING

Veteran Passenger Agent Looks for Record-Breaking Results.

Fred Lyons, Northwestern passenger agent of the Rock Island road, and one of the veteran passenger men making this territory, is at the Head of the Lakes today looking over the passenger situation.

"Few persons realize the immense passenger movement across the continent that is promised this coming spring and summer," said Mr. Lyons. "Western railroads have at the present time received reservations for tickets that promise to make the early travel heavy, and, mind, the great bulk of inquiries have not been received as yet. 'See America first' is going to be literally carried out this season. I believe that the railroads of America will carry more tourist travel this summer than in any season in years.

"Naturally there will be an impetus to the lake travel route, and it would not surprise me to realize later in the season the largest passenger traffic at this point that has come by way of the lakes in many seasons."

Mr. Lyons has been coming to Duluth for years. He was one of the prime movers in the organization of the local railroad club that flourished for a number of years, and has watched the development of this gateway for over two decades.

PATRIOTIC FILMS WILL BE SHOWN.

Three patriotic motion picture films will be shown either at the Rex or Lyric theaters on Washington's birthday, next Monday, under the auspices of the Duluth Association of Office Men.

Recently the local organization joined the Navy League of America for the purpose of promoting patriotism. At a meeting of the association two weeks ago it was announced that patriotic films would be shown here on Washington's birthday for all the school children of the city.

The pictures to be shown Monday will include scenes in the United States navy and a patriotic play, "The Birth of the Star Spangled Banner."

J. Harris Trux, president of the Duluth Association of Office Men, announced this morning that a campaign is to be waged from now on to interest school children in the early history of the nation.

ASHES IN SAFETY DEPOSIT VAULT

Body of Frank James to Be Cremated According to Last Wish.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 19.—The body of Frank James, former outlaw, who died yesterday at his home near Excelsior Springs, Mo., will be cremated in St. Louis and the ashes kept in a local safety deposit vault, relatives announced today. This was one of his last wishes, it was said.

Also at his own request there will be no religious service at the funeral, to be held on his farm tomorrow. John F. Phillips, a former Federal judge, who defended James when he was tried for murder and acquitted in Gallatin, Mo., will deliver the funeral address.

Several years ago at the funeral of Gen. Joe O. Shelby, under whom Frank James served in the Confederate ranks and whose funeral address Judge Phillp delivered, the judge promised the former bandit to officiate at his funeral.

Frank James did not explain why he preferred to have his ashes kept in a safety deposit box instead of in the cemetery at Kearney, Mo., besides the bodies of his mother and his brother, Jesse, but relatives asserted he wished to avoid the constant procession of morbid persons who visit the grave of Jesse James.

PRISON FOR LIFE FOR HARRY BOOMER

Former Grocery Clerk Pleads Guilty to Murder of Mission Worker.

Akron, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Upon a plea of guilty Harry Boomer, former grocery clerk, was today sentenced in common pleas court to life imprisonment for the murder of Miss Vinnie Becker, a mission worker. Boomer hacked the woman to death with a hatchet which was found sticking in her skull when her brother discovered the murder.

Miss Becker, who was prominent in religious and charitable work, was murdered in her brother's store. Boomer, who had formerly been employed there, confessed that he murdered the girl in order to rob the place. He asserted that being out of employment, he was temporarily insane.

OFFICIAL TEXT OF REPLY IS DELAYED

German Answer to Blockade Note Not Yet in Washington.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The official text of Germany's reply to the United States note warning against damage to American ships in the naval war zone about the British isles, had not been received at the state department today; in fact there were no advices from Ambassador Gerard that it had been delivered to him by the Berlin foreign office, although officials know from other advices that the German note has been delivered to the American ambassador and is in fact now on its way to America.

Officials explained the delay by pointing out that the ambassador has been using the cable which comes from Rome and goes over a circuitous route with numerous relays, while the unofficial information about the correspondence has been sent from Berlin to London through neutral countries and then has taken the direct cable to the United States.

When the cabinet assembled for the usual Friday meeting, formal consideration of Germany's reply which had been expected did not take place because there were no advices from Berlin before the president. On the unofficial report of the text published yesterday, however, the general situation was discussed informally and while it was admittedly the subject of concern the general interpretation of the Berlin note was that it was friendly and officials professed to be satisfied that no American ships would be destroyed by German war craft.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— BESSEMER IRON MINING COMPANY.

Know all men by these presents, That the undersigned do hereby associate themselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under and by virtue of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of the State of Minnesota of 1905, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto and do hereby adopt the following articles of incorporation:

In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Charles L. Grannis, Decedent.

The petition of Henry J. Grannis, as representative of the above named decedent, together with his final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on his bond. It is ordered, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 15th day of March, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., February 18th, 1915.

By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.
Attest: A. R. MORTON,
Clerk of Probate.
Seal, Probate Ct., St. Louis Co., Minn.
D. H., Feb. 19, 26 and March 5, 1915.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Hannah Biebesheimer and F. C. Biebesheimer, her husband, mortgagors, to Caroline A. Yale, mortgagee, which said mortgage is dated July 7th, 1913, and registered in the office of the Registrar of Titles for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on August 11th, 1913, at 5:00 o'clock P. M., as Document No. 12524 as shown on Certificate of Title No. 17162, in Volume 56, on page 213, in said Registrar of Titles office, which said mortgage was thereafter assigned by the said Caroline A. Yale to the Howard Investment Company, by instrument in writing dated December 7th, 1914, and Registered in the office of the Registrar of Titles for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, on January 13th, 1915, at 2:15 o'clock P. M. as Document No. 17346, as shown on Certificate of Title No. 17162, in Volume 56, on page 213, in said Registrar of Titles office.

Said default consists in the non-payment of Fourteen dollars ($14.00), being the semi-annual installment of interest due January 1st, 1915, by reason whereof the assignee of mortgagee has elected to exercise the option given by the terms of said mortgage to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage with all accrued interest thereon to be now due and payable.

There is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of Four hundred twenty-nine and 71-100 dollars ($429.71), principal and interest, and no action at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.

NOW THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the property herein described, situated in the County of St. Louis, Minnesota, viz:

Lots two (2), three (3) and four (4) in Block six (6), Colman's Addition to Duluth, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the office of the Sheriff in the Court House in the City of Duluth in said County and State on Monday, the first day of March, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest and Twenty-five dollars ($25.00) attorneys' fees stipulated for, by and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within one year from date of sale as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, January 15th, 1915.

THE SATURDAY HERALD

IS THE SUNDAY PAPER IN THE OUTSIDE TOWNS

The Saturday Herald is delivered bright and early Sunday morning to thousands of regular subscribers in the Copper and Iron districts of Northern Michigan.

The Saturday Herald is the favorite Sunday paper on the Iron Ranges, being delivered by our own carriers to thousands of regular subscribers.

The Saturday Herald, always 28 to 32 pages, is replete with features interesting to all members of the family. The news of neighboring towns furnished by our own correspondents, is one of the pleasing features of The Saturday Herald.

The Saturday Herald furnishes the Sunday reading for the great majority of homes in Duluth and tributary towns.

The Saturday Herald has a circulation greater by thousands than that of any other Saturday or Sunday paper in this territory.

RADICAL STEP TAKEN TO SOLVE PROBLEM OF HAZARDS OF INDUSTRY

System of State Employers' Liability Insurance Is Proposed.

Senator Jones to Introduce Bill to Create Public Sentiment.

Bill to Abolish Hospital Farm for Inebriates at Willmar.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Richard Jones of Duluth has completed his bill for a system of state employers' liability insurance, the introduction of which was predicted in these reports early in the session, and he will offer it in the house at an early date, probably Tuesday.

The chief features of the bill are these:

It provides that the state shall carry liability insurance for employes;

It broadens the workingmen's compensation act to include occupational diseases as well as accidents; and

It increases the compensation materially all along the line.

The measure proposes a radical step, and Senator Jones, while he will push the measure as far as possible, does not hope to see it become a law at this session. He believes that the system he proposes is the ultimate solution of the problem of the hazards of industry, and his introduction of the measure at this time is to bring it to public attention with a view to creating a public sentiment that will bring about its passage later.

Argument for the Bill.

While it has always been assumed that a constitutional amendment was necessary to bring about state insurance, an attempt is made through this bill to accomplish it by statute. The preamble to the bill, with this purpose in view, seeks to justify the attempt on the ground that it is an exercise of the police power of the state. The first section of the measure is virtually an argument for the bill, as follows:

"The common law system governing the remedy of workmen against employers for injuries received in extra-hazardous work is inconsistent with modern industrial conditions. There is hazard in all employments; but the

EXPECT HEARING WILL BE BRIEF

No Dispute as to Facts in Case of Wilhelmina's Cargo.

London, Feb. 20.—The case of the American steamship Wilhelmina, whose cargo of foodstuffs, bound from New York for Germany was seized by the British authorities, probably will be taken before a prize court very shortly and it is expected that the hearing will be brief.

A. G. Hays, attorney for the owners of the Wilhelmina, is of the opinion that there will be no dispute as to the main facts and that the prize court will have nothing to adjudicate beyond the international questions involved.

The British government announced yesterday it decided that the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmina should be held for the decision of the prize court.

This announcement was made by Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary. It seems to make clear the purpose of Great Britain to declare all foodstuffs for Germany contraband, as well as to foreshadow other reprisals. In his note Sir Edward Grey, after reviewing the German methods of warfare and denouncing them as absolute violations of all international usages, says:

"If, therefore, his majesty's government should hereafter feel constrained to declare foodstuffs absolute contraband, or to take other measures for interfering with German trade by way of reprisals, they confidently expect that such action will not be challenged on the part of neutral states, by appeals to laws and usages of war whose validity rests on their forming an integral part of that system of international doctrine which, as a whole, their enemy frankly boasts the intention to disregard, so long as such neutral states cannot compel the German government to abandon methods of warfare which have not, in recent history, been regarded as having the sanction of either law or humanity."

FIRST COUNTERFEIT OF "RESERVE" NOTE.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The first counterfeit of a Federal reserve note has appeared. It is a $5 note of the Dallas Federal reserve bank, printed from poorly executed etched plates, the secret service says, on two pieces of paper, with silk threads between. The note is a quarter of an inch shorter than the genuine note and, Chief Flynn says, is such a poor piece of work that it should be readily detected.

VIOLATION OF NEUTRALITY

Charge Made By Germany and Austria to State Department.

Complaint Made That Submarines Are Being Built for Britain.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Germany and Austria, through their ambassadors here, complained to the state department today that submarines were being built in the United States for Great Britain and shipped in parts to Canada.

In a statement on the subject, the German embassy said:

"The plants of the Bethlehem and the Union Iron works at San Francisco are, according to reliable information, sending the component parts of submarines, ordered by the British government, to Canada. Submarines for England are also being built at Boston and Seattle.

"The attention of the United States department of state has been drawn to these facts by the German and Austro-Hungarian embassies as being in contradiction with the laws of neutrality."

FRISCO EXPOSITION OPENED TO PUBLIC

Noisy Demonstration at Daybreak Welcomes Great Event on Pacific.

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—The Panama-Pacific International exposition opened today.

At an early hour the skies were overcast, but the threats of showers did not diminish apparently the city's enthusiasm, which broke forth at daybreak in a cacophony of sound the like of which had never before been heard in San Francisco.

For an hour, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, steam whistles, automobile sirens, church bells, street car gongs and hubbub making instruments of all kinds joined in a joyous din, awakening the city and sending its thousands toward the exposition.

The day's program called for citizens, clubs and various societies and organizations to assemble along Van Ness avenue to march to the fair grounds.

The actual opening of the exposition gates was to be signalized by a series of artillery salutes from the army posts on San Francisco bay, and at noon the program called for President Wilson to send an electric spark through the air from Washington to be received on the radio antennae swung on the exposition's Tower of Jewels, and which was to cause the doors of the exhibition palaces to open and the machinery in Machinery hall to start.

Franklin Lane, secretary of the interior, representing President Wilson; Governor Hiram W. Johnson and C. C. Moore, president of the exposition, were to be the principal speakers of the day. President Wilson was expected to forward a message of congratulation to the directors, to be read to the crowd.

Forty-one foreign nations and forty-three states and three territories of the American Union are represented at the exposition.

NEGROES ARE DRIVEN OUT

Nearly 300 Leave Missouri County on Threats of "Night Riders."

Due to Trouble With Whites Over Rentals of Land.

New Madrid, Mo., Feb. 20.—As a result of the warning of "night riders" that they must leave the district before Tuesday morning, nearly 300 negroes left New Madrid county last night and this morning. Possibly as many more are preparing to depart before the time limit expires. Thus far there has been no violence.

The negroes, most of whom are employed on farms in this county, will be severely dealt with unless they obey, the order announces. It is expected that much trouble will result. The sheriff, M. J. Conran, has asked Governor Major to send militia to help him restore order. Adjt.-Gen. O'Meara, who left Jefferson City last night, is expected today and will make an investigation of the situation which the civil authorities say has gone beyond their control.

Negroes working on the government levee at Lenda and Dorena, in Mississippi county, also have been notified to stop work and leave the county. A foreman in charge of the laborers has been notified to stop employing the blacks.

The first warning note was tied to a bundle of switches and the second

HOSPITAL CORPS TAKEN PRISONERS

Germans Capture French Outfit Near the East Prussian Frontier.

Petrograd, Feb. 20, via London.—Reports from Vilna, near the East Prussian frontier, received by the French hospital at Petrograd, tell of the capture by Germans of the French hospital corps. With the exception of Manager Richard and Dr. Kopp, who were absent from the hospital at the time, the entire corps, including Chief Surgeon Cresson, it is said, were taken prisoners.

The corps, which had been universally commended for its exceptional service, had been engaged since the beginning of the war in sending flying detachments to the front and had been almost constantly under German fire.

On a previous occasion one doctor and several nurses while bandaging wounded on the field, were surrounded by German cavalry and ordered to surrender, but a detachment of Cossacks arrived in time to effect their rescue.

GERMANS TRYING TO FLANK WARSAW FROM THE NORTH

MOVEMENT DARING ONE

Fraught With Danger Without Heavy Forces, Say Russians.

Fierce Campaign in Bukowina Continues Without Abatement.

In West, Germans Hammering Away to Gain Lost Ground.

London, Feb. 20.—German movements on the northern extremity of the eastern battle front held first place in the military situation, particularly so as Petrograd believes that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is trying to flank Warsaw from the north, a task which the Russians think is rather daring and fraught with great risks unless the German commander's forces are overwhelming.

The first rush of the Germans over the East Prussian frontier seems to have spent itself. The Germans are now reported to be locked with Russian reinforcements at many points from the Niemen river below Kovno, down to the right bank of the Lower Vistula, and military experts in London say it is difficult to visualize this position.

The campaign in the Austrian crown land of Bukowina continues with prospects of developing into a decisive battle on the banks of the River Pruth.

In Galicia the repeated violent Austrian attacks against the Russian positions in the Carpathian passes have been costly to both sides, but they have left the alignment little changed.

In the west the Germans are hammering away in an endeavor to recover

BELRIDGE WAS STRUCK BY GERMAN TORPEDO.

USE BOMBS TO SINK STEAMER

Submarine Places Explosives Aboard French Vessel Near Cherbourg.

Crew Is Removed and Steamer Sent to the Bottom.

Cherbourg, via Paris, Feb. 20.—The story of the sinking of the French steamer Ville de Lille, by a German submarine off the Barfleur lighthouse, east of Cherbourg, was told last night by the boatswain of the vessel, which was sent to the bottom Tuesday.

The submarine which sunk them, he said, was the U-16, which pursued the Ville de Lille some distance and maneuvered in such a way as to prevent her escape. Then the Germans hoisted the signal, "Stop or we fire on you," after which the steamer stopped and the submarine came alongside.

"I will give you ten minutes to leave the ship," said the German commander, according to the boatswain's story. The crew complied and took to the boats pulling toward Barfleur.

Place Two Bombs.

Meanwhile two men from the submarine went aboard the steamer and placed two bombs, one in the captain's room and the other in the forecastle. Ten minutes later there were two explosions and the ship began to sink stern first. The captain and crew wept as they saw their ship go down.

After the bombs had been placed aboard the Ville de Lille the submarine stopped a Dutch ship which was allowed to proceed after the Germans satisfied themselves there was no contraband aboard.

The submarine then returned to the French boats when it was seen what desperate efforts the sailors were making to row to the coast and took them in tow until the Barfleur light was in sight.

The captain of the steamer did not have time to dress fully before he left his ship and injured his chin in clambering into the boat. The German commander, observing the captain's injury, took him aboard the submarine and gave him first aid treatment.

The Germans also supplied the master of the steamer with a fine pair of sea boots, as he had been compelled to leave his own behind.

FULL SPEED IN DARKNESS

British Liner Lusitania Dodges Under Cover of Night.

Ambassador Gerard's Secretary Tells of Incident in Berlin.

New York, Feb. 20.—The British liner Lusitania reached New York today from Liverpool, having made the trip, her officers said, without finding it necessary to hoist the United States flag. On the outward voyage the liner sailed under the Stars and Stripes while in the Irish sea.

Fear of the German submarines kept the big vessel at anchor in the Mersey for nearly five hours after she left her dock, until an hour or more after nightfall, according to passengers. The ship's officers said they were waiting for favorable tides. The wait lasted from 2:58 o'clock in the afternoon till 7:47 o'clock in the evening. Then the Lusitania proceeded at full speed down the channel in the darkness.

Rough weather prevailed during the entire voyage across the Atlantic and the vessel averaged only a little over twenty knots.

Brought Pilot Across.

Once clear of the Mersey, the Lusitania did not stop till she reached New York, but carried her Liverpool pilot, James Durant, across the Atlantic and landed him here. He probably will return on the same ship. According to Capt. Dow, rough weather prevented the pilot from leaving the ship.

Among the passengers was H. R. Irvington Pyne, private secretary to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin. Mr. Pyne confirmed in detail the cable report concerning the incident in a Berlin

HEAVY FIRE DIRECTED ON BOTH SIDES

Forts on European Side Apparently Silenced By Bombardment.

Ships Fire First at Long Range and Then Close in.

Battle Resumed Second Day With Aircraft Assisting.

FORTS DESTROYED.

Athens, Feb. 20, via London.—It is reported here that the Anglo-French fleet destroyed Turkish forts on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles during the bombardment this morning. The forts on the European side subsequently were attacked and are still firing.

A powder magazine on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles exploded during the bombardment by the allied fleets. The forts replied in a lively manner to the fire of the warships, but without success.

London, Feb. 20.—The British and French fleets, it was officially announced here today, bombarded the forts of the Dardanelles on Friday with considerable effect. The bombardment of the Dardanelles was renewed this morning, the announcement added, with seaplanes and aeroplanes co-operating.

The text of the official announcement issued this afternoon by the British admiralty says:

"Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock a British fleet of battleships and battle cruisers, accompanied by flotillas and aided by a strong French squadron, the whole under the command of Vice Admiral Carden, began an attack upon the forts at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

"The forts at Cape Helles and Kum Kale were bombarded with a deliberate long range fire. Considerable effect was pronounced on two of the forts. Two others were frequently hit, but being open earthworks, it was difficult to estimate the damage. The forts being outranged, were unable to reply to our fire.

At Closer Range.

"At 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon, a portion of the battleship force was ordered to close in and engage the forts at closer range with their secondary armament.

"The forts on both sides of the entrance then opened fire and were engaged at moderate ranges by the Vengeance, Cornwallis, Triumph, Suffren and Vouvet, supported by the Inflexible and the Agamemnon at long range.

"The forts on the European side

STEAMER HITS A MINE AND SINKS

Norwegian Boat Goes to Bottom But Crew Is Saved.

Nakskov, Denmark, Feb. 20, via London—The Norwegian steamer Bjarka struck a mine at 8 o'clock this morning and sank. Her crew was saved.

This is the second disaster to Norwegian vessels since the German blockade took effect.

The Bjarka, laden with coal, was on her way from Leith to Nakskov.

DULUTH AUTO SHOW, FEB. 22-27.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

In an attempt to force the Dardanelles, the gate to Constantinople, French and British warships began a bombardment of the Turkish fortifications yesterday which is being continued today. Aeroplanes are co-operating with the warships in the attacks which had "considerable effect."

The second Norwegian steamer to meet disaster in the naval war zone established by Germany has gone to the bottom of the North sea. Her crew was rescued.

Fighting in France and Belgium apparently is increasing in severity, but without important results in any case, although the Germans claim the capture of two towns in the Vosges.

A new attack has been begun by the Russians on the fortified Galician city of Przemysl, whose resistance of the besiegers month after month has been one of the striking features of the campaign in the east. The Russians are reported to have brought up new heavy guns for the assault. Elsewhere in Galicia, according to unofficial advices, the Russians have gained a measure of success, especially near Dukla pass, where the Austrians are said to have suffered heavy losses in the last few days.

From English sources it is reported that the Russians have formed a line along the Pruth river in Bukowina, and that a new battle is developing. This conflicts with recent statements that the Austrians had succeeded in clearing all of Bukowina of the Russians.

In Northern Poland, so far as German accounts of the fighting show, the German pursuit of the Russians continues and has resulted in the winning of several Polish cities and towns. London believes, however, that the first rush of the Germans into hostile territory, after expelling the Russians from East Prussia, has been stayed.

The situation in the west is as devoid of important changes as has been the case week after week, since the battle of Soissons. A Berlin military critic writes that in the west the Germans must abandon their bold warfare for a time and restrain themselves to "a steady holding on."

BEACH MAY OPEN JULY 15

City Will Begin Work Improving Fairmont Park Next Month.

Within the next month Park Manager Cleveland plans to begin work on the new Fairmont park addition and by the middle of July, he said this morning, a bathing beach will be ready for the public, with the use of about 100 dressing rooms.

"Of course, we won't have all the buildings finished by next summer, as we have no funds for such extensive improvements," said Mr. Cleveland this morning, "but the beach will be all ready for bathing, while 100 rooms will be provided. At least $25,000 is needed for the entire job and there is no money on hand at the present time for such a program. However, within a year I expect to have the park completed, with all the buildings, lagoons and grounds prepared and ready for the public."

Mr. Cleveland plans to start active work just as soon as the ice is out of the river and the frost out of the ground. The ground along the shore will be dredged and prepared for a sand beach the first thing and then will come the clearing and improving of the land, a great part of which is swampy.

Just as soon as the grounds and beach are improved, work will begin on a temporary bath house for use this coming summer, he said.

ATTEND ONE OF "BEST" MEETINGS

Duluth and Vicinity Well Represented at St. Louis County Club.

Duluth was well represented at the annual meeting of the St. Louis County club held yesterday at Virginia. Not only was the city proper represented, but delegates from the Schultz Lake club, the Lakewood club, the Normanna club and the Jackson Farmers' club were present in force. All returned this morning. L. B. Arnold of the Duluth & Iron Range land department took quite a number in a private car.

George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, said this morning that the gathering was one of the very best he has ever attended and was by far the best that the St. Louis County club has yet held. Virginians, said Mr. McCarthy, treated the visitors excellently and gave them fine entertainment. Those who attended from this part of the county were as follows:

Duluth—L. B. Arnold, E. K. Coe, A. B. Hostetter, H. G. Larsen, Fred Ward, Mark J. Thompson, George P. Grout, C. E. Roe and George D. McCarthy.

Carlton—H. A. Pflughoeft, agricultural agent for Carlton county.

St. Paul—Fred Sherman, state immigration commissioner.

Schultz Lake club—Frank La Bud, Ignac Karalus and Joseph Lepak.

Normanna club—Fred B. Sherman and A. Salem.

Lakewood club—Christ Hendricksen, O. B. Olsen of Rice Lake and James Nolan.

Jackson Farmers' club—Ole L. Larsen, P. A. Paulsen and Victor Larsen.

FEW TAKE U. S. TESTS.

Uncle Sam Unable to Get Young Men as Stenographers.

Despite the urgent appeals of the Federal government for stenographers and typists, only three applicants reported today to take the civil service examinations at the Federal building. The civil service department announced some time ago that a great many positions, especially at Washington, D. C., were open. Young men are urged to enter the service. Only one man took the examinations today.

"Another examination will be given next Tuesday," said E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry division, who is conducting the examination, "and at that time we hope to get a much larger number. The government is offering good inducements to young men entering the service with a reasonable show of advancement."

"DADS" WILL BE GUESTS OF THEIR SONS AT ANNUAL BANQUET

IRVING GROVER.

RUSSELL DUNCAN.

"Dads" and their sons will hold the second annual "father and son" banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening, beginning at 6:30. Fathers of all members of the boys' department of the institution have been invited to attend, and the dinner is expected to be very successful.

Last year at this time, when the first "father and son" dinner was given, the big banquet hall was crowded with proud parents and happy sons. In addition to a short program of toasts, arranged for the evening, there will be moving pictures and a short musical program.

Irving Grover, responding to the toast, "Dad," will give an address of welcome to members of the older generation. Russell Duncan will give an address on "Chums—Father and Son." Rev. C. N. Thorp will speak on "What a Dad Expects From His Boy," and Col. F. E. Resche will tell of "Other Boys."

The boys have taken up plans for the evening with much enthusiasm, and the banquet, judging from the interest it has aroused this year, as well as last, will hereafter be an annual affair at the "Y."

OBITUARY

Frank Fuller, war governor of Utah, died in his 88th year in New York, Feb. 19. He had been a friend of Lincoln and of Mark Twain and at various times a physician, dentist, lawyer and newspaper man. He was born in Boston.

Hon. Gopal Krishna Gokhale, an Indian leader, who was president of the Indian congress in 1905, died in Bombay, Feb. 19. He was the representative of the non-official members of the Bombay legislature in the viceroy's legislative council. For twenty years he had devoted himself to the cause of education among his Mahratta countrymen by serving as a professor in Ferguson college. He was 49 years old.

William Witte, seven feet five inches in height, died in Buffalo a few days ago. Witte traveled for many years with the Barnum circus and with the Kilties' band. He was 39 years of age and a native of Germany.

CLERGY HELD FOR $500,000 RANSOM

Native Priests of Roman Catholic Church in Mexico City Imprisoned.

Washington, Feb. 20.—All the native Roman Catholic clergy in Mexico City are being held for a half million dollars ransom, official advices from diplomatists in the Mexican capital received here today say, and the only priests exempted are those of foreign nationality who have been ordered to leave the country.

Several days ago the state department was informed that Gen. Obregon, in command of the capital, intended to levy a special tax upon the Catholic church property, but it was not understood that he had gone to the length of imprisoning the priests.

CLOQUET FOREIGN CLASS

Governor Recently Visited Students and Gave Them Cheer.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Governor Hammond was here recently, he visited the foreign English class at the Y. M. C. A.

Governor Hammond told of the men who had come here from all parts of the world and had become prominent men. Several governors are among the list and four different congressmen, among these Knute Nelson. The foreigners treated the event as a great occasion as indeed it was when the head of a commonwealth beholds his people with such zeal for good-citizenship.

The foreign class is composed of Swedish, Russians, Jews, Italians and others from the countries of Southern Europe. It is under the supervision of Mrs. Peter Olesen. When the class was started they were able to read but little English, but the fact that they were able to read parts of the constitution and declaration of independence, shows the remarkable progress made in a few months.

BOAT CAPSIZES; GENERAL DROWNED

Aurele Montplaisir, Haitien Minister, Victim of an Accident.

Cap Haitien, Haiti, Feb. 20.—The death by drowning of Gen. Aurele Montplaisir, the minister of interior in the Theodor government, was officially confirmed today. Gen. Montplaisir, who was in command of a force of government troops, lost his life while trying to escape by sea from St. Marc, just before the occupation of that town by revolutionary forces under Gen. Vilbrun Guillaume. The boat which was conveying Gen. Montplaisir to a Haitien gunboat in the harbor capsized and he was drowned.

No Disorder.
Washington, Feb. 20.—Rear Admiral Caperton, commanding the American squadron in Haitien waters, in a report today made no mention of the landing of marines, although unofficial reports said a force had been placed. Admiral Caperton said there was some disorder at Port Au Prince.

RAILROAD BEGINS BAUDETTE SUITS

Serves Notices on Many to Get Off of Claimed Property.

Baudette, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The long expected action of the Canadian Northern Railway company against residents of Old Baudette was commenced Friday, when notices were served on the owners of forty-six houses that the company is suing to compel them to move their buildings and pay $10,000 for trespass.

Chief of Police Dundas was busy serving summons and the defendants are given twenty days in which to reply. The territory consists of forty acres and all land 150 feet in right-of-way, which is known as Old Baudette. Thomas and William Cathcart, who have been in dispute with the company for many years, are among the defendants.

The railroad company claims the land is needed for yards. The result of this will be looked for with much interest. Should the company win, nearly seventy buildings will have to be moved. It is not known as yet what action the defendants will take, but it is certain that the Cathcarts will take steps to protect their interests.

The road is known as the Minnesota & Manitoba only in Minnesota, being a part of the Canadian Northern. Hector Baxter is in town looking after the company's interest.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, Feb. 20. — Dun's Weekly Review says: Some further progress is noted in the direction of increased trade, although conditions are very irregular and do not apply with equal accuracy to all sections and all branches of business. The West owing to the great demand and high prices for wheat, is more prosperous than other parts of the country. Conditions in the South have been improved by the larger exports of cotton, but that section still feels the effects of recent depression.

Taken into consideration, while the business situation is still controlled by conservatism, prompted by unprecedented world conditions, it is steadily gaining in strength and activity, and the rate of progress, while it seems slow from week to week, is remarkable indeed when measured by months.

Failures in the United States for the week number 664 compared with the corresponding week last year. In Canada, failures numbered 66 against 59 last year.

Bank clearings for the week (five days) amounted to $2,584,559,419, a decrease of 14.4 per cent, as compared with the same week last year.

PRESIDENT VINCENT IN CLOSING SPEECH

Head of University Brings Farm Crops Show to End.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a veritable blaze of glory the annual Red River Farm Crops show came to an end last night with an address by President George B. Vincent of the state university who spoke to a large audience. The Viking male chorus sang and Martin O'Brien of Crookston presided at the final meeting.

Today the crowds that have been attending the show are leaving and the various exhibits being removed.

Stock Breeders Organize.
One of the results of the farm crops show was the organization of a Minnesota Red River Valley Stock Breeders' association. Over fifty members were enrolled in the new organization. Its object will be the improvement in breeds of live stock in the Red River Valley and the promotion of the dairy interests, which are rapidly developing into the most important feature of agricultural activity throughout this section.

Thomas Canfield of Lake Park was elected president of the new organization; Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls, vice president, annd C. G. Selvig of the Crookston Agricultural college, secretary and treasurer.

'GRANDMA'S' REMEDIES DECLARED WORTHLESS

Dr. Webster Says They Have Greatly Retarded Health Progress.

Many of "grandma's" household remedies are given a severe rap by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department, who concurs with Dr. H. W. Hill of St. Paul, head of the Minnesota Public Health association, that most of these are mere "fakes."

In a bulletin just sent out by Dr. Hill, the well known physician declares that exposure, cold and wet do not produce rheumatism, as has been proved by the studying of soldiers on the firing line in Europe, and with this argument as a basis, an attack is made on many of "grandma's" remedies.

In going into the argument, Dr. Hill emphasizes the erroneous beliefs, which, he claims, have retarded progress in all lines and especially in public health. He scoffs at the old belief that a copper wire around the waist prevents rheumatism.

"Dr. Hill is right," said the head of the local health department this morning, "in declaring that rheumatism does not come from exposure, cold and wet. An attack of rheumatism will come by exposure, only when a person has the rheumatic germs in the system and then only, medical science has proven."

With this as a start, Dr. Webster denies that gold wedding rings rubbed on the eye will cure styes, that earrings will improve the sight, that only nasty medicines have curative value, that whisky is good for pretty near every ailment, that red flannel is good for sore throats, that eating turnips makes one brave, that malaria is due to night air, that smallpox can be telephoned from one person to another, and that, if medicine is good for sick people, it must still be better for well people.

Dr. Hill's report regarding rheumatism follows:

"The European war is teaching us many things about sickness and health. The conclusions of medical authorities in the field regarding exposure, cold and wet and their bearing on the cause of rheumatism are quite in line with laboratory studies made in Chicago within recent years. German and American physicians thus agree, though studying the subject under different conditions.

"What then does cause rheumatism? Many pains attributed to rheumatism are not properly attributable to rheumatism at all. What purports to be sciatica or lumbago is quite often caused by a fall or a jar which partly dislocates the framework of bones which support the lower part of the back. Many a case of supposed rheumatism in the feet is really caused by a giving away of the arch of the foot.

"Long, hard marches even cause actual fractures of the little bones of the foot at times. Eliminating all these as not true rheumatism, a majority of the cases remaining are found to be true infections by the rheumatism germ. Acute inflammatory rheumatism long has been known to be caused by a germ, but the war has brought out emphatically the point that so-called chronic rheumatism is also often due to a germ, although of a milder type."

WRONG ADDRESS WAS GIVEN IN REPORT

Harry E. Krantz, owning a shop at 1109 West Michigan street, will be tried in municipal court March 2 on a charge of violating the pure food law. Krantz denies his guilt.

Due to an error in the original report of the case by Deputy Inspector Robert A. North, Krantz's address was confused with that of the London Meat market, 1502 London road, which was in no way connected with the case. The London market has not been reported on unfavorably by the deputy inspector.

Stout Women May Easily Mold Into the New Style Lines With the Proper Bon Ton Corset

The tailored corsets properly designed finds highest expression in the new Bon Ton models now finding such favor with the most discriminating dressers of this section.

Such has been the demand that it is but fair to warn you that unless you come soon you may have to wait for your size in the model you want until another shipment arrives. However, another order is expected but we cannot say how soon it will arrive.

A new Bon Ton model at $5.00 possesses every feature for the style support and flesh control of stout figures.

We Picture This New Bon Ton Alongside

Cleverly inserted gores take care of the extra flesh above the waist line and under the shoulder blades. In the front short heavy boning at the waist reduces the diaphragm slightly and is so gored to give the fashionable "hip" raising the bust line a bit.

Rubber inserts at each side of the front closing give ease and flexibility.

A wide embroidered galloon run with wash ribbon gives serviceable and effective trimming at the top. A handsome Moire bow gives an added touch of daintiness.

The superb style-creating features of this model makes it a most satisfying investment for the stout figure.

It will carry a tailored suit of the severest military model with distinguished grace, and this is surely the test of tests in corseting.

EFFECT OF MOSS BILL

Country Grain Shipper Asks Pertinent Question on Grain Inspection.

Secretary Explains Difference Between Inspection and Supervision.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed an item in the market column of The Herald of recent date, to the effect that at a meeting of the Grain Merchants' association of the Duluth Board of Trade, a resolution was passed approving of the Moss bill, authorizing government inspection of all grain for interstate business.

Why is Federal inspection favored for interstate business but objected to for other? If a dual system of inspection is adopted and the export business passing mostly through Duluth will be placed under Federal inspection, and transactions for home consumption are based on state inspection as before, would it occasion different market quotations based on each standard of inspection? By which inspection would the country buyer have to be guided in order to make himself safe? Please answer through the columns of the paper and oblige.

COUNTRY SHIPPER.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 17.

The foregoing question is of so much importance to country grain shippers that The Herald asked Charles F. McDonald, secretary of the Duluth Board of Trade, to prepare an answer to it. His answer follows:

To the Editor of The Herald:

"'Country Shipper' is unacquainted with the scope and purpose of the Moss bill. It does not provide for the inspection of grain by the Federal government, but for a system of supervision of existing inspection departments, whether conducted by state authority or by exchanges or other agencies. It should be borne in mind at the outset that congress can only legislate with reference to grain moving in interstate commerce; it has no power to regulate inspection within the states. It is this power of control over grain moving in interstate commerce that is exercised to bring about the supervision provided for in the Moss bill.

The Bill in Brief.

"Briefly, the bill provides that the secretary of agriculture may establish and promulgate grades of grain and that thereafter grain, if sold by grade, must be according to government grades or it shall not be entitled to move from one state to another or to any foreign country. The inspection will be by inspectors of existing inspection departments, but no person shall be entitled to grade grain moving into interstate commerce unless he has received from the secretary of agriculture a license authorizing him to do so. The license may be revoked if he fails to grade grain correctly. There are details of administration, penalty, etc., provided for, but the essentials are as stated above.

"The secretary of agriculture is authorized to make regulations for carrying out the purpose of the bill and the general method of administration the department has in mind. A sufficient number of supervisors to watch the work of all departments will be appointed under civil service examination and they will work in the different departments, rotating with frequency. They will observe the work of the inspectors, advise with them and see that they are grading grain in accordance with the standards of the United States. Failure to do so will result in recommendations for the canceling of licenses. No inspection department will wish to place itself in the position of having its licenses revoked and will therefore conform to the federal grades. In this way, while there will not be direct Federal control of state inspection, the result will be the same. There will be but one system of inspection and no confusion for the country dealer. His position will be improved, for he will know that grades will be uniform in all markets.

Exporters Objected.

At a hearing in Washington last May this bill received the general indorsement of the trade with the exception of exporters of the Atlantic seaboard who are opposed for reasons of their own to any disturbance of the present grades from their ports. The representation there included members of exchanges, country buyers and shippers, and officers of farmers' organizations. The trade to a man expressed a desire for some system of grading that shall be uniform. It was agreed that in the main the grades of grain throughout the country are fairly uniform, but that there is not uniform application of the grades by the various inspection departments. The system wanted is one that will assure wheat grading No. 1 northern in Duluth grading the same in Minneapolis, Chicago, Buffalo, New York and everywhere.

"It will be asked, why not bring this about by inspection by the Federal government. Many grain men would like to see this. The Duluth Board of Trade would like to have full Federal inspection but the grain trade of the country at large has never been able to figure out how this can be brought about without dual inspection, because thenational government cannot take away the rights of states to inspect grain. In Illinois, I believe, the maintenance of an inspection department is commanded by the constitution. Minnesota would not relinquish its department. There would be conflicting authority and double expense in many cases, according to the opponents of Federal inspection. The department of agriculture is opposed to taking over the inspection, but does favor this system of Federal supervision. It believes that it will accomplish the same results and avoid the conflict with existing departments that would follow the establishment of a system of Federal inspection.

"CHARLES F. MACDONALD,
"Secretary of Duluth Board of Trade."
Duluth, Feb. 19.

SETTLES CASE OUT OF COURT

Stipulation in Island Lake Hotel Tangle and Trial Ends.

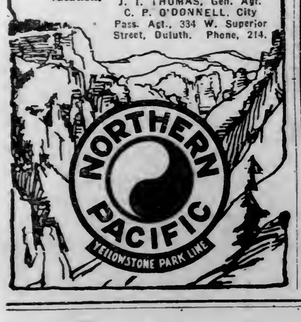

D. H. Clough, E. A. Tessman and Martin Rosendahl, who started an action in district court against Bert F. Gilbert, a fourth partner in a hotel business, known as the Island Lake Inn company, yesterday settled the case out of court. It has been on trial for the last few days before Judge Cant. The three plaintiffs were suing the defendant for an accounting and demanded that a receiver be appointed.

It was stipulated that the partnership had ended in October 1911, and that since that time the place had been conducted by the defendant, Gilbert, and E. E. Considine. All partnership property was turned over to Gilbert and Considine, including $1,790 in the hands of the clerk of the district court which had been deposited by the Great Northern Power company as awards for condemned right of way.

Of this amount it was stipulated that $1,300 should be paid over to the three plaintiffs.

REAL AND FAKE PARALYTICS; TWO TRAGEDIES; A CONTRAST

Supreme Court Sustains $5,000 Verdict Against City for Little Actress.

Paralyzed Dancer, Who Will Never Walk Again, Still Hopeful.

Eighteen months have elapsed since little Florence Watson, a pretty, dark-eyed dancer of 18 years, fell from a sidewalk on West Fourth street and sustained an injury to her back and spine which has left her a helpless and lifelong paralytic. Unconscious of her true condition and hopeful of the future, the once popular little vaudeville performer, lies on her cot at her father's ranch near Ballantine, Mont., planning theater engagements she will never fill and dreaming of new gowns and dances.

Yesterday the Minnesota supreme court handed down a decision which affirms the judgment of the district court of this city where, a few months ago, a $5,000 verdict was obtained against the city of Duluth in her favor. A jury last April awarded her damages in that amount, but the city asked for judgment notwithstanding the verdict. Judge Fesler denied the motion and an appeal was taken by the city to the supreme court, the municipality denying its liability. The higher tribunal held that the city was liable.

On Aug. 17, 1913, Florence stepped off a sidewalk on the lower side of West Fourth street between Lake and First avenues west. The accident occurred during the evening while Mrs. Mary Watson was escorting her two daughters, Florence and her 15-year-old sister, May, to the Happy Hour theater, where they were filling an engagement. The sidewalk at this point is elevated several inches above the abutting property and at the time of the accident was unprotected by a rail.

FLORENCE M. WATSON.

Slipped From Walk.

Florence slipped and fell on her back. Her injuries at first were believed to be of a slight nature. Later surgeons pronounced her suffering from spinal trouble and paralysis of the lower limbs. She was taken to her room at the Frederick hotel, where the Watsons were stopping, and there remained until after the trial of the suit against the city last April. The Watsons left for Ballantine, Mont., about six months ago. Kenny & Kenny, attorneys for W. Watson, the girl's father, who brought suit on behalf of his injured daughter, recently received word that the girl's condition was not much improved. She is still in bed.

At the time of the accident, the two girls were appearing in a singing and dancing act at the local theater. Both are talented in their line and their appearance in Duluth was during their second season on the stage. Since her accident Florence has been of a cheerful frame of mind, probably because her true condition has been carefully withheld from her.

The Watsons, up to five years ago, lived in Philadelphia. The two girls appeared in a number of amateur theatrical performances in that city and received their training for professional work there. In 1910, their father, who was then suffering from a nervous breakdown moved West, taking his family with him.

Go Into Vaudeville.

After the Watsons had become settled in the West, the children became much in demand at church socials and amateur theatricals on account of their talent along that line. Later, the girls were offered a vaudeville engagement with a song and dance act. At first the mother refused to allow her daughters to go on the stage, but after a flattering salary had been offered, she finally consented. She accompanied them on their tour as chaperon. The season was about half over when Florence met with her accident. The father remained on the ranch in Montana because of his poor health.

During the trial of the case last April, Florence was brought into the courtroom on two occasions, both times on her cot. She nervously twitched at her bedclothes and at her jewelry while she told the story of the affair as she remembered it. She told the jury that she was spending most of her time now drawing sketches and that until she got well enough to get back onto the stage she expected to devote her time to art.

The two girls were earning from $75 to $140 a week with their act, according to testimony which was adduced at the trial.

District Court Jury Finds Koch Guilty of an Ingenious Swindle

Man Who Faked Paralysis, and Fleeced Claim Agents, Faces Prison.

Commercializing his remarkable faculty of imitating a paralytic has proven to be the downfall of Christian F. Koch, 45, the black sheep of a respectable German family residing at Remsen, Iowa. And because his game of faking injuries and collecting large sums from railroad companies and other corporations has been detected and exposed, Koch must look forward to serving a term of years in the Minnesota state penitentiary.

It took a jury just nine minutes in Judge Fesler's division of the district court yesterday to find Koch guilty of the crime of grand larceny in the second degree under an indictment which charged him with having defrauded the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company out of $1,000 on a fake personal injury. The jury retired at 8:46 o'clock and returned with a finding of guilty at 8:45 o'clock.

Th same blank fixed expression which has characterized Koch since his trial began did not change one iota when the verdict of guilty was read in his presence. He maintained the same expressionless attitude of indifference as to what was going on about him and seemed to be unconcerned as to whether he would be acquitted or not. The crime of which he stands convicted is punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary from one to ten years.

Thrown to Platform.

On Oct. 14, 1914, Koch was a passenger on No. 61, a mixed train, leaving Duluth at 11:30 p. m. on the Duluth & Iron Range. On arriving at Two Harbors at 12:45 a. m., he left the coach and claimed that in doing so, his raincoat, which he carried on his arm, caught on an angle cock or brake staff and that he was thereby thrown to the depot platform and injured his back. As a result, he claimed that his lower limbs, bowels and bladder were paralyzed. Examination by surgeons seemed to indicate that he was permanently disabled and on Dec. 7, the company settled with him for $1,000 for his alleged injuries. Koch, who had been moving with great difficulty on crutches, immediately left the city and at once discarded his crutches.

The railroad authorities secured a warrant for his arrest and after detectives had chased him through several cities of the Middle West, he was arrested at Tonapah, Nev. He was brought to Duluth under an extradition process and stood trial on the charge. During the course of his trial much of his past history and a more or less unbroken story of his operations was brought to the light of day.

Koch's Record.

Koch was born forty-five years ago in Germany and immigrated to this country when a boy of 15, settling at Remsen, Iowa. He married when a young man, but after his wife had lived with him ten years she secured a divorce from him on the grounds that he had been convicted of a crime and committed to the Iowa state penitentiary. This was in 1903. She remarried. Koch's parents are old and respected residents of Remsen.

In 1903, Koch joined the army, enlisting in the state of Washington. Two months, later, however, he was discharged on account of "chronic amaemia and debility." In 1906, he claimed that he was injured while working at Missoula for the Northern Pacific, brought suit for $50,000 and recovered $5,000 in the lower court. The case dragged six years in the Montana courts and judgment was finally reversed in January, 1912. A portion of the time, Koch spent on a poor farm, supposedly a down-and-out cripple, forced to the almshouse by the law's delay. He went by the name of C. F. Molt.

Meets Same Agent Again.

In July, 1911, at Portland, Or., as C. F. Peterson, he secured a sum of money on a fake injury similar in nature from the Portland Light & Power company. On Feb. 16, 1912, at Breckenridge, Minn., as C. F. Schmidt, he secured $4,050 from the Great Northern Railway company for injuries claimed to have been sustained in falling from a passenger coach step. On Aug. 12, of the same year, as Clarence F. Meyers, he again tried to work the same game, but unfortunately ran up against the same claim agent at Great Falls, Mont., who recognized him as an imposter and had him arrested. He served four months in the Montana penitentiary.

On Feb. 28, 1914, at Hampton, Iowa, he claimed that he was injured while alighting from a train and on May 9, 1914, collected $600 from the Minneapolis and St. Paul Railway company. On July 23, 1914, while crossing a railroad crossing at Grand Rapids, Mich., he claimed he was injured and later extracted $1,600 from the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad company. His latest offense was the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company affair.

Koch will be brought before Judge Fesler later for sentence. Those who are familiar with Koch's history declare that whisky brought about his ruin and that as soon as he made a good haul while operating his game he would spend it all for liquor.

THREE MEMBERS PRESENT IN WISCONSIN SENATE.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—Senators Bray, Barwig and Tompkins composed the senate when it convened today. Two motions were made, one nominating Senator Bray as chairman and the other to adjourn.

HAVE THREE-DAY VACATION

Public Schools Will Be Closed Monday in Honor of Washington.

Central Debaters Win Over Team From St. Paul School.

Another three-day vacation is being enjoyed by the students of the Central high school, as well as those of the other public schools. Last week, because of the joint occurrence of Lincoln's birthday and the teachers' convention, Friday was declared a holiday, and the pupils added that day to their usual week-end rest. This week another "day off" has been awarded them, not Friday, but Monday being the "extra" day.

Special chapel exercises yesterday morning were held in honor of the great American. Music and readings featured. An address by Supt. Denfeld was particularly enjoyed. He scored the young people for taking so lightly the consideration of the father of their country and urged that they think of him more than merely as a cause for a holiday.

The ambitious "bunch" of warriors that composes Central's crack basket ball team, after anxiously sitting through the chapel exercises yesterday morning, snatched up their suit cases, and made a hasty retreat for the railroad station, not however, before first having received a most rousing send-off from the enthusiastic student body. They have gained considerable glory from their victory over the rival Superior team and have been the objects of much admiration. They have been excused from another day of school, but are making up for it by working hard during the week-end days in trying to hold up the honor of Central on the range. The team is being put through a strenuous grind. Last night they tackled the Virginia quintet, champions of the range, and one of the best high school teams in the Northwest. Tonight they will go from Virginia to Hibbing and play the scrappy aggregation from that city. Tomorrow they will come home, but Monday night they must journey out to the West end and clash with the rejuvenated Denfeld high school team. The team has made a wonderful record this season, and it is hoped that Coach Glyer will be able to take them to the state championship meet at Carleton college in April.

The Lambs scored a decided hit in their little one-act blackface comedy presented as a curtain-raiser at the Lyceum theater Monday night. An unusually clever assemblage of talent was displayed and they more than lived up to expectations. The school Thespians, as well as the Baldwin company, played to a packed house. As a result the Lambs' club is the richest and possibly the most popular of all of the school organizations. The treasury of the senior class is the best of any organization in school and the Lambs are now a close second. The seniors owe the credit to the diligent efforts of Ralph McCarthy, the treasurer, while the dramatists are indebted to the whole school body for its efforts in helping to make the Lambs' club debut of Monday evening a tremendous success. It is quite probable that the Lambs will appear at the Lyceum again in the near future. At first it was suggested that the same sketch be presented again next Tuesday evening, but this has now been practically abandoned.

Prizes were awarded to those that sold the greatest number of tickets for Monday's performance. Max Goldberg, selling $33 worth of tickets was the recipient of the first honor, receiving a check for $3. Marshall Haines came a close second and took the $2 check, while Miss Taylor was awarded the third prize of $1.

Those who were successful in winning prizes for the freshman and sophomore sections of the Zenith were announced last week. There was considerable rivalry for first honors in both departments. Those who have won prizes are:

Freshman section—Elsa Zachow, editress; Bessie Harris, first prize story, $3; Kenneth Knight, second, $2; Alice Hillis, first prize poem, $2; Doris Alexander, best collection of drawings, $3.

Sophomore section—Emanuel Cook, editor; Chester Marshall, first prize story, $3; John Ahlen, second prize, $2; Evelyn Ahlen, prize poem, $1; Galen Pierson, best collector of drawings, $2; Alice Nyman, frontispiece, $2.

A freshman debating society was formed at a meeting of the first-year boys, interested in this work, in Miss Hann's room following the close of school Tuesday. Sam Davis was elected president; Earl Hanson, secretary and treasurer. L. C. Rasey of the faculty was chosen as advisor for the club. Miss Hann of the English department, Harry Segal and Paul Winship were appointed as members of a committee to draft a constitution. Edward Harris and Mr. Rasey constitute the program committee. It is the intention of the members to conduct internal debates, as well as with other literary societies of the school.

The third drill of Central High School Company A, cadet corps, was held in the Armory Wednesday afternoon under the personal supervision of Lieut. Jones. The work was about the same as that followed out in the first two drills, because so many new "recruits" have been enlisting. A surprisingly large number were in the ranks Wednesday, which goes to show that the organization is becoming more and more popular. From now on the work will be more advanced and more precision in obeying the fundamentals will be expected.

In one of the most stirring debates ever contested in the school auditorium, the local arguers last night vanquished a select team from the John A. Johnson high school of St. Paul by a 2 to 1 decision of the judges. The victorious Duluth team upheld the negative of the question: "Resolved, That the United States should own and operate all telephone and telegraph lines."

Irving Grover, Jacob Garon and Emanuel Cook constituted the local team, while Lester Palmer, Aloysius Spellacy and Ernest Ouelette argued on the Saintly City trio. The judges were Supt. E. A. Freeman of Grand Rapids, Prof. Cooper and Prof. Owens of the normal school.

Last night marked Central's first victory of the season, and Prof. Null is well pleased. The other debate was with Minneapolis North high, in which Central barely lost out. The personnel of the local team will again be changed when on March 5 the Duluth boys go to Cloquet to argue the United States armament question. Max Goldberg, a sophomore speaker, will probably be used.

DULUTH POLICY BEARING FRUIT

Other Lake Cities Now Helping Unemployed to Secure Work.

Cities along the lakes are following Duluth's lead in giving work to the unemployed, said Mayor Prince yesterday on his return from a week's visit in Ohio and Illinois. The mayor also declared that business men are taking a more optimistic view of conditions at present than they did several weeks ago.

"Lower lakes cities realize something must be done," said Mayor Prince, "and are following Duluth's lead, but not on an extensive scale.

"They are appointing many commissions and go through much red tape to do what Duluth has been doing successfully all winter. There are many unemployed in cities visited, and the problem of caring for them is a mighty one.

"There is evidence of a more optimistic view. The opinion in cities I visited is that spring will bring renewed activity in business. I found conditions in Duluth good by comparison."

CHIPPEWA INDIANS PREDICT EARLY SPRING

Couderay, Wis., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The old Chippewa Indian weather prophets on the Couderay Indian reservation are predicting an early spring. BRITAIN WILL NOT INTERFERE

Answers Note of United States Concerning Use of American Flag.

Has No Intention of Advising Merchant Ships to Use It.

London, Feb. 20.—The British foreign office last evening issued a note in reply to the representations of the United States government concerning the use of the American flag by British vessels. The note says that the Cunard line steamer Lusitania, on her recent voyage from New York to Liverpool, raised the American flag "to save the lives of non-combatants, crew and passengers." It adds that in spite of the fact that American passengers embarking on the Lusitania on her outward voyage for New York asked that the American flag be hoisted, "the British government did not give any advice to the company as to how to meet this request, and, it is understood that the Lusitania left Liverpool under the British flag.

Will Give No Advice.

After discussing the Lusitania incident, the memorandum says: "The British government has no intention of advising their merchant ships to use foreign flags as a general practice, or to resort to them otherwise than for escaping capture or destruction."

In conclusion the statement says:

"The obligation upon a belligerent warship to ascertain definitely for itself the nationality and character of a merchant vessel before capturing it, and a fortiori (stronger reason) before sinking and destroying it, has been universally recognized. If that obligation is fulfilled, the hoisting of a neutral flag on board a British vessel cannot possibly endanger neutral shipping and the British government holds that if loss to neutrals is caused by disregarding this obligation, it is upon the enemy vessel disregarding and upon the government giving orders that it should be disregarded, that the sole responsibility for injury to neutrals ought to rest."

The following is the text of the reply of Great Britain to the American note as handed to Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador today:

Text of Reply.

"The memorandum communicated on 11th of February calls attention in courteous and friendly terms to the action of the captain of the British steamship Lusitania in raising the flag of the United States when approaching British waters, and says that the government of the United States feel certain anxiety in consideration the possibility of any general use of the flag of the United States by British vessels traversing those waters since the effect of such a policy might be to bring about a menace to the lives and vessels of United States citizens.

"It was understood that the German government announced its intentions of sinking British merchant vessels at sight by torpedoes without giving any opportunity or making provision for the saving of lives of non-combatant crews and passengers. It was in consequence of this threat that the Lusitania raised the United States flag on her inward voyage.

Request for Flag.

"On her subsequent outward voyage, a request was made by United States passengers who were embarking on board her, that the United States flag should be hoisted, presumably to insure safety. Meanwhile the memorandum from your excellency had been received. His majesty's government did not give any advice to the company as to how to meet this request, and it is understood that the Lusitania left Liverpool under the British flag.

"It seems unnecessary to say more as regards the Lusitania in particular.

"In regard to the use of foreign flags by merchant vessels, the British merchant shipping act makes it clear that the use of the British flag by foreign merchant vessels is permitted in time of war for the purpose of escaping capture. It is believed in the case of other nations there is similar recognition of the same practice with regard to their flag, and that none of them has forbidden it.

"It would therefore be unreasonable to expect England to pass legislation forbidding the use of neutral flags by British merchant vessels to avoid capture, now that the German government has announced its intention to sink merchant vessels at sight with their non-combatant crews, cargoes and papers, a proceeding hitherto regarded by the opinion of the world not as war, but as piracy. It is felt that the United States government could not fairly ask the British government to order British merchant vessels to forego a means always hitherto permitted of escaping not only capture but the much worse fate of sinking and destruction.

Accorded Use of British Flag.

"Great Britain has always, when a neutral, accorded vessels of other states at war the liberty to use the British flag as a means of protection against capture, and instances are on record when United States vessels availed themselves of this facility. It would be contrary to fair expectation if now, when conditions are reversed, the United States and neutrals were to grudge to British ships the liberty to take similar action.

"The British government has no intention of advising their merchant shipping to use foreign flags as a general practice or to resort to them otherwise than for escaping capture or destruction. The obligation upon a belligerent warship to ascertain definitely for itself the nationality and character of a merchant vessel before capture and fortiori before sinking and destroying it has been universally recognized. If that is fulfilled, the hoisting of a neutral flag on board a British vessel cannot possibly endanger neutral shipping and the British government holds that if loss to neutrals is caused by disregard of this obligation, it is upon the enemy vessel disregarding it, and upon the government giving the orders that it should introduction of power-driven machinery and the manufacture and use of explosives, corrosives and inflammable, poisonous and otherwise dangerous substances, and the carrying on of subterranean work and work at high altitudes above the ground on a scale never before feasible, has introduced entirely novel hazard into modern industry, and such employments are to be recognized as inherently and constantly dangerous. The result has been that little of the cost to the employer has reached the workman, and that little only at large expense to the public. The remedy of the workman has been uncertain, slow and inadequate. Injuries in such employments are frequent and inevitable. The welfare of the state depends upon its industries and the welfare of its wage-workers.

"The state of Minnesota, therefore, exercising herein its police and sovereign powers, hereby declares that all phases of the premises relating to extra-hazardous employments are withdrawn from private controversy; and certain and speedy relief for workmen injured in such extra-hazardous work, and their families and dependents, is hereby provided, regardless of questions of fault and to the exclusion of every other remedy, proceeding or compensation, except as otherwise provided in this act; and to that end, all civil actions and causes of action for such personal injuries are hereby abolished, except as in this act provided."

Substitute for Present Law.

The bill proposes a complete and elaborate substitute not only for the old measures of legal address, but for the workingmen's compensation act and employers' liability act now in effect.

A state industrial commission of three members to be appointed by the governor, is created, with salaries of $5,000 each. This commission is to have full charge of the operations of the act. It is to classify occupations with respect to their degrees of hazard, determine the risks of the different classes and fix the rates of liability insurance on each. These rates are to be based on the payroll, and are to be large enough to maintain an adequate insurance fund. They are to be readjusted twice a year, and reduced if it is found feasible.

The bill provides a schedule of compensations, very much larger than those in the present law. Senator Jones took the highest figures in the laws of each state having automatic compensation acts.

Employers strong enough to carry their own insurance are exempted from the requirement to contribute to the state insurance fund, and are permitted to carry their own insurance under the regulation of the commission.

The bill is an elaborate document of twenty-nine typewritten pages.

Pardoning of Murderers.

Anticipating the probable defeat of his bill to restore capital punishment in this state, and to provide for execution by electrocution, Representative Pless of Gibbon yesterday afternoon introduced in the house a bill intended to prevent murderers from escaping their dues through parole or pardon. One bill forbids the pardoning of first degree murderers except on proof of their innocence. Another forbids the paroling of first degree murderers, or of second degree murderers serving a life sentence until thirty-five years after their conviction.

School for Deaf Probe.

Stories of how he and four other boys were sent into a pig pen at the state school for the deaf at Faribault as a punishment for having left the institution without permission, and of habits among the inmates of the school were told yesterday afternoon by John Langford of Minneapolis, before the house committee investigating the school.

Langford went to the school twelve years. Before leaving he became a supervisor. When members of the board of control visited the institution, he testified, the pupils were given much better food than ordinarily.

"Many of the boys chewed tobacco, smoked, used snuff and drank beer," said Langford. "One boy was drunk in school one day. I told Dr. Tate that they chewed and smoked, but he did nothing to prevent it."

Dr. Tate, superintendent of the school, was on the stand part of the afternoon, and testified that the charges that boys were not given an opportunity to learn trades was untrue.

"Ample opportunity to learn the printing business and the shoemaking trade was given all boys," he said. "The pupils feel that they have a perfect right to complain to me of their treatment at any time. I have had few complaints, however."

Langford told of how he had been punished by Dr. Tate by being sent into a room to spend the night on a chair. Later he left of his own accord. He said he had been punished by such methods many times.

"The action was resumed this morning afte ran aerial reconnaissance by British aeroplanes. The ship Ark Royal is in attendance with a number of seaplanes and aeroplanes of the naval wing."

Turkish Report.

Amsterdam, Feb. 20, via London.—A dispatch from Constantinople gives the following official statement issued by the Turkish war office:

"Early Saturday morning British and French ships renewed their bombardment of the outer forts of the Dardanelles, firing 400 shots without much success. One soldier was slightly wounded by a fragment of stone.

"Eight armored Anglo-French ships bombarded the outer forts of the Dardanelles for seven hours without silencing them. The enemy fired shots from guns of great caliber.

"Three hostile armored ships were damaged. One of them, a flagship, was damaged severely."

Another version of the Turkish report, as received here from Constantinople, says that on the Turkish side one man was killed and another slightly injured.

German Statement.

Berlin, Feb. 20, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The official statement given out today by the German army headquarters says:

attempts to break through the German lines, however, failed. In some places the enemy entered into the advanced German trenches where fighting still continues. Otherwise the enemy was repulsed and suffered heavy losses.

"To the north of Verdun a French attack also was repulsed. Near Combres preparations for renewed French attacks were made by violent artillery bombardment again.

"Fighting still continues in the Vosges. The Germans stormed the enemy's main positions of two kilometers on the heights to the west of Sulzern and also on Reichsackekopf, to the west of Muenster. A battle for possession of the height to the north of Muehbach is going on. Betzerland and Sondernach have been occupied by the Germans after a battle.

"In the eastern war arena: In the district to the northwest of Grodno and to the north of Suwalki there has been no important changes.

"To the southeast of Kolno the enemy has been driven back into his advanced position of Loma.

"South of Myszyniec, northeast of Przasnysz and east of Raclonz there have been engagements of a local character. From the south of the Vistula there is nothing new to report."

French Statement.

Paris, Feb. 20, via London, 3:48 p. m.—The official statement issued this afternoon by the French war department says:

"In Belgium: The enemy bombarded Nieuport and the dunes. His batteries were effectively countered by ours. The Germans appear to have employed important forces in yesterday's attack against our trenches to the east of Ypres. After a heavy bombardment of our positions the Germans attacked with the bayonet, but were repulsed and our artillery held by its fire the reserves, which were to have supported the first line attack. The German losses were very high.

"From the Lys to the Oise, and on the Aisne, in the region of Berry-au-Bac, great artillery activity prevailed.

"It is confirmed that the enemy's losses in the campaign of the last few days have been considerable. According to statements of prisoners, a battalion has been destroyed.

"On the heights of the Meuse, towards night yesterday the enemy delivered his fourth counter attack against the trenches which we took at Les Eparges. This attack was beaten back like the three preceding ones by our artillery.

"In the Vosges the enemy continued unsuccessfully his counter attacks on Hill 607, south Lusse. South of La Fecht the enemy succeeded in gaining a footing on the eastern spur. Fighting continues at this point where we had an advanced post. Rain and snow are falling in the Vosges."

theater when the ambassador, Grant Smith, secretary of the American legation at Vienna, Mr. Pyne and another American were criticized because they were conversing in English.

"We were sitting in a box," Mr. Pyne said, "talking in a low tone. An occupant of an adjoining box in a loud voice said that inasmuch as Germany was at war with England the English language was out of place in a German theater. He was expressing his objections loudly when a German sitting nearby rose to his feet and stopped him, saying, 'Sit down; don't you see those gentlemen are Americans?'"

Escorted from Theater.

"At the same time several men from other parts of the audience approached and the disturber was escorted from the theater. Immediate apologies were offered by the theater attendants and German residents in the audience; and afterwards an official apology came from the Berlin city authorities."

Asked about reported shortage of food supplies in Germany, Mr. Pyne said:

"So far as I could see, when I left Berlin, no serious shortage was apparent. Prices of foodstuffs had not materially advanced although there was little white bread to be had. Theaters were running, restaurants were well patronized and the Germans were confident that their armies will be successful."

Mr. Pyne expects to return to Berlin in a few weeks.

BOTH REPLIES IN WASHINGTON

President and Cabinet Will Consider German and British Answers.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Official texts of Germany's reply to the American note on the naval war zone and Great Britain's replies to the American notes on the use of the American flag and the Wilhelmina case, all arrived today at the state department.

The German reply, delivered by the Berlin foreign office three days ago to Ambassador Gerard, had been delayed in transmission. It was at once converted from the diplomatic code and sent to the White House to be laid before the president, who, however, had already been informed of its contents by Mr. Gerard and the unofficial text published two days ago.

With the official text at hand, however, the president and his advisers will begin formal consideration of German's reply to the warning of the United States against destruction of American ships or lives in the naval war zone about the British isles. Generally, the tone of the German note has been regarded as friendly.

Bears an American View.

Great Britain's reply to the representations on the use of the American flag bears upon the American view of the German reply and the next step in the negotiations with Berlin, for, in expecting Germany to identify American ships before attacking them by submarines, the United States is anxious there shall be no general use of the American flag by foreign vessels. The state department is willing to let the Wilhelmina case be adjudicated by a prize court and thus lay the legal foundation for other proceedings of a like character.

AMOUNTS FOR DEPARTMENTS

Appropriations Agreed Upon By the North Dakota Committees.

Reduction of $132,000 Is Made From the Budgets Filed.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Results attained by the Lathrop committee in its probe of the various state departments, so far as they affect the prospective appropriations for those departments, became known last evening when the two appropriations committees met and approved recommendations that were made.

The total amount requested for the various state departments was $915,655, which sum has been reduced by the investigators by the sum of $132,000.

It was contended some time ago that employes in the capitol building were not earning the salaries that was being paid them, and in their report the Printing Plant Bill Killed.

Representative Williams' bill to create a state printing plant was killed by the house.

Hendrickson's bill, which would permit divorce when the other party to the marriage has been an inmate of an asylum for the insane five years, failed of passage. Thompson of Ward gave notice of reconsideration, and the bill will come up again.

Included in bills that were killed by committee reports was that of Lathrop, which would provide for trials in impeachment cases by a jury of twelve senators, instead of by the full senate.

Representative Peterson's bill, which would permit the creation of new counties of not less than twenty-four townships and $3,500,000 valuation, was killed by the house.

CARGO OF COTTON REACHES BREMEN.

Amsterdam, Feb. 20, 1:27 p. m.—The American steamship J. L. Luckenbach, which left Boston Jan. 27 with a cargo of cotton and wool for Bremen, arrived at the latter port today. The pilot who boarded the vessel at Ymuiden was arrested, but later was released on proving that he was a Dutchman.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR FRANK JAMES.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Feb. 20.—Funeral services for Frank James, the former outlaw, who died last Thursday, were held today on his farm near here. John F. Philips, a former Federal judge, who defended James when he was tried for murder and acquitted in Gallatin, Mo., delivered the funeral address. Pall bearers were old-time friends of the dead bandit. After the services the body was taken to St. Louis, where it will be cremated and the ashes returned to a safe deposit vault in this city.

CORRECTING IDEAS ON EDDY TEACHING

Christian Science Lecturer Will Be Here on March 2.

About forty-five years ago, Mary Baker Eddy first gave to the world the Christian Science doctrine. Its remarkable growth has astonished the religious world. Its teachings, it is claimed by its adherents, have been very much misrepresented.

To correct these erroneous ideas, a board of lectureship was formed several years ago, and Duluth will hear a lecture by one of the official lecturers of that board, William R. Rathvon, C. S. B. The lecture will be given in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner of Ninth avenue east and First street, on Tuesday evening, March 2, at 8 o'clock. Seats will be free.

ANNIVERSARY TO BE CELEBRATED

Normanna Singers Have Won Many Laurels in Twenty-Four Years.

The Normanna Male chorus, which is the oldest organization of Norwegians in the city, will celebrate its twenty-fourth anniversary this evening at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street. Since the assembling of this body of singers nearly a quarter of a century ago, its members have continued to promote music of the best kind and have taken part in scores of entertainments greatly to the delight of the people of Duluth. The chorus belongs to the main body of the Norwegian Singers of America, which is composed of about fifty choruses, which hold biennial sangerfests. The Duluth chorus has been represented at ten of these fests—in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Sioux Falls, Grand Forks, Fargo, La Crosse, Chicago and Duluth. On all of these occasions the Duluth chorusters have won unstinted praise.

At the big fest in Chicago last summer the Duluth men won first honors and were highly praised by the critics of the Windy City.

On the excursion to Norway last summer, following the Chicago meeting, the Duluth chorus had the largest number of delegates based on the percentage of membership. They sang the praises of Duluth wherever they went.

There are about forty singers in the society now in addition to a long list of associate members. Their presence at local entertainments has always added greatly to the merit of the program and they are always well received. The many friends of the society will undoubtedly take advantage of the occasion to show their appreciation by attending the celebration tonight.

The chorus has been headed by many noted singers of the Head of the Lakes. Among these are Ingo Sodahl, the first director, who guided the destinies of the chorus for ten years. Teodor Sommers, O. Gronseth, Jens Flaaten, Olaf Halten, Gust Flaaten, and again Jens Flaaten, who is the present director.

It is the intention of the society to incorporate and provide themselves with a home in the near future.

COMMISSION SAYS IT HAS JURISDICTION.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The interstate commerce commission held today in a divided opinion that it and not the courts has original jurisdiction in a case where there is an alleged failure on the part of a railroad to furnish cars to the extent requested by a shipper. The Illinois Central had denied the jurisdiction of the commission in a case involving two coal companies and argued that the question was one for court determination.

The opinion held that a carrier must do more than provide itself with sufficient equipment for the slack period of coal production and must assume the burden of explaining or excusing its failure to furnish cars.

Commissioner Clark wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Chairman Harlan and Commissioner Clements concurred.

Hospital Dedicated.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 20.—Cincinnati's new municipal hospital, built at an estimated cost of $4,000,000, was dedicated here today. Dr. H. E. Pritchett, chairman of the board of trustees of the Carnegie foundation, delivered the dedicatory address.

Press committees in the various societies are asked to send their notes to C. J. Hockin not later than Thursday of each week.

NO APPLICATION FOR NEW TRIAL FOR BECKER

New York, Feb. 20.—Contrary to expectations, counsel for Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, twice convicted for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, failed yesterday to make an application for a new trial. Neither was the customary two days' notice of intention to begin court proceedings, as required by law, received by District Attorney Perkins.

It had been reported that Becker's counsel would make the application for a new trial.

PASTOR RUSSELL ON BATTLE OF ARMAGEDDON

PASTOR RUSSELL.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Duluthians will have an opportunity to listen to one of the most noted lecturers on religious subjects in the nation and perhaps in the Christian world. The man is Pastor Russell of Brooklyn and London tabernacles. He is not only a lecturer and author, but is the head of a religious sect that has been growing rapidly during the last decade, and is president of the International Bible Students' association.

Pastor Russell some time ago, it is claimed, declared that the Scriptures have foretold the end of the gospel age with the war of 1914, and since the present European war has started, his interpretations of the signs of the time have been eagerly sought.

In accordance with the rigid rules laid down by the lecturer, no admission will be charged for tomorrow's lecture, the subject of which will be "The Battle of Armageddon." It is said that in this he will talk of the end of the present war, which he predicts will be succeeded by a much greater conflict, resulting in world-wide social revolutions and anarchistic outbreaks, and the final ushering in of Christ's kingdom.

It is expected that the Auditorium will be crowded, for the fame of Pastor Russell is well known in Duluth, and here he has many adherents to his views and students of his works.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at nay drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

PLAN "GO-TO-CHURCH" DAY

Interchurch Council Adopts March 14 as a Special Day.

"Go-to-church-Sunday," which was such a success when first tried last year, will be repeated again this year on March 14.

At a meeting held by the Interchurch council last night at the Y. M. C. A., the members decided to conduct a similar "go-to-church" campaign and a committee will be appointed next week to take charge.

From now on to March 14 every minister in Duluth will work in behalf of the "go-to-church-Sunday" movement and on that day every church in the city will conduct services with special musical programs. It is expected by those in charge that the churches will all be filled, just as they were last year.

In addition to deciding on "go-to-church-Sunday," members of the Interchurch council discussed the plan of bringing "Billy" Sunday to Duluth some time this year. B. C. Wade, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., one of the members of the committee that visited the famous evangelist in Philadelphia several weeks ago, reported to the council that Mr. Sunday may come to Duluth, but that nothing definite will be known until this spring. At that time, Mr. Wade said, the committee would visit the baseball preacher at his home in Indiana.

"Mr. Sunday does not make his dates so far ahead," said Mr. Wade, "and it was impossible to name a definite time when he could be in Duluth. However, he will be at his home in Indiana in a few months and the committee will visit him again to obtain a definite answer."

PREFERS MARRIAGE TO PRISON TERM

Matrimonial Ad Leads to Arrest; Ely Man Forced Into Wedlock.

Answering matrimonial advertisements does not always lead directly to matrimonial bliss. In the case of Miss Ida Wesley aged 22 of Townsend, Mass., it led to court, but the aftermath was a wedding yesterday, which may save her husband from a Federal prison term.

Esa Tapola of Ely, who is the husband—since yesterday afternoon, is the man in the ticklish position. He was held under $1,000 bond yesterday by United States Commissioner Thomas H. Pressnell on a charge of violating the Mann act. Miss Wesley appeared as chief witness.

She said that she answered an advertisement in a Pittsfield, Mass., paper two years ago, and that she got a reply from Tapola, who asserted that he wanted a wife. After corresponding for about eighteen months Tapola sent her $25 for transportation, and she came to Ely to become his wife. There, she claims, he took her to his shack near the city, but says he said nothing further about marriage.

Miss Wesley says that she remained there five weeks and that Tapola told her that she did not cook well enough, gave her $5 and ordered her to leave. She says she then came to Duluth, worked about three months as a domestic, and then appealed to the assistant United States attorney, Egbert S. Oakley.

Tapola was given his freedom yesterday afternoon upon his promise to marry the woman and take care of her.

BAD COLD? GET RELIEF AT ONCE WITHOUT QUININE

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends severe colds or grippe in few hours.

You can end grippe and break up a severe cold either in head, chest, body or limbs, by taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

MINSTREL SHOW PROGRAM READY

Commercial Travelers Will Give Big Annual Event at Lyceum.

Duluth commercial travelers are ready to give one of the best minstrel shows in the history of their organization at the Lyceum theater tonight. Soloists and a chorus of forty voices will furnish the music and a number of vaudeville turns will be given.

Every year the commercial travelers put on a minstrel show, and each year the entertainment is improved. This year there is an array of talent that insures great success for the show. Charles Helmer has been directing the rehearsals, and he will conduct the orchestra tonight. George O'Sullivan will again be interlocutor this year, and the end men will be "Bill" McGraw, Clyde Robb, Amonson, Anderson and Johnson.

Following the minstrel show proper one of the best features of the program will be given in the nature of a vaudeville program. Dances, recitations, solos, and other turns will be included, and the program will be closed with an ensemble of the whole company.

QUIT SCHOOL TEACHING TO BECOME ACTRESS

MISS DORIS OLSSON.

Miss Doris Olsson, the new leading woman with the Baldwin company started out to become a school teacher and with that end in view attended the normal school in Brooklyn, her home city, but the school plays in which she took parts caused her to decide on the drama in preference to pedagogy.

Miss Olsson, who is completing her fourth year on the stage, arrived in Duluth Tuesday morning from New York, where she was playing the lead in "The Misleading Lady" in which Louis C. Stone is starring. The play was on the road early in the season, filled an engagement in Chicago a short time ago and is still running in New York.

After attending the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, Miss Olsson spent her first year on the stage with a road company in the East. Her second season she played the lead in "Officer 666." Since then she has been the leading woman in the Castle Square Stock company in Boston, her parts including that of Helena in "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Ophelia in "Hamlet."

INTERESTING LECTURES FOR MATINEE MUSICALE.

ERNEST LACHMUND.

ERNEST LACHMUND will give reminiscences of musicians he has met in Europe, before the study class of the Matinee Musicale at the meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the library clubroom.

Thomas Whitney Surette will lecture to the members of the Matinee Musicale March 2 and 3 and will answer questions asked by teachers and professional musicians, giving illustrations on the piano. Many who are interested are thinking up questions for Mr. Surette to answer.

Pilgrim Congregational church has been selected for these lectures as the auditorium lends itself to an intimate relation between lecturer and audience.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Co-operative Living a Good Idea.

It is rather strange, considering the numerous great benefits to be derived from co-operative living that working women do not more generally adopt the plan that has been worked out successfully in many places. It is rather strange, too, that young women receiving meager salaries have not more enthusiastically hailed this opportunity to live as befits human beings and as a loop-hole of escape from a condition of affairs wholly unsatisfactory and discouraging.

It is discouraging to work week in and week out and feel a the end of each one that you are not making the least bit of progress, but rather that you are falling behind in your assets of health, youth and determination. Living under the co-operative plan means better food to eat and more of it, living in a better locality with better sanitary conditions as well as better clothes and many other things that add zest to this life. And all at the same, and usually at less, expenditure of money per capita.

If women can save something out of the salary they receive at the end of the week and at the same time better their conditions of living in every respect, the scheme should be given a fair trial. If they have the true feminine instinct of home-making, they will have found it a great improvement over the existence in a hall bedroom and the sort of meals that accompany a $3.50 meal ticket.

There are numerous inducements that make the co-operative plan particularly attractive, and while all of them do not come to my mind at one and the same time, there is one that especially appealed to me after I made my escape from a boarding house where I had about as many privileges as a prison affords, and entered the home of friends of mine who were keeping house in real home fashion.

These were the laundry privileges. All one season I had been pinned down to a certain number of shirt waists, stocks, etc., because the laundry woman's prices were exorbitant. One can economize in this particular and many others that people do not think of when they count the cost of living, and yet must be considered because they make very serious inroads into one's capital.

By living on the co-operative plan, young people will have a splendid opportunity to put aside a bank account for the rainy day. All it requires to carry out the plan is a systematic head who has had the experience, and there is no need of missing any of the comforts and necessities of life. Those who have tried it are very enthusiastic over its possibilities and it is certainly worth the trial at least.

(b) "La Regatta Veneziana," (from "Soirees Musicales de Rossini,") Liszt

Mr. Morton was born in Galashiels, Scotland, but as he was very young when his parents left Galashiels for Aberdeen, where he was brought up, he regards himself as an Aberdinian.

He studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Dresden, and became a pupil of Felix Draescke in composition and of Laura Rappoldi Kahrer in pianoforte.

After leaving Germany Mr. Morton became a student at the Royal Academy of Music in London and took a thorough course in organ playing under Dr. Stevenson Hoyte and continued his composition studies under Prof. Ebenezer Prout.

On his return to Aberdeen he became master of the Queen's School for Girls and later of the Aberdeen grammar school. He was also appointed organist and choir director of one of the churches. He became well known as a piano virtuoso and as a choral director.

Lately Mr. Morton has come prominently before the public as an interpreter of Beethoven's music. The late J. Cuthbert Hadden, the eminent critic and literateur, referred to him as one of the best virtuosi in Scotland and other critics have spoken highly of his work.

CHILDREN'S HOME TOO SMALL FOR NEEDS; DIRECTORS PLAN ADDITIONAL BUILDING

Tentative plans for embarking upon a campaign to raise funds with which to erect an additional building for the Children's Home are now being made by members of the society conducting the affairs of that institution. The society hopes to complete plans and raise funds for an additional building at Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street by the time the frost is out of the ground in the spring.

Yesterday afternoon a special meeting of the directors of the society was held at the home of Miss Elizabeth Hoatson, 1701 East First street. The annual report of the past year's work was read and a copy ordered mailed to each associate member. The plans for the campaign to raise funds for the much-needed addition to the home were discussed. An appeal will be made to the public to assist in the work. The home now caring for 112 children under 12 years of age and has a payroll of fourteen adults. Mrs. G. Herbert Jones is president of the society.

Anyone may become associate member of the organization by contributing $1. The dollar may be remitted to Miss Elizabeth Hoatson, 1701 East First street. The present list of associate members is given as follows:

DRAMA LEAGUE'S PLAYS

Mrs. John A. Sinclair in Charge; "How He Lied to Her Husband" and "The Dear Departed" Chosen.

HOW He Lied to Her Husband" and "The Dear Departed" will be presented by the Drama League the next month at the Little Theater. Both are one-act plays and they will be given the same evening. They were scheduled for February, but postponed until next month. The big play which was to have been given in March will be given in April.

The plays will be under the direction of Mrs. John A. Sinclair, author and playwright, whose writings include chiefly stories for children. Mrs. Sinclair will also be in the cast of one of the plays.

"How He Lied to Her Husband" is a satire by George Bernard Shaw on his own play of "Candida." To enjoy the satire it is, of course, necessary to be familiar with the original. Briefly, "Candida" tells of a minister, his wife Candida, and a youthful artist. It is the usual "triangle," but treated in the Shaw way, which means it is unusual. The three quite frankly discuss the matter. At first the minister is inclined to mock heroics, but Candida tells him that she "belongs" to nobody, and that she will go with the one who needs her most. The minister, in his self-conceit thinks, of course, that this means the artist, for he does not see that he is absolutely dependent on his wife. The artist does see, however, and leaves the husband and wife together.

"Candida" created such a furore among the critics and playgoers that Shaw wrote a satire on it and called it "How He Lied to Her Husband."

MUSIC AS A PUBLIC SCHOOL STUDY

Mrs. Dixon Would Divide Pupils Into Three Classes, Those Studying for a Profession, for Amusement and for General Culture.

"'The appreciation of musical appreciation' is what we are trying to accomplish in the instructions given in the public schools of Duluth," said Mrs. Ann Dixon, supervisor of music in the high schools of the city. "In the chorus classes the elements of music are taught, preparatory to taking up the study of harmony proper, and later history and appreciation. We hope to have victrolas and piano players in the high schools in order that the pupils may become familiar with the best in music by hearing the best artists and the high forms of music which amateurs will never be able to execute. Everyone cannot learn to execute, but everyone is capable of learning to appreciate music. This appreciation is a requisite of a liberal education and of culture."

Course in High Schools.

"It is our plan to have the music in the grades lead to the course given in the high school. Just now the freshmen have the only organized course in music and this will lead into a regular four-year course. Freshmen are given their choice between drawing and music and they are almost evenly divided in these courses. Later on we may hope for a four-year course in music on the basis of other four-year subjects.

"When the high school pupils were asked if they would like to take music lessons, and if so upon what instruments, many expressed a wish to take up various instruments, including the organ and harp. It is hoped that in time the desired instruction on these various instruments can be given in the schools.

Three Classes of Students.

"Students in high school do not have time to spend on music in addition to their regular studies. This condition could be remedied if music were put in the course as a vocational study. Those who would take music would fall into three classes: those intending to make a profession of it; those taking it for their own amusement, and those taking it for general culture.

"We hope to have an arrangement by which those high school pupils taking from accredited music teachers may receive school credits. In Pittsburg, Minneapolis, Boston, Des Moines, Superior and many other towns credits are given for piano and violin work done outside the schools. Wisconsin is now trying to get a uniform musical course adopted throughout the state. Music work through high school, normal school and university tends toward the betterment of community music and general appreciation.

"In some cities where credit is given for outside lessons the pupils use throughout the high school course instruments bought by the school board. The orchestra and band instruments of the Oakland, Cal., high schools, valued at $6,000, are owned by the schools and at the completion of the school course may be bought at a nominal cost by the pupils if they wish. The members of the orchestra or band can club together to pay for a lesson by a good instructor, a luxury they could not afford singly. Piano, violin and other branches could be taught in classes in the same way.

"The importance of music in the schools was shown by Philander P. Claxton, the United States commissioner of education, who ranked it next to the three r's. Will Earhart of Pittsburg was appointed by Mr. Claxton to get statistics and report on the work of the secondary schools of the United States with special regard to music."

The Central and Denfeld high schools each has two new glee clubs, one for the boys and one for the girls, all under the direction of Mrs. Dixon who is also in charge of the Central high school orchestra which is being organized. D. W. Heistand, a member of the faculty, has the direction of the Denfeld school orchestra.

PUPILS ENJOY CONCERT PROGRAM

About 1,500 Are Given Rare Treat By Duluth Orchestra—Fine Program Rendered—Matinee Musicale Co-operates With Schools to Train Young Folk in Music.

DULUTH public school pupils enjoy Wagner and Saint-Saens.

Students from Duluth's schools crowded the auditorium at Central high school yesterday afternoon to hear the concert given for them by the Duluth Concert orchestra under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale. Nearly 1,500 students were present, representing the seventh and eighth grades of the public and parochial schools, the high schools, including the Cathedral high school and the state normal school.

"It was the most successful program of this kind ever given I believe," said Mrs. George S. Richards, president of the Matinee Musicale. "The attitude of the students was particularly gratifying, as they showed that they had taken some pains to learn about the program, and that they appreciated the music."

Educators throughout the United States recently have taken up the question of interesting public school students in good music, and a program similar to the one started here has been employed successfully in many cities. Minneapolis' Symphony orchestra, with its popular concerts for school students, made an excellent record, according to Mill City educators.

In its work of "making a recreation a civic proposition that will train future audiences and broaden the life of the community," members of the musicale are being aided by supervisors of music in the various schools. Several days before the program, short talks on the program given yesterday were arranged by the various supervisors, so that students could listen more intelligently.

Members of the musicale also were chosen to give short talks in the various schools. They were assigned as follows: Miss Josephine Carey, Bryant and Lester Park; Mrs. G. W. Ross, Washburn; Mrs. E. D. Edson, Madison; and Miss Carlotta Simonds, Monroe.

As arranged by Director Fred G. Bradbury and the Matinee Musicale committee, with Mrs. Charles S. Mitchell as chairman, the program included one or two numbers requested by the students, and was very well received.

Charles Helmer's trumpet solo "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah," was heartily applauded by the young music lovers, the artist being compelled to respond to an encore. "Woodland Whispers" and "Pomp and Circumstance," also were well received.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld gave a short talk before the program began, calling attention of the audience to the work done by the Matinee Musicale and the orchestra, in arranging the program for their enjoyment.

The program:

Selections from "Tannhauser".....Wagner
"Minuet a la 'Antico".....Karganoff
"Woodland Whispers".....Czibulka
Trumpet solo from "Samson and Delilah" ..... Saint-Saens
Charles Helmer.
"Dolly Dances" .....Poldini
"Crack Regiment Patrol".....Tobani
"In the Clock Store".....Orth
"Pomp and Circumstance" .....Elgar

MISS BRADSHAW SOLOIST AT FIRST SYMPHONY CONCERT

THE Duluth Concert orchestra will give the fourth of its winter series of concerts at the high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. The program to be rendered will be especially interesting in view of the fact that it will include two movements from Haydn's military symphony. It was from ideas laid down by Haydn in originating the form of symphonic music that the modern orchestra has developed.

Duluth's new orchestra is represented instrumentally by all that enters into the make-up of a symphonic orchestra and both Director Bradbury and his players have given freely of their time for rehearsals in order that smooth and finished performances might be given. Few, perhaps, realize the amount of work required in the preparation of a concert program and judging from the artistic quality of the concerts given so far means that the members of the orchestra have taken up their task with energy and enthusiasm.

As it is their aim to make the orchestra a permanent organization they feel that they have a reputation to establish and this now appears to be a foregone conclusion.

Miss Mary Bradshaw, who is so well and favorably known in local musical circles, will be the soloist, having recovered from her indisposition since the last concert when she was to have appeared.

Following is the complete program:

Marche Hongroise, from "Damnation of Faust" .....Berlioz
Selections from "Pagliacci".....Leoncavallo
"Lost Happiness", valse de salon, for string orchestra .....Gillet
Pizzicato polka from "Sylvia Ballet".....Delibes
Soprano solos—
(a) "To the Forest"...Tschaikowsky

MISS MARY BRADSHAW.

(b) "Schusucht" .....Costello
Miss Mary Bradshaw.
"Military Symphony;" minuetto; finale .....Haydn
"Whispering Flowers" .....Von Blon
"Chanson de Nuit" .....Elgar
"Fackeltanz" .....Meyerbeer

WILL REUNITE YEARLY UNTIL BUT ONE SURVIVES

Next Thursday night the Millennial class of the Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite Masons, will hold its first annual reunion and banquet at the Holland hotel, beginning a series of such yearly gatherings until but one member of the class survives.

Following the reunion and dinner, the gathering will go in a body to the Masonic temple to witness the exemplification of the nineteenth degree.

Next year the members will meet again and after organizing and reelecting officers, arrangements will be made for the second annual reunion to be held about this time, and so on until but one member of the class remains.

A year ago the Millennial class brought the membership of the Scottish Rite body past the 1,000 mark and for this reason a request was made by E. K. Coe, venerable master, that an organization be perfected. It was at the organization meeting that the members decided to hold a life series of reunions.

C. F. How, Jr., is president of the class for this year, and Fred G. Hanson, is secretary. J. Q. Adams is the third member of the executive committee. These officers and the banquet committee were selected at the annual meeting three weeks ago.

The members of the class are: J. Q. Adams, L. B. Arnold, F. D. Dash, T. F. Clark, D. A. Cone, H. D. Close, I. M. Duncan, J. H. Franklin, G. A. Farmer, F. G. Hanson, G. B. Hathaway, E. C. Heckroth, C. F. How, A. B. Kapplin, G. C. Kane, G. T. Kermott, F. G. Kleyn, A. L. Kreitter, C. N. Lewis, A. T. Lind, E. S. Lyden, H. Lydstad, J. T. Lundquist, J. R. McKinley, J. C. McDougal, O. W. Olson, Freeman R. Randall, E. H. Stevenson and L. J. Wixcen.

HELP POLAND! SAYS MME. SEMBRICH

Stirring Appeal Made By the Famous Operatic Star for Aid for Her Native Land.

There are nearly 25,000,000 Poles in Galicia, Prussia and Russia and 2,000,000 more in the United States who are asking that relief be sent to Poland at once. A dollar sent now means more than a hundred or a thousand dollars sent six months from now.

Today proud Poland is prostrated to the earth. She is worse than alone. Poland is in the very crux of the bloodiest struggle the world has ever known. Back and forth millions of men are struggling over Polish soil. In Polish Prussia, in Polish Russia, in Galicia, the Germans, Russians, Austrians and Hungarians are surging. The once cultivated fields of Poland are scarred with miles of trenches, forests are denuded for the usages of warfare, and cities, towns and hamlets are destroyed.

And what of her people? Their homes gone, their employment gone, their horses, cattle, their stores of vegetables gone—what wonder thousands have died from exposure and starvation! What wonder hundreds of thousands are dying! The men are obliged to enter into warfare, cousin forced to fight against cousin; their aged are perishing from want, their babes dying at empty breasts! Our one time wealthy Poles, who have always cared for the poor, can no longer do so, for their estates are destroyed and their wealth gone, and they are now as poor as the poorest. They now need bread even more than ever did the poor in times of peace.

Many families whose little homes have been destroyed are living in caves and struggling with wild beasts in their fight for a meager supply of food, shivering over little fires at the entrances of the caves, and day by day the weaker ones are dying from exposure and the lack of food. Many of our famous men, artists, jurists and scholars have been forced to peddle wood to earn their bread, and in a land where not one person in fifty has money it is a heartbreaking task to attempt to earn enough for bare existence.

There is no more deserving land or more deserving people in all the world. In Poland it is the poets, artists, novelists, sculptors and scholars who are accorded great public honor rather than people of mere wealth. And now that all the horrors of war are thrust upon my people—a war of which they had no making or desire to make—they must suffer want and privation—yes, cold and hunger—day by day to an extent the rest of the world cannot realize.

Food and clothing and sufficient money to provide shelters, are Poland's crying need. Every dollar's worth sent means the saving of a life. Warm-hearted, generous Americans have been told but little of poor Poland's needs. No one could adequately describe the sufferings of Poland's people, but I am sure the people of this country, who remember the great service rendered the struggling American colonies by Pulaski and Kosciusko, will gladly send aid to Poland when they understand how direful is the distress of her people and how great her needs.

Every dollar of your aid sent to the American Polish relief society, 14 East Forty-seventh street, New York city, will reach and relieve some sufferer in Poland. MARCELLA SEMBRICH.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At last Saturday's election, Arnulf Ueland of Minneapolis was elected managing editor of the 1917 Gopher. The Gopher board representatives elected are as follows: Academic, Donald Timmerman, and Ethel Hoskins both of Minneapolis; law, Edwin Chapman, Minneapolis; medicine, Ray Schutt, Bremerton, Wash; dentistry, Charles Sell, Adrian; agriculture, Oscar Amundson, Duluth; mines and chemistry, T. E. Cassidy, St. Paul; engineering, Edward Anderson of Minneapolis. In the vote on the Men's Union constitution, the college of agriculture was the only one opposed to its adoption. With the exception of the school of mines, all colleges favored restricted smoking in the Men's Union building.

After a hot campaign which covered a period of three days the sale of 1916 Gophers closed Wednesday night with an unprecedented result, over 2,000 copies having been ordered. A surprisingly large number sold were of those of the de luxe edition, which sells at $4.

* * *

The university crack squad will hold an informal dancing party in the Armory, Saturday, March 6. A program of sixteen dances has been arranged, with an exhibition drill to come between the eighth and ninth dances.

* * *

Prof. H. R. Smith, head of the animal husbandry department at the university farm, has accepted a position as leader in a livestock campaign throughout the Northwest, under the direction of James J. Hill and has resigned from the university farm.

* * *

A vocational conference, the first of its kind to be held at the university, took place Wednesday and Thursday. All women who attended these meetings were excused from their classes. On Wednesday, besides the splendid program of talks on vocational work at the university farm, a number of tours about the campus were made.

* * *

University students will be able to attend a real patriotic party at the Armory this evening. Dr. and Mrs. William Holman and Prof. and Mrs. Otto Zellner of the engineering college will chaperon.

* * *

The girls' skating tournament will be held on Thursday, Feb. 25, at 3 o'clock at the Hippodrome. The tournament will include fancy figure skating and speed events.

* * *

The compilation of the freshman marks was finished by Feb. 15, and as a result this week witnesses the annual trips home of the freshmen who are under the scholastic requirement of being up in 75 per cent of their work. Those who have survived and are pledged to fraternities will be formally initiated next week.

WEST END

DENIES FEDERAL SEEDS ARE POOR

Dr. Oredson Defends Government Offerings Against Charges.

Charges made at the meeting of the West End Commercial club Thursday night that seeds furnished by the agricultural department at Washington are not adaptable to this climate are denied by Dr. O. A. Oredson, who says he assisted in distributing 7,000 such packages among Duluth children and residents two years ago. He declares that he has yet to hear of any complaints made against the seeds and that, as far as he knows, they all were productive.

"Two years ago I distributed to each of 750 children of the West end an average of seven packages of seeds," said Dr. Oredson this morning. "The other 2,000 packages were given to different residents after the contest was well under way. It is not fair to the government to say that its seeds are no good for this climate.

"The hardiest variety of seeds was asked for and I believe these were sent. These seeds are grown by the government at experimental farms in Michigan, and should be adaptable to this climate."

Dr. Oredson announced that he has been given the names of 246 pupils at two West end schools. These names had been forwarded to Washington with requests to furnish them seeds and he said he expected the seeds in time for early planting this spring.

PROGRAM ALMOST COMPLETE.

Commercial Club Will Give Annual Banquet March 5.

Preparations for the annual banquet to be held by the West End Commercial club on Friday evening, March 5, at the Rex hotel, will be completed during the coming week, according to the committee. Capt. K. A. Franklin, chairman, says the arrangements are about all made and that the program would be completed within a few days.

Dr. O. A. Oredson, who has charge of the program, says that several good speakers will be secured, among whom are several local men. A good musical program is being arranged. H. O. Hanson has charge of the tickets and invitations.

PASTOR BACK FROM WEST.

Rev. H. O. Hanson Organizes New Congregations.

Rev. H. O. Hanson, pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, returned this morning from Spokane, Wash., where he has had charge of the organizing of a new English Lutheran congregation. Rev. Mr. Hanson said that the field was large and that he had secured the services of a divinity student to look after the work until such a time as a regular pastor could be sent into the field.

Rev. Mr. Hanson is field secretary for the English Lutheran denomination in the United States and has been instrumental in organizing a large number of churches throughout the country. He will occupy the pulpit of his church tomorrow at both services.

New Lodge Formed.

Plans are being made for the instituting of a new lodge of Mystic Workers of the World in the West end. E. E. Hahn, organizer for the lodge, who has charge of the work, announced this morning that the new lodge would be instituted within the nex tweek or ten days. The order has now two lodges in the city, one uptown and another in West Duluth.

"A True Wife" His Topic.

The third of a series of sermons on "The Family From the Bible Standpoint" will be given tomorrow evening by Rev. C. W. R. Wermine, pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. The subject tomorrow night will be "A True Wife." Last Sunday he talked on "A True Husband."

Second Lenten Tea.

St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will entertain Thursday afternoon in the guild rooms at its second of a series of Lenten teas. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Gust Johnson, Mrs. Thomas Bark and Mrs. R. L. Hughes.

West End Briefs.

Watson S. Moore will speak tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the men's meeting to be held at the Star theater under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Special music will be given.

The Young People's Society of the Swedish Methodist church entertained at a social in the church parlors last night. Miss Agnes Olson was hostess.

A get-together meeting has been planned for next Tuesday evening by the oYung People's Society of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, has planned to serve an oyster supper in the church next Friday evening.

"Fanny Crosby" services will be observed tomorrow evening at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. Songs composed by Miss Crosby will be sung during the evening.

DISEASE GERMS

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

There are many things in the world which our five senses unaided would never apprise us of. There are sounds too delicate for the ear to hear, odors which we cannot smell, flavors which we fail to recognize, movements and vibrations to which our nerve centers do not respond and innumerable objects in nature which we cannot see.

Even the bravest man shrinks from danger which is unseen. The deadliest enemies of mankind are absolutely invisible to the naked eye. Tuberculosis, cholera, typhoid fever, the plague, yellow fever and many other of the diseases which claim a greater number of lives than have ever been sacrificed in war are caused by those invisible enemies which scientists call bacteria or micro organisms. Commonly these are referred to as disease germs.

Bacteria are minute organisms the largest of which are only some ten or twelve thousandths of an inch in length. Not all bacteria are harmful but those which are responsible for disease when introduced into the human or animal economy multiply with startling rapidity and give poisons which cause sickness and death. Millions of these organisms could be contained in a single drop of water.

There are three very common ways in which disease germs are carried from person to person and introduced into the system—fingers, food and insects. Foods which are eaten raw and milk and water are those most likely to transmit infection. Thorough cooking destroys the bacteria and unless the food is infected by being handled afterward, it is safe.

Our fingers are continually coming in contract with articles touched by others and may be so contaminated with human excretions from those diseased. The intestinal discharges of those suffering from typhoid fever contain the germs and here uncleanliness is responsible for the transmission. Many epidemics of typhoid fever have been traced to a single case on a dairy farm where the housewife acted as nurse and milk maid.

Insects alone are responsible for the transmission of the germs of certain diseases. Yellow fever and malaria for example are each carried by a single variety of mosquito from the sick to the well.

Winter Doubles Work.

In summer the work of eliminating poisons and acids from the blood is helped by perspiration. In cold weather, with little outdoor work or exercise to cause sweating, the kidneys have to do double work. Foley Kidney Pills help overworked, weak and diseased kidneys to filter and cast out of the blood the waste matter that causes pains in sides or back, rheumatism, lumbago, stiffness of joints, sore muscles, and other ills resulting from improper elimination. Sold everywhere.

THE SATURDAY HERALD YOUR SUNDAY PAPER

A WELL DESIGNED BUNGALOW FOR DULUTH

We present to our readers for this week a very attractive bungalow with an interior arrangement that should appeal to all lovers of this type of architecture. We specially want to call your attention to the small compact hall connecting the bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen and dining room. This is all the hall space needed in this plan and upon close study you will see how well it answers its purpose—that of shutting the kitchen and sleeping section off from the main part of the house. The bungalow could be erected in Duluth for $4,000, using a first-class finish throughout. The color scheme the architects have in mind is one of the important features of the design.

ELECTRICITY

AN ESSENTIAL FACTOR IN EVERY HOME

There is nothing that makes life more pleasant than when one has an up-to-date and modern home to live in. Among the numerous things essential to make any home complete and modern, electricity stands out the most prominent. Without electric lights, for instance, a home is like a kindergarten class with an inefficient teacher—the home without light that is the cleanest, safest and best, and the class is not getting the enlightenment and training that is due it. Every tenant occupying a rented room, flat or house that is without electric lights, should insist that the landlord install that convenience immediately; otherwise he will still remain paying rent for something that lacks the greatest factor—electricity.

And there are other electrical devices that should be in every modern home outside of lights. For instance, a housewife can be saved innumerable hours of toil by getting her such practical things as electrical washers, irons, percolators, etc. She is entitled to every one of those articles. Her health warrants it, so why not step into the offices of the immediately and get her at least one or two of those articles, at the same time talking over the electrical lighting of your house if you already haven't that convenience.

MILLIONAIRE IS INDICTED BY JURY

Harry Chandler Charged With Conspiracy to Violate Neutrality.

Los Angeles, Feb. 20.—Harry Chandler, millionaire land owner and son-in-law of General Harrison Grey Otis, owner of the Times, was indicted yesterday by the Federal grand jury on a charge of having conspired to violate the neutrality of the United States. He and six other men indicted are accused of having recruited soldiers in the United States to serve in an invasion of Mexican territory of Lower California.

The other defendants are Baltazar Aviles, former governor of Lower California; B. J. Viljoen, a former Boer army commander; Walter Bowker, general manager of the California-Mexico Land & Cattle company's ranch; Charles Guzman, a real estate agent; Jeronimo Sandoval of San Diego and Francisco Ayon. The cattle company is owned largely by Chandler and Gen. Otis and has large holdings in Lower California. Agents of the department of justice said that in return for the work of alleged armed expeditions which they declared were planned to overrun Lower California, certain cattle companies were to be allowed to bring cattle in and out of the Mexican territory without payment of export or import duties.

It is alleged that Aviles, who was to organize and conduct the expedition, was financed by Chandler. The latter admitted that Aviles received some money from the California-Mexico Land & Cattle company, but asserted in a statement that the sums paid were in settlement of taxes paid to Aviles as an accredited officer of Lower California.

Aviles Driven Out.

Aviles was driven out of Lower California by Col. Esteban Cantu, said to have been an adherent of Huerta. Cantu is now in command of an independent force at Mexicali, the port nearest the California-Mexico company's Mexican holdings and is said to have been collecting export duties on cattle amounting to $20 per head.

Chandler stated he had never discussed any of the subjects mentioned in the indictment with Aviles or with the latter's associates, and that he had never had any business dealings with them. He declared there had been no violation of the neutrality laws that he knew of.

"I did authorize Gen. Viljoen to settle claims for taxes and other claims against the California-Mexico Land & Cattle company," Chandler said. "Our company has proper receipts for all the money advanced to the Lower California government through Gen. Aviles. Payments were all duly authorized by Aviles' superior officers in Mexico."

Guzman is the only one of the indicted men in jail. All the others are out on $2,500 bonds and Chandler was released on $3,000 bonds.

Bridge Guard Doubled.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 20.—The military guards at the international bridges were doubled yesterday. Special cars brought fifty more soldiers from the Nineteenth regiment to this city. No reason was made known for this increase in the guard.

MAY BE HELD AS WAR PRISONER

Freed of "Slave" Charge, Austrian Reservist Faces Canadian Authorities.

Paul Kuculyma, who was freed from jail here yesterday by the immigration authorities, may be held in Canada as a prisoner until the close of the European war. Kuculyma is an Austrian reservist.

Kuculyma's troubles began when he came to Duluth with a woman, whom he represented to be his wife, and left his own wife and children in Canada. Later he went to Superior, where he lived with his companion as her husband. His real wife appeared on the scene later and Kuculyma was arrested, and Mrs. Kuculyma and her two children were deported, as the government authorities here believed they would become public charges if allowed to remain here.

Her husband and the other woman, Anna Benyuk, were ordered deported to Austria, but Kuculyma was held for the grand jury on a charge of bringing the woman here from Canada for immoral purposes.

He was indicted, but when tried, it was found that immoral relations were not begun until after their arrival here, and that the woman did not know that Kuculyma had paid her fare. Kuculyma was rearrested, however, under a warrant ordering his deportation to Austria. Anna Benyuk is living at Superior, but faces deportation as soon as safe transportation can be secured.

Murderer Dies From Wounds.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 20.—Richard Incto, the crippled section hand from Montana, who shot and killed Charles Dryden and R. E. Patten, Northern Pacific clerks, because of a grievance he had nursed against their employer for failure to be compensated for loss of his leg, died yesterday from bullet wounds inflicted by the policemen, who besieged and captured him.

Chicago in 1910 contained 3,036 French, 6,564 Greeks, 65,965 Irish and 10,306 Scotch.

STAGELAND

NEW openings during the week in New York were as follows:

Robert Mantell in "Louis XI."

Granville Barker's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

"Maid in America," the new Winter Garden show.

"The Trap," a new play by Richard Harding Davis and Jules Eckert Goodman with Martha Redman and Holbrook Blinn featured.

Some of the New York successes which are still running are: Ethel Barrymore in "The Shadow," Otis Skinner in "The Silent Voice," Frances Starr in "Marie Odile," Marie Dressler in "A Mix-up," Elsie Ferguson in "Outcast," Margaret Illington in "The Lie," Montgomery and Stone, "On Trial," "Experience," "It Pays to Advertise," "The White Feather," "Song of Songs," "Under Cover," "The Law of the Land," Twin Beds," "Daddy Long Legs," "A Pair of Silk Stockings," "Life," "Watch Your Step," "Sinners" and "Kick In."

Judging from the opinions of the New York dramatic critics, "Marie Odile," the new Belasco production for Frances Starr is the most notable attraction current. The critic of the Times discusses it as follows:

In the three acts of his new play Mr. Knoblauch has written down a story of sheltered innocence brought defenseless into contact with the world as it is. For playwright and producer, there was in his idea and plan the dismaying difficulty that it would have to be done just right or not at all. From the first there must have been the sense that one false step would pitch them both into unpleasantness or into helpless absurdity. Mr. Knoblauch communicated to his part of the work something of the tone of a parable and Mr. Belasco, in intention and achievement, has met this with a production that is dignifiedly and even austerely simple. The result is like a single utterance. Mr. Knoblauch's play neither asks nor suffers elaborate analysis. As with the pure note of a bell, you can say of it only that it is pleasing and true and satisfying.

WILLIAM A. BRADY is bemoaning the scarcity of good players to fill out his casts, in spite of the large number of idle because of the war.

"The home stretch of the theatrical season," said the optimistic Mr. Brady to a New York reporter, "is developing a great deal of speed, and I am taking advantage of the fast track and other favoring conditions. On a business trip through the West before the holidays I found that commercial interests were awakening, and I began to make ready for an early renewal of operations upon the scale I am accustomed to follow in good times. I have not finished my dramatic presentations for the season and shall put on at least two new plays, which will go into rehearsal next week.

"But what am I to do for casts? There are unusual difficulties in the way of securing first class casts nowadays, in spite of the poor conditions earlier in the season, which threw hundreds of actors and actresses out of employment. One would think that such a situation would have caused an oversupply of desirable talent, but such is not the case. The minute good actors (and there are not too many of them) found themselves out of work they were snapped up by moving picture producers at increased salaries. The competition between the photoplay people has become extremely keen, and if it continues to increase I don't know what we are going to do for actors in the regular theaters."

DULUTH is not the only city to suffer from lack of good traveling attractions.

The panic into which producers were thrown by the war and the resultant business depression are being felt by first class theaters in even the biggest cities. The leading theaters in such cities as Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Columbus, and Denver are dark much of the time because of the impossibility of booking attractions. What plays have been produced have been kept in New York to keep the Broadway theaters open. Earlier in the season the "hang overs" from last season served to fill in. Companies that had been booked far ahead finished their tours in many instances, but now the retrenchment policy is being keenly felt, and it may result in a belated scramble to get productions on the road for the spring season following Lent.

The situation in a nutshell is that there are not enough attractions worthy of being presented in a first class theater, to keep the theaters in even the biggest inland cities open.

DULUTH has fared better than most cities of its size. With a permanent stock company, the Empress reopening with a musical stock company, and two good vaudeville theaters, it has at least had variety in its amusements, even if it has been virtually cut off from first class traveling dramatic attractions.

* * *

FOLLOWING the agreement between the Shuberts and Klaw & Erlanger, resulting in the closing of scores of theaters, the problem of providing attractions for these theaters is now uppermost. One solution which has been offered, and which will probably be tried, is the formation of a circuit of stock companies. Werba and Luescher have been mentioned as possible managers of this circuit. There are now about 120 stock companies in the country and if the plan suggested is adopted, the number will be doubled at least in the next year. If that is the case William A. Brady's complaint of a scarcity of good actors, may prove to be only too true.

MISS MARGARET BRAUN,
Prima Donna, Who Is Appearing With Her Sister in a Musical Act at the New Grand.

At the Sunbeam.

"The Story of the Blood Red Rose," a Selig medieval drama by James Oliver Curwood will be the feature attraction at the Sunbeam theater tomorrow. The story, which is in three parts is laid in the middle of the seventeenth century, and the incidents take place in the fanciful kingdom of Urania in the days when soldiers used cross-bows instead of guns, and when laced sleeves and witches were the fashion. On Monday and Tuesday the first installment of "Flora Fourflush" or "Treachery in the Clouds" will be shown. Charles Brown, Clara Kimball Young, and L. Rogers Lytton three of the eminent Vitagraph players sustain the plot. The Elgin road races of last season which were won by Ralph de Palma are also booked for Monday's program. On Wednesday and Thursday Charles Chapman known as the funny man of the Essanay company will appear in the two-reel comedy "A Night Out." The management of the Sunbeam has arranged for the presentation here next Saturday, Feb. 27 of Hanlon Brothers famous spectacle "Fantasma." This five-reel picture which is portrayed by the Edison players under the direction of the General Film company is one of the latest film successes and is a delightful fairy story which will please both the ladies and the children. George Hanlon, Jr., assumes the role of Pico and he is surrounded by an eminent cast of players.

CORINNE FRANCIS
Of Hunting & Francis at the Orpheum Next Week.

WHAT PRESS AGENTS PROMISE FOR DULUTH THEATERS

NEW PLAY AND NEW LEADING WOMAN

Miss Doris Olsson Will Make Debut With Baldwin Players.

Next week will be "Automobile Week" in Duluth, and Manager Baldwin of the Baldwin Players has made special preparations to entertain Duluth's visitors during the time they are not in attendance at the automobile show.

He has chosen for the week a new play that has never been seen in Duluth. Miss Doris Olsson, the new leading woman, will make her first appearance, and a special holiday matinee will be given on Monday.

The play chosen for next week is "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," and it is expected to prove the most popular play yet presented by the Baldwin company during the winter engagement. It is a new play and has not yet had an opportunity to become shopworn, by being presented by second-rate road companies.

"Hawthorne of the U. S. A." was written for Douglas Fairbanks, who starred in it successfully for one season. With the prospect of a poor season in theatrical business, the play was laid aside last summer, and when the war broke out and the few companies that were destined for the road decided to remain in New York, it was released to stock companies.

Since that time it has been produced less than a dozen times by stock companies, and aside from those engagements it has not been seen outside of New York.

The play is a romantic comedy, said to be breezy, fresh, full of action, romance and ludicrous and dramatic situations. The hero is an American officer who goes to one of the smaller kingdoms of Europe. He falls in love with a princess, quells a revolution, exposes an intrigue against the king, saves the life of the king and finally wins the love of the princess. To tell how he finally solves his own love problem would be to detract from the enjoyment of those who will see it.

The hero of such a romantic comedy is naturally a self-confident, smiling young American, who sees humor in the most critical of situations. His ideas of American independence do not fit well with the life in the little kingdom, and his methods are startling but effective. In such a part Homer Barton is at his best. His most successful performances have been in such plays as "Broadway Jones" and "Brewster's Millions," where he has a good opportunity for light comedy. As the breezy, young American officer next week, he is expected to add to his admirers in Duluth.

Miss Olsson will make her first appearance as the princess. The part is not a trying one, but it will give Lyceum audiences an opportunity to judge of Miss Olsson's abilities. She has been leading woman with the Castle Square Stock company of Boston, which is the oldest and most firmly established stock company in America. Miss Olsson is the youngest leading woman the Baldwin Players have had, but with such experience as she has had in her brief career, she is expected to more than make good with Lyceum patrons.

A special holiday matinee will be given by the Baldwin Players on Monday, Washington's birthday, so that there will be four matinees during the week—Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

DIVING SEAL AND LADDIE CLIFF

Two Interesting Features to Next Week's Orpheum Bill.

A seal that will perform stunts in a glass tank, "a la Annette Kellerman," in conjunction with the exhibitions of aquatic skill of three young men, is indeed a rare vaudeville novelty, but this is to be one of the features of the Orpheum bill for the coming week, starting Sunday matinee.

The act is that of the three Travilla brothers and their trained seal. Mr. Seal is certainly an astounding performer. Of course he owes the bulk of his accomplishments to Messrs Travilla, who are themselves a trio of champion swimmers and divers, and yet he takes great joy in his work and seems so alive to its possibilities that one is inclined to forget that he is only a trained seal and to regard him as an actual artist. What he does is better seen than described.

Laddie Cliff, England's favorite young comedian, who stepped into instant popularity with American audiences with his appearance in one of the principal parts at the Folies Bergere, is to be another important feature on the week's bill. This is Laddie Cliff's second tour of the Orpheum circuit, although his first appearance in Duluth. Unusual originality in songs and comedy, clever eccentric dances and a pleasing personality have made Laddie Cliff one of vaudeville's best cards and his success has been phenomenal.

Ben Deely and Marie Wayne are another act on the bill that will contribute more than a full share of hearty comedy with their latest one-act comedy, "The New Bell Boy." Many funny things happen in hotel offices, but probably nothing ever happened in any real hotel half so funny as the make-believe hotel lobby of Ben Deely's act.

Tony Hunting and Corinne Francis in their "A Love Lozenge" act add another rich bit of comedy to the bill. The "Love Lozenge" of the act is supposed to make anyone who eats it fall desperately in love with the first person met. It is an idea that creates an abundance of genuine fun.

Lawrence and Hurl Falls contribute the thrills in the show with an acrobatic tumbling and acrobatic act that is sensational in the extreme, yet time is taken by the two men in the midst of their sensational stunts to introduce a number of good laughs.

Two reels of good pictures complete the bill.

COHAN SHOW AT THE NEW EMPRESS

Stock Company Will Present "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway."

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," probably the most successful of the productions of George Cohan, is the second vehicle in which the Manhattan musical comedy players will appear at the New Empress theater. The company will open Sunday afternoon, with a special holiday matinee Monday and regular matinees Tuesday and Saturday afternoons.

The Manhattan players, who opened at the New Empress last Sunday for an indefinite engagement, seem to be filling a long-felt want, judging from the large audiences all of this week.

Good voices are the best asset of any company presenting musical attractions, and every principal in the company, especially the prima donna, Miss Mabel Day, is gifted in this line.

Next week Miss Day will have an opportunity to again sing several solo numbers. The song hits of "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" are "So Long, Mary," "Mary's a Grand Old Name," "I Want to Be a Popular Millionaire," "Gentlemen of the Press" and "Only Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."

The show, which is declared by many to be the best ever produced by George Cohan, featured Fay Templeton and Victor Moore in the leading roles for a whole season. Their parts will be played by Miss Day, who will portray the role of Mary Jane Jenkins, the maid, and James McElhearn, who will appear in the part of Kid Burns, the prizefighter.

The scenes of "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" are laid in New Rochelle, which really is forty-five minutes from the great metropolis. Throughout the play Mr. Cohan shows how the suburbanites live, presenting a humorous picture, although keeping entirely away from the burlesque.

Mary Jenkins, the maid in the home of the millionaire at New Rochelle, is well liked by her employer. He dies and is supposed to leave a will, giving Mary all his property, but the will cannot be found. The property is turned over to his nephew, a young sport, with a bookmaker chum, Kid Burns, who later discovers the document in a pocket of a suit formerly worn by the millionaire. He conceals it during a succession of amusing complications and original dramatic situations, finally revealing it to Mary, who destroys it to retain his love.

Kid Burns is a retired prizefighter, with a vocabulary of uncommonly rich slang.

Hudson Freeborn, director of the company, announces that several beautiful ensemble numbers have been prepared and that in addition some late song hits are to be introduced. New scenery and costumes for the principals and chorus have been obtained for the production next week.

Besides Miss Day and Mr. McEl-

CROWDED HOUSES AT THE NEW GRAND

Current Bill Is Attractive; Change of Program Monday.

The combination of excellent vaudeville and photoplays on the current bill at the New Grand has proved a big attraction at that popular playhouse, and crowded houses have been the feature of almost every performance. The present bill will show today and tomorrow and will be followed on Monday by an entirely new program.

Miss Margaret Braun, the high class soprano, who appears in a song repertoire with her sister at the piano, has been one of the best attractions seen at the Grand since its opening. Both her personality and voice fit her ideally as a vaudeville favorite.

Bob and Peggy Valentine are pleasing with their diverting bit of character and comedy work, and Peggy is a dancer of no mean accomplishment. She is ably assisted by her partner.

Gormley and Caffrey are good gymnasts and acrobats, and have some new and clever turns. Humid Kala Pasha and company put on a clever comedy wrestling bout.

Charles Chaplin, the "funniest" man in the "movies," is making his first appearance at the Grand in a film comedy entitled "His New Job." "Chappy" alone is worth the price of admission and will undoubtedly become a film favorite in his series of pictures now begun. Maurice Costello is starred in a play of great heart interest, and Miss Helen Holmes appears in another railway episode of a thrilling nature, "The Little Engineer." The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial offers many features of the current news of the week.

The new bill, which will open an engagement Monday, promises to be one of much interest. It has a wide variety of bright features well suited to a vaudeville audience.

The Three Dixon Girls will offer a song and dance act of merit. The girls are said to possess "some" charm and to be graceful and clever.

Hugo Lutgens, the Swedish comedy preacher, who has made a wide reputation as a clever dialectician, will doubtless be a favorite.

Dow and Dow are Hebrew comedians, who are said to have a new line of jokes and dances.

The Three Dietrich Brothers are athletes and gymnasts who have an unusually good offering.

The motion pictures will be up to the Grand standard.

AT THE REX.

New Mary Pickford Story, "Mistress Nell," Will Be Shown.

The Sunday show at the Rex will consist of six special stories.

Monday and Tuesday at the Rex will be army and Indian warfare days. In "The Girl I Left Behind Me," David Belasco's blood-stirring drama of the army life on the plains and at an army post is depicted vividly. To secure the proper atmosphere for the play—the entire company was sent to Fort Assinaboine, and there amidst the rugged Western scenery, with real troopers, and real Indians this stirring military story was made.

The latest "Mary Pickford" picture, "Mistress Nell," will be at the Rex Wednesday and Thursday. The Paramount Famous Players have far outshone all their previous efforts, to give little Mary a play that would bring out all her charm and skill. The story opens on the hunt with the horses and hounds. Little Mary appears at the duchess' ball in the garb of a young dandy in order to gain court secrets for her lover, as Nell Gwynn, the whimsical, piquant little favorite of the English public and their king, is one of the most amazing characters ever presented in a drama.

In one of the most thrilling successes of the season, Hobart Bosworth in the role of "Buckshot John," is given unusual opportunities to display his genius and Mr. Bosworth portrays a ruthless desperado, a repentant convict, doing some very difficult riding, submitting to the "lynching party" leaping in front of a "limited flyer" at imminent risk of his life, "riding the rods," of a freight train and jumping when it is under full headway, with other stunts perilous to life. These thrilling events mingled with a wholesome story, help to make this a treat.

At the Zelda.

Carlyle Blackwell, in the five-act production, "The Man Who Could Not Lose" believed in dreams very strongly, in fact so strongly that he made a million dollars, all as a result of a little dream. I. S. Mistachkin, manager of the Zelda theater, has made arrangements to present Carlyle Blackwell in his greatest success, "The Man Who Could Not Lose." It is a very pretty little story, dramatic and touching, dealing with the trials of a writer, who finds it very hard to barely exist as an author. His first novel entitled "The Dead Heat" proves an absolute failure. Later he meets a pretty girl, whom he learns to be the daughter of a banker, falls in love with her, only to meet with her father's objections. Carter elopes with Dolly and for a while they live near the edge of poverty, when in a dream he sees a horse named Dromedary win the suburban handicap, and the many many interesting occurrences that follow are more than space will permit to mention. This story is from the book by Richard Harding Davis, and was produced by a complete star cast and is released under the Alliance Film corporation with whom the Zelda theater has a contract to present all releases. This production will be seen at the Zelda Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the opera "Mignon" will be shown.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" ends her successful three days' engagement tonight, and a complete change of program will be given the Zelda patrons tomorrow including the fourth episode of "The Exploits of Elaine."

MOTION PICTURE BREVITIES

In Dallas there is one woman who is very happy whenever she sees Clara Kimball Young's name announced there. That enthusiast is Mrs. J. A. Cressler, an aunt of the star, who says that she has watched the rise of her niece from a beginner with the Vitagraph, a little over three years, to the top of the ladder of success. Mrs. Cressler felt especially proud of "The Deep Purple." Two of her sisters have parts in the photoplay. One is the mother of the star, Mrs. Edward Kimball, while the other sister plays the part of Frisco Kate.

The child welfare committee of the Twentieth Century club of Detroit held a benefit matinee last week. The motion picture selected was the World Film California Motion Picture corporation production of Beatrice Michelena in "Mignon." This is the first time the committee asked the Detroit public for assistance towards furthering its work and a capacity house greeted their efforts. Part of the proceeds go to the National Child Welfare association, while the balance will be used for work in Detroit.

In the coming Vivian Martin feature that is being made at the World Film studios at Fort Lee, under the direction of Emile Chautard, there will appear the following players: Milton Sills, who has just concluded his work in "The Pit" with Wilton Lackaye; Alec B. Francis, who has just finished working in the Robert Warwick feature, "Alias Jimmy Valentine;" Fred C. Truesdell and Miss Nora Sisson. The feature itself will be unique, but admirers of Miss Martin may feel certain that the prestige that she won in "The Wishing Ring" will be augmented by the reputation she will receive from her work in her new vehicle.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

A new all-star vaudeville feature, consisting of Norah Bayes, Harry Fox and Jennie Dolly, is said to be in process of formation. The stars are said to be willing, if the managers will come across with the necessary cash, of which considerable is said to be required.

* * *

Poor Fritzi Scheff is having troubles of her own these days. Not only has her latest show gone up the spout and the minions of the law behaved rather rudely to her in connection therewith, according to report; but now some of her creditors declare that she failed to register jewelry to the amount of a small fortune in her bankruptcy proceedings of about a year ago. These creditors therefore are opposed to her being discharged by the court.

Andreas Dippel may produce "The Daring of Dianne," a short musical comedy by Max Reinhardt, which served as a vaudeville act across the water.

* * *

Tillie Olsen, known as the "Divine Venus," has been refused admission to this country by the immigration authorities. She is an Australian by birth and was accompanied on her trip over here by one James Trout, known as "The Human Fish." Trout is a citizen of this country. The two were registered on the boat as Mr. and Mrs. Trout. The man was allowed to enter, but the fair one had to wend her way back to a more congenial clime.

Elsie Janis has returned to England and will open her London engagement Feb. 25.

* * *

Vessela's (the bandmaster) musical show, "The Girl of Girls," has been withdrawn from the stage for the present. It is said that after Harry Blossom and George Hobart have furnished a new book it will be started out again.

* * *

Walker Whiteside will again appear in "Mr. Wu," having been booked for a road tour by Klaw & Erlanger.

Winthrop Ames is to produce a play by Mary Roberts Rinehart, entitled "Otto IX."

* * *

The last company playing "The Rosary" closed down at Cleveland.

* * *

Thursday evening will mark the one hundred and twenty-fifth performance of "Life" at the Manhattan opera house.

* * *

Joseph Brooks is evidently one of those who believe that the time is ripe for the reappearance of the old-time melodrama. At any rate, it is said that he will attempt to put new life into "Taken From Life" and "The Soudan," both of which will be well remembered by older theater patrons.

* * *

Selwyn and company have just organized a third company of "Twin Beds," by Salisbury Field and Margaret Mayo. The first "Twin Beds" company is still in New York at the Fulton theater, while a second company has been successful on tour.

* * *

It is rumored that William J. Wilson, Arthur Voegtlin and Manuel Klein, who have had much to do with the success of the New York Hippodrome productions will next season operate on their own hook. According to accounts they will have no trouble as to securing a properly equipped house or the necessary financial backing.

* * *

Lois Ewell, formerly star of the Century Opera company, will join the ranks of the vaudevillians.

* * *

It is said that Sophie Tucker, who recently had to give up her vaudeville engagements on account of voice trouble, is slowly recovering and has under consideration an offer to go to Australia for a season of eighteen weeks.

* * *

Fred Niblo and wife, who was Josephine Cohan, and both of whom have spent the last years of their career in Australia, will return to America next June, to appear in a new play under the direction of Cohan and Harris.

Johnnie Ford, who still is the husband of Eva Tanguay, although he has been sued for divorce by her, has made up things with his first wife, Mayme Gehrue, and the two are to do a vaudeville stunt together, beginning next week.

* * *

It has been definitely stated that Doris Keane has sufficiently recovered in health to make a spring tour in "Romance" through the larger cities. As yet she is in Paris, where she went after a three months' stay in Southern France.

WHAT IS THE ROTARY CLUB?

How Did It Happen, What Does It Stand for and Whom Does It Serve?—An Answer By a Duluth Rotarian, Given With the Advice and Consent of Duluth Club.

During the last four years Duluthians have come across many references to the Rotary club.

They have noted that the Rotary club has gone on record in favor of this or that plan for civic betterment; they have read of Rotary's "Big Brother" manifestations of the Christmas spirit; they have sensed the purring of Rotary gears behind the industrial exposition and the public concerts.

Many of them have been moved to wonder just who and what and why the Rotary club was.

So, to our old and true friends, "Pro Bono Publico," "Citizen" and "Vox Populi," this explanation of Rotary, its method of membership, its objects and its ideas is respectfully dedicated.

Rotary first saw the light in Chicago in 1905 under the leadership of Paul P. Harris, a brilliant lawyer, a man of broad views and lofty ideals.

It started in a small circle of business friends with the avowed objects of establishing acquaintanceship, developing friendship, inspiring confidence and promoting the practice of business ideals.

From its inception it struck the keynote that service is the gateway to success.

At first this tiny circle of friends in a great city practiced their precepts upon each other.

Instead of devoting every minute of the day to furthering each his own interests they would go out of the way to perform little helpful acts for one another. Each would study the other fellow's business until he knew it almost as well as he knew his own and then, whenever an opportunity could be made or taken, they would seize it to slip in a good word for a business brother.

Original Plan.

It would have been asking too much of human nature to bring direct competition into such an effort, and the original plan called for one representative in each line of social service.

This plan is retained, in a broadened aspect, in the Rotary of today. There is only one best in everything and it is the present-day Rotary ideal to find the best in every branch of business and bring him into the club, constructing an ideal cross section of society in each locality.

A year or so after this little circle of friends commenced their elementary studies of that science of which the slogan now is "Service Not Self," the idea attracted attention among the broad-gauged business men of the Pacific coast and a second Rotary club was established in San Francisco.

Profiting from the failures and successes of the parent club, Rotary acquired considerable velocity in San Francisco, whirling its members into an entirely new conception of business units in their relation to that social group which is a city.

They graduated from the kindergarten grade in service and, from doing good to the fellow across the table, they expanded into the idea of doing good to the fellow across the city, across the state, even in another state.

In the early days it may have been more or less of a play to them, these big hearted business men of the coast; but before very long they awoke to the fact that they were playing with fire—the eternal fire of truth.

They came to realize that the motto "Service Not Self" stood for more than met the eye.

The phrase is an old one and a pretty one to play with; it had been played with for fifteen centuries before these men took it and did it into deeds.

But right there was the difference. Words are only frozen thoughts.

They may be thawed out into words again and still be lifeless things.

But they must be made to pass from words into deeds before they can demonstrate their virtue or the lack of it.

These business men of Chicago and of the coast had done a truly wonderful thing without suspecting it.

They had taken the deathless thoughts of the Nazarene Philosopher, thawed them out of the frozen dogma and set them to work in the world of today.

And they found that these thoughts worked just as well and just as beautifully in an American city as they did on the shores of Galilee.

The Golden Rule.

They rediscovered what the world has always known and always "laid away for future reference" in the hereafter, that the Golden Rule is the only rule for human life and comfort.

And let us always remember that these men discovered this thing by doing it, not by talking about it.

And so the torch of truth blazed brightly in San Francisco.

Soon the other coast cities saw the light and borrowed it to touch to torches of their own.

Rotary clubs sprang up all along the Pacific coast, each fired with the single truth of "Service Not Self," and each striving to outdo the others in splendid service.

Over the Middle West and back to the East ran the leaping flames of Rotary, fiery little clubs springing up all along the way.

Northward lay that 4,000-mile boundary, "unshadowed by a single gun, unpatrolled by a single man-of-war," and Rotary roared across into a dozen Canadian cities.

Nor could the ocean bar its further progress; men mix too freely among their kind for that.

The seeds were taken across the Atlantic and sown again on British soil. There are today eight Rotary clubs in the greater civic centers of the British Isles.

There are now 154 clubs in international Rotary, with a membership upon their rolls in excess of 18,000.

Consider, too, that these are the picked business men of larger cities and we begin to conceive the true present velocity of this Rotary movement, which is represented in our city.

The Duluth Club.

The Rotary club of Duluth was founded in 1911 with E. W. Russell as its first president.

The club started modestly, as all such movements must until they have overcome that inertia which always resists the new idea.

It followed the plan of the parent club closely at the start, since it is natural in man to serve a friend rather than a stranger, training its members to service by making many friends for them to serve.

And service, in the Rotary sense, implies fellowship, sympathy; neighborliness in its fullest meaning.

Treading the same path of evolution followed by the older clubs, it was not long before Duluth Rotarians began to realize that even such service circumscribed by a small circle was little more than splendid selfishness.

And then they drew another circle outside the first, which included it and also the entire city.

They yielded that if all men are brothers, it is not because they subscribe to the same club or creed, but because they all belong to the same species, governed by the same reason, swayed by the same emotions, inspired by the same ideals. And they did believe that all men are indeed brothers.

They believed this because, in their little cross-section of modern society, which is a Rotary club, they had played with the platitude of brotherly love and had found while they played that it worked, and that it was no longer a platitude.

And so they have begun to seek avenues of service to all the people of the city; service which shall be kindly and sympathetic and unassuming, not done for the greater glory of the doer.

Rotarians are human, they are neither better nor worse than you and I, neither do they claim the slightest right to speak or act for the whole.

Whoever would assume the "holier than thou" attitude will feel himself out of place in the Rotary circle, among which, in very truth, the greatest among them is their servant and the servant of the whole brotherhood and sisterhood of Duluth.

Here to Serve.

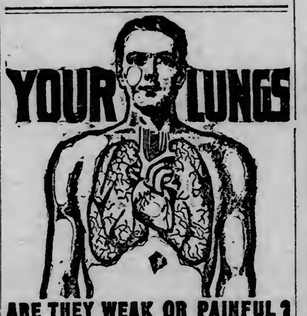

Rotary is here to serve Duluth; there is no service too small and, they trust, none too great for them to undertake. At least they will do their best, which is the very most that any man or club can do.

Rotary stands for no class, it has no crystalized creed, although it does indeed believe that "he profits most who serves best."

It is not here to "reform" but to help, because it knows that while none is fit to reform another who will not first reform himself, yet no reformation is worth the while which does not include the desire to help.

And so it is Rotary's present purpose as it develops its ideals into practice, to take that business which, being everybody's business, and work for it and fight for it; animated always and only—in so far as it can attain to clear vision—by the desire to be of real and lasting service to that community upon which each Rotary realizes his absolute dependence for friends and fellowship, for sympathetic environment, for a home-owner and for a chance to do some worth-while work in the world.

When Rotary errs, the error will be of the mind and not of the heart; and it is better that a worth-while thing shall be done as well as possible than that it should not be done at all.

SOME LARGE SPORTING EVENT CARDED FOR MONDAY NIGHT AT DULUTH RINK

St. Paul Hockey Team Is Coming Up With Bold Intent of Slapping Our Boys On the Wrist—Red Watson Rated as a Demon—Some Persons Say Mike Yokel Will Break Ketonen In Two—Will He?

BY BRUCE.

ONE of the largest sporting events staged here in several years is neatly card indexed for staging purpose on Monday evening. We refer with glowing anticipation to the hockey contest scheduled between the Duluth Curling club team and the septet representing the St. Paul Athletic club.

Rumors regarding the playing of Hobey Baker, former football captain of Princeton and the greatest college hockey player ever developed, in the lineup of the St. Paul team have been somewhat set at rest by the announcement today that Ray Johns agreed to play the same lineup as that used in the game at the hippodrome, with the exception of course of the injured Coheen.

If Manager Ray Johns observes this agreement in spirit, the stellar presence of the former Princeton football star will not be projected into the battle. But somebody must replace Coheen, and perhaps Baker will be the man in place of the regular substitute.

That Monday is to be a large and luscious evening is beyond the pale and hazy glow of speculation. Reserve seats have been practically sold out. For once in the history of hockey in this town the " S. R. O." sign threatens to be hung out early.

It should be a great game—one fairly impregnated with spectacular features and a contest marked by some of the speediest play that fans have ever witnessed in these parts.

Which team will win? We trudge along with Duluth. St. Paul had the liveliest time in the world to defeat the Linderites on the huge expanse of ice under the vaulting roof of the big hippodrome. On the local ice, familiar as to every nook and cranny to the home talent, the tale should be quite another one.

The members of the curling club team are absurdly confident as to the outcome of the game. Linder and his mates are scarcely worrying about the result. But the St. Paul players are coming here with the determination to play the game of their yourg lives—and, as we live, the game should take high rank in hockey history.

Watson and Brown.

BILLY MUNRO was over on this side of the bay the other evening. Came across to see Harley Davidson. While here, in a regular city, William began to talk of Pal Brown.

"He is a great hitter, this Pally," began Munro. "Why, in training quarters I have seen the boy stop Kid Billings and other big fellows—and this with the big gloves, too. Betcher your life Pal Brown can hit."

A neat little edition of Pal Brown's record has been printed Brown. In going over this it will be found that last year Brown had one knockout to his record. Chuck Larson is the fighter credited to Pal's punching prowess.

Frankie Snyder was the only man knocked out by Brown in 1913.

Red Watson is said to be one of the hardest hitters among the brood of lightweights. He will have some good material to try the heft of his punch on. After all has been said of Brown, after all doubt has been expressed as to his punch and to his boxing ability, there is no sane follower of the glove game who can doubt the toughness of the Jackpine Kid.

Frankie Whitney caught Brown on the jaw and the effects of the blow were not visible to ringsiders. Lawson pounded his left hook against the Brown countenance in that historic fight at Eagle hall, and Pal survived the mauling and came back and stopped the Chicago Swede.

Watson is coming hailed as a man-killer. We shall see what we shall see. Most of the fans in these parts know what Brown can do. The majority of those who are going to the battle are curiously propelled by the desire to see whether this Watson one, rated high, can, in the classic parlance of the ring, "kick the can off" the little range battler.

Old Mike and Waino.

LOOKS sort as if Old Mike Yokel, the Rocky Mountain Lion, and Waino Ketonen are to meet.

Some people are muttering even now that if the pair ever meet Michael will break the little Finn in two. Before Miller wrestled Ketonen the wise ones, after reading the stories of Walter's strenuous work with Cutler, Wolgast and McGoorty, became imbued with the firm belief that Miller was going to annihilate the quiet little Waino.

If Yokel and Ketonen meet, take a tip from us—the contest will go down in mat history.

Ketonen is one of the greatest of all defensive wrestlers. He will give the mighty Yokel a battle every inch of the way.

Busting Into Big Stuff.

DENVER is sure one of the flossy burgs of this hemisphere. They are always doing something out there or attempting to do something—which almost amounts to the same end. Now comes some of the live ones of the rarified city with a guaranteed offer of $15,000 for Freddy Welsh's end if he will agree to meet Willie Ritchie at the mile high city.

San Francisco's demise as the fight center of America has left an opening that Denver is endeavoring to seize. Denver is one of the great highways of travel; the center of a great and enthusiastic area of land and grass and men. The Welsh-Ritchie fight, if staged, would draw from a wide territory and would pile in picturesque men—if men can be picturesque—with broad Stetsons and the untrammeled ways of the West.

The great question arises, after we succeed in reforming and conventionalizing the West, where are some of the regular fellows going for a man's time?

Encomiums for Murphy.

DURING the basket ball contest of Thursday evening a group of gay high school girls gathered at one end of the hall and rooted as only girls can for Murphy.

This Murphy is a handsome youth, with a way about him. One young lady with bright tresses was particularly exuberant over the playing of Murphy.

P. S.—We hope some of the team mates of Murphy clip this out and take it back to Oswego. Good luck anyway, Murph.

CLOSE CONTESTS.

Chicago Handicap Meet Has Hard Elimination Trials.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—It took ten preliminary heats and five semifinal tries to narrow the field down to ten starters for the second semi-final of the 40-yard dash in the twenty-first annual handicap meet of the First regiment, I. N. G., here last night.

Representatives of nearly every local athletic organization of importance took part in the preliminary meet last night. No records were broken. The events will be decided tonight.

THE HATLEY TROPHY

This handsome trophy has been offered by William Hatley for the winner of the Head of the Lakes amateur billiard championship, play in which is progressing. Some of the best of Duluth's cue artists are striving for the cup. The interest of Mr. Hatley in the amateur game has resulted in a revival of enthusiasm in the gentleman's game.

DULUTH LOSES TO VIRGINIA

Central High Basket Ball Team No Match for Range Quint.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 20.—Duluth Central high basket ball team went down to defeat before the victorious Virginia high quint in the presence of a record crowd here last night at the Technical high school gymnasium, by a score of 38 to 9.

This gives Virginia a clean score and opens the way to contest at Northfield for the championship of the state. The local team has four return games to play, but these are with teams that already have been defeated.

At times last night's game was characterized by exceeding roughness. The 600 persons present cheered both sides, but the visitors cannot be said to have had a chance from the beginning.

Scrivens, Moore and Taylor played the best game for the visitors. The Virginia stars were Cusson, Rooney and Enright. Blair of Hibbing was referee. The lineup was as follows:

Duluth—	Position.	Virginia—
Scrivens	f	Cusson
Karon	f	Rooney
Moore	c	Enright
Solheim	g	Spain
Taylor	g	Goig

Dartmouth Wins.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 20.—Dartmouth won the greatest number of points—35—at the fourteenth annual indoor games of the Second division, Connecticut naval militia, at the state armory last night. Yale was second with 24, Williams third with 12, and the University of Pennsylvania fourth with 6. Other colleges finished: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 5; Trinity, 5; Bowdoin, 5; Syracuse, 5; Hartford, 3; Fordham, 3.

The feature of the meet was the University of Pennsylvania's spectacular defeat of Harvard in a mile relay race.

Indoor Ball Game.

Palestine and the Chapter will play indoor baseball tonight at the Masonic temple. This is the game scheduled for last Saturday, but which was postponed. Next Tuesday evening the Chapter and Scottish Rite teams will clash.

FOND DU LAC DEFEATED

Oswego Takes the Second Basket Ball Game 30 to 26.

Third and Deciding Game of Series Will Be Played.

Last evening at the armory the crack Oswego quint turned like the fabled worm and smote the Fond du Lac basket ball players' hip and thigh, winning the second contest of the series by the count of 30 to 26.

The winning of the second contest by the eastern five will make the game of this evening the deciding tilt in the series. Tonight's game will be played at the armory or the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, the decision as to the floor being made later.

Oswego seemed to get going better in the game of last evening and led at the end of the first half by the score of 16 to 10. Big Grimstad, refreshed by a sound slumber, showed even better than in the contest of the previous evening. The tall Swede was in every play and his stellar work, abetted by that of the speedy Nolls, did much to bring victory to the Eastern team.

Floor Handicaps Play.

The speed of both teams was somewhat checked at times by the slippery condition of the armory floor. The surface had been waxed for dancing purposes, and the uncertain and rather treacherous going caused frequent slipping and floundering. But despite this the game was a corker and served to emphasize the impression gained in the opening contest as remarkable team play of the two quints.

Nolls played one of the most remarkable games that has ever been seen on a local floor. The speedy and elusive Oswego forward heaved four field goals. In the matter of scoring Nolls led the players of both teams. Roberts of the same team came through with three clean goals from field play, and Fogarty, said to be 45 years of age, basketed a like number and three baskets also rewarded the hard work of Heinish of the Fond du Lac quint.

Pretty Individual Battle.

Grimstand and the gigantic Hawkins engaged in a pretty individual battle in the center positions. The lank Swede more than held his own with Hawkins, even though the Fond du Lac center is credited with one more field basket than scored by his opponent.

As an exposition of real basket ball the contest proved an eye-opener. Duluth followers of the game have never witnessed so many stars on two teams and have never beheld so smooth and machine-like an exhibition of play.

As a curtain-raiser to the play of this evening the Two Harbors quint will meet the Catholic Athletic club five. A number of followers of the game are coming down from the railroad town to witness the game.

The line-up and summary of last night's game:

Oswego—		Fond du Lac—
Murnane	f	Fogarty
Nolls	f	Heinish
Grimstad	c	Hawkins
Alberding	g	Young
Roberts	g	Longdin

Goals—Murnane, 1; Nolls, 4; Grimstad, 1; Alberding, 2; Roberts, 3; Fogarty, 3; Heinish, 3; Hawkins, 2; Young, 3.

Free throws—Alberding, 2 out of 2; Hawkins, 0 out of 1.

Basket Ball Team Has Good Chance for Title; Track Schedule Out.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The basket ball team has now played one-half of the conference schedule and won half of its games. Tonight they will play Purdue for the first time, and all indications point toward a victory for the Gophers, as Purdue has not so far shown anything like Minnesota's game. Purdue comes twice in the latter part of the schedule, so things look fair for Minnesota to stand well up in the percentage column.

Wisconsin and Chicago fell far short of overwhelmingly defeating the Gophers, and it is not unreasonable to expect the home team to return from one or the other of the return games with a victory. The only drawback seems to be injuries to Lawler and Pynn. "Bee" Lawler is said to be seriously enough disabled to keep him out of the game tonight. Minnesota's chances for next season were brightened Thursday, when Stadsvold and Tomasek, two basket ball stars ineligible this season, declared that they will be out for the team next November. Stadsvold was a star last year, while Tomasek came to Minnesota recently from Wisconsin.

The Minnesota rifle team, in the fifth intercollegiate match, lost to Cornell university by a score of 972 to 944. Washington State college, in its match with West Virginia, made their highest score so far in the intercollegiate shooting competition, scoring 981 out of a possible 1,000. Maj. E. Rollman and Col. Howard T. Lambert, the mainstays of the Gopher team, fell below their customary high average. The following are the individual scores of the Gopher high five:

Maj. E. Rollman	192
Lieut. R. K. Smith	190
Lieut. M. L. Countryman	189
Col. H. T. Lambert	187
Sergeant I. C. Lawrence	186

Minnesota track athletes, according to present arrangements, have at least six meets to compete in this season. The first real competition for Coach Frank's men will be the meet with Shattuck military academy on Saturday, Feb. 27. Coach Foster of Shattuck and Coach Frank arranged the handicaps for this meet Wednesday. Several weeks of practice follow the Shattuck meet, but beginning with Saturday, April 24, track will hold the center of the stage, as a meet occurs on five Saturdays in succession. The all-university track competition, probably the most keenly contested of all the events, will be held April 24.

A week following, on May 1, Minnesota meets Iowa. Hamline will work against the Gophers on Northrop field on May 8. Nebraska and Minnesota clash on Saturday, May 15, the climax to the track season being the dual meet with Wisconsin on May 22. In addition to the regular intercollegiate track meets, the Board of Athletic Control, at a meeting Wednesday, authorized the annual interscholastic invitation meet. This will be held as usual on Northrop Field.

In the tryouts for the Sigma Delta Psi last Saturday afternoon, fifteen men improved their chances for membership in the athletic fraternity. The events tried were the broad jump and tumbling. Five men, B. F. Johnson, D. A. McVeety, R. L. Kennedy, F. L. Strong and Kwong, jumped the eighteen feet required for senior membership. The junior requirement of sixteen feet was made by ten men. Tumbling proved a stumbling block for practically all the candidates, McKinney and Johnson being the only ones successful at all in this class.

The first big track meet of the season will attract a large crowd to the Armory Saturday afternoon, when the sophomores and freshmen compete. The freshman-sophomore event, an annual event, is always the most keenly contested event of the year. This year it is attracting an unusual amount of interest, because of the large number of entries, which include a large number of former high school track stars. The sophomores are represented by twenty-five men, while the freshman team has thirty-two members.

Dr. H. L. Williams ran twenty-five prospective football candidates of the season Tuesday afternoon in the armory. The men were lined up into first and second elevens and were sent through a set of elementary drill formations. Capt. Lorin Solon, Bernie Bierman and Frank Mayer were the only regulars of last fall's varsity to show up. Of the freshmen and scrubs, however, there were a good number who hope to be in shape at the beginning of the season. The freshman squad of 1914 contained a large amount of material that can be put to good use next fall.

The first intra-mural hockey game of the year will be played on the rink at the university this afternoon. The engineers, for whom Eldridge, Mayer, Randall and Butchart are the mainstays, will meet the Aggies at 4 o'clock. At 5 o'clock the Academics and Hauser, Ahl and Pribnow in the lineup will grapple with the miners, composed in part of Elson, Heilig, Corwin, Capser and Stickney, the two latter varsity players. The hockey rink, which has long been in wretched condition, will be put into shape as fast as possible for the intra-mural games.

ORDEMAN LOSES FALL TO YOUNG ZBYSZKO

Wladek Zbyszko, the sensational younger brother of the world famous Stanislaus Zbyszko, in Minneapolis threw Henry Ordeman in fifty-seven minutes with an arm lock. The young Pole was to throw Ordeman twice in an hour, failing to get the second fall in the remaining three minutes.

According to the reports from Minneapolis, Wladek Zbyszko did most of the aggressive work and made a remarkable impression on the wrestling fans of the Mill city.

Bowling Notes.

The Columbias were the big noise Tuesday evening. They rolled three beautiful scores of 1,016, 913 and 992 for a 2,921 total. Firestone was the star pin getter with a 651 total, with Kid Ferguson not so far behind with a 612 total, while Trevillion of the same team won the box of cigars with a 236 score. The Three Winners also did some bowling. They rolled 1,054, which is high team score for the season.

Frank Kohmen may get a 200 score before the end of the season. He has been going well in his last few games, but he has been unable to get anything better than 198.

Duluth's star bowlers are at Minneapolis this week taking part in the I. B. A. tournament. With the remarkable scores that have already been made the Duluth boys will have to do some exceptionally good bowling to get very far up in the prize list. Ryan and Nelson of the Doris team of St. Paul, which went into the lead in the I. B. A. tournament, will attend the Northern Bowling association tournament here next month.

DAD FORD MAY PLAY OUTFIELD

Dad Ford, veteran outfielder, may or may not be with the Dooks the coming season. The former Superiorite stated yesterday that he has not signed as yet. It is expected that Dad will hold a heart to heart confab with the peerless leader in the near future and at that time it will be decided whether he will chase flies in the White Sox outfield.

Darby O'Brien, it is stated, is on the trail of several young catchers. It is not known definitely as yet whether Bert Sweeley, the Paw Paw college alumnus, will be back. Also the Jerry Edmunds absence will cause the great second baseman some receivership worries.

It is the present intention of O'Brien to make a pitcher out of George Austin Cunningham's brother. It is not known whether Hoch der Kaiser Withers, a good soul and genial wit, will be on deck.

The genial Jim is wanted and may be on hand with early spring candidates.

Hoffman, a former Duluth pitcher, is on the market. Joe Killian asking Duluth to set a price on the twirler. Whether the great second baseman will attempt to secure the services of the W.-I. hurler, has not been decided as yet.

LI'L ARTHA MAY FACE THE MUSIC

Chicago, Feb. 20.—It is rumored in the Federal building that Jack Johnson, world's champion pugilist, under sentence for violation of the Mann act, might appear here in a few days.

District Attorney Clyne was noncommittal in his comment on the rumor.

"I would not be surprised if Johnson should step into my office any minute," said the Federal prosecutor, who immediately declined to say whether he had been notified that Johnson would return to Chicago.

Two indictments under the Mann act are pending against Johnson in addition to the conviction in the Belle Schriber case in which he forfeited his bond by going to Europe.

SOFT ICE CAUSES HOCKEY POSTPONEMENT

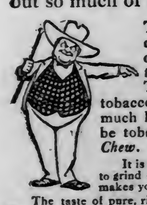

Soft ice compelled the officials of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league to call off the double bill scheduled for last evening. The games will be played off just as soon as the weather man will furnish some cold weather. The ice was in a slushy condition and anything like fast hockey would have been impossible under the conditions.

THE DOCTOR HAS GOOD REASON FOR DISTURBING THE GOOD JUDGE.

REAL tobacco satisfaction makes up for a lot of the troubles of life. Your tobacco chewer knows how it is—and when he once gets the comfort of "Right-Cut" he's anxious for his friends to know about it, too.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does no need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

WILL RING PRECEDENTS BE REPEATED IN COMING FIGHT?

Age and Wagering Odds a Theoretical Handicap for Jack Johnson—He Is Now Close to 37 Years of Age.

New York, Feb. 20.—If ring precedents count for anything, age and wagering odds should prove a theoretical handicap to Jack Johnson in his coming contest with Jess Willard for the world's heavyweight championship. Pugilistic records show that no former champion of modern times has been able to successfully defend his title after reaching the age of 37, which in Johnson's case will occur on March 31. With the exception of the negro, the present day champions in all classes range around 25 years of age.

Beginning with John L. Sullivan, who lost his title to James J. Corbett, the records show that Sullivan was 34 ytars of age when the Californian defeated him at New Orleans on Sept. 7, 1892, in twenty-one rounds. Corbett was 26 years of age and the odds were 3 to 1 against him on the day of the battle. At the age of 31, Corbett fell before Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nev., on March 17, 1897, with the betting 100 to 65 in his favor.

Fitzsimmons reigned as champion from that date until June 9, 1899, when Jim Jeffries defeated him at Coney Island, New York, in eleven rounds. Fitzsimmons was 37 years of age against Jeffries' 24 and the betting was 100 to 60, with Fitzsimmons the favorite. There has always been controversy as to whether Jeffries ever relinquished his title, but the fact stands out that Johnson claimed the championship as a result of defeating Tommy Burns. Jeffries retired from the ring at the age of 29 and made his disastrous return on July 4, 1910, when he was 35. Johnson was three years younger but again the champion was the favorite, the betting was 2 to 1 on Jeffries to defeat the negro.

The collapse of Jeffries in the fifteenth round is part of pugilistic history.

In these four championship battles, covering a period of eighteen years, four title holders—Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Jeffries—were dethroned in turn with the average odds in their favor a trifle more than 2 to 1. The average number of rounds was fifteen and one-fourth, and the average age of the champions at the time of defeat was 34¼ years, while the average age of the victors was 29¾ years. At the present time Johnson is within a few weeks of 37 years of age, and in the early wagering on the coming contest he has been quoted as high as a 3 to 1 favorite. Willard is a few months over 27. The question that is puzzling ring followers is, therefore, whether pugilistic precedence is to be observed or the negro title holder prove an exception to the rule of the ring.

Athletics at Cornell.

The annual report of the committee on student affairs at Cornell university shows that 937 undergraduates participated in athletic and other official activities during the 1913-14 college year. In a group of eighteen social or athletic societies, teams or fraternities, the average number of days leave of absence for the activities listed was 1.23, as against 2 in 1912-13 and 2.2 days in 1911-12. This is far below the limit set by the university faculty, which allows any freshman two days' leave of absence in each term and other students seven days in each term for such purposes. The maximum athletic schedule seldom exceeds five days' leave of absence, and the committee is constantly exerting pressure to reduce the limit of all schedules.

League Teams' Mileage.

The National league schedule for the coming season requires the eight clubs to travel 83,593 miles. The Western clubs will cover more mileage than the Eastern teams. Pittsburg leads with 12,896 miles and the New York Giants have the least traveling to do, their total for the season being put at 8,825. Figuring on teams of twenty-one players and four others including manager, trainer and secretary this gives a total of 2,089,825 for the 200 players and others in the league. At 2 cents a mile, the minimum railroad mileage charge, the sum to be expended by the clubs between April 14 and Oct. 7 will amount to $41,796.50. Meals and sleeping berths will add many thousands to these figures.

Football Statistics.

The football statistician is still busy, notwithstanding the fact that the gridiron season closed three months ago. The latest compilation covers the defeats of Yale, Harvard and Princeton by college elevens other than the "Big Three" of the East. According to these figures Princeton has been defeated twelve times since 1869. Cornell and Dartmouth have triumphed over the Tigers three times each; Pennsylvania twice and Columbia, Lafayette, Rutgers and Navy once each.

Eight outside defeats are found in the Yale records which extend back to 1872. The army holds the lead with three victories over the Elis; Columbia is second with two and Brown, Colgate and Washington and Jefferson each hold one game to their credit. The Harvard teams have suffered less defeats of this type than either Yale or Princeton. Since 1874 but seven football combinations of this class have triumphed over the Crimson. The Carlisle Indians have two victories to their credit while Amherst, Dartmouth, Boston A. A., Tufts and Wesleyan each claim one. A peculiar feature of the tabulation is that Princeton defeats by Pennsylvania are included while the victories of the Quakers over Harvard are not recorded although Pennsylvania won from the Crimson seven times between 1881 and 1906.

All Star Bowling Team.

An all-star bowling team composed of New York experts will tour the country this pring, rolling exhibition and match games in various cities where bowling is popular. Mortimer Lindsey, national champion of 1912, will be the lead-off roller with Lee Johns, world's record holder for six games in competition, second. William Heins, member of several championship teams, will roll third and John Koster, 1902 national champion and holder of fifteen perfect scores will be fourth man. Jimmy Smith, present all-round champion, will be anchor roller.

This combination, the strongest that ever toured the country, will roll at Peoria, Buffalo, Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, St. Paul and other cities, on its way to and from San Francisco, where it will complete in the exposition tournament.

BRYANT WINS CLOSE RACE

Frank Bryant last evening at the Auditorium defeated the veteran Harley Davidson in a mile contest, beating out the St. Paul star in a great sprint to the tape. The time of the mile was announced as three minutes and one-fifth of a second, which sets a new track record for the Auditorium.

Bryant never skated better in his life. He fairly flew around the track. The corners appeared to bother Davidson more than Bryant, and around the turns Frank made ground.

The final contest of the evening will be skated at the Auditorium this evening. Davidson is out to give the local star a drubbing and the contest should be a corker.

Clem Holland won from Earl Scott in the amateur race and claimed the city title as a result of the victory.

MINNEAPOLIS MAY BUILD HUGE RINK FOR HOCKEY SPORT

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 20.—Minneapolis, by the time another winter comes this way, will have one of the finest ice skating plants in the United States, if tentative plans of local business men mature. Minneapolis also will maintain one of the best hockey sevens possible to gather together, the team to include a number of star players now performing in Canada.

That is the bare outline of a venture, the backers of which wish to ascertain public sentiment before proceeding with an outlay of cash in order to put the scheme upon its feet.

A Co-operative Plan.

These men, among them several of standing in the business world and all of them devotees of amateur sport believe a skating rink under a co-operative plan of ownership would prove a tremendous success in Minneapolis. If they learn that sentiment is favorable they will go ahead with their tentative plan, place shares of stock upon the market, and when subscriptions have been completed, will erect, with the approval of stockholders, a skating rink, centrally located, and capable of accommodating 7,000 spectators.

RAY TEMPLE TO MEET CHAMPION

It was announced in St. Paul today that negotiations had been practically closed for a meeting between Ray Temple and the world's champion lightweight, Freddy Welsh.

This gives to Temple the greatest opportunity in his career. Before the former Milwaukee fighter became fascinated with the allurements of the primrose path, he was considered by astute followers of the game as the most promising contender for the lightweight crown.

Dissipation and indifference took Ray far from the top of the perch. For a year the present St. Paul contender has lived a clean life and has had the benefit of training with one of the speediest and cleverest men in the world of pugilism, Mike Gibbons.

A meeting between Welsh and the superlatively clever Temple, should be one of the greatest boxing matches of the year, for this Temple boy sure does know the inside of boxing. When Mandot was in the heyday of his career and was being touted as the future champion, Temple made the Southern boy look bad at Memphis.

If Temple has regained his old speed and can travel at top speed for ten rounds, it would not surprise some of those who realize the cleverness of the Apostle, to see him decisively outpoint Welsh.

DULUTH TEAMS SHOWING WELL

Park Hotels Well Up Among Leaders in I. B. A. Tournament.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 20.—Featureless bowling at the International Bowling association tournament yesterday wrought few changes among the leaders in the three events. H. Spangenburg of St. Paul rolled into fifth place in the singles with a score of 638. In the doubles and five men no high scores were made.

The Park Hotels of Duluth rolled a total of 2,824, which places them well up among the leaders.

Scores of Duluth teams follow:

Neumanns, Duluth—G. Murphy, 158, 155, 202; Abe Taraldson, 162, 165, 208; G. Ferguson, 141, 145, 174; W. Weston, 151, 193, 177; F. Neumann, 178, 155, 189—2,549.

Park Hotel—Klaes, 171, 165, 178; Firestone, 174, 202, 224; Schulz, 213, 268, 141; Otterson, 174, 197, 180; J. Deller, 177, 226, 232—2,824.

People's Brewing company—A. Ostergren, 154, 215, 180; F. Kohnen, 162, 140, 171; F. Smith, 187, 141, 159; J. 155, 184, 144; A. Nausolf, 177, 190, 133—2,542.

DULUTHIANS WIN, SAYS W. BRADLEY

According to the report brought home from Bemidji by Bill Bradley, one of the players of the Duluth Rotary baseket ball team, the Duluth quint defeated Bemidji last evening by the score of 21 to 19, instead of the Bemidji team defeating the Rotary aggregation, as stated in the morning publication.

Roy Johnson suffered a severe injury to his leg and will be sorely handicapped in the game of this evening.

New Yorkers May Come.

It was announced today that the New York Nationals, a basket ball quint of New York that is ranked high in Eastern league circles, may come out here for a game with the Rotarians.

Lawrence Duby's quint is getting better all the time. The team was handicapped by a late start and the fact that few of the players had been together. With time it is believed that Duluth will be represented with one of the strongest teams in this section of the country.

THREE-TIME CHAMP KEEPS THE CUP

New York, Feb. 20.—G. F. Touchard, the playing-through champion, won the national indoor tennis singles title yesterday on the courts of the Seventh regiment armory. In the final of this division of the tournament, which began a week ago, Touchard defeated A. M. Lovibond, former regimental champion, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

The victory marked the third time Touchard has held the championship, and he became the permanent possessor of the Seventh regiment cup originally offered by officers of the command.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—C. C. Pell and S. G. Mortimer of New York won the national doubles racquet championship here yesterday by defeating Dwight F. Davis and J. W. Wear of St. Louis, four sets to three.

The match was postponed three weeks ago because of an injury received by Pell in the final round of the tournament for the championship. Davis and Wear won the title last year.

JOHNNY ERTLE IS AN EASY WINNER

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 20.—Johnny Ertle, St. Paul, last night defeated Johnny Ritchie, Chicago, by a good shade, in a ten-round bout, in the opinion of the majority of newspaper critics. Ertle carried the fighting, Ritchie keeping away and taking punishment in every round except the tenth, which was even.

In the semi-windup Billie Defoe of Red Wing, Minn., stopped Pienuts Schleberl in the tenth after flooring him twice in the ninth and again in the tenth.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 20.—A ten-round bout between Matty Baldwin of Boston and Johnnie Harvey of New York, both lightweights, was stopped in the third round here last night because of a broken rib suffered by the Boston fighter. Harvey had the better of the fight throughout.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 20.—Because the receipts at the door were too small, Clarence (Wild Cat) Ferns of Kansas City last night refused to box eight rounds with Tom Burke of St. Louis, with whom he was matched.

WILL SIGN RACE BILLS.

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 20.—Governor Emmet Boyle issued a statement yesterday afternoon announcing that he would sign the two racing bills passed by the legislature, creating a racing commission and legalizing a Pari-Mutuel system of betting on horse races. He refused to say, however, whether or not he would sign the six months' residence divorce bill.

Governor Boyle stated that his decision in regard to the race track measures was based on an investigation of the results from an economic standpoint, that have accrued in other states where the Pari-Mutuel system is in operation.

"Take Colorado, for instance," said the governor, "where the Pari-Mutuel system was established after the women gained the ballot. It has apparently worked to advantage and there has been no complaint registered against it from any standpoint."

Chosen Track Captain.

Central high school did honor to its best athlete, Skull Hrutifiord, yesterday by electing him captain of the school track team. Practice for the coming meet with the Y. M. C. A. team will begin on Tuesday.

Badgers Beat Purdue.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 20.—The University of Wisconsin basket ball team last night defeated Purdue 26 to 21 in a Western conference game.

THOSE LITTLE BILLS.

Pay up those little bills. They don't amount to so very much, any one of them. Maybe by a little personal inconvenience you could clear off one or two of them this week or next, and another the week after and so on, and gradually get them all paid, though the total of them is too great for you to square it all up at once.

But there is another side to those little bills, especially if you are dealing with men or firms that have not the volume of business to warrant them in carrying extended accounts or to enable them to take advantage of the best opportunities for buying.

For instance, suppose Jackson is running a store in the neighborhood in which you live, and you do some trading there. Maybe you do only part of your trading with him, and buy the bulk of your supplies in bigger quantities. Anyway, you drop into the habit of having things charged, and you run up a bill of ten or fifteen or twenty dollars. Not that you do it all at once, but you buy a little and pay less, and buy a little more and still pay less, each time leaving a little bigger margin unpaid, until your account reaches twenty dollars without you really realizing it.

You argue that your twenty dollars isn't going to break Jackson. You believe that if he couldn't stand twenty dollars uncollected for awhile he had no business to try to run a store, and ought to take the consequences. And there can be no answer to that theory, so long as it stands by itself.

But look at it this way: What if there are fifty families trading with Jackson, and half of those fifty families run up accounts of five dollars and the other half accounts of ten dollars. There is a total of nearly four hundred dollars. And if each one of those families lets the account run and grow as you did yours, it won't be long before the four hundred dollars will become eight hundred dollars, and twelve hundred, and fifteen hundred.

And all this time Jackson has to buy new goods to supply his customers, and he has to pay for all he gets within thirty days or else pay a higher price. And if he has to pay a higher price, he has to charge you more in order to get along. And if he charges you more you won't trade with him, and won't even try to pay what you owe.

It no doubt is true that Jackson wouldn't go broke for an uncollected twenty dollars. But is it reasonable to expect him to keep up with a thousand or more outstanding? You know it isn't.

Pay up those little bills. The wiping out will leave you with an easier mind, and will make it possible for Jackson to sleep o' nights instead of lying awake to curse you and others and wonder how he is going to meet his own bills. And if he gets his sleep he'll be better natured and pleasanter to deal with, and everybody'll be better satisfied.

The managers of the campaign to interest school children in American history should remember that it's mighty hard to get up any real interest in tables of historical dates.

FOR CHILD WELFARE.

One of the important actions sought by the state bodies interested in social legislation is the unification of the statutes dealing with the welfare of children. Minnesota is not among the states that have become notorious for the maltreatment of children in industrial lines. In fact it has had fewer complaints of that kind to deal with than have many other states. But it has been found necessary from time to time, to pass laws governing the employment or treatment of children.

These laws are scattered here and there throughout the statutes, and each still retains its original form and application. Now it is proposed to assemble these several laws, ascertain what, if any, amendments are needed, and prepare bills to remedy any defects that may be found.

This is one of the most important spheres for the workers who seek the practical and effectual conservation of the human forces. Minnesota has not shown herself backward in adopting such measures as have seemed advisable from time to time. There should be no hesitation about putting these laws on a consistent and workable basis.

What has become of those fellows who were going to Europe in airships?

GOOD FOR THE HOUSE!

Good for the Minnesota house of representatives! Just when everybody thought the constitutional convention idea had been chucked into the discard, the house picked it up on an action to reconsider, and now there is a chance that it will go through after all.

Insofar as the expressions of the press of the state may be taken as an indication of the wishes of the people, it may be accepted as established that the constitutional convention idea is generally approved. Nine-tenths of the state papers have declared in favor of such action, according to Representative Bjornson, and that surely may safely be taken as showing a preponderance of sentiment for a convention.

If anybody has serious doubts as to the need for such a convention, he can get well rid of them by taking the trouble to read the state Constitution as it stands at present, and noting the footnotes and observations and judicial interpretations, interspersed occasionally with the word "obsolete," all of which go to make up the patchwork that today stands for the highest authority in our state government.

If the people do not approve of the idea of a constitutional convention, they will have a chance to express that disapproval at the polls before any such convention can be held. So what harm could be done by the legislature's acting in favor of the convention? Also, if the present legislature favors it and the people also favor it, there will be a saving of two years' time compared with the result of letting the question go over to the next legislature.

It is well that the house voted to reconsider the defeat of the plan. That action indicates that we may get a start on the good work earlier by two years than we might otherwise have got at it.

Japan says she wouldn't take the Philippines as a gift, but how about California?

HONK! HONK!

For once it isn't necessary to dodge the autos. In fact it's not at all likely that many will want to dodge them. Natural, inborn human curiosity is likely to make the popular desire act in just the opposite direction, and once you yield to it, we defy you to get away before you have made the rounds.

In other words, you don't want to miss the auto show next week. Go and see the machines, and take your wife and children. Make a special occasion of it and get all the good out of it you can, as well as all the enjoyment.

What do you know about autos, anyway? A lot? Then you couldn't be kept away from that show by anything less than a chain and padlock. Or if you don't know much about them, here's a chance to learn more. And if you don't know anything about them, here's a chance to "wise up" at least enough to tell a "one-lunger" from a Humpty-umptilender whatchacallut.

Of course if you are "thinking of buying" you want to improve this chance to see the different makes in a position where you can compare them. On the other hand, if you're not thinking of buying, you want to go and get the right dope on things so that you can explain to your friends just exactly why you're going to wait until next year or so before you get your car.

So whatever your profession, preference or proclivities, go down some time next week and see the auto show. Go early and you'll go again. Go late and you'll wish you had gone early so as to have more chances to go again. It will be worth your while to take in the exhibition.

In spite of the fact that they were hungry, several thousand Mexicans spent their money to go to a bull fight. But maybe it is the custom down there to barbecue the late lamented.

A CONTRAST.

Oddly enough, just at the time when old world warfare is at its height and feeling is bitterest between the great powers engaged, the U. S. A. is beginning its celebration of the completion of one of the most stupendous triumphs of peace. For today marks the opening of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

In one respect, at least, the exposition just opened is sure to be unusual in the history of world fairs—it will be the Mecca of practically every American who is in the habit of making an annual tour of any pretensions. This will be peculiarly a "see America first" year, largely because there are few other places that it is safe to try to see.

Thousands of people who have achieved the habit of foreign travel will find themselves compelled to stay at home, or more closely at home than usual. These will naturally turn to the San Francisco fair as the next best thing to a trip abroad, and their example will inspire others who would never have thought of going to Europe, but who will be able to see their way clear to crossing the continent.

In one respect at least the big fair will serve as an object lesson on the war. It will not show stricken Belgium; it will not show impoverished national treasuries; it will not show bereaved homes and bleeding corpses, or closed factories or devastated fields or empty cupboards. But it will show the products, industrial and natural, of the several countries involved in the war, and by the absence of visitors from those countries it will emphasize the fact of the war and that the producers of the exhibits are hard at work slaughtering each other and laying waste each other's homes and lands.

And meanwhile the American people are free to go about their affairs in a peace that will go down in history as perhaps the most remarkable ever maintained by any nation.

People who envy the tangoists and fox-trotters and one-steppers and so on, often get their revenge when they see the devotees of the new fads try to waltz.

"PARTICULARLY—"

It is so rarely that the advocates of a high protective tariff come right out into the open and speak what is in their hearts, that a resolution like that adopted by the Massachusetts Republican legislature has all the refreshing qualities of novelty combined with the beauty and simplicity of truth. Here it is:

> Resolved, That the general court favor a revision of the tariff by congress in such a way as to protect adequately the industries of the United States, AND PARTICULARLY THOSE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Words are incapable of expressing the qualities of that resolution. It is to the point, it is clear and understandable, and it covers the whole field of the protective tariff idea, which is "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." You vote to protect my infant industries that are already making millions and I'll vote to protect yours. It is tariff-making reduced to the last possible elements.

And since Massachusetts produces very nearly half the boots and shoes made in this country, Massachusetts would tax your footwear in order to help out her trade in those things. And she would boost the tax a little, at the same time, on the agricultural implements from Illinois and the glass and pottery from Indiana and the iron ore from Minnesota and the coal from Pennsylvania and the cotton and sugar from the South and the wheat from North Dakota—but PARTICULARLY on the products of Massachusetts.

Apply that "Particularly" to every state in the Union and then you have the protective tariff at its worst. The country owes Massachusetts a vote of thanks for making it so clear.

At least the world never had better reason to be serious in Lent.

THE WAR TIDE RISES.

In spite of the general feeling that the European war tide had reached its height, the developments of the last few days add to the sense of disaster. To be sure Italy and Roumania may yet join one side or the other, but so stupendous has the conflict already become that the addition of either or both these nations to the list of belligerents would make comparatively little impression on the mind of the average American.

It is hardly to be questioned that the new sense of disaster arises from what appear to be the first strokes in the enforcement of the German threat to blockade the British Isles. A French steamship is the victim of an attack by a submarine, and in spite of the fact that the vessel flew the flag of a belligerent nation, the act is more or less of a shock. Then there is the case of the Belridge, a Norwegian and therefore neutral vessel. There seems to be some doubt whether the Belridge was struck by a torpedo or ran onto a mine, as so many vessels have done, but coming just at this time the Belridge's case is unusually impressive.

The other features of the news are those telling of the increasing activity of Zeppelin airships over the sea, and of the cessation of fighting on the East Prussian frontier, where conditions are said to rival those in Belgium, with the horrors of which we are more familiar. Whether the Zeppelin activity indicates more raids on England or not, it at least emphasizes the aerial feature of the big war, with all the possibilities that involves. The comparative quiet in East Prussia may be significant or may be only one of those lulls that have come from time to time in the various theaters of the fighting. At least it gives us an opportunity to realize a little more acutely that the horrors now being endured in Europe are features, not especially of the war in Belgium, but of war itself.

To return to the events on the English coast, there is something rather startling in the report that the British admiralty has forbidden traffic on the English channel. Is Germany's power there really so great as to warrant that restriction? If so, what will be the effect on the movements of troops? There has been a general understanding that there still remained several thousand men in England who were soon to join the army on the continent. Is the transfer of these reinforcements to be interfered with? And if so, what will be the effect on the progress of the war? In the meantime, where is the British navy, that England takes so seriously the warning against submarine attacks on merchant vessels?

That Oklahoma colored boy who won the cotton-growing prize may be said to have established a record in black and white.

THE BIRDS.

Chief among the statements given out in connection with the national bird census recently completed is the one that the bird population of the country is much less than it should be. It is urged that the work for protection of the birds be extended, so that they may increase in number.

Minor details of the report show that the robin is the most numerous of the birds, with the English sparrow a close second. The proportions to every hundred robins include 49 catbirds, 37 brown thrashers, 28 house wrens, 27 kingbirds and 26 bluebirds.

Naturally the mention of protection of birds brings up the thought of the small boy and his air gun or sling shot. But there are other ways of protecting them. For instance, feeding them in the winter, when there is little to eat, even for the few birds that remain in the colder climates for that season; protecting their nests and their young; and affording places in which they can build in reasonable safety.

One of the surest ways to secure protection for the birds is to interest the children in the study of them. Help the youngsters to recognize the different species, and to watch the way they fly, what they like to eat, where they build, etc. It takes a little time and patience, but it makes up for these not only in the interest and instruction which the children get, but in those that come to the grown-ups, too.

Go to the public library and get some books on the subject, if you are not already fairly well informed. Or write to the department of agriculture at Washington, and ask for pamphlets or other matter telling about the birds of your own part of the country. You will find it both interesting and instructive for yourself as well as for the little ones. And meanwhile you will be drilling the next generation for intelligent protection of the birds.

A "suspicious character" arrested in New York was found to have one suitcase filled with Billy Sunday's tracts and another with his sermons. It doesn't seem to take much to make a New York policeman suspicious.

THE JITNEYS.

One of the most interesting developments in this country in recent years has been the jitney bus, or as it is generally called, the jitney. It has sprung up so suddenly, has spread so far and so fast and seems to be such a stable affair that it is attracting a vast amount of attention.

There are those who say it won't last, can't last and shouldn't last. They will take pencil and paper and figure down to within a jitney or two how much it would cost to run one of the things, and how much of an income it would bring, and then they will sit back and tell you that "it can't be done."

And then you turn to Oakland or San Francisco or St. Louis or Seattle or some other one of the half hundred or more cities where the jitneys are in operation, and you find that not one of those who went into the business the short month ago that it was started has abandoned it, and that it is on the increase everywhere it has been attempted.

In Kansas City, Mo., the jitney service has been systematized so that now there are no less than thirteen regular routes being covered by them, both with day and night cars. Including those that follow these routes and the others in the business, there are considerably over two hundred jitneys in operation in that city, and the daily papers have begun to carry regular advertisements of jitney supplies, cars and all things pertaining to them. On one Sunday it is reported that with less than two hundred of the jitneys running, more than forty thousand people were carried in them.

Of the practicability of the plan, W. H. Miller, general manager of the Kansas City associated jitneys, says that "in the two-mile hauls the small cars always can command the situation, but large motor busses running on schedules which are absolutely positive will predominate on the long hauls." He says the daily receipts vary from $12 to $28.50 for a twelve-hour day, the higher figure being attained by those that run on schedules. The jitneys, he says, make quicker time than street cars, and have no strap hangers.

Four striking facts are reported that seem to say the jitney is no mere idle dream. First is one from San Francisco, to the effect that the jitney business has reached such proportions that the street railways have suffered a slump of five thousand dollars a day in their revenues; then comes word from St. Louis that the traction company there, recognizing the competition of the jitneys, has added ten more cars to its service so as to accommodate those who preferred jitneying to strap hanging; from Joplin, Mo., it is reported that the traction company itself has purchased a number of the jitney machines and is going to compete with the others, while in Cleveland it is said the company will not only run jitneys, but will cut the fare on them and give universal transfers.

One thing seems certain—that the jitney is something to reckon with when it comes to municipal transportation questions. How or whether it will affect suburban traffic is yet to be seen. The operation of jitney cars to and from suburbs where the people now have to stand up most of the way home in street cars would assuredly be warmly welcomed. The jitney is young yet—very young—but perhaps it really will solve this and other problems if it is given time.

The French interpret Germany's recent statements as indicating despair. That is one of the few nice things about war—you can almost always find something encouraging to yourself in what the other fellow says.

THE GREAT AMERICAN FORETHOUGHT.

State Auditor Preus, speaking before the Duluth Life Underwriters' association, cited the fact that the people of the United States have an average per capita insurance of three hundred dollars, and expatiated at length on the fact that there is more insurance per capita in this country than in any other.

In the limited time allowed him Mr. Preus only touched the edges of that phase of the subject of insurance. Not only is there more life insurance carried in this country than in others, but there is VASTLY more. Here are the latest figures, including assessment insurance, and without deducting the amounts no longer in force on account of the war:

Country.	Insurance in force.
United States	$30,826,274,495
Great Britain	5,870,212,000
Germany	2,810,346,000
Austria	1,012,340,000
France	762,000,000
Russia	450,000,000
Scandinavia	350,000,000
Switzerland	273,796,800
Japan	269,083,754

The figures are made all the more impressive by the fact that virtually all this tremendous business has been built up since 1843, in which year it was admitted that the experimental stage of the life insurance business had been passed.

This is a business in which conversation can be conducted in terms of millions, when the whole field is considered. For example, the thirty-four "old line" companies doing business in New York state reported for 1913 an aggregate of $436,968,154 paid to policyholders—a gain of more than $8,000,000 over the previous year and of more than $330,000,000 over the year 1892. Merely the dividends paid to policyholders in 1913, without considering payment of claims for death or on endowment or annuity policies, amounted to $96,867,236. The death, endowment and annuity payments for 1913 aggregated $252,756,546.

Insurance is peculiarly the investment of the person with an eye to the future. The man who cares nothing about the future cares nothing about insurance. He is willing to let those dependent on him shift for themselves in case of his death, without trying to make any provision for their needs. This is all very well for him, but it is likely to mean hardship and privation for them; and hardships and privations which he could as well have prevented if he possessed the health to obtain insurance and the comparatively small income to meet its cost.

It is to the great credit of American husbands and parents that this country leads the world as it does in the matter of life insurance. We have heard much of the great American dollar and the great American this or that. It looks as if life insurance is entitled to be classed as the great American forethought.

Somehow it's hard to convince all the city men that the high price of wheat is a good thing.

Truthful Description.

New York Evening Post: A missionary was returning to Basel from Patagonia, bringing with him for the purposes of science a collection of Patagonian skulls. The custom house officers opened the chest and informed the owner that the consignment must be classed as animal bones and taxed at so much the pound.

The missionary was indignant. So the official agreed to reconsider. When the waybill had been revised, it appeared in the following form:

"Chest of native skulls. Personal effects, already worn."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—One has to take off one's hat now and then to the fellow who hatches a hunch.

Take, for example, the case of John D. O'Rear of Mexico, Mo.

O'Rear has for a number of years been practicing law in the little town of Mexico, which is situated in the congressional district represented by Champ Clark. One day it occurred to John O'Rear that his career as a lawyer should be rounded out by a glimpse into the great world of diplomacy. Something told him that he had those innate and subtle qualifications, whatever they may be, which go to make the diplomat. He mentioned this to one or two intimate friends, and they agreed that O'Rear was indeed precisely the type of man who would dovetail snugly into the diplomatic circle at a foreign capital.

The one difficulty, his friends suggested, lay in the fact that circumstances entirely beyond his control might prevent him from gaining the appointment needed before he could pervade the realm of diplomacy. These circumstances included the geographical location of his dwelling place. The point was this: With the town of Mexico in Champ Clark's district, and Champ Clark and the secretary of state bitter enemies, what chance would a man from that district have to receive a diplomatic appointment.

Right there, however, was where O'Rear's hunch entered into the situation. In logical syllogisms he set forth what was in his mind.

"In the first place," he explained, "owing to the feeling between Mr. Clark and Mr. Bryan no one from this district has thought it worth while to seek an appointment. If Speaker Clark himself thought he had any influence at the state department there are scores of men here in the district whom he would recommend before he would me—men to whom he is under greater obligation. I would cut no figure whatsoever. My one chance lies in the fact that I have no competition. I alone in the entire district have a notion to apply to Mr. Bryan for a lucrative position.

"Now, Mr. Bryan doubtless feels that it is good politics to heal the breach between himself and the speaker of the house growing out of the Baltimore convention. Mr. Clark has never asked the secretary of state for an appointment. When he makes his first request for such an appointment will Mr. Bryan feel like refusing? I think not. I believe, therefore, that my appointment is almost a cinch. I shall become a diplomat."

Accordingly, John O'Rear dropped into the office of the speaker of the house one fine crisp day and asked for a letter of indorsement to a diplomatic post. Champ Clark dictated a brief, perfunctory letter, smiling grimly over the absurdity of the request as he did so, and O'Rear bounded up to the state department.

William Jennings Bryan read the letter, recalled that it was the first request of the kind that had come from Champ Clark, and promptly looked about for a nice place for the applicant from Mexico, Mo. He appointed John O'Rear envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Bolivia, with all the dignities, rights, privileges and prerogatives that go with the place, including a tidy little salary of $10,000 a year.

And that's what came of the happy hunch of John O'Rear.

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlin, the Sunshine Man.

A man who assumes the duties of a moral hose company is a very useless and uncomfortable individual. He rarely puts out a dangerous fire, but is always playing on a useful or innocent one. I would heartily advise you to abandon this business, and see whether you cannot kindle a few fires of righteous zeal in your neighborhood. At least, don't put out your neighbor's.—The Mossback Correspondence.

Father, make us thankful for all Thy blessings, grant us Thy presence from day to day, and sustain us for Thy service, in the name of our Blessed Redeemer. Amen.

O God, we are grateful to Thee for these temporal gifts. How grateful we should be for the gift of gifts, our Savior Jesus Christ, to whom be all glory. Amen.

"Old Mammy's" Reply.

Toledo Blade: Thaddeus Stevens, slavery's most fiery enemy, though at times he could dominate his party, could not always control his tongue.

While in congress he had, as cook, an old Southern negro "mammy," who, alone of all the household, stood not in awe of the great statesman. Like all her race, she was devoutly religious, and, though she worshiped her employer for his zealous efforts on behalf of her people, she never failed to take him to task for his intemperate language.

One day she accidentally let fall a tray full of dishes. Stevens, hearing the crash of chinaware, lost his temper and his tongue.

"What's all that you're breaking in there?" he asked angrily, adding many additional words that shocked the aged "mammy." Coming to the door she looked the angry man squarely in the eyes, and shot at him:

"Whatever 'tis Ise a-breakin', it ain't the fo'th commandment."

Currency Note.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Among the culprits haled before a Baltimore police magistrate was a darky with no visible means of support.

"What occupation have you here in Baltimore?" asked his honor.

"Well, jedge," said the darky. "I ain't doin' much at present—jest circulatin' round, suh."

His honor turned to the clerk of the court and said:

"Please enter the fact that this gentleman has been retired from circulation for sixty days."

New Version of the "Poor Widow."

Baltimore American: "I heard a glib and plausible beggar this morning asking the aid of a sentimental-looking woman to enable him to get back to his wife, who, he pleaded, was a destitute widow with six small children."

"Of course, she called the police?"

"No, she didn't; she gave him money and said, 'Poor fellow.'"

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Salt of the Earth.

There are few more important minerals than salt. We could easier do without steel for our bridges and battleships than without salt for our food. Animals will sometimes perish for lack of it. When Joe Knowles, primitive man, came out of the woods he said one of his hardest trials had been the loss of salt out of his dietary.

Moreover, salt is the great antiseptic. Since the beginning of time men have used it as a preservative of animal food. Without it much of the food that supports men and nations would speedily pass into corruption.

"Ye are the salt of the earth," said the Master to His disciples. It was a large claim to make for the Christian people. They constituted that element that was to keep humanity sweet and wholesome. By mingling in the life of the world they were to keep society from rotting. Without them decay was sure for the race and its institutions.

Do we stop to think how much we owe to the really good people of all time? As a matter of fact, they have ever stood between our world and perdition. The saints who from their labors rest have been saviors of humanity. Suppose for a minute we had to drop from history the names and the personalities of such men and women as Paul, John, Ambrose, Augustine, Monica, Francis of Assisi, Xavier, Wycliff, William the Silent, Milton, Wesley, Livingstone, Florence Nightingale, Moody, Brooks and a host of others? Had we lost such as these from the human stock how dismally the world's life would have been depleted.

Unregenerate human nature has always been a destructive force. It is characteristic of evil that it disintegrates and destroys. A state in which everyone was selfish or immoral could not long endure. One shudders to think of a society in which vice really had its way.

On the other hand virtue, integrity, moral endeavor are constructive forces. They preserve society and build it up. If the world has remained until now capable of being lived in it is on account of the sweetening, purifying influence of good lives.

Cyprian, famous bishop of Carthage in the third century, wrote a delightful letter to a friend in which he described his conversion to Christianity. "It is a bad world, Donatus," he says, "an incredibly bad world. But I have discovered in the midst of it a company of quiet and holy people have learned a great secret. They have found a joy which is a thousand times better than the pleasures of our sinful life. They are despised and persecuted but they care not. They are masters of their souls. They have overcome the world. These people, Donatus, are the Christians—and I am one of them."

We do not even know the names of these humble men and women. Granted that they may have been of the most ordinary powers they were of extraordinary faithfulness. But for them the tale of those early centuries, and hence of our own, would be a wholly different one. In their time they were the salt of the earth.

There is so much that is tricky, dishonest, impure in the ordinary life of the world that one comes to appreciate genuine goodness wherever he finds it. To the everyday dependable, clean-living people we are in an untold debt. With no visible halos about their heads they are still the real saints of the household, the sick-chamber, the market place, the workshop, the schoolroom. Their loyalty to duty in home and church, in business and public life is the salt that keeps the world sweet and clean. Hail to them! They are, after all, the only sort of folks this world cannot do without, and their names are written in heaven.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — Scoop Is Open to Just So Much Reason — By "HOP"

THE SEVEN

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yes, they are seven all right, and had the like opportunity offered—had it been as safe then as they imagine it is now—more than one or two of the seven would have done the same damage to the tariff bill they fondly hope they have visited on the shipping bill. Wise man, Woodrow Wilson. Had he not rushed reform through while his administration was in its honeymoon his policies would have gone the way Cleveland's went. The Arkansas senator leads the seven. He is one of the gentry who used to fly to the rescue of Aldrich when the mighty Dolliver was hard pressing that boss of the monopoly party. The Hon. John Bankhead was never a doctrinaire. He is the friend, perhaps the follower, of Tom Ryan. The Alabama legislature gave him "instruction" the other day, that William L. Yancey would have heeded or he would have resigned his seat.

Hitchcock hates Bryan—that accounts for him. O'Gorman is angry with the administration because the New York patronage was not turned over to Tammany. Had Wilson helped the tiger, O'Gorman would have fetched and carried for Wilson. I rejoice that Camden is not a native of Kentucky. I hope he will run for governor—he and his millions—with his stab at Wilson for paramount. By the way, did not our own and only and well-beloved Ollie James give him fits about it? As for Vardaman—one can only feel pity for him, the animus controlling him being so transparent.

Hardwick—"O, my son, Absalom! My son, my son, Absalom!" And to this complexion has it come so soon! Only a while ago, my son, didst thou not rebuke the mighty Champ Clark for doing the identical thing you are now doing—going across the hedge into the Republican camp and doing your utmost to bring disaster and disfavor on the greatest president the Democratic party has elected since Thomas Jefferson? I wish the Georgia legislature was in session to say what that sovereign state thinks of your conduct.

Very well. They have defeated the Democratic administration as it now appears. They are on the Republican side of the hedge. They have made triumphant the ship trust. As Mr. Stone very truly said, they have brought the first complacent smile to the Republican countenance it has worn in several years.

The issue presented when the seven deserted their party was this: The Commonweal versus the Ship Trust. That is what it was and all it was. It is notorious that the ship trust has advanced ocean freight rates from 300 to 1,100 per cent and it is also notorious that the dangers of adventure on the ocean by merchant craft are not at all commensurate with the advance in rates. There is a glut of merchandise in our ports. The opportunity to promote our foreign trade was never so favorable if ships could be obtained to do the carrying.

The government having entered on that sort of thing, when we built the canal across the isthmus, was empowered to extend it by an "administration" bill presented to congress. Nobody could possibly be injuriously affected by it except the ship trust. That concern had influence enough to precipitate a filibuster in the senate at the inciplency of the session. The filibuster was practically busted weeks before the close of the session, when lo, and behold seven Democrats joined with the solid Republican side to defeat the efforts of the Democratic administration to give relief to American commerce and relax the grip of the ship trust on it.

Let us hope that the immaculate seven will go the whole hog, now that they are in the camp of the enemy. I see that Henry Cabot Lodge, chief priest of the Republican scribes and pharisees, has interpolated an amendment to the ship bill which, if adopted, will bring to its support the entire Republican side. His proposal is to require that all the ships purchased shall be turned out by American shipyards. I'll bet Tom Ryan is for that.

Precisely. Let us drop into history a little. When we were building the canal, the government went into the ship-buying, ship-owning, ship-sailing business. It was provided that all the ships so purchased should be of domestic construction—unless it was discovered that extortion was practiced.

The Taft administration advertised for a ship and there were all sorts of stipulations as to the dimensions, tonnage, construction, and what not. An impertinent Britisher offered to furnish the vessel for $250,000. Our ship trust, a dear to our previous seven, put in a bid of $850,000. Taft took the bit in his teeth and bought the English ship.

Whereat and whereupon a great outcry went up that the Taft administration was unpatriotic and un-American, that it had bought a foreign ship when it might have had an American ship. It is to stop such treasonable practice as that that the Hon. Lodge put in his amendment. Thus the government could tax the cotton planters of the Hon. Hardwick, the Hon. Bankhead, the Hon. Vardaman, and the Hon. Clarke, to pay millions to our ship trust, when better service could be had if the market were left free and open.

Senator Lodge, I congratulate you on the accession of the awkward squad from the Democratic side! They are seven.

Then there is the Hon. Clapp. He is a curiosity. Had he been present he would have filed exceptions to the Decalogue when that masterpiece of civilization was handed down from Sinai. He would have found a way to criticize and oppose the Sermon on the Mount, and in a stump speech would have augmented the puzzle that pestered Nicodemus touching the mystery of the second birth.

At Runnymede the Hon. Clapp would have withheld his signature from Magna Charta, and if all English statesmen had been builded on his lines there could have been no trial by jury and no habeas corpus. For his mission in politics is to profess reform and vote reaction. "Those are ours," said the French grenadiers at Rivoli as they pointed to a formidable and a threatening body of Austrian infantry on their flank. And "they are ours," meditate Gallinger and Penrose, Lodge and Root, as they contemplate such "progressive" statesmen as Clapp and Cummins, Borah and Bristow.

Just now the Hon. Clapp cannot find it in his marvelously and wonderfully and fearfully made political conscience to vote against the ship trust and for the wheat-growers of the Northwest—and why? He says because Wilson is dcitating to congress. He was as modest "as a basket of chips on the way to hell to be burned" when Teddy was the "dictator." We all recollect that.

The Hon. Clapp recalls what Andy Johnson said one morning as he emerged in a furious and profane and ungrammatical rage from the White House when Franklin Pierce was president: "There's too damned many great men in this country that ain't fit for nothing!"

That fits the Hon. Clapp precisely—as the paper the wall.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

The Frank Case.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE FRANK CASE. By C. P. Connolly of Collier's Weekly. New York: The Vail-Ballou company. 25 cents.

Everything in the Leo M. Frank case from the murder of Mary Phagan on April 26, 1913, down to the recent appeals in the supreme court, is included in the latest publication by C. P. Connolly, well known writer for Collier's Weekly. Mr. Connolly has written many magazine articles on criminal cases the last few years, the most prominent being those about the McNamara trial in San Francisco.

"The Truth About the Frank Case" appeared in Collier's during December and the book now published is practically the same. In addition several interesting photographs are included.

The book is bound in paper, and is likely to be widely read by those interested in the young factory superintendent's fight for his life in the Georgia courts.

"Atmosphere" in Black and White.

THE SPELL OF SPAIN. By Keith Clark. Boston: The Page company. $2.50 net.

"Spell" is exactly the right word for this book, for it is one not of wordy descriptions, but of atmosphere. It tells of the appearance of the places visited; it has something to say about the sky and the foliage and the colors of the buildings; it contains historical references and references that have no apparent connection with the particular theme under discussion at the time they are brought in. But with all these things it reveals an actuality of foreign views and people and settings and—atmosphere—that are altogether too rare in accounts of travel.

The details of the account read more like paragraphs from the letter of a friend than from the writings of a stranger, and the illustrations, which are both profuse and excellent, could almost be a series of pictures brought home by your friend and now being shown to you for the first time they have been taken from the trunk. There is a homely and intimate humor in many passages that makes them the more personal. For instance, in the very brief account given of a "bull fight, the author says:

I am certain that at times he (the torero) was the most alertly poised figure I have ever seen, and I have seen Mathewson poised against the return interpretation of a "fade away."

Neither the author nor his companion cared for the bull fight. But there were other things they did care for, and they give you a personal enjoyment in their accounts of these things.

Verse for the Boys.

THE BOYS' BROWNING. (Cozy Corner Series). Boston: The Page company. 50c.

Much as people sneer at Browning, there are certain of his poems that have the gripping power that others have sought in vain to invoke. Some of these are included in this little volume, and if a boy has any taste at all for verse, you could safely defy him to try to read this collection or any one of them and not find it to his liking. Among the poems included in the collection are: "The Pied Piper of Hamelin;" "Herve Reil;" the "Cavalier Tunes;" "How They Brought the Good News From Ghent to Aix;" "As I Ride;" "Clive;" "The Glove," and others.

Life at West Point.

FROM CHEVRONS TO SHOULDER-STRAPS. By Florence Kimball Russel. Boston: The Page company. $1.50.

Once more Mrs. Russel depicts life at the American national army school this time taking her young hero and his friends through to the receipt of their army commissions. As wife of an officer in service at West Point the author of the Boys' Story of the Army series had many opportunities to observe the customs there, and to study boy nature. That she made excellent use of her opportunities has been proved by the earlier books of the series, and this one is of the same character. The scenes are laid twenty-five years ago, before the athletic teams of the military school began to compete with those of other institutions; but the principles of boyhood are unchanged, and the order of life at the academy has been altered little if at all. At a time when the very air is full of war thrills, a book of this kind ought naturally to find even greater favor than usual.

More About the War.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY AND THE WAR. By Ernest Ludwig, Consul for Austria-Hungary in Cleveland, Ohio; with a preface by Dr. Konstantin Theodor Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States. New York: J. S. Ogilvie Publishing company.

Although we are in danger of forgetting that fact in the later developments, it is true that the war in Europe centered at first in the interests of Austria-Hungary as opposed to those of other nations. For this reason a statement of the internal conditions and international relations of the dual monarchy at the beginning of the struggle and in the preceding months is of great historical value. In this volume is given a presentation of the political forces and historical developments that led up to the war, and it includes detailed statements of the Austrian suspicions that the murder of the heir to Emperor Francis Joseph's throne was accomplished with the full knowledge of the Serbian government, and of the grounds on which those suspicions were founded. Official and confidential reports are cited in the chapter on the propaganda for a greater Russia. That the book is partisan goes without saying, but in view of the indorsement given it by the Austrian ambassador, and considering the character of its contents, it is of unquestionable historical value.

New-Made History.

THE WORLD WAR: How it Looks to the Nations Involved and What it Means to Us. By Elbert Francis Baldwin. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

If you are not familiar with the events that led directly up to the present war in Europe, you will find Mr. Baldwin's book worth while as a piece of history. If you followed those events closely at the time, you would undoubtedly find it a valuable reference work. He has gathered together a series of inter-related statements from the official statements of the belligerent powers, and supplemented these with some personal observations made possible by his presence in Europe at the outbreak of the struggle. Not the least valuable among the contents of his book is the chronological table of events from the latter part of July to the middle of December, 1914.

As to impartiality, Mr. Baldwin is to be congratulated. It would be almost too much to expect a person who has occupied the position he did to produce this much matter on such a subject and remain absolutely without an expressed opinion. He tries valiantly, but there are places where his personal views strike through, though perhaps not so prominently as to be offensive. But in spite of the fact that his book was written before the great struggle was six months old, it is entitled to a place in the bibliography of the great war and seems to be of such a character as to insure it a permanent place.

More About Nancy.

NANCY AND THE COGGS TWINS. By Marion Ames Taggart. Boston: The Page company. $1.50 net.

Miss Taggart's character of Nancy Porter, the doctor's daughter, is already familiar to thousands, and they will all welcome her reappearance. They have watched her grow from a slip of a girl to the verge of womanhood, and here they see her developing into the kind of a girl one with her training would naturally become. But she does not hold the center of the story all alone this time. Instead there come to light the Coggs Twins, already introduced in another volume of the series, and they take a prominent part. They are Maizie, Daisy, Taizie and Hazie. Those who already know Nancy through having read earlier volumes of The Doctor's Little Girl series need no introduction to either the doctor's daughter or the two sets of twins. Others, who have never met the girls, will find them most pleasant acquaintances.

Oppenheim, Skilled Entertainer.

MR. GREX OF MONTE CARLO. By E. Phillips Oppenheim. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.35 net.

Mr. Oppenheim turns out his book a year—or is it two books a year?—with the regularity of a smoothly running machine. Moreover, his output is as dependable as that of a cunning machine. Moreover again, it shows no falling off, but rather a gain in power and depth. He is a leader in light fiction, a skilled and dependable entertainer.

In this latest story the thread is a web of international intrigue. Russia and Germany are plotting to draw France into a covert league against Great Britain. France, in consideration of the bribe of Alsace-Lorraine, is to put up a feeble show of resistance to cover an agreement to permit Germany to occupy Calais for one year, during which Germany is to reduce Great Britain to about the status of Holland.

Hunterleys, a British diplomat, in Monte Carlo for the moment, gets wind of this intrigue, and sets his spies at work. Hunterleys is estranged from his beautiful wife, who is in Monte Carlo with an agent of the intriguing powers and his invalid wife. This agent, intent on conquest, draws Mrs. Hunterleys into a net by playing upon her love of gaming, and as events growing out of Hunterleys' investigations throw suspicion of disloyalty upon him, he makes the most of that, too.

The development of the international intrigue, the relations between Hunterleys and his wife, and two other love stories, make up the plot. It reaches its climax when the conspirators meet in a chartered yacht to clinch the bargain with the representative of France, and develop their plans to the plot where Germany's desire to humble the United States and take South America for a German colony is disclosed. Then it develops that the yacht belongs to Richard Lane, a rich young American, who has fallen in love with the daughter of Grex, who is a Russian grand duke incognito, and who blows up the plot and captures the grand duke's daughter. It is very stirring, and very interesting—a well-knit, absorbing romance.

For the Children's Parents.

THE ISLAND OF MAKE-BELIEVE. By Blanche E. Wade, author of "A Garden in Pink," "The Stained Glass Lady," etc. Boston: The Page company.

Here is a complete and unanswerable demonstration that allegory can be used for other than purely moral or educational purposes, for this book is a hardly-disguised allegory for play-time. It would be useful as a textbook for the parents of real live boys and girls, for it illustrates how the simplest, commonest, most everyday articles can be utilized in playing games that at the same time help to sharpen the wits of the youngsters and give them a closer general knowledge of what is about them.

We are introduced at the outset to the sight of the good ship Busy Bee, carrying a large number of children on a voyage across the Happy Ocean. It was fast aground on Don't-Know-What-To-Do-Reef. Just when their plight is becoming unbearable, the children see an airship approaching. It turns out to be the craft of an odd little chap called Do-Something, who takes the children with him to the Island of Make-Believe. There they all put on the Thinking Caps provided by Do-Something, and the rest of the story is an account of the good times they had, and the trip home again.

The book is plentifully and excellently illustrated by Emma Troth and would be sure of a warm welcome in any home where there are children.

THE SHORT BALLOT

V—OUR NEGLECTED COUNTIES

By H. S. GILBERTSON,
Executive Secretary, The National Short Ballot Organization.

In no branch of American government do the effects of the long ballot principle show so glaringly as in the county. A typical American county is organized around a governing board, which may be either large or small. The popular notion is that this board has complete control over county finances, and that whatever goes wrong, financially at least, may be charged up to it.

In practice this is far from being the case. The principal county officers who spend the county funds are independently elected, and therefore receive their commissions direct from the voters. Since these officers are not really subordinate to the central governing authority, it is not always easy to secure their co-operation to programs of economy and efficiency. On the contrary, it often happens that they are keenly on the scent for opportunities for increasing their working staff and otherwise absorbing county funds.

The other difficulty with county government is that the board invariably lacks an executive agent armed with real power. Every organization must have a single executive agent if desired results are to be accomplished in the most direct and effective manner. Cities have had at least nominal executive heads, and so have states, but county governments have been supposed to lack this necessity.

But the real trouble with county government lies deeper than in mere organization. In those counties where cities dominate by reason of their overwhelming population, the county problems, however important, are exceedingly uninteresting in comparison with those of the cities. The average city voter in such communities considers his duty in local politics well performed when he has cast a thoughtful, righteous vote for mayor. He is not particular who the sheriff is, because he does not anticipate coming into contact with his office. The county clerk does not interest him, because he may not have occasion even as often as once a year to employ his services. It is just possible, if there has been an epidemic of crime, that he will get very much stirred up over the selection of the district attorneys, but that is about where he ceases to care about county government.

The problem then, fundamentally, is to make counties interesting as voting units, or, if that is impractical, to wipe them out by linking them up to either the city or the state government. As in other branches of government, the short ballot procedure is simpler. Elect only those officers who determine public policies. Then give to those officers copious powers, in order that they may be actually held responsible for all that goes on in the county government, and that, being made responsible, they may command the attention of the voters at election time and be under constant surveillance during their terms of office.

In the practical working out of this idea, the advocates of better county government very naturally have turned to the example set by the cities under the commission plan. The latter have found that by centering power, where its exercise can be watched, not only are the opportunities for public officials to go wrong or their temptations to disregard popular sentiment very greatly reduced, but public officials so placed actively seek to discover the will of the people and to act accordingly. This is really the secret of the success of the commission plan. The counties of Los Angeles and San Bernardino, in California, have been reorganized according to this plan, under the county home rule provision.

But county government lends itself but poorly to the exact original type of commission government, in which the several commissioners act individually as the heads of departments. Far more adaptable is the later type employed in Dayton, Ohio, and about twenty other cities under which the responsible executive head is a city manager appointed by the governing board which, itself, acts simply as a legislative body. Under such a system the board of supervisors or county commissioners would appoint a county manager who, in turn, would have power to appoint the other county officers and to supervise their activities and methods. This is the proposition which has been put forward by the Conference for Better County Government in New York state. It is also the substance of a bill proposed by Governor Clarke of Iowa for adoption in that state two years ago. The People's Power League of Oregon have made it a part of their program of state reorganization.

SEES CHANGE FOR UNEMPLOYED

Former Duluthian Would Put Idle Men on Farms Under Direction of State or County; Would Reduce Cost of Living and Give Work to All, He Declares.

An interesting solution to the problem of providing work for the large army of idle men which also disposes of the question of development of large areas of untilled land, is suggested by J. K. Flynn of Superior, formerly of this city. In a letter to The Herald Mr. Flynn among other things says:

"The 'Back to the land' slogan is a good one, but there should be still more inducements offered with it, and it would reduce the cost of living. The only way to reduce the price of any commodity is by competition and co-operation. For instance, we should have more farmers and better co-operation in marketing. This would eliminate the commission or middlemen's profit, and at the same time insure the farmer a better price for his produce than he is now getting.

"The large army of idle men is increasing from year to year, and millions upon millions of acres of land are also lying idle. If some means could be devised to put the land under cultivation, the employment problem would be solved. There would be employment for every man, woman and child now out of work.

"Why not have a bill passed by our state legislature allowing the state or county to raise, by an appropriation, a given sum of money to start a revolving fund to be loaned for clearing land on a long term and at a low rate of interest. The law might provide that the state or county hold a lien on the land prior to all other liens. A commission might be appointed to appraise the cost of clearing the land, measure it, and bring proof that the land was under the plow.

"The fund might be placed in the hands of the county treasurer and paid out to applicants who are able fully to meet certain requirements. The county might also issue special improvement bonds of various denominations; for instance, from $100 up, to finance the project.

"I believe that when people became familiar with the measure, they would be willing to dig up money stowed away in old stockings, mattresses and other hiding places, and invest in bonds such as these. People who are now putting their money in savings banks could get a better rate of interest on their money. Eventually the banks would benefit by it through the development of the country. The state would be benefited by such a measure, as every acre of land cleared would add to the taxes of the state.

"The government has been spending millions of dollars irrigating land in Western states, which, taken as a whole, has not been very successful. They have passed up vast areas of land where there is an abundance of rainfall, and where the cost of clearing would be comparatively small as against the cost of irrigation.

"Some of the states are spending a lot of money draining land, especially Minnesota. I believe that they should go slow with such projects and consider first what they are doing. It strikes me that the high lands around the swamps should first be cleared and steps taken to protect such land from fires. About every six or seven years we have a dry season, and the people are in danger of losing their best land, as the loam and peat marshes will burn entirely out, leaving the land useless.

"It is the duty of every man and woman to do whatever possible in solving this problem, especially in case of those who are familiar with the needs of the beginner on new land. It occurs to me that there is lots of room for thought in this subject, possibly more than the majority of people have stopped to give it."

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

Simple Remedies for Insomnia

THE tepid pack is perhaps one of the most efficacious means of producing sleep in simple insomnia or in feverish illness when the nervous system is overtaxed with toxemia. To give a tepid pack the bed must have a rubber or oilcloth sheet under the linen sheet. The patient lies on the bed undressed. A second sheet is wrung out of tepid water and put on the patient, tucking in between the legs and between the body and arms. Over all a blanket is placed, and upon the forehead a cold compress is kept. The pack is left on from half an hour to two hours, according to the quieting, soothing influence it produces, then removed and the patient dried and covered as usual.

The hypnotic effect of a tepid pack is unbelievable until you have tried it. Especially is it useful in quieting the restlessness of a sick child.

A light lunch before retiring, if you retire late, is advisable to help sleep. A bowl of bread and milk, or a sandwich, or a cup of hot broth, or a dish of oyster stew, or a drink of hot malted milk. Of course tea and coffee are cerebral stimulants and hence to be avoided late in the evening.

A walk around the block late at night is a good preparation for sleep. It tends to equalize the circulation and remove blood from the brain.

People who wake in the middle of the night should eat a cracker or drink a glass of milk and go back to sleep.

A cold draft blowing over the bed is one of the best hypnotics in nature's pharmacopoeia.

A hot bath on retiring is effective in many cases of insomnia.

In lieu of a hike around the block, ten minutes of brisk calisthenics in the bedroom will equalize the circulation and prepare the body to relax.

Questions and Answers.

A Good Mouth Wash: Will you please recommend a good mouth wash for a 16-year-old young man who has a bad breath? He cleans his teeth twice a day. He is an inveterate candy eater.

REPLY.

Candy is all right if it is pure candy and if it is taken after meals, not irregularly. It fattens. The young man should make sure there is no chronic nasal catarrh, or infested tonsils, or unsuspected carious teeth. A few drops of tincture of iodine in half a cupful of water makes a good mouth wash.

* *

Camphorated Oil: Would you recommend camphorated oil to rub on the chest for colds?

REPLY.

Not for "colds," because you never have a "cold." But we consider camphorated oil which you prepare freshly yourself the best of all local applications for coryza (or head "cold"), trachelitis ("cold" on the chest) and acute bronchitis. Make it by dissolving all the powdered camphor you can dissolve in hot almond oil (sweet almond oil) or hot olive oil.

* *

Children Not Eligible: Would the bread and milk diet you recommend be advisable for a girl of 10 years? What would you suggest for an adult of 50 who has some obstruction to nasal breathing at night?

REPLY.

Children are not eligible for membership in the Bread and Milk club. Rarely indeed does a child get too much to eat. For the adult we would suggest a careful examination of the nasal chambers by a doctor equipped with head mirror and light and examining instruments.

THE HERALD'S PARCEL POST SERVICE

Directions for Ordering and Shipping by Parcel Post:

¶ Any article advertised here is mailable to any part of the United States, if not over 20 pounds in weight nor more than 72 inches in length and girth combined. Parcels of 50 pounds can be sent through local, first and second zones (second zone limit 150 miles). If the article you order is very valuable it may be insured or accorded special delivery service on payment of the usual fees.. Such valuable articles will be insured upon request against loss.

¶ When ordering shoes, rings, hats, dresses, waists, coat suits or anything that requires a perfect fit, be careful and give your correct size. Duluth firms will be very careful to give you just the size you order.

¶ When ordering dress goods, silks, colored goods or any article where a particular color is wanted be certain and specify the exact shade, and merchants will see that you get what you order.

¶ By conforming to these simple rules your orders will be sent out the same day received and in many cases will be delivered by the postman direct to your home the following day.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a clean record established the Bemidji high school basket ball team is now planning to represent the sixth congresional district in the basket ball tournament which will be held at Carleton in the spring. The Little Falls high school team is the only team that stands between Bemidji and the undisputed title of the district. Little Falls and Bemidji have proved themselves to be the strongest teams in the district and a game will be arranged between these two teams in the near future for championship honors.

Although the Bemidji boys have played against some fast teams they have not in any game been pushed to the limit and as yet their real strength has not been put to the test. In fact the team of 1915 is the most remarkable ever produced by the high school in this city. The complete record of the Bemidji high school team is:

Bemidji, 29; McIntosh, 14; played at McIntosh and marks the first defeat for McIntosh on their home floor in five years; Bemidji, 35; Akeley, 10; at Akeley; Bemidji, 81; Ada, 5; Bemidji, 73; Park Rapids, 3; Bemidji, 37; Brainerd, 4.

The games played with Ada, Park Rapids and Brainerd were played in Bemidji.

EXPORT CALLS HELPS WHEAT

Market Recovers on Foreign Buying After Sharp Early Decline.

Durum Stocks in Duluth Elevators Cleaned Up—Flaxseed Quiet.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 20.—The movement of wheat was on the erratic order again today. Extreme weakness was shown at the opening as a result of apprehension over the outcome of the German submarine blockade on British and French ports, and the initial figure showed a decline of 1⅞c. Persistent inquiry from exporters then led to a steady recovery, and final prices were nearly at the top, just fractionally off from yesterday's close.

May wheat opened 1⅞c off at $1.52¼, and closed ⅜c down at $1.53¾ asked. July closed ⅝c off at $1.49½ bid.

Buying of durum on foreign account was a feature. After opening unchanged at $1.58, and selling off ½c, the May future advanced to a close of $1.59½ asked, or up 1½c from yesterday's final figure. July closed 1½c up at $1.56. Durum stocks in Duluth elevators were practically cleaned up today in the sale of 250,000 bu to go out all-rail to the seaboard from the Consolidated elevator. More cash durum was wanted, and the bidding for it led to the advance.

An additional 150,000 bu of No. 1 northern wheat was reported sold here this morning to go out at the opening of navigation from the Peavey elevator. More of it was bid for, but the holders turned down the offers at the present price basis.

A large tonnage of spring wheat was advised to have been disposed of at Minneapolis today, and additional sales for shipment to Great Britain were reported at Winnipeg. There was an active foreign demand for wheat also at the seaboard.

A bullish factor in the day came in an advance of 2c in wheat at Buenos Aires, due to advices of further heavy rains. The market was weak at St. Louis, owing to some selling pressure. Trading at the close locally was largely of an evening up nature due to the two days' holiday and indisposition on the part of operators to leave any loose ends out in consideration of possible war developments.

Markets in coarse grains were weak in all quarters, with heavy offerings and an easing up in support for the time being. Oats closed 1c off at 54¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.22@1.23; barley unchanged at from 68c to 77c, and corn 1¼c off at 68⅝c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 67⅛c bid, and July ¼c off at 67⅜c bid.

Flaxseed Trading Quiet.

Trading in flaxseed was neglected, with sales of only a few small lots recorded during the session. While price changes were only fractional the tendency was weaker.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.86, and closed on the same basis. July closed ½c off at $1.87, and September unchanged at $1.85 nominal.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¼c off at $1.66 asked, and July unchanged at $1.68 bid.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market was dull but steady. Late weakness in America was offset by firmness in Buenos Aires. Cargoes and parcels are steadily held at yesterday's levels and spot market is unchanged. There is a smaller inquiry for winters and Plate sellers are reserved. There is some talk here of larger American shipments this week to the United Kingdom.

"Corn was dull and inclined lower. Spot market was easier. There are fresh arrivals of Plate here and parcels are offered at 1½d decline. Plate offers remain firm."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Chicago: "Wheat bulls say that so long as the foreign absorption continues on a liberal scale it is not wise to get bearish on May. Most of the trading in May is in cleaning up old business, the houses with export connections were the best buyers yesterday. There is an impression among a large number of local traders that some of the seaboard houses in close touch with the exact situation are speculating on their prestige.

"Sentiment in the grain trade last night was bearish. There has been a falling off in the outside buying and the markets do not seem to be able to stand up under any selling. Bears on coarse grains predict lower prices and say the movement is expected to continue liberal. The local short interest was increased on yesterday's decline.

"We have the following cable from Liverpool: 'Here Plate wheats deliver at about half crown cheaper than American winters, so trade is largely diverting to them.'"

CHICAGO MARKET.

European Conditions on Foodstuffs Serve to Send Wheat Prices Down.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—European approaches to virtual outlawing of foodstuff shipments for either Germany or Great Britain tended decidedly today to depress the wheat market here. Holders unloaded freely and some stop-loss orders were uncovered on the resulting sharp decline. The fact that prices at Liverpool were firm seemed to have no influence on this side. Due attention, however, was given to advances in war risk rates of marine insurance. After opening 1½@2½c lower, the market here suffered a material further setback, interrupted by only a moderate temporary rally.

Subsequent news of export business at Kansas City and New York helped to cause a more sweeping upturn. There were also advices that millers were buying at Minneapolis. The close nevertheless was unsettled, 1⅛c under last night.

Corn tumbled with wheat. What buying there was came mostly from speculative shorts. The opening, which ranged from ¾@1⅛c down, was followed by a little reaction and then an additional drop.

Purchases for domestic industrial concerns aided later in swinging the market upward. The close was nervous, though at ⅞c to 1@1⅛c net decline.

Liquidating sales by longs carried down oats. Support was restricted by the fact that Monday would be a holiday.

Provisions developed acute weakness. Longs in pork seemed especially determined to sell.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Depressed to Lowest Level of the Current Movement.

Substantial Recovery in Dealings After the First Hour.

New York, Feb. 20.—The heaviness which marked yesterday's late dealings became more accentuated in today's trading, the entire list tending downward. The average of prices was the lowest since the culmination of the January rise. United States Steel was offered in round amounts and other leaders showed signs of renewed liquidation, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading and Amalgamated Copper falling a point or more. The approach of the double holiday, with its attendant uncertainty in the foreign situation, was again the outstanding feature.

Declines for the session ranged from 1 to almost 2 points in leading issues. The selling was all in the first hour, however, with substantial recovery in the later dealings. Miscellaneous specialties also were affected by the early depression, with declines to new minimums. Conditions were further aggravated by renewed weakness in foreign exchange and the grain markets. The closing was heavy. Bonds were lower on additional foreign offerings.

ANACONDA GETTING READY FOR BIG COPPER DEMAND

About $5,750,000 to Be Expended on Improving Plants.

Expected to Effect Savings in Metal Values and Costs.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There has been a slight but gradual increase in Anaconda Copper production, but the company is particular to state that it is only to meet a temporary situation and that it cannot be counted as permanent increase. At the same time the company is pushing its improvement work and is preparing to meet an anticipated demand for copper that is expected to be unprecedented. The improvements at the reduction plants at Anaconda and Great Falls are also expected to result in considerable savings in metal values and operation costs, and will permit the company to work a lower grade of ore than has hitherto been possible. It will therefore result in a considerable prolongation of the life of the mines. At the present time the recoveries made on the ores sent to Anaconda and Great Falls is only about 78 per cent of the copper content. It is expected to raise this recovery to about 91 per cent by the use of the flotation process on the material which now leaves the concentrator.

Radical Changes Planned.

This will require quite radical changes in the lower part of the mill. The upper portion will remain very much the same as it is now except that a Symons disc crusher will be added in each section in order to obtain increased crusher capacity. By so doing the capacity of the concentrator will be increased from about 12,500 to 15,000 tons per day, according to the statement of Frederick Laist, metallurgical manager.

The jigs on the roll and Huntington mill floors will be replaced by roughing tables of a special design which will make concentrates and coarse tailings. These tailings will be reground in pebble mills so that they will pass a screen with about sixty holes to the lineal inch. This finely ground sand will then go to the flotation machines which will be situated on the lower table floor and which will make a concentrate containing about 8 per cent of copper and a tailing of only about 1 per cent copper. The slimes which are now treated on round tables will be further treated in flotation machines, making a tailing which can go to waste and concentrates which will go to the filter plant.

All Ore to Concentrator.

Under the new system there will be no first-class ore and all of the ore will go to the concentrator instead of being partly sent to the blast furnaces. No coarse concentrates will be produced and the field of the blast furnaces will be greatly restricted, if not entirely eliminated. In order to take care of all of the concentrates which have been going to the blast furnaces, as well as the concentrates which result from the concentration of first class ore and from the increased recovery on the ore, a new roaster plant will be constructed containing forty furnaces, 22 feet 6 inches in diameter. These furnaces will be charged by a conveyor system instead of by cars as are the furnaces in the old roasting plant. The calcines from this plant as well as from the old roasting plant will be hauled by the present tramming system to the present reverberatory plant. The furnaces in this plant are all being enlarged and equipped with pulverized coal burners. The new furnaces will be 25 feet wide by almost 150 feet long and will smelt about 650 tons per day each. The present reverberatory buildings will therefore house furnaces having an aggregate capacity almost two and a half times as great as before, and will smelt all of the concentrates coming from both roasting plants.

Seven Large Converters.

The barrel-shaped converters in the converter plant are being replaced by large upright converters of the Great Falls type about 20 feet in diameter. There will be seven of these converters, and they will be able to produce about 22,000,000 pounds of copper per month. The slag from these converters, which is now being solidified and resmelted in the blast furnaces, will be tapped into large ladles and poured directly from these into a huge reverberatory which will be constructed in the relining department of the converter plant. It will be by far the largest reverberatory in the world, and will be 25 feet wide by 175 feet long. It will receive about 700 tons of molten converter slag and 350 tons of fine ore per day. The furnace will clean the converter slag to such an extent that it may run to waste. The new plant will be partially supplied with air from a Turbo blower, having a capacity of about 35,600 cubic feet of free air per minute. The blower is directly connected to a steam turbine and runs at about 3,400 revolutions per minute. It is now in operation and has proved highly successful. The blast furnace and the briquetting plants will, under the new system at the Washoe, be no longer required, but will be kept intact and in good repair, so that they may be used in emergencies, or at times when the copper is high, and it may be advisable to push the copper output beyond the maximum capacity of the other departments.

Will Cost $5,750,000.

The improvements at Anaconda will cost about $4,000,000. At Great Falls about $1,750,000 will be spent. A new refinery is being constructed at Great Falls which will have a capacity of 10,000,000 pounds of copper per month. It will replace the old refinery which has been in operation a great many years and which is no longer economical. The new plant will, however, have twice the capacity of the old plant. The refinery will be kept in operation partly or entirely, on copper shipped from Anaconda; depending on whether or not the Great Falls smelter is in operation. The new smelter at Great Falls will be completed and the pulverized coal system, which has proved so successful in Anaconda, will be applied to the Great Falls furnace. Coal from the Lochray coal fields is to be burned. The ash content of this coal is high, but this has not proved detrimental. Both the output per furnace and the tonnage smelter per ton of coal will be greatly increased over the old system of gas firing. No concentration of ore will be done at Great Falls. All of the ore will go to Anaconda and concentrates only will be shipped from there. The blast furnace department at Great Falls will also be closed down and all smelting will be done in reverberatories, as in Anaconda.

New Leaching Plant.

The new leaching plant at Anaconda, which will be operated on tailings which have accumulated during the past years to such an extent that about 15,000,000 tons are available for retreatment, is nearing completion and will probably be started early in April. It will treat from 2,000 to 2,500 tons per day of tailings containing from 13 to 14 pounds of copper per ton, and will make from 600,000 to 700,000 pounds of copper per month at low cost. The supply of tailings for this plant is sufficient to keep it in operation for a period of about twenty years. The new acid plant is also nearing completion and will be able to make somewhat over 100 tons of acid per day. This acid will be used in the leaching plant and in the new flotation plants. The company has much experimental work under way along various lines, which may in the course of a few years lead to the establishment of other important lines of industry at Anaconda and other points.

North Butte and East Butte.

While North Butte representatives in Montana declare that there is no foundation for the persistent rumors that the company may take over the East Butte Copper company, there are many evidences to indicate that there is some truth in the report. The East Butte smelter is being greatly enlarged and some important economical changes are being made. The old smelter had a capacity of about 500 tons of ore per day, and the East Butte mines couldn't provide enough ore to run the plant at capacity. When the improvements now under way are completed in about ninety days, the plant will have a capacity of 1,000 tons a day, just about the normal output of the North Butte mines.

North Butte.

The Anaconda company is still carrying on its tests on the ground and in the mill and electrolytic plant of the Butte-Duluth company, under its option which expires March 1. Some of the diamond drill results have not been as satisfactory as the mining results of the Butte-Duluth company have been, but it is explained that the low grade of ore shown by some of the drill cores is due to the broken condition of the rock. Capt. Wolvin of the Butte-Duluth is satisfied with the actual results shown by the mill run.

BARNES-KING'S ANNUAL REPORT

May Pay Dividend Before the End of the Present Year.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 20.—That the Barnes-King Development company will become a dividend payer, probably before the end of the present year, is the belief of those intimate with the operations of the company. One also forms this impression after reading the annual report, which has just been issued.

Month after month, for a year and a half, the reports of the company have been quite gratifying to the shareholders. They have shown gross earnings of anywhere from $28,000 to $44,000, and all from the North Moccasin property at Kendall. With the prospects that the Piegan-Gloster proposition at Marysville is to become a far bigger thing than the North Moccasin, it is certain the company faces a rosy future.

For the year that ended Dec. 31 last, the Barnes-King Development company made a net profit of $150,418.98. From March 1, 1911, to Dec. 31, 1914, the receipts of the company amounted to $1,115,330, including $207,655 in the treasury and $64,765 in bonds at the beginning of that period. The expenditures for the same period aggregated $959,882, so that the balance on hand on Dec. 31 was $164,448. Moreover, in that period $150,000 were paid for the North Moccasin mine and $112,834 for the Piegan-Gloster. The total sum paid out by the company by reason of the North Moccasin title, improvements, mill and operations was $660,395, while the expenditures at the Piegan-Gloster, including cost of title, were $240,206. There were extraordinary expenses for litigation, examination of new properties and other items, bringing the total of expenditures by the company to $950,882.

These figures are taken from the annual report before mentioned. C. W. Goodale, the president, concludes his statement with these words:

"When the Piegan-Gloster is placed on a producing basis it is expected that the company can begin paying dividends, but your directors believe that a good substantial amount should be kept in the treasury, so that if other good properties are recommended by our engineers, funds shall be available for their purchase and for development."

NEGOTIATING FOR ASH PEAK MINE

International Directors Desire to Get Title to the Property.

Negotiations are under way whereby the International Mines Development company may at once acquire the Ash Peak group of silver mines, in Greenlee county, Ariz., in fee simple.

The International has a five-week option on the Ash Peak, renewable for two years more. The option calls for royalties of 25 per cent on the gross output of the mine during the life of the option, or until the purchase price of $100,000 is paid.

International Mines' directors, who own 1,600,000 shares of International stock and are the controlling interest in the International, have looked with deep regret upon the unfortunate turn of affairs in Mexico which has prevented the beginning of operations at the four promising properties of the company in Sonora.

They desire to place the company in a position where it can go on a working basis. Two examinations made of the Ash Peak property by Director and Consulting Engineer Wendler of the company have been convincing on the point that the Ash Peak is no prospect, but a developed mine down to the 500-foot level, where the silver-gold ore to the net value of $100,000 has already been blocked out.

A remarkable fact with regard to the negotiations is that if the deal now in progress goes through, not a single dollar of corporate funds nor a single share of treasury stock of the International Mines Development company will be turned over in payment for the Ash Peak property.

The directors of International, who own 1,600,000 shares out of the 2,000,000 issued shares, propose to dig into their own pockets and strong boxes and produce the wherewithal by which title to the Ash Peak property will be turned over to the International.

GRANBY DIVIDEND IN JUNE LIKELY

Plants Now at Seventy Per Cent Capacity—Earnings Higher.

Granby Consolidated now has six of its eight furnaces at Grand Forks in blast and two of the thirteen furnaces at Hidden Creek. This gives the property an output of approximately 70 per cent normal. Two furnaces were added at Grand Forks Feb. 9.

It is likely that the March meeting of the directors will produce something in the way of dividend announcements. Granby suspended dividends after the June payment in 1914, amounting to $1.50 per share. It is expected that by the time of the next dividend in June, 1915, the company will have accumulated sufficient profits to permit resumption of dividends and there are some who would express no surprise at a Granby dividend in March.

ACTIVITY ON THE CUYUNA

Mines Are Being Put in Shape for the Coming Season.

Work Will Be in Full Blast at Rowe Pit March 1.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Hill Crest pit mine property to be developed this season, the Cuyuna Range Power company is putting in a substation. They will supply the mining company with electricity to be used in operating the pumps and sandsucker used in the hydraulic work which is to clear off the overburden. It will be a 660-kilowatt substation. Two 330-kilowatt transformers will be used. The company will use a 300-horse power motor direct connected to a 10-inch sandsucker and a 250-horse power motor direct connected to a 3,500-gallon clear water pump to supply the giant. There are being sunk four 6-inch pipes to support the platform for the sandsuckers. John Westcott of the Rowe pit mine worked out an ingenious plan of supporting the platform and this will be followed at the Hill Crest pit. The Rowe pit mine had two units. The Hill Crest will have one unit which will be a little larger than one unit at the Rowe. Water will be secured from Black Hoof lake, a distance of about eighty rods from the pit.

The Rowe pit mine is preparing for a big season. Machinery is being gotten in shape. New engines and other equipment will be used to supplement the old. Trestles are being built. About March 1 work will be on in full blast. A concentrator at the mine is another big improvement under way.

Cuyuna-Sultana.

The Cuyuna-Sultana Iron company expects to soon have under way stripping operations in the northwest corner of its holdings near the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine. Work will be well under way by April 1. The Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company is expected to strip its lands near the Pennington pit. The Pennington will have the Armour No. 1, now an underground working and lately taken over by the Inland Steel company. The Thompson mine, so successfully operated first as an underground mine and later as a pit mine, will start work March 1.

The Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company is engaged in cross-cutting the ore body and hoisting daily fifty tons. In a few weeks the ore will be loaded directly into ore cars for shipment to the lakes, where a cargo is to be ready for the earliest lake shipment. This company has sold every pound of ore blocked out before mining commenced.

Brainerd-Cuyuna.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd has its timber compartment shaft anchored in ledge, and a depth of fifteen feet below bedrock has been attained. Two shifts are being worked. As soon as the shaft attains the necessary depth, drifting will be commenced, a distance of about 100 feet, and the ore body tapped. The ore will be shipped over the Northern Pacific railway.

The Croft mine has a crew at work in the bottom straightening the shaft. They will dig under the high side and cause the concrete and steel shaft to quickly sink into its proper place. The Cuyuna-Duluth and Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing company are expected to start work soon. E. A. Lamb of Deerwood, one of the directors of the company, has returned from a trip to the furnaces at Dunbar, Pa.

At the Iron Mountain mine, two 150 horse power boilers were put in place last Wednesday. About fourteen men are now working at the pit. Seventeen carloads of ore were shipped from the mine last week. As soon as steam can be produced, the pumps will be started and the shaft cleared of water.

Armour No. 2 Stockpiling.

The Armour No. 2 mine of the Inland Steel company is engaged in hoisting and stockpiling. The Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore company is stockpiling. S. T. Harrison of Crosby has taken a position as mining engineer at the Kennedy. The Inland Steel company, it is said, will enlarge its laboratory and engage a chemist.

Drilling continues active, especially on the south range where the Barrows Mining company, the Brainerd Mining company and the Barrows-Mississippi Iron company are drilling near Barrows. The Klondyke Iron company is reported to have struck ore in the third hole put down near Klondyke. The Duluth Diamond Drilling company has drills at work in section 15, township 44, range 31 near Barrows and in section 27, township 47, range 28 near Cuyuna. F. A. Edson of Deerwood has a drill working at Cedar Lake. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company has drills working near Rice river below Aitkin. One of these is on lands of the Pioneer Development company of St. Paul. J. J. Krause of Crosby has two drills working in the eastern end of Crow Wing county. It is expected that John R. Harrington of Hibbing will soon drill the Holland lands in Brainerd.

Changes of Interests.

Anna R. Speelman has sold to Edward F. Burg an undivided thirty-second interest in lot 2, the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter and the north half of the southwest quarter of section 9, township 136, range 25. Frank E. Holton has sold to Harlan P. Roberts the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter and an undivided two-thirds of the minerals in the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 7, township 137, range 26 and section 3, township 137, range 26 for $500. John K. Lane has sold to the Seven Counties Land company an undivided sixth interest in minerals in the east half of the southeast quarter of section 7, township 137, range 26.

The Mission Iron company has sold to the Hill Cuyuna Mining company the south half of the northwest quarter, the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter and the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 27, township 136, range 27. William H. Wilber has sold to the O'Brien Mercantile company the south half of the southwest quarter of section 33, township 44, range 30 for $1,500. Dora E. Greve has sold to Mary B. Schrader the north half of the northwest quarter and the north half of the northeast quarter of section 12, township 136, range 29 for $2,400.

The Van Sant Investment company has quitclaimed to John P. Fetsch and and James F. Sperry lot 3 of section 11, township 46, range 30 and the north half of the northeast quarter of section 29, township 46, range 29, also an undivided half interest in the southeast quarter and lot 4 of section 10, township 136, range 27. A. A. Wright has sold to Adam Kosiowski for $2,400 the northwest quarter of section 30, township 43, range 29. An agreement has been filed by the Section 30 Development company and John Hopkins relating to the north half of the southeast quarter of section 3, township 46, range 29.

The Biwanago Mining company made application for a reduction in the valuation of the iron ore on the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter, the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter and the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 30, township 46, range 28, which was returned by the tax commission at 12 cents a ton for taxation purposes. The board recommended to the commission that the rate be reduced to 7 cents per ton.

WORK ON MILL PROGRESSING

Structural Steel at the Isle Royale Now Well Advanced.

Hancock to Resume Mining Operations About First of March.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isle Royale's No. 7 shaft, in spite of some recent assertions to the contrary, cannot be opened the first of the coming month for the simple reason that there is no Shaft No. 7. When all work was shut down prior to the strike, a pit about forty-five feet deep represented all the work that had been done, and its timbers were then withdrawn. No holing from the sixth level up had been done; as the quicksand was so uncertain that naturally this work was deferred until the exact location of the shaft should be known. The drainage below the fourteenth level in the old Huron mine markings is being carried on now by means of a pump located on the edge. The steel work of the mill building is over two-thirds in position. One stamp was sent to the manufacturers, the Nordberg company at Milwaukee, two weeks ago and the other two will soon follow. The structural steel contractors, the Wordenden company, have finished their work in about three weeks. As it was necessary to use all of the seven stamps at the Osceola mill for the Osceola rock, since that mine resumed the full time schedule, the Centennial rock has been shipped to Tamarack No. 1 mill, and the Allouez rock that had been treated on the second of the two stamps there has been forwarded to the Centennial-Allouez mill. Consequently the Isle Royale shipments were delivered to the Tamarack No. 1 mill, where two stamps had just been put into commission. No rock is being hoisted that the cars and the rockhouse and mill bins are kept constantly filled, and the quantity was so great on Feb. 17 that Nos. 4 and 6 shafts had to be discontinued for the day shift. The total daily tonnage at this mine is about 2,000 tons.

Ahmeek.

Ahmeek will not start up its four additional heads the first of next month, as quite extensively announced, but it is probable that they will be in operation in about four months, as orders have been received to employ fifty men to complete the addition to the mill, which is really a duplication of the part already built. Two of the stamps are now lying two feet in the snow and the other two will now probably be ordered. So much rock has been shipped lately that, beginning with the first of this month, the mill was started up Sundays at 7 p. m. instead of 7 a. m. Mondays, thus gaining twelve hours, and with one exception it has been run Saturdays for some time. One stamp has been equipped with crushing rolls which have given an additional tonnage to the stamp of about 125 tons, and another set of rolls has been sent to the mill, which will be set up some time in the future. The present tonnage is about 2,500 tons daily, or 64,000 for a month of twenty-six working days. During the week ending Feb. 13, there had been received about 3,050 tons daily.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian has advanced with two drills about 170 feet on the crosscut on the 900-foot level seeking the lode discovered by a three-inch calyx, or shot, drill about four years ago 200 feet east of the shaft now being operated. The core was considered good. The five drills which are extending the level are all in good ground except that on the 900-foot level to the south, where only a little copper as yet is being met with. The three drills operated towards the New Baltic and consequently north are all in good ground, that on the 250-foot level being in about 110 feet with about 130 more to go. These seven drills are working day shifts only, and where run singly are making 13 or 14 feet weekly and doubly about twice those figures.

Winona.

Winona, which has been shipping 140 tons daily to the Trimountain mill for the past week, has had to reduce this shipment to about 120 tons, as it has been encountering considerable lean ground. The lean ground, in which the openings are "dead" or unprofitable work, has been much greater in extent than was expected, but on the other hand the yield is running much higher than was estimated and it has been rising well over twenty pounds to the ton, and for some quite long periods has reached twenty-five pounds. Capt. Broan, the lessee, and the company are both getting a good return for this work, which was started in the discouraging days when copper was down to 11½ cents a pound, and forty-six former men who could not obtain work elsewhere are employed. Capt. Broan's contract expires in June, but will probably be terminated by the rise of the water before that time. The working of these good levels will lead to the opening up of No. 1 King Philip, where there are said to be quite a number of similarly good levels and the abandonment of No. 3 Winona, when the mine starts up again.

Hancock.

Hancock will resume mining operations about the first of March, and will probably take on 200 to 250 men. Nothing but pumping out the mine water has been done here since the mine was shut down at the beginning of the war. At that time it was working eight openings on five lodes. As it is impossible on account of the fire at the Isle Royale mill to have the rock treated at the Centennial-Allouez mill the management are considering the Franklin mill, where it is most likely that the work will be done. An assessment of $3 a share payable in three $1 installments, May 1, Sept. 1 and Jan. 1, 1916, will bring the amount paid in up to $25, the limit prescribed by the Michigan law. The shipments were paying expenses at the time of the closing down, and it is thought by those conversant with its condition that it will be soon paying a profit.

Quincy.

Quincy's daily tonnage is somewhat over 3,000 tons, or 102,000 tons for a month of twenty-six working days. It is producing at Nos. 2, 6 and 8 shafts that have been for quite a while furnishing all the work, as that of No. 7 is so small as to be almost negligible. The usual amount of reserves is being maintained, about two miles roughly estimating. It will be quite a long time before the explorations at No. 9 will be resumed. The lowest levels are keeping up the improvement in mineral contents that has been shown for about two years.

White Pine.

White Pine has greater possibilities than has been generally supposed, as beyond the mineralization known for a long time of two lodes of coarse sandstone, the first having a width of eight and the second that of six feet with an intervening layer of shale, there has been discovered by drifts another rich lode about 100 feet east. The explorations of F. B. Close on the S. L. Smith property, ten miles slightly to the southeast, have also encountered this lode and have also demonstrated the fact that all the formations carry the metal and that the most of them possess it in commercial values, and that from underground and surface indications there are undoubtedly other beds yet to be opened that carry good values in this great width, 675 feet, of the Nonesuch formations. It is thought that after the Calumet & Hecla has demonstrated just what can be saved a thorough examination of the formations will be made and that probably a mill will then be erected with capacity sufficient to treat all the commercial values. All the information that is obtained concerning the probable recovery from the rock now being taken out at the White Pine is unofficial, as the company considers the mill an experiment and is evidently going to make no statements until they have the proven facts to give out to their stockholders. Reliable mining men who have inspected the workings assert that there is on the upper and richer lode a width of ground that will average nearly eight feet and 7½ per cent in values. Of course, all this cannot be saved and the figure of eighty pounds a ton is thought to be very conservative, but estimating the yield as low as sixty-five pounds, or 3½ per cent, the annual production of refined copper at this experimental mill of a daily capacity of 1,000 tons would be about 20,000,000 pounds a year with very low costs, as the rock can be easily broken, drilled, blasted and crushed, and as there will be no cost practically for transportation to the mill.

South Lake.

South Lake has entered a fifth lode on the 600-foot level by means of the long cross-cut at a distance of about 1,650 feet from the shaft and has found it to be about 40 feet wide. It is now thought that the drill will at any time pass into the trap. It has not the great quantity of mass copper found in the lode last traversed, but possesses very good grades of stamp rock sufficiently abundant to make the mining of it to be quite profitable. There should be theoretically two more lodes. It is reliably stated that on the Adventure, which is the next property to the south, a vertical shaft was sunk about three years ago and located on a strike considerably north of the workings and shaft on the South Lake and a cross-cut was driven southeast or at right angles to the formations, with the result of discovering that the dip changed from the northwest to the southeast. This discovery certainly offers a strong basis for the belief that not only do the South Lake lodes extend across the South Lake but that they pass into the Adventure.

Houghton.

Houghton copper has acquired by deed the property that it desires for connection with the Isle Royale railway at the Superior. It is understood that the mine management will closely sorting, but it is found to be more economical to maintain the present average. Last year the yield was between fourteen and fifteen pounds. The tonnage is about 835 tons daily or 22,000 tons a month. More attention is being paid to the increase of the yield than to the tonnage. In the spring the shipments will be increased to very nearly the capacity of the mill.

RICH STRIKE MADE IN NORTH BUTTE

Largest Strike of High-Grade Ore in Butte District.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 20.—What is believed to be the largest strike of high-grade ore ever made in the history of Butte district is that now being developed on the 2,800-foot level of the Speculator of the North Butte, where they have drifted now for 360 feet on the Edith May vein from the Granite Mountain crosscut, and they have not come to the end yet.

The ore body is averaging four and one-half to five feet in width and the ore assays in the neighborhood of 15 per cent, with 2.75 to 4 ounces of silver per ton.

In the report issued in January it was stated that at that time drifting had been carried on for a distance of 196 feet and the ore body showed a width of four and one-half feet. The ore assayed 12.25 per cent copper and 3.75 ounces of silver per ton. Since then the development work has been carried on steadily to determine the extent of the ore body and the results have been as given above.

Some of the ore runs from 35 to 50 per cent copper, while the average shows this to be one of the largest, if not the largest body of high-grade that has ever been encountered in the North Butte property.

This development on the 2,800 level of the Speculator is not only encouraging to the North Butte people, but to holders of other properties that are looking for increased mineralization on lower levels.

The ore in the drifts has been uniform and the increase in the mineralization from the 2,000-foot level down to the 2,800, with the finding of the largest body of high-grade ore at the lowest depth is attracting considerable attention from the owners of other properties in the vicinity.

GREENE-CANANEA ABOUT TO START

Mine and Surface Plants Ready Since First of Year.

It is stated that the Greene-Cananea company will start up its Cananea plant within a week. The mine and surface plants have been kept in readiness since the first of January to resume operations on a moment's notice and a force of between 200 and 300 men has been at work making needed repairs and getting everything in the best possible shape.

The conditions in Mexico are such now that the management believes the men can be put back to work and the mine operated without fear of interruption on account of the cival war situation.

The demand for copper and the price is such, too, that the Greene-Cananea wishes to come in for its share of the present production.

NEW SCHEME OF BUTTE-NEW YORK

Issue $500,000 in Bonds and Cut Par Value of Stocks.

The Butte-New York Copper company, which forced the exchange of Butte-Milwaukee stock for its own shares, comes with an anouncement that may be news to some stockholders, that an annual meeting of the Butte-New York company was held Jan. 11 and that it was there decided to increase the capitalization of the Butte-New York company by 300,000 shares, reduce the par value of the stock from $5 to $1 per share and mortgage the property of the company for half a million dollars for the alleged purpose of paying off debts and make a further development of the property.

The property of the Butte-New York, which was formerly owned by a Butte operating company, known as the Butte-Milwaukee Copper company, is now controlled by the Butte & Superior, which was practically made a present of it, the consideration having been that the Butte & Superior drive a crosscut from the Black Rock shaft of the Butte & Superior to the Colonel Sellers shaft at its leisure during a period of years.

The Butte-New York was organized as a stock operating company to trade in Butte-Milwaukee, but when the Butte & Superior got possession of the Butte-Milwaukee property it took control through the Butte-New York company and then the latter forced, by threats of selling the property, the Butte-Milwaukee stockholders to exchange for Butte-New York at two and a half shares of Butte-Milwaukee for one share of Butte-New York, the former being a $1 par stock and the latter a $5 stock. It is now proposed to change the Butte-New York par value to the original Butte-Millwaukee par value.

SEVEN-TON GIANT REPTILE SEVEN MILLION YEARS OLD

Washington, Feb. 20.—Between seven and ten million years ago, in what is known as the Jurassic age, there lived a group of giant reptiles called dinosaurs, one family of which, the stegosauridae, or plated lizards, is perhaps the most fantastic and curious in all natural history. The most perfect and complete fossilized skeleton of the genus stegosaurus, a smaller branch of this remarkable family group, is on exhibition in the new building of the U. S. National museum, at Washington, just as it was found and dug out of the sandstone rock. Near at hand is a natural size and very lifelike restoration in papier-mache, so weird and monstrous in appearance as to give one the horrors.

Back in the very early days of the world this armor-plated lizard-like monster dwelt in the western part of the United States in what is now the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, although at that time the mountains did not exist. He roamed about in the marsh and swamp lands of that region, feeding on the tropical grasses and plants, the fossil remains of which are found buried with his skeleton. The specimen mentioned above comes from quarry No. 1, in Fremont county, near Canyon City, Colo., where it was found by M. P. Felch in 1885. Brief articles concerning it were written from time to time, but it was not assembled and mounted until two years ago, and never completely described until recently. With the exception of the removal of some of the sandstone which surrounds this valuable specimen, it has been left in the position in which it was discovered so that the relation of the various bones and skin armor may be seen and studied by scientists. In order that the lower side of the skeleton and the back plates may be seen, two mirrors have been placed beneath it in such a manner as to reflect the exact structure and location of the various bones.

The undisturbed position of the bones, and the surrounding sandstone indicates that this monster died in the water, or on the bank of a stream, and from some natural cause. It is possible that the carcass floated down the stream as the arrangement of the different bones and spine plates indicate a gradual washing and tipping over, rather than the crushing of a heavy force. The skeleton is quite complete and lies partly on its side and back, with nearly all the bones in their relative positions, rendering it of infinite value to scientists for study and as a reference type.

In life this peculiar reptile of such gigantic proportions must have presented a forbidding appearance; it measures about 19 feet in length, was evidently over 11 feet in height at the hips, and was covered with a very tough and horny scale-like skin, studded here and there with bony buttons or knobs of armor. Along its back were arranged great sharp-edged plates set alternately and projecting upward like the teeth of a huge saw. This odd armor-plate extended from the small wedge-shaped reptilian head all the way back, and well down the tapering lizard-like tail which was tipped with four long sharp spines. Its legs were not unlike those of a lizard or other reptile, except that the fore-legs were rather short and much weaker than the hind ones, an indication that the great animal could sit up like a kangaroo, and perhaps descended from a bipedal ancestor. From a study of its teeth it has been determined that this prehistoric beast was a plant eater, as is suggested by its habitat. Further investigation of its head, which is so small as to be quite out of proportion to its massive body, reveals the fact that it had scarcely any brain. Although the body of the stegosaurus is supposed to have weighed more than that of an elephant, the brain of the latter is fifty times as heavy, which fact offers an excuse for the immense amount of defensive armor with which it was equipped, making it practically impregnable as far as its enemies were concerned, provided it had any. Its bones alone weigh nearly a ton, and it has been estimated that in life the stegosaur weighed between seven and ten tons.

A very complete scientific treatise on this interesting group of extinct giant reptiles by Charles W. Gilmore, assistant curator of fossil reptiles, has just been published by the U. S. National museum in the form of a bulletin, the edition of which has been distributed to libraries and to scientific educational institutions.

HAD ECZEMA FOR TWENTY YEARS

First on Limbs. Then Spread All Over. Could not Sleep on Account of Itching. Small Pimples Later Appeared. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Healed.

Manchester, Kansas.—"I had eczema for twenty years, first on my legs, then it spread all over me. It appeared as a rash. I could not sleep or rest on account of the itching. Scratching or rubbing made the itching and burning worse. Small pimples later appeared, and blackheads formed.

"I had used ——— Ointment, and a solution to bathe with, tried all the home remedies and many preparations but without relief. Then I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment according to directions. In one month I was greatly relieved of the misery. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and the Cuticura Soap and I am now healed." (Signed) Harry Garten, October 30, 1914.

You never tire of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Having tested them in severe skin troubles and found them effective you continue their use because of their fragrant, super-creamy emollient properties for daily use as toilet preparations.

305 ALWORTH BUILDING

DAIRY BREEDERS ARE TO ORGANIZE

Meeting of Farmers and Business Men Planned at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers of this vicinity and local merchants will meet in a big get-together meeting at the high school building here on March 6, when plans for organizing a dairy breeders' association will be completed and a general boosting plan for Bemidji discussed. A cash prize of $5 will be given to the farmers' club of the township having the largest delegation present. This will be given by the Bemidji Merchants' association.

The program follows: 11 a. m., music; count of people present from each township; talk on "Dairy Cattle and Livestock Association," W. A. McKerrow; noon, free dinner served by the domestic science girls under the supervision of Miss Agnes Halland; 1 p. m., joint meeting of the business men and farmers; music; count of persons present and awarding of cash prize to the farmers' clubs from the township having the highest average; 1:30, "How to Help Make Bemidji a City of 25,000 By 1925," Dan Gray, a farmer, living south of Bemidji; 2 p. m., "Does the City of Bemidji Affect Land Values," H. E. Reynolds; 2:30, report from the Bemidji creamery by E. C. Stiles; 2:45, discussion from audience; 3:00, organization of dairy breeders' association; 3:30, dismissal.

The organization of the dairy breeders' association will be one of the most important things to be done at this meeting. The purpose of this association will be to stock Beltrami county with thoroughbred cattle.

PRESIDENT CALLS AT HOME OF CHAMP CLARK.

Washington, Feb. 20.—How President Wilson broke another precedent by paying a quiet visit to Speaker Champ Clark at his home one night last week, came to light yesterday.

It was on the night of Feb. 10, when the government ship purchase bill fight was at its height. Undecided whether it would be better to continue the fight in the senate or to transfer it to the house, the president determined to talk it over with the speaker, and in an automobile went to the Clark home.

President Wilson has called at few Washington homes. Once he went to the home of Senator Stone of Missouri when the senator was ill.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PROSECUTING OLD COUPLE

Government Accuses Man of 72 and Woman of 64 Under Mann Act.

Aged Couple, Living in Southwestern South Dakota, to Face Charges.

Mott, N. D., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is indignation over the southwestern section of the state by the Federal prosecution of a man aged 72, and a woman aged 64 under the provisions of the Mann act. A deputy United States marshal came to this section and served the papers on the defendants. There is a general denial of the charges and indignation that a measure, originally intended for the protection of young women and to prevent illegal traffic in commercialized vice should be invoked against people so elderly that both might be great grandparents.

The defendants have long been residents of this section of the state and neighbors. The incident out of which grew the prosecution was a trip some months ago of this man and woman to their former homes in an Eastern state. They happened to make the trip at the same time and the charges followed gossip which appears to have no foundation in fact.

Officials Will Not Talk.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nothing is attainable here about the prosecution of an aged couple of this state under the Mann act. It is asserted they are the oldest couple against whom such charges were ever preferred, their total ages aggregating 136 years. The local Federal officials decline to discuss the matter prior to the trial of the case, other than to assert it came up in the usual manner and the prosecution is merely routine and contains no unusual features with the exception of the great age of the parties alleged to have violated the Mann act.

IRONWOOD CHURCHES PLAN JOINT MEETING

Presbyterian and Methodists to Join in National Prayer Day.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church has accepted an invitation to unite with the society of the First M. E. church and observe the national day of prayer of the interdenominational home missionary society at the First M. E. church next Thursday, Feb. 25. The Queen Esther circle is invited to join the women in this service. The following program will be rendered:

Organ prelude, Miss Bertha Lofberg; hymn, No. 653, congregation; Lord's prayer; responsive reading, led by Mrs. Frank Alexander; paper, "Home," Mrs. Melrose; prayer; vocal solo, selected, Mrs. Joseph Blackwell; paper, "Church," Miss May; prayer, Mrs. A. E. Healy; organ solo, Miss B. Lofberg; paper, "The School," Mrs. Woodward; selection, womens' chorus of First M. E. church; vocal solo, Miss Marion Williams; paper, "Government," Mrs. William Nancarrow; music; prayer, Mrs. S. Ford; offertory; hymn, No. 556, congregation; Mizpah benediction; organ postlude.

Dainty refreshments and a social hour will be enjoyed after the program.

UPPER PENINSULA BANKERS ORGANIZE

Marquette District No. 1 Formed With Marquette Man President.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 20.—Marquette district, No. 1, of the Michigan State Bankers' association, was organized at a meeting of the bankers of the Upper Peninsula, held here Thursday. The peninsula comprises one of the groups designated recently by the state association. Officers and committees were chosen. There were sixty-five bankers from outside points in attendance, and the the dinner at Guild hall last night eighty persons, who included the officers and directors of three Marquette banks, were seated.

Edward S. Bice, vice president of the First National bank of this city, was elected permanent chairman of the district. R. A. Packard of Iron River was chosen secretary-treasurer. The nominating committee, whose report was adopted by the assemblage, was composed of J. H. Rice of Houghton, G. A. Blesch, Menominee, and Former State Senator Otto Fowle of Sault Ste. Marie.

The district's executive committee, one member of which is from each of the peninsula's fifteen counties, is composed of the following: G. Sherman Collins, Alger; J. O. Maxey, Baraga; Otto Fowle, Chippewa; M. N. Smith, Delta; R. S. Powell, Dickinson; W. F. Preuttner, Gogebic; J. H. Rice, Houghton; E. S. Coe, Iron; J. P. Petermann, Keweenaw; F. P. Bohn, Luce; T. C. Yates, Marquette; G. A. Blesch, Menominee; E. H. Hotchkiss, Mackinac; B. F. Barze, Ontonagon, and E. H. Jewell, Schoolcraft.

WAR HALTS EXTENSION.

Soo President Says Line Will Not Be Built West of Missouri.

Ryder, N. D., Feb. 20.—The Soo will not be extended west of the Missouri during 1915, and there may be no further extension on the line built last summer to Van Hook, except possibly the grade between Van Hook and Sanish on the reservation may be ironed. President Pennington of the Soo was interviewed by residents of this place and stated that the delay in pushing the new branch across the Missouri was due to the European war, which had disrupted financial conditions and stopped railway construction work generally.

WAR VETERAN HEEDS CALL.

"Taps" Sound for Alonzo Lonsbury, Aged Park Rapids Resident.

Park Rapids, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alonzo Lonsbury, a veteran of the civil war, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Gage of heart failure Thursday night.

Mr. Lonsbury was born in New York state, eighty-six years ago. In 1861 he enlisted in the Third Wisconsin battery and served three years and six months. After his discharge he served three months as quartermaster in the regular army. He moved to Browndale, Minn., in 1865, where he engaged in business until 1912 when he came to Park Rapids. His wife died three years ago. He will be buried by the Masons. Three children survive him, Mrs. E. W. Greer of Minneapolis, Mrs. Charles Gage and Mrs. Alex Kerr of Park Rapids.

His death is the third of the old citizens the present week, A. S. Leland and Peter Peterson also being stricken with heart failure and dying instantly.

BROOKSTON BOY GOING TO U. S. NAVAL SCHOOL

W. M. BAUER.

Brookston, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. M. Bauer, who has successfully completed three years' service in the United States navy, is spending a thirty days' furlough at his home here. He will leave next week to enter the naval school at Philadelphia to complete a course in engineering. Walter is not only learning a trade, but is helping his widowed mother and two sisters, one of whom is a student at the Duluth normal school and the other he assisted in taking a course as telegraph operator.

RECKLESS SHOOTER PAYS FINE OF $50.

Sheldon, N. D., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Shooting a lamp out of the hands of a boy in the Dan McLeod home while driving past the place in a sleigh led to the arrest of Herman Johnson, 20 years old of Sargent county, who was over in Ransom county en route to a dance. When the sleigh in which Johnson and his friends were riding passed the McLeod home, a dog began to bark and young Johnson fired several shots, one of which entered the McLeod home through a window. Two hours later he was arrested and later was fined $50 for his target practice, which almost resulted in hitting the McLeod boy.

MAIL CARRIER HAS COVERED MANY MILES.

Kindred, N. D., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Traveling a distance equal to circumnavigating the world six times, Peter Edwardson of this place has started on a seventh trip. He is the oldest mail carrier in the point of service int his state, and for fourteen years has been delivering mail in this section, having missed but a few trips in that time. His total mileage exceeds 150,000, and he is now well along on what would make his seventh trip around the globe.

POSTMASTER MUST MAKE GOOD THEFT.

Verndale, Minn., Feb. 20.—The authorities at Washington have decided that Postmaster Allen of Verndale has no recourse and must make good the amount stolen from his office last summer when the safe was cracked by burglars. His loss will total over $140.

Grafton May Light Minto.

Minto, N. D., Feb. 20.—Electricity from the municipal plant at Grafton may be used to light Minto. Arrangements are now being discussed for such a deal. For some time it has been planned to establish a municipal lighting plant here but there is considerable opposition. Grafton has a municipal plant and sufficient power to furnish all the electricity that could be used here.

Minot Stenographer Alleges Druggist Failed to Keep Promise.

Minot, N. D., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Marie Leslie has filed a $25,000 breach of promise suit against Paul V. McCoy, a local druggist and jeweler. Prior to the announcement of the engagement of the plaintiff to the defendant last summer she was a stenographer in the local offices of the Great Northern. She resigned at that time to prepare for the wedding which has not yet been arranged. Mr. McCoy was formerly married and secured a divorce a few years ago after sensational charges against some prominent local people.

TO LET GRAZING PERMITS ON MINNESOTA RESERVE.

Cass Lake, Minn., Feb. 20.—Forest Supervisor Marshall has been authorized to issue permits for grazing on lands in the Minnesota national forest. The fee for the summer season of six months has been fixed at 40 cents per head for horses, 32 cents for cattle and 10 cents for sheep.

There is ample range and good forage for 2,000 head of stock on the cut-over lands. The Forest service is very anxious to have the lands utilized for grazing.

IRONWOOD MILL BUSY.

Scott & Howe Lumber Company's Plant Working Day and Night.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Scott & Howe Lumber Co. is receiving an average of about fifty carloads of logs daily at its Ironwood plant, this including shipments by rail and between 40,000 and 50,000 feet hauled to the mill each day by the farmers. The mill is being operated on day and night turns, and this season's output promises to be as large as any year in the history of the plant.

HANCOCK GETS "LID."

Council Orders Saloons to Close and All Gambling to Be Stopped.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 20.—The city has decreed that the saloons of the city must obey the 11 o'clock closing law. The chief of police was instructed to see that this rule is obeyed.

The chief also was notified to stop gambling in Hancock, if he had to place a special officer at the door of every suspected gambling place. In addition to this, the council decided that this year Front street, connecting Hancock with the approach to the county bridge, must be paved.

Buried at Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Miss Rose Van Linden, who died Wednesday in Ironwood, was held this morning at 8:30 o'clock from St. Peter's cathedral. Burial was made in Holy Cross cemetery. The funeral services of Mrs. Emma Ferris was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's Episcopal church. Burial was made in Park cemetery. The service was attended by the Women's Relief corps, of which Mrs. Ferris was a member.

Bury North Dakota Pioneer.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 20.—Jacobus F. Kieberet, age 77 years, a resident of Oliver county since 1882 and father of William V. Kieberet of Bismarck died Feb. 17 at a local hospital of a complication of diseases. The remains were sent to Harmon where the funeral was held at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. EVELETH BOYS' CLUB FOR COUNTY OPTION

Affirmative Debaters Win Discussion and Senator Boyle Speaks.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unusually interesting meeting of the Presbyterian Boys' Study and Recreation club was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Campbell of 510 Jones street, when the question of county option was debated and discussed by the members of the club.

The question: "Resolved That County Option Is a Good Thing for Minnesota," was well handled by those taking part. James Culbert and Aubrey Decker on the affirmative side and Arthur Carlson and Richard Eaver on the negative.

The judges were Cyril Williams, Frank P. Campbell and James P. Boyle who decided that the affirmative side had put up the best argument.

The club also went on record as being favor of county option and Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, its leader, was instructed to write to the representatives from this district, Messrs. Gill and Murphy and convey to them the sentiment of the club and urge them to vote in favor of the county option bill now before the house.

Boyle Speaks.

The speaker of the evening was the Former Senator James P. Boyle of this city, who gave one of his usual strong and able addresses, taking for his subject the question that was under discussion—county option. Ex-Senator Boyle was an interested spectator in the Minnesota senate when the county option bill was recently passed, and he gave the club a graphic account of the proceedings at that time, telling of some of the arguments that had been used pro and con regarding the measure.

After discussing some of the moral and economic phases of the temperance question and the various methods which had been used in vain to regulate the liquor traffic, Mr. Boyle concluded his remarks by strongly expressing his convictions in favor of county option. He believed this to be the most sane and practical plan as yet proposed to solve the liquor problem.

The rest of the evening was delightfully spent with music, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Campbell, the hostess.

Emil Haaja is a candidate for treasurer, John Kovimmaa for justice, and Antti Anttilla for constable.

GRAND RAPIDS BRIEFS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Morris Phillips, employed by Joseph Gobson company near Deer River, is limping around on a pair of crutches. A log that bounced back caught him.

Bernhardt Richter, one of the new settlers in the Splithead country, met with an accident that may cause him the loss of an eye. A limb of a tree struck him under the left eye, and he paid little attention to it until Thursday, when he consulted a physician.

A. G. Wedge, vice president of the First National Bank of Grand Rapids, and auditor for the Sheldon line of banks was here this week.

Mrs. Henry Ranfranz, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William King at Watertown, Wis., returned home Sunday.

R. H. Ross, who for the past few months has been employed in an editorial capacity on the Herald Review, left the first of the week for Thief River Falls, where he looked over a business proposition with a view to locating.

Prof. A. V. Storn of the university extension division, visited his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Dickinson this week.

The masquerade given Tuesday evening at the roller rink was a very successful and enjoyable affair. There were about 100 present, among which were three sleighloads from Bovey. Mrs. Axel Johnson won the prize for the most artistic costume, and Frank Olin, for the most scomical costume. Mrs. Johnson had a costume made of small banners and pennants, and Mrs. Olin represented a comical Dutchman.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Patelle and family left Saturday for Duluth, where they will make their home in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Frances and Mrs. Angel Frances left Wednesday for Santa Cruz, Cal., where they will go onto a farm which they recently acquired.

The room formerly occupied by the Grand Rapids Candy Kitchen is being fitted up as quarters for the Nap Miller barber shop and the Peter Miller cigar factory.

Oliver Olson went to Deer River Tuesday, where he spent a few days doing electrical work.

Dave Zetterson of Deer River was here Tuesday.

C. C. Peterson returned Saturday from Minneapolis and St. Paul, where he spent several days.

Ed Eckman came down from Wirt Tuesday to visit with friends hereand at Coleraine.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Doran spent Sunday visiting with relatives and friends in Cloquet. Mrs. Doran went to Duluth, where she also visited.

James Despinakis went to Deer River Monday to look after the opening of a candy kitchen which he is starting there.

Mrs. George H. Spear and little son, Master John of Duluth, formerly of this place, spent the week-end here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pravitz. On Monday they went to Deer River, where they visited friends for a couple of days before returning to Duluth.

Fred A. King of Cass Lake was here Monday while en route from Melba, where he had spent a few days visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Vermilyea.

U. C. Gravelle returned Monday from Kansas and Oklahoma, where he had been with a carload of potatoes which he disposed of to good advantage.

Mrs. F. E. Reusswig entertained twelve ladies Wednesday afternoon at a shirtwaist party. A lunch was served.

Mesdames P. J. Billodeau, A. G. Fachey, Aura McMahon and C. J. Eller and Miss Lavina Newbar went to Deer River, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mort Taylor.

Mrs. Robert Harrison of St. Cloud is here visiting at the home of her son, Dr. F. R. Harrison.

NAMES CANDIDATES AGAINST SOCIALISTS

Three of Four Wards of Two Harbors Nominate Alderman.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Meetings were held last evening in the various wards to select candidates against the Socialist ticket. The meetings were all well attended and much interest in the coming spring election manifested.

The following candidates for aldermen were selected: First ward, Emil Strom; Second, Robert J. Tubman; Third, August Lundquist.

In the Fourth ward no candidate was definitely decided upon, although there are several in the ward who are available, but who were not at the meeting. A committee was appointed to confer with the prospective candidates.

A general meeting of all the wards will be held in the basement of the courthouse Wednesday evening for the purpose of selecting candidates for mayor municipal judge, special municipal judge, city assessor, city treasurer, and aldermen-at-large. W. Lorne Fowler has filed for the office of city treasurer. Mr. Fowler will run as independent candidate.

ITASCA DEVELOPERS TO MEET AT BOVEY

Question of Starting State Farm School at Grand Rapids Coming Up.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Rapids will be represented at the next meeting of the Itasca County Development association at Bovey next Tuesday evening.

The matter of urging upon the legislature the establishment of a farm school for Northeastern Minnesota will be taken up and action taken by the association having that end in view. As Grand Rapids is vitally interested, many from here will attend the meeting.

Matters relating to the arrangements for the summer meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association, which will be held at Coleraine in June, will also be discussed, and such other matters dealt with as may come before the meeting.

HIBBING SECURES FAST INFIELD PLAYER.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jake Sacks, a fast infielder, who made a splendid record in the Western league last year, will play with Hibbing this year. Sacks arrived here yesterday and promised Manager Judge Brady that he will be here through the summer.

Sacks last year was considered one of the best little infielders in the league. His ability at the stick is also reputed to be something far removed from commonplace.

Hibing Infant's Funeral.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services for Charles W. Eddy, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eddy, 110 West Mahoning street, will be held Sunday afternoon from the Catholic church. Father Hogan will officiate. Interment will be in Hibbing cemetery. The infant died Friday morning following a short illness.

RAITAI CASE JURY COULD NOT AGREE

Mistrial in Case of Man Alleged to Have Stolen Some Beef.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The district court jury that heard the case against Paul Raitai charged with stealing five quarters of beef on Dec. 7 valued at $60 from Oscar Perra at Mesaba, deliberated from noon yesterday, a good share of the night and came into court this morning and reported a disagreement. Another jury will be drawn and the case tried again next week. Judge Hughes adjourned court until next Tuesday.

Another Witness Against Lloyd.

The state has obtained another witness in its case against Allen Lloyd, who is being tried on a charge of stealing a suitcase with contents, valued at $55, from Edward Hubert at the Q. P. hotel at Chisholm last month.

Mary Bruce, well known in police circles on the range and in Superior, in municipal court here yesterday afternoon was sentenced by Judge Brady to pay a fine of $54.25 or serve fifty days in the county jail on conviction on a statutory charge. She admitted being with Lloyd at the Q. P. hotel at the time the suit case was taken and after cross-examining her, Assistant County Attorney H. F. White, told her he wanted her to appear in court to testify Tuesday morning when that case will come up in court.

The girl was arrested at Chisholm at the same time Lloyd was taken into custody. She admits having stayed in his room at the Q. P. hotel. She said she had her suitcase at that place and later took it to another place at Chisholm, then brought it with her to Hibbing, where it is now. The suitcase is of brown leather and as the one stolen was of wicker, there is little possibility that the two were mistaken. One of the state witnesses identified Lloyd as the man who took a wicker suitcase, one corresponding with the one lost from the Q. P. hotel.

BIWABIK IS GIVEN NEXT CLUB MEETING

Old Officers of County Club Re-elected With Exception of Secretary.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Elwell road law and the efficiency and economy bill were heartily indorsed by the St. Louis County club in annual session here yesterday afternoon, while the club voiced its protest against the abolition of the state immigration department.

The question of county division, which, it was reported yesterday before the meeting began, would be sprung and might participate a lively discussion, was not mentioned, wiser heads being of the opinion it was not a proper theme for discussion at an agricultural meeting.

All of the old officers were re-elected as follows with the exception of J. L. Lewis of Hibbing, secretary, who declined and was succeeded by R. L. Giffin of Hibbing: President, N. B. Shank of Biwabik; first vice president, L. B. Arnold of Duluth; second vice president, William Haencke of Wolf; secretary-treasurer, R. L. Giffin of Hibbing.

Biwabik was unanimously accorded the honor of entertaining the organization next summer.

Craig Lauds Economy Plan.

C. P. Craig of Duluth, president of the state fair board and chairman of the economy and efficiency commission, reported on the measure now before the legislature, carrying out the purpose of the commission, and strongly urged its passage. His remarks were cordially received and the movement heartily indorsed.

The educational work of County Superintendent Anna Shellund of Koochiching county was praised. She was unable to be present and County Agent D. B. Lewel of Koochiching county spoke in her place on "Good Roads, the Rural School and Farm Life." A. D. Wilson of the university extension department and Charles Kauppi, who were to have spoken, were unable to be present.

The banquet held in Elks' hall last night was attended by about 200 and proved a very successful and entertaining affair, the various addresses being well received. The agricultural development of St. Louis county never got a better boost than at this meeting.

DAIRYING IS DISCUSSED

At Meeting of Cohasset Helping Hand, a Farmers' Club.

Cohasset, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the Cohasset Helping Hand club, a farmers' organization, held Thursday evening at the local school, proved most interesting.

The theme for the evening's discussion was "Dairying." Following the business meeting of the club, which was expeditiously disposed of by the president, Charles Fay. O. J. Niles of Grand Rapids spoke. Mr. Niles emphasized that if this section is to become a farming country, it must do so through dairying. He touched upon numerous phases of farming and their relations to dairying, and wound up with an appeal to the farmers of this vicinity, for their own benefit as well as for the benefit of the creamery, to ship their cream to the Grand Rapids creamery, urging this as the first step toward the establishment of a creamery here.

Sherman Dickinson emphasized the importance of the use of scales, testor and records along with the milking of dairy cows and the benefits to be derived therefrom. Other talks were made by Rev. La Roe and A. L. La Freniere, and Miss Phoebe Smith gave a recitation which was well received. Messrs. Comstock and Keresting delivered a very pretty musical number.

Following the program a lunch was served.

TWO HARBORS FANS TO DULUTH CONTEST.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big attraction for basket ball fans will take place at the Y. M. C. A. gym this evening when Proctor girls' basket ball team will play the local girls' high school team, for the girls' basket ball championship of this section. The local city team will go to Duluth this afternoon, and this evening will play the Catholic Athletic club, in a curtain raiser prior to the big Oswego-Fond du Lac game. It is expected that a large crowd from this city will accompany the team.

The locals will lineup this evening as follows: Jack Woodward, center; Ted Sullivan, captain and forward; Freeman, forward; Bob McCurdy, guard; Fillatrault, guard. Harry Johnson, sub-guard and forward.

Grand Rapids Phone Work.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A crew of men under William Ehlenfeldt of Virginia are doing construction work for the Mesaba Telephone company. The lines are being extended and repaired, and various changes made. It is likely that the crew will "cut in" the Hughes block which will be occupied by the telephone company some time this year. It is reported that an entirely new set of equipment will be put in the new quarters.

TWO HAVE FILED FOR TRUSTEESHIPS

Candidates for Those Chisholm Jobs Are Rather Coy.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—To date only two candidates have filed for trustee, Antone Mahne and Otmar Tamelg. Matt Gersich, formerly with the Oliver Mining company, but now of the Arthur Mining company, is reported as being a candidate. William Ulrich, chief chemist at the Monroe, is another, and John Soderquist and Louis Bowman, the former of the Hartley and the latter of the Shenango, are two others mentioned. Peter Wall is mentioned as a likely candidate from town for trustee. Gust Peterson is also being spoken of as a likely candidate for trustee, as are J. E. Goldenberg, Will Keally and B. H. Graham.

For the presidency, J. H. McNiven and Henry Fugere loom up as the two most likely contestants.

J. J. Stukel and C. E. French still remain the only two candidates for treasurer. Both have filed.

For the recordership, Monty Tramontin, William Williams, A. L. Dugar and B. E. Culver form the lineup.

For the judgeship, Judge Masters, Attorney Cooke, Andy Cox, D. C. Hackett and O. H. Higbee constitute the candidates.

George Rice, Jack Krause, S. E. Greenthal and possibly W. E. Martin will make the run for assessor. The three former have their cards out, while the latter is feeling out the voters.

Charles Zgonc is mentioned as a candidate for constable.

ATTEMPTS HIS LIFE.

Alleged "Dope" Fiend Tries to Freeze to Death Near Deer River.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Dorholt, police officer at Deer River, this week brought here a young man named Leo Bonn, a barber, from Sioux City, Iowa. Mr. Dorholt picked up Bonn on the ice in White Oak lake, south of Deer River where the latter had been for five hours lying on the ice in an attempt to commit suicide by freezing to death. It developed that Bonn was a "dope" fiend, and that, having run out of dope he became discouraged and wanted to end his life. He was examined before Judge of Probate Webster, and placed in the county jail pending a disposition of his case.

CALUMET, MINN., NOTES.

Calumet, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—These young people of the village attended the Yeoman's dance at Coleraine on Monday night: Misses Loraine Moore, Edna Scannel, Messrs. Harry Middleton, Ellery and Daniel Scannel and George McKeby.

Harry Middleton, one of Calumet's business men, will leave for Duluth next week, where he expects to be married to Miss Ruth Harman of East Third street. The young couple will return to Calumet after a short honeymoon and make their home here.

A special train arrived in the village Thursday with the officials, who are interested in the Great Northern Iron ore properties, who looked over the mines here at Section 16.

DID NOT REPORT.

Accountant Williamson Not Ready With Mountain Iron Data.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Accountant Williamson, who has been going over the village books for some time at $35 per day and expenses, was not ready with his expected report at the council meeting Wednesday evening, although a crowd was on hand to hear the report.

A shed on the site of the old city hall was sold to Bert Merritt for $7. Several bills against the village were allowed. Tony Benson, an engineer of Virginia, who does most of the village work, was authorized to prepare a blue-print for the council showing all underground pipe lines and sewers, manholes, catch basins, etc. The clerk was instructed to give the proceedings of future council meetings to the Mountain Iron Miner for publication. Other routine business was transacted, after which the council adjourned, to meet in special session Feb. 24.

LOSES TWO RELATIVES IN ITALIAN EARTHQUAKE

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 20.—Luigi Eligo, an employe of the Alpena mine, has been advised that his father and his brother were killed by the earthquake at their home near Alba, in the province of Aquila, Italy. They were in bed when the shock struck their home and the house collapsed both being buried in the ruins. At last accounts the bodies had not been recovered. Last summer, Eligo's brother, a shift boss at Alpena mine, was buried in a cave-in there and died before rescue workers could reach him.

Miss Lillian Franti, who is teaching at Hanson Lake, was a visitor in town over Sunday.

Nels Wagenstein visited in Duluth last week.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

While the weather has cooled some, the melting process has halted but little and slush still makes rubbers welcome to the old-fashioned, while the ultra-moderns are walking along through the wet, most of the time on their heels, wearing a worried look and appearing like boys walking on stilts. Their wrinkled brows during the process of balancing on their heels is in marked contrast to the complacent and unruffled demeanor of those who snap their fingers at fashion and tackle the rubbers.

A year ago today was cold. The sun rose this morning at 7:04 and will set this evening at 5:40, giving ten hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Light rain or snow fell during Friday or last night over Minnesota, Western Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Missouri, Eastern Kansas, Arkansas, Northern Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon and Southern Idaho, and snow over portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan. In the states the temperature is generally moderate for the season, but in Northern Alberta the weather has turned decidedly colder during the last twenty-four hours. Zero temperature occurred this morning at Edmonton.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota, South Dakota—Probably rain or snow tonight and Sunday.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday, probably local rain in west portion.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; colder tonight.

Montana—Probably snow tonight and Sunday.

Lower Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Sunday; probably rain in extreme southwest portion Sunday.

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday.

BARBER ARRESTED UNDER MANN ACT

Stevenson Man Charged With Bringing Undivorced Woman From N. Y.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following operations of Federal agents which have been underway for at least two months in this particular case, Julius Oliverio, a barber at the Stevenson location, yesterday was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Maurice O'Donald on a charge of violating the Mann white slave act. Evidence as to Oliverio's guilt was in the hands of authorities nearly two months ago and since that time local and Federal authorities have been perfecting the proper papers for his arrest. Oliverio has admitted his guilt to the charge. Bail was fixed by Judge Hughes in district court at $2,000. He waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury.

Oliverio in municipal court yesterday afternoon said that on Nov. 9, Sadie Neefeldt, age 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Phino, 116 India street, Brooklyn, N. Y., came to live with him, despite the fact that both he and she had not obtained divorces from their spouses. Since her arrival here Oliverio has introduced her as his wife and said that both intended to get married as soon as the proper separations are granted from his wife and her husband. So innocent did he appear as to the extent of the crime, that he convinced Judge Brady, Assistant County Attorney H. F. White and Judge Hughes that he acted upon his judgment of what he thought would be for the best.

Sent Woman Ticket.

After admitting that he had sent Sadie Neefeldt a ticket to come West, and declared that her mother had given her consent to Sadie's going as, "Well, now I am glad that she is with the man she loves," Oliverio asked Judge Brady what could be done to him as he had committed no crime.

"Although I have been living with this girl since she came here, we both love each other and would get married in a minute if we could." he said. "Can I go now?"

"You have admitted everything that is charged in this warrant," Judge Brady said, "and although I believe that you are as innocent about the serious nature of the crime as you appear, if this is patched up at all, it will have to be in district court."

According to Oliverio he lived in New York until last July when he came to Hibbing and started a barber shop at the Stevenson location. He married Sussie Curdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Curdy, of Flushing street, Astoria, a year ago last October and left her July 27. He declared that her parents opposed the match and constantly urged a divorce until she finally consented. He declared that her application was already in and that the district attorney had already sent him papers which he signed. He declared that Sadie Neefeldt had received a separation from her husband some time ago on grounds of cruelty. He was not positive about this, but declared that so she had told him before coming to Hibbing.

HIBBING COUPLE SURPRISED.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jandron were pleasantly surprised by about twenty of their friends Thursday evening at their home, the occasion being the twentieth anniversary of their wedding. Games and a social evening was enjoyed after which refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Jandron were presented with twenty carnations and several beautiful pieces of linen and china.

Miss Florence Johnson of Duluth, formerly of this village, was here for a few days' visit among her friends.

Miss Hilda Johnson was hostess to a few of her friends Thursday evening at her home at the Mahoning location. Games and music were the evening's diversion.

Thomas O'Neill of Gilbert has arrived here for an over Sunday visit as the guest of his cousin, Master Joseph Furlong of Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson of McKinley street are entertaining Mrs. Chris Swenby and Mrs. Oscar Peterson of West Duluth.

TWO HARBORS EASILY BEATS DENFELD FIVE.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Denfeld high school basket ball team of Duluth, proved no match for the local high school team, and went down to defeat at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night by the score of 50 to 8. The local team toyed with the visitors and shot baskets almost at will. In the second half four subs were allowed to enter the game in the local lineup, but still the score piled up. A large crowd was present. Johnson, the local center, was the main attraction in stellar work.

The lineup:

Two Harbors—	Denfeld—
Johnson	c	Smith
Richards, Hanson	f	Berg
Cleveland, Falk	f	Swanson
Irwin, Rock	g	Christie
Haugstein, Lusch	g	Johnson

CANDIDATES AT GILBERT ARE OUT

Several Seek Re-election and Some New Richmonds Are in Field.

Gilbert, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—More interest is being taken in the election to be held here Tuesday, March 9 than in former years on account of the new territory which was recently annexed to the village. A number of candidates have already announced themselves.

Dr. Fred Barrett is a candidate for re-election for village president. Thomas S. Morrison is also a candidate for re-election for that office. A. E. MacInnis seeks re-election as recorder. Thomas H. Sharpe and W. J. Dowling are also out for this office. William J. Luke, the present treasurer seeks re-election. Leo Kukar announces that he will be a candidate for this office. A. R. Anderson and Tim Burns are out for the office of justice of the peace. C. M. Campbell and John Connor are candidates for re-election for trustee. Mike Viola, Ed Brown, William Markus and John Zollar are also in the race for this office.

Few Township Candidates.

The Mesaba Mountain township will also elect March 9. Very little interest is being taken in this election, and only the following have filed to date: Capt. Ed Coombe, supervisor, re-election; F. P. Ruthgerford for re-election as clerk; Joe Faith is also a candidate for this office. Al Noble seeks re-election as overseer of highways. Roy Edmonds is a candidate for re-election as assessor.

HIBBING OFFICIALS AFTER RE-ELECTION.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—As predicted in The Herald the village officers are after re-election. Victor Power, village president, or mayor, as he is called, and the other village officials have filed for re-election March 9. Recorder D. D. Haley, Trustee John Curran, chairman of the water and light board, and Trustee W. J. Burrows, filed yesterday. Trustee Robert Geiselman has announced his candidacy for village treasurer.

Buyck Pair Accused.

Buyck, Minn., Feb. 20.—Charles Adams and James Lenski of Buyck, were taken to Virginia on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Adams and Lenski were arrested as a result of a recent crusade. The men were given a hearing before Justice W. J. Nigh and were held for the grand jury.

Virginia Funeral Sunday.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 20.—The funeral of Mike Igich, age 32, will be held Sunday under the direction of the Italian societies of Virginia. Igich was foreman of the Minnewas mine of the Oliver Iron Mining company four years. He is survived by his widow and one son, 2 years old.

Virginia K. C. Banquet.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 20.—The local council, Knights of Columbus, will give a banquet to Judge Marcus Kavanaugh of Chicago at the new Fay hotel Monday night at the close of his lecture at the high school on "Traitors to Justice."

IRONWOOD MAN RETURNED.

Joseph Thomas Starts for South Africa But Is Forced to Come Back.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 20.—Joseph Thomas of this city, formerly of Ishpeming, was one of several Americans sent back from England following the outbreak of the war. Mr. Thomas, who is a miner of many years' experience, had signed a year's contract to work for the British Gold Coast company in Africa. About the time he arrived in London difficulties about transportation were arising and he was not permitted to continue his journey.

After remaining in London for a week, he succeeded in getting to Southhampton, where he was detained for three weeks. He conferred with American Consul Swan, who arranged to have him sent back to this country on the steamer Lapland, which, prior to the war, was sailing between New York and Antwerp.

Mr. Thomas has served in both the English and American armies and he is following the war with great interest, as he is familiar with considerable of the ground that the armies are fighting over. He was one of the organizers of Company L, Michigan National Guard, which fought in the Spanish-American war.

PLAY ON HEAVY ICE.

West Duluth Curlers in Two Events; To Play Morgan Park.

Alex Donald's rink nosed out a victory from F. H. Wade's rink in the finals of the Esterly event at the Western Curling club last night. The score was 9 to 8. In spite of the heavy ice three games were played at the rink, the other two being in the Grand Avenue Pharmacy event. The latter resulted: Iltis, 11; Mallory, 10; Kreidler, 13; Quinn, 12; thirteen ends.

This evening the attraction at the rink will be a game between rinks skipped by Charles Iltis and Kenneth A. McDonald, against two rinks from Morgan Park. The suburbanites have planned to send their strongest aggregation of players and also to bring their wives and prospects along to witness the games.

BANQUET FOR YEOMEN.

Head of Lakes Members Will Assemble in Superior.

Fully 100 members of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen will attend the banquet to be held at Superior next Thursday evening in honor of the eighteenth anniversary of the establishment of the society. A feature will be a class initiation of more than 150 new members who have applied for admission during the last month in Duluth and Superior.

The banquet is being held under the auspices of the three Superior lodges and the Duluth lodges. A banner will be awarded to the homestead having the largest number of new members admitted that night and West Duluth members claim that this honor will be won by them. Nearly fifty new applicants have been secured for that homestead to be initiated that evening.

A special car has been arranged for to take the contingent from West Duluth to Superior. This car will leave Seventy-first avenue west at 7:15 p. m. Stops to pick up members only will be made as follows: Sixty-third avenue, 7:23; Fifty-seventh avenue, 7:26; Central avenue, 7:27; Forty-sixth avenue, 7:31; Thirty-ninth avenue, 7:34; Twenty-ninth avenue, 7:38; Twenty-second avenue, 7:40; Twentieth avenue and Superior street, 7:42; Garfield avenue, 7:45, and 600 Garfield, 7:48. Members of the order from east of Garfield are expected to be at Garfield avenue in time to catch this car at 7:45 p. m. The car will return and make connection with east bound cars for Lakeside shortly after midnight.

The initiation ceremonies will be held at Maryland hall, following which the banquet will be served at the Badger Inn, Hotel Superior. Among the speakers will be supreme officers of the lodge, Mayor W. I. Prince of Duluth and Mayor J. S. Konkel of Superior; J. H. Murphy of St. Paul, state manager for Minnesota; Mrs. Ida Garland, supreme sentinel of the lodge, and some of the local deputies.

DINNER PARTY.

Retiring Superintendent and His Successor Are Honored.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott J. Aman, 6262 North Fifty-sixth avenue west entertained at a dinner party last evening for office employees of the Universal Portland Cement company in honor of J. H. Barbazette, former superintendent of the plant, and for Fred Robinson, the new superintendent, and his bride. Covers were laid for eight.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome silver set to Mr. and Mrs. Robinson as a wedding gift from the employes. Mr. Barbazette was also presented with a token of remembrance from his former associates.

Here on Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willis Miller of Samoa, Cal., are spending a few days of their honeymoon visiting at the home of Mr. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Miller, 5325 North Central avenue. They were married on Jan. 27 at Samoa, Cal., by Rev. John Shurtleff. The bride was formerly Miss Marion Mabel Jordan. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are spending a month visiting relatives in the Middle West prior to taking up their residence at Samoa. The groom is well known in West Duluth.

Sleighride Party.

A number of West Duluth young people enjoyed a sleighride to Mason's cabin at Woodland last night. The party was entertained at games followed by luncheon on their arrival at the cabin. Those in the party were: Misses Harriet Brown, Myrtle Evjen, Olive Dunstan, Mildred Johnson, Florence M. Cain, Ethel Dunstan, Clarissa Boutin, Mabel Swenson, Ollie Egeland, Nora Grindy, Mary Dwyer, and Messrs. V. J. Vincent, F. Mason, R. Cain, A. Hafner, C. Dunstan, G. Brown, F. M. Kent, M. H. Ford, A. A. O. H. Social.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians entertained at a social for its members at Gilley's hall Thursday evening. The principal feature was an address by Mrs. Sarah Murphy, county president. A good musical and literary program was also given. Mrs. J. J. Holmes was hostess. During the evening Mrs. E. W. Funk, president of the society, appointed another committee to have charge of a similar affair to be held on Thursday evening, March 4.

Basket Social.

Excelsior Rebekah lodge, No. 59, will entertain Wednesday evening at a basket social following the regular meeting of the order at Odd Fellows' hall, 602 North Central avenue. Invitations are being extended to members of the West Duluth lodge, No. 168, I. O. O. F. and friends.

Rayome-Smith.

Miss Elsie Rayome and George Smith, both of Deer River, Minn., were married yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. D. W. Cavanaugh, 411 North Fifty-third avenue west. The ceremony was read by Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside at Deer River following a short wedding trip to the Twin Cities and the southern part of the state.

Looking for Revenge.

Members of the West Duluth lodge of the Moose expect to "get back" at the Proctor members for the humiliation administered to the West Duluth crowd at their little visit to the village over the hill last Wednesday evening. The local lodge has invited the Proctor members to come down to West Duluth next Wednesday evening to enjoy a similar social.

The "humiliation" consisted of the local men being beaten at every game attempted. The Proctor members are said to have "shown them up" at various kinds of card games, checkers, and all other games tried. One of the local members said today that it was the worst "beating" they ever got but hope that if the Proctor members come down Wednesday that the luck will turn the other way.

NO CITY BUSINESS TO BE DONE MONDAY.

Because of Washington's birthday Monday, the city hall will be closed all day and the regular council meeting usually held on Monday has been postponed until Tuesday afternoon.

At the meeting Tuesday the $125 park bond controversy will be settled, as Mayor Prince is now back from his Eastern trip and will explain the exact situation to the members of the commission.

Last Monday Commissioner Voss refused to vote for an appropriation of $125 for the purchase of park bonds, because a contract had already been awarded without bids first having been advertised for and because, as he claimed, the Christie Lithographing & Printing company was charging too much for the work.

Mayor Prince characterized the entire affair as a "tempest in a teapot" and declared this morning that "it was to laugh."

"Everything will be settled all right at the meeting Tuesday," concluded the mayor.

In addition the commissioners will hear the reading of several ordinances and resolutions to be brought up during the meeting. A sanitary sewer is to be ordered constructed in Peabody street, from Forty-seventh to Fifty-third avenues east. The sewer will cost about $6,000.

DULUTH MINSTREL CLUB QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

From Left to Right: Standing—G. T. Porter, Fred Beuneman, Tom Connors, Fred Reynolds. Sitting—Ambrose M. Miller, Billy Robinson, Willis Perry, Fred Lewis, Kirk Persons, Billy Wilson, Tom Moore, Ed Gilbert, Charlie Abbott.

Many residents of Duluth of a quarter of a century ago will remember the Duluth Minstrel club, composed of a number of well-known young men, who gave a splendid performance in March, 1889. The above picture of the minstrels is from a photograph in the possession of Thomas H. Moore, who was a member of the club.

PROPERTY WORTH $165,000 WILL BE SOLD BY REFEREE

W. E. Boeing Would Have Part of Owsley Estate Distributed.

Whole Estate in St. Louis County Estimated at Over $3,000,000.

Duluth city real estate valued at upwards of $165,000 and jointly owned by William E. Boeing, Catherine Boeing Poole, Frederick D. Owsley, the Minnesota Mining & Investment company and trustees under the will of the late Marie M. Owsley, will be sold at a referee's sale and the proceeds distributed among the several owners, if an action instituted today in district court prevails.

Boeing Files Suit.

William E. Boeing, owner of an undivided five-twelfths interest, and Catherine Boeing Poole, owner of a one-fourth interest, today filed suit against the other fee owners of the property and others claiming title or interest in the lots and descriptions affected. The plaintiffs ask that the court order the property sold and the cash proceeds distributed pro rata among the several owners.

The complaint in the action contains descriptions of a long list of city lots. The most valuable description owned by the parties to the action is lot 74, block 8, Central division, which is occupied by a building at 418 West Superior street, leased to Frerker Bros. & Co. The tenants secured a 99-year lease in 1902, which is now in effect.

Frederick D. Owsley is the owner of 3.20 interest, William E. Boeing and Rudolph Ortman, as trustees under the will of the late Marie M. Owsley, 1-6, and the Minnesota Mining & Investment company, 1.60.

List of Claimants.

The property in which a common ownership is claimed consists of:

Entire sw¼ of section 18, 49-15.

Part of ne¼ of ne¼ of section 33 and n½ of nw¼ and se¼ of nw¼ of section 34, all in 51-13.

Marshall H. Alworth, Julius H. Barnes and Bertha Magoffin, who are named as defendants in the action, own interests in five or six lots, which have to be taken into account. Other defendants, who claim title and interest in certain descriptions which are disputed by the plaintiffs are Jonathan Lunt, Samuel O. Berg, Samuel Oberg, Martin O'Hara, Helen Mahon, Winifred Mahon, Helen E. Mahon and Ross L. Mahon.

The tenants occupying certain of the lots are named as follows:

Minnesota avenue, Lower Duluth: H. O. Smith, Mrs. George H. Brenton, W. H. Millian, Mrs. Thomas Sexton estate, Horatia V. Gard, Charles Hensell, H. Harrington, George E. Ball, George Neff, H. C. Horst, H. P. Booth, T. W. McAuley, George E. Lindberg and Ward Ames.

Lake avenue, Lower Duluth: A. Roberts and William Taylor.

St. Louis avenue, Upper Duluth: A. Roberts.

Lake avenue, Upper Duluth: Eugene Vieu.

Minnesota avenue, Lower Duluth: Mrs. D. H. Saunders, Mrs. L. E. Burt, H. J. Page, Fred Hart, M. Lawrence, E. F. Barker, Peter S. Sibbald and H. Harrington.

Left Estate Worth $3,000,000 Here.

Marie M. Owsley, who at one time owned a considerable portion of the property, was during her lifetime many times a millionaire. She died Dec. 10, 1910, leaving a $3,000,000 estate in St. Louis county, consisting principally of mineral holdings on the Mesaba range and large holdings of land in other Minnesota counties. Her husband, Dr. Frederick D. Owsley of Detroit, renounced the provisions of her will and elected to take his statutory one-third share in the estate. The will bequeathed him $35,000 in cash and a life annuity of $10,000. It specifically stated that should be renounce her wishes he should receive nothing Dr. Owsley won his point, however, after a fight which was carried to the Minnesota supreme court.

Prior to her marriage with Dr. Owsley in 1898, she was the widow of Wilhelm Boeing, who was a well known mining man during the early days on the Minnesota iron ranges. He amassed an immense fortune which he left her upon his death in December, 1897. Since Mrs. Owsley's death in 1910, Dr. Owsley has remarried. His second wife is known as Maria von Eltz Owsley.

This is Eighth Action.

The case started today is the eighth action of this kind which has been instituted in the interest of the owners who want a division of their holdings. Two other suits were filed a few weeks ago in district court in this county in which a division of two groups of real estate holdings in the northern part of the county valued at $28,000 was sought. Five other suits, similar in their nature, have been filed in courts of other counties.

Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, Duluth attorneys, appear as attorneys for the plaintiff in the several actions.

NORTH-KONZEN BILL NOT DEAD

Legislative Measure Will Be Re-Referred, Says Representative.

Representative W. J. North of the Fifty-seventh district states that the North-Konzen bill, which was recently reported killed by the house committee on appropriations, is by no means dead, but is a very live corpse. Over the long distance telephone this morning, Mr. North said to The Herald:

"I understand that the impression among many is that our bill providing schools in the cities and towns of the state for deaf, blind and sub-normal children has been given its quietus. That is not the case. It was thought the house committee on appropriations had given the bill its death stroke, but we have demanded a hearing and the bill will be re-referred, this time to the committee on education, as The Herald reported last evening.

"The bill is too important a measure to be so easily disposed of, I believe. To have them educated under present conditions, parents of afflicted children have to permit their little ones to be taken away from them. This the normal parent will not do, so this bill provides that children who are deaf, blind or sub-normal in any way may be sent to school in their own city and reside at home. The bill will yet be heard from."

SEAL FUND TO HELP FOUR IN ONE FAMILY.

Four members of one family, all afflicted with the white plague, are to receive the benefits of the tuberculosis relief fund money for which was obtained from the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals during the recent holiday season.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the health department, announced this morning that $40 has been donated to this family for the construction of a sleeping porch on their home and in which the afflicted will have an opportunity of fighting the plague.

The family lives on East Eleventh street.

PETITIONS IN ESTATES.

Requests for Administration Filed in Three Small Inheritances.

Petitions for letters of administration in three estates were filed late yesterday with A. R. Morton, clerk of the probate court.

Charlotte Terrill, Meadville, Pa., wants V. M. Grady, a local undertaker, appointed administrator of the estate of her son, Lyman J. Terrill, who died in this city on Jan. 18, last, aged 58. He left a savings account in a local bank amounting to $350.31. The mother is the only heir.

Josephine Nehring asks for appointment as administratrix in the estate of her late husband, Joseph F. Nehring, Floodwood, who died in Duluth Jan. 23, 1915, aged 39. He left property in Floodwood worth $800. His heirs are a widow, two daughters and one son.

Dane Kovacevich, who died at Hibbing May 7, 1914, left an estate of about $140, which will go to his parents in Bosnia, Austria-Hungary. A brother, Nikolaus Kovacevich, petitioned for appointment as administrator.

LIGHTS AND SHADOWS OF THE POLICE COURT GRIST

CLASS REUNION.

Post Graduates of School of Hard Knocks Given Degrees.

POST graduates of the school of hard knocks held a reunion this morning.

Unlike other class reunions, this class was assembled at 9:30 o'clock, an unusual hour, and they sat along the hard benches in municipal court, rather than around a "groaning board."

Seven repeaters, who appear in police court regularly, were given long sentences by Judge F. H. Cutting, the offense in each case being the same old thing—a too frequent visit to the flowing bowl.

John J. Derry, aged 59, the most learned member of the class, was given his eighth degree—sixty days at labor at the work farm.

John Albert Olsen, aged 45, and William Cannon, aged 48, both received their sixth degree, also sixty days. Albert Frederickson, aged 35, was given a third degree which netted him a similar sentence, as was Herman Mattson, aged 30, and John Long. Thomas Sullivan was more fortunate, as his previous offenses had been called disorderly conduct, and he escaped with thirty days.

"GOOD TIME WAS HAD."

Pickles, Sausage, Salad and Milk for Breakfast at Headquarters.

When a knight of the road finds a housewife who doesn't "sic" her bulldog on him, and who gives him a good meal he puts a chalk mark on the house or barn.

Someone chalk-marked the police station last night, for eighty-nine men applied for a night's lodging on the stony floor of the basement at headquarters.

The "hunch" was a good one, for early this morning, through the courtesy of the local Order of Eagles, the eighty-nine wise ones were given a banquet.

Celery, potato salad, ham sandwiches, sausage, pickles and milk were served them by Jailer Louis Johnson and Officer Kreager. Lieut. E. H. Barber presided as toastmaster, and a "good time was had."

Assistant Secretary Fred Johnson stated this morning that this was the largest number of visitors the city "hotel" has had this year.

THREATENED TO SHOOT.

Michael Bruno Appeals to Police for Protection From Angry Woman.

The second act of a little comedy-drama was enacted in municipal court yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. Addololorata Monteleone, aged 24, as the heroine. The climax will come in the third act, to be staged in court Thursday morning.

Mrs. Monteleone was going to shoot Michael Bruno, according to the story, if he wouldn't stop troubling her, and "trying to estrange her from her husband."

Bruno believed that Mrs. Monteleone was perfectly capable of doing as she threatened, and in fact, he thought she would do it willingly, so he sought the protection of the police. Bruno further says that the woman was angry at him because he withheld property belonging to her brother-in-law, who was behind on his board bill.

Mrs. Monteleone is charged with threatening a breach of the peace, and will be given a further chance to explain things on Thursday. Capt. A. G. Fiskett acted as interpreter for the woman, who is an Italian.

QUARTET IS SILENCED.

Stiff Sentences Meted Out to Two Disorderly Couples.

Noisy persons aren't wanted in Duluth, judging from an aggregate sentence of six months, imposed upon a party of four who were celebrating in an unladylike and ungentlemanly fashion at 258 First avenue east yesterday afternoon.

Patrolman Herling arrested the four. John Long, aged 31, and Herman Mattson, aged 30, each received sixty days at the work farm, while Katie Wainionpaa, aged 48, and Josephine Salo, aged 37, were given twenty and forty days, respectively.

PAYS DEARLY FOR DRINKS.

Roy Floyd Must Return to "Pen" for Violating Parole.

Three years at hard labor in the Minnesota state penitentiary may be the price that Roy Floyd, alias Joe Ford, will pay for a glass or two of liquor.

Floyd was recognized by Sergeant John Roberg yesterday afternoon as a former member of the colony in the state prison, and was arrested, pending an investigation.

After refusing to give his name for a long time, Floyd finally was identified, and admitting violating his parole, because of his inability to "stay on the wagon."

P. W. Whittier, parole agent, is expected to arrive from St. Paul today and return to Stillwater with Floyd. He was sentenced to prison two years ago from Walker, Minn., being given an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years for grand larceny in the second degree. He was paroled after serving fourteen months, he told the police.

"THREE ROUSING CHEERS."

And Then Jerome Wept at Disgrace of a Policeman.

"Three rousing cheers," said Jerome Engdahl, as he threw out an anchor in front of the police headquarters desk, last evening, luffed, and hauled to with flapping sails. "Three rousing cheers."

"My good friend," said the lieutenant, who reads all the popular magazines, and has heard about Col. Ruggles of Red Gap, "I take it that you have been imbibing too freely. I mean to say that you are a bit hipped, unless yo uare spoofing me. What?"

Jerome leaned with his elbows on the desk and stared at the lieutenant in a daze.

"Three rousing che——" he began with less vigor, and stopped to gaze at the lieutenant again as if fascinated. "You're drunk" he finally finished, pointing his finger at the lieutenant. "S'help me, you're drunk."

"Mr. Johnson," said the lieutenant, to the jailor, "the gentleman here has been imbibing too freely of the concoction thenatives call red eye, or perhaps it is red orbs. I mean to say, that, while perhaps I do him an injustice, I think he is intoxicated. Will you kindly escort him to his quarters, Mr. Johnson?"

"S'help me, a policeman drunk," mumbled Jerome, as he was led tearfully away, weeping at the utter disgrace of the Duluth force.

SHIP TORPEDOED; FOUR LOSE LIVES

Steamer Cambank Sunk By German Submarine Without Warning.

London, Feb. 20, 6:20 p. m.—The steamship Cambank of Cardiff was torpedoed today off Amlych bay, Wales, by a German submarine without warning.

The third engineer and two firemen of the Cambank were killed and another member of the crew was drowned while getting into a boat. The remainder of the crew was saved. The Cambank had just taken aboard a pilot for Liverpool.

TAKES POISON.

James Sexton Writes Farewell Note and Tries to End Life.

After writing a farewell note to his wife and another to members of his family, James F. Sexton, aged 27, 324 Sixth avenue east, cut his left wrist with a pocket knife and swallowed several bichloride of mercury tablets last night. He was discovered a few minutes later and removed to St. Luke's hospital in the police emergency.

Dr. Harry Klein, who was summoned in the case, declared that Sexton probably would recover. He was much improved this afternoon, according to hospital attendants. Motives for his attempt are not known.

NAVY'S PROSPECTS GOOD

Recruiting Officer Expects Many Applications This Coming Spring.

Peter Coyle, recruiting officer for the United States navy, is expecting to have a "fat" enlistment list during March and April. The Head of the Lakes, he predicts, will be crowded with men seeking employment when the woodsmen begin to return from camp.

"The United States navy," said Mr. Cole today, "is being built up both as to equipment and personnel as never before, and the European war is attracting unusual attention to the naval arm of the service. The department at Washington is making the service more attractive and offering greater opportunities for the enlisted men than at any time heretofore."

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

SALOON GOES, IF SHE COMES

Hicken Would Prevent Former Underworld Resident Opening Hotel.

Will Cancel License But Permit Transfer to Another Building.

Unless a former resident of the old segregated district is prohibited from operating a Superior street hotel, Commissioner Hicken, head of the public safety division, declared this morning that he will cancel the saloon license in that building.

"I will not allow such a woman to run a hotel in which there is a saloon," said Commissioner Hicken, "and if that is the only way I can keep her from doing so, then I shall endeavor to have the license canceled. However, I will grant a transfer to the proprietor of the saloon, but there will be no saloon in the building while this woman operates the hotel.

"Of course, I cannot prohibit this woman from renting the hotel, but I can cancel that saloon license, and in this way keep the woman out of the building. We don't want these women back here at all, and I am going to do everything in my power to keep them out of the city. I am positive she would not operate a respectable hotel, nor will I give her an opportunity to get one, if I can help it."

The hotel in question has been closed for some time, while the ground floor is occupied by a saloon.

This morning the owner of the saloon called on the commissioner, and when told the situation, promised to do everything in his power to keep this woman out of the hotel.

"I just spent a small fortune on improvements in the saloon," said the proprietor, "and I would hate to lose out at this time. A transfer would do no good, as I would be compelled to make new improvements all over again. I am doing everything I can to comply with the commissioner's request, and am now holding conferences with the owner of the building."

The former inmate of the underworld recently arrived in town and immediately began negotiations for the hotel, which, it is claimed, she has already rented.

MAKES BETTER THAN MILE A MINUTE

A dark horse entered the automobile ice races Monday morning, and yesterday afternoon made sixteen miles in fifteen minutes, better than the mile-a-minute records of the famous racers of the world.

Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the racing committee, announced this morning that some of the fastest racing in the country will be seen on the local ice Monday afternoon. It is expected that the above record will be beaten during the regular run.

Four large automobiles have already been entered, while a number of smaller cars will also endeavor to go against time.

The races will start at 11 o'clock.

SUPERIOR

FOXY DOG IN POUND.

Refused to Get Poisoned, Burying Offered Food in Snowdrifts.

A case of "trying it on the dog" is said to have proved a failure in Superior. Recent complaints of the poisoning of blooded dogs of Superiorites by feeding them poisoned dog biscuit have been received by the police. In order to test the biscuits it was decided to try some on a dog in the city pound. Several were given to the dog but instead of suddenly giving up his life the animal appeared to be getting fat on them.

Investigations made by Dr. C. M. Gould, city physician, resulted in finding that instead of eating the biscuits he had been burying them in nearby snowbanks.

Go to I. B. A. Tourney.

Superior is represented by four teams in the International Bowling tournament being held in Minneapolis. Ten men left last night and an additional ten men will leave this afternoon. Practically every bowling team in the city is represented on the delegation.

Fewer Unemployed.

The number of unemployed in Superior is diminishing according to Supt. Rufus Scoon of the Wisconsin free employment office. He said that while there are no large orders for men there have been a number of small orders and that these appear to have taken up the greater part of the unemployed. He predicts that common laborers would be scarce in the city by March 15.

Last Day of Grace.

Chief of Police Vincent McKinnon will start out with a crew to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes in Superior on Monday, according to his announcement this morning. Today is the last day of grace the tax payers have and it is expected that many of those who have failed so far to pay their taxes will do so before the office closes tonight.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of Donald M. Philbin, Decedent.

The petition of W. R. Philbin and T. R. Philbin, two of the representatives of the above named decedent, together with their final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things that they have fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representatives and the sureties on their bond. It is ordered, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday the 15th day of March, 1915, at ten o'clock A. BACHELORS' APARTMENTS TO COST $100,000 PROPOSED Handsome Structure to Be Erected on Superior Street, East.

Expensive School Proposals Announced; Trade Prepares for Busy Season.

That the present will round up into one of the best years on record for the building trade, is the opinion generally entertained by Duluth architects and contractors.

The easing up in the financial situation, and the settling of a number of issues that acted as deterrent influences a year ago, have served to inspire confidence, and in spite of the European war drawback, it is now taken for granted that building operations in the Duluth district at least, will be upon an exceptionally extended scale during the 1915 season.

The outstanding feature of the week was the definite announcement that the erection of the proposed $100,000 bachelors' apartment building, as recently outlined in The Herald, will be proceeded with this season. The plans will be ready to go out for figures on March 12 from the office of Shurick & Solheim, architects. The Merriman Investment company of Philadelphia, and Duluth and Minneapolis investors are the promoters of the enterprise.

A lot owned by Charles Kronick of Minneapolis, on Superior street, between Tenth and Eleventh avenues east, has been selected as the site on the score of its accessibility to the downtown business district. According to the plans, the building will be of brick with cut stone trimmings, five stories and a basement above the ground. It will contain 225 rooms, 125 of them to be equipped with baths, and included in its features will be a large recreation hall with shower baths adjoining.

Large Schools Proposed.

According to present appearances, schools and public buildings to go up in the city and through the district towns will be a prominent feature this season. Three projects of that nature were announced this week. A high school for district No. 51 is to be built between Crosby and Ironton on the Cuyuna range at an estimated outlay of from $135,000 to $150,000. It will be built on the unit plan and is designed to be modern in all its appointments. Plans for it are now in hand at the office of Vernod J. Price & Co., who were selected as the architects on the score of the acceptability of their plans for the Crosby grade school built two years ago.

The same architects are also engaged upon plans for the proposed Proctor high school. It is to be an eight or ten-room structure, and manuel training and domestic science departments will be provided for in it.

A consolidated grade and high school to cost approximately $50,000 is proposed at Fertile, Minn. The plans are being prepared at the office of Edwin F. Broomhall, architect, and it is expected that they will go out for figures about March 15.

Fireproof Block at Brainerd, Minn.

The erection of fireproof buildings in towns throughout the district, go to illustrate the steady improvement that is taking place in the type of structures going up in them. The latest development in that connection, is the decision of George H. Gardner of Brainerd, Minn., to erect a four-story and basement business block there of reinforced concrete construction to entail an investment of about $60,00. Plans for it are now under preparation by Vernon J. Price & Co.

* * *

The Echo theater at 515 Superior street west is to be remodeled into a store. Plans for the work have gone out for figures from the office of C. E. Nystrom, architect.

* * *

F. A. Johnson has under erection a brick bakery on the north side of Superior street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues west. A permit for $9,000 has been taken out to cover it.

* * *

Another proposed West end building is a one-story brick to be built at Superior street and Twenty-first avenue west for A. Hanson & Co., hardware merchants, at an estimated cost of $5,000. The plans for it are being prepared by Vernon J. Price & Co., architects.

* * *

Shurick & Solheim, architects, are preparing plans for Fred Janisch for a frame addition to and the remodeling of his home in the Colman addition at Woodland, at an approximate cost of $2,800. Plumbing and heating are to be installed.

* * *

The same architects are preparing plans for alterations and remodeling at the home of Dr. F. H. Barnard at McCulloch street and Forty-second avenue east.

Permits issued at the building inspector's office during the past week were twenty-two in number with the cost of improvements involved placed at $23,770. They were about equally divided between residence work and improvements in business buildings. The list is as follows:

To Tony Talarico, repairs to fire-damaged dwelling on the west side of Sixty-third avenue west, between Bristol and Green streets	$ 25
To Frank Wilson, reshingling flat on the north side of Fifth street, between Third and Fourth avenues west	100
To F. E. House, frame dwelling on the north side of Ninth street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east	2,000
To Carlo Pedrizett, alterations to brick dwelling on the north side of Fourth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west	20
To Otto Johnson, addition to frame dwelling on the south side of Rene street, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth avenues west.	75
To Edward Erickson, remodeling dwelling on the north side of Seventh street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues east	300
To Hulda Erickson, stone basement under dwelling on the north side of Third street, between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues	400
To Matt Eklund, frame dwelling on the north side of Magellan street, between Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth avenues west	2,000
To Jennie Bloom, alterations in store front on the north side of Superior street, between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east	200
To F. A. Johnson, brick bakery building on the north side of Superior street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues west	9,000
To A. McPherson, repairs to fire-damaged dwelling on the north side of London road, between Fifty-first and Fifty-second avenues east	500
To Peter Sordich, frame icehouse on the west side of Ninety-ninth avenue west, south of Crestline court	50
To Mrs. Mamie Godfrey, frame dwelling on the east side of Central avenue, between Elinor and Cody streets	1,500
To the Duluth Cornice & Roof company, addition to fire escape on building on the east side of Second street, between Lake and First avenues west	235
To H. I. Gooch, frame dwelling on the east side of Woodland avenue, between Owatonna and Faribault streets	3,500
To D. J. Klippen, alterations to store front on the north side of Michigan street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west	190
To Leonard Waelen, repairs to store front on the south line of Redruth street between Central and Fifty-sixth avenues west	25
To Andrew Sandelin, frame woodshed on the south side of Wabasha street on the west line of Maxwell avenue	50
To the Carbic corporation, addition to present structure on the west side of Central avenue between Sherburn and Redruth streets	300
To S. Morterud, addition to store on the lower side of Third street between Winnipeg and Pacific avenues	3,000
To Eva B. Spink, alterations to frame dwelling on the west side of Lake avenue between Ninth and Tenth streets	200
To J. G. Mork, remodeling shed at rear of store on the east side of Twenty-fourth avenue west between Fourth and Fifth streets	150
Cost of improvements	$ 23,770
Number of permits, 2.

BIG DEALS "IN THE AIR" IN REAL ESTATE MARKET

Some Important Transactions Are Nearing the Closing Stage.

Real Estate Exchange Will Back Another Investment Project.

While no large transactions were closed up in the local real estate field during the present week, operators regard recent developments as satisfactory in every way, strong expectations being entertained that some interesting transactions will be put through during the next few weeks.

It is intimated that papers in one of the largest realty deals ever concluded in this city are likely to be recorded within a few days. It will involve a number of business properties and the aggregate consideration will mount up into record figures. Predictions are made that the transaction will serve to attract outside interest to an exent never before realized, and that it will inaugurate a season of unparalleled activity in Duluth realty circles.

Real Estate Exchange Busy.

The Duluth Real Estate exchange is making progress in its proposal to place upon the market another investment project backed up by its membership on lines somewhat similar to the Waverly Park proposition. It is now regarded as certain that a company will be incorporated in the near future to handle the enterprise, and definite announcement regarding it is expected to be made shortly.

Local real estate men are interested in the expropriation proceedings for the proposed North Shore boulevard. In the appeals against the awards of the commissioners, E. D. Field and J. E. Cooley, it is noted that the jury in three of the cases thus far heard has only slightly advanced the amounts awarded, while in one instance the award was reduced.

The view that the building of the boulevard will prove of great benefit to the properties along the route has been generally taken by the jurors.

Substantial development in outside investment interest in properties in the western section of the city and in the steel plant district, is advised by operators specializing in them. A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company advised the sale during the week of a number of lots in Gary Central division to Illinois and Indiana buyers.

* * *

W. C. Sherwood reported the sale of twenty-five feet frontage on Superior street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west to I. Proszek at $2,250 House No. 1514 East Sixth street was also disposed of to a Western buyer at $3,250.

* * *

J. D. Howard & Co. advised the receipts of earnest money on a double house in the East end. The purchase was made with a view to investment.

* * *

Charles P. Craig & Co. sold to William A. Webber a five-acre tract at Greysolon Farms. The buyer proposes to improve during the coming season.

The A. A. Fider company had a busy week, resulting in the following sales: To L. Slovensky from M. J. Rivak, house No. 1123 East Tenth street at $2,100; to Charles M. Magnusson from S. Kirnes, house No. 805 East Third street at $3,100; to Thomas Beck from Axel Johnson, house No. 1127 Tenth street east at $2,100, and to Ralph E. Parker from K. Sander, three lots in Loeb's addition at $700.

The Harris Realty company reported the sale of forty acres in section 19, 51-15 at $750 to an outside buyer.

Stryker, Manley & Buck sold two lots in Harbor View addition on the hill near the end of the Piedmont avenue car line. That office is meeting with good inquiry for both inside and outside properties.

The Pulford-How company sold to Frank A. Johnson fifty feet frontage on Superior street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues west at $4,000.

* * *

The Little & Nolte company sold for John McNaughton to Peter Stillman, house No. 2320 West First street at $2,200.

The West Duluth Realty company reported the sale of forty acres of land near Proctor and West Duluth from George Laybourn to Andrew Kalstrom at a consideration of $1,600. The same office also sold a lot for John A. Stephenson to Mat Johnson at $600. A good demand for building loans was advised.

L. A. Larsen company reported considerable activity in the different branches of real estate. Among the principal recent doings is the final completion of the new Haley Restaurant company building. John J. Haley took possession of the building some time ago under a ten-year lease. During the week that company rented a store on Superior street and two dwellings and sold a number of pieces of property. House and lot known as 1614 East Fifth street, was sold to local parties for investment at $5,000. 120 acres of land north of Lakewood in section 15, with buildings, were sold to R. K. Doe for $4,500. It is Mr. Doe's intention to conduct dairy farm and agricultural experiments. Lot 5, block 74, London addition was sold for Charles A. Nash to local parties for $300. Lot 3, block 27, Endion, was sold to local parties for improvement.

BUILDING MATERIAL UNUSUALLY CHEAP

Builders Advised to Take Advantage of Present Low Prices.

With all kinds of plumbing material offered at the lowest prices in years, labor plentiful and indications of increases in certain materials sure to come, local plumbing supply men say a saving of from 15 to 20 per cent in this item of building expense can be made by the early builder.

Iron goods, such as soil pipe, wrought iron, and iron pipe, are quoted as decidedly low prices, due to the congestion of the market when exports to European countries were stopped by the war.

That present low prices of plumbing material will not continue is indicated in the refusal of manufacturers of plumbing supplies to book orders for future delivery at present prices. This is caused by indications of a price advance in raw materials.

"Plumbing can be done now just as well as it can in the later months of the year and far cheaper," said a local plumber today. "This condition exists in many branches of building trade, I am certain, but it does not exist in any of them as noticeably as in plumbing. "While labor is always of expert character in this work it is as cheap as it will be and materials are way down. If the European war should be settled in any way prices would hop up in the air. I cannot too strongly urge early building. It means a saving where it should go; to the citizen who is paying the money for the building."

NEED FOR STATE HUMANE AGENT IS BEING URGED

WORE BARB WIRE YOKES.
Dumb Victims of Inhumane and Brutal Owner.

BARB WIRE YOKES FOR CATTLE.

Modern Implements for "Inquisition" Tortures for Dumb Beasts.

Need for a state humane agent to give his attention to the state at large, and especially to the farms outside of the cities of Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, it is believed has been often demonstrated during the last year. The matter of securing legislation authorizing a state humane agent and providing an appropriation for his salary will come before the legislature next month. Humane societies pushing the bill have prepared several concrete examples of the need of humane society work throughout the state at large. The pictures reproduced herewith illustrate a case in point.

One photograph shows two young cattle which had been confined on a farm about 175 miles from St. Paul with barbwire yokes around their necks. A photograph of the yokes used is also reproduced. Those who reported the matter to the humane society at St. Paul declared that the yokes had been worn so long that the necks had healed in places. The cattle had learned, however, to step back instead of forward in order to avoid pushing against the wire and inflicting new wounds.

The outcome of the case is still pending. The St. Paul Humane society sent a man to the place to investigate. He relieved the stock, but found that the reputed owner of the cattle had left town and had not returned.

Many Cases Here.

The Duluth Humane society, according to R. D. McKercher, agent, has also handled a number of cases in various parts of the state, each of which showed a crying need for an active state society financially equipped to care for such cases of cruelty to both children and animals as are constantly being reported.

"One of these cases," said Mr. McKercher, "occurred some time ago at Bay Lake, Minn. A divorced man married again and lived within a short distance of his first wife and their children, the mother having been given the custody of said children at the time the divorce was granted. This man insisted on the children doing his chores and helping his second wife with the work around the house, regardless of the fact that they were in the custody of their mother. If they refused, he would abuse them shamefully, and one time when the mother was not at home, he entered the house, and in a frenzy of temper, nearly killed one of the boys, breaking the child's spectacles, and beating him cruelly.

"The man was a notorious bully and none of the neighbors dared complain, and even the village authorities were afraid to touch the case. At last, however, it was taken up by the Deerwood officials, Deerwood being within a few miles of Bay Lake, and eventually came to the Duluth Humane society for disposition. In this instance such an organization was the only body capable of contending with the conditions.

Appalling Conditions.

"Another case of abuse and criminal neglect of children was reported to the state society last spring. A farmer living near Bain, Minn., was forcing his little girls and wife to work out in the fields by day, and abusing them when they came home at night. His wife was afraid to complain and to take the children's part. I made a trip to the place and found conditions truly appalling. The children were underfed, improperly clad and had every appearance of abuse and neglect. The neighbors stood in awe of the man, and although they had known of his treatment to his family they had not dared report the matter. After thorough investigation and a warning of the consequences if such mistreatment and cruel practices continued, I brought two of the children down to Duluth for medical examination and care. They were most pathetic looking little creatures when they arrived here, thin and pale, shabbily dressed, one of them wearing men's shoes, and both frightened at everything. They were placed in the Children's home where, under proper care and with plenty of nourishing food, they looked like different children in a month's time. Upon their return to their home, we wrote their father a letter, explaining to him what we expected from him the way of care and future home conditions for his entire family. The Duluth physicians pronounced the little girls' ailments as entirely produced by overwork and poor nourishment.

"This case is particularly flagrant in that this man has the means to provide proper clothing, good food and enough help on his farm so that his family need not work and live like slaves."

FEED FOR HORSE DURING WINTER

Crookston Experimental Farm Expert Author on Valuable Treatise.

Prof. William Dietrich of the Crookston experimental farm, who is a well-known authority on the feeding of farm animals, has contributed an able treatise on "The Farm Work Horse in Winter."

In discussing the draft horse he considers this animal as one of the most important animals on the farm.

"Except for few farms where the work is done by means of farm power machinery," he says, the horse comes into play in all kinds of farming.

"The proper development, use and handling of horses, therefore, is a subject that ought to be of general interest. Possibly the kind of horse to be used on the farm will depend somewhat on the character of the farm. Small farms with limited capital and that do not intend to grow horses for market may be justified in growing and using smaller horses and even sometimes ponies, but as a general rule the draft horse with considerable size and, therefore, live weight, is preferable both for farm work and to be grown and sold as one of the products of the farm.

"A good horse is first bred, and, second, fed and developed. A growing colt, like all other growing animals, needs to have a properly balanced ration, which includes the feeds that will furnish the required amount of mineral matter, protein, carbohydrate, fat and also water. From the roughage standpoint there are no better feeds for growing colts than good sweet clover and alfalfa hay. From the grain standpoint oats is considered the universal horse feed, but this may be substituted in part by corn. When timothy hay is being used for the development of the colt it should be understood that this is deficient in protein, consequently some flax, oil meal or other nitrogenous feed should be added to the ration.

"Mature horses do not have as much need for protein as the growing colt consequently these may be fed a ration containing less protein, and timothy hay is usually considered to be a good feed from the roughage standpoint for the full-grown horse. This, together, with the required amount of oats, or oats and corn, with plenty of salt and water will give the horse pretty fair treatment. Some people make the mistake in feeding their horses too lightly during the winter. While it is true that the horse need not be highly fed except when it is at hard labor, nevertheless the horse should be sufficiently well fed during the winter so that it can go into the season of spring's work with plenty of reserve energy. It is a well-known fact that during this season of the year most horses go down in flesh. Consequently, if they start in poor they cannot do the work that is necessary during that season and that means so much for the success of the farm. Another point worthy of consideration is that the farm horse should be given sufficient exercise throughout the winter to keep it in good health and that towards spring they should be given regular work to get them accustomed to hard labor and get their shoulders and necks hardened so they will not suffer from collar boils and sore necks as hard work begins."

EXPLOITING N. E. MINNESOTA.

Farm Lands Association Will Meet Thursday at Moose Lake.

Members of the Minnesota Farm Lands association will hold a meeting at Moose Lake, Minn., next Thursday, to consider plans for exploiting the timbered sections of Northeastern Minnesota. Through the secretary of the organization, W. R. McKenzie, invitations are being sent out to officers of various civic and commercial bodies in this part of the state.

The farm lands association expects to advertise the high grade timber lands in the northeastern part of the state in a way that will interest settlers and land men. Officials of the Soo railroad will be present at the Moose Lake conference.

AUTOS WANTED

You Can Communicate With 98 Per Cent of the Prospective Buyers

Hundreds of automobiles are being purchased in Duluth and the surrounding country this year. The cars which are advertised most persistently, thus inviting the consideration of all prospective buyers, are finding quickest sale.

You can reach every interested person in this great territory by offering your car in the "Herald want ad" column.

By a careful comparison of the names in which automobile licenses were issued and the subscription records of The Duluth Herald it was shown that 98 per cent of the present car owners are readers of The Duluth Herald.

What is of interest to the car owners of today is also of interest to the car owners of tomorrow, consequently 98 per cent of future car owners also are readers of The Duluth Herald.

Do You Want to Trade?

If you have an automobile you would like to trade for real estate or anything else, you can find some one who is willing to match your trade.

OR IF YOU WISH TO ACQUIRE A CAR by trading you can find somebody who will be pleased to make an exchange. Inserting and reading "Duluth Herald want ads" is the means of bringing about many mutually satisfactory trades.

HERALD WANT ADS

BOTH PHONES 324

ONE CENT A WORD

WANT AD RATES—Classified advertisements under regular headings, "Wanted—Male Help," "For Rent—Rooms," "For Sale—Miscellaneous," "Lost," "Found," etc., 1 cent per word per insertion, cash in advance. No advertisement, however, taken for less than 15 cents. Spaced advertisements or with machine border under any classification, 12 cents a measured inch—12 lines to the inch.

Standing classified advertisements, $1.00 per line per month, minimum space two lines.

Set in paragraphs or charged on the books, 6 cents per line. However, not less than two lines twice, or three lines once, accepted. All one-line "ads" charged as two lines.

CLOSING HOURS: Want Ads, to be classified properly in The Herald, should be in The Herald office before 12 o'clock, noon, (Saturdays 11:30 a. m.); when received at a later hour they are likely to be inserted under heading, "Too Late to Classify."

Count the words of your ad, including two words for the indexing of your ad and three words for a Herald address when such address is to be used; count each "initial" letter and each number or combination of figures as one word.

TELEPHONE YOUR WANT ADS to The Herald whenever it is more convenient to do so, if you are a telephone subscriber, and a bill will be mailed to you or a collector will call at your home or at your office the following day. This is an accommodation service rendered Herald Want Ad patrons and payment should always be promptly made on receipt of bill. Always ask that your telephone ad be repeated back to you by the telephone ad taker, to make sure that it has been taken correctly. The Herald cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

OUT-OF-TOWN ADVERTISEMENTS must be accompanied with cash in full payment for the same. Note the foregoing instructions about counting the words and the rate per word.

The Herald will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Persons advertising in The Herald Want columns and having the answers addressed in care of The Herald will please ask for check to enable them to get their letters, as none will be delivered except on presentation of checks.

All answers to advertisements should be enclosed in envelopes and care should be taken to see that they are properly addressed.

No mis-classification permitted under any circumstances.

Death, Funeral, Card of Thanks, Lodge or Society notices, not exceeding ten lines, $1.00 per insertion. Additional space at commercial rates.

In answering advertisements addressed to numbers in care of The Herald, do not inclose stamps.

Only advertisements set in 1 inch or more space will be run E. O. D. We accept advertisements on T. F. orders only when they are to appear without changes for a month or more.

All verbal orders to discontinue advertisements running more than one time must be confirmed in writing.

REACHES EVERY ONE INTERESTED IN POULTRY...

The Duluth Herald is the recognized poultry medium. It is the official paper of the people interested in Poultry and Pet Stock.

Circulation Greatest—Rates Lowest

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in Minnesota, outside the Twin Cities. Its rates for classified advertising are less per thousand circulation than those of any other paper in Minnesota. Best results are gained from ads when definite information is given. When information is lacking the presumption is that desirable features are lacking. Information as to contract rates and the probable amount of space your ad would take, gladly given.

DULUTH'S FIRST ANNUAL AUTOMOBILE SHOW WILL BE OPENED NEXT MONDAY AFTERNOON

Auditorium Is a Bower of Draperies and Flowers—Dealers Will Stage Auto Race at 1 P. M.—Everything New in Motordom Will Be On Display—Forty-Five Cars to Be Exhibited, Besides Motorcycles—Gov. Hammond Will Speak Thursday.

Duluth's first annual automobile show will open at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

In preparation for this splendid display, the Auditorium has been transformed into a beautiful bower of draperies and flowers. For the last month workmen have been busy preparing the interior for the show all of next week.

After Monday the show will open at 10:30 o'clock each morning, closing at 10:30 o'clock at night. There will be special concerts every evening by Helmer's orchestra, while entertainers from local hotels will render solo numbers during each evening.

AUTO RACE ON ICE.

At 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, the Duluth automobile dealers, who are in charge of the show, will stage an automobile race on the ice, to be followed by a race between two motor sleighs and one between an automobile and an ice boat. These races are attracting nation-wide attention and two motion picture companies have already arranged to send men here for the purpose of taking pictures to be shown throughout the country. The Selig and Pathe companies will have representatives here at the ice races, it is understood.

GREAT DISPLAY IS ARRANGED.

Immediately, after the races, the doors of the Auditorium will be thrown open to the public and Duluthians will have an opportunity of seeing just what local auto men have to offer for 1915. Everything new in motordom is to be shown. There will be forty-five automobiles on display, including four electrics. In addition four motorcycles are to be on exhibition, while seventeen accessory displays will be shown in the balcony of the Auditorium. The lowest price car on exhibition will be worth $395, while the highest price is valued at $7,000. The total estimated cost of the exhibits is placed at $125,000.

Phone at Every Booth.

For the convenience of those attending the show the Zenith Telephone company has installed an exchange in the building with telephones at every booth and free phones throughout the building. There will also be rest rooms and meeting places at different parts of the structure.

One of the features will be a miniature relief map of Minnesota, showing the best highways from Duluth to outlying sections. This map has been prepared by Dr. J. D. Park, president of the Duluth Auto club, and should prove of considerable interest to motorists.

Hammond to Be Speaker.

On next Thursday night Governor Hammond will attend the show as the guest of the local dealers.

G. A. Maxson is the chairman of the executive committee in charge of the show. The other members of this committee are: J. W. Arnold, Jr., Dr. J. D. Park and Carl Lovelace. W. F. Daly is the manager of the show. The other committees follow:

Decorations—L. Filiatrault, Fred Kleyn and J. W. Arnold, Jr.

Auditing—M. W. Turner, Carl Lovelace.

Race—Dr. J. D. Park, Joseph T. Peacha, Jr., H. B. Knudsen and E. J. Filiatrault.

Publicity—J. T. Peacha, Jr., E. J. Filiatrault and G. A. Maxson.

And now a word will be said about the cars in general.

The main features of the 1915 cars shown at the show are the comfort, lightness and durability. The six-cylinder occupies a most prominent position in most exhibits, while the eight-cylinder, despite the doubts of those who shook their heads early last fall, is also there.

Exhibits Well Placed.

Mechanically speaking, there will be little left out of the Duluth show that was on exhibition at New York and Chicago. The spectators here, however, will have the benefit of a closer observation of each car, because of the condensation of floor space. The lighting will be sufficient to show up the models in every detail of form and mechanism and the arrangement of the booths is such as to leave each exhibitor with the impression that his is the strategic position nearest the public gaze.

The models so far arrived indicate that the aeroplane has had an influence on the building of bodies this year. The up-tilted windshield and square body has almost disappeared. The best cars now have curved radiators, inconspicuous windshield, inclining back toward the driver, and hood and sides inclined to form a cone that splits rather than defies the air resistance. The mud guard, instead of bending up, tips down, protecting the upper half of the wheel. Not only does this arrangement of the guard better protect the passengers from mud, but makes for greater speed. The theory is that the upper half of the wheel traveling twice as fast as the body meets four times the air resistance. Smooth under bodies or drip pans also become promising speed factors in modern auto desigling.

Science has not stopped with equipping the chassis with cigar-shaped bodies, but has extended the back so as to reduce the tendency of the speeding machine to create a vacuum and suction.

Few of the improvements this year will startle the beholder or create as much surprised comment as did the self-starter several seasons ago.

Improvements this year.

The body designing on the 1915 car does not differ as greatly from last year's body work the stream-line did from the bodies of 1913. More labor and better material have been put into the bodies of the low priced cars, while the automobiles bringing from $2,850 to $5,000 still retain their excellent finish and the best material that money can purchase. The upholstering is of the best quality, and although in 1914 several of the high priced cars were finished a great deal in foreign trimmings the machines this year have nearly all "made-in-America" materials and seem to look better than they did when the material was brought across the pond.

Going back to the advance in motors one will find that an increase is shown in the use of the thermo-syphon cooling. For 1914 its chief advocates were among the low-priced cars, but it is now on 27 per cent of the American chassis as compared to 19 per cent last year. Another improvement has been made in water circulation. That is the employment of larger water jackets by practically every manufacturer who has redesigned his motor for this season.

Vacuum Gasoline Feed.

A third mechanical innovation of interest is that of the vacuum gasoline feed, which is to be found on a goodly number of the show cars. By this system the necessity for pressure to bring gasoline from the tank at the rear to the carburetor has been done away with. By the use of a small supplementary tank concealed under the cowl or engine bonnet gasoline is drawn over as needed from the main tank and fed to the carburetor direct by gravity and through a short line. Some high mileages per gallon of fuel have been made recently by the use of this system. Many of the year's cars which do not employ it make use of the cowl tank; that is to say, they carry their main gasoline supply as nearly over the carburetor as possible.

Better Lighting in 1915.

In lighting, much improvement has been made in the 1915 cars. Many are provided with one kind or another of dimming attachment for the headlights, whereby, simply at the touch of the proper button, the glare of the front lamps may be subdued. There are many instances in which the side lamps has been banished altogether, being incorporated in the head lamp in the form either of a double bulb—one of much less power than the other—or of a distinct yet joined smaller lamp at the top or bottom of the large one. There is a tendency to place all the control buttons together at the most convenient point for the operator, and in several instances special lighting features are provided.

In closed cars, for instance, there are step lights either above the running boards or in the backs of the front seats, turned on by the opening of the door. There are trouble lamps with flexible cords attached for searching out any troubles that may develop with the mechanism. Other electric devices for comfort include interior telephones for communication with the chauffeur—which take the place of the unsatisfactory, old-fashioned speaking tube or the still more old-fashioned and much more unsatisfactory shout from the open car door—heaters and cigar lighters.

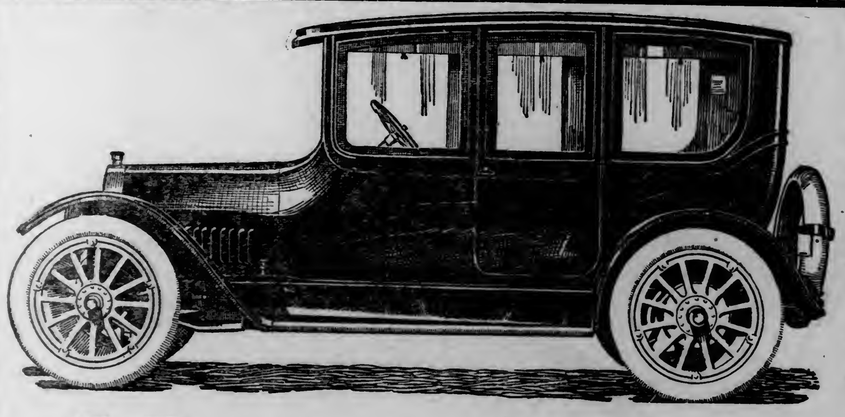

"All-Weather" Type Body.

In general, as to bodies, it may be said that the "all-weather" type is growing in popularity. This includes the coupe and the sedan as well as the collapsible cabriolet. This season has seen the advent of the truly detachable body, which can be conveniently put on in a short time and the car thus transformed from open to closed form, and vice versa. There are also convertible bodies which serve the same end, the superstructure folding away into the body sides when it is not desired.

For the most part sashless windows are used in the cars of the year. They impede the vision as little as possible, and they are usually controlled by regulator handles in place of the fussy straps of other times. Of course of such interior fitting as vanity cases, compartments, vases, pocket umbrella drains, ash trays, and the like there is no end. This factor of the "trimmings" of the modern automobile is one of the most interesting things about it, but it is a tale by itself. More emphasis has been laid on the completeness of appointment of this kind this year than ever before.

Car for Every Purse.

The great show contains a car for every purse and every taste. From the most costly, berline or imperial limousine to the vest pocket runabout they await inspection and purchase. To a degree almost incredible to the follower of the car since its beginnings each is a perfected example of its type.

HAS FAITH IN ADS IN THE NEWSPAPERS

Hudson Director Declares Public Opinion Is Swayed By Papers.

C. C. Winningham, director of sales and advertising of the Hudson company, is a firm believer in newspaper advertising. This is quite to be expected because Mr. Winningham is an advertising man of national standing, and graduated from the newspaper and advertising ranks into the high position he now holds.

Mr. Winningham is a great believer in the power of public opinion. Public opinion is directed and swayed by the newspapers. Both the news columns and the advertising columns have a powerful effect on men's opinions and actions. Hence the Hudson company, under Mr. Winningham's direction, makes large use of daily and weekly newspaper space to present its message to the public. Being an old reporter, Mr. Winningham's ideas are colored by his newspaper experience. He believes that advertising should contain news, that it should be full of human interest, but above all that it should offer a topic of conversation. The Hudson has been more talked about than probably that of any other motor car company. Taking the year as a whole, there is probably no other company that uses a larger space in daily newspapers than does the Hudson Motor Car company.

MOTOR PROGRESS

General simplifications.
Accessibility of chassis.
Carefully fitted fenders.

THE DULUTH AUTOMOBILE CLUB

A Message From Dr. J. D. Park, President, and H. J. Mullin, Secretary.

Twin City Road.

By far the most important problem for our club and the citizens of Duluth is a good road to the Twin Cities.

The importance of securing this road is so great, not only to Duluth, but to the range cities that too much emphasis cannot be laid in urging it, and it should receive one serious consideration and united efforts. Here we are, with very rapidly improving road conditions in our own county, with splendid roads on the range, with a road to Port Arthur and Fort William rapidly approaching completion, with a wonderful boulevard about to be built along our lake shore to the East and with this county contributing over $200,000 a year to the state road and bridge fund and not even an average county road most of the way to the Twin Cities. It is time that we, as motorists, and as citizens of this city and county rise up in a united body and insist and demand of our state highway commission and of the legislature, if need be, that ways and means be devised speedily to permanently improve this road and bring it up out of the mud so that those who desire to come to us in the summer from all parts of the country, may do so and those of us who wish to drive from Duluth to other parts of the state may do so without being compelled to wallow in mud axle deep or bump over old-fashioned culverts, bridges and miles of corduroy in order to reach the main routes of the touring world.

The state legislature has convened for another session. Our representatives are to be in St. Paul this winter as well as many others from Duluth and St. Louis, Carlton, Pine, Chisaga and Washington counties. Much good road talk will be heard. It is probable, important changes may be made in our road laws. The highway commission meets in February for the purpose of making the annual apportionment of the state road and bridge funds. The time is very propitious therefore, to organize and present our demands for the Twin City road. St. Paul and Minneapolis will help us, the State Auto association, and the Auto clubs of St. Paul and Minneapolis have already expressed themselves as willing to help us secure the improvement of this road. Outwardly conditions were never so favorable. If we do not avail ourselves of this opportunity, we will have no one except ourselves to blame. But one of us from Duluth alone, unaided, cannot follow up this matter as it should be followed. It will require co-operation, active co-operation and funds. Isn't the matter of vital importance enough for us to bestir ourselves?

Fond du Lac Bridge.

The bridge across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac has not progressed as rapidly as we had hoped, but we are assured by our congressman that the bill now before congress will pass this session, so that construction work may be begun next spring. Interstate and inter-city jealousies, coupled with some politics has been responsible for the legislative delays in Washington. This is a very important matter, as it concerns the Twin City road, and the route out of this city to the west, besides the fact that a large and fertile farming territory will be brought immediately tributary to Duluth by the building of this bridge, and the further fact that this route will afford a most attractive entrance into our city.

Other Trunk Roads Needed.

Besides the trunk road to the Twin Cities, and of much importance, is one from here to Grand Forks by the way of the Miller Trunk road, Alborn and Floodwood. Construction of this road from this end has already begun and we understand that it will be open for travel early next year as far west as Floodwood. From Floodwood west this road will follow the Great Northern railroad. Another trunk road of which we are greatly in need is one running west to Fargo, following the Northern Pacific railroad. Both these roads should not be lost sight of in urging the Twin iCty road, for their connection with it is very intimate.

City Streets.

The city, too, has been doing some good work of a permnent nature. The road to New Duluth has been permanently improved for two miles by an eighteen-foot concrete roadway. The Vermilion road (concrete), the Park Point concrete pavement, the West Superior street brick pavement from Twelfth to Thirtieth avenue west, and the Seventh street connection with the Boulevard are among the most important accomplishments of the past season. Your officers here take occasion to state that the commissioner of public works and his efficient assistant have both been most willing and anxious to co-operate with us in so far as their funds would permit.

We should have one well paved street from Lakeside to New Duluth. The commissioner of public works should be urged to continue the improvement of Superior street, west and east, until this is accomplished. For the first time in our experience we have been able to report needed repairs with the knowledge that they would be given almost immediate attention.

Traffic Ordinance.

The traffic ordinance in reference to stopping for street cars, taking on or letting off passengers seems to be working very well. The commissioner of public safety called the president and secretary into consultation several times before it was enacted and we feel certain that the result has been a more friendly relationship between the police department and the automobile owners of the city. Each of us should endeavor to see to it that this ordinance is enforced not only as to autos, but as to horse-drawn vehicles. Driving around the left side of street cars should be avoided. Several accidents have already resulted from this violation of the traffic ordinance.

TWO NEW PEERLESS CARS ARE OFFERED

Two new Peerless cars, known as the all-purpose models, have come out as running mates of the continued big 6-48. The new models are very attractively designed, and are a four and a six, the former selling at $2,000 and the latter at $2,250. They are designated as models 54 and 55, respectively.

Chrome nickel steel piston pins secured in the upper ends of the connecting rods, are used. The bosses in the pistons provide the bearing surface and the makers claim that by so doing they have gained a higher percentage of bearing surface as compared with the practice of fixing the pins in the piston boss.

Its wheelbase is 137 inches, drive shaft fitted with two universals, and rear axle floating. The rear spring suspension is of the platform type. Tires are 37 by 5, and options of right drive and control, or left drive with center control are allowed. Prices remain $5,000 for touring car, and $4,900 for roadster with all equipment.

HERE'S WHAT EVERY MANUFACTURER ENTERED IN THE DULUTH AUTOMOBILE SHOW HAS TO OFFER TO PURCHASERS OF CARS DURING THE YEAR 1915

SIX SOLD AT $795 BY GRANT COMPANY

A six at $795 is the offering of the Grant company for this season. In addition to this the four-cylinder model has been improved and continued.

The six, which will be the leader, has a 106-inch wheelbase, standard tread, and is equipped with a 2.875 by 4.25-inch block motor. Other specifications are a three-speed gearset, floating rear axle, left drive, center control, cone clutch, cantilever rear spring suspension, electric motor generator for lighting and cranking and cowl gasoline tank. The price mentioned includes all equipment, but a car can be had for $45 less without electric cranking and lighting. In this case acetylene lamps are fitted. The body is a five-passenger touring type, with boat lines, having a sheered gunwale.

The four has a 2.75 by 4 L-head block power plant with the valves on the left. It is also cooled by the thermo-syphon system and oiled by splash splash with with a vacuum feed. A single ignition system is used, in which the current is furnished by a Swiss magneto with hand spark control. The carbureter is a Mayer fed by gravity. The wheelbase is 90 inches, the wheels wire and the tires 28 by 3 clinchers. This model is only made up with a roadster body.

NEW BUICK CARS BETTER AND CHEAPER

A general reduction in prices, newly designed bodies, radiators rounded at the top, sloping hoods, and general improvement in appearance, are the distinctive features of 1915 Buick models, which, in general mechanical construction, are a continuation of the 1914 models.

Four four-cylinder types and one six-cylinder are built this year. Models C-36 and C-24, roadsters, sell at $900 and $1,185, respectively, or $50 less than in 1914. Model C-37, the big four touring car, sells at $1,235, and the model C-25, a small touring car, sells at $950, which is a reduction of $160 on both of these models over the 1914 prices. The six-cylinder model, which last season was listed at $1,985, now costs $1,685, a cut of $300. All Buicks have the valve-in-the-head type of motor which always has characterized these cars. The six and the larger fours have 3¾x5 motors, while the small fours, types C-24 and C-25, have 3⅜x3¾ engines. Cylinders are cast in pairs, and the valve rods run upward from the camshaft to the rockers which actuate the valves. Tungsten-steel valves have replaced nickel-steel ones, while multiple-steel piston rings are used in place of individual rings in each groove. Another slight motor alteration is the lengthening of pistons, so as to give a greater bearing surface and to eliminate any possibilities of piston slap.

Buicks use the combination Delco unit for ignition, lighting and cranking. A special feature in connection with the electric system on the new cars is the complete inclosure of all wires within conduits, so that the wiring is now not only more substantially and neatly arranged, but it is proof against all conditions.

On the larger four-cylinder cars and the six, the vaccum system of gasoline feed is employed with the vacuum tank located on main intake manifolds. The supply tanks remain in the rear. The small fours do not have this system. Another difference between these smaller cars and the others is that the gearset is not in unit with the motor in the former.

Wheelbase of the small four has been increased one inch to 106 inches, while that of the six is 130 and of the other fours 112. Full equipment graces each model.

NEW KISSEL SIX-42 CAR WILL COST $1,650

A new $1,650 six, known as the six-42, has been added to the line of the Kissel Motor company, Hartford, Wis. Of the two other cars in the line, the four-36 and 48-six, the former has been reduced in price from $1,850 to $1,450, but the six-48 price is unchanged at $2,350. Two-door touring bodies are being fitted to all the chassis, which, in the case of the improved models, show some mechanical changes.

The model 36 now has a block-cast 4¼ by 5½ motor instead of a 4½ by 5¼ pair-cast engine. Magneto ignition has been dropped and the combination Westinghouse cranking, lighting and ignition adopted. Stewart vacuum fuel feed is used instead of pressure, the tire size reduced from 35 by 4 to 34 by 4, the gear ratios have been altered and the camshaft drive by helical gears instead of silent chain.

The new six-42 has a 126-inch wheel base and is fitted with a block-cast, L-head 3⅝ by 5½ motor clutch, three-speed gearset and 35 by 4½ tires.

The unique feature of the KisselKars is the employment of a two-door single-compartment body as standard. The arrangement is made possible by using individual chairs in the driver's compartment, which permits the use of a single door, 26 inches wide, on each side of the body, giving entrance to both front and rear seats. This arrangement, introduced by the Kissel company, gives an unusually smart appearance to the car, and, with the better lines obtainable, will gain favor over the four-door type, is the belief of the company. The stream-line idea is worked out to a nicety in this body job and an uninterrupted surface obtained from the radiator top to the center of the car. In order to make access to the front seats from the rear easy, an aisle, eight inches wide, is placed between the forward chairs. Side lamps are dispensed with. The design of the body is used on the four and five-passenger cars, and to those preferring the conventional fore-door type, a five and seven-passenger also are offered.

The six-48 power plant consists of a 4 by 5½ block motor, cone clutch and four-speed gearset with direct on third. Unusually large valves are used and the pushrods clamped inside the valve inclosures. Instead of being pressed into the cylinders, the guide And rod can be removed easily without lifting the cylinders. Lubrication is by forced feed through a drilled crankshift, the oil being supplied from a self-contained reservoir, and is drained back from the pistons to prevent smoking. This engine is built entirely in the Kissel shops.

A feature of the clutch is that it may be adjusted without disturbing any other part. Centralization of all electric wires on a control panel fastened to the front of the dash is another decided feature.

NEW SAXON SIX IS THE LOWEST IN PRICE

A six-cylinder, five-passenger touring car selling at $785, with Gray & Davis electric cranking and lighting equipment, is the new car to be announced by the Saxon Motor Car company. This vehicle strikes the lowest price mark for a six-cylinder car announced in this country. Its features in the main are a 112-inch wheelbase, cantilever springs, both front and rear, and a five-passenger touring body.

The price of the four is $385. This small car is made in roadster form and is continued with a larger body, better upholstery and complete running boards. There now is a three-hinged bonnet in place of the one-piece design; the gasoline filler tank now is on the cowl instead of beneath the bonnet; the bonnet locks now have concealed hinges, and throughout the body work better finishing and better upholstery will be noticed. An example of this is the baking on of the radiator enamel to make it more durable.

This car is made only in the roadster type. It has a 2.625 by 4-inch block power plant with Atwater Kent ignition, thermo-syphon cooling, a two-speed gearbox on the rear axle and a semi-floating axle.

TWO MODELS ADDED TO APPERSON LINE

Five models are being marketed this season by the Apperson company. Two of these are fours and three sixes. One four and one six are entirely new models having just been added for this season. The two new cars are similar in design, although the dimensions of the motor and wheelbase are different. The new four, which is known as the 4-40, has a 116-inch wheelbase and a 4 by 5 power plant, with L head block cylinders. Its price is $1,350. The new six is known as model 6-45 and has a 3.5 by 5.125 motor, with its cylinders also a block and having L head construction. It sells for $1,485.

The frame is narrower at the forward end, giving a more rigid support to the motor and also providing a narrower turning radius. Force feed lubrication is continued, but now there are independent leads to the camshaft bearings instead of splash. In the structural work of the chassis, some slight changes will be noted tending to lightening and simplifying. The transverse shaft which carries the brake and clutch pedals is now only one-half the length that it was formerly.

No change has been made in the contracting band clutch which has formed a part of Apperson construction for several years. There are two universals in the drive. The bodies supplied with the new cars are of molded design with a rounded V-type radiator fitted with a distinctive shield.

CADILLAC 8-CYLINDER RADICAL DEPARTURF

The most radical change in American motor car construction since the advent of the six-cylinder power plant is presented by the Cadillac Motor Car company, which now is building eight-cylinder cars only and is the first American concern to adopt this kind of motor. It is a V-type, 3½ by 5¼, and of high speed type. The open models sell at $1,975.

The other new features in the chassis are: The wheelbase has been increased from 120 to 122 inches. Instead of right drive and control, left drive with center control has been adopted, although the hinged steering wheel is retained. A disk clutch has replaced the former cone and the gearset now is a unit with the power plant instead of being located amidships, as in former Cadillac construction. In place of the straight bevels used formerly in the rear axle, spring bevel gears are now used.

The Cadillac motor, which has created much interest among the motoring public, is said to be slightly lighter than the old four, due to the large reduction in weight of reciprocating parts and to the generous use of aluminum in the crankcase. Of European design, the engine is provided with accurately machined reciprocating parts of lightest weight consistent with strength, in order to permit of the high speeds at which it operates. The power curve shows that the engine develops its maximum of 70-horse power at 2,400 r. p. m.

MODEL 9 IS ONLY CARTERCAR FOR 1915

Model 9 is the one Cartercar made this year. In 1914 this was known as model 7. Model 5, which was the other car made last year, the more expensive of the two, has been discontinued. Both the roadster and touring types of model 9 cost $1,250.

The principal features of the 1915 car are the redesigned bodies for both the roadster and touring cars, which have a sloping hood and neat appearing cowl.

Steering and control are on the right, and the wheelbase of model 9 is 106 inches. Equipment is complete with demountable rims, windshield, top, electric horn, speedometer, tools and so on.

SEDAN AND COUPELET 1916 FORD ADDITIONS

Though the Ford bodies have been redesigned, and a sedan at $975 and coupelet at $750 have been aded to the touring, roadster and town car models, selling, respectively, at $490, $440 and $690, the chassis still is the well known T design. All the new bodies have been highly finished. This applies specially to the closed models, which are made to meet the taste of the most exacting.

The coupelet is of the type which may have the top folded back when weather permits; but it also may be closed so no water or snow can get in. Then it is virtually a coupe. The upholstering is deep and windows wide in sliding sash. The sedan has two wide doors, and provides seating for five, three in the rear seat and two in front on individual chair type seats. The right hand seat is on a pivot and folds back out of the way. Wide window panels above the doors and in the rear make for clear vision in all directions.

The model T chassis has a 100-inch wheelbase and is propelled by a 3¾ by 4, block, L-head motor cooled by thermo-syphon. This engine is three-pointed suspended in the frame, and a feature is the flywheel magneto, which provides the ignition current, a design adopted by this concern and used for a number of years.

Planetary transmission is employed which gives two forward speeds and reverse. The drive shaft is inclosed with a torsion tube which is a unit with the rear axle housing. The clutch is a steel disk design, brakes are on transmission and rear wheels, the former being the service set. Semi-elliptic cross springs are used front and rear, shackling at their ends to the axles. The front tires are 30 by 3, and the rear, 30 to 3½.

PAIGE COMPANY PUTS OUT NEW SIX

Continuing the four-cylinder Paige 36 with practically no reduction except a reduction from $1,275 to $1,195 and adding a six at $1,395, which is of exceedingly attractive appearance, the Paige-Detroit company enters the 1915 year well equipped. The new six, the first to come from the concern's shops, is a luxurious car of advanced streamline type having a capacity for seven and mounted on a chassis of 124-inch wheelbase. Its motor is a 3½ by 5¾ unit power plant type.

The body lines are somewhat on the order of the European boat designs, the slope of the cowl being almost flat, and meeting the bonnet line without change in curve. The top edges are rounded over, no upholstering coming over these edges.

The chassis is of 116-inch wheelbase and its propeller shaft is open, the drive being through torsion arm. A Paige distinguishing feature is the use of elliptic rear springs which make for great resiliency. The rear axle is three-quarter floating and its housing is of malleable construction. Tires are 34 by 4 on demountable rims, while equipment is complete in all respects.

THREE OVERLANDS OF SIMILAR DESIGN

There are three Overlands. These are a large four, model 80, which is a continuation of last year's model 79 with many refinements and is sold at $1,075; a smaller four, model 81, new to the line and offered at $850; and a six, the first ever turned out by the Willys-Overland company, which is priced at $1,475.

All these models have much the same general outward appearance, the bodies being of the present-day sloping hood type with cowls rounding down to the point where the bonnet begins. Although the six-cylinder motor does not conform to the general design features of the four-cylinder engines, the final drive system is characteristically and uniformly Overland in all three. The gearbox of the usual three-speeds is mounted in unit with the rear axle, and the propeller shaft is enclosed with a torsion tube having a yoked front end. The 1915 models are the first Overlands to have left drive, though center control has been fitted on previous models.

One feature of note on the larger four and the six is the centralization of the electrical control switches in a box attached to the right of the steering column, two inches below the wheel. This carries the switches for all lights, for the starting current and also for the magneto. All models have electric cranking and lighting this year at the prices given, and their equipment is unusually complete.

The starting and lighting system has been remounted so that instead of driving the engine through silent chain, the starter gears through teeth to the flywheel. By underslinging the rear springs and redesigning the front axle, the body of model 80 is 3¼ inches lower than model 79. This model also has cone clutch and floating rear axle.

8-CYLINDER INCLUDED IN THE LINE OF KINGS

The King Motor company, Detroit, came into the limelight late in the fall with an eight-cylinder car selling at $1,350 with attractive type of streamline body. This motor, which is of the V-type with cylinders mounted on the crankcase at 90 deg. to each other and in blocks of four, has a bore of 2¾ and a stroke of 5, the S.A.E. rating being 24.2-horse power. The engine weighs little more than the four-cylinder King and has practically the same length over all. Due to these features it is installed in nearly the same chassis as that used for the four.

The four-cylinder model, which has been forced into the background, so to speak, by the newcomer, is much refined as compared with the previous year's car and sells for $1,165 with full electric features for starting and lighting, a reduction of $30 over the previous car so fitted.

This eight-cylinder engine is the second to be installed as standard equipment in an American car, and it is commendably designed for lightness, compactness and accessibility.

The wheelbase of the King chassis, which is much the same for both cars, is 113 inches and the rear spring suspension is of the characteristic cantilever construction which was first used in this country on King cars. The clutch is a multiple-disk running in oil. The drive is through an inclosed propeller shaft to a floating rear axle, the housing of which is of pressed steel. Left drive and center control are employed, and tires are 33 by 4.

NATIONAL HAS NEW ELECTRICAL OUTFIT

An entirely new electrical outfit, including an Eisemann magneto and a Westinghouse lighting and starting system, has been adopted in the 1915 National. Although the motor size remains the same, fully 25 per cent has

The WHITE at the SHOW

In the Latest White Motor Cars—so spontaneously admired for their beauty of form and finish—one will immediately recognize those rare qualities that have always made custom workmanship so plainly apparent and so eagerly sought.

Every vestige of former vogue in body design has vanished in a finally-perfect streamline body.

The conventional back of the front seat—always awkward in appearance—is absorbed in the center cowl, a gentle ripple in the streamline.

This is but one of the admirable touches that distinguish every other feature and give the White an environment all its own.

The creative treatment of the custom builder is admirably expressed in the richness of finish and equipment.

Critical inspection is invited at the Twin Ports Automobile Show, or been cut from the weight of the reciprocating parts.

Body work has been much improved and the feature of the line is a four-passenger boat design in which four individual seats are mounted on tracks and can be moved into practically any position; a fifth seat folds into the rear of the body and is invisible except when in use; in all its lines the body is nautical, there being a curved gunwale line with molded fore and aft curves. The other bodies have been brought up to date and follow the accepted streamline design. Standard colors are national blue, though the option is given of any color. Equipment is standard with any make of wire wheels $150 extra, and National seat covers $30 extra.

NEW MAXWELL MODEL REDUCED IN PRICE

With redesigned body of streamline type and new sloping hood, the Maxwell "25," the only model made by the Maxwell company, has been reduced $55, and now lists as a touring car at $695. This price change goes through the whole line of bodies, the roadster now selling at $670, the town car at $920, and the cabriolet, which is a new body type, at $840. For complete electric cranking and lighting equipment of the Maxwell company's make, $55 is added to any of these low prices, thus making the figures with complete electrification of the car the same as last year with gas and oil lighting and no starter.

Besides the new form of bodies, the gasoline tank has been shifted from under the seat to the cowl position, while another important change is the replacement of the semi-elliptic rear springs, which connected to spring horns at their rear ends, by three-quarter rear springs having scroll ends. On the motor, the carburetor has been shifted from the left of the engine to the right to make room for the electrical units when supplied. A new radiator construction is also used in which the shell is separate from the core, and any jar which the former receives is not transferred to the delicate core, thus making less possibility of springing leaks.

One point which adds materially to the outward appearance is the use of the popular domed fenders which closely follow the curves of the wheels. The body is entirely smooth, and door latches and hinges are concealed. One other improvement is the addition of an instrument board which carries the usual array of control devices as well as the filler cap for the gasoline tank.

The Maxwell has a 3⅝ by 4½ block, L-head motor with the three-speed gearbox in unit. The drive features include cone clutch, inclosed propeller shaft and three-quarter floating rear axle. Left drive and center control are used.

FEW MINOR CHANGES IN CHALMERS MODELS

Chalmers has the same two sixes that it had in 1914. They have been refined in a number of details and on the larger chassis a touring body of entirely new design has been fitted.

In fundamental features the cars are mechanically the same as for the last season, but some minor changes have been made. The cylinder dimensions are the same but the core work has been altered to give greater water-jacket space. The gasoline feed system has been altered to a combination pressure and gravity feed, the gasoline being forced by pressure to a small tank on the dash, thence flowing by gravity. This arrangement has permitted a slight raising of the carburetor, giving better accessibility. The carburetor is now the latest waterjacketed model G. Rayfield, and the intake manifold has more waterjacketing space than before. While the multiple-disk clutch was used in previous cars it has been improved by alternating bronze and steel disks in place of all steel.

On the smaller six, Timken bearings have been added to the front axle. Both axles on this, the Master six model, have been weighted to aid in holding the car on the road. The speedometer drive on both sixes is now the inclosed Empico design.

Equipment is now better than ever before. A new design top which is a product of the Chalmers shops, is fitted; the storage battery is of improved design, better separators being used to eliminate buckling of the plates. A voltmeter has been added to the equipment and a Yale lock fitted to the electric switches. On the smaller car the tires are larger, being 34x4.5 instead of 34x4.

Five bodies are listed on the smaller car and two on the Master six. The seven-passenger touring car on the Master six is an innovation in that it is a boatline design. The price of the smaller six is $1,650.

NEW FOUR FEATURED BY COLE COMPANY

Cole enters the season with three cars, the Standard four at $1,485 being the latest addition, while the two others are the 6-50 at $1,865 and the 6-60 at $2,465. The latter, the larger six, has been reduced from $2,600.

Series 10 is the name given the line and the feature-car is the smaller six, which has a 3½ by 5 L-head motor, with the upper half of the crankcase and the cylinders cast in block, and cylinder heads removable in pairs.

The use of a block, while a departure from previous Cole designs, is a step in the right direction, when better alignment, freedom from vibration, greater rigidity and simplicity are considered, and the motor dimensions have not brought about a bulky job. Instead of the usual breather arrangement, an opening is provided through the cover of the valve stems and pushrod housing, so that an individual breather is provided for each pair of cylinders.

The 4-cylinder Cole new to the line is made only in 7-passenger form and exhibits all the essential chassis characteristics of the sixes. However, the rear axle gears used in this model are of the spiral-bevel type, and the body a newly designed one with a streamline exterior, and the interior arranged with two individual front seats. A Northway power plant is used, and it consist of a 4¼ by 5¼ motor, cone clutch and three-speed gearbox. The wheelbase is 120 inches, which is 2 inches longer than that of the previous Cole four.

The body on the Standard four has individual front seats.

REO SIX-CYLINDER MODEL A NEWCOMER

This year the Reo Motor Car company, Lansing, Mich., discontinues its one-model policy, and adds a six-cylinder model selling at $1,385 to its improved edition of the four-cylinder car which it has been making for several years under the name of Reo the Fifth. The new Reo adheres, in a general way to characteristic practice of this company, this being true more especially in the motor. Streamline bodies grace both chassis.

Some of the special constructional features of this new six, which has 122-inch wheelbase, are the spiral-bevel gears used in the floating rear axle and the cantilever rear springs which are attached to the frame and axle housing in the regular way. In addition to body improvements in the Reo the Fifth which make for better upholstering and more roominess, there are such important alterations as the increase of the wheelbase from 112 to 115 inches, the use of a new cylinder designism which requires less foot pressure. Streamline hub caps, so called, are fitted on the new Reos. These are simply smooth, domed housings for the spindle nuts which are held in place by a set screw.

The drive construction of the six terminates in a floating rear axle, while that of the four is semi-floating. The brake rods and parts are fitted with anti-rattlers which aid in silencing the cars. Gearsets are of the three-speed, selective design and gasoline tanks are carried under the front seat, feeding by gravity.

FRANKLIN SIX TO SELL CHEAPER

The most important change the Franklin company has made is in bringing out its series six for the 1915 season at $2,160, a cut of $150 on the price of the touring cars and roadsters. On the closed cars a still greater reduction has been made, $200 on the Berlin and Sedan and $350 on the coupe.

Mechanically only one change will be found on the motor and that in the fitting of the oil adjustment on the cowl board instead of under the hood. In the starting and lighting system better accessibility has been obtained and by an improvement in the dyneto commutator and brushes, this system is now forty pounds lighter than it was before.

The only other important change in the chassis is in the rear axle where spiral-bevel gears have been adopted in place of the former strait-bevel type.

In body work the front doors have been made wider and set back a little to permit of easier entrance. Fenders are wider and the rivets now are invisible. Side lights have been eliminated. The Franklin is one of the few cars which fits a luggage carrier as regular equipment.

OAKLAND MODELS FOR 1915 ATTRACTIVE

It is doubtful if Oakland could have hit upon more attractive design of bodies for its two cars than that of the 1915 four and six. These bodies are really modifications of the boat styles appearing last year in Europe, and are true streamline designs. The four, designated as model 37, is a much changed continuation of model 35 of 1914, while the 6-49 is the new edition of the former 48, being reduced $100 to $1,685. The four remains at $1,200. A new speedster at $1,100 is a new design brought out and the chassis is the same as the 37 with the exception of the gear ratio.

With its motor refined, and its maximum speed increased; with completely redesigned frame; with new type of drive and the elimination of a great many brake-rod and lever bearings due to the use of special spring pivot mechanisms.

The motor is 3½ by 5 block casting with detachable cylinder head and gearbox in unit, and suspended at three points in the frame. Pistons have been crowned to make them stronger, multiple thin steel rings have been fitted to the pistons, the throttle axis of the carburetor has been arranged parallel to the center line of the motor so as to make less restriction to gas passage and valve diameter and lift have been increased.

Delco ignition, lighting and cranking are employed as is the Stewart vacuum fuel feed with tank at the rear.

A tubular propeller shaft replaces a solid one; the three-quarter floating axle has given way to a floating construction, and the frame has been reshaped so as to follow the body line and thus give substantial support. Underslung springs at the rear help the low-hung appearance.

The 6-49 is fitted with either roadster or seven-passenger touring body. The motor has the same improvements as the four, and is also a 3½ by 5, with cylinders in block and heads detachable.

EQUIPMENT CHANGES NOTED IN MARMONS

Two sixes as heretofore comprise the Marmon line. No changes have been made in the larger, which is known as the 48, and the smaller is a continuation with refinements of last year's car under the name of model 41.

By far the most radical change is in the equipment. The Marmon was the first to adopt the full Bosch outfit. There is a Bosch magneto, starter and generator, all in separate units, and in addition all the switches, wiring, lamps, bulbs, etc., are of Bosch manufacture.

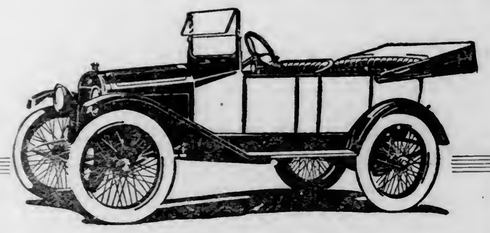

The smaller of the two sixes is a more attractive job than its predecessor, in that the body lines have been considerably beautified. The sides are higher than last year, while a sloping hood and rounded radiator are employed. The fenders have been given a different camber and the luggage carrier and battery box have been removed from the running board, leaving these free and clear.

A few motor changes have been made, because a new lighting, starting and ignition system has been fitted. In order to avoid running the magneto shaft through the pump, the later has been moved forward. Pistons this year are longer, with three rings above the wrist pin. The upper two are concentric packing rings and the lower a concentric oil ring with nine .125-inch holes drilled around the circumference at an angle of 45 deg to the axis of the cylinder.

HUDSON MODEL SIX-40 REDUCED IN PRICE

Hudson continues to make its two sixes with detail changes mechanically, these being principally in the leader, the smaller model, known as the six-40. Its price has also been materially reduced from $1,750 to $1,550, while that of the model six-54, is left at its figure of $2,350. The latter is very little altered from the past season, meeting the demands of a class of buyers which desires the bigger types of machines. A landau-limousine at $2,700 has been added to the body styles of the six-40.

In the six-40 chassis, the principal refinements are the replacing of a solid tapered drive shaft by a tubular type of uniform cross section throughout; by the use of self-lubricating bushings in the steering connections, brake shafts and steering column tube, making attention to them practically unnecessary; and by the lightening of the weight of the cowl gasoline tank

METZ "25"

"The Quality Car"

$600

Equipped complete—including electric starter and electric lights

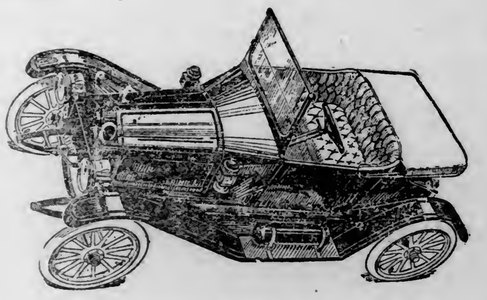

THE NEW METZ Touring model, illustrated above and now on exhibition at the Twin Ports Automobile Show, is a car that should appeal to you for many more reasons than its stylish appearance and attractive price.

It delights you with its easy riding qualities. It is so reliable and so economical in operation that it is a real pleasure to drive it—and the completeness of its equipment leaves nothing to be wished for.

Outside it is clean-cut in design, of the pure stream line type, with flush doors and tapering hood with rounding top. Inside it is luxuriously finished, with tufted upholstery, deep cushions, robe and foot rails, and all the little conveniences that add to the pleasures of motoring.

It is complete and impressively up to date.

It is a safe car for any woman to drive, because of its simplicity in operation—its Gray & Davis electric starter and electric lights—its rain-vision windshield—the strictly high quality of all equipment throughout—and its fiber grip gearless transmission, which eliminates all gear and clutch trouble.

Roadster Model, $495.

All that has been said of the touring car will apply as well to this snappy roadster—just the car for the man who desires to get about quickly and surely.

Cadillac Standard of the World

The PENALTY OF LEADERSHIP

IN every field of human endeavor, he that is first must perpetually live in the white light of publicity. ¶Whether the leadership be vested in a man or in a manufactured product, emulation and envy are ever at work. ¶In art, in literature, in music, in industry, the reward and the punishment are always the same. ¶The reward is widespread recognition; the punishment, fierce denial and detraction. ¶When a man's work becomes a standard for the whole world, it also becomes a target for the shafts of the envious few. ¶If his work be merely mediocre, he will be left severely alone—if he achieve a masterpiece, it will set a million tongues awagging. ¶Jealousy does not protrude its forked tongue at the artist who produces a commonplace painting. ¶Whatsoever you write, or paint, or play, or sing, or build, no one will strive to surpass or to slander you, unless your work be stamped with the seal of genius. ¶Long, long, after a great work, or a good work has been done, those who are disappointed or envious, continue to cry out that it can not be done. ¶Spiteful little voices in the domain of art were raised against our own Whistler, as a mountebank, long after the big world had acclaimed him its greatest artistic genius. ¶Multitudes flocked to Bayreuth to worship at the musical shrine of Wagner, while the little group of those whom he had dethroned and displaced, argued angrily that he was no musician at all. ¶The little world continued to protest that Fulton could never build a steamboat, while the big world flocked to the river banks to see his boat steam by. ¶The leader is assailed because he is a leader, and the effort to equal him is merely added proof of that leadership. ¶Failing to equal or to excel, the follower seeks to depreciate and to destroy—but only confirms once more the superiority of that which he strives to supplant. ¶There is nothing new in this. ¶It is as old as the world and as old as the human passions—envy, fear, greed, ambition, and the desire to surpass. ¶And it all avails nothing. ¶If the leader truly leads, he remains—the leader. ¶Master-poet, master-painter, master-workman, each in turn is assailed, and each holds his laurels through the ages. ¶That which is good or great makes itself known, no matter how loud the clamor of denial. ¶That which deserves to live—lives.

by making the fittings of pressed steel instead of cast iron.

Other chassis features of the six-40 are the Hotchkiss drive through the rear springs, the tapered frame, which gives good body support and the speedometer drive from the propeller shaft. The car has 123-inch wheelbase with left drive and center control.

NEW PACKARD SIXES FOLLOW OLD LINES

Two sixes, the 3-38 and the 5-48, are the Packard models which last summer superseded the 2-38 and the 4-48. Both mechanically and in appearance, these cars show little difference over the ones which they succeeded, and they both conform to the well-known Packard lines. Features such as the Packard form of radiator and sloping hood, and the distinctive types of bodies are adhered to.

The general chassis construction is still characteristically Packard, the designs being on the two-unit principle. The main unit is the motor and clutch, and the other the rear axle assembly, comprising gearset, final drive and differential gears.

A minor change which is distinctive is the use of headlamps of double design. Below the main headlight and integral with it is a smaller auxiliary headlight. This is useful for city driving or for meeting cars on the road, and is also advantageous for lighting the road close to the car, since it is lower to the ground than the searchlights, which are better for distance. A refinement to be appreciated is the tool compartment in the left front door, which has a place for each tool. A leather flap goes over the kit.

Going into details of the 3-38, minor changes are the increasing the radiator capacity, enlarging the gearset proportions, though the design is unchanged, and the increasing of the valve diameter from 2 to 2¼ inches.

In the 3-38 motor the double exhaust system is retained, wherein each three cylinders gets rid of its burned gases through a separate passage, though the two passages are integral.

Bodies are interchangeable on the two chassis, and they may be had in a number of closed and open types, prices being consistent with the type of body. The 3-38 with touring body for seven sells for $3,850; with phaeton or runabout body for $3,750; with limousine and landaulet types for $4,900, and so on. On the 5-48 chassis, it costs $4,850 for seven-passenger touring body; $4,750 for phaeton or runabout; $5,900 for limousine and landaulet.

Two sixes comprise the Locomobile line. They are continuations of the 38 L-D and the 48 L-D of last season with refinements which are principally found in the body and equipment. The have been discontinued, leaving only left-drive cars.

The adoption of the single wiring Westinghouse electric light and starting system with a special push buttton control switch designed by the Locomobile engineers is the chief refinement. With this control starting has been reduced to the pressing of a button, the shifting of the starting gear being accomplished electrically through a solenoid instead of manually. All the electric push buttons are now placed in a vertical row, on the instrument board and the starter button being at the bottom may be operated by the foot. Other refinements include the use of drop forging for many of the small parts such as windshield brackets, bonnet clips, throttle levers, etc. The top is provided with a lining concealing the bows, and in the interior work the decorative scheme has been considerably improved.

In the body work luxury has been the keynote of design and the roadster is featured by a rear deck with a folding compartment containing extra seat for two passengers.

SMALLER SIX ADDED TO HAYNES OFFERING

The Haynes cars for 1915 consist of a smaller six at $1,485, new to the line, while the larger six, model 31-6 and the four, model 32-4 offered last year are still to be had. The 32-4 now is listed at $1,660 instead of $1,785 and the 31-6 at $2,250, a reduction of $250. The electric gearshaft featured last season is made optional equipment at $125 additional only on the improved models and not on the new cars which will come through with the gearshaft hand operated.

The new six had a 131-inch wheelbase and the rear of the frame is formed into a high arch over the rear axle. This construction has resulted in allowing long, flat, semi-elliptic springs to be used. A departure from former Haynes practice is seen in the motor, which is a block L head casting 3½ by 5. A feature of this engine is the oiling system which is a combination force feed and splash in which a plunger pump circulates oil through the motor at the rate of half gallon per minute.

A new type of dry disk clutch, an entirely new body, a Stewart vacuum gasoline feed are other notable features of this Haynes six. For the first time the company is building its own rear axles and both housing and shafts of Haynes make are in the new car. The others use Timkin axles.

CHANDLER MOTOR MUCH IMPROVED

The keynote of Chandler construction for this year is the greatly power obtained from the motor by lightening the flywheel and pistons so that better balance and greater speed may be obtained. Though the bore and stroke are unaltered, being 3⅜ by 5, the reduction in weight of the working parts is said to result in an increase of 10 per cent.

With this refinement of motor, and with other smaller improvements, the car is offered at a reduction from $1,785 to $1,595. This is for roadster or touring car, although closed bodies of various types were added to the line last fall. The open bodies are of the up-to-date sloping type, little altered in general design from those of the season before.

The Chandler company makes a strong point of the light weight of its car. To obtain this end, the chassis is simple and parts made as light as possible consistent with their functions. The six cylinders are cast in L-head fashion in blocks of three, and a unit power plant is obtained by bolting the gearset with its center control to the flywheel housing. One change in the engine equipment is the adoption of Rayfield carbureter. Bosch ignition still is used, while a two-unit Westinghouse electric system for cranking and lighting is employed.

OLDSMOBILE HOLDS TO FOUR AND SIX

The Oldsmobile four and six are still with us. The former is reduced from $1,350 to $1,285 since it first came out, while the big six, which comes only in seven-passenger body, now sells $175 cheaper than it did. The five-passenger body formerly fitted to the six chassis has disappeared. In outward appearance the six has been changed by sloping the body to meet the hood, which is also sloped. The four is nearly the same throughout as when first it appeared, but it now has a roomier body, giving more leg room. This has been accomplished by adding three inches to the rear of the tonneau.

The clutch is a cone type, a torsion tube incloses the propellor shaft and the rear axle is floating. Tires are 33 by 4. The most striking part of the smaller Oldsmobile is the excellent finish which has been given it. The appointments and equipment leave nothing to be desired. Circassion walnut is used for the cowl dash and for the steering wheel, for example.

The big car has a 129-inch wheelbase, and the chassis has been hung 2½ inches lower, which adds to appearance. The cooling system has been augmented by a larger radiator and bigger water jackets. The motor is 4¼ by 5½, with cylinders in threes and gearbox in unit. The Delco electrical combination is used, as are cone clutch, open drive shaft fitted with two universals, floating rear axle and 36 by 5 tires.

NEW DODGE CAR IS A $785 PASSENGER

Late in the fall Dodge Brothers, Detroit, uncovered the car about which there had been much speculation in motoring circles, and showed it to be a sturdy five-passenger of 110-inch wheelbase, priced at $785, with complete equipment. The motor is a 3⅞ by 4½, which has 24 S. J. A. E. horse power, while the body is an example of trim lines, and is made entirely of steel, even to the cowl dash. The body frame, as well as the panels, have no wood in them. A pleasing curve is given the domed fenders, which meet the clear running boards in substantial fashion. Only the one body type is offered.

There is nothing unusual about the mechanical design of the car, although every detail has undergone careful testing before it was decided upon. One point of advantage is the provision in the gearset for shifting the countershaft driving gear out of mesh with the mainshaft gear when the drive is direct. This means that when the car is in high, the countershaft is not rotating, with resultant lessening of noise and wear.

Some of the equipment items are Jones speedometer, one-man top, rain vision and ventilating windshield. Willard storage battery and 32 by 3½ tires on demountable rims.

The floating rear axle has a pressed steel housing, and mounted on it are the brake shafts and equalizers, allowing the operating rods to run forward centrally of the frame. The latter is well braced with three cross members, and carries a fifteen-gallon fuel tank at the rear. The feed is by pressure.

STUDEBAKER MAKES PRICE REDUCTIONS

Both the four and six Studebakers of the 1914 season have been continued for this year. While they are the same in all the main features as the previous cars, there have been many alterations in the way of refinement throughout the chassis, bodies and equipment. The result is that the cars are larger than before although selling at $985 for the four or $65 less than in 1914 and $1,385 for the five-passenger six or $190 less than in 1914. The seven-passenger six is listed at $1,460.

In both motors, an increase of 15 per cent has been made possible in the maximum power by reducing the weights of the reciprocating parts and altering the manifold design. Four ounces have been cut from the piston assembly and although the valve sizes remain the same, greater efficiency has been obtained by increasing the port sizes. The lubrication system has been maintained, but the scoop has been changed in shape and the splash troughs altered to give greater oil economy.

While the Schlebler model R carburetor is used this year, a means of preheating the intake air from the exhaust is also included. In the four, the carbureter is now bolted against the integral cylinder casting without any exterior intake manifold.

The same clutch has been retained, but the leverage on the operating members on the six has been altered to give an easier throw.

By improvements in the body work and equipment 100 pounds has been cut from the weight of these models. This has been effected by substituting pressed steel for wood and by the use of a new top. The instrument board is now a stamping and is free from the instruments. Dash lamps are discontinued.

WHITE POLICY TO DISCONTINUE SIXES

Listing only two four-cylinder models and building the six to custom order is one example of the practical discontinuation of the six. This is the White policy, the fours being generally improved, fitted with an entire line of new bodies and slightly increased in price. One dominant factor is the lower bodies, the frames being but twenty-five inches from the ground, yet allowing for a clearance of ten inches under the apron. In the large four this lowering is accomplished first by underslinging the three-quarter elliptic rear spring, second by dropping the frame side members and lastly by dropping the front axle between the spring seatings and the steering knuckles.

The chassis has been altered in many respects notwithstanding the continuation of block-type cylinders with integral manifolds, four-speed gearsets and disk clutches. The Entz motor generator, heretofore under the hood, is located at the right rear of the chassis, approximately under the tonneau floor and in this new position is driven by a forward shaft and sprocket and silent chain from the flywheel. The new position is more accessible and the drive is not through the timing gears as formerly. A great improvement has been made in the wiring, all of which is brought to a junction box on the front of the dash immediately over the steering column of the car.

Bodies are new streamline creations, with a flaring hood, which leads into a heavy cowl with a backward curve, directing the eye to the seat line. Back of the front seat is a center cowl, which aids in carrying out the streamline design. The bodies are widest in rear of the front seats.

CASE LINE IS LED BY NEW MODEL 25

Continuing its three four-cylinder cars of last season with a number of improvements, the Case company has reduced the prices of two cars and increased the list of one. The model 25, the leader of the line, now is listed at $1,350 instead of $1,250, the 35 at $1,600, a drop of $250, and the model 40 at $1,800, a reduction of $500. The 35 and 40 are being marketed practically in the same form as in 1914, but the smaller car, the 25, now has a wheelbase of 115½ inches instead of 110, the tires increased from 32 by 4 to 34 by 4, the headlights equipped with double bulbs and the spark plug location shifted from the side of the valve plugs to the center of the cylinder casting in holes formerly occupied by the priming cocks. Cantilever springs supplant the platform rear construction.

In the matter of body construction a few changes are to be noted. The lines have been changed completely in accordance with the modern trend of streamlining; a foot rest had been added to the tonneau and in order to prevent the back of the front seat from becoming scratched, a leather covering is provided for the highly polished metal. The improvement in body lines has allowed of a long sweeping cowl which has been formed into a fuel tank, the container in the previous models being under the front seat. The feed, however, still is by gravity. A one-man top now is additional equipment.

METZ APPEARANCE BETTER THIS YEAR

Improving the appearance and bettering the equipment has been the extent of the changes made in the Metz for this season. As far as mechanical changes are concerned, none has been made except those necessitated by a six-inch increase in the wheelbase. The gasoline tank now is in the cowl and a gravity gasoline feed from this point is used.

The friction drive which always has been the leading characteristic of the Metz car remains unchanged, the drive being taken from the friction disks through a jackshaft and side chains to the rear wheel.

The L-head 3.75 by four-inch motor is cast in block and is of clean appearance with inclosed valve action. The crankshaft and camshaft are steel forgings, ground to a finished fit and carried in white metal bearings. The motor is lubricated by a constant level splash with pump circulation. Cooling is by therma-syphon and ignition by a single Bosch high-tension system.

The frame is of pressed steel and the springs areelliptic. The wheel are wood with 30 by 3 tires, and when the friction wheel itself is considered, there are three methods of braking the car as there are two sets of brakes, one on the rear wheels and the other on the jackshaft. All four wheels are carried on ball bearings.

MANY INVENTIONS AT AUTO SHOW

Economy, Comfort and Efficiency Appeal to the Autoist.

The accessory exhibits at the auditorium next week will hold the same relation to the motor show that the accessories do to the motor car. It is here that one will find the hundreds of ingenious inventions calculated to catch the eye of the motorist.

Economy, comfort and efficiency are the three points where the accessory man appeals to the owner. In the arcade exhibits the motorist will find a remedy for every fault that he has found in his car. Some cost little and some are expensive, but no matter what the price or what the article exhibited, the true motor enthusiast will stop to examine and investigate and always in hopes that it will prove just what he has been looking for.

The car itself, the wheels, the tires, the cushions, the passengers and even the pedestrains come in for their attention. The accessory business has kept pace with the motor car industry in its growth and today there are millions of dollars invested in huge manufacturing plants that are devoted exclusively to producing these little and big helps to the motorist.

Practically all the exhibitors have arranged demonstrations of some kind to show the quality of their offering. Many unique schemes are brought into play to attract the attention of the passerby.

CHANDLER SIX
$1295
"The Six With the Marvelous Motor"

Sensational New Price on the Leader of Light Sixes

THE announcement of the Chandler's new price came as the greatest surprise the automobile industry has had for many a year. It was the one big sensation of the Chicago Automobile Show. The continuation of the same Chandler model that met with such success when selling for $1595, at a $1295 price, offers a car value so far surpassing all others as to put it entirely in a class by itself.

Please note carefully that it is not a new cheap model. It is not experimental. Thousands of them are in service all over America. Nothing has been cut out to make the new price possible. The Chandler Company, now up to a point of heavy production and operating at a minimum overhead expense, has simply taken this bold step to attain a leadership which cannot be challenged.

Every Feature that has Made the Chandler Famous is Retained

Yes, and every degree of fine workmanship and finish and every degree of high quality in materials. All the following features of design and construction are found on the Chandler, and not on any other six-cylinder car selling for less than $2000.

- Bosch magneto
- Gray & Davis separate unit electric starting and lighting system
- Enclosed silent chains for driving motor shafts
- Worm-bevel rear axle
- Bosch spark plugs
- Mayo genuine Mercedes type radiator
- Cast aluminum motor base extending solidly from frame to frame
- Rayfield carburetor
- Imported annular ball bearings throughout
- Genuine hand-buffed leather (not machine-buffed, split or imitation)
- Luxurious stream-line body
- Golde patent one-man top, covered with Jiffy curtains.
- Firestone demountable rims
- Large gasoline tank carried in rear
- Motor-driven horn, speedometer and all the usual incidental equipment
- And the marvelous Chandler motor built in the Chandler factory

TRUCKS ABREAST OF PLEASURE CAR

Their Use Is Becoming More General; Permits Great Expansion of Business to Outlying Districts; Local Dealers Handle All the Leading Trucks.

In the motoring development of this city the motor truck has kept pace with the pleasure car.

More trucks are now being used than ever before. The beginning of the 1915 season finds hundreds of power vehicles of various types in use by representative Duluth firms of all kinds, and the proposition of horse-drawn delivery is constantly decreasing.

Business men, bowing to elemental commercial law, know that without new trade a business dies. Horse delivery limits a firm to a restricted area, but the truck permits a big expansion. Therefore a host of firms are putting on trucks in the hope of chasing to the suburbs and distant city points customers who would otherwise get away from them.

Smaller firms, which used to hold to the idea that while the truck was all right for the big firm using a fleet, it was too costly for them, have outgrown their business timidity and are branching out as truck users.

The motor truck of 1915 is built for duty. It has all the refinements in its way that mark the 1915 automobiles and is just as clever in its field. The specifications tell what it can and will do and when they are lived up to, the truck is found to be a most valuable servant to the man who has trucking of any sort to do. And with it the dealers give service which satisfies their customers.

The following trucks are represented in Duluth, and those interested in motor transportation can get full particulars from the firms who act as the Duluth distributers:

Buick—M. W. Turner.

A "valve-in-head business car" is the offering of the Buick factory to the auto truck user, in the form of a three-fourths ton truck, for 1915. The new creation is equipped with a Buick valve-in-head motor, which the company claims insures economy, more power and greater flexibility. It is known as the C-4 model. The car has a wheelbase of 12.2 feet and is priced, including express body with wing boards, at $1,375. The 1915 truck includes several other improvements which should tend to make it a popular one.

Federal—Kleyn Auto Company.

The 1915 Federal truck, 3,000 pounds capacity, is noteworthy on account of its simplicity. The makers claim that everything not necessary to its economical operation has been eliminated. There are no controls on steering column, no batteries, no coils, no brake levelers, turnbuckles or adjustable brake rods. The truck has a four-cylinder, long stroke mono-bloc Continental motor, with unusually heavy connecting rods and crank-shaft. All bearings are Hyatt rollers. The price is $1,800.

Kelly-Springfield—Earl Bradley Motor Mart.

A double-deck bus that will interest intending "jitney bus" proprietors is included in the Kelly-Springfield 1915 catalogue. A five-ton chassis, seating sixteen passengers in the forward, closed compartment, eight in the open, rear compartment, and thirty on the upper deck are being manufactured by the Springfield, Ohio, firm. The Kelly-Springfield company makes trucks from one ton to five tons, and they are equipped with all the new features on the 1915 commercial auto.

OLD RECORDS ARE DWARFED

Speed of Racers Shows an Increase of 130 Per Cent.

It is a far cry from the road racing record of fourteen years ago and the sensational mark of today—from the 38.1 made in 1900, when Charron in a Panhard won the first Gordon Bennett cup race, to the 87.86 made recently by Ed Pullen in the Mercer, when he won the Corona road race. This represents an increase of 130 per cent in speed.

In a way one can compare the two races in that the Gordon Bennett was at 351 miles and the Corona event at 301. It took Charron 9 hours 9 minutes to go his distance, while Pullen triple-centuried in 3 hours 26 minutes 2 seconds.

Road-racing history may be said to have started with that first Gordon Bennett in which nine started and only two finished, and since that time the average motor horse power, which is the only standard by which road racing speed may be measured because of the difference in length of the various events, has been steadily boosted until now the modern car can travel more than twice as fast as could its veteran brother.

It was not until 1908 that critics began to pay much attention to the average speed road races. Then Nazzaro, in a Fiat, who had won the three great road races of 1907, shoved the mark to 74.3 in the Florio cup race, which was run over a lightning fast course in Italy. The distance was 328 miles, seventeen cars starting and six finishing.

Nazzaro's mark stood for three years and then thrice in one campaign it was smashed. First Ralph Mulford clipped it, raising the average to 74.07 in the 1911 Vanderbilt, run at Savannah on Nov. 27. Fourteen started in this race at 292 miles, six finishing. Three days later, when the American grand prix was run over the same course, the record went again, David Bruce-Brown in a Fiat covering the 411 miles of the race at an average speed of 74.45 miles per hour.

The grand prix winner did not hold his laurels long, for on Dec. 14 of the same year Harvey Herrick, in the National, smashed the mark in the Ferris cup race over the Santa Monica course. The race was only at 202 miles, but Herrick negotiated it at the rate of 74.76 miles per hour; but he had to step lively, for pushing him were such stars as Patschke, Dawson, Merz, Wilcox, Dingley, Lewis, Joe Nikrent, Hanshue and Petzlaff.

The next year and over the same course Teddy Tetzlaff smashed the record, putting it up so high that it stood for two years. Really it was three, for the mark was established May 4, 1912. The Fiat Tetzlaff drove was a monster, the bore being 5⅞ by 8. A good comparison may be had here between Tetzlaff's mark and Pullen's, for the Santa Monica race was at 303 miles and Corona at 301.

WHAT THE MOTOR CAR IS!

The motor car is the steed of the present century.

It is power and speed harnessed to the will of man.

It puts speed without hurry into everyday life.

It is a sound investment that pays dividends in time saved.

It is a better tonic than any prescription.

It is the best health insurance you can carry.

It ranks with the telephone and telegraph as a utility.

It is an asset to the family welfare.

It is the most popular source of recreation.

It is a positive necessity to thousands of users.

Car Increase in Country Nearly 700,000 During 1914

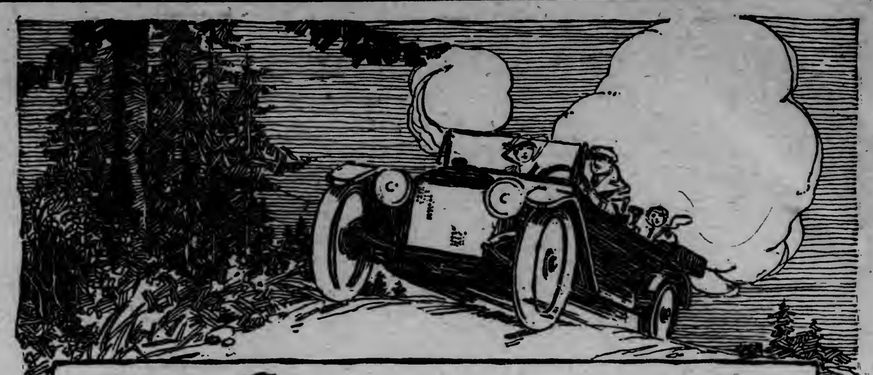

Despite the general business depression and the European war, the last year has shown an enormous increase in the number of motor cars in the United States, nearly 700,000 more automobiles having been registered in the various states. The total number for 1914 is 1,808,441, from which receipts were $11,925,295.56. The largest receipts were from New York, amounting to $1,527,396.36; California coming next with $1,338,424.50, and Pennsylvania third with $1,184,657.50. No other states reached the $1,000,000 mark. Blanks in the following table indicate that no figures were available.

North Dakota	17,349	12,504
Oregon	16,347	14,114

Further statistics show that for the last decade, up to Jan. 1, the various state highway authorities have expended for road construction the enormous sum of $162,328,645, of which $37,437,172 was spent last year. In addition the localities added for bridge and road repairs, making a grand total of $299,814,830. Of this motorists have contributed in fees $31,331,704.10.

New York still leads in registrations with a total of 168,039, a gain of 35,500. Illinois is second, as last year, with 132,199, a gain of 37,000. California is in third place with 122,625, and Ohio fourth with 122,071, a gain of 35,000.

Pennsylvania is fifth with 112,000, a gain of 32,000, and Iowa sixth with 106,250, an increase of 29,000. Massachusetts follows with 77,246, a gain of 20,000. Texas shows a gain of 49,000, Michigan 35,000, Indiana 5,000, and New Jersey 9,000, dropping from eleventh place.

"WHOLE COUNTRY SMILING AGAIN"

Prosperous Days for the United States, Says King Manager.

By J. G. Bayerline,
President and General Manager King Motor Car Company.

The whole country is smiling again.

After the royal welcome accorded the new King—the second eight-cylinder to be introduced as "Made-in-America"—during the automobile shows, I can think of nothing save the King "eight" and the wonderfully opportune time for its introduction.

For these are prosperity days as far as United States is concerned, and, as I believe we have the greatest automobile offering this country ever has seen, the King Motor company is going to get a large slice of the melon Uncle Sam is due to cut.

The year 1915 will be wonderful for the American motor car manufacturer. He stands a model of business integrity and because of this he has been reaping his reward. But this year the harvest is going to be greater than ever. The industry has been growing. Thousands and thousands of men are employed in connection with the automobile business. Good wages are the rule.

The American farmer has harvested record crops for so long that with the opportunity offered because of the terrible conditions abroad he is in a position to set his own prices, so to speak—to get what he thinks is coming to him.

And those farmers who have not purchased automobiles already are making their decisions on cars right now. There is bound to be a great shortage of cars. All motor car manufacturers who continue along the lines on which they have builded their enviable business reputations will prosper. They will be in a position to keep the wheels humming, to pay good money to employes and in that way keep the vast sums of American money that are bound to be let loose in business-building circulation.

The depression attendant upon the outbreak of the European war has gone up in the smoke of belching chimney stacks and it won't be long before even the down-hearted and the doubters will begin to feel the change in the business attitude of all around them.

We are beginning to get our courage back—those of us who haven't jumped ahead of the crowd in the rush to get on the business band wagon—and we are smiling again.

Smiling is a big factor in success. When the whole country is smiling, the whole country is looking toward prosperity. And the whole country is smiling.

GREAT INTEREST IN HAYNES EXHIBIT

Consists of Model 30 Light Six and a Roadster.

"The Haynes exhibit at the automobile show will consist of a Model 30 light six five-passenger touring car and roadster," says Elwood Haynes, inventor and builder of America's first car, and president of the Haynes Automobile company, Kokomo, Ind.

"Greater interest than usual will be manifested in the Haynes exhibit this season due to the fact that the Model 30 light six has made such an instantaneous success; and for the further reason that this company has just announced the Model 38, a seven-passenger touring car similar to the Model 30.

"The Model 30 may be had in a five-passenger touring car, roadster or cabriolet. The car has a wheelbase of 121 inches and weighs but 2950 pounds. This light weight has been made possible by the simplified design, the use of drop forgings in place of the heavy castings, and the use of lighter reciprocating parts. The number of moving parts is reduced to the minimum.

"The Haynes light six cars contain many new and unique features in automobile design. The Haynes is the first car in America to employ the arch frame construction, which permits the lowering of the body and the use of extra long, 54-inch underslung elliptic spring in the rear. The rear seat is as comfortable as the front seat."

Cleveland has a playground institute to train teachers to teach children to play.

DOUBLES CAPACITY IN ONE NIGHT

Grant Company Leases Immense Plant at Findlay, O.

In order to meet the demand for immediate delivery of Grant sixes, the Grant Motor company of Findlay, Ohio, has just leased the large plant of a table manufacturing concerning in that city, containing more than 75,000 feet of floor space. The action of the Grant company means that its facilities for manufacturing have been practically doubled overnight, and the combined plants will soon be shipping fifty cars per day.

"Our volume of sales has increased to such an extent that it was necessary to make immediate provision for increased manufacturing space," says George S. Waite, general sales manager of the Grant company. "The acquisition of the new addition to our plant places us in a position to make early deliveries without the necessity of waiting for the erection of a new building.

"With our added facilities we will be able to maintain a fixed schedule of between forty and fifty cars per day, or double our former output. Under the new arrangement the chassis will be completed in our present factory and then taken to the new shops for the addition of the body, final testing and shipment."

As the pioneer six selling at a price under $1,000, the new Grant car has proven one of the big sensations of the automobile show season. At the Minneapolis show just brought to a close more Grant sixes were sold than any other six or four-cylinder car on exhibition. The Brice Auto company, Minneapolis dealers, gave hundreds of demonstrations through deep snow and over the steep hills in the vicinity of Minneapolis during the week of the show, and contracted for hundreds of cars as a result.

Plans are under way to ship a big trainload of machines to California within a few weeks, and similar orders have been received from Omaha, Kansas City and other big distributing points.

Big Truck Increase.

From an output of fifty trucks five years ago to a production of 1,500 for 1915 is a story of the progress of the Federal Motor Truck company of Detroit, Mich. And the tale is far from an end there, says Martin L. Pulcher, general manager, because the future holds more prosperity than the past has ever brought.

NEW MANAGEMENT SYSTEM IS UNIQUE

Oldsmobile Affairs Will Be in Charge of a Committee.

In April, 1913, a system of management was put into effect at the Oldsmobile plants, which perhaps was unique in the motor car industry and the progress made by the Oldsmobile company since that date tends to show its efficacy.

Under this system, which is described as a "three-man" method of management, responsibility for the affairs of the company rests with an executive and manufacturing committee composed of D. F. Edwards, comptroller, J. V. Hall, sales manager, and E. Ver Linden, factory manager. The duties usually assigned to a general manager are vested in the committee and its united action is sought in matters of general policy.

Awakening Felt.

That the tremble felt throughout the business world at the beginning of the European war is proving to be an awakening touch rather than destroying shake, as was first feared, is the statement by George M. Dickson, general manager of the National Motor Vehicle company.

Has Most Records.

While Marmon cars have not been entered in races by the factory since 1911, it is interesting to note that they still hold more official A. A. A. racing records than any other make of car.

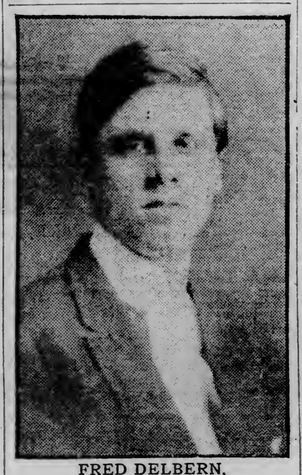

MOTORCYCLE CLUB POWER FOR GOOD

Good Roads, Safety and Clean Sport Are Advocated.

Duluth now has a real motorcycle club that promises to become an important factor in that line of business.

Several weeks ago about thirty motorcyclists met in West Duluth and organized the West Duluth Motorcycle club, and plans are now being made for club rooms and a program of events during the coming summer and fall.

The officers of the new club are:

FRED DELBERN, President.

Fred Delbern, president; D. Hawkins, vice president; H. J. Price, treasurer; H. Spindler, secretary, and A. Taraldson, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The members of the club have all pledged themselves to work for better highways, for weekly trips to surrounding towns and in behalf of the new "safety first" campaign.

NEW ELECTRICS SURPASS THE OLD.

"The interiors of the new Rauch & Lang electrics have surpassed by far those of preceding years. The difference between those of the present models and their predecessors lies in the luxury, the comfort and added room," says H. H. Gilbert, local branch manager for Rauch & Lang electrics.

Turkish cushions of unusual depth allow the passengers to sink softly into a restful position. The sides of the car have been cleverly designed so that the upholstery fits well the contour of the body. In addition to presenting an arm rest it also performs a mission of a soft side padding if one desires to crowd the seat to the fullest capacity.

WHAT! NEWS WRITER BUYS A CADILLAC

Ring W. Lardner Leaves the Ranks of Auto Jesters.

Latest among the humorists who have ceased writing jokes on the automobile in favor of driving their own is Ring W. Lardner, well known Chicago newspaper man. Mr. Lardner has achieved more than local fame in the last year through his "Letters of a Bush Leaguer" and "You Know Me, Al," has become a pet phrase with thousands of Lardner's followers.

During the recent Chicago automobile show Mr. Lardner, determined to buy a car, had narrowed his choice down to two makes. One of them was the Chandler six, made in Cleveland. Just at the critical moment, his own paper, the Tribune, carried a page announcement of a $300 reduction in price on the Chandler. That decided Lardner. He sought out Tom Hay, Chicago dealer for the Chandler, and presented him with a check for $1,295.

Now all the Lardner family will be strictly en regle this year, and Ring W. has sworn off on all jests, however remotely concerned with the operation of a motor car.

"BEAUTY A MATTER OF TASTE;" CHALMERS

Urges Buyers to Avoid Freakish Cars; Old Standards Best.

It is very rarely that two men will agree as to what constitutes the most beautiful car, in the opinion of Hugh Chalmers.

"Beauty is a matter for private opinion and private taste," says the head of the Chalmers Motor company, "and if you come down to details of design very rarely will two experts agree on which of the two is the better. Even if you could get two men to agree, it is not likely that you could find one hundred that were unanimous on every detail of a car's design.

"This is a good thing, it is because engineers do not agree on all details of design that the art of building motor cars progresses. But it also proves that the little details in design are not the things that are most important from the buyer's point of view.

What the buyer wants is satisfactory service. That is why he is buying a car—to get service; to get a vehicle which will take him where he wants to go and bring him back, whenever he wants that service.

"With all the varying claims that are made for different kinds of construction it may seem hard at first to pick out a car which is going to render maximum service and which is, therefore, a better buy than a car which would render less service.

"One safe way is to avoid anything freakish. Be sure that the car you choose is built along well tried out principles of design and construction. Don't buy a thing merely because it is new. If it is new and shows improvement over older practices, ask to see the proof.

"Past performance is always one sure index to future service.

"It is not a hard thing to find out what any of the current models have been doing in the hands of owners. Find out if the car has a reputation for staying put.

"It seems to me that little phrase, 'stay put,' is one of the most expressive in our automobile vocabulary. It stands for the big things of service.

"Economies in gasoline, in oil, etc., are not the big things in automobile service. The thing that really counts is to have a car which is free from constant breakages."

Don'ts for Duluth Motorists

Don't run for a hill. Climb it after you get to it.
Don't use a cut-out. Unship it and avoid temptation.
Don't cut corners. Keep to the right side of both streets.
Don't hog the middle of the road. Keep over to the right.
Don't turn in middle of block. Go to the street intersection.
Don't run in front of a street car. There is more room behind it.
Don't cover your rear number with a spare tire. Be a real sport.
Don't regard the officer's signal as an insult. He is there to help you.
Don't race with a motorcycle. The guy in the old red sweater may be an officer.
Don't overlook the officer on your home beat. He will put you right on lots of things.
Don't forget your rights nor presume on your advantages, either horse power or official.
Don't keep your intentions a secret. Stick your hand out for the benefit of the car behind.
Don't charge full speed over a wet spot in the street. Skidding is no respecter of horse power.
Don't cuss out an officer if you have an imaginary grievance against him. Tell your troubles to the chief.
Don't stop your automobile beyond the property line at street intersections. Pedestrians have the right of way here.
Don't drive with four lights on in front. Two will do. Use your side lights, but no headlights when standing at curb.
Don't swing to the left toward the middle of the street without looking behind. There may be a big truck at your elbow.
Don't knock the police department if it enforces an ordinance that you assisted in making into a law. The city council is your remedy.
Don't forget the cross streets. A car coming out of a street to your right has right of way over you, as you have over the guy coming out of a street on your left.

ADVERTISING GREAT FACTOR IN AUTOMOBILE PROGRESS

Back of the many splendid cars of today are millions of dollars in investments, the labor of tens of thousands of men, grimy factory workers, miners, rattlemen, glassmakers, wood and iron workers, painters, engineers, salesmen, and a score of others.

Each of the big things in the line of human endeavor has contributed something to the result—the automobile. There it stands in all its shine and newness, sans mud, sans scratches—immaculate.

And as passersby step from car to car, many times this question is heard: "What one element has contributed most to the wonderful development of the automobile?"

Ever since the motor car came to be looked upon as one of the staples of industry, that same question has been asked. Just what the answer is no one can with full truth answer. Every auto man points to some experience in his career, and declares that it was responsible for his success. And most of them have experienced something slightly different from their rival who has been no less successful.

All agree, however, that advertising has been one of the big potent forces that has pushed the business into the forefront.

This advertising began when the industry sprang into existence fifteen years ago. Then printers' ink was hardly necessary. The car advertised itself. One's appearance on the street was a signal for runaways by the family nag and a stampede toward the machine by the family. Curiosity to see the "dinged thing run" gave it plenty of advertising. From that time on the automobile took to printers' ink and today is one of the most advertised businesses in the country.

To estimate just what white space costs the automobile makers and sellers would be difficult to answer, but it costs each one high into the thousands each year. A month ago one company spent $50,000 on a single's day's advertising campaign, for example. Newspapers, magazines, catalogues and all sorts of selling literature are charged to advertising. And this is not done one year but every year, and no manufacturer or dealer dodges it, nor does he want to.

In the very early days of the motor car business it was evident that to overcome obstacles and hostile public opinion a bridge had to be built between the automobile and the people. That structure was constructed of advertising. And by this constant advertising the public was won over to the present day automobile.

Yet in the face of this honest endeavor on the part of automobile men to tell the public exactly the possibilities of the automobile and how it would some day transform the mode of transportation in this country, some people to this day say that the consumer actually pays for the advertising. Nothing is more unjust, nor was there ever an idea more erroneous. In the first case it reacts against the advertiser and hurts his business, and in the latter it poisons the mind of the people at whom the advertising is aimed.

As a matter of fact it is not a difficult problem to prove that advertising reduces the selling cost of an automobile and still gives the advertiser a large margin of profit on his cars. Of course, any one who knows anything at all about advertising knows that this is true, but it is for the doubting ones that it is proved.

Manufacturing and selling are made up of many elements and advertising is but one of them. Ethics of advertising are simple. Advertising is nothing more or nothing less than a salesman in print and when done right costs less by the sale than does a human salesman. Both are indispensable in a well regulated selling organization.

RADIATORS SATISFY.

Process Used Insures Low Cost for Repairs.

"Because of the process we employ," said Joseph Gertner of the Duluth Auto Radiator & Lamp Works, "it is seldom necessary to take the radiator apart, hence, reducing the actual cost of repairs. We absolutely guarantee our work and if the job is not entirely satisfactory we will make it good or refund the money.

"No radiator is kept in our shop to exceed twelve hours as we have a large crew working both night and day in order to give the quickest service possible.

"We furnish and install new cores in any radiator at reasonable prices. We also make fenders, tanks and roadster seats for any automobile, using nothing but 18, 20 and 22 gauge, as preferred. "C" pickled steel, which, of course, is the very best. If one prefers, we can furnish lead coated steel for fenders and tanks.

"It will pay to send us radiators to be repaired regardless of where one is located."

AUTO PRIZES MAY REACH $400,000 MARK

Indianapolis Heads List With $50,000 Cash Purse for 1915.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—At least $200,000, conservatively estimated, will be offered in prize money this year for automobile racing, with the possibility that this amount may be increased to $400,000 before the season is out. Indianapolis, as usual, heads the list with a guaranteed cash purse of $50,000, and accessory prizes and trophies aggregating $25,000 more. The sure purses, carefully computed, seem to be as follows, in the order of their importance:

Indianapolis	$ 50,000
Sioux City	25,000
Omaha	25,000
Tacoma	15,000
Venice	15,000
Vanderbilt	10,000
Grand Prize	10,000
Elgin	10,000
El Paso-San Diego	10,000
Los Angeles-Phoenix	10,000
Oklahoma City	10,000
Galesburg	5,000
Galveston	5,000
Uniontown Hill Climb	5,000
Total	$205,000

Other purses which may be added, provided the plans of their promoters are realized, are: Chicago, $50,000; New York, $50,000; Minneapolis, $50,000; Detroit, $25,000, and Los Angeles, $10,000; together with minor offerings by dirt tracks, such as Kalamazoo, Peoria, Grand Rapids, etc., from $2,500 on down. Altogether the prospects are such that even the most doubting Thomas cannot refrain from entertaining the most sanguine opinion as to the future of the auto racing game.

WOMEN WANT GOOD ROADS

Show Greater Interest in New Movement Than the Men.

Conference of Women for All States to Be Held at Atlanta.

"Women are more vitally concerned in the good roads movement than men," said Mrs. Robert Baker, chairman of the woman's department of the American Highway association at Washington. "The isolation and loneliness of farm life, cut off for months every year from communication with the outside world, because of impassable roads, falls most heavily upon the women of the household.

"The young escape it by moving to the cities, but the wives and mothers must endure it. Schools and churches can only develop their field of usefulness when they are made accessible to the contiguous population. Next to the home, the women should cherish and upbuild most of all the church and school, and as a means of accomplishing this good roads are almost paramount."

A conference of women from all the states has been called to meet in Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 16, to consider ways and means of making the organized efforts of women most effective for the betterment of the public roads. Many distinguished women will be present, including Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau; Mrs. Daisy McLaurin-Stevens, president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Thomas M. Owen, chairman country life committee, woman's department of the National Civic Federation; Mrs. Charles J. Haden of Georgia and Mrs. Oscar Hundley of Alabama. The national advisory board of the woman's department includes, among other distinguished women, Miss Mabel Boardman, Mrs. William Cumming Story, Miss Mary Johnston, Miss Julia Lathrop, Miss Jane Addams, Miss Elizabeth Gentry, Mrs. Daisy McLaurin-Stevens and Miss Mauda Wetmore.

The program for the Atlanta conference comprises in addition to addresses, a special demonstration of the government exhibit for the women in attendance at the conference, upon which occasion the director of the United States office of public roads will be host. A lecture illustrated by moving pictures will be given by J. E. Pennybacker, chief of the division of road economics of the United States office of public roads.

Mrs. Daisy McLaurin-Scvens, who typically represents the women of the South, has assured Mrs. Baker that she will address the congress on the opening day, Nov. 9.

BEST AUTO ASSET TO FILM COMPANIES

Little Work Now Done at Motion Picture Studios.

The automobile has made possible the remarkable advance in the motion picture industry. The extensive scale upon which the picture business is now operated is almost beyond comprehension and the motor car has been largely responsible for the bringing about of this condition.

Charles K. French, who is now the director of the Navajo Film company, was the first moving picture director on the Pacific coast. He has been connected with the business for more than eight years.

"Take the auto away from the picture producers and the enterprise would go back to where it was six years ago," says Mr. French. "The companies would have to content themselves with taking the scenes in the close vicinity of the studios. These spots have long since been 'worked out.'

"With the motor car it is now possible to travel many miles from the studio and take pictures at a number of different places in one day. The other day I took the entire company into the mountains, thirty miles from Los Angeles, finished twenty-seven scenes and was back in town by 6 o'clock that evening. Without a machine it would have been necessary to ship the stuff up there the day before and I am sure the one day's work would have taken at least three days.

"Comparatively little of the work is now done at the studios. Most every day the companies are compelled to take long trips to the mountains, the beaches and into the country. The location problem is a big one in the picture game. Of course the scenery is merely a background for the action, but good backgrounds are necessary for effect.

"Take into consideration the enormous salaries that are drawn by the stars today and it can be seen that the saving of time is now the prime object. The auto must always be ready to go any place.

"Transporting the troupe is not the only use the machine is put to. All the locations must first be looked up. Side trips are made for property that is not used enough to warrant its being kept on hand. Even at night the car is brought into play, taking film to the laboratories, getting supplies and on numerous errands that will be found necessary.

"The motion picture people could not exist without the auto now," Mr. French concluded, "and it has made the game what it is today."

HUDSON HEAD HAS RAPID PROMOTION

Advance Is Result of Ability and Strong Personality.

Roy D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor Car company, is a young man who has come up very rapidly in the motor car business. Those who do not know him marvel at his rapid rise. But those who are acquainted with the magnetic young president of the Hudson can easily realize why his success has been so marked. Mr. Chapin's keen observation of conditions in the motor car business and of the various exhibits at the show proved him to be possessed of the faculty of observation and deduction to a very marked degree.

"It is marvelous," he says, "how such tremendous interest attaches to the shows year after year. It has been stated that the public's interest would lag. But contrary to this impression, each succeeding year shows the automobile more firmly intrenched than ever before in the affections of the general public.

"This is the strongest kind of evidence that the motor car fills a world want. It used to be considered as a fad, a toy, a plaything of the rich. Now it is an everyday necessity to millions. They can no longer get on without their motor cars. They have become as necessary as the street cars. They are more pleasure-giving than the finest carriage and pair and more convenient and economical to sustain than the old-time single driving horse and buggy."

CLOSED CAR FOR JAPANESE PRINCE

Distinctive Features Characterize Auto for Royal Family.

An order of international interest has been placed for a closed car of considerably more than ordinary distinction and individuality for his imperial highness, Prince Fushimi of the royal family of Japan.

Messrs. Mitsui & Co., being intrusted with this commission, gave it the most extreme consideration of a royal command to procure a car of the proper character, and combed the market of high grade manufacturers thoroughly before arriving at the point of making a decision. The car finally selected and approved by the Japanese ambassador at Washington was a Locomobile "38" seven-passenger Berline.

This car contained several very distinctive features, which contributed much to its desirability for service in the Japanese royal family. Among these features were the exclusive upholstering and appointments of the car, including the lighting fixtures, which were designed and executed by the Tiffany studios, with charming results. Also the curtains, silk cords, laces and carpet, which were woven and dyed specially to harmonize with the decorative scheme of this particular car.

One of the interesting incidents connected with this commission was the necessity for changing the auxiliary seats from a position facing the rear seat, as Japanese etiquette requires that the court attendants and retinue should at all times face royalty, and never turn their backs upon a prince of theb lood. For this reason the Locomobile company was commissioned to so install the auxiliary seats that when the car was occupied his imperial highness would occupy the large seat in the rear, while his attendants would occupy the auxiliary seats, always facing, and never with their backs toward him.

Back for More.

"When they come back for more, you can depend on it they're happy," was the more or less axiomatic remark by Fred Warner, general sales manager of the Oakland. "The combination of beauty and design, with unusual sturdiness, light and great power, has resulted in the Oakland car taking a unique position in the minds of Oakland buyers. And an unusual number of Oakland buyers are people who have driven Oakland cars in the past."

MOTOR CAR INDUSTRY RANKS SECOND TO IRON AND STEEL

The general public has little conception of the enormous size and far-reaching influence of the motor car industry. The motor car industry is not only prospering, but is employing more men and doing a larger business than at any previous time in its history. This would show that either there cannot be much truth to the current talk of business depression or that the motor car has become a recognized necessity.

With its allied lines, the manufacturer of motor cars today doubtless ranks second only to iron and steel among this country's manufacturing industries. Occupying this conspicuous position, it is doing much to relieve the financial stringency brought about by the war by putting into circulation large sums of money in all parts of the country.

Today Americans are spending more money in automobiles than ever before. The tremendous bumper crops throughout the farming districts, combined with the high prices prevailing on produce, have caused unprecedented prosperity in the rural communities. Thousands of motor cars are being sold to farmers and people whose financial welfare is dependent on the crops.

Every dollar used for the purchase of a motor car means that hundreds of trades and arts are profiting by the investment. The conversion of raw material into finished cars is putting millions of dollars into the pockets of foundrymen, trimmers, assemblers and other master craftsmen, who in turn are handing this money over to grocers, butchers and merchants.

During the third quarter of this year the total business done by the motor car factories alone is at a rate in excess of $400,000,000 a year, and an increase of 18 per cent over the same quarter of last year. This vast sum represents just so much money put into actual circulation.

PACKARD MAN GOES TO CADILLAC CONCERN

Sidney D. Waldron, who has been associated with the Packard Motor Car company practically since its inception, starting at the bottom of the ladder and later becoming sales manager, general manager and vice president in turn, has severed his connection with the company named to join the organization of the Cadillac Motor Car company.

In making the announcement of Mr. Waldron's new connection, General Manager W. C. Leland of the Cadillac company said: "We have always regarded Mr. Waldron as a representative of the highest type of men in the industry and we believe that we have secured a valuable acquisition to the Cadillac forces."

The Timken, David Brown Worm Drive FEDERAL Truck Represents the Utmost in Transportation Service

All the sturdiness of the Chain Drive Federals, which we still continue to manufacture, are incorporated in this new model. It is not a new truck—not an experiment—but merely a change in the final drive of a truck that has years of successful service behind it, and the indorsement of thousands of users in over 150 different lines of business.

Federal thoroughness and individuality are evident in this truck as they are in the chain drive model. Aside from the final method of drive, the same engineering principles and sturdy features in the Chain Drive Models, of which the Federal organization has reason to be proud, are retained in this new model.

To prove the success of our design and to determine the ability of these trucks to stand up under hard, continuous service, many Federals of this model were put through thousands of miles of road test during the past year.

10,000 Hudson Light Sixes 10 Million Miles of Road

The test of the road is the only true test. Only a few motor-car buyers can afford to experiment with novelties. The average man shows his wisdom by choosing a car that already has "made good." The Hudson Light Six-40 is now in use in the hands of ten thousand private owners. At a low average of 1,000 miles per car it has covered over 10 million miles of average roads. This test is worth more to you than an engineer's hope or a designer's dream. It proves the Hudson to be an attained success—not an experiment.

FORD PROFIT-SHARING PLAN BRING SOME FINE RESULTS

When the profit-sharing plan was put in operation in January, 1914, by the Ford Motor company, an investigation was made by the company into the living conditions, finances, neighborhood surroundings and personal habits of every employe of the company. When the last similar investigation was made a few weeks ago, the following concrete facts were revealed, clearly showing that the results desired were being achieved:

	Pr Cent.
Increase in savings bank deposits	130.53
Increase in life insurance	86.05
Increase in value of homes owned	87.60
Increase in value of lots owned	86.00
Increase in value of homes on contract	95.53
Increase in value of lots on contract	135.90
Increase in amount paid on homes on contract	118.35
Increase in amount paid on lots on contract	145.79

Corresponding advance has followed in living and neighborhood conditions.

Punctuality and regularity in attendance is marked. Concentrated effort is noticed through all the shops. Accidents are very few. There is an absolute absence of fear and worry, all are cheerful and contented, and the Ford doctors say that the men have improved in physical attributes.

When a man leaves the Ford plant, as many have done for manifold reasons of his own, he takes something substantial with him. The Ford Motor company has nothing to sell to its employes other than the same product it offers to the general public; but in this profit-sharing there is no string tied to what is given them. It is theirs "for keeps" to do with as they please.

To help the deserving is not charity—it is merely justice. With the Ford Motor company it is the practical faith that "the laborer is worthy of his hire."

The Ford is to make a life—not a mere living—for its men. This is the object of the profit-sharing plan. How far the effort has been accomplished may be best determined by the facts and statistics.

SALES HEAVY FOR THE LAST QUARTER

Records Broken During October, November and December.

By A. I. Philp General Sales Manager Dodge Brothers.

In view of the remarkable steadiness that has characterized automobile sales during the closing months of 1914, it seems hardly necessary to instill a note of optimism in a forecast of business for the coming year. American motor car makers who exported large numbers of automobiles to European points before the outbreak of the war, braced themselves, figuratively speaking, for a setback in sales as the result of the falling off in foreign shipments. Yet, during the months of October, November and December, practically every manufacturer reported a volume of business never before equaled in the usually slack months of the year.

This healthy increase in American sales can be attributed mainly to the remarkable records made by automobile dealers in the farming districts. Big crops, coupled with the highest prices in years, have made the purchase of motor cars a possibility to thousands of farmers in the agricultural sections.

It is estimated that nearly 50 per cent of the 1,750,000 automobiles in use in the United States today are owned by farmers—and the percentage is increasing each year. Authorities are agreed that 60 per cent of the 1915 output of American factories will go to the farms or farming communities. When it is realized that, according to the census of 1910, there were 6,361,502 farms in the United States, the possibilities for future sales are almost limitless.

MOTORCYCLE OUTLOOK GOOD

Many Machines Reshipped Before They Reach the Warehouse.

Receipt of Foreign Orders Most Gratifying Feature at Present.

Despite the quietness in business at home and the disorganization of foreign markets by the war, the motorcycle business is exceedingly healthy at present, and every indication points to a season of very good business, in the opinion of local motorcycle dealers.

"We are receiving shipments from our factory every week," said one of the dealers, "and many of the machines are reshipped before they reach the warehouse.

"At present our great plants are employing thousands of men and running nights; in fact, all night in some departments, to keep pace with orders. As fast as we can get enough raw material to use more men we shall take them on, and when production is at its maximum we will have the largest number of employes in our history, as this year we are manufacturing the entire machine from the raw stock to a greater extent than ever before.

"Although the war would apparently seem to have wrecked all export business, it is a fact that the foreign orders in our factory are coming in at a most gratifying rate. We have a large number of European distributors who are still doing business, although in some cases the correspondence is naturally delayed somewhat.

"At home, our 1915 line has taken the country by storm, and our dealers are more enthusiastic than at the opening of any previous season. The reports received from our branches, field men and dealers all over the country give us every reason to believe that the motorcycle business in 1915 will enjoy the same healthy incerase which has marked it in previous years. Naturally, with the largest plant in the industry, we expect to obtain our full share of patronage and are fully prepared to handle all the business we can get."

PRAYER WRITTEN BY FORD EMPLOYE

Teach me that sixty minutes make one hour, sixteen ounces one pound, and 100 cents one dollar. Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unhaunted by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant, I beseech Thee, that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in doing thereof that I may not stick the gaff where it does not belong.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts.

Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me mine own.

Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table to my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play.

And when comes the smell of flowers, and the tread of soft steps, and the crushing of the hearse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here Lies a Man."

CONTROVERSY ON OVER STREAMLINES

New White Cars Start Discussion in Auto World.

Considerable discussion of the streamline body has been heard in the automobile industry, and out of it, since the appearance of the new White cars with streamline bodies differing from the popular conception of this type. The White company's introduction of a center cowl, absorbing the back of the front seat in a gentle ripple of the streamline, seems to have started a real controversy over the definition of the word.

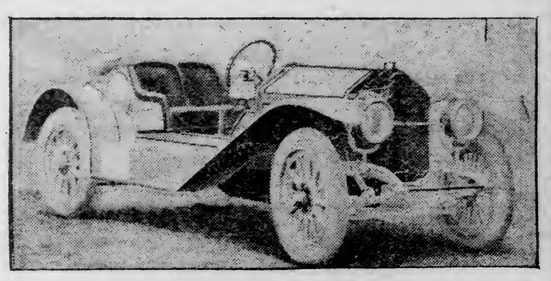

"The term streamline has been much abused," said Walter C. White, vice president and sales manager of the company. "In its application to the design of an automobile body it threatened to become almost meaningless. Because of the multiplicity of designs which have taken the misnomer 'streamline,' the public impression of such a body today is far from the original idea as conceived in Europe a few years ago.

"Some manufacturers would have the public believe that the streamline principle is accomplished by a slight change in the dash—by abolishing that section of the dash which, in old style cars, rises above and extends beyond the sides of the bonnet. This, however, is far from a realization of the streamline principle for the reason that a true streamline design requires more than the taking of a few kinks out of the dash.

"Another fallacy," continued Mr. White, "is the belief that a streamline design is obtained by straight lines and smooth surfaces regardless of the angle of projection against the wind. The true streamline, on the other hand, is the natural course or stream of air currents sweeping the sides of a moving object, whether that object is an automobile, a bird or a bullet. And it naturally follows that the general shape of an object determines the degree to which a streamline design is possible of achievement."

SHOW MAKES NEW APPEAL

Cars Now of Interest to Persons of Moderate Means.

Shows Are No Longer Considered Only a Society Event.

The atmosphere pervading the automobile show has changed greatly during the past few years. A decade ago the automobile show was somewhat akin to the horse show as a society function and a rallying place for the ultra rich. But a look at the throngs invading the Auditorium next week will convince even the most skeptical observer that the great proportion of the demand for automobiles comes from the people of moderate means.

The demand of the motoring public today centers on the inexpensive car of proved capabilities. The average automobile owner wants a car of moderate price, whether it be of four or six cylinder construction and one that is also economical in operation and yet sturdy and smooth in action.

The modern business man purchases an automobile on the same basis as he buys any other article on the market. The car that will give the best return on his investment is the one that meets with his approval. He demands an automobile today because he has found it to be a necessity. To own a car means that if you can help it you will never again be without one. The recognition of the usefulness of the automobile has created a staple demand which stimulates manufacturers in an effort to provide an increasingly greater value.

A few years ago the idea of offering a 35-horse power car, completely equipped in every respect, for $1,075 would have been considered highly impracticable. Yet the increase in production and manufacturing efficiency of our factory has enabled us to give a constantly increasing car value for a continually decreasing price.

Medium priced automobiles have reached a stage of development where they are practically as complete in equipment as the most expensive creations of domestic manufacture. Electric lights, electric self-starter, speedometer, oil-feed indicator, top, wind shield, door pockets, curtain box, tire carrier, robe rail and many other articles which used to be confined exclusively to high priced automobiles are now included in the standard equipment of the better cars at all prices.

During the past year approximately 400,000 people have purchased medium priced automobiles. This total gives some idea of the astonishing growth of the industry in its comparatively short span of life, and at the same time cannot but impress upon the public that the time has gone when the automobile was considered a luxury or a fad.

Paige Progress Rapid.

The Paige company was organized four years ago. The first year it built and sold 300 automobiles. The business for last year ran over $1,000,000 per month on an average. That is a record that any organization may well be proud of, but when it is considered that this tremendous growth was accomplished in the face of keen competition from manufacturers who were already well established, it assumes even greater significance.

New Motor Trucks.

An entirely new line of motor trucks is announced by the Packard Motor Car company of Detroit. The series, ranging in capacity from one to six tons, possesses numerous features that are said to spell economy to the user and to overcome difficulties formerly identified with the installation of worm drive. The one-ton Packard is a new addition to this well-known family and marks the entrance of the company into the light duty field.

Mountain Tour.

Harold L. Arnold last week received an account of the trip made by a party of tourists over the Sierra mountains in a Hudson car. The mountains were crossed through the Sonora pass, which is believed to be the highest pass in the Sierra mountains. The altitude is 9,624 feet.

APPARATUS TO BE MOTORIZED

Rapid Progress Made in Fire Department in New York.

Work Expected to Be Complete During Mitchel's Term.

By Robert Adamson.
(Fire Commissioner of New York).

By the end of Mayor Mitchel's term I expect the fire department apparatus will be completely motorized. There are at present in active service in the department 227 pieces of motor apparatus; there are 445 pieces of unmotorized apparatus.

We have due on contracts twenty-three pieces of motor apparatus and will contract for the deliver in 1915 of ninety-two pieces of motor apparatus, so that by the end of the year 1915 we will have in the department 342 pieces of motor apparatus. During the years 1916-1917 we expect to complete the motorization of the department, as I have said.

Quits Buying Horses.

No horses were bought for use in the department last year, and none will be bought this year. We are proceeding on a definite program for the motorization of the department while at the same time decreasing the cost of maintenance. In other words, when all of the fire apparatus is propelled by motor power the firemen will be able to cover much more territory, cover it much more quickly, and by reaching the fires in shorter time will be able to do more effective work.

We have to buy new engines and trucks within the next few weeks for five new companies, and all of these will, of course, be motorized, as will all new equipment. One of the most important phases of motorization is that of special motors to be attached to existing horse-drawn apparatus. These motors are purchased in the form of two-wheeled tractors which are substituted for the two front wheels of the present horse-drawn engines and trucks. This converts horse-drawn apparatus into motor apparatus and thus a very large amount of horse-drawn equipment is modernized and will be kept in service for many years longer.

COLE WILL MAKE BOW IN DULUTH

Car Is Standardized in Every Detail, Says Agent.

With the results of more than twelve months' experimenting and investigation on the part of the recognized motor building specialists built into it, the New Cole Standard Eight-Cylinder car will make its bow to the Duluth public at the automobile show next week.

This car is standardized in every detail. The motor is the product of the Northway Motor company of Detroit, this organization having been associated intensely with the American test of the eight-cylinder type of motor.

"The best part of the whole situation," says C. H. Johnson of the Johnson Motor company, local agent for the Cole, "lies in the fact that the Cole Motor Car company is ready to actually deliver these eights. It is not a car built hurriedly and for the mere purpose of meeting the dealer situation. The car is actually under production and definite guarantees have been obtained for the delivery of a minimum of a thousand cars in ninety days."

The car is a seven-passenger. The wheel base is 126 inches. The auxiliary seats are disappearing, with one man top and aisle way front seats.

NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY

Motor Car Business for 1915 to Reach the $500,000,000 Mark.

Willys Cheered By Reports From All Over the World.

By JOHN N. WILLYS,
President of the Willys-Overland Co.

The volume of motor-car building for 1915 will reach $500,000,000, and Jan. 1 saw the opening of a new era of prosperity for this country. Being in close touch with the business situation through the medium of 4,000 Overland dealers who cover virtually the entire civilized world, I believe these statements to be extremely conservative in view of present conditions.

The new year brings with it a national trade revival that will be felt in all branches of our industrial life. Business already is beginning to boom. The optimistic spirit of the banker, farmer, merchant and manufacturer alike plainly indicate a wave of prosperity.

A thorough investigation of conditions shows that business confidence has returned after the setback caused by the opening of the war. We all do business on good cheer, courage and hope. Although the sudden crisis caused by European hostilities almost deprived us of these for awhile, and brought about a psychological depression, we have recovered from the shock. Trade has been steadily picking up since last October.

Enormous orders from abroad are keeping our textile industries busier than they were last year at this time. The hardships threatened in the cotton belt of the South have been averted. The opening of the Federal reserve banks has relieved the stringency of the money market. And most important of all, the American farmer is more prosperous today than ever before.

It is difficult for city dwellers to realize this fact, but the farmer is America's greatest purchasing power. Consequently his financial status is the best criterion on which to base an estimate of the country's prosperity.

We are beginning to realize that the millions of dollars being poured into this country for food, clothing and other necessities which we alone can supply are going to stay here and be circulated in America by Americans.

In view of the fact that the total automobile business last year approximated $400,000, I feel safe in saying that this year it will be increased at least 25 per cent. This prediction is not by any means made at random, but is based on facts obtained from members of the Overland organization and the increased contracts caused by greater demand for cars.

The motor car, once considered the rich man's plaything, is today known to be as practical as any other time saving machinery. The average man, who can afford to buy the average-priced motor car will find that at the end of three years the car has paid for itself in time saved alone, to say nothing of the pleasure and recreation it has brought to himself, his family and his friends.

NEWSPAPER BEST AID TO ADVERTISER

Links Local Dealer to the National Trade Name.

By GEORGE L. WILLMAN,
Advertising Manager, Studebaker Co.

The newspaper, whether it be metropolitan daily or local daily or weekly, is one of the first media, if not the first, in value to the national advertiser. Having once established a trade name, the newspaper offers a great opportunity to cash in, as it localizes to the consumer the particular product. It tells him just where he can buy it in his own town. It links the national name with the name of a reliable dealer. It brings the thing home in a way which suggests immediate action.

However, effective our national advertising may be so far as the automobile is concerned, however, the strong conviction it may carry to the prospective consumer's mind, I believe that it would be disappointingly ineffective if we did not, through hourly local advertising, bring the particular automobile proposition home direct to the mind of the prospect.

The local newspaper offers us a splendid opportunity to sum up the sales points which we use in our national publicity advertising. It furnishes the means for clinching arguments.

Nowadays we all make good cars. Some of us have greater facilities and, therefore, greater advantages to offer the prospective customer than others. But the hard, convincing, practical fact is that there is a man in every town who is there to see that the car owners get the service that is advertised.

Then, too, we must not lose sight of the fact that metropolitan newspapers and local newspapers, too, for that matter, have great value as a media for publicity advertising. If a name stares you in the face day after day from the "sports" page of your favorite newspaper, there is a familiarity developed in your mind with this particular name which causes it to come trippingly to your tongue when you ask for a package of cigarets. Obviously, automobiles are not bought this way. Yet, if two or three specific sales arguments in favor of some particular car stare you in the face every time you turn to the motor page, a belief is gradually built up in your mind that every good motor car should qualify on these particular sales points.

I am willing to say that there are very few advertising campaigns, indeed, that can afford to neglect daily and weekly newspapers. I think I might go even further and say that if lack of appropriation renders curtailment necessary, the newspapers should be the last thing eliminated from any campaign.

The newspaper may be considered an excellent medium for publicity advertising, because, in connection with this fact, it has the power of localizing a product like an automobile. It seems to combine admirably the two basic purposes in advertising—general publicity and direct sales advertising.

TEN ENTRIES IN FOR 500-MILE RACE

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—Entries for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race now number ten, five more than were registered this time last year, the newcomers being Eddie O'Donnell and Tom Alley in a pair of Duesenbergs. Fred Duesenberg, builder of the cars, states a third entry may be expected before the first of May.

O'Donnell and Alley belong to the newer generation of American racing stars, their rise having been a matter of the last few months. O'Donnell leaped into fame by taking a third in the recent race at Corona, at the heart-breaking speed of 85.74 miles an hour, while Alley won his spurs by breaking the world's 100-mile circular track record at Minneapolis last fall at the rate of 85.57.

Their cars, unlike the Duesenbergs of preceding years, will not be handicapped by size this season, as they measure within a fraction of the speedway limit, or 299 cubic inches. Built by one of the master craftsmen of the game, they are expected to give an extremely good account of themselves. Their speed is placed at 110 miles an hour.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

March 1 is the closing day for entrants in the Venice 300-mile international motorcycle classic which is to be held March 28 over the three-mile course at Venice-by-the-Sea. The course is being carefully gone over for the long grind, and the contest promises to be as big a drawing card as the annual Dodge City and Savannah 300-mile events. A unique feature of the California race is the fact that a special purse of $100 has been set aside for the most unlucky contestant.

Though 83 years old, Alfred S. Hensley of Stanhope, N. J., refuses to take a date—especially when it comes to riding a motorcycle. Recently Hensley mentioned that he used to be quite a motorcyclist. His cronies laughed at the remark, and wagered that he couldn't even ride. Without a moment's hesitation the veteran jumped into the saddle and was off down the road. When he returned, he pocketed the wager with the remark: "Well, I guess I'm still one of the young uns."

Fifteen hundred matorcycles were licensed in Ohio during the month of January.
